served Baal a little; Jehu will serve him much. [19]Now all the prophets of Baal, all the servants of his and the priests of his, must call upon me. Let not a man be missing, for I have a great sacrifice to offer Baal. Whoever is missing will not live." But Jehu acted in deception in order to destroy the servants of Baal. [20]And Jehu said, "Proclaim a solemn assembly for Baal." So they proclaimed it. [21]Then Jehu sent to all Israel, saying, "And now all the servants of Baal, and all his priests and all his prophets, let no one be left out. For I am making a great sacrifice, and if anyone is not in attendance, he shall not live."

Then all the servants of Baal and all his priests and all his prophets came. There was not a man who did not come, no one was left behind. And they entered the house of Baal, and the house of Baal was filled from one end to the other. [22]So he said to the one in charge of the house and the wardrobe, "Bring out vestments for all the servants of Baal." And the one in charge of the vestments brought them. [23]Then Jehu and Jehonadab the son of Rechab entered the house of Baal and said to the servants of Baal, "Search and see whether there are any servants of the Lord here, or only servants of Baal." [24]So they went in to offer sacrifices and burnt offerings. Now Jehu appointed for himself eighty guards to be on the outside and said to them, "If any of the men I brought into your hands escapes, whoever lets him escape, it shall be his life for the life of the one he spares."

[25]Now it happened that when Jehu finished offering the whole burnt offering, he said to the guards and to the officers, "Go in and kill every person. Let no one come out!" And they killed them with the edge of the sword. Being completely overrun, the guards, even the officers, cast the bodies out. They then proceeded to the city of the house of Baal, [26]and they brought out the foundational pillar of Baal and burned it. [27]Then they pulled down the other pillars of Baal and demolished the house. It was made into a latrine, and remains so to this day. [28]Thus Jehu destroyed Baal from Israel.

[29]However, Jehu did not turn away from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who caused Israel to sin by way of the golden calves that were at Bethel and Dan. [30]So the Lord said to Jehu, "Because of the many upright deeds which you did to carry out the good in My sight, and according to all things that were in My heart which you did to the house of Ahab, your sons to the fourth generation shall sit for you on the throne of Israel." [31]Even still, Jehu took no heed to walk in the law of the Lord God of Israel with his whole heart. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam, who caused Israel to sin.

Death of Jehu

32 In those days, the Lord began to divide off parts of Israel. All along the border of Israel, Hazael defeated them; 33 from the Jordan River eastward, all the land of Gilead of the Gadites, that of Gad and that of Reuben and of Manasseh; from Aroer, which is on the bank of the brook of Arnon, and to Gilead and Bashan. 34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehu, all he did, all the wars he engaged in and the alliances he formed, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? 35 So Jehu rested with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Then Jehoahaz his son ruled in his place. 36 And the period that Jehu reigned over Israel in Samaria was twenty-eight years.

Athaliah Is Queen of Judah

1 Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw her sons were dead, and that she had destroyed all the seed of the kingdom. 2 But Jehosheba the daughter of King Joram, sister of Ahaziah, kidnapped Joash, her brother's son, and kept him from being among the murdered sons of the king. She hid Joash and his nurse in the secret room by the bed. In this way he was safe from Athaliah and was not killed. 3 Thus while Athaliah reigned over the land, he remained hidden with her in the house of the Lord.

4 In the seventh year, Jehoiada the priest sent for the captains of hundreds, both Chorri and Rasim, and had them brought to him in the house of the Lord. After he made a covenant with them, a binding oath in the house of the Lord, Jehoiada showed them the son of the king. 5 Then he commanded them, saying, "This is what you shall do: When the Sabbath comes, one-third of you shall keep guard over the house of the king by the gate, 6 and one-third by the gate of the roads, and one-third by the gate behind the escorts. You shall keep the evening watch of the house. 7 Two divisions you have are off-duty on the Sabbath. For the sake of the king, they shall keep the evening watch of the house of the Lord. 8 And you shall surround the king on all sides, every man with his weapons in his hand. And anyone penetrating their ranks, let him be put to death. You shall be with the king in his going out and his coming in."

9 So the captains of the hundreds did according to all the wise Jehoiada commanded. Each of them took his men, those to be on duty on the Sabbath and those going off duty on the Sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest. [10]So the priest gave the captains of hundreds the swords and spears of King David, those kept in the house of the Lord. [11]Then the guards stood, every man with his weapons in his hand, from the right corner of the house to the corner of the house left of the altar, and round about the house of the king. [12]And he brought out the king's son, put the crown on him, and gave him the Testimony. They thereby announced him king and anointed him. They then clapped their hands and said, "Long live the king!"

Queen Athaliah Dies

[13]Athaliah heard the noise of the people running, and she went to the people in the temple of the Lord. [14]When she looked, there was the king standing by a pillar according to decree; and the singers and the trumpeters were by the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets. So Athaliah tore her clothes and cried out, "Treason! Treason!" [15]So Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of the hundreds and the officers of the army and said to them, "Lead her out to the field under guard, and slay her with the sword, and whoever follows her." For the priest had said, "Do not let her be killed in the house of the Lord." [16]They laid their hands upon her and went by way of the horse entrance to the house of the king. She died there.

The Reforms of Jehoiada

[17]Jehoiada the priest made a covenant between the Lord, the king, and the people, that they would remain the Lord's people. He also made one between the king and the people. [18]Then all the people of the land went to the house of Baal, and they completely tore it down and broke it all to pieces, its altars and its images. And before the altars, they killed Mattan the priest of Baal. The priest then placed overseers over the house of the Lord. [19]Then he took the captains of hundreds, Chorri and Rasim, and all the people of the land, and he led the king from out of the house of the Lord. They then went by way of the gate of the guardhouse to the king's house, and they sat him on the throne of the kings. [20]So all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was at peace. And in the house of the king, they killed Athaliah with the sword.

Joash Is King of Judah

1 Joash was seven years old when he began to reign. 2 He began his reign in the seventh year of Jehu, and he ruled for forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. 3 And all the days in which Jehoiada the priest enlightened him, Joash did what was right in the eyes of the Lord.
4 However, none of the high places were removed, and the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

Repairs of the Temple

5 And Joash said to the priests, "With regard to all the silver arising from things consecrated, the silver offerings of the house of the Lord—the valuation of the silver assessed for each man—all the silver which comes from the heart of the man who brings it into the house of the Lord, 6 let the priests take for themselves, each man from the silver that comes in. But they must maintain the repairs to the temple, whenever and whatever repairs are needed."

7 Now it came to be that by the twenty-third year of King Joash, the priests had not maintained the repair of the temple. 8 So King Joash called Jehoiada the priest and the other priests and said to them, "Why have you not repaired and maintained the temple? Now take the silver from the treasury and use it to repair and maintain the temple." 9 So the priests, all with one voice, agreed they would not receive any more silver from the people until they had made all the repairs to the temple.

10 Then Jehoiada the priest took a chest, bored a hole in its lid, and placed it on the right side of the altar in the house of the Lord. Then the priests who kept the weights put in the chest all the money found in the house of the Lord. 11 And it came to be that whenever they noticed a large amount of silver in the chest, the king's scribe and the high priest put it in bags and weighed the silver found that day in the house of the Lord. 12 Then they gave the silver apportioned for repairs into the hands of those who did the work, who had the oversight of the house of the Lord; to the carpenters and builders who worked on the house of the Lord, 13 to the masons, to the hewers of stone, to the buyers of wood, to make all repairs to the house of the Lord, and for all things discharged to maintain the house of the Lord. 14 However, silver doors, nails, bowls, and trumpets—any vessel of gold or vessel of silver—were not to be made from any of the silver brought into the house of the Lord. 15 For this was given to the workmen who repaired the house of the Lord with it, 16for they did not require an account from the men into whose hands they delivered the silver, for the workmen dealt faithfully. 17Money for a sin offering, and money for a trespass offering, and any money brought into the house of the Lord went to the priests.

20Now the rest of the acts of Joash and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? 21And his servants rose up and formed a conspiracy, and killed Joash in the house of the Millo in Silla. 22For Jozachar the son of Shimeath and Jehozabad the son of Shomer, his servants, struck him, and he died. And they buried him with his fathers in the City of David. Then Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

4 Kingdoms 13

Jehoahaz Is King of Israel

1In the twenty-third year of Joash the son of Ahaziah, king of Judah, Jehoahaz the son of Jehu became king over Israel in Samaria, and ruled seventeen years. 2And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, and followed the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who led Israel to sin. He did not depart from them.

3Thus the Lord was roused to anger against Israel, and He delivered them into the hand of Hazael king of Syria, and into the hand of the son of Hadad, the son of Hazael, for all their days. 4But Jehoahaz pleaded with the Lord, and the Lord heard him; for He saw the oppression of Israel, because the king of Syria oppressed them. 5Then the Lord gave deliverance to Israel, so they escaped from under the hand of the Syrians. And the sons of Israel dwelt in their habitations as before. 6But still they did not depart from the sins of the house of Jeroboam, who led Israel to sin, but walked in them. Indeed, the wooden image remained in Samaria. 7Yet there were no more troops left for Jehoahaz except fifty horsemen, ten chariot drivers, and ten thousand infantry. For the king of Syria destroyed them and made them like dust to be trampled.

[8]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, everything he did, and his mighty acts, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [9]So Jehoahaz rested with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria. Then Joash his son ruled in his place.

Jehoash Is King of Israel

[10]In the thirty-seventh year of Joash king of Judah, Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz became king over Israel in Samaria and ruled for sixteen years. [11]And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who led Israel to sin. He walked in them.

[12]Now the rest of the acts of Joash, everything he did, and his might in fighting with Amaziah king of Judah, is all this not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [13]And Joash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat upon his throne in Samaria among the sons of Israel.

The Death of Elisha

[14]Elisha became sick with an illness from which he would die. Joash king of Israel came down to him and wept before him, and said, “My father! My father! The chariots of Israel and their horsemen!” [15]And Elisha said to him, “Take a bow and some arrows.” So he brought him a bow and some arrows. [16]Then he said to the king, “Put your hand on the bow.” So he put his hand on it, and Elisha put his hands on the king’s hands. [17]Then he said, “Open the east window.” And he opened it. Then Elisha said, “Shoot the arrow with the bow,” and he shot. And Elisha said, “An arrow of the Lord’s deliverance; an arrow of release from Syria. For you will strike the Syrians at Aphek till their end.” [18]Then Elisha said to him, “Take the bow of an archer.” And he did. And he said to the king of Israel, “Strike the ground.” So the king struck three times and stopped. [19]Then the man of God was grieved and said, “If you had struck five or six times, then you would have struck Syria till you had destroyed it! But now you shall strike Syria only three times.”

[20]Now Elisha died, and they buried him. Then in the following year, the raiding bands from Moab invaded the land. [21]And it came to pass, as they were burying a man, they beheld a lightly armed band of raiders, and cast the man into the tomb of Elisha. When the man touched the bones of Elisha, he revived and stood up on his feet.

Israel Retakes Syrian Cities

22 Now Hazael king of Syria oppressed Israel all the days of Jehoahaz.
23 But the Lord had mercy on them. He pitied them and watched over them because of His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob. Thus He did not want to destroy them or cast them from His presence.

24 Now Hazael king of Syria died. Then the grandson of Hadad reigned in his place. 25 And Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz returned and captured the cities out of the hand of the grandson of Hazael, the cities which he took from the hand of Jehoahaz his father in the war. Joash defeated him three times and recaptured the cities of Israel.

4 Kingdoms 14

Amaziah Is King of Judah

1 In the second year of Joash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, became king. 2 He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he ruled for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. 3 He did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, yet not like his father David. He did everything as did his father Joash. 4 However, he did not remove the high places, and the people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places.

5 And it came to be, when the kingdom was established in his hand, Amaziah had his servants who had murdered his father struck with a deadly blow. 6 But he did not have the sons of the murderers put to death, for just as it is written in the Book of the Law of Moses, as the Lord commanded, saying, "Fathers shall not face death on behalf of their sons, nor shall sons face death on behalf of their father, but each one shall face death for his own sin." 7 He killed ten thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt, and took Sela by war and called it Joktheel, until this day.

8 Then Amaziah sent messengers to Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu, king of Israel, saying, "Come here! Let us look one another in the face." 9 So Jehoash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thistle that was in Lebanon sent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, saying,
'Give your daughter to my son as wife'; but wild beasts of the fields in Lebanon passed by and trampled the thistle. 10 You indeed defeated Edom, and your heart lifts you up. So while sitting at your house, be glorified in yourself; why wrangle in your hateful feelings and fall to your destruction, and Judah with you?” [11]But Amaziah did not heed the words. So the king of Israel went up, and he and Amaziah king of Judah looked one another in the face at Beth Shemesh of Judah. [12]Thus Judah fell before Israel, and every man fled to his tent. [13]Then Jehoash son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel, captured Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Jehoash, the son of Ahaziah, at Beth Shemesh. And Jehoash came to Jerusalem and broke down four hundred cubits of the wall of Jerusalem, from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate. [14]He took the silver and gold and all the vessels found in the house of the Lord and in the treasuries of the king’s house, and the indentured servants, and returned to Samaria.

[15]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoash, including all he did in his might, how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [16]So Jehoash rested with his fathers and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel. Then Jeroboam his son ruled in his place.

[17]Amaziah the son of Joash, king of Judah, lived fifteen years after the death of Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz, king of Israel. [18]Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah and all he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [19]They plotted a conspiracy against Amaziah in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish. But they sent after him to Lachish, and there they put him to death. [20]They brought him on horses, and he was buried at Jerusalem with his fathers in the City of David.

[21]Afterwards, all the people of Judah took Azariah, when he was sixteen years old, and made him king in place of his father Amaziah. [22]After the king rested with his fathers, Azariah rebuilt Elath and restored it to Judah.

Jeroboam II Is King of Israel

[23]In the fifteenth year of Amaziah the son of Joash, Jeroboam the son of Joash became king over Israel in Samaria and ruled for forty-one years. [24]And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord and did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who led Israel to sin. [25]He rescued the people from the territory of Israel, from the entrance to Hamath as far as the Sea of the Arabah, in accordance with the word the Lord God of Israel spoke through His servant Jonah the son of Amittai, the prophet from Gath Hepher. [26]For the Lord saw that the affliction of Israel was very bitter; that they were few in number, lacking much and forsaken, and there was no one to come to the aid of Israel. [27]And the Lord said He would not blot out the seed of Israel from beneath heaven; so He delivered them by the hand of Jeroboam the son of Joash.

[28]Now the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, and all that he did and his power to wage war, and how he rescued Damascus and Hamath of Judah for Israel, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel? [29]So Jeroboam rested with his fathers, the kings of Israel. Then Azariah the son of Amaziah ruled in his place.

4 Kingdoms 15

Uzziah Is King of Judah

[1]In the twenty-seventh year of Jeroboam king of Israel, Uzziah the son of Amaziah king of Judah became king. [2]He was sixteen years old when he became king, and he ruled for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem. [3]And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, according to everything his father Amaziah had done, [4]except that he did not remove any of the high places. The people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. [5]Then the Lord touched the king, and he was a leper to the day of his death. He reigned in a house isolated from all others. Concerning matters of the household, Jotham the son of the king judged the people of Israel. [6]Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [7]So Uzziah rested with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the City of David. Then Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Zachariah Is King of Israel

[8]In the thirty-eighth year of Uzziah king of Judah, Zechariah the son of Jeroboam ruled over Israel in Samaria for six months. [9]And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, as his fathers had done. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who led Israel to sin. [10]Then Shallum, the son of Jabesh, and Keblaam conspired against him. They struck and killed him, and Shallum ruled in his place. [11]Now the rest of the acts of Zechariah, indeed they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel. [12]This was the word of the Lord which He spoke to Jehu saying, "Your sons shall sit on the throne of Israel to the fourth generation." And so it was.

Shallum Is King of Israel

13 Shallum the son of Jabesh became king in the thirty-ninth year of Uzziah king of Judah. And Shallum ruled for a month in Samaria. 14 For Menahem the son of Gadi went up from Tirzah and came to Samaria. He struck Shallum the son of Jabesh in Samaria and killed him. 15 Now the rest of the acts of Shallum, and the conspiracy he led, indeed they are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel. 16 Then Menahem attacked Tirzah, all who were there, and the extended area of Tirzah, because they did not open their gates to him. There he ripped open all the women who were with child.

Menahem Is King of Israel

17 In the thirty-ninth year of Azariah king of Judah, Menahem the son of Gadi became king over Israel and ruled for ten years in Samaria. 18 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord. He did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who had made Israel sin. 19 In his days, Pul king of Assyria came against the land, and Menahem gave Pul a thousand talents of silver, so his hand would be with him. 20 This money Menahem exacted from Israel, fifty shekels of silver each from all the very wealthy, as tribute to the king of Assyria. So the king of Assyria turned back, and he did not remain in the land. 21 Now the rest of the acts of Menahem and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel?
22 So Menahem rested with his fathers. Then Pekahiah his son reigned in his place.

Pekahiah Is King of Israel

23 In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the son of Menahem became king over Israel in Samaria and ruled for two years. 24 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord. He did not depart from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin. 25 Then Pekah the son of Remaliah his officer, along with Argob and Arieh, conspired against him and attacked him in Samaria, in the citadel of the king's house. With him were fifty men of the four hundred. Pekah killed him and became king in his place.
26 Now the rest of the acts of Pekahiah and everything he did are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

Pekah Is King of Israel

27In the fifty-second year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekah the son of Remaliah became king over Israel in Samaria and ruled for twenty years.
28He did evil in the eyes of the Lord and did not depart from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who led Israel to sin. 29In the days of Pekah king of Israel, Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria came and captured Ijon, Abel Beth Maachah, Janoah, Kedesh, Hazor, Gilead, and Galilee, the entire land of Naphtali. He exiled the people to Assyria. 30Then Hoshea the son of Elah led a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and struck and killed him.
He became king in his place, in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah. 31Now the rest of the acts of Pekah and everything he did are written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Israel.

Jotham Is King of Judah

32In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, Jotham the son of Uzziah became king of Judah. 33He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he ruled for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerusha the daughter of Zadok. 34And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, according to everything his father Uzziah had done. 35However, he did not remove the high places. The people still sacrificed and burned incense on the high places. He built the Upper Gate of the house of the Lord. 36Now the rest of the acts of Jotham and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah?
37In those days the Lord began to send Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah against Judah. 38So Jotham rested with his fathers and was buried with them in the City of David, his father. Ahaz his son reigned in his place.

4 Kingdoms 16

Ahaz Is King of Judah

1In the seventeenth year of Pekah the son of Remaliah, Ahaz the son of Jotham became king of Judah. 2Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he ruled for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do what was right in the eyes of the Lord his God, and he was not faithful as was his father David. 3But he walked in the way of Jeroboam, the son of Nebat, king of Israel; indeed, he made his son pass through the fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the Lord had cast out before the sons of Israel. [4]And he sacrificed and burned incense on the high places, on the hills, and under every tree growing in the woods.

[5]Then Rezin king of Syria and Pekah the son of Remaliah, king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to make war. They began to besiege Ahaz, but they could not sustain the war. [6]At that time, Rezin king of Syria returned Elath to Syria and drove the men of Judah from Elath. Then the Edomites went to Elath, where they continue to dwell to this day. [7]So Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria, saying, “I am your servant and your son. Come up and save me from the hand of the king of Syria and from the hand of the king of Israel. They have risen up against me.” [8]And Ahaz took the silver and gold found in the treasuries of the house of the Lord and the house of the king, and delivered it as a gift to the king. [9]So the king of Assyria heeded him, and he went up against Damascus and took it. He removed the inhabitants and killed Rezin.

[10]Now King Ahaz went to Damascus to meet Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria. There in Damascus, he saw an altar. And King Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the design of the altar and its pattern, according to all its workmanship. [11]Then Urijah the priest built an altar according to the design plans King Ahaz sent from Damascus. [12]When the king saw the altar, he went up to it [13]and offered his burnt offering on it, and his sacrifice and his drink offering, and sprinkled the blood of his peace offerings on the altar. [14]He also relocated the bronze altar, which was before the Lord, forward from between the new altar and the house of the Lord. He put it on the north side of the new altar. [15]Then King Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, “On the large altar, offer the morning burnt offering, the evening sacrifice, the king’s whole burnt offering with his sacrifice, and the whole burnt offering of all the people with their sacrifice, and their drink offerings. And sprinkle on it all the blood of the burnt offering and all the blood of the sacrifice. The bronze altar shall be mine for the early morning.” [16]And Urijah the priest did everything King Ahaz commanded.

[17]Then King Ahaz cut off the embossments of the bases and removed the lavers from them. He took down the Sea from the bronze oxen under it and put it on a stone base. [18]And he built the foundation for the throne in the house of the Lord, and he brought the king’s entrance back into the house of the Lord, which had been outside because of the king of Assyria. [19]And the rest of the acts of Ahaz, even all he did, are they not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [20]So Ahaz rested with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. His son Hezekiah reigned in his place.

4 Kingdoms 17

Hoshea Is King of Israel

[1]In the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, Hoshea the son of Elah became king of Israel in Samaria, and he ruled for nine years. [2]And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, but not like the kings of Israel before him. [3]Shalmaneser the king of Assyria came up against him. Now Hoshea was his servant and had paid tribute to him. [4]And the king of Assyria found scheming in Hoshea. He had sent messengers to Segor the king of Egypt, but in that year, they did not bring any tribute back to the king of Assyria. Therefore the king of Assyria besieged him and bound him in prison.

Israel Exiled to Assyria

[5]Now the king of Assyria marched through the entire land. He went up to Samaria and besieged it for three years. [6]In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assyria took Samaria and exiled Israel to Assyria, where he placed them along the rivers of Gozan, in Halah, and in Habor, and on the mountains of the Medes. [7]For the sons of Israel had sinned against the Lord their God who brought them out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt. But still they came to fear other gods [8]and to walk in the very customs of the nations the Lord had cast out before the face of Israel, before the kings of Israel who did this; [9]so many sons of Israel clothed themselves with customs contrary to the Lord their God, and built for themselves high places in all their cities, by use of the watchtowers guarding the fortified city. [10]They set up for themselves pillars and made wooden images on every high hill and under every tree growing in the woods. [11]There they burned incense on all the high places, like the nations whom the Lord previously carried away before them. They acquired familiar spirits and provoked the Lord to great anger. [12]They even served idols, although the Lord had said to them, “You shall not do such a thing to the Lord.”

[13]And the Lord solemnly testified against Israel and against Judah by the authority of all His prophets and seers, saying, “Turn from your evil ways.

Keep My commandments and My statutes and all the law I commanded your fathers. Keep all that I sent to them through the authority of My servants the prophets.” 14But they did not heed His voice. Instead, they stiffened their necks, making them more unbending than their fathers. 15They did not keep the testimonies with which He charged them, but instead followed vain things and became vain. They followed the nations around them in the very things the Lord commanded them not to do. 16So they left all the commandments of the Lord their God, and instead made for themselves a molten image, two heifers. And they made a wooden image and worshiped all the host of heaven and served Baal. 17They caused their sons and daughters to pass through the test of fire; they consulted oracles and divined from the cries of birds; and they even sold themselves to do evil in the sight of the Lord, to provoke Him to anger. 18Thus the Lord became exceedingly angry with Israel, and He removed them from His presence. There was none left, except only for the tribe of Judah alone.

19But no, not even Judah kept the commandments of the Lord their God. Instead they walked according to the customs and traditions Israel had made. 20They rejected the Lord, throughout all the seed of Israel. So He afflicted them and gave them over to the hand of those plundering them, until He cast them forth from His presence. 21And this because the house of Israel had in earlier days revolted from the house of David, and made Jeroboam the son of Nebat king; and because Jeroboam drew back Israel from following the Lord and led them to commit a great sin; 22and only because the sons of Israel walked in all the sins which Jeroboam committed, and did not depart from it, 23until the Lord removed Israel from His presence as He spoke by all His servants the prophets. So therefore Israel was exiled from their own land into Assyria until this day.

Assyrians Settle in Israel

24Then the king of Assyria brought from Babylon the people out of Cuthah, and from Ava, from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim, and they settled in the cities of Samaria in place of the sons of Israel. They gained possession of Samaria and inhabited her cities. 25And it came to be in the beginning of their settlement, they did not fear the Lord. And the Lord sent lions among them, which killed some of them. 26So it was told to the king of Assyria, saying, “The nations you exiled, even those you settled in the cities of Samaria, do not know the rituals of the God of the land. Therefore he sent lions among them, and behold, the lions are killing them, because they do not know the rituals of the God of the land." [27]Then the king of Assyria commanded, saying, "Take from the exiles those that came from that place, and let them go and settle there. They will enlighten them concerning the rituals of the God of the land." [28]So they brought one of the priests whom they had carried away from Samaria, and he came and dwelt in Bethel, and he enlightened them on how they should fear the Lord.

[29]But each nation continued to make their own gods and to put them in the shrines on the high places the Samaritans made, even in the cities of every nation where they dwelt. [30]The men of Babylon made Succoth Benoth, the men of Cuth made Nergal, the men of Hamath made Ashima, [31]and the Avites made Nibhaz and Tartak; and the Sepharvites burned their children in fire to Adrammelech and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim. [32]Though they were being fearful of the Lord, yet they established their abominations in the houses of the high places they made in Samaria, each nation within the city in which they dwelt. Though they were being fearful of the Lord, even so they appointed for themselves priests of the high places, and made for themselves a sacrifice in the high places. [33]They feared the Lord and God Himself, yet they worshiped according to the rituals of the nations to which He had exiled them.

[34]Even to this day, they did according to their rituals. They feared the Lord, and yet they acted according to their customs and according to their rituals, and according to their law, and yet according to the commandment which the Lord commanded the sons of Jacob, to whom He gave the name Israel. [35]For the Lord had made a covenant with them and charged them, saying, "You shall not fear other gods, nor bow down to them nor serve them nor sacrifice to them. [36]But only the Lord, who brought you up from the land of Egypt with great power and an outstretched arm—Him you shall fear, Him you shall worship, and to Him you shall offer sacrifice. [37]And the statutes, the ordinances, the law, and the commandments He wrote for you, you shall be careful to observe forever; you shall not fear other gods. [38]Thus you shall not forget the covenant I made with you, nor shall you fear other gods. [39]But you shall fear the Lord your God; and He will deliver you from all your enemies. [40]And you shall not conform to the rites they practice." [41]But these nations feared the Lord, yet served their carved images. So their sons and the sons of their sons have continued doing as their fathers did, even to this day.

Hezekiah Is King of Judah

[1]Now in the third year of Hoshea the son of Elah the king of Israel, Hezekiah the son of Ahaz, king of Judah, began to reign. [2]He was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he ruled for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abi the daughter of Zechariah. [3]And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, according to everything his father David did. [4]He removed the high places and broke into pieces the sacred pillars. He cut down the sacred wooden image and broke in pieces the bronze serpent Moses had made, because up to those days, the sons of Israel had burned incense to it. They called it Nehushtan. [5]He trusted in the Lord God of Israel, and after him there was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor among those that were before him. [6]For he held fast to the Lord; he did not depart from following Him, but kept all the commandments the Lord gave Moses. [7]The Lord was with him. He prospered wherever he went. So he rebelled against the king of Assyria and did not serve him. [8]He struck the Philistines as far as Gaza and its territory, from the watchtower to the fortified city.

[9]Now in the fourth year of King Hezekiah, which was the seventh year of Hoshea the son of Elah, king of Israel, Shalmaneser king of Assyria came up against Samaria and besieged it. [10]And after three years, Shalmaneser captured Samaria. In the sixth year of Hezekiah, that is, the ninth year of Hoshea king of Israel, Samaria was taken. [11]So the king of Assyria carried the people of Samaria away to Assyria, and put them in Halah, and in Habor, by the River of Gozan, and in the mountains of the Medes. [12]For they did not obey the voice of the Lord their God, but transgressed His covenant, even in all the things the servant of the Lord Moses commanded. They did not listen to them nor do them.

Assyria Threatens Jerusalem

[13]Then in the fourteenth year of King Hezekiah, Sennacherib king of Assyria came up against all the fortified cities of Judah and took them. [14]So Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria at Lachish, saying, "I have offended you. Turn away from me and I will pay whatever you impose on me." And the king of Assyria assessed Hezekiah king of Judah three hundred talents of silver and thirty talents of gold. [15]So Hezekiah gave him all the silver found in the house of the Lord and in the treasuries of the king's house.

16 At that time Hezekiah stripped the gold from the doors of the temple of the Lord, and from the pillars Hezekiah king of Judah had overlaid, and gave it to the king of Assyria.

17 Then the king of Assyria sent Tartan, and Rabsaris, and Rabshakeh from Lachish to King Hezekiah with an overwhelming force against Jerusalem.
And they went up and came to Jerusalem and stood near the aqueduct of the upper pool, which is on the way to Fuller's Field. 18 And they cried aloud to Hezekiah. But Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, the steward, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came out to them. 19 Then Rabshakeh said to them, "Say now to Hezekiah, 'Thus says the great king, the king of Assyria, "What is this confidence which you trust? 20 You speak the words of the lips; however, I speak the purpose and the power of war. Now then, what is persuading you to reject me? 21 Take notice of yourself and of your trust on this broken staff of Egypt, made from a reed. If a man leans on it, it will pierce his hand. Such is Pharaoh king of Egypt to all who trust in him. 22 But because you say to me, 'In the Lord God we trust,' is it not He whose high places and His altars Hezekiah removed, saying to Judah and to Jerusalem,
'You shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem'?' " 23 Therefore now join with my lord the king of Assyria, and I will give you two thousand horses to use in the battle, if you can find horsemen to ride on them! 24 How will you turn back the presence of one captain of the least of the servants of my lord?
Whereas you yourself hope on Egypt for chariots and horsemen! 25 Now we did not come up against this place to utterly destroy it without the Lord. The Lord said to me, 'Go up against this land and destroy it.' "

26 Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joah said to the Rabshakeh, "Now speak to your servants in the Syrian language, for we understand; do not speak Hebrew with us. Why is it that you speak to us within the hearing of the people on the wall?" 27 But Rabshakeh said to them,
"Has my master sent me to your master, or to you, to deliver these words?
Was it not to the men who sit on the wall, who along with you will eat their own dung and drink their own urine?"

28 Then Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in Hebrew, and spoke, saying, "Hear the words of the great king of Assyria! 29 Thus says the king,
'Do not let Hezekiah encourage you with words, for he shall not be able to deliver you from my hand. 30 Nor let Hezekiah cause you to trust in the Lord, saying, "The Lord will surely deliver us; this city will not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.' " [31]Do not listen to Hezekiah, for thus says the king of Assyria, 'Gain my favor and come out to me, and every man will drink from his own vine, and every man will eat from his own fig tree and drink the waters of his own well, [32]until I come and take you away to a land like your own land, a land of grain and wine and bread and vineyards, a land of olive oil and honey, and you will live and not die. Do not listen to Hezekiah, for he deceives you, saying, "The Lord will deliver us." [33]Each of the gods of the nations is not, of himself, able to deliver a country from the hands of the king of Assyria. [34]Where are the gods of Hamath and Arpad? Where are the gods of Sepharvaim? Have they delivered Samaria from my hand? [35]Who among all the gods of the lands delivered their countries from my hand, that the Lord should deliver Jerusalem from my hand?' " [36]But the men were silent and did not answer him, not a word, for the king's commandment was, "Do not answer him."

[37]Then Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, the steward, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph, the recorder, came to Hezekiah with their clothes torn, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

Isaiah Promises Deliverance

[1]When King Hezekiah heard it, he tore his clothes, covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the Lord. [2]Then he sent Eliakim, the steward, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests, covered with sackcloth, to Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz. [3]They said to him, "Thus says Hezekiah, 'This is a day of tribulation and rebuke and great anger. For in the time the children are to be born, the mother has no strength. [4]If in any way the Lord your God will hear all the words of Rabshakeh, whom his master the king of Assyria sent to insult the living God and revile him with words which the Lord your God has heard, perhaps you will offer a prayer concerning the remnant that is found.' " [5]So the servants of King Hezekiah appeared before Isaiah, [6]and Isaiah said to them, "Thus you shall say to your master, 'Thus says the Lord: "Do not be afraid of the words of blasphemy you heard uttered by the king of Assyria's servants. [7]Surely I will send a spirit upon him, and he shall hear a rumor and return to his own land. And I will strike him down by the sword in his own land." ' "

Assyria Makes Another Threat

[8]Having heard the king had departed from Lachish, Rabshakeh returned and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah. [9]And concerning Tirhakah king of Ethiopia, he had heard it being said, “Look! Tirhakah king of Ethiopia has come out to make war with you.” So he returned, but sent messengers to Hezekiah, saying, [10]“Do not let your God in whom you trust exalt you, saying, ‘Jerusalem shall not be given into the hand of the king of Assyria.’ [11]Listen! You have heard about what all the kings of Assyria have done to all the countries, utterly destroying them, and you think you shall be delivered? [12]Did the gods of the nations deliver those my fathers destroyed, Gozan and Haran and Rezeph, and the people of Eden who were in Telassar? [13]Where is the king of Hamath, the king of Arpad, and Sepharvaim, Hena, and Ivah?”

[14]So Hezekiah took the letter from the hand of the messengers and read it. Then Hezekiah went up to the house of the Lord and spread it before the Lord, [15]and said, “Lord God of Israel, enthroned on the cherubim, You alone are God in all the kingdoms of the earth. You made heaven and earth. [16]O Lord, incline Your ear and hear. O Lord, open Your eyes and see. Hear the words Sennacherib sent to reproach the living God. [17]O Lord, truly the kings of Assyria laid waste the nations [18]and cast the gods of these nations into the fire, because they are not gods, but only the work of men’s hands, of wood and of stone, and they destroyed them. [19]Now, O Lord our God, save us from his hand, so that all the kingdoms of the earth will know that You alone are the Lord God.”

Isaiah’s Word to King Hezekiah

[20]Then Isaiah the son of Amoz sent to Hezekiah, saying, “Thus says the Lord God of Hosts, the God of Israel, ‘I heard the things you prayed concerning Sennacherib king of Assyria.’ [21]This is the word which the Lord spoke against Sennacherib king of Assyria: ‘The virgin, the daughter of Zion, despised you, laughed you to scorn. The daughter of Jerusalem shook her head at you! [22]Whom have you reproached and blasphemed? Against whom have you raised your voice? You lifted up your eyes against the Holy One of Israel! [23]By the hand of your messengers you reproached the Lord and said, “With the multitude of my chariots I came up to the height of the mountains, to the limits of Lebanon, and I shall cut down its tall cedars and its choicest cypress trees, and I entered the midst of the forest of Carmel. [24]I refreshed myself and drank the water of strangers, and with the sole of my foot I desolated all the rivers of defense." [25]I formed her and made her so strong that she was effectual against fortified cities, [26]and those who lived there were too weak, they were dismayed and confounded; they were as the grass of the field and the green herb, like tender shoots on the housetops and grain blighted before it is grown. [27]But I know your sitting down, and your going out, and your coming in, and your rage against Me. [28]Because you rage against Me, and your insolence has come up to My ears, therefore I will put My hook in your noses and My bridle in your lips, and I will turn you back by the way you came.'

[29]"This shall be a sign to you. This year you shall eat what grows by itself, and in the second year what springs from it. Then in the third year you shall sow and reap, plant vineyards and eat their fruit. [30]And the remnant of the house of Judah who escaped shall again take root in the soil, and shall bear fruit on its branches. [31]For out of Jerusalem shall go a remnant, and he who is being delivered out of Mount Zion. The zeal of the Lord of hosts will do this. [32]Is it not so? Thus says the Lord concerning the king of Assyria, 'He shall not enter this city, nor shoot an arrow there, nor will a shield come before it, nor will he build a siege mound against it. [33]By the way he came, by the same way he shall return. And he shall not come into this city,' says the Lord. [34]'For I will defend this city for My own sake and for the sake of My servant David.' "

[35]And it came about that the angel of the Lord went out while it was yet night, and struck down one hundred eighty-five thousand in the camp of the Assyrians. When they arose early in the morning, all the dead bodies were there. [36]So Sennacherib king of Assyria departed and left from there. He returned and dwelt in Nineveh. [37]Later it happened, while he was worshipping in the house of Nisroch his god, his sons Adrammelech and Sharezer struck him down with the sword and escaped into the land of Ararat. His son Esarhaddon reigned in his place.

Hezekiah Is Sick and Recovers

[1]In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death. Then Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amoz, went to him and said to him, “Thus says the Lord: ‘Set your house in order, for you shall die and not live.’ ” [2]Then Hezekiah turned his face toward the wall and prayed to the Lord, saying, [3]“O Lord, remember how I walked before You in truth, and with a full heart, and did what was good in Your eyes.” And Hezekiah wept with a great wailing.

[4]Thus while Isaiah was in the middle court, the word of the Lord came to him, saying, [5]“Return and tell Hezekiah, the leader of My people, ‘Thus says the Lord, the God of David your father: “I have heard your prayer, I have seen your tears. Behold, I will heal you, and on the third day you shall go up to the house of the Lord. [6]And I will add to your days fifteen years. I will deliver you and this city from the hand of the king of Assyria. I will defend this city for My own sake, and for the sake of My servant David.” ’ ”

[7]Then Isaiah said, “Let them take a cake of figs and rest it on the boil, and he will recover.” [8]And Hezekiah said to Isaiah, “What is the sign that the Lord will heal me, and that on the third day I shall go up to the house of the Lord?” [9]And Isaiah said, “This is the sign from the Lord that the Lord shall do what He said. Either the shadow of the sundial will move forward ten degrees, or should it go backward ten degrees?” [10]Hezekiah answered, “It is easy for the shadow on the dial to move forward ten degrees. Therefore, let the shadow return and go backward ten degrees.” [11]So Isaiah the prophet cried out to the Lord, and the shadow on the dial went backward ten degrees.

Ambassadors from Babylon

[12]At that time Berodach-Baladan the son of Baladan, king of Babylon, sent letters and a present to Hezekiah because he heard Hezekiah was sick. [13]So Hezekiah rejoiced in them and showed to these messengers all the house of his treasures—the silver and the gold, the spices and good olive oil, even the house of his vessels—all that was found among his treasures. There was nothing in his house or in all his dominion that Hezekiah did not show them. [14]Then Isaiah the prophet went to King Hezekiah and said to him, “What did these men say, and from where did they come to you?” So Hezekiah said, “They came from a far country, from Babylon.” [15]He said, “What did they see in your house?” So he answered, “They saw everything in my house. There was nothing in my house I did not show them, even what is in my treasuries.”

[16]Then Isaiah said to Hezekiah, “Hear the word of the Lord, [17]‘Behold, the days are coming when everything in your house, and what your fathers accumulated until this day, shall be carried to Babylon. Nothing shall be left,’ says the Lord. 18‘And as for your descendants, your sons, Babylon shall take them, and they shall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon.’ ” 19So Hezekiah said to Isaiah, “Good is the word of the Lord which He spoke. Let there be peace in my days.”

King Hezekiah Dies

20Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah, all his might, and how he made a reservoir and an aqueduct, and how he brought water into the city, are these things not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? 21So Hezekiah rested with his fathers. And he was buried in the city of David. Then Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

4 Kingdoms 21

Manasseh Is King of Judah

1Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he ruled for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Hephzibah. 2And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to the abominations of the nations whom the Lord had cast out before the sons of Israel. 3For he brought back and built the high places that Hezekiah his father had destroyed. He raised up an altar for Baal, and as Ahab king of Israel did, he made a wooden image. He worshiped all the host of heaven and served them. 4He also built an altar in the house of the Lord, of which He had said, “In Jerusalem I will put My name.” 5And he built an altar for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the Lord.

6Also, he made his sons pass through the fire and practiced divination. He read omens from the flight and cries of birds, and consulted wizards, and multiplied those familiar with them, to do evil in the sight of the Lord. He provoked Him to anger. 7He even took a carved image of the wooden image and placed it in the house of which the Lord had said to David and to Solomon his son, “In this house, and in Jerusalem, which I chose out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever. 8But to those who shall keep all that I command, according to all the commandments which my servant Moses commanded them, I will not again let the foot of Israel be shaken from the land I gave their fathers.” 9But they paid no attention as Manasseh led them astray. They did more evil than the nations whom the Lord had removed from before the sons of Israel.

[10]And the Lord spoke by His servants the prophets, saying, [11]"Because Manasseh king of Judah has done these abominations, acting more wickedly than all the Amorites who were before him, and because he made Judah sin with his idols, [12]it shall not be so. Thus says the Lord God of Israel, 'Behold! I am bringing such evil upon Jerusalem and Judah that whoever hears of it, both his ears will tingle. [13]And I will stretch out over Jerusalem the measuring line of Samaria and the plumb line of the house of Ahab. I will wipe Jerusalem as one wipes an alabaster vessel, wiping it and turning it upside down. [14]So I will drive away the remnant of My inheritance and deliver them into the hand of their enemies; and they shall become victims of plunder by all their enemies. [15]For they have done evil in My eyes and have provoked Me to anger since the day I brought their fathers out of Egypt to this day.' " [16]Indeed, Manasseh poured out large quantities of innocent blood until it filled Jerusalem from end to end. This in addition to the sins which he led Judah to commit, in doing evil in the sight of the Lord.

[17]Now the rest of the acts of Manasseh, all he did, and all the sins he committed, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [18]So Manasseh rested with his fathers and was buried in the garden of his own house, in the garden of Uzza. Then his son Amon reigned in his place.

Amon Is King of Judah

[19]Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he ruled for two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Meshullemeth the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah. [20]And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, as his father Manasseh had done. [21]And he walked in all the ways that his father walked, and he served the idols his father served, and worshiped them. [22]He forsook the Lord God of his fathers, and did not walk in the way of the Lord. [23]Then servants of Amon conspired against him and killed the king in his own house. [24]But the people of the land put to death all those who had conspired against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place. [25]Now the rest of the acts Amon did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [26]And he was buried in his tomb in the garden of Uzza. Then Josiah his son reigned in his place.

Josiah Is King of Judah

[1]Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he ruled for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jedidah the daughter of Adaiah of Bozkath. [2]And he did what was right in the eyes of the Lord, and walked in all the ways of his father David. He did not turn aside to the right hand or to the left.

Discovery of the Book of the Law

[3]Now in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, in the eighth month, the king sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, the son of Meshullam, the scribe of the house of the Lord, saying, [4]"Go up to Hilkiah the high priest, and take account of the money brought into the house of the Lord gathered from the people. [5]And let them deliver it into the hand of the appointed workers in the house of the Lord." So he gave it to those in the house of the Lord doing the work to repair the damages of the house; [6]to the carpenters, and builders, and masons; to acquire wood and hewn stones, to strengthen the repairs of the house. [7]However, because they dealt faithfully, they were not asked to account for the money delivered into their hand.

[8]Then Hilkiah the high priest said to Shaphan the scribe, "I discovered the Book of the Law in the house of the Lord." And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it. [9]Then he brought the book to King Josiah and turned to the king to report, saying, "Your servants have melted down the silver being found in the house of the Lord and given it to the ones having responsibility for repairs to the house of the Lord." [10]So Shaphan the scribe spoke to the king, saying, "Hilkiah the priest gave me a book." And Shaphan read it before the king. [11]Now when the king heard the words of the Book of the Law, he tore his clothes. [12]Then the king commanded Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam the son of Shaphan, Achbor the son of Michaiah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah the servant of the king, saying, [13]"Go and inquire of the Lord for me, for all the people and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book that was found. For great is the wrath of the Lord kindled against us, because our fathers did not hear and obey the words of this book, to do according to all the words of this book written concerning us."

[14]So Hilkiah the priest, Ahikam, Achbor, Shaphan, and Asaiah went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum the son of Tikvah, the son of Harhas, the keeper of the wardrobe, who dwelt in Jerusalem studying the Law, and they spoke with her. 15And she said to them, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel: Tell the man who sent you to me, 16‘Thus says the Lord: “Behold, I will bring evil upon this place and upon those who dwell here, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah has read. 17For they forsook Me and burned incense to other gods, that they might provoke Me to anger with the works of their hands. Therefore My wrath shall be kindled against this place. It shall not be quenched.’ ” 18And to the king of Judah, sending you to seek out the Lord, thus you shall say this to him, ‘Thus says the Lord God of Israel, “The words which you heard, 19because your heart was softened, and you humbled yourself before the Lord when you heard I spoke against this place and those dwelling in it, that it will disappear and become a curse, and you tore your clothes and wept before Me, so I have heard you,” says the Lord. 20“Behold, it shall not be so. I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be gathered to your grave in peace. Your eyes shall not see any of the evils which I shall bring on this place.” ’ ” They brought the message back to the king.

True Worship of God Is Restored

1Now the king sent and gathered to himself all the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 2The king went up to the house of the Lord with all the men of Judah, and with him all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and the priests and the prophets, and all the people, both small and great. He read all the words of the Book of the Covenant discovered in the house of the Lord for them to hear. 3Then the king stood by a pillar and made a covenant before the Lord, to follow the Lord and to keep His commandments, and His testimonies, and His statutes, with all his heart and all his soul, to conform to the words of this covenant written in this book. And all the people took a stand for the covenant.

4So the king commanded Hilkiah the high priest, and the priests of the second order, and those who had charge of the weights, to bring out of the temple of the Lord all the articles made for Baal, and for the sacred wooden image, and for all the host of heaven. Then he burned them outside Jerusalem in the fields of Kidron and carried their ashes to Bethel. [5]And he put an end to the idolatrous priests whom the kings of Judah had appointed to burn incense in the high places, in the cities of Judah, and in the places all around Jerusalem. This included those who burned incense to Baal, to the sun, to the moon, to the constellations, and to all the host of heaven. [6]Then he took the wooden image from the house of the Lord to the Brook Kidron outside Jerusalem. He burned it at the Brook Kidron and ground it to ashes. He threw its ashes on the graves of the sons of the people. [7]So in the house of the Lord, he tore down the ritual booths of the male temple prostitutes, the place where the women wove linen garments for the wooden image. [8]Then he led up all the priests from the cities of Judah and defiled the high places where the priests burned incense, from Geba to Beersheba. And he pulled down the house of the gate by the entrance of the Gate of Joshua, the governor of the city, which was to the left of the city gate. [9]Only the priests of the high places did not come up to the altar of the Lord in Jerusalem, for they only ate leavened bread among their brethren.

[10]He defiled Topheth, which is in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom, so no man might make his son or his daughter pass through the fire as an offering to Molech. [11]Then he removed the horses the kings of Judah dedicated to the sun at the entrance to the house of the Lord, by the offering box of Nathan, the king's eunuch, in the court. He burned the chariot of the sun with fire. [12]As for the altars made by the kings of Judah on the roof of the upper chamber of Ahaz, and the altars Manasseh made in the two courts of the house of the Lord, the king pulled them down and removed them by force. He cast their dust into the Brook Kidron. [13]Then the king defiled the house east of Jerusalem, on the south of the Mount of Corruption, which Solomon the king of Israel built for Ashtoreth, the abomination of the Sidonians, and for Chemosh, the abomination of the Moabites, and for Milcom, the abomination of the people of Ammon. [14]And he broke in pieces the sacred pillars, and he cut down the sacred wooden images and filled their places with human bones.

[15]As for the altar at Bethel, the high altar which Jeroboam the son of Nebat had made, who led Israel to sin, that altar and that high place he tore down and crushed the stones. He ground them into dust and burned the wooden image. [16]As Josiah turned, he saw the tombs on the mountain there in the city. So he sent and took the bones out of the tombs and burned them on the altar. He defiled it according to the word of the Lord which the man of God had spoken when Jeroboam stood at the altar during the festival. And he turned and raised his eyes to the tomb of the man of God who spoke those words, [17]and he said, “What gravestone is this that I see?” So the men of the city told him, “It is the tomb of the man of God who came from Judah and proclaimed these things you did against the altar of Bethel.” [18]Then he said, “Leave him alone. Let no one move his bones.” So his bones were saved along with the bones of the prophet who came from Samaria. [19]Now Josiah also took away all the shrines of the high places, the ones the kings of Israel made in the cities of Samaria to provoke the Lord to anger. And he did to them as he had done in Bethel. [20]He put to death all the priests of the high places on the altars, and burned human bones on them, and returned to Jerusalem.

Passover and Order Restored

[21]King Josiah commanded all the people, saying, “Keep the Passover to the Lord our God, as it is written in this Book of the Covenant.” [22]Such a Passover had not been held since the days of the judges who judged Israel, not in all the days of the kings of Israel and the kings of Judah. [23]But in the eighteenth year of King Josiah, the Passover was held to the Lord in Jerusalem. [24]So Josiah put away those who consulted mediums and wizards, the household gods and idols, all the abominations that were seen in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem. He did so that he might perform the words of the Law which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the Lord. [25]Before him, there was no king like him, who turned to the Lord with all his heart, with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the Law of Moses. There was no king like him who arose after him.

[26]Yet the Lord did not turn from the fierceness of His great wrath aroused against Judah. For all the provocations of Manasseh had provoked Him. [27]So the Lord said, “I shall also remove Judah from My sight, as I removed Israel. I shall reject this city Jerusalem which I chose, and the house where I said, ‘My name shall be there.’ ”

Josiah Killed in Battle

[28]Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? [29]In his days, Pharaoh Necho king of Egypt went to the aid of the king of Assyria, to the River Euphrates; and King Josiah went against him. And Pharaoh Necho killed him at Megiddo when he confronted him. [30]Then his servants moved his body in a chariot from Megiddo, brought him to Jerusalem, and buried him in his own tomb. And the people of the land took Jehoahaz the son of Josiah, anointed him, and made him king in his father's place.

Jehoahaz Is King of Judah

31 Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he ruled for three months in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 32 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all the things his fathers had done. 33 Now Pharaoh Necho put him in prison at Riblah in the land of Hamath, that he might not rule in Jerusalem. He imposed a tribute on the land, a talent of gold and one hundred talents of silver. 34 Then Pharaoh Necho made Eliakim the son of Josiah king in place of his father Josiah and changed his name to Jehoiakim. And Pharaoh took Jehoahaz and went to Egypt, and he died there.

Jehoiakim Is King of Judah

35 So Jehoiakim gave the silver and gold to Pharaoh. But at the command of Pharaoh, he taxed the land; he exacted the silver and gold from the people of the land, from every one according to his assessment, to give it to Pharaoh Necho. 36 Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he ruled for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zebudah the daughter of Pedaiah of Rumah. 37 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to all his fathers had done.

Judah Is Overrun

1 In his days, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came up, and Jehoiakim became his servant for three years. Then he turned and rebelled against him. 2 So the Lord sent against him raiding bands of Chaldeans, bands of Syrians, bands of Moabites, and bands of the sons of Ammon. He sent them against the land of Judah to destroy it, true to the word of the Lord He had spoken by His servants the prophets. 3 Moreover, it was the purpose of the Lord concerning Judah to remove them from His sight. This, because of the sins of Manasseh, according to all that he did, 4 and for all the innocent blood he shed. For he had filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and the Lord did not want to pardon him.

5 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim and everything he did, are these not written in the Book of the Chronicles of the kings of Judah? 6 So Jehoiakim rested with his fathers. Then Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place. 7 As for the king of Egypt, he did not come out of his land anymore. The king of Babylon seized all that belonged to the king of Egypt, from the river of Egypt to the River Euphrates.

Jehoiachin Is King of Judah

8 Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for three months. His mother's name was Nehushta the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem. 9 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, according to everything his father did.

10 At that time Nebuchadnezzar, the king of Babylon, came up against Jerusalem, and he besieged the city. 11 And Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, entered the city, and his servants besieged it. 12 Then Jehoiachin king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon himself, and his servants, and his mother, and his officers, and his eunuchs. And the king of Babylon took him prisoner in the eighth year of his reign.

13 Then he carried out from there all the treasures of the house of the Lord and the treasures of the king's house, and he cut in pieces all the articles of gold which Solomon the king of Israel made in the temple of the Lord, according to the word of the Lord.

14 Also he carried into captivity all Jerusalem, all the officers and all the mighty men of valor, ten thousand captives, and all the craftsmen and smiths.
None remained except the poor of the land. 15 He then carried Jehoiachin captive to Babylon along with the king's mother, the king's wives, and his eunuchs. And he led the mighty of the land into captivity from Jerusalem to Babylon, 16 and all the valiant men, seven thousand, and one thousand craftsmen and smiths, all of them strong and fit for war, these the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon. 17 Then the king of Babylon made Mattaniah his son king in his place, and changed his name to Zedekiah.

Zedekiah Is King of Judah

18 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he ruled for eleven years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Hamutal the daughter of Jeremiah. 19 And he did evil in the eyes of the Lord, all that Jehoiakim had done. [20]For it was according to the anger of the Lord against Jerusalem and Judah, until He finally cast them out from His presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon.

4 Kingdoms 25

The Fall of Jerusalem

[1]In the ninth year of his reign, in the tenth month, Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon and all his army came against Jerusalem and encamped against it. They built a siege wall against it all around. [2]So the city was besieged until the eleventh year of King Zedekiah. [3]By the ninth day of the month, the famine was severe in the city, and there was no food for the people of the land. [4]Then the city wall was broken through, and all the men of war fled at night. They ran by way of the gate, between the walls, through the gate of the king's garden. They and the king ran out, even though the Chaldeans still encircled the entire city. They left by way of the plain toward Arabah. [5]But the army of the Chaldeans pursued the king, and they overtook him in the plains of Jericho. The king's army was scattered all about him. [6]So they took the king and brought him up to the king of Babylon at Riblah, and he pronounced judgment on him. [7]And before his eyes, they killed the sons of Zedekiah. They then put out his eyes, bound him with fetters, and took him to Babylon.

The Temple Is Destroyed

[8]In the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month, in the nineteenth year of King Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, Nebuzaradan, the captain of the guard, came before the king of Babylon in Jerusalem. [9]He burned the house of the Lord, and the king's house, and all the houses of Jerusalem. Every house was burned [10]by the captain of the guard. [11]Then Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard carried away captive the people who remained in the city, and those who deserted to the king of Babylon, and the rest of the multitude. [12]But the captain of the guard left some of the poor of the land as vinedressers and farmers.

[13]The Chaldeans broke into pieces the bronze pillars, and the bases, and the bronze Sea in the house of the Lord. They carried their bronze to Babylon. [14]They also took away the pots, the shovels, the trimmers, the spoons, and all the bronze utensils used by the priests to minister. 15The captain of the guard took away the fire-pans, the golden bowls, and the silver. 16The amount of bronze in the two pillars, the one Sea, and the carts, and all the articles made by Solomon for the house of the Lord, was beyond measure. 17The height of one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the capital on it was of bronze. The height of the capital was three cubits, and the network and pomegranates all around the capital were all of bronze. The second pillar was the same, with a network.

18And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the high-priest, and Zephaniah the second in order, and the three doorkeepers. 19And they took out of the city one eunuch who was commander of the men of war, and five men who saw the face of the king that were found in the city, and the secretary of the commander-in-chief, who took account of the people of the land, and sixty men of the people of the land that were found in the city. 20And Nebuzaradan the captain of the guard took them and brought them to the king of Babylon, to Reblatha. 21And the king of Babylon struck them and killed them at Reblatha in the land of Amath. So Judah was carried away from his land.

Judah Is Captive in Babylon

22As for the people who remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon did not take away captive, he made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan, governor over them. 23All the captains of the armies, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon made Gedaliah governor, so they—Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, Johanan the son of Careah, Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the son of a Maachathite—they and their men came to Gedaliah at Mizpah. 24Then Gedaliah made them and their men take an oath, and he said to them, “Do not be afraid of the servants of the Chaldeans. Dwell in the land and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.”

25But in the seventh month, Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama of the royal family, came with ten men and struck and killed Gedaliah at Mizpah, and the Jews as well as the Chaldeans with him. 26So all the people, small and great, and the captains of the armies arose and went to Egypt because they were afraid of the Chaldeans.

Jehoiachin Is Freed from Prison

27In the thirty-seventh year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the twenty-seventh day of the month, Evil-Merodach king of Babylon, in the year he began to reign, released Jehoiachin king of Judah from prison. [28]He spoke kindly to him and gave him a more prominent seat than those of the kings with him in Babylon. [29]So Jehoiachin changed from his prison garments and ate bread regularly before the king all the days of his life. [30]And as for his provisions, there was a regular ration given him by the king, a portion for each day, all the days of his life.

Annotations for 4 Kingdoms

1:3, 4 The prophet Elijah teaches us that God can step into the lives and condition of His people any time He pleases.

1:8 The outward appearance and spirit of Elijah are recognizable in John the Baptist, "the second Elijah" (Mt 3:4).

1:9–15 "Two princes and a hundred who were with them were burned, because they approached the mountain on which Elijah was sitting, who ascended in a chariot of fire to heaven. . . . Accordingly, beloved, the righteous shall be tried by the fire, like gold and silver and goodly stones, and the wicked shall be burned in the fire like straw and reed and stubble, and the fire shall have power upon them and they shall be burned" (AphP).

1:10 Elijah's word brought the consuming fire down from heaven, the same consuming fire made known in Nm 11:1 and spoken of by the apostles (Lk 9:54).

2:1 As Enoch (Gn 5:24) was translated to heaven without experiencing his own death, so too was Elijah—thus making known to us that God alone has the keys of life, death, and the grave.

2:6 The Jordan River is a type of baptism, a crossing over from this fallen world to our promised inheritance—life in the world to come. Christ fulfills this promise through His Incarnation and His baptism (Mk 1:9).

🕮 2:6–14 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

2:1–8 The name Gilgal speaks of faith and hope in God as opposed to faith in the fallen world. This is where Joshua's men, in obedience and love of God, were circumcised to cut themselves off from this earthly realm. Gilgal literally means "a rolling," for the Lord had rolled away Israel's reproach in Egypt (Jos 5:9). Thus, Elijah leaves the place of rolling, Gilgal, and in zeal and faith enters into Bethel, the "house of God"—the heavenly realm.

2:8–14 Moses foreshadowed baptism when he parted the Red Sea (Ex 14:16–23). Joshua parted the River Jordan with the ark of the covenant (Jos 3:13–17), and so did Elijah and Elisha when they struck the River Jordan with Elijah's mantle. "O how great is the virtue of the Saints! Not only their words; not only their bodies, but even their very garments are always esteemed venerable by the whole creation. The sheepskin of this man divided the Jordan!" (JohnChr).

2:11 The manner of Elijah being separated from Elisha shows the power and authority of God. "Because Elijah restrained the desire of the body, he withheld rain from the adulterous; because he kept his body under control, he withheld dew from the whoremongers, who let their fountains be loosely poured out. Because the hidden fire of the lust of the body did not rule in him, to him the fire from on high was obedient. And since he subdued on the earth the lust of the flesh, he went up there where holiness dwells and is at peace" (EphS).

2:12 He saw Elijah no more: Like Elijah, Moses also disappeared, for "no one knows his grave to this day" (Dt 34:6). The ministries or offices of Moses and Elijah, representing the law and the prophets of God, are fulfilled in Christ (Mt 17:3).

2:13 "For Elijah left a sheepskin [mantle] to his disciple, but the Son of God ascending left to us His own flesh! Elijah indeed, cast off his mantle, before he went up; but Christ left it behind for our sakes; and yet retained it when He ascended. Let us not then be cast down. Let us not lament, nor fear the difficulty of the times, for He who did not refuse to pour out His blood for all, and has suffered us to partake of His flesh and of His blood again, what will He refuse to do for our safety?" (JohnChr).

2:15 The sons of the prophets show proper reverence in the presence of the holy prophet Elisha, a foreshadowing of apostolic succession.

2:19–22 As the Lord healed the waters of Jericho with salt, so the incarnate Christ brings renewal to all of creation.

🕮 2:19–22 This passage is read at Vespers of the Feast of the Theophany of the Lord.

2:23–25 Like Elisha before the youths, Christ will also be mocked (Lk 18:32). "For what is, 'Go up!'?

‘Crucify Him! Crucify Him!’ For childhood is set before us to imitate humility, and . . . to beware of foolishness” (Aur).

3:18 What is impossible for us is easy for the Lord (Lk 1:37).

4:1–44 In this chapter, Elisha experiences the double portion of Elijah’s spirit (2:9) in performing five miracles: multiplying the poor widow’s oil (vv. 1–7); providing a son to the good Shunammite in her old age (vv. 8–17); raising the lifeless child to life (vv. 18–27); healing the death in the pottage (vv. 38–41); and feeding a hundred men with twenty small loaves (vv. 42–44).

4:1–7 This account demonstrates the wondrous acts of Christ’s charity made manifest through those faithful to Him and in whom His goodness is magnified (see also Mt 14:20; 18:25).

📖 4:8–37 This passage is read on Great and Holy Saturday.

4:11–17 This account of a miraculous birth to one who has found favor with God helps prepare the nation Israel for the coming miraculous birth of the Savior from one also favored by God (Lk 1:30). “For, because no one would easily have believed that a virgin could bear a child, barren women first did so, then such as were not only barren, but aged also . . . to prepare the way for belief in the Virgin’s travail” (JohnChr).

4:29–31 Elisha’s staff, which failed to raise the child, is like the law. Neither of them, apart from the Word, can save mankind.

4:32–35 Here displayed is the power of fervent prayer from the heart of one who loves God and his neighbor (Mt 6:6). It is this same power that is given to Christ’s apostles (Acts 20:10).

4:37 See Heb 11:35.

4:42–44 This is similar to Christ’s miracle of the loaves of barley found in Jn 6:9–14.

5:1 Regarding Naaman the stranger (Gentile) from Syria, see Lk 4:27.

5:10, 11 “Elisha did not so much as see Naaman for though he perceived that Naaman was offended at his not coming out and touching him—observing the strictness of the law—he abides at home, and sends Naaman to the River Jordan to wash. Whereas the Lord—to signify that He heals not as a servant but as absolute master—doth also touch (Mt 8:2, 3). For His hand did not take on the uncleanness of the leprosy, but instead the leprous body was rendered clean and renewed by His holy hand. For as we know, He came not to heal bodies only, but also to lead the soul unto self-control” (JohnChr).

5:14 “It was not for nothing that Naaman of old, when suffering from leprosy, was purified upon his being baptized, but [it served] as an indication to us. For as we are lepers in sin, we are made clean by means of the sacred water and the invocation of the Lord” (Iren).

5:15–19 See Jn 9, and compare Naaman’s experience to that of the blind man.

5:1–27 “Yes, and yet again his disciple Elisha, when Naaman the Syrian, who was diseased with leprosy, had come to him as a suppliant, cleanses the sick man by washing him in the Jordan, clearly indicating what should come, both by the use of water generally, and by the dipping in the river in particular. For Jordan alone of rivers, receiving in itself the first-fruits of sanctification and benediction, conveyed in its channel to the whole world, as it were from some fount in the type afforded by itself, the grace of Baptism. These then are indications in deed and act of regeneration by Baptism” (GrgNy).

5:27 “Though he took not by violence, yet he did a wrong; for to get money by deceit is a wrong” (JohnChr).

6:1–7 The sons of the prophets were humble and impoverished, indicated by the borrowed ax.

6:4–7 St. John Chrysostom indicates the water was a type of baptismal water, the ax head a type of one who is baptized, and the stick, a type of the cross. We who were drowning like iron in sin and death rise to new life in baptism through the cross of Jesus Christ and begin a journey to heaven.

6:6 “This event is an indication of the fact that when the holy soul of Christ descended [to Hades], many souls ascended and were seen in their bodies. For just as the wood, the lighter body, was submerged in the water, so the iron, the heavier one, floated. Thus, when the Word of God became one with flesh, by a physical and hypostatic union, the heavy and terrestrial body, having been rendered immortal, was borne up into heaven by the divine nature, after the resurrection” (Iren).

6:8–23 The Syrian king believed wrongly that the power of his earthly kingdom could contain and control the prophet of God.

6:17 Through the intercession of the prophet (Heb 1:14), the eyes of his newly tested servant, whose faith was yet easily shaken, became opened to the divine presence surrounding him. In the Divine Liturgy, immediately before the Gospel, we pray, "Open the eyes of our mind to the understanding of Your Gospel teaching." St. Ambrose writes that Elisha's servant saw "numberless hosts of angels."

7:1, 2 In the midst of man's unbelief, the Lord brings a promise of deliverance. Those who doubt God's power and authority will witness the fulfillment of the promise given, but will not participate in it. The prophecy comes to pass in 7:18–20.

7:15, 16 The word of the Lord proves true and lasting, while the kingdoms of this fallen world pass away (Mt 24:35; 1Co 1:9; 1Th 5:24; 1Pt 1:25).

8:1–6 By following the warning of the Lord through Elisha, the Shunammite woman and her household were not only protected from danger, but their place was kept intact for seven years. This passage may not be in chronological order, for Gehazi had been stricken with leprosy earlier (5:27).

8:11 As did His prophets, the Lord Himself wept tears over the lost condition of His people (Lk 19:41).

8:12–19 Hazael freely wills to fulfill Elisha's prophecy, because his heart is evil. But God will use this evil for good by oppressing Israel to curb their sins (v. 19), so they might not completely destroy themselves (13:22).

9:1–3 Jehu is made king over Israel to cleanse the land and prepare it for restoration. He will avenge God's prophets (v. 7) and righteous Naboth (v. 26), kill the evil kings of Judah and Israel (vv. 24, 27), fulfill Elijah's prophecy against Jezebel (vv. 30–37; see 3Kg 20:23) and Ahab (10:17; see 3Kg 20:21), and destroy Baal from Israel (10:28).

11:1–20 Jehosheba hides young Joash in the house of the Lord until he can take his place as the leader of his people (v. 12). So, too, Miriam hid Moses (Ex 2:3); Rahab hid the spies (Josh 2:4); and Joseph and Mary hid the Christ-Child in Egypt (Mt 2:13) until the proper time.

12:2, 3 While under the guidance of the priest Jehoiada, who made a covenant with the Lord (11:17), Joash did what was right before God. And though persuaded not to remove the high places, he did order the repair of the house of the Lord and did so with trust and honor (v. 15; Mt 24:45).

13:5 A savior was given by the Lord to renew and recreate what was before (Lk 1:11), because Israel called out to Him.

13:21 There are those who struggle with the idea of keeping relics of saints, doubting they have any special significance. Here, the bones of a departed saint bring a dead man back to life. St. Cyril comments, "Is a dead man raised to life on touching the bones of Elisha, and is it not much easier for the Maker of mankind to be raised by the power of the Father? Well then, He truly rose, and after He had risen was seen again of the disciples . . . are you still incredulous in regard to His Resurrection?" (See also Jn 5:25, 28, 29.)

14:8 The idiom look one another in the face means going to battle, as shown by 14:11, 12.

14:26, 27 Though Israel had turned from the Lord and become bitter, nonetheless He kept His promise to never blot them out. Similarly, the Lord has promised His Church, "I am with you always" (Mt 28:20).

15:1–5 Uzziah, contemporary of the prophet Isaiah (Is 6:1), was arrogant in his self-rule and brought upon himself the wrath of the Lord, who struck him with leprosy.

15:20 Menahem is an evil king who uses money as a means to keep the enemy from striking; but Israel's destruction is imminent. In contrast, the Lord Jesus Christ, the righteous King, gives Himself as a ransom to save mankind (Mt 20:28), thereby crushing the head of His enemy, Satan.

15:30 Through conspiracy and murder, Hoshea fulfilled his desire to become king over Israel (9:14; 11:1, 14; 12:21; 14:19; 15:10, 25). He was the last king to reign in Israel.

16:1–20 Ahaz the king of Judah would openly turn his back on both God and Israel in order to form an alliance with a known enemy of God and His people, the king of Assyria (v. 7). He took treasure from the house of the Lord (v. 8) and compromised its altar and its priest (vv. 14, 15).

17:1–23 Israel's destruction was at hand, with Assyria being the final enemy power. The kings and the people long ago had freely given themselves over to idolatry and sin (v. 17). The generations that passed from the first king of the divided Israel (3Kg 12:23–31) to Hoshea, the last (17:6), are a testimony to the long-suffering mercy of God, who held off judgment until this time. The Jews knew the pathway to the one true God, but secretly they forsook Him, choosing to walk apart from His statutes (v. 13), disobey Him (v. 14), and turn to idolatry (v. 6).

17:24–41 The Gentile nations—the Assyrians and others—though idolaters, still came to fear the Lord (v. 28).

18:1–8 Hezekiah is the first king since David to keep the Lord's commandments (v. 6), to restore right worship for the people, and to honor Him as True God. Even so, he was unable to prevent the captivity foretold to him in his later days (20:18), accepting it with trust in the Lord.

18:4 The spiritual reality of the bronze serpent made by Moses (Nm 21:9) is lost and its meaning worthless.

18:7 The Lord was with Hezekiah, for in faith He waited on the Lord and the promise of His Incarnation (Mt 1:22, 23).

18:13—20:19 This account is also recorded in Isaiah 36:1–39:8.

18:16 Hezekiah's priority is not the temple gold but the preservation of the remnant in Judah (19:4).

18:28–35 Rabshakeh's words are those of a false prophet and a blasphemer (see 19:6). He accuses King Hezekiah of the deceit he himself practices, and tempts the people with false promises that twist the promises of God. Well does Isaiah describe Assyria's role in the history of Israel (Is 10:5–14).

18:36 The command echoes Isaiah's prophecy, "He opened not His mouth" (Is 53:7).

19:1–7 Hezekiah is a humble man who calls on the Lord and seeks His direction by way of His prophets. The Lord turned back the immediate threat of the enemy (v. 7).

19:19 See Ps 82:18.

19:31 Isaiah's prophecy regarding the remnant will find its fulfillment and completion in the Incarnation of the Word of God and the coming of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost (Acts 2).

20:1–6 The Lord overturns His words spoken to Hezekiah by Isaiah because of Hezekiah's prayers and heartfelt tears. "What can be clearer than this proof that out of consideration for mercy and goodness the Lord would rather break His word, and instead of the prearranged limit of death, extend the life of him who prayed, for fifteen years, rather than be found inexorable because of His unchangeable decree?" (JohnCas).

20:11 Here the Lord, to answer the prayer of Isaiah for the sake of Hezekiah, overcomes the laws of nature by turning back time (v. 11), as measured on the sun dial.

20:12–21 When the heart "is estranged from the business of self-examination, it does not even consider the losses it is suffering, or know how great they are. For neither did Hezekiah believe himself to be sinning when he showed his treasures to the strangers. When in heart we transgress, what we are doing within ourselves is hidden from men. Yet in the eyes of the Judge, we sin" (GrgGt).

21:1, 2 As long as Manasseh was "free" to live according to his passions, he remained in bondage to them. But when the Lord allowed him to be taken into captivity, he found repentance and was restored to his kingdom (2Ch 33:13). "Now if, considering the magnitude of his own iniquities, he had despaired of restoration and repentance, he would have missed all which he afterwards obtained. But as it was, looking to the boundlessness of God's tender mercy instead of the enormity of his transgressions, and having broken in sunder the bonds of the devil, he rose up and contended with him, and finished the good course" (Dion).

21:3 Here, all the host of heaven is not the saints and the angels to which this phrase usually refers. Rather, these are the fallen hosts, as is clear in 23:5.

22:1, 2 Josiah is a model for all who seek through repentance and obedience to God to be cleansed, renewed, and restored. By not turning aside to the right or to the left, Josiah stayed in the center of God's will, not attempting to test the outer limits of His love and grace.

22:11–13 When Josiah heard the words of the Book of Law, he immediately realized his kingdom had strayed from God, and took steps to bring reform. According to St. Paul, "the law was our tutor to bring us to Christ" (Gal 3:24), "for by the law is the knowledge of sin" (Rom 3:20).

23:1–3 How do we bring renewal to God's people? The King Josiah began by exposing them to the hearing and learning of God's word. He gathered to himself all the elders and all the people, for both the leaders and the laity must live by God's revelation.

23:4–9 A second step in renewal is to bring out of the temple . . . all the articles made for Baal. Following the Lord includes both hearing and obeying His word and intentionally rejecting darkness.

23:16–20 Josiah fulfills a prophecy spoken by a prophet of the Lord more than three hundred years earlier (3Kg 13:2, 3).

23:21–25 "Love faith. For by his devotion and faith Josiah won great love for himself from his enemies. For he celebrated the Lord's Passover . . . as no one had done it before him. As then in zeal, he was superior to those who went before him. So do you, my sons, show zeal for God. Let zeal for God search you through, and devour you, so that each one of you may say, 'The zeal of Thine house hath eaten me up'" (AmbM).

23:26–37 Even though Josiah was Judah's most righteous king (v. 25), the kings who succeeded him lapsed back into evil. In Israel of old, as in the Church today, the work of renewal is never finished. True and lasting peace and righteousness will come only through the reign of Christ in His everlasting kingdom.

24:1 The Chaldeans are the people of the south of Babylon.

24:10–17 The totality of the siege of Jerusalem is remarkable. The king and his family and court are imprisoned (v. 12), the temple and the king's house are dismantled (v. 13), and the army is in captivity (v. 14).

24:18 Zedekiah, the new king of Judah, was more like a prince or regent, serving under his father.

25:1–7 The physical siege of Jerusalem is completed, and the king is blinded and removed to Babylon.

25:8–17 Once the city is captured, the temple, the house of the Lord, is cleaned out and laid bare. In Jerusalem every house was burned. The tall pillars of the temple were torn down. The capital (v. 17) is the top or dome of the pillar.

25:27–30 Even after the murder of Gedaliah (25:25), the book ends on a note of hope. Jehoiachin is freed from prison and given a measure of freedom as God's people remain in exile.

The First Book of the Chronicles

Author

Traditionally, Ezra is believed to be the author.

Date

About 450 BC

Major Themes

The hope of the coming Messiah, and the continuation of the Davidic covenant. "I will establish him in My house and in My kingdom forever; his throne shall be established forever" (17:14).

Background

The LXX [translation first divided Chronicles into two books and named them "the things omitted," meaning that the Greek translators understood these books to be a supplement to the four Books of Kingdoms. Much of the text of this book is taken from portions of other books and sacred writings. The genealogies recorded here from Adam to David serve as a preamble to the genealogies of Christ in the New Testament (Mt 1), beginning with the tribe of the Levites, since the Messiah will descend from Judah. The writer idealizes David, ignoring his transgressions, and records his final days and the transfer of the kingdom to Solomon, his son and successor.

[8]The sons of Ham were Cush, Mizraim, Put, and Canaan. [9]The sons of Cush were Seba, Havilah, Sabta, Raama, and Sabtecha. The sons of Raama were Sheba and Dedan. [10]Cush begot Nimrod; he began to be a mighty hunter on the earth.

[11]The sons of Shem were Elam, Asshur, and Arphaxad. [12]Shela, [13]Eber, Pheleg, Ragan, [14]Seruch, Nachor, Tharrha, [15]Abraham.

Descendants of Ishmael

[16]And the sons of Abraham: Isaac and Ishmael. [17]And these are their generations: the firstborn of Ishmael, Nabaeoth, and Kedar, Nabdeel, Massam, [18]Masma, Iduma, Masse, Chondan, Thaeman, [19]Jettur, Naphes, Kedma: these the sons of Ishmael. [20]And the sons of Keturah, Abraham's concubine: she bore him Zembram, Jexan, Madiam, Madam, Sobac, Soe; and the sons of Jexan: Daedan and Sabai; [21]and the sons of Madiam: Gephar, and Opher, and Enoch, and Abida, and Eldada; all these the sons of Keturah.

Descendants of Isaac

[22]And Abraham begot Isaac: and the sons of Isaac were Jacob and Esau.

[23]The sons of Esau: Eliphaz, and Raguel, and Jeul, and Jeglom, and Core.
[24]The sons of Eliphaz: Thaeman, and Omar, Sophar, and Gootham, and Kenez, and Thamna, and Amalek. [25]And the sons of Raguel, Naches, Zare,
Some, and Moze.

Descendants of Seir

[26]The sons of Seir: Lotan, Sobal, Sebegon, Ana, Deson, Osar, and Disan.
[27]And the sons of Lotan: Chorri and Aeman; and the sister of Lotan was Thamna. [28]The sons of Sobal: Alon, Machanath, Taebel, Sophi, and Onan; and the sons of Sebegon: Aeth and Sonan. [29]The sons of Sonan, Daeson; and the sons of Daeson: Emeron, and Asebon, and Jethram, and Charran. [30]And the sons of Hosar: Balaam, and Zucam, and Acan; the sons of Disan: Os and Aran.

The Kings of Edom

[31]And these are their kings: Bela the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dinhabah. [32]When Bela died, Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his place. [33]When Jobab died, Husham of the land of the Temanites reigned in his place. [34]And when Husham died, Hadad the son of Bedad, who attacked Midian in the field of Moab, reigned in his place. The name of his city was Avith. [35]When Hadad died, Samlah of Masrekah reigned in his place. [36]And when Samlah died, Saul of Rehoboth by the river reigned in his place. [37]When Saul died, Baal-Hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his place. [38]And when Baal-Hanan the son of Achbor died, Hadad the son of Barad reigned in his place; and the name of his city was Phogor. [39]Hadad died also. And the chiefs of Edom were Chief Timnah, Chief Aliah, Chief Jetheth, [40]Chief Aholibamah, Chief Elah, Chief Pinon, [41]Chief Kenaz, Chief Teman, Chief Mibzar, [42]Chief Magdiel, and Chief Iram. These were the chiefs of Edom.

1 Chronicles 2

Descendants of Israel

[1]These were the sons of Israel: Reuben, Simeon, Levi, Judah, Issachar, Zebulun, [2]Dan, Joseph, Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad, and Asher.

From Judah to David

[3]The sons of Judah were Er, Onan, and Shelah. These three were born to him by the daughter of Shua, the Canaanitess. Er, the firstborn of Judah, was wicked in the sight of the Lord; so He killed him. [4]And Tamar, his daughter-in-law, bore him Perez and Zerah. All the sons of Judah were five. [5]The sons of Perez were Hezron and Hamul. [6]The sons of Zerah were Zimri, Ethan, Heman, Calcol, and Dara, five of them in all. [7]The sons of Carmi: Achar, the troublemaker of Israel, who was nullified with a curse. [8]The son of Ethan was Azariah. [9]Also the sons of Hezron who were born to him were Jerahmeel, Ram, and Chelubai. [10]Ram begot Amminadab, and Amminadab begot Nahshon, leader of the children of Judah; [11]Nahshon begot Salma, and Salma begot Boaz; [12]Boaz begot Obed, and Obed begot Jesse; [13]Jesse begot Eliab his firstborn, Abinadab the second, Shimea the third, [14]Nethanel the fourth, Raddai the fifth, [15]Ozem the sixth, and David the seventh. [16]Now their sisters were Zeruiah and Abigail. The sons of Zeruiah were Abishai, Joab, and Asahel, three. [17]Abigail bore Amasa; and the father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmaelite.

Descendants of Hezron

[18]Caleb the son of Hezron had children by Azubah, his wife, and by Jerioth. Now these were her sons: Jesher, Shobab, and Ardon. [19]When Azubah died, Caleb took Ephrath as his wife, who bore him Hur. [20]And Hur begot Uri, and Uri begot Bezalel. [21]Now afterward Hezron went in to the daughter of Machir, the father of Gilead, whom he married when he was sixty years old; and she bore him Segub. [22]Segub begot Jair, who had twenty-three cities in the land of Gilead. [23]Geshur and Syria took from them the towns of Jair, with Kenath and its towns, sixty towns. All these belonged to the sons of Machir the father of Gilead. [24]After Hezron died in Caleb-Ephrathah, Hezron’s wife Abijah bore him Ashhur the father of Tekoa.

Descendants of Jerahmeel

[25]The sons of Jerahmeel, the firstborn of Hezron, were Ram, the firstborn, and Bunah, Oren, Ozem, and Ahijah. [26]Jerahmeel had another wife, whose name was Atarah; she was the mother of Onam. [27]The sons of Ram, the firstborn of Jerahmeel, were Maaz, Jamin, and Eker. [28]The sons of Onam were Shammai and Jada. The sons of Shammai were Nadab and Abishur. [29]And the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, and she bore him Ahban and Molid. [30]The sons of Nadab were Seled and Appaim; Seled died without children. [31]The son of Appaim was Ishi, the son of Ishi was Sheshan, and Sheshan’s son was Ahlai. [32]The sons of Jada, the brother of Shammai, were Jether and Jonathan; Jether died without children. [33]The sons of Jonathan were Peleth and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel. [34]Now Sheshan had no sons, only daughters. And Sheshan had an Egyptian servant whose name was Jarha. [35]Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his servant as wife, and she bore him Attai. [36]Attai begot Nathan, and Nathan begot Zabad; [37]Zabad begot Ephlal, and Ephlal begot Obed; [38]Obed begot Jehu, and Jehu begot Azariah; [39]Azariah begot Helez, and Helez begot Eleasah; [40]Eleasah begot Sismai, and Sismai begot Shallum; [41]Shallum begot Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begot Elishama.

Descendants of Caleb

[42]The descendants of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel were Mesha, his firstborn, who was the father of Ziph, and the sons of Mareshah the father of Hebron. [43]The sons of Hebron were Korah, Tappuah, Rekem, and Shema. [44]Shema begot Raham the father of Jorkoam, and Rekem begot Shammai. [45]And the son of Shammai was Maon, and Maon was the father of Beth Zur. [46]Ephah, Caleb's concubine, bore Haran, Moza, and Gazez; and Haran begot Gazez. [47]The sons of Jahdai were Regem, Jotham, Geshan, Pelet, Ephah, and Shaaph. [48]Maachah, Caleb's concubine, bore Sheber and Tirhanah. [49]She also bore Shaaph the father of Madmannah, Sheva the father of Machbenah and the father of Gibea. And the daughter of Caleb was Achsah. [50]These were the descendants of Caleb: The sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephrathah, were Shobal the father of Kirjath Jearim, [51]Salma the father of Bethlehem, and Hareph the father of Beth Gader. [52]And Shobal the father of Kirjath Jearim had descendants: Haroeh and half of the families of Manuhoth. [53]The families of Kirjath Jearim were the Ithrites, the Puthites, the Shumathites, and the Mishraites. From these came the Zorathites and the Eshtaolites. [54]The sons of Salma were Bethlehem, the Netophathites, Atroth-Beth-Joab, half of the Manahethites, and the Zorites. [55]And the families of the scribes who dwelt at Jabez were the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and the Suchathites. These were the Kenites who came from Hammath, the father of the house of Rechab.

Descendants of David

[1]Now these were the sons of David who were born to him in Hebron: The firstborn was Amnon, by Ahinoam the Jezreelitess; the second, Daniel, by Abigail the Carmelitess; [2]the third, Absalom the son of Maacah, the daughter of Talmai, king of Geshur; the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith; [3]the fifth, Shephatiah, by Abital; the sixth, Ithream, by his wife Eglah. [4]These six were born to him in Hebron. There he reigned seven years and six months, and in Jerusalem he reigned thirty-three years. [5]And these were born to him in Jerusalem: Shimea, Shobab, Nathan, and Solomon, four by Bathshua the daughter of Ammiel. [6]Also there were Ibhar, Elishama, Eliphelet, [7]Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, [8]Elishama, Eliada, and Eliphelet, nine in all. [9]These were all the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines, and Tamar their sister.

Descendants of Solomon

[10]The sons of Solomon were Rehoboam; Abijah was his son, Asa his son, Jehoshaphat his son, [11]Joram his son, Ahaziah his son, Joash his son, [12]Amaziah his son, Azariah his son, Jotham his son, [13]Ahaz his son, Hezekiah his son, Manasseh his son, [14]Amon his son, and Josiah his son. [15]The sons of Josiah were Johanan the firstborn, the second Jehoiakim, the third Zedekiah, and the fourth Shallum. [16]The sons of Jehoiakim were Jeconiah his son and Zedekiah his son.

Descendants of Jeconiah

[17]The sons of Jeconiah were Assir, Shealtiel his son, [18]and Malchiram, Pedaiah, Shenazzar, Jecamiah, Hoshama, and Nedabiah. [19]The sons of Pedaiah were Zerubbabel and Shimei. The sons of Zerubbabel were Meshullam, Hananiah, and Shelomith their sister, [20]and Hashubah, Ohel, Berechiah, Hasadiah, and Jushab-Hesed, five in all. [21]The sons of Hananiah were Pelatiah and Jeshaiah, the sons of Rephaiah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, and the sons of Shechaniah. [22]The son of Shechaniah was Shemaiah. The sons of Shemaiah were Hattush, Igal, Bariah, Neariah, and Shaphat, six in all. [23]The sons of Neariah were Elioenai, Hezekiah, and Azrikam, three in all. [24]The sons of Elioenai were Hodaviah, Eliashib, Pelaiah, Akkub, Johanan, Delaiah, and Anani, seven in all.

Descendants of Judah

[1]The sons of Judah were Perez, Hezron, Carmi, Hur, and Shobal. [2]And Reaiah the son of Shobal begot Jahath, and Jahath begot Ahumai and Lahad. These were the families of the Zorathites. [3]These were the sons of the father of Etam: Jezreel, Ishma, and Idbash; and the name of their sister was Hazelelponi; [4]and Penuel was the father of Gedor, and Ezer was the father of Hushah. These were the sons of Hur: the firstborn of Ephrathah the father of Bethlehem. [5]And Ashhur the father of Tekoa had two wives, Helah and Naarah. [6]Naarah bore him Ahuzzam, Hepher, Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah. [7]The sons of Helah were Zereth, Zohar, and Ethnan. [8]Koz begot Anub, Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel the son of Harum. [9]Now Jabez was more honorable than his brothers, and his mother called his name Jabez, saying, “Because I bore him in pain.” [10]And Jabez called on the God of Israel, saying, “Oh, that You would bless me indeed, and enlarge my territory, that Your hand would be with me, and make known that You will not humble me.” Then God made it all happen as he requested.

[11]Chelub the brother of Shuhah begot Mehir, who was the father of Eshton. [12]And Eshton begot Beth-Rapha, Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of Ir-Nahash. These were the men of Rechah. [13]The sons of Kenaz were Othniel and Seraiah. The sons of Othniel were Hathath, [14]and Meonothai who begot Ophrah. Seraiah begot Joab the father of Ge-Harashim, for they were craftsmen. [15]The sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh were Iru, Elah, and Naam. The son of Elah was Kenaz. [16]The sons of Jehalelel were Ziph, Ziphah, Tiria, and Asarel. [17]The sons of Ezrah were Jether, Mered, Epher, and Jalon. Mered’s wife bore Miriam, Shammai, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa. [18]His wife Jehudijah bore Jered the father of Gedor, Heber the father of Sochoh, and Jekuthiel the father of Zanoah. These were the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh, whom Mered took. [19]The sons of Hodiah’s wife, the sister of Naham, were the fathers of Keilah the Garmite and of Eshtemoa the Maachathite. [20]The sons of Shimon were Amnon, Rinnah, Ben-Hanan, and Tilon. The sons of Ishi were Zoheth and Ben-Zoheth. [21]The sons of Shelah the son of Judah were Er the father of Lecah, Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the families of the house of the linen workers of the house of Ashbea; [22]also Jokim, and the men of Chozeba and Joash and Saraph, who lived in Moab, and he turned them back. Now the records are ancient. [23]These were the potters living at Netaim and Gederah with the king, who prevailed in his kingdom and lived there.

Descendants of Simeon

[24]The sons of Simeon were Nemuel, Jamin, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul, [25]Shallum his son, Mibsam his son, and Mishma his son. [26]The sons of Mishma were Hamuel his son, Zacchur his son, and Shimei his son. [27]Shimei had sixteen sons and three daughters; but his brothers did not have many children, nor did any of their families multiply as much as the children of Judah. [28]They dwelt at Beersheba, Moladah, Hazar Shual, [29]Bilhah, Ezem, Tolad, [30]Bethuel, Hormah, Ziklag, [31]Beth-Marcaboth, Hazar Susim, Beth-Biri, and at Shaaraim. These were their cities until the reign of David. [32]And their villages were Etam, Ain, Rimmon, Tochen, and Ashan, five cities, [33]and all their villages were round about these cities as far as Baal.

This was their possession and their allotment: [34]Meshobab, Jamlech, and Joshah the son of Amaziah; [35]Joel, and Jehu the son of Joshibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel; [36]Elioenai, Jaakobah, Jeshohaiah, Asaiah, Adiel, Jesimiel, and Benaiah; [37]Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedaiah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah; [38]these mentioned by name were leaders in their families, and they increased abundantly in their fathers' households.

[39]So they went to the entrance of Gedor, as far as the east side of the valley, to seek pasture for their flocks. [40]And they found rich, good pasture, and the land was broad, quiet, and peaceful. This is because some Hamites formerly lived there. [41]These recorded by name came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah; and they attacked their tents and the Meunites who were found there, and utterly destroyed them, as it is to this day. So they dwelt in their place, because there was pasture for their flocks there. [42]Now some of them, five hundred men of the sons of Simeon, went to Mount Seir, having as their captains Pelatiah, Neariah, Rephaiah, and Uzziel, the sons of Ishi. [43]And they killed the remnants of the Amalekites, and dwell there to this day.

1 Chronicles 5

Descendants of Reuben

[1]Now the sons of Reuben the firstborn of Israel. He was indeed the firstborn, but his father gave his blessing to his son Joseph, the son of Israel, because Reuben climbed onto his father's bed, so that the genealogy is not listed according to the birthright; [2]for Judah was able to prevail over his brothers, and from him came a ruler, although the blessing was Joseph's. [3]The sons of Reuben, the firstborn of Israel, were Hanoch, Pallu, Hezron, and Carmi. [4]The sons of Joel were Shemaiah his son, Gog his son, Shimei his son, [5]Micah his son, Reaiah his son, Baal his son, [6]and Beerah his son, whom Tiglath-Pileser, king of Assyria, carried into captivity. He was leader of the Reubenites. [7]And his brethren by their families, when the genealogy of their generations was registered: the chief, Jeiel, and Zechariah, [8]and Bela the son of Azaz, the son of Shema, the son of Joel, who dwelt in Aroer, as far as Nebo and Baal-Meon. [9]And because their flocks were many in the land of Gilead, they settled eastward, as far as the entrance of the wilderness on this side of the River Euphrates. [10]Now in the days of Saul they made war with the sojourners, and those who dwelt in tents throughout the entire area east of Gilead fell by their hand.

Descendants of Gad

[11]The children of Gad dwelt next to them in the land of Bashan as far as Salcah: [12]Joel was the chief, Shapham the next, then Jaanai and Shaphat in Bashan, [13]and their brethren according to the house of their fathers: Michael, Meshullam, Sheba, Jorai, Jachan, Zia, and Eber, seven in all. [14]These were the children of Abihail the son of Huri, the son of Jaroah, the son of Gilead, the son of Michael, the son of Jeshishai, the son of Jahdo, the son of Buz;
[15]Ahi the son of Abdiel, the son of Guni, was chief of their fathers' house.
[16]And the Gadites dwelt in Gilead, in Bashan and in its villages, and in all the common lands of Sharon within their borders. [17]All these were registered by genealogies in the days of Jotham king of Judah and in the days of Jeroboam king of Israel.

[18]The sons of Reuben, the Gadites, and half the tribe of Manasseh had forty-four thousand seven hundred sixty valiant men able to bear shield and sword, to shoot with the bow, and who were skillful in war. [19]They made war with the Hagrites, Jetur, Naphish, and Nodab. [20]And they prevailed against them, and the Hagrites and all their encampments were delivered into their hand; for they cried out to God in the battle, and He heeded them, for they hoped in Him. [21]Then they took away fifty thousand of their camels, two hundred fifty thousand of their sheep, and two thousand of their donkeys, also one hundred thousand of their men; [22]for many fell dead, because the war was of God. And they dwelt in their place until the captivity.

Descendants of Manasseh (East)

23 And the half-tribe of Manasseh dwelt in the land from Bashan to Baal-Hermon, and Senir to Mount Hermon. 24 These were the heads of the houses of their fathers: Epher, Ishi, Eliel, Azriel, Jeremiah, Hodaviah, and Jahdiel.
They were mighty men of valor, of fame, who were heads of the houses of their fathers.
25 But they were unfaithful to the God of their fathers and played the harlot after the gods of the peoples of the land, whom God had destroyed before them. 26 So the God of Israel stirred up the spirit of Pul king of Assyria, that is, Tiglath-Pileser king of Assyria. He carried the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh into captivity. He took them to Halah, Habor, Hara, and the river of Gozan to this day.

Descendants of Levi

27 The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. 28 The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 29 The children of Amram were Aaron, Moses, and Miriam. The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 30 Eleazar begot Phinehas, and Phinehas begot Abishua; 31 Abishua begot Bukki, and Bukki begot Uzzi; 32 Uzzi begot Zerahiah, and Zerahiah begot Meraioth; 33 Meraioth begot Amariah, and Amariah begot
Ahitub; 34 Ahitub begot Zadok, and Zadok begot Ahimaaz; 35 Ahimaaz begot Azariah, and Azariah begot Johanan; 36 Johanan begot Azariah: it was he who ministered as priest in the temple that Solomon built in Jerusalem. 37 Azariah begot Amariah, and Amariah begot Ahitub; 38 Ahitub begot Zadok, and Zadok begot Shallum; 39 Shallum begot Hilkiah, and Hilkiah begot Azariah; 40 Azariah begot Seraiah, and Seraiah begot Jehozadak. 41 Jehozadak went into captivity when the Lord carried Judah and Jerusalem into captivity by the hand of Nebuchadnezzar.

1 Chronicles 6

1 The sons of Levi were Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. 2 These are the names of the sons of Gershon: Libni and Shimei. 3 The sons of Kohath were Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel. 4 The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. Now these are the families of the Levites according to their fathers: [5]of Gershon were Libni his son, Jahath his son, Zimmah his son, [6]Joah his son, Iddo his son, Zerah his son, and Jeatherai his son. [7]The sons of Kohath were Amminadab his son, Korah his son, Assir his son, [8]Elkanah his son, Ebiasaph his son, Assir his son, [9]Tahath his son, Uriel his son, Uzziah his son, and Shaul his son. [10]The sons of Elkanah were Amasai and Ahimoth. [11]As for Elkanah, the sons of Elkanah were Zophai his son, Nahath his son, [12]Eliab his son, Jeroham his son, and Elkanah his son. [13]The sons of Samuel were Joel the firstborn, and Abijah the second. [14]The sons of Merari were Mahli, Libni his son, Shimei his son, Uzzah his son, [15]Shimea his son, Haggiah his son, and Asaiah his son.

Musicians in the Temple

[16]These are the men whom David appointed over the service of the singers in the house of the Lord after the ark came to rest. [17]And they ministered in front of the tabernacle of witness, playing on instruments, until Solomon built the house of the Lord in Jerusalem. And for their services, they stood according to their order. [18]And these are the ones who ministered with their sons: of the sons of the Kohathites were Heman the singer, the son of Joel, the son of Samuel, [19]the son of Elkanah, the son of Jeroham, the son of Eliel, the son of Toah, [20]the son of Zuph, the son of Elkanah, the son of Mahath, the son of Amasai, [21]the son of Elkanah, the son of Joel, the son of Azariah, the son of Zephaniah, [22]the son of Tahath, the son of Assir, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, [23]the son of Izhar, the son of Kohath, the son of Levi, the son of Israel. [24]And his brother Asaph, who stood at his right hand; Asaph was the son of Berachiah, the son of Shimea, [25]the son of Michael, the son of Baaseiah, the son of Malchijah, [26]the son of Ethni, the son of Zerah, the son of Adaiah, [27]the son of Ethan, the son of Zimmah, the son of Shimei, [28]the son of Jahath, the son of Gershon, the son of Levi. [29]Their brethren, the sons of Merari, on the left hand were Ethan the son of Kishi, the son of Abdi, the son of Malluch, [30]the son of Hashabiah, the son of Amaziah, the son of Hilkiah, [31]the son of Amzi, the son of Bani, the son of Shamer, [32]the son of Mahli, the son of Mushi, the son of Merari, the son of Levi. [33]And their brethren according to the houses of their fathers, the Levites, were appointed to every kind of service of the tabernacle of the house of God.

Descendants of Aaron

[34]But Aaron and his sons offered sacrifices on the altar of whole burnt offering and on the altar of incense, for all the work of the most holy place and to make atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded. [35]Now these are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, [36]Bukki his son, Uzzi his son, Zerahiah his son, [37]Meraioth his son, Amariah his son, Ahitub his son, [38]Zadok his son, and Ahimaaz his son.

The Levites' Dwelling Places

[39]Now these are their dwelling places throughout their settlements in their territory, for they were given by lot to the sons of Aaron, of the family of the Kohathites: [40]They gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, with its surrounding common lands. [41]But the fields of the city and its villages they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh. [42]And to the sons of Aaron they gave one of the cities of refuge, Hebron, and Libnah with its common lands, and Jattir, and Eshtemoa with its common lands, [43]Hilen with its common lands, Debir with its common lands, [44]Ashan with its common lands, and Beth-Shemesh with its common lands. [45]And from the tribe of Benjamin: Geba with its common lands, Alemeth with its common lands, and Anathoth with its common lands. All their cities among their families were thirteen. [46]To the rest of the family of the tribe of the Kohathites, they were given, by lot, ten cities from half the tribe of Manasseh.

[47]And to the sons of Gershon, throughout their families, they gave thirteen cities from the tribe of Issachar, from the tribe of Asher, from the tribe of Naphtali, and from the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan. [48]To the sons of Merari, throughout their families, they gave twelve cities from the tribe of Reuben, from the tribe of Gad, and from the tribe of Zebulun. [49]So the children of Israel gave these cities with their common lands to the Levites. [50]And they gave by lot from the tribe of the children of Judah, from the tribe of the children of Simeon, and from the tribe of the children of Benjamin these cities, which are called by their names.

[51]Now some of the families of the sons of Kohath were given cities as their territory from the tribe of Ephraim. [52]And they gave them one of the cities of refuge, Shechem with its common lands in the mountains of Ephraim, also Gezer with its common lands, [53]Jokmeam with its common lands, Beth-

Horon with its common lands, [54]Aijalon with its common lands, and Gath-Rimmon with its common lands. [55]And from the half-tribe of Manasseh: Aner with its common lands, and Bileam with its common lands, for the rest of the family of the sons of Kohath.

[56]From the family of the half-tribe of Manasseh, the sons of Gershon were given Golan in Bashan with its common lands and Ashtaroth with its common lands. [57]And from the tribe of Issachar, Kedesh with its common lands, Daberath with its common lands, [58]Ramoth with its common lands, and Anem with its common lands. [59]And from the tribe of Asher, Mashal with its common lands, Abdon with its common lands, [60]Hukok with its common lands, and Rehob with its common lands. [61]And from the tribe of Naphtali, Kedesh in Galilee with its common lands, Hammon with its common lands, and Kirjathaim with its common lands.

[62]From the tribe of Zebulun, the rest of the children of Merari were given Rimmon with its common lands and Tabor with its common lands. [63]And on the other side of the Jordan, across from Jericho on the east side of the Jordan, they were given from the tribe of Reuben: Bezer in the wilderness with its common lands, Jahzah with its common lands, [64]Kedemoth with its common lands, and Mephaath with its common lands. [65]And from the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with its common lands, Mahanaim with its common-lands, [66]Heshbon with its common lands, and Jazer with its common lands.

Descendants of Issachar

[1]The sons of Issachar were Tola, Puah, Jashub, and Shimron, four in all. [2]The sons of Tola were Uzzi, Rephaiah, Jeriel, Jahmai, Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads of the houses of their fathers. Strong in power, their number in the days of David was twenty-two thousand six hundred, according to their generations. [3]The son of Uzzi was Izrahiah, and the sons of Izrahiah were Michael, Obadiah, Joel, and Ishiah. All five of them were chief men. [4]And with them, by their generations, according to the houses of their fathers, were thirty-six thousand troops ready for war; for they had many wives and sons. [5]Now their brethren among all the families of Issachar were mighty men of valor: listed by their genealogies, they were eighty-seven thousand in all.

Descendants of Benjamin

6The sons of Benjamin were Bela, Becher, and Jediael, three in all. 7The sons of Bela were Ezbon, Uzzi, Uzziel, Jerimoth, and Iri, five in all. They were heads of houses of families—influential men—and their number was twenty-two thousand thirty-four. 8The sons of Becher were Zemirah, Joash, Eliezer, Elioenai, Omri, Jerimoth, Abijah, Anathoth, and Alemeth. All these were the sons of Becher. 9As heads of the houses of their fathers—men of influence—they numbered twenty thousand two hundred, according to their generations. 10The son of Jediael was Bilhan, and the sons of Bilhan were Jeush, Benjamin, Ehud, Chenaanah, Zethan, Tharshish, and Ahishahar. 11All these sons of Jediael were heads of the houses of their fathers' houses; there were seventeen thousand two hundred men, strong in strength, fit to go out for war and battle. 12Shuppim and Huppim were the sons of Ir. Hushim was the son of Aher.

Descendants of Naphtali

13The sons of Naphtali were Jahziel, Guni, Jezer, and Shallum, the sons of Bilhah.

Descendants of Manasseh (West)

14The descendants of Manasseh: his Syrian concubine bore him Machir the father of Gilead, the father of Asriel. 15Machir took as his wife the sister of Huppim and Shuppim, whose name was Maachah. The name of Gilead's grandson was Zelophehad, but Zelophehad begot only daughters. 16Maachah the wife of Machir bore a son, and she called his name Peresh. The name of his brother was Sheresh, and his sons were Ulam and Rakem. 17The son of Ulam was Bedan. These were the descendants of Gilead the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh. 18His sister Hammoleketh bore Ishhod, Abiezer, and Mahlah. 19The sons of Shemida were Ahian, Shechem, Likhi, and Aniam.

Descendants of Ephraim

20The sons of Ephraim were Shuthelah, Bered his son, Tahath his son, Eladah his son, Tahath his son, 21Zabad his son, Shuthelah his son, and Ezer and Elead. The men of Gath who were born in that land killed them because they came down to take away their cattle. 22Then Ephraim their father mourned many days, and his brethren came to comfort him. 23And when he went in to his wife, she conceived and bore a son; and he called his name Beriah, because tragedy had come upon his house. [24]And for those who remained, he also built Lower and Upper Beth-Horon. And the son of Uzzen was Sheerah; [25]and Rephah was his son, as well as Resheph, and Telah his son, Tahan his son, [26]Laadan his son, Ammihud his son, Elishama his son, [27]Nun his son, and Joshua his son. [28]Now their possessions and dwelling places were Bethel and its towns: to the east Naaran, to the west Gezer and its towns, and Shechem and its towns, as far as Ayyah and its towns; [29]and by the borders of the children of Manasseh were Beth-Shean and its towns, Taanach and its towns, Megiddo and its towns, Dor and its towns. In these dwelt the children of Joseph, the son of Israel.

Descendants of Asher

[30]The sons of Asher were Imnah, Ishvah, Ishvi, Beriah, and their sister Serah. [31]The sons of Beriah were Heber and Malchiel, who was the father of Birzaith. [32]And Heber begot Japhlet, Shomer, Hotham, and their sister Shua. [33]The sons of Japhlet were Pasach, Bimhal, and Ashvath—these were the children of Japhlet. [34]The sons of Shemer were Ahi, Rohgah, Jehubbah, and Aram. [35]And the sons of his brother Helem were Zophah, Imna, Shelesh, and Amal. [36]The sons of Zophah were Suah, Harnepher, Shual, Beri, Imrah, [37]Bezer, Hod, Shamma, Shilshah, Jithran, and Beera. [38]The sons of Jether were Jephunneh, Pispah, and Ara. [39]The sons of Ulla were Arah, Haniel, and Rizia. [40]All these were the children of Asher, heads of the households of their fathers' houses, choice men, strong in strength and chief leaders. They were recorded by generations among the army fit for battle. Their number was twenty-six thousand.

Descendants of Benjamin, Continued

[1]Now Benjamin begot Bela his firstborn, Ashbel the second, Aharah the third, [2]Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth. [3]The sons of Bela were Addar, Gera, Abihud, [4]Abishua, Naaman, Ahoah, [5]Gera, Shephuphan, and Huram. [6]These are the sons of Ehud, who were the heads of the houses of their fathers, of the inhabitants of Geba—they who forced them to move to Manahath: [7]Naaman, Ahijah, and Gera, who forced them to move. He begot Uzza and Ahihud. [8]Also Shaharaim had children in the country of Moab, after he had sent away Hushim and Baara his wives. [9]By Hodesh his wife he begot Jobab, Zibia, Mesha, Malcam, [10]Jeuz, Sachiah, and Mirmah. These were his sons, heads of their fathers' houses. [11]And by Hushim he begot Abitub and Elpaal. [12]The sons of Elpaal were Eber, Misham, and Shemed, who built Ono and Lod with its towns; [13]and Beriah and Shema, who were heads of their fathers' houses of the inhabitants of Aijalon, who drove out the inhabitants of Gath. [14]Ahio, Shashak, Jeremoth, [15]Zebadiah, Arad, Eder, [16]Michael, Ispah, and Joha were the sons of Beriah. [17]Zebadiah, Meshullam, Hizki, Heber, [18]Ishmerai, Jizliah, and Jobab were the sons of Elpaal. [19]Jakim, Zichri, Zabdi, [20]Elienai, Zillethai, Eliel, [21]Adaiah, Beraiah, and Shimrath were the sons of Shimei. [22]Ishpan, Eber, Eliel, [23]Abdon, Zichri, Hanan, [24]Hananiah, Elam, Antothijah, [25]Iphdeiah, and Penuel were the sons of Shashak. [26]Shamsherai, Shehariah, Athaliah, [27]Jaareshiah, Elijah, and Zichri were the sons of Jeroham. [28]These were heads of the houses of their fathers by their generations, chief men. These dwelt in Jerusalem. [29]Now the father of Gibeon, whose wife's name was Maacah, dwelt at Gibeon. [30]And his firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Nadab, [31]Gedor, Ahio, Zecher, [32]and Mikloth, who begot Shimeah. They also dwelt alongside their relatives in Jerusalem, with their brethren.

Descendants of Saul

[33]Ner begot Kish, Kish begot Saul, and Saul begot Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Esh-Baal. [34]The son of Jonathan was Merib-Baal, and Merib-Baal begot Micah. [35]The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tarea, and Ahaz. [36]And Ahaz begot Jehoaddah; Jehoaddah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begot Moza. [37]Moza begot Binea, Raphah his son, Eleasah his son, and Azel his son. [38]Azel had six sons whose names were these: Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel. [39]And the sons of Eshek his brother were Ulam his firstborn, Jeush the second, and Eliphelet the third. [40]The sons of Ulam were mighty men of valor, archers. They had many sons and grandsons, one hundred fifty in all. These were all sons of Benjamin.

The Return from Captivity to Jerusalem

[1]And the census was of all Israel, those who had been inscribed in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah, along with those banished to Babylon in their lawlessness; [2]and those who dwelled formerly with their possessions in the cities of Israel, and the priests, the Levites, and those to whom permission had been given.

[3]Then some of the children of Judah dwelt in Jerusalem, along with some of the children of Benjamin, and the children of Ephraim and Manasseh:
[4]Uthai the son of Ammihud, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, of the descendants of Perez, the son of Judah. [5]Of the Shilonites: Asaiah the firstborn and his sons. [6]Of the sons of Zerah: Jeuel, and their brethren, six hundred ninety. [7]Of the sons of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hassenuah; [8]Ibneiah the son of Jeroham; Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri; Meshullam the son of Shephatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah; [9]and their brethren, according to their generations, nine hundred fifty-six. All these men were heads of the families, according to the houses of their fathers.

The Priests in Jerusalem

[10]Of the priests, there were Jedaiah, Jehoiarib, and Jachin; [11]Azariah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the officer over the house of God; [12]Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur, the son of Malchijah; Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer; [13]and their brethren, heads of the houses of their fathers, one thousand seven hundred sixty. They were very able men for the work of the service of the house of God.

The Levites in Jerusalem

[14]Of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari; [15]Bakbakkar, Heresh, Galal, and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph; [16]Obadiah the son of Shemaiah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun; and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, who lived in the villages of the Netophathites.

Gatekeepers of the Levites

17 The gatekeepers were Shallum, Akkub, Talmon, Ahiman, and their brethren. Shallum was the chief. 18 Until then they had been gatekeepers for the camps of the children of Levi at the King's Gate on the east. 19 Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren from his father's house, the Korahites, were in charge of the work of the service, gatekeepers of the tabernacle. Their fathers had been keepers of the entrance to the camp of the Lord. 20 And Phinehas the son of Eleazar had been the officer over them in time past, and these were with him. 21 Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah was keeper of the door of the tabernacle of the testimony.
22 All those chosen as gatekeepers were two hundred twelve, and in their villages they were recorded by their genealogy. David and Samuel, the seer, appointed them for their faithfulness.

23 So they and their sons were to guard the gates of the house of the Lord, the house of the tabernacle. 24 The gatekeepers were assigned to the four directions: the east, west, north, and south. 25 And their brethren in their villages had to come with them from time to time for seven days. 26 For in this trusted office were four chief gatekeepers; they were Levites. They had charge over the chambers and treasuries of the house of God. 27 And they remained round about the house of God, for they had charge over the keys to unlock the doors of the temple every morning.

Other Work of the Levites

28 Now some of them were in charge of the serving vessels, for they brought them in and took them out by count. 29 Some of them were appointed over the furnishings and over all the implements of the sanctuary, and over the fine flour and the wine and the oil and the incense and the spices. 30 And some of the sons of the priests made the ointment of the spices. 31 Mattithiah of the Levites, the firstborn of Shallum the Korahite, was entrusted over the items of the sacrificial offering from the chief priest's frying pan. 32 And Banaias the Kohathite out of their brethren was in charge of preparing the showbread for every Sabbath. 33 These are the singers, heads of the houses of the fathers of the Levites, who were assigned daily, freed from other duties, for they were employed in that work day and night. 34 These heads of the houses of the fathers of the Levites were heads throughout their generations. They dwelt in Jerusalem.

Family Line of King Saul

35 Jeiel the father of Gibeon, whose wife's name was Maacah, dwelt at Gibeon. 36 His firstborn son was Abdon, then Zur, Kish, Baal, Ner, Nadab, 37 Gedor, Ahio, Zechariah, and Mikloth. 38 And Mikloth begot Shimeam. They also dwelt alongside their relatives in Jerusalem, with their brethren.
39 Ner begot Kish, Kish begot Saul, and Saul begot Jonathan, Malchishua, Abinadab, and Esh-Baal. 40 The son of Jonathan was Merib-Baal, and Merib-Baal begot Micah. 41 The sons of Micah were Pithon, Melech, Tahrea, and Ahaz. 42 And Ahaz begot Jarah; Jarah begot Alemeth, Azmaveth, and Zimri; and Zimri begot Moza; 43 Moza begot Binea, Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, and Azel his son. 44 And Azel had six sons, whose names were Azrikam, Bocheru, Ishmael, Sheariah, Obadiah, and Hanan; these were the sons of Azel.

1 Chronicles 10

The Death of Saul and His Sons

1 Now the Philistines fought against Israel; and the men of Israel fled from the Philistines and fell slain on Mount Gilboa. 2 Then the Philistines followed hard after Saul and his sons. And the Philistines killed the sons of Saul—Jonathan, Abinadab, and Malchishua. 3 The battle became fierce against Saul, and he was wounded by the archers who struck him. 4 Then Saul said to his armor-bearer, "Draw your sword and pierce me through with it, lest these uncircumcised men come and dishonor me." But his armor-bearer would not, for he was greatly afraid. Therefore Saul took a sword and fell on it. 5 And when his armor-bearer saw Saul was dead, he also fell on his sword and died.
6 So Saul and his three sons died, and all his house died together. 7 And when all the men of Israel who were in the valley saw that they had fled, that Saul and his sons were dead, and that they left their cities fleeing, then the Philistines came and dwelt in them.
8 So it happened the next day, when the Philistines came to strip the slain, they found Saul and his sons dead on Mount Gilboa. 9 They stripped him and took his head and his armor, and sent word throughout the land of the Philistines to proclaim the news in the temple of their idols and among the people. [10]Then they put his armor in the temple of their gods and fastened his head to the temple of Dagon. [11]And when all of Jabesh Gilead heard what the Philistines did to Saul, [12]all the valiant men arose from Gilead and took the body of Saul and the bodies of his sons back with them to Jabesh. They buried their bones under the oak tree at Jabesh and fasted seven days.

[13]So Saul died for his lawlessness which he committed against the Lord, according to the Word of the Lord, because he did not keep it, and because Saul sought counsel of a wizard and Samuel the prophet answered him; so He slew him and turned the kingdom over to David the son of Jesse.

1 Chronicles 11

David Is King of All Israel

[1]Then all Israel came to David at Hebron, saying, “Indeed, we are your bone and your flesh. [2]Also, in time past, even when Saul was king, it was you who led Israel in and out. And the Lord your God said to you, ‘You shall feed My people Israel, and be a ruler over Israel.’ ” [3]Therefore all the elders of Israel came to the king at Hebron, and David made a covenant with them at Hebron before the Lord. And they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the Lord by Samuel.

[4]And the king and all Israel went to Jerusalem—this is Jebu—and there the Jebusites were inhabiting the land. [5]And the people inhabiting Jebu said to David, “You shall not enter here!” But he seized the stronghold of Mount Zion, which is the City of David. [6]And David said, “Whoever first strikes the Jebusites shall be chief and captain.” And Joab, the son of Zeruiah, went up first and became chief. [7]Then David dwelt in the stronghold; thereafter he called it the City of David. [8]And he waged war and took the city; around it he fortified the city. [9]So David grew ever stronger, and the Lord Almighty was with him.

David’s Mighty Men

[10]Now these were the heads of the mighty men whom David had with him, who strengthened themselves in his kingdom, with all Israel, to make him king, according to the word of the Lord regarding Israel. [11]And this is the number of the mighty men whom David had: Jashobeam the son of a Hachmonite, chief of the captains; he lifted up his spear against three hundred and killed them at one time. 12After him was Eleazar the son of Dodo, the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighty men. 13He was with David at Pasdammim, and the Philistines gathered there for battle, near a field full of barley. And the people fled from the sight of the Philistines. 14And he stood in the midst of the field and preserved it, and killed the Philistines. The Lord brought about a great deliverance.

15Now three of the thirty chief men went down to the rock towards David, to the cave of Adullam. The encampment of the Philistines was set up in the valley of Rephaim. 16David was then in the stronghold, and the garrison of the Philistines was then in Bethlehem. 17And David said with longing, “Oh, that someone would give me a drink of water from the well of Bethlehem, which is by the gate!” 18So the three broke through the camp of the Philistines, drew water from the well of Bethlehem by the gate, and took it and brought some to David. Nevertheless, David did not drink it, but poured it out to the Lord. 19And he said, “God be merciful to me. Should I do what was spoken? Shall I drink the blood of these men with their lives? For they brought it with their lives in peril.” Therefore he was not willing to drink it. The three mighty men did these things.

20Abishai the brother of Joab was chief of another three. He had lifted up his spear against three hundred men, killed them, and won a name among these three. 21Of the three he was more favored than the other two men, and was chief over them. But of the three of them, he did not go. 22Benaiah was the son of Jehoiada, the son of a valiant man from Kabzeel, who had done many deeds. He had killed two ruffians of Moab. He also had gone down and killed a lion in the midst of a pit on a snowy day. 23And he killed an Egyptian, a man of great height, five cubits tall. In the hand of the Egyptian there was a spear like a weaver’s beam, and he went down to him with a staff, snatched the spear out of the Egyptian’s hand, and killed him with his own spear. 24These things Benaiah the son of Jehoiada did, and won a name among three mighty men. 25Indeed, he was honored more than this thirty, but he did not attain to the first three. And David appointed him over his family.

26And the mighty warriors were Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem, 27Shammoth the Harorite, Helez the Pelonite, 28Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the Anathothite, 29Sibbechai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite, 30Maharai the Netophathite, Heled the son of Baanah the Netophathite, 31Ithai the son of Ribai of Gibeah, of the sons of Benjamin, Benaiah the Pirathonite, [32]Hurai of the brooks of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite, [33]Azmaveth the Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite, [34]the sons of Hashem the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shageh the Hararite, [35]Ahiam the son of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the son of Ur, [36]Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite, [37]Hezro the Carmelite, Naarai the son of Ezbai, [38]Joel the brother of Nathan, Mibhar the son of Hagri, [39]Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Berothite (the armor-bearer of Joab the son of Zeruiah), [40]Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite, [41]Uriah the Hittite, Zabad the son of Ahlai, [42]Adina the son of Shiza the Reubenite (a chief of the Reubenites) and thirty with him, [43]Hanan the son of Maachah, Joshaphat the Mithnite, [44]Uzzia the Ashterathite, Shama and Jeiel the sons of Hotham the Aroerite, [45]Jediael the son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tizite, [46]Eliel the Mahavite, Jeribai and Joshaviah the sons of Elnaam, Ithmah the Moabite, [47]Eliel, Obed, and Jaasiel the Mezobaite.

David's Army Expands

[1]Now these were the men who came to David at Ziklag while he was still a fugitive from Saul the son of Kish. They were among the mighty men, helpers in the war, [2]being armed with bows for shooting arrows and using either the right hand or the left for slinging stones. They were of Benjamin, Saul's brethren. [3]The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of Shemaah the Gibeathite; Jeziel and Pelet the sons of Azmaveth; Berachah and Jehu the Anathothite; [4]Ishmaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty; [5]Jeremiah, Jahaziel, Johanan, and Jozabad the Gederathite; [6]Eluzai, Jerimoth, Bealiah, Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite; [7]Elkanah, Jisshiah, Azarel, Joezer, and Jashobeam, the Korahites; [8]and Joelah and Zebadiah, the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.

[9]Some Gadites joined David in the wilderness, strong, mighty men of war, men trained for battle, who could handle shield and spear, whose faces were like the faces of lions and who were as swift as gazelles on the mountains: [10]Ezer the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third, [11]Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth, [12]Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh, [13]Johanan the eighth, Elzabad the ninth, [14]Jeremiah the tenth, and Machbanai the eleventh.

15These were from the sons of Gad, captains of the army; the least was over a hundred, and the greatest was over a thousand. 16These are the ones who crossed the Jordan in the first month, when it had overflowed all its banks; and they put to flight all those in the valleys, to the east and to the west.

17Then some of the sons of Benjamin and Judah came to aid David at the stronghold. 18David went out and met them, and addressed them by saying,
"If you have come peaceably to me to help me, my heart will be united with you; but if to betray me to my enemies, since there is no guile in my hands, may the God of our fathers observe and bring judgment."

19And the Spirit came upon Amasai, a captain of the thirty, and he said:

"Go, you and your people,
David, son of Jesse,
Peace, peace be to you,
And peace to your helpers,
For your God has helped you."

And David received them and made them captains of the forces.

20And some from Manasseh defected to David when he was going with the Philistines to battle against Saul; but they did not help them, for the lords of the Philistines sent him away by agreement, saying, "He may defect to his master Saul and endanger our heads." 21When he went to Ziklag, those of Manasseh who defected to him were Adnah, Jozabad, Jediael, Michael, Jozabad, Elihu, and Zillethai, captains of the thousands who were from Manasseh. 22And they helped David against the bands of raiders, for they were all mighty men of valor, and they were captains in the army. 23For at that time they came to David day by day to help him, until it was a great army, like the army of God.

The Soldiers at Hebron

24Now these were the numbers of the divisions that were equipped for war and that came to David at Hebron to turn the kingdom of Saul over to him, according to the word of the Lord: 25of the sons of Judah bearing shield and spear, six thousand eight hundred armed for war; 26of the sons of Simeon, mighty men of valor fit for war, seven thousand one hundred; 27of the sons of Levi, four thousand six hundred; 28Jehoiada, the leader of the Aaronites, and with him three thousand seven hundred; 29Zadok, a young man, a valiant warrior, and from his father's house, twenty-two captains; [30]of the sons of Benjamin, relatives of Saul, three thousand—until then the greatest part of them had remained loyal to the house of Saul; [31]of the sons of Ephraim, twenty thousand eight hundred mighty men of valor, noted men throughout the house of their fathers; [32]of the half-tribe of Manasseh, eighteen thousand who were designated by name to come and make David king; [33]of the sons of Issachar who had understanding of the times, to know what Israel ought to do, their chiefs were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their command; [34]of Zebulun, there were fifty thousand who went out to battle, expert in war with all weapons of war, stouthearted men who could keep ranks; [35]of Naphtali, one thousand captains, and with them thirty-seven thousand with shield and spear; [36]of the Danites who could keep battle formation, twenty-eight thousand six hundred; [37]of Asher, those who could go out to war, able to keep battle formation, forty thousand; [38]of the Reubenites and the Gadites and the half-tribe of Manasseh, from the other side of the Jordan, one hundred twenty thousand armed for battle with every kind of weapon of war.

[39]All these men of war who could keep ranks came to Hebron with a loyal heart, to make David king over all Israel; and all the rest of Israel were of one mind to make David king. [40]All these men of war who could keep ranks in a peaceful spirit came to Hebron to make David king over all Israel; and they were there with David three days, eating and drinking, for their brethren had prepared for them. [41]Moreover those who were near to them, from as far away as Issachar and Zebulun and Naphtali, were bringing food on donkeys and camels, on mules and oxen; provisions of flour, cakes of figs, cakes of raisins, wine, oil, and oxen and sheep abundantly, for there was joy in Israel.

The Ark Is Moved from Kirjath-Jearim

[1]Then David consulted with the captains of thousands and hundreds, with every leader. [2]And David said to all the assembly of Israel, "If it is of the Lord our God and it seems good to you, let us send to our brethren remaining in all of Israel, and to the priests, the Levites who are with them in the cities of their possession, so they may gather together with us. [3]And let us bring the ark of our God back to us, for we have not sought it since the days of Saul."

4 Then all the assembly said they would do so, for this thing was right in the eyes of all the people.

5 So David summoned an assembly of all Israel, from the boundaries of Egypt to as far as the entrance of Hamath, to carry in the ark of God from the city of Kirjath-Jearim. 6 David brought it up, and all Israel went up to the city of David, which belonged to Judah, to bring up the ark of God the Lord, who rests between the cherubim, whose name is proclaimed by it. 7 So they carried the ark of God on a new cart from the house of Aminadab; Uzza and his brothers drove the cart. 8 Then David and all Israel played music before God with all their strength, with singing, on harps, on stringed instruments, on tambourines, on cymbals, and with trumpets.

9 And when they came to the threshing floor of Chidon, Uzza put out his hand to hold the ark, because the oxen stumbled. 10 Then the anger of the Lord was aroused against Uzza, and He struck him because he put his hand upon the ark. He died there before God. 11 And David became disheartened regarding the Lord's action against Uzza, and called that place Perez-Uzza until this day.

12 David was afraid of God that day, saying, "How shall I bring the ark of God home by myself?" 13 So David would not move the ark by himself into the City of David, but had it taken aside into the house of Obed-Edom the Gittite. 14 The ark of God remained with the family of Obed-Edom, in his house, three months. And the Lord blessed the house of Obed-Edom and all he had.

1 Chronicles 14

David Prospers as King

1 Now Hiram king of Tyre sent to David messengers, cedar trees, masons, and carpenters to build him a house. 2 So David knew the Lord had established him as king over Israel, for his kingdom was highly exalted for the sake of His people Israel.

3 Then David took more wives in Jerusalem, and David begot more sons and daughters. 4 And these are the names of his children whom he had in Jerusalem: Shammua, Shobab, Nathan, Solomon, 5 Ibhar, Elishua, Elpelet, 6 Nogah, Nepheg, Japhia, 7 Elishama, Beeliada, and Eliphelet.

David Defeats the Philistines

[8]Now when the Philistines heard David was anointed king over all Israel, all the Philistines went up to seek David. When David heard of it, he went out to meet them. [9]But the Philistines came and raided the Valley of the Giants.
[10]And David inquired of God, saying, “Shall I go up against the Philistines?
Will You deliver them into my hand?” The Lord said to him, “Go up, for I will deliver them into your hand.”

[11]So he went up to Baal-Perazim, where David defeated them. Then David said, “God broke through the lines of my enemy like a breach of water.” He thus called the name of that place Breach of Perazim. [12]And there the Philistines left behind their idols, and David commanded them to burn them up by fire.

[13]And again the Philistines made a raid on the Valley of the Giants. [14]And again David inquired of God, and God said to him, “You shall not go up after them. Instead, circle around them and come upon them near the pear trees.
[15]And it shall be, when you hear the tops of the pear trees rustling in the wind, then you shall enter into battle, for God has gone out before you to defeat the army of the Philistines.” [16]So David did as God commanded him, and they drove back the army of the Philistines from Gibeon as far as Gezer.
[17]Then the fame of David went out into all lands, and the Lord brought the terror of him upon all nations.

1 Chronicles 15

Preparing to Transport the Ark

[1]David built houses for himself in the City of David, and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched a tent for it.

[2]Then David said, “No one may carry the ark of God but the Levites, for the Lord has chosen them to carry the ark of God and to minister before Him forever.” [3]And David gathered all Israel together at Jerusalem to bring up the ark of the Lord to its place which he prepared for it. [4]Then David assembled the children of Aaron and the Levites: [5]of the sons of Kohath, Uriel the chief, and one hundred twenty of his brethren; [6]of the sons of Merari, Asaiah the chief, and two hundred fifty of his brethren; [7]of the sons of Gershom, Joel the chief, and one hundred thirty of his brethren; [8]of the sons of Elizaphan, Shemaiah the chief, and two hundred of his brethren; [9]of the sons of Hebron, Eliel the chief, and eighty of his brethren; [10]of the sons of Uzziel, Amminadab the chief, and one hundred twelve of his brethren.

[11]And David called for Zadok and Abiathar the priests, and for the Levites: for Uriel, Asaiah, Joel, Shemaiah, Eliel, and Amminadab. [12]He said to them, "You, the heads of the families of the Levites, sanctify yourselves, you and your brethren, so you may bring up the ark of the Lord God of Israel to the place I prepared for it. [13]Because you were not prepared the first time, because we did not strive for judgment, God divided us within ourselves." [14]So the priests and the Levites sanctified themselves to bring up the ark of the Lord God of Israel. [15]As Moses had commanded, in accordance with the written word of the Lord, the sons of the Levites took the ark of God upon their shoulders with bearing-poles.

[16]Then David said to the chief of the Levites, "Establish your brethren to be the singers with musical instruments—stringed instruments, harps, and cymbals—to sing invitingly in a voice of joyfulness unto His heaven." [17]So the Levites appointed Heman the son of Joel; and of his brethren, Asaph the son of Berechiah; and of their brethren, the sons of Merari, Ethan the son of Kushaiah; [18]and with them their brethren of the second rank: Zechariah, Ben, Jaaziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattithiah, Elipheleh, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, and Jeiel, the gatekeepers; [19]the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were to sound the cymbals of bronze; [20]Zechariah, Aziel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Unni, Eliab, Maaseiah, and Benaiah, with strings according to Alamoth; [21]Mattithiah, Elipheleh, Mikneiah, Obed-Edom, Jeiel, and Azaziah, to direct with harps on the Sheminith; [22]Chenaniah, chief of the Levites, was in charge of the music because he was skillful; [23]Berechiah and Elkanah were doorkeepers for the ark; [24]Shebaniah, Joshaphat, Nethanel, Amasai, Zechariah, Benaiah, and Eliezer, the priests, were to blow the trumpets before the ark of God; and Obed-Edom and Jehiah were doorkeepers for the ark.

The Ark Is Moved to Jerusalem

[25]With joy David and the elders of Israel and the captains over thousands went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the Lord from the house of Obed-Edom. [26]And so it was, when God helped the Levites who bore the ark of the covenant of the Lord, they offered seven bulls and seven rams. [27]David was clothed with a robe of fine linen, as were all the Levites who bore the ark, the singers, and Chenaniah the music master with the singers. David also wore a linen ephod. [28]Thus all of Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the Lord with shouting and the sound of the horn, with trumpets and cymbals, making music with stringed instruments and harps. [29]And it happened, as the ark of the covenant of the Lord came to the City of David, that Michal, Saul's daughter, looked out through a window and saw King David dancing and playing music; and she despised him in her heart.

1 Chronicles 16

[1]So they brought in the ark of God and set it in the midst of the tent David had pitched for it. They offered up whole burnt offerings and peace offerings before God. [2]And David finished offering the whole burnt offerings and peace offerings, and blessed the people in the name of the Lord. [3]And he divided one loaf of baked bread to every man and woman of Israel.

[4]And he appointed Levites to minister before the presence of the ark of the Lord, to exclaim and give thanks and to praise the Lord God of Israel: [5]Asaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, then Jeiel, Shemiramoth, Jehiel, Mattithiah, Eliab, Benaiah, and Obed-Edom; Jeiel with stringed instruments and harps, but Asaph made music with cymbals; [6]Benaiah and Jahaziel the priests, continually before the ark of the covenant of God with trumpets.

David's Song of Praise

[7]Then David by the hand of Asaph and his brethren gave orders to praise the Lord:

[8]Give praise to the Lord Himself! Call upon His name;
Make known His deeds among the peoples.
[9]Sing songs to Him, sing praises to Him;
Tell of all His wondrous works which the Lord has done.
[10]Praise His holy name;
The heart that seeks to do His pleasure shall rejoice.
[11]Seek the Lord and be strong;
On account of all things, seek His face.
[12]Remember His remarkable works which He has done,
His wonders and the judgments of His mouth,

[13]O seed of Israel His servant,
You children of Jacob, His chosen ones.
[14]He is the Lord our Lord;
His judgments are over all the earth.
[15]Let us remember His covenant unto the ages,
The word He commands for a thousand generations—
[16]The covenant He made with Abraham
And His oath to Isaac;
[17]He confirmed it to Jacob for an ordinance,
To Israel for an eternal covenant,
[18]Saying, “To you I will give the land of Canaan
As the allotment of your inheritance.”
[19]When they were few in number,
When they were small in stature and dwelt as sojourners in it,
[20]And when they went from nation to nation
And from one kingdom to another people,
[21]He allowed no man to rule over them,
And He reproved kings for their sakes,
[22]Saying, “Do not touch My anointed ones,
And bring no harm to My prophets.”
[23]Sing to the Lord, all the earth;
Proclaim His salvation from day to day.
[24]For the Lord is great and greatly to be praised;
He is to be feared above all gods.
[25]For all the gods of the Gentiles are idols,
But our God made the heavens.
[26]Glory and praise are before Him;
Strength and rejoicing are in His place.
[27]Give to the Lord, O families of the peoples,
Give to the Lord glory and strength.
[28]Give to the Lord the glory due His name;
Take gifts and offer them before His presence.
Oh, worship the Lord in His holy courts!
[29]Let all the earth fear because of His presence;
Let the earth be set upright
And not be moved.
[30]Let the heavens rejoice, and let the earth be glad;

And let them say among the nations, “The Lord reigns.”
[31]Let the sea roar and all its fullness,
And the trees of the forest and all that is in them.
[32]For the trees of the forest shall rejoice before the Lord,
For He is coming to judge the earth.
[33]Oh, give thanks to the Lord, for He is good,
For His mercy endures forever.
[34]And say, “Save us, O God of our salvation;
And deliver us from the Gentiles
To praise Your holy name,
And boast in Your praises.”
[35]Blessed be the Lord God of Israel
From ages unto the ages.

All the people said, “Amen.” And they praised the Lord.

The Worship of God Continues

[36]And they left Asaph and his brothers there, before the ark of the covenant of the Lord, to minister continually from day to day according to the service of each day. [37]And Obed-Edom and his brothers were sixty-eight; Obed-Edom the son of Jeduthun, and Hosah were gatekeepers; [38]Zadok the priest and the brethren of the priests stood before the tabernacle of the Lord in the high place in Gibeon, [39]to offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord on the altar of whole burnt offering every morning and evening; and to do according to all things written in the Law of the Lord that He commanded the sons of Israel by the hand of Moses the servant of God. [40]And with him were Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest chosen out by name to give thanks to the Lord, for His mercy is forever; [41]and with them Heman and Jeduthun, to sound aloud with trumpets and cymbals and the musical instruments of God. Now the sons of Jeduthun were gatekeepers.

[42]Then all the people departed, every man to his house; and David returned to bless his house.

1 Chronicles 17

God’s Promise to David

[1]Now it came to pass when David was dwelling in his house, David said to Nathan the prophet, “See now, I dwell in a house of cedar, but the ark of the covenant of the Lord is under tent curtains.” [2]Then Nathan said to David, “Do all that is in your heart, for God is with you.” [3]But it happened that night that the word of God came to Nathan, saying, [4]“Go and tell My servant David, ‘Thus says the Lord, “You shall not build Me a house to dwell in, [5]for I have not dwelt in a house from the day I brought up Israel until this day; but I was in a tabernacle, even a tent, [6]in all the places through which I went with all Israel. Have I ever spoken to one leader of Israel whom I appointed to shepherd my people, saying, ‘Why have you not built me a house made of cedar?’ ” ’

[7]“Now therefore, you shall say this day to My servant David, ‘Thus says the Lord Almighty, “I took you from the sheepfold, from following the flock, to be ruler over My people Israel. [8]And I was with you wherever you have gone, and cut off all your enemies from before you, and made you a name like the name of the great men who are on the earth. [9]Moreover, I will appoint a place for My people Israel and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own and move no more; nor shall the sons of wickedness oppress them anymore, as previously, [10]and from the days when I appointed judges to be over My people Israel. Also I will subdue all your enemies, and I will increase you, and the Lord will build you a house. [11]It shall be when your days are fulfilled, and you shall be laid to rest with your fathers, that I will set up your seed after you, he who will be out of your belly; I will establish his kingdom. [12]He shall build Me a house, and I will establish his throne forever. [13]I will be his Father, and he shall be My son; and I will not take My mercy from him, as I took it from those who were before you. [14]And I will establish him in My house and in My kingdom forever; his throne shall be established forever.” ’ ” [15]So Nathan spoke to David according to all these words and according to all his vision.

David Gives Thanks to God

[16]Then King David went in and sat before the Lord, and said, “O Lord God, who am I? And what is my house, that You have loved me forever? [17]O God, these things are insignificant in Your presence. O Lord God, You spoke about the house of Your servant from long ago, and have looked upon me as a man looks upon his fellow, and exalted me. [18]Yet what will David add that would bring glory to You? For You know Your servant. [19]And according to

Your own heart, You have done all this greatness. [20]O Lord, according to all we have heard with our ears, there is none like You, nor is there any God besides You. [21]There is not another nation upon the earth such as Your people Israel, whereas God led him in the way, to redeem a people for Himself, to establish for Himself a great and glorious name, to cast out nations from before Your people whom You redeemed out of Egypt. [22]For You have appointed Your people Israel Your very own people forever; and You, O Lord, became God to them.

[23]"And now, O Lord, the word which You have spoken regarding Your servant and upon his house, let it be guaranteed forever, [24]saying, 'O Lord, O Lord, the Almighty is the God of Israel.' And the house of Your servant David has been set aright before You. [25]For You, O my God, have revealed to Your servant that You will build him a house. Therefore Your servant has found it in his heart to pray before You. [26]And now, Lord, You are God, and have promised this goodness to Your servant. [27]And now You have started to bless the house of Your servant, so it may continue before You forever. O Lord, You blessed it, and bless it forever."

David's Victories in Battle

[1]After this it came to pass that David attacked the Philistines, subdued them, and took Gath and its towns from the hand of the Philistines. [2]Then he struck Moab, and the children of Moab brought tribute to David. [3]And David struck Hadadezer, king of Zobah Hamath, as he went to establish his power by the River Euphrates. [4]David took from them in advance one thousand chariots, seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand foot soldiers. Moreover, David disabled all the chariots—but one hundred chariots were kept in reserve for them.

[5]When the Syrians of Damascus came to help Hadadezer, king of Zobah, David killed twenty-two thousand of the Syrians. [6]Then David put a garrison in Damascus of Syria; and the Syrians became David's servants and brought tribute. So the Lord preserved David wherever he went. [7]And David took the collars of gold that were on the servants of Hadadezer and brought them to Jerusalem. [8]Also from those places passed over and from the chosen cities of Hadadezer, David brought a large amount of bronze, with which Solomon made the bronze Sea, the pillars, and the articles of bronze.

9 Now when Tou king of Hamath heard that David had defeated all the army of Hadadezer king of Zobah, 10 he sent Hadoram his son, to King David to ask him for peace and to bless him because he had fought against Hadadezer and defeated him, for Hadadezer was an enemy of Tou, and with him he sent all kinds of articles of silver and gold. 11 These King David also dedicated to the Lord, along with the silver and gold he had brought from all these nations, from Edom, from Moab, from the people of Ammon, from the Philistines, and from Amalek. 12 Moreover, Abishai the son of Zeruiah killed eighteen thousand Edomites in the Valley of Salt. 13 He also put garrisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became David's servants. And the Lord preserved David wherever he went.

14 David reigned over all Israel, and administered judgment and justice to all his people. 15 Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the army; Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was recorder; 16 Zadok the son of Ahitub and Abimelech the son of Abiathar were the priests; Shavsha was the scribe; 17 Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over the Cherethites and the Pelethites; and David's sons were the king's first successors.

1 Chronicles 19

David Conquers Ammon and Syria

1 It happened after this that Nahash the king of the sons of Ammon died, and Hanun his son reigned in his place. 2 Then David said, "I will show kindness to Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father showed kindness to me." So David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father.

And David's servants came to Hanun in the land of the people of Ammon to comfort him. 3 And the princes of the people of Ammon said to Hanun,
"Do you think that David really honors your father because he has sent comforters to you? Did his servants not come to you to search and to overthrow and to spy out the land?" 4 Therefore, Hanun took David's servants, shaved them, removed the half of their garments as far as their tunic, and sent them away. 5 Then some reported to David about these men, and he sent someone to meet them, for these men were greatly ashamed. And the king said, "Wait at Jericho until your beards have grown, and then return."

[6]When the sons of Ammon saw that the people of David had been shamed, Hanun and the people of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire for themselves chariots and horsemen from Mesopotamia, from Syrian Maacah, and from Zobah. [7]So they hired for themselves thirty-two thousand chariots, with the king of Maacah and his people, who came and encamped before Medeba. Also the people of Ammon gathered together from their cities and came to battle. [8]Now when David heard of it, he sent Joab and all the army of the mighty men. [9]Then the people of Ammon came out and put themselves in battle array before the gate of the city, and the kings who had come were by themselves in the field.

[10]When Joab saw that the battle line was against him before and behind, he chose some of Israel's best, and put them in battle array against the Syrians.
[11]And the rest of the people he put under the command of Abishai his brother, and they set themselves in battle array against the people of Ammon.
[12]Then he said, "If the Syrians are too strong for me, then you shall help me; but if the people of Ammon are too strong for you, then I will help you. [13]Be of good courage, and let us be strong for our people and for the cities of our God. And the Lord will do what is good in His sight."

[14]So Joab and the people who were with him drew near for the battle against the Syrians, and they fled before him. [15]When the people of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fleeing, they also fled before Abishai his brother, and entered the city. So Joab went to Jerusalem.

[16]Now when the Syrians saw that they had been defeated by Israel, they sent messengers and brought the Syrians who were beyond the river, and Shophach the commander of Hadadezer's army went before them. [17]When it was told to David, he gathered all Israel, crossed over the Jordan, and came upon them. He set up in battle array against them, and the Syrians fought against him. [18]And the Syrians fled before Israel; and David killed seven thousand riders of chariots and forty thousand Syrian foot soldiers, and killed Shophach the commander of the army. [19]And when the servants of Hadadezer saw that they had fallen before Israel, they made peace with David and became his servants. So the Syrians were no longer willing to help the people of Ammon.

1 Chronicles 20

David Defeats Rabbah

[1]It happened in the spring of the year, at the time kings go out to battle, that Joab led out the armed forces and ravaged the country of the people of Ammon, and came and besieged Rabbah. But David stayed at Jerusalem. And Joab defeated Rabbah and razed it to the ground. [2]Then David took the crown of Molchol their king from his head, and found it to weigh a talent of gold, and there were precious stones in it. And it was set on David's head. Also he brought out the spoil of the city in great abundance. [3]And he brought out the people who were in it and put them to work with saws, with iron picks, and with axes. So David did to all the cities of the people of Ammon. Then David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

The Philistine Giants Fall

[4]Now it happened afterward that war broke out at Gezer with the Philistines, at which time Sibbechai the Hushathite struck Sippai, who was one of the sons of the giant. And he humbled them. [5]Again there was war with the Philistines, and Elhanan the son of Jair killed Lahmi the brother of Goliath the Gittite, the shaft of whose spear was like a weaver's beam. [6]Yet again there was war at Gath, where there was a man of great stature, with twenty-four fingers and toes, six on each hand and six on each foot; and he also was born to the giant. [7]So when he defied Israel, Jonathan the son of Shimea, David's brother, killed him. [8]These were born to the giant in Gath, and they fell by the hand of David and by the hand of his servants.

The Census of All Israel

[1]Now Satan stood up against Israel, and moved David to number Israel. [2]So David said to Joab and to the leaders of the people, "Go, number Israel from Beersheba to Dan, and bring the number of them to me that I may know it." [3]And Joab said, "May the Lord add to His people a hundredfold as many as they are, and let the eyes of my lord the king see all who are the servants of my lord. Why does my lord seek this? Do not allow it, lest it become a sin to Israel." [4]Nevertheless the king's word prevailed against Joab. Therefore Joab departed and went throughout all Israel and came to Jerusalem. [5]Then Joab gave the sum of the number of the people to David. All Israel had one million one hundred thousand men who drew the sword, and Judah had four hundred and eighty thousand men who drew the sword. 6But he did not count Levi and Benjamin among them, for the king's word was painful to Joab.

7And this deed appeared wicked before God; therefore He struck Israel. 8So David said to God, "I have sinned greatly because I have done this thing; but now, I pray, take away the iniquity of Your servant, for I have done very foolishly." 9Then the Lord spoke to Gad, David's seer, saying, 10"Go and tell David, saying, 'Thus says the Lord: "I offer you three things; so choose one of them for yourself, that I may do it to you." ' " 11So Gad came to David and said to him, "Thus says the Lord: 'Choose for yourself: 12either three years of famine, or that you flee for three months from the face of your enemies and the sword of your enemies utterly destroying you, or that for three days the sword of the Lord and pestilence should be with you in the land, and the angel of the Lord destroying the territory throughout all the inheritance of Israel.' Now consider what answer I should take back to Him who sent me." 13And David said to Gad, "Groan for me and for the three exceedingly. Please let me fall into the hand of the Lord, for His mercies are very great, but do not let me fall into the hand of man."

14So the Lord sent a plague upon Israel, and seventy thousand men of Israel fell. 15And God sent an angel to Jerusalem to destroy it. As he was destroying, the Lord looked and relented of the disaster, and said to the angel who was destroying, "It is enough; now restrain your hand." And the angel of the Lord stood by the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 16Then David lifted his eyes and saw the angel of the Lord standing between earth and heaven, having in his hand a drawn sword stretched out over Jerusalem. So David and the elders, clothed in sackcloth, fell on their faces. 17And David said to God, "Was it not I who commanded the people to be numbered? I am the one who has sinned and done evil indeed; but these sheep, what have they done? Let Your hand, I pray, O Lord my God, be against me and my father's house, but not against Your people that they should be plagued."

18Therefore, the angel of the Lord commanded Gad to say to David that David should go and erect an altar to the Lord on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 19And David went up according to the word of God, which he had spoken in the name of the Lord. 20Now Ornan turned and saw the king, and he and his four sons with him hid themselves, but Ornan was threshing wheat.

21So David came to Ornan, and Ornan looked and saw David. And he went out from the threshing floor, bowing before David with his face to the ground. [22]Then David said to Ornan, “Grant me the place of this threshing floor, that I may build an altar on it to the Lord. You shall grant it to me at the full price, that the plague may be withdrawn from the people.” [23]But Ornan said to David, “Take it to yourself, and let my lord the king do what is good in his eyes. Look, I also give you the oxen for whole burnt offerings, the threshing implements for wood, and the wheat for the grain offering; I give it all.”

[24]Then King David said to Ornan, “No, but I will surely buy it for the full price, for I will not take what is yours for the Lord, nor offer whole burnt offerings with that which costs me nothing.” [25]So David gave six hundred shekels of gold by weight for his place. [26]And there David built an altar to the Lord, and offered whole burnt offerings and peace offerings, and cried out to the Lord; and He answered him by fire from heaven upon the altar of whole burnt offering and consumed the whole burnt offering.

[27]So the Lord commanded the angel, and he returned his sword to its sheath. [28]At that time, when David saw that the Lord had answered him, he sacrificed there on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. [29]For the tabernacle of the Lord that Moses made in the wilderness, and the altar of the whole burnt offering, were in the high place at Gibeon at the appointed time. [30]But David was unable to go before it to seek God, for the sword of the angel of the Lord prevented him.

Preparing to Build the Temple

[1]Then David said, “This is the house of the Lord God, and this is the altar of whole burnt offering for Israel.” [2]So David gave orders to gather all converts to Judaism, those in the land of Israel; and he appointed masons to cut hewn stones to build the house of God. [3]And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails of the doors of the gates and for the joints, and bronze in abundance beyond measure, [4]and cedar trees in abundance; for the Sidonians and those from Tyre brought ample cedar wood to David. [5]Now David said, “My son Solomon is young and inexperienced, and the house to be built for the Lord must be exceedingly magnificent, known and glorious throughout all countries. I will now make preparation for it.” So David made abundant preparations before his death.

6 Then he called for his son Solomon and charged him to build a house for the Lord God of Israel. 7 And David said to Solomon, “My son, as for me, it was in my heart to build a house to the name of the Lord my God. 8 But the word of the Lord came to me, saying, ‘You have shed much blood and have made great wars. You shall not build a house for My name, for in My sight you have shed much blood on the earth. 9 Behold, a son shall be born to you who shall be a man of rest, and I will give to him rest from all his enemies that surround him. His name shall be Solomon, and I will give peace and quietness to Israel in his days. 10 He shall build a house for My name, and he shall be My son, and I will be his Father; and I will establish the throne of his kingdom over Israel forever.’

11 “Now, my son, the Lord shall be with you and prosper you; you will build a house to the Lord your God, as He spoke concerning you. 12 Only may the Lord give you wisdom and prudence, and strengthen you concerning Israel, that you may guard and do the law of the Lord your God. 13 Then you will prosper, if you take care to fulfill the ordinances and judgments that the Lord charged Moses concerning Israel. Be strong and of good courage. Do not fear nor be dismayed. 14 Indeed I, according to my poverty, have prepared for the house of the Lord one hundred thousand talents of gold, one million talents of silver, and bronze and iron beyond measure, for there is so much. I also prepared timber and stone, to which you also may add. 15 Moreover, there are workmen with you in abundance: woodsmen and stonecutters, and all types of skillful men for every kind of work. 16 Of gold and silver and bronze and iron there is no limit. Arise and begin working, and the Lord be with you.”

17 David also commanded all the leaders of Israel to help Solomon his son, saying, 18 “Is not the Lord your God with you? And has He not given you rest on every side? For He has given the inhabitants of the land into my hand, and the land is subdued before the Lord and before His people. 19 Now set your heart and your soul to seek the Lord your God. Therefore arise and build the sanctuary of the Lord God, and into the house to be built in the name of the Lord bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord and the holy articles of God.”

Assignments for the Levites

[1]So when David was old and full of days, he made his son Solomon king over Israel. [2]And he gathered together all the leaders of Israel, with the priests and the Levites. [3]Now the Levites were numbered from the age of thirty years and above. The number of individual males was thirty-eight thousand. [4]Of these, twenty-four thousand were taskmasters over the work of the house of the Lord, six thousand were officers and judges, [5]four thousand were gatekeepers, and four thousand praised the Lord with musical instruments which he made to praise the Lord. [6]David also separated them into divisions among the sons of Levi: Gershon, Kohath, and Merari. [7]And to Paroshom, to Edan, and to Shimei. [8]The sons of Laadan: the first Jehiel, then Zetham and Joel, three in all. [9]The sons of Shimei: Shelomith, Haziel, and Haran, three in all. These were the heads of the fathers' houses of Laadan. [10]And the sons of Shimei: Jahath, Zina, Jeush, and Beriah. These were the four sons of Shimei.
[11]Jahath was the first, and Zizah the second. As for Jeush and Beriah, they did not multiply sons, and they became but one reckoning, according to their father's house.

[12]The sons of Kohath: Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four in all.
[13]The sons of Amram: Aaron and Moses; and Aaron was set apart that he should sanctify the holy of holies, that he and his sons forever should burn incense before the Lord, to minister and to offer prayers in His name forever.
[14]Now the sons of Moses the man of God had been called to the tribe of Levi.
[15]The sons of Moses were Gershon and Eliezer. [16]Of the sons of Gershon, Shebuel was the first. [17]Of the descendants of Eliezer, Rehabiah was the first.
And Eliezer had no other sons, but the sons of Rehabiah greatly multiplied.

[18]Of the sons of Izhar, Shelomith was the first. [19]Of the sons of Hebron, Jeriah was the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. [20]Of the sons of Uzziel, Michah was the first and Jesshiah the second. [21]The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi. The sons of Mahli were Eleazar and Kish. [22]And Eleazar died and had no sons, only daughters; and their brethren, the sons of Kish, took them as wives. [23]The sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jeremoth, three in all.

[24]These were the sons of Levi according to the houses of their fathers, chiefs of their families according to the number in the household, according to their polls, who from the age of twenty years and older did the work for the service of the house of the Lord. [25]For David said, "The Lord God of Israel has given rest to His people, and dwells in Jerusalem forever." [26]And the Levites carried not the tabernacle nor all of its vessels for its ministry. 27For by the last words of David was the numbering of the Levites taken, from twenty years of age and older. 28For their duty was to help the sons of Aaron in the service of the house of the Lord, in the courts and in the chambers, in the purification of all holy things and the work of the service of the house of God; 29for the showbread and fine flour for the meat offering, and for the unleavened cakes, the fried cake, and the dough, and for every measure; 30to stand every morning to thank and praise the Lord, and likewise at evening; 31and regularly before the Lord—at every presentation of a whole burnt offering to the Lord, on the Sabbaths, on the New Moons, and on the set feasts, as by the number according to the ordinance governing them. 32They are to keep charge of the tabernacle of witness, of the holy places, and the sons of Aaron their brethren, to minister in the house of the Lord.

Assignments to the Priests

1Now these are the divisions of the sons of Aaron. The sons of Aaron were Nadab, Abihu, Eleazar, and Ithamar. 2And Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children; therefore Eleazar and Ithamar ministered as priests. 3Then David, with Zadok of the sons of Eleazar and Ahimelech of the sons of Ithamar, divided them according to their census, according to their ministry, according to their fathers' houses. 4There were more leaders found of the sons of Eleazar than of the sons of Ithamar, and thus they were divided. Among the sons of Eleazar were sixteen heads of their fathers' houses, and eight heads of their fathers' houses among the sons of Ithamar. 5Thus they were divided by lot, one group as another, for there were officials of the sanctuary and officials of the house of God, from the sons of Eleazar and from the sons of Ithamar. 6And the scribe, Shemaiah the son of Nethanel, one of the Levites, wrote them down before the king, the leaders, Zadok the priest, Ahimelech the son of Abiathar, and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and Levites, one father's house taken for Eleazar and one for Ithamar. 7Now the first lot fell to Jehoiarib, the second to Jedaiah, 8the third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim, 9the fifth to Malchijah, the sixth to Mijamin, 10the seventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to Abijah, 11the ninth to Jeshua, the tenth to Shecaniah, 12the eleventh to Eliashib, the twelfth to Jakim, 13the thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeshebeab, [14]the fifteenth to Bilgah, the sixteenth to Immer, [15]the seventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Happizzez, [16]the nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezekel, [17]the twenty-first to Jachin, the twenty-second to Gamul, [18]the twenty-third to Delaiah, the twenty-fourth to Maaziah. [19]This was their numbering according to their ministry for coming into the house of the Lord, according to their ordinance by the hand of Aaron their father, as the Lord God of Israel had commanded him.

The Other Levites

[20]And the rest of the sons of Levi: of the sons of Amram, Shubael; of the sons of Shubael, Jehdeiah. [21]Concerning Rehabiah, of the sons of Rehabiah, the first was Isshiah. [22]Of the Izharites, Shelomoth; of the sons of Shelomoth, Jahath. [23]Of the sons of Hebron, Jeriah was the first, Amariah the second, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth. [24]Of the sons of Uzziel, Michah; of the sons of Michah, Shamir. [25]The brother of Michah, Isshiah; of the sons of Isshiah, Zechariah. [26]The sons of Merari were Mahli and Mushi; the sons of Jaaziah, the sons of Beno. [27]The sons of Merari by Jaaziah, his sons were Shoham, Zaccur, and Ibri. [28]Of Mahil: Eleazar and Ithamar; and Eleazar died, and there were no sons by him. [29]Of Kish: the son of Kish, Jerahmeel. [30]Also the sons of Mushi were Mahli, Eder, and Jerimoth.

These were the sons of the Levites according to their fathers' houses. [31]These also cast lots just as their brothers the sons of Aaron did, in the presence of King David, Zadok, Ahimelech, and the heads of the fathers' houses of the priests and Levites. The chief fathers did just as their younger brethren.

1 Chronicles 25

The Temple Musicians

[1]David the king and the captains of the hosts appointed the sons of Asaph, of Heman, and of Jeduthun to their service, for the purpose of playing the lyre and harp, stringed instruments, and cymbals. The list of ministrants for this service was as follows: [2]of the sons of Asaph: Zaccur, Joseph, Nethaniah, and Asharelah; the sons of Asaph were under the direction of Asaph the prophet and were loyal to the king. [3]Of Jeduthun, the sons of Jeduthun: Gedaliah, Zeri, Jeshaiah, Shimei, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, six, after their father Jeduthun on the harp, led the music of thanks and praise to the Lord. [4]Of Heman, the sons of Heman: Bukkiah, Mattaniah, Uzziel, Shebuel, Jerimoth, Hananiah, Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti, Romamti-Ezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth. [5]All these were the sons of Heman the king's chief musician in the words of God, to lift up the horn. And God gave to Heman fourteen sons and three daughters. [6]All these sang hymns with their father in the house of the Lord, with cymbals, and harps, and lyres for the service of the king and Asaph, and Jeduthun, Heman.

[7]And the number of them with their brethren, those being instructed to sing to the Lord, everyone who was skilled in singing, was two hundred and eighty-eight. [8]And they cast lots for their duty, the small as well as the great, those taught and the students.

[9]Now the first lot for Asaph of his sons and his brethren came out for Joseph; the second for Gedaliah by Iniah, his brethren and his sons, twelve; [10]the third for Zaccur, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [11]the fourth for Jizri, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [12]the fifth for Nethaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [13]the sixth for Bukkiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [14]the seventh for Jesharelah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [15]the eighth for Jeshaiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [16]the ninth for Mattaniah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [17]the tenth for Shimei, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [18]the eleventh for Azarel, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [19]the twelfth for Hashabiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [20]the thirteenth for Shubael, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [21]the fourteenth for Mattithiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [22]the fifteenth for Jeremoth, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [23]the sixteenth for Hananiah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [24]the seventeenth for Joshbekashah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [25]the eighteenth for Hanani, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [26]the nineteenth for Mallothi, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [27]the twentieth for Eliathah, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [28]the twenty-first for Hothir, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [29]the twenty-second for Giddalti, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [30]the twenty-third for Mahazioth, his sons and his brethren, twelve; [31]the twenty-fourth for Romamti-Ezer, his sons and his brethren, twelve.

1 Chronicles 26

The Temple Gatekeepers

[1]Concerning the divisions of the gates: of the Korahites, Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of Asaph. [2]And the sons of Meshelemiah were Zechariah the firstborn, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth, [3]Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Eliehoenai the seventh.

[4]Moreover the sons of Obed-Edom were Shemaiah the firstborn, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, Sacar the fourth, Nethanel the fifth, [5]Ammiel the sixth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth; for God blessed him. [6]Also to Shemaiah his son were sons born from the firstborn Roshai in his father's house, because they were men of great ability. [7]The sons of Shemaiah were Othni, Rephael, Obed, and Elzabad, whose brothers Elihu and Semachiah were able men. [8]All these were of the sons of Obed-Edom, they and their sons and their brethren, able men with strength for the work:
sixty-two of Obed-Edom. [9]And Meshelemiah had sons and brethren, eighteen able men.

[10]Also Hosah, of the children of Merari, had sons who guarded the first, since he was not the firstborn, yet his father made him the first of the second division: [11]Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth; all the sons and brethren of Hosah were thirteen.

[12]Among these were the divisions of the gatekeepers assigned daily by the leaders of the army, just like their brethren, to serve in the house of the Lord.
[13]And they cast lots for each gate, the small as well as the great, according to their father's house. [14]The lot of those for the East Gate fell to Shelemiah and Zechariah. The sons of Joash cast lots for Melchiah, and his lot came out for the North Gate; [15]to Obed-Edom the South Gate opposite the storehouse.
[16]For the second: to Hosah for the West Gate following the Pastophorion Gate of the ascending highway: watchman opposite watchman. [17]On the east were six each day, on the north four each day, on the south four each day, and for the storehouse two by two. [18]For relief, to the west there were four and on the track there were two relief guards. [19]These were the divisions of the gatekeepers among the sons of Korah and among the sons of Merari.

Other Duties of the Levites

[20]And their Levite brethren were over the treasuries of the house of the Lord and over the treasuries of the dedicated things. [21]These were the sons of Laadan, the descendants of the Gershonites; to Laadan were the heads of their families; the son of Laadan the Gershonite was Jehieli. [22]The sons of Jetheli, Zetham and Joel, were brothers over the treasuries of the house of the Lord. [23]Of the Amramites, the Izharites, the Hebronites, and the Uzzielites: [24]Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was overseer of the treasuries. [25]And his brethren by Eliezer were Rehabiah his son, Jeshaiah his son, Joram his son, Zichri his son, and Shelomith his son. [26]This Shelomith and his brethren were over all the treasuries of the dedicated things which King David and the heads of fathers' houses, the captains over thousands and hundreds, and the captains of the army had dedicated. [27]He also dedicated things taken from battles and from the spoils so that there would not be any lack in the maintenance of the house of the Lord. [28]And all that Samuel the seer, Saul the son of Kish, Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zeruiah dedicated—every dedicated thing was under the hand of Shelomith and his brethren.

[29]Of the Izharites, Chenaniah and his sons performed outside duties as officials and judges over Israel. [30]Of the Hebronites, Hashabiah and his brethren, one thousand seven hundred able men, had the oversight of Israel on the west side of the Jordan in every service of the Lord and duty for the king. [31]Among the Hebronites, Jerijah was head of the Hebronites according to their generations, according to their families. In the fortieth year of the reign of David they were numbered, and among them in Jazer of Gilead mighty men were found. [32]And his brethren were two thousand seven hundred able men, heads of fathers' houses, whom King David made officials over the Reubenites, the Gadites, and the half-tribe of Manasseh in every edict of the Lord and utterance of the king.

Military Commanders

[1]Now the sons of Israel according to their number—heads of the families, captains of thousands and captains of hundreds and their officers, scribes ministering to the king, and for every affair of the king according to their divisions, for every matter coming in and going out monthly, for all the months of the year, one division of them was twenty-four thousand.

[2]Over the first division for the first month was Jashobeam the son of Zabdiel, and in his division were twenty-four thousand; [3]he was of the children of Perez and the chief of all the captains of the army for the first month. [4]Over the division of the second month was Dodai, an Ahohite, and in his division were twenty-four thousand leaders of the army. [5]The third captain of the army for the third month was Benaiah the son of Jehoiada the priest, who was chief; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [6]This was the Benaiah who was mighty among the thirty, and was over the thirty; in his division was Ammizabad his son. [7]The fourth captain for the fourth month was Asahel the brother of Joab and Zebadiah his son after him; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [8]The fifth captain for the fifth month was Shamhuth the Izrahite; in his division were twenty-four thousand.

[9]The sixth captain for the sixth month was Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [10]The seventh captain for the seventh month was Helez the Pelonite of the children of Ephraim; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [11]The eighth captain for the eighth month was Sibbechai the Hushathite of the Zarhites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [12]The ninth captain for the ninth month was Abiezer the Anathothite of the Benjamites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [13]The tenth captain for the tenth month was Maharai the Netophathite of the Zarhites; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [14]The eleventh captain for the eleventh month was Benaiah the Pirathonite of the children of Ephraim; in his division were twenty-four thousand. [15]The twelfth captain for the twelfth month was Heldai the Netophathite of Othniel; in his division were twenty-four thousand.

Tribal Leaders

[16]Furthermore, over the tribes of Israel: the officer over the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri; over the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maachah; [17]over the Levites, Hashabiah the son of Kemuel; over the Aaronites, Zadok; [18]over Judah, Elihu, one of David’s brothers; over Issachar, Omri the son of Michael; [19]over Zebulun, Ishmaiah the son of Obadiah; over Naphtali, Jerimoth the son of Azriel; [20]over the children of Ephraim, Hoshea the son of Azaziah; over the half-tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedaiah; [21]over the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah; over the sons of Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner; [22]over Dan, Azarel the son of Jeroham. These were the leaders of the tribes of Israel.

23But David did not take into consideration the number of those twenty years old and younger, because the Lord said He would multiply Israel like the stars of the heavens. 24Joab the son of Zeruiah began a census, but he did not finish, for wrath came upon Israel because of this census; nor was the number recorded in the account of the chronicles of King David.

Property Administration

25And Azmaveth the son of Adiel was over the king's treasuries; and Jehonathan the son of Uzziah was over the storehouses in the field, in the cities, in the villages, and in the fortresses. 26Ezri the son of Chelub was over those who did the work of the field for tilling the ground. 27And Shimei the Ramathite was over the vineyards, and Zabdi the Shiphmite was over the produce of the vineyards for the supply of wine. 28Baal-Hanan the Gederite was over the olive trees and the sycamore trees that were in the lowlands, and Joash was over the store of oil. 29And Shitrai the Sharonite was over the herds that fed in Sharon, and Shaphat the son of Adlai was over the herds that were in the valleys. 30Obil the Ishmaelite was over the camels, Jehdeiah the Meronothite was over the donkeys, 31and Jaziz the Hagrite was over the flocks. All these were the officials over King David's property. 32Also Jehonathan, David's uncle, was a counselor, a wise man and a scribe; and Jehiel the son of Hachmoni was with the king's sons. 33Ahithophel was the king's counselor, and Hushai was the king's best friend. 34After Ahithophel was Jehoiada the son of Benaiah, then Abiathar. And the general of the king's army was Joab.

1 Chronicles 28

Solomon Charged to Construct the Temple

1And David assembled all the chief men of Israel—the chief of the judges, the chief men of those who serve in attendance on the king, the captains of divisions, the treasurers, the lords of his substance and all the king's property, his sons together with the eunuchs, and the mighty men and the warriors of the army.

2Then King David rose to his feet and said, "Hear me, my brethren and my people. It was in my heart to build a house of rest for the ark of the covenant of the Lord and a footstool of our God. I made preparations to build it. 3But God said to me, ‘You shall not build a house for My name, because you have been a man of war and have shed blood.’ 4Yet the Lord God of Israel chose me from out of the entire house of my father to be king over Israel unto the age. And in Judah, he chose the royal palace; and of the house of Judah, he chose the house of my father; and of the sons of my father, He desired me to become king over all Israel. 5And of all my sons, for the Lord gave me many, He has chosen my son Solomon to sit on the throne of the kingdom of the Lord over Israel.

6“And He said to me, ‘It is your son Solomon who shall build My house and My courts, for I have chosen him to be My son, and I will be his Father. 7And if he is steadfast to observe My commandments and My judgments, I will establish his kingdom forever, as it is this day.’ 8And now before the whole assembly of the Lord and in the hearing of our God, I charge you to keep and seek all the commandments of the Lord our God, that you may inherit the good land and leave this for your sons to inherit after you forever.

9“And now, my son Solomon, know the God of your fathers, and serve Him with a whole heart and a willing soul; for the Lord searches all hearts and understands every thought. If you seek Him, He will be found by you; but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you forever. 10Consider now, for the Lord has chosen you to build a house for the sanctuary. Be strong and do it.”

11Then David gave his son Solomon the plans for the temple, its houses, its treasuries, its upper chambers, its inner storehouses, and the house of the mercy seat; 12and the plans that he had in his mind concerning the courts of the house of the Lord, all the chambers round about the storehouses of the house of the Lord, and the storehouses for the dedicated things; 13also for the quarters for the daily priests and the Levites for all the work of the service of the house of the Lord; and for the storehouses for the serving articles used to worship in the house of the Lord. 14And the measure of their weight both in gold and in silver, 15he gave to him the weight of the lamps and of the lamp stands. 16He gave to him in like manner the weight for the tables of the showbread, for each table in gold and likewise in silver; 17also for the forks, the basins, the pitchers of gold, and the weight of the gold and the silver bowls for each weight; 18and the weight of the altar for burning incense made of refined gold he showed to him, and the plans for the chariot of the cherubim that spread out their wings and overshadowed the ark of the covenant of the Lord. 19All these things in writing from the hand of the Lord

David gave to Solomon, so that he would succeed in understanding how to follow the plan.

20 And David said to his son Solomon, “Be strong and of good courage, and do it. Do not fear nor be dismayed, for the Lord God, my God, will be with you. He will not leave you nor forsake you until you have finished all the work for the service of the house of the Lord. 21 And take notice of the division of the priests and Levites for all the daily service of the house of the Lord. With them shall be the men for every workmanship, every one of ready skill in every art. And at your command are the chief men and all the people.”

1 Chronicles 29

Collections to Build the Temple

1 Furthermore, King David said to the entire assembly, “My one son Solomon, whom God has chosen, is young and inexperienced, and the work is a great work, for the temple is not for man, but for the Lord God. 2 According to all means possible I prepared gold, silver, bronze, iron, wood, onyx stones, costly and precious stones of various colors, and much marble for the house of my God. 3 And because I took pleasure in the house of my God, I gave to the house of my God gold and silver over and above what I procured for myself; more than all I prepared for my house of my God, over and above all
I prepared for my consecrated house. 4 Three thousand talents of the gold of Ophir, and seven thousand talents of refined silver to be overlaid in these the walls of the sanctuary 5 by the hands of craftsmen. And who this day zealously dedicates his hands for the Lord?”

6 Then the heads of the families, the princes of the sons of Israel, and the captains of thousands and of hundreds, with the officers over the king’s work, offered willingly. 7 They gave for the work of the house of God five thousand talents of gold and ten thousand darics of gold, ten thousand talents of silver, eighteen thousand talents of bronze, and one hundred thousand talents of iron. 8 And whoever had precious stones gave them to the treasury of the house of the Lord, into the hand of Jehiel the Gershonite. 9 Then the people rejoiced as a result of their willingness, for they offered willingly to the Lord with their whole heart. King David rejoiced greatly.

David Gives Praise to God

10 With this, King David blessed the Lord before all the assembly, saying, “Blessed are You, O Lord God of Israel, our Father, unto the ages of ages.
11 Yours, O Lord, is the greatness and the power and the glory and the victory and the might. You are master over all that is in heaven and on the earth.
Every king and nation is thrown into confusion before You. 12 From the first,
You are the wealth and the glory who reigns over all, as the Lord and dominion of all. In Your hand is power and authority, and you are almighty with Your hand to increase and establish all things. 13 And now, Lord, we give thanks to You, and we praise Your glorious name.

14 “But who am I, and who are my people, that we are able to be zealous in offering to You? For all things are Yours, and of Your own we give to You.
15 For we are strangers before You and sojourners, as were all our fathers. Our days upon the earth are as a shadow, and there are none that remain. 16 O Lord our God, as for all this abundance which I have prepared that a house should be built to Your holy name, it is of Your hand and all is Yours. 17 I know also, O Lord, that You search the heart and You love righteousness. As for me, in the sincerity of my heart I willingly offer all these things. And now I see Your people who brought themselves here joyfully to offer willingly to You.
18 O Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel, our fathers, keep under guard these things in the thoughts of the heart of Your people forever, and lead their heart toward You. 19 And give my son Solomon a fitting heart to keep Your commandments and Your testimonies and Your ordinances and bring to an end the final preparation of Your house.”

20 Then David said to all the congregation, “Now bless the Lord your God.”
And everyone in the congregation blessed the Lord God of their fathers, and bowed down before the Lord and the king.

Solomon Anointed King

21 The next day after the first day, David sacrificed and offered up whole burnt offerings to the Lord—even a thousand calves, a thousand rams, and a thousand lambs—along with their drink offerings, and an abundance of sacrifices for all Israel. 22 So they ate and drank before the Lord with great gladness on that day. And they made Solomon the son of David king a second time and anointed him king before the Lord, and Zadok to the priesthood. 23 Then Solomon sat upon the throne of David his father, and was well pleased, and prospered; and all Israel listened to him. 24 All the leaders and the mighty men, as well as all the sons of King David his father, were subject to him. [25]And the Lord exalted Solomon exceedingly in the sight of all Israel and gave him the glory of a king, which was not given any king of Israel before him.

Review of David's Reign

[26]Thus David the son of Jesse reigned over Israel [27]forty years, in Hebron for seven years and in Jerusalem for thirty-three years. [28]So he died in a good old age, full of days, riches, and glory. Solomon his son reigned in his stead. [29]And the remaining works of King David, the former and the latter, are written in the book of Samuel the seer, in the book of Nathan the prophet, and in the book of Gad the seer, [30]concerning all his reign, his power, and the events that happened to him, to Israel, and to all the kingdoms of the lands.

Annotations for 1 Chronicles

1:1—9:44 The first nine chapters of this book are genealogies. They run from Adam to Noah (1:1–4); Noah to Abraham (1:5–15); Abraham to Jacob or Israel (1:16–22); Israel to David (2:1–15); and from the sons of David through the sons of Solomon (3:1–24). Then follow the genealogies of the twelve tribes (4:1–8:40); of the remnant who will return to Jerusalem after the captivity (9:1–24); and of Saul (9:35–44). Genealogies are hidden treasures which should not be passed over, for they serve to remind us of two all-encompassing truths: (1) the reality of our inheritance from Adam: that we live, suffer, have children, and die. We cannot save ourselves (Rom 5:14), and need a Savior; and (2) that God created us in His image, He loves His creation, and He is endlessly interacting in history in order to restore creation to Himself.

1:1–4 In these verses Adam and Noah typify Christ, the "Beginning and the End" (Rev 22:13). Adam, the first man, brought death into the world; but Christ's death will destroy death (1Co 15:45–47). By faith Noah built the ark and saved his household from the flood (Heb 11:7); likewise Christ will build His Church, beginning with His twelve apostles, through which He will bring all who are baptized into new and eternal life.

1:10–15 Nimrod: See Gn 10:8–12. The genealogy from Shem to Abraham, like that from Adam to Noah (vv. 1–4), again points to Christ, "the First and the Last" (Rev 22:13). Like Christ, Shem, Noah's youngest, is first because of his humility (see Gn 9:24–27); and Abram, because of his faith, will become Abraham (v. 15), the "father of us all" (Rom 4:16).

2:3 The genealogy of Judah establishes King David's ancestry (v. 15). Christ's genealogy in the New Testament books of Matthew and Luke will complete David's royal lineage by showing Him to be both Son of God and Son of Man (see Mt 1:3–6; Lk 3:31–33).

3:1–9 Note that the sons of David born in Hebron (vv. 1–4) are listed separately from his sons born in Jerusalem (vv. 5–9). Since Abraham and Sarah lived and were buried there (Gn 25:10), Hebron can be seen as a type of the old covenant, Jerusalem a type of the new, heavenly city. Thus, just as David's long reign in Jerusalem surpassed his shorter reign in Hebron, and just as Solomon surpassed Absalom (2Kg 18:15–18), so Christ's eternal reign with His Church, the "city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem" (Heb 12:22), will surpass the old covenant under Abraham.

3:10–24 The genealogy of the sons of Solomon. Note how the lineage is given in few words, compared to the listing of the kings of Edom (1:43–54), where each king "died," and another "reigned in his place." In spite of personal faults, Christ's royal ancestors point directly to Him.

4:1–23 The genealogy of Judah is the first given from the twelve tribes of Israel, as Jacob's promise was on Judah's head (Gn 49:8–12). Christ, the Son of God, will be born from Judah's line.

4:9, 10 The story of Jabez affirms the message hidden in the surrounding genealogies: God gives grace to the humble and humbles the proud (1Pt 5:5) in order to save man from pain (sin, suffering, and death).

5:1–24 Reuben, Gad, and the half-tribe of Manasseh inhabited Gilead (vv. 9, 10) on the east side of the Jordan (later called Decapolis). These will be among the first people to receive the gospel (Mt 4:25; Mk 5:20).

5:2 The phrase from him came a ruler confirms that the promise made to Judah by his father Jacob (Gn 49:8–10) came to pass in King David.

5:25, 26 The faithful must be vigilant and continue to trust in God. It is when we think we can stand on our own through God's blessing in the past that the enemy is able to bring us down.

6:1–38 The priests who offer sacrifices are directly descended from Levi and Aaron through Eleazar. Aaron's other sons, Nadab and Abihu, died because of their sins (Lv 10:1–3; Ex 3:2); and Ithamar's line was cut off because of the sins of Eli's sons (1Kg 3:10–14). Just as Judah's line is fulfilled in Christ the King, so the Levitical line is fulfilled in Christ, the "High Priest" (Heb 8:1).

6:16–33 Those descended from Levi but not through Aaron are listed. The prophet Samuel (v. 13) and the musicians (vv. 16, 17) are from this lineage (v. 13). This Old Testament picture continues in the Church today. The priests serve at the altar. But all the faithful together form a "royal priesthood" in service to the Church.

6:39–66 Just as the rest of the tribes must give part of their inheritance to the Levites, so the faithful today are called to give of themselves to the work of the Lord.

7:1–40 The genealogies of Issachar, Benjamin, Naphtali, Manasseh, and Asher include the numbers of men fit for battle, while the genealogy of Ephraim ends with Joshua (v. 27), the greatest warrior of all.

7:20–29 Ephraim receives new hope when his wife conceives after his other sons are tragically murdered. Ephraim, Joseph's second son, is seen as a type of the new covenant in Christ (see Gn 41:51–52). Note that Joshua, the Old Testament's powerful type of Christ, comes from Ephraim's line (v. 27).

8:1–40 A more detailed genealogy of Benjamin is given, probably because Saul comes from this line (v. 33).

9:1, 2 The phrase those to whom permission had been given almost certainly deals with those who returned after the exile (Neh 11). Thus, the genealogies of Israel from Adam until Ezra's time are completed, and the stage is set to start anew with an overview of the history of Judah, beginning with the death of Saul.

9:17–27 Just as the gatekeepers stood guard at the doors of the tabernacle, so we in the Church are called to guard the truth of our faith and to keep watch over the living temples of our souls.

10:1–13 The genealogy ends, and the history of Israel continues with a brief description of Saul's defeat and death at the hands of the Philistines. The Philistines think they have won the victory against Israel by displaying Saul's head in their idolatrous temple. Similarly, when Christ descends into hell, the devil will think he has won when in fact he has lost.

11:1–9 Recognizing David as the true deliverer and king, the people witness him anointed king. This event is described as being according to the word of the Lord, showing that they are at last choosing the better way.

11:4–9 These events foreshadow the establishment of the Church of Christ, which is "Mount Zion . . . the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem" (Heb 12:22).

11:9, 10 David grew ever stronger because he was not alone: the Lord Almighty and his mighty men were with him.

11:15–19 In this account, David represents all mankind. The powers of darkness, represented by the Philistines, hold the world captive. David's longing is like the thirsty soul that cries out for God. As always, water symbolizes baptism from death into life through the "living water," that is, the Holy Spirit whom Christ sends (Jn 7:37–39).

11:20—12:29 David's mighty warriors are earthly types of the angelic hosts, who lead the battle against the powers of darkness (Dan 4:35).

12:1 David's soldiers, helpers in the war, symbolize the Church in battle, a force against which the gates of hell "shall not prevail" (Mt 16:18; see also Eph 6:10–18).

12:39 Israel had a loyal heart to make David king. The same is true among the faithful in the Church, as the apostle Paul writes, "having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind" (Php 2:2).

12:41 Issachar, Zebulun, and Naphtali refer to the areas where the light of Christ is revealed to those "who walked in darkness" (Is 9:1, 2).

13:1–8 In the Orthodox Church, the ark of God is seen as a type of the Virgin Mary, also called the Theotokos, the God-bearer, because she gave birth to the Son of God. Just as David and the people honor the ark with singing, so Christ and His Church honor the Mother of God with hymns of love and devotion: "More honorable than the cherubim and more glorious beyond compare than the seraphim, without defilement you gave birth to God the Word. True Theotokos, we magnify you!" On the Feast Day of the Entrance of the Theotokos into the Temple, the faithful sing, "As you are a living temple of God, let no impure hand touch you, O Theotokos!"

14:1, 2 Hiram king of Tyre is the first foreign ruler to support David rather than fight him. He may be seen as prefiguring the Gentile believers who will help build . . . a house. (See note at 3Kg 5:29.)

14:11 Here is a foreshadowing of baptism. David is remembering the cave of Adullam, where "the three broke through the camp of the Philistines" and brought him a drink of water (11:15–19).

14:13–17 The encircling of the pear trees is a powerful image, revealing to believers that angelic hosts are real, tangible forces who win the battle even before the earthly conflict has begun.

15:1, 2 The ark is carried to the City of David in the manner prescribed by Moses: on the shoulders of the Levites (Nm 4:11–15), who symbolize holiness. Because of her holy obedience, the Virgin Mary will become the living fulfillment of the ark. She will be the temple of Christ, who will be conceived in her. The Levitical priests prefigure the Christian clergy, who are ordained to minister, or serve, at the altar while the faithful worship the Holy Trinity.

15:25 Obed-Edom (lit. "red") is symbolic of humanity enslaved to the flesh under the old covenant, but set free when joy, Christ Himself, enters the world.

15:26 The number seven in the Scriptures usually emphasizes the completion of the old and the beginning of the new.

15:27–29 Like David dancing before the ark, which contains the covenant, the unborn John the Baptist will leap for joy in the presence of Mary, whose womb will contain Christ Himself (Lk 1:41). Compare Michal, who despised David for his celebration before the Lord, to Herodias and her daughter, who danced before Herod despising the truth, and had John beheaded (Mt 14:3–12).

16:1–42 The worship described in this chapter bears many striking parallels to the Divine Liturgy; as St. Paul writes, "speaking to one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord, giving thanks always for all things" (Eph 5:19, 20). Christ's eternal sacrifice fulfills the burnt offerings; and David's blessing, along with the bread, prefigures the Eucharist. The musical instruments are fulfilled in the Church in the voices of the faithful, enabled in Christ to worship with clean hearts.

17:1–24 Just as the temple will not be built until David dies and Solomon is anointed king, so the Church will not be established until Christ our King ascends into heaven and sends the all-wise Holy Spirit. God's promises to David will never be completely fulfilled in the earthly Israel; but all of them will be fulfilled in the holy Church, the new Israel.

17:16 You have loved me forever: Although he may not fully comprehend it, David's prayer foreshadows God's promise of eternal life in Christ (Jn 3:16).

18:1–17 David attacks and subdues his enemies, expanding his kingdom and amassing wealth to be used in preparation for the building of the temple.

19:1–6 David's messengers were shaved at the hands of the unbelieving Ammonites, foreshadowing not only Christ's humiliation at the hands of the Gentile soldiers, who mocked Him, stripped Him, and divided His garments (Mt 27:27–35), but also the sufferings of His apostles and saints.

20:2, 3 David, who in the previous chapter showed kindness to the people of Ammon and was rejected, ends up wearing their king's crown. Christ's crown of victory is the crown of thorns (Mt 27:29), given by those to whom He extended divine kindness.

20:4–8 The lesson that God "exalts the humble with salvation" (Ps 149:4) continues when Goliath's offspring, the last of whom was even bigger than Goliath (v. 6), are killed. David's great deed as a youth, accomplished with a mere sling and a stone (1Kg 17:40–50), is surpassed by his followers.

21:2 Beersheba to Dan means all of Israel from south to north.

21:9–13 David's three options can be seen as metaphors for the choices available to sinful man: (1) famine: man may choose spiritual starvation; (2) defeat: man may choose to remain captive to sin, suffering, and death; or (3) the sword of the Lord: man may decide that death with hope in God's mercies is better than death with no hope at all. David's choice shows that he has once again placed his hope in God.

21:14 Under the Law, death is the just sentence for all mankind (Rom 6:23); however, seventy thousand, a number suggesting completion, indicates hope that the Law will be overruled and death will end. Ambrose of Milan writes of this Hope, which is Christ Himself, "He who when He could take vengeance, chose instead to be sacrificed."

21:15, 16 The Lord . . . relented because His love overrules the law of death. At Jerusalem, the Lord Jesus also said "It is enough" to His disciples concerning the use of the sword (v. 16) for vengeance (Lk 22:38). The threshing floor represents Calvary, the place where Christ will trample down sin, suffering, and death once for all.

21:18–25 Just as David in obedience pays the full price, so the incarnate Christ will offer himself in order to end death. His death and Resurrection will create the conditions for man to receive forgiveness of sins, to die to himself, and to be raised up to newness of life.

21:26 Fire from heaven prefigures both Pentecost (Acts 2:3) and the Eucharist. In all three, the offering rises, and the Holy Spirit descends.

22:1–5 God's plan for David is to make preparations for the building of a house for the Lord under Solomon (chs. 17; 29).

22:8–10 David, a man of great wars, is a type of humanity under the Law, for God uses the law to subdue men and bring them to Christ (Gal 3:24, 25). Solomon, a man of rest, prefigures Jesus Christ, who is both Son of Man (David) and Son of God. The house for My name prefigures the Church, in which Christ's throne, the hearts of the faithful, will be established forever.

23:1–4 The Levites who will serve in the temple are numbered and their genealogy listed through v. 23.

23:30 The worshipers stood morning and evening before the Lord. Continuing this tradition, many Orthodox faithful throughout the world stand every day at Matins and Vespers, and during the other services.

24:1, 2 See text and note at 6:1–31.

25:1–31 The list of those who use their musical talents to serve the Lord fills an entire chapter. (See text and note at 16:1–42.)

26:1–32 Just as gatekeepers in David's time were needed to protect the temple and its treasury, so the faithful must constantly stand guard to keep the temple of their souls safe from the passions of the flesh.

27:1–34 These men can be seen as a type of the twelve apostles who follow Jesus. Note that the men are numbered in twelves and multiples of twelve. Even Judas is prefigured in Ahithophel and Joab, (v. 34), both of whom betray their king.

28:6 Just as David lays the groundwork for the work Solomon is to carry out, so the old covenant under the Law prepares the world for the new covenant in Christ. Like Solomon, Christ is both David's son and the Son of God. Having revealed God as Father, He will make Himself the very cornerstone of the house of God.

28:11–19 The dedicated things (v. 12): The articles used in worship and presented to Solomon represent Holy Tradition, beginning with the pattern for worship given to Moses (Ex 25:40), which was given in writing (v. 19) as Holy Scripture, and is fulfilled in the Church even to this day.

28:20 The Lord spoke these exact words to Joshua just before Israel crossed over the Jordan into the Promised Land (Jos 1:9). Joshua and Solomon are both types of Christ.

28:21 Like those who are appointed to serve Solomon, Christ's faithful followers will be with Him in service, using their talents to carry out His will.

29:1 God sometimes chooses the young and inexperienced (see 1Ti 4:12) to carry out the work of building his temple.

29:6–9 The worship described here foreshadows Orthodox Christian worship, where the faithful will offer themselves willingly and with their whole heart.

29:10–12 David's praises bear a striking resemblance to the Lord's Prayer (Mt 6:9–13). Under the old covenant, David cannot see the Trinity fully, for the Trinity has not yet been revealed. In Christ's Church, the faithful will be able to worship the Triune God "in spirit and truth" (Jn 4:24).

29:14 At one point in the Divine Liturgy, the deacon elevates the holy gifts while the bishop or presbyter speaks words very similar to David's: "Your own of Your own we offer unto You, in behalf of all and for all."

29:15 The faithful are still strangers and sojourners on this earth, but are now in Christ, who has given us strength to run "the race that is set before us" (Heb 12:1–3).

29:21 A thousand is often a sign of abundance.

29:22 Ate and drank prefigures Communion, for the culmination of worship is partaking of the Holy Eucharist.

29:23–25 When Solomon was first made king, he prefigured Christ's entrance into Jerusalem. Now, upon the throne, he foreshadows the second and glorious coming of Christ.

The Second Book of the Chronicles

Author

Ezra is believed to be the writer.

Date

About 450 BC. The book spans the forty years of Solomon's reign, four hundred years of the reigns of succeeding kings, and seventy years of captivity in Babylon.

Major Themes

Continuation of the Davidic covenant through Solomon and the building of the temple. The importance of proper worship in the temple, particularly the place of the Levites and the musicians, is given special, detailed emphasis. Another theme is the character of each of the kings that followed Solomon—whether they encouraged proper worship of God. The writer ends this book with the tragic account of the destruction of Jerusalem and the seventy-year exile of the Jews to Babylon.

Background

Solomon has succeeded to the throne of Israel, and his major task is building the temple. David gathered all the supplies and drew up the plans, but the Lord did not allow him to construct it.

The wisdom and wealth of Solomon were known throughout the world and written about in foreign histories. The Queen of Sheba, an Arabian country, came to witness Solomon's glory.

After Solomon's death, the people of Israel divided into two kingdoms. The northern kingdom separated from Judah with Jeroboam as king, and fell away from worshipping the true God. Jeroboam established idol worship. The rejected priests and Levites and many faithful followers left Israel and emigrated to Jerusalem to worship God. The smaller southern kingdom, consisting of the tribes of Judah and Benjamin, was ruled by Solomon's son Rehoboam. The author brings a final word of hope, recounting the permission given by Cyrus king of Persia for the exiles to return and rebuild the temple in Jerusalem.

2 Chronicles 1

Solomon Prays for Wisdom

[1]When Solomon the son of David was firmly established over his kingdom, the Lord his God was with him and magnified him in honor.

[2]Solomon spoke to all Israel, to the captains of thousands and the captains of hundreds, to the judges, to all the rulers over Israel, and to the heads of the families. [3]Solomon went with all the assembly to the high place at Gibeon, for the tabernacle of meeting with God was there, which Moses the servant of the Lord made in the wilderness. [4]David had brought up the ark of God from the city of Kirjath Jearim to the place he prepared for it, for he had pitched a tent for it in Jerusalem. [5]And the bronze altar made by Bezalel the son of Uri the son of Hur was there before the tabernacle of the Lord, and Solomon and the assembly enquired about it. [6]Solomon made an offering there on the bronze altar before the Lord, at the tabernacle of meeting, offering a thousand burnt offerings on it.

[7]God appeared to Solomon that night and said to him, “Tell Me what you want Me to give you.” [8]And Solomon said to God, “You showed great mercy to David my father, and made me king in his place. [9]Now, Lord God, let Your name be established on my father David, for You made me king over a people numerous as the dust of the earth. [10]Give me wisdom and understanding, so that I may go out and come in before this people, for who can judge this great people of Yours?”

[11]And God said to Solomon, “Because this was in your heart and you did not ask for riches or wealth or honor or the life of your enemies, nor did you ask for long life, but you asked for wisdom and understanding for yourself, that you might judge My people over whom I made you king, [12]now I will give you this wisdom and understanding. I will also give you riches and wealth and honor, such as none of the kings before you possessed, nor shall any after you possess.” [13]So Solomon came to Jerusalem from the high place at Gibeon, from before the tabernacle of witness, and reigned over Israel.

Solomon’s Power and Riches

[14]And Solomon collected chariots and horsemen. He had one thousand four hundred chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities. And the people were with the king in Jerusalem. [15]The king made silver and gold as plentiful in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedars as abundant in Judea as sycamores in the plain. [16]And Solomon had horses imported from Egypt; the king's merchants paid the going price. [17]They acquired and imported from Egypt a chariot for six hundred shekels of silver, and a horse for one hundred fifty. They also brought them to all the kings of the Hittites and to the kings of Syria. [18]Solomon said he would build a house in the name of the Lord and a house for his kingdom.

2 Chronicles 2

Solomon Plans to Build the Temple

[1]Solomon selected seventy thousand men to bear burdens, eighty thousand to quarry stone in the mountains, and three thousand six hundred to oversee them.

[2]Then Solomon sent to Hiram king of Tyre, saying, "As you dealt with David my father and sent him cedars to build himself a house to dwell in, [3]behold I, his son, am building a house for the name of the Lord my God, to dedicate it to Him, to burn sweet incense before Him, to offer showbread continually, and to offer up burnt offerings continually, morning and evening, and on the Sabbaths, on the New Moons, and on the festivals of the Lord our God. This is a perpetual ordinance for Israel; [4]and the house I am going to build will be great, for our God is greater than all gods. [5]Who is able to build Him a house, since heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain His glory? Who am I, then, to build Him a house, except to burn incense before Him? [6]Therefore send me at once a wise man skilled to work in gold and silver, in bronze and iron, in purple and crimson and blue, who can work skillfully with the skilled men with me in Judah and Jerusalem, whom David my father provided. [7]Also send me cedar and cypress and pine timber from Lebanon, for I know that your servants are skilled in cutting timber in Lebanon. And indeed my servants and your servants [8]will go to prepare an abundance of timber for me, because the house I am about to build is to be great and glorious. [9]And indeed to your servants, the woodsmen who cut timber, I gave twenty thousand kors of wheat, twenty thousand kors of barley, twenty thousand baths of wine, and twenty thousand baths of oil."

[10]Then Hiram king of Tyre sent an answer in writing to Solomon:

“Because the Lord loves His people, He made you king over them.” 11Hiram also said, “Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who made heaven and earth, for He gave King David a wise son, endowed with prudence and understanding, who will build a temple for the Lord and a royal house for himself! 12And now I have sent a skillful man, endowed with discernment, Huram my father, 13the son of a woman of the daughters of Dan, and his father was a man of Tyre, skilled at working in gold and silver, bronze and iron, stone and wood, at weaving purple and blue, fine linen and crimson, and at making any engraving and accomplishing any plan that may be given to him, with your skillful men and with the skillful men of my lord David your father. 14Now therefore, let my lord send his servants the wheat, the barley, the oil, and the wine he spoke of, 15and we will cut as much wood from Lebanon as you need. We will bring it to you in rafts by sea to Joppa, and you will carry it to Jerusalem.”

Construction Begins on the Temple

16Then Solomon gathered all the foreigners in the land of Israel, after the census in which David his father had numbered them. And there were found to be one hundred fifty-three thousand six hundred. 17And he made seventy thousand of them bearers of burdens, eighty thousand stonecutters in the mountain, and three thousand six hundred to oversee the people’s work.

2 Chronicles 3

1Now Solomon began to build the house of the Lord at Jerusalem on Mount Moriah, where the Lord had appeared to his father David, at the place that David had prepared on the threshing floor of Ornan the Jebusite. 2And he began to build on the second day of the second month in the fourth year of his reign. 3This is the foundation Solomon laid for building the house of God. It was sixty cubits long (according to the former measure) and twenty cubits wide. 4The vestibule in front of the sanctuary was twenty cubits long across the width of the house, and one hundred twenty cubits high. He overlaid the inside with pure gold. 5He paneled the larger room with cypress and overlaid it with fine gold, and he carved palm trees and chain work on it. 6He decorated the house with precious stones for beauty, and the gold was gold from Parvaim. 7He also overlaid the house—the beams and doorposts, its walls and doors—with gold and carved cherubim on the walls. [8]And he made the most holy place. Its length corresponded to the width of the house, twenty cubits, and it was twenty cubits wide. He overlaid it as far as the cherubim with six hundred talents of fine gold. [9]The weight of the nails was fifty shekels of gold. He overlaid the upper room with gold.

[10]In the most holy place he made two wooden cherubim and overlaid them with gold. [11]The wings of the cherubim were twenty cubits in overall length. One wing of the one cherub was five cubits, touching the wall of the room, and the other wing was five cubits, touching the wing of the other cherub; [12]one wing of the other cherub was five cubits as well, touching the wall of the room, and the other wing also was five cubits, touching the wing of the other cherub. [13]The wings of these cherubim spanned twenty cubits overall. They stood on their feet and faced inward. [14]He made the veil of blue, purple, crimson, and fine linen, and wove cherubim into it.

[15]In front of the house he made two pillars thirty-five cubits high, and the capital on the top of each was five cubits. [16]He made wreaths of chain work, as in the inner sanctuary, and put them on top of the pillars. And he made one hundred pomegranates and put them on the wreaths of chain work. [17]Then he set up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand and the other on the left. He called the one on the right hand Upholding, and he called the one on the left Strength.

The Temple Is Furnished

[1]He made a bronze altar twenty cubits long, twenty cubits wide, and ten cubits high. [2]And he made the sea of cast bronze, ten cubits in diameter. It was completely round. It was five cubits high and thirty cubits around. [3]Under it were the likenesses of oxen encircling it all around, ten to a cubit, all the way around the sea. The oxen were cast in two rows when it was cast. [4]It stood on twelve oxen. Three looked toward the north, three looked toward the west, three looked toward the south, and three looked toward the east. The sea was set upon them, and all their back parts pointed inward. [5]It was a handbreadth thick and its brim was like the brim of a cup, like a lily blossom. It contained three thousand baths. And he finished it.

[6]He also made ten basins, and put five on the right side and five on the left, to wash what they offered for the burnt offering. The sea, however, was for the priests to wash in. [7]He made ten gold lampstands according to their design and set them in the temple, five on the right and five on the left. [8]He also made ten tables and placed them in the temple, five on the right and five on the left. And he made one hundred golden bowls.

[9]He made the court of the priests, and the great court, and doors for the court, and overlaid the door panels with bronze. [10]He set the sea on the right side toward the east. [11]Then Huram made the pots and the shovels and the bowls for the altar and all its utensils. So Huram finished the work he was to do for King Solomon for the house of God, [12]the two pillars and the bowl-shaped capitals on top of the two pillars, the two networks covering the two bowl-shaped capitals on top of the pillars; [13]four hundred pomegranates for the two networks—two rows of pomegranates for each network, to cover the two bowl-shaped capitals on the pillars. [14]He made carts and put basins on the carts, [15]and one sea with twelve oxen under it, [16]and tripods and buckets and basins and forks and all the other utensils. Huram his master craftsman made them of pure bronze for King Solomon for the house of the Lord. [17]The king had them cast in clay molds in the plain of Jordan between Succoth and Zeredah. [18]And Solomon had all these articles made in such great quantity that the weight of the bronze was not determined.

[19]Solomon had all the furnishings made for the house of God, the golden altar and the tables for the showbread, [20]the lamp stands with their lamps of pure gold, to burn in the prescribed manner in front of the inner sanctuary, [21]with the tongs and the lamps and the cups and the censers of pure gold. [22]The door of the sanctuary, the inner door to the most holy place, and the doors of the main hall of the temple were gold.

2 Chronicles 5

[1]So all the work that Solomon did for the house of the Lord was finished. And Solomon brought in everything his father David had dedicated, the silver and the gold and all the furnishings. And he put them in the treasuries of the house of God.

The Ark Is Brought to the Temple

[2]Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel and all the heads of the tribes, the leaders of the families of the sons of Israel, in Jerusalem, that they might bring the ark of the covenant of the Lord from the City of David, which is Zion. [3]Therefore all the men of Israel assembled with the king at the feast in the seventh month. [4]All the elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the ark. [5]Then they brought up the ark, the tabernacle of meeting, and all the holy furnishings in the tabernacle. The priests and the Levites carried it. [6]And King Solomon and all the congregation of Israel assembled with him in fear before the ark, sacrificing more sheep and oxen than could be counted or numbered. [7]Then the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the Lord to its place in the inner sanctuary of the temple, to the most holy place, under the wings of the cherubim. [8]For the cherubim spread their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubim overshadowed the ark and its poles. [9]And the poles extended so that the ends of the poles of the ark could be seen from the holy place, in front of the inner sanctuary, but they could not be seen from outside. And they are there to this day. [10]There was nothing in the ark except the two tablets Moses put there at Horeb when the Lord made a covenant with the sons of Israel when they came out of Egypt.

The Glory of God's Presence

[11]And when the priests came from the holy place (for all the priests who were present were sanctified before being separated into divisions), [12]and the Levites and the singers of Asaph and Heman and Jeduthun, with their sons and their brethren, stood at the east end of the altar, clothed in white linen, having cymbals, stringed instruments, and harps, and with them were one hundred twenty priests sounding with trumpets; [13]and the trumpeters and singers were as one voice in sounding the trumpet and singing and in praising and thanking the Lord. And when they lifted up their voice with the trumpets and cymbals and instruments of music, they praised the Lord, saying:

> "Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good,
> For His mercy endures forever."

The house was filled with a cloud of the Lord's glory, [14]so the priests could not continue ministering because of the cloud, for the glory of the Lord filled the house of God.

2 Chronicles 6

Solomon Speaks to the People

1 Then Solomon said:

> “The Lord said He would dwell in the dark cloud.
> 2 But I built a house to your name, a house holy to You,
> And prepared for You a place to dwell forever.”

3 Then the king turned around and blessed the whole assembly of Israel, while all the assembly of Israel was standing. 4 And he said, “Blessed be the Lord God of Israel, who fulfilled with His hands what He spoke with His mouth to my father David, saying, 5 ‘Since the day I brought My people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city from any tribe of Israel in which to build a house, that My name might be there, nor did I choose any man to be a ruler over My people Israel; 6 yet I chose Jerusalem so that My name may be there, and I chose David to be over My people Israel.’

7 “Now it was in the heart of my father David to build a house for the name of the Lord God of Israel; 8 but the Lord said to my father David, ‘Whereas it was in your heart to build a house for My name, you did well by having it in your heart, 9 but you shall not build the house, for your son who will come from your body, he shall build the house for My name.’ 10 So the Lord fulfilled the word He spoke, and I took my father David’s place and sat on the throne of Israel as the Lord said, and I built the house for the name of the Lord God of Israel. 11 And there I put the ark containing the covenant which the Lord made with Israel.”

The King’s Prayer of Dedication

12 Then Solomon stood before the altar of the Lord in the presence of all the assembly of Israel and spread out his hands; 13 for Solomon had made a bronze platform five cubits long, five cubits wide, and three cubits high, and had set it in the midst of the court. And he stood on it, knelt down on his knees before all the assembly of Israel, and spread out his hands toward heaven. 14 And he said, “Lord God of Israel, there is no God in heaven or on earth like You, You who keep Your covenant and mercy with Your servants who walk before You with all their hearts. 15 You held true to what You promised Your servant David, my father; You spoke with Your mouth and fulfilled it with Your hands, as it is this day. 16 Now, Lord God of Israel, keep what You promised Your servant David, my father, saying, ‘You shall not fail to have a man sit before Me on the throne of Israel, if your sons guard the way they walk in My law, as you walked before Me.’ [17]And now, Lord God of Israel, confirm the word You spoke to Your servant David.

[18]“Will God indeed dwell with men on the earth? Behold, heaven and the heaven of heavens cannot contain You. What is this house I built! [19]Yet regard the prayer of Your servant and his supplication, Lord my God, and listen to the supplication and the prayer Your servant prays before You today, [20]so day and night Your eyes may be open toward this house, toward the place where You said You would put Your name, that You may hear the prayer Your servant prays in this place. [21]And may You hear the supplication of Your servant and Your people Israel when they pray in this place. Hear from Your dwelling place in heaven, and when You hear, be merciful. [22]If anyone sins against his neighbor and takes an oath, and comes and takes an oath before Your altar in this temple, [23]then from heaven hear and act and judge Your servants, bringing retribution on the wicked by bringing his way on his own head, and justifying the righteous by giving to him according to his righteousness.

[24]“Or if Your people Israel are defeated before an enemy because they sinned against You, and return and confess Your name, and pray and supplicate before You in this house, [25]then hear from heaven and have mercy on the sins of Your people Israel and bring them back to the land You gave to them and their fathers. [26]When the heavens are shut up and there is no rain because they sinned against You, when they pray in this place and confess Your name and turn from their sin because You afflict them, [27]then hear in heaven and have mercy on the sins of Your servants and Your people Israel, so You may teach them the good way for them to walk and send rain on Your land, the land You gave as an inheritance to Your people. [28]When there is famine in the land, death and blight and mildew and locusts and grasshoppers, when their enemies besiege their cities, whatever plague or whatever sickness there may be; [29]whatever prayer, whatever supplication anyone makes, or all Your people Israel make, when each one knows his own burden and his own grief and spreads out his hands in this house; [30]then hear from heaven, Your dwelling place, and forgive them. And give to everyone according to his ways, for You know his heart, since You alone know the hearts of the sons of men; [31]so they may fear Your ways as long as they live in the land You gave our fathers.

[32]“And whenever a foreigner, not of Your people Israel, comes from a far country for the sake of Your great name, and for Your mighty hand and Your outstretched arm, and prays in this house, [33]then hear from Your dwelling place in heaven. Do everything the foreigner calls to You to do, so all the peoples of the earth may know Your name and fear You, as do Your people Israel, so they may know this house I built is called by Your name. [34]When Your people go to battle against their enemies, wherever You send them, when they pray to You in the city You choose and in the house I built in Your name, [35]then hear their prayer and their supplication from heaven and sustain their cause.

[36]"When they sin against You—for there is no one who does not sin—and You strike them and deliver them to the enemy, and they are taken captive to a land far or near, [37]when they turn their hearts back to You in the land where they were carried in captivity, and repent and supplicate You in the land of their captivity, saying, 'We sinned, we have done wrong and committed wickedness,' [38]and when they return to You with all their heart and with all their soul in the land of their captivity where they were carried captive, and pray toward their land You gave their fathers, the city You chose, and the house I built for Your name, [39]then hear their prayer and their supplications from Your dwelling place in heaven and sustain their cause, and be merciful to Your people who sinned against You.

[40]"My God, I pray, let Your eyes be open and let Your ears be attentive to the prayer made in this place. [41]Now therefore:

"Arise Lord God, to Your resting place,
You and the ark of Your strength;
Let Your priests, Lord God, be clothed with salvation;
And let Your sons rejoice in goodness.
[42]Lord God, do not turn away the face of Your Anointed; Remember the mercies of Your servant David."

2 Chronicles 7

The Temple Is Consecrated

[1]When Solomon finished praying, fire came down from heaven and consumed the burnt offering and the sacrifices, and the glory of the Lord filled the house. [2]And the priests could not enter the house of the Lord at that time because the glory of the Lord had filled the house. [3]When all the sons of Israel saw the fire come down and the glory of the Lord on the house, they bowed their faces to the ground on the pavement, and worshiped and praised the Lord, saying:

> “For He is good,
> For His mercy endures forever.”

[4]Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the Lord. [5]Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty-two thousand calves and one hundred twenty thousand sheep. So the king and all the people dedicated the house of God. [6]And the priests stood at their posts along with the Levites and their instruments for the music of the Lord, which King David had made to praise the Lord, saying, “For His mercy endures forever,” with the hymns of David. The priests sounded trumpets opposite them, while all Israel stood. [7]Solomon consecrated the middle of the court of the house of the Lord. He offered burnt offerings and the fat of the peace offerings, because the bronze altar Solomon made was not able to receive the burnt offerings, the grain offerings, and the fat. [8]At that time Solomon kept the feast for seven days, and all Israel kept it with him, a very great assembly from the entrance of Hamath to the Brook of Egypt. [9]And on the eighth day they held a sacred assembly, for they observed the dedication of the altar for seven days. [10]On the twenty-third day of the seventh month, he sent the people away to their habitations, joyful and glad of heart for the good that the Lord had done for David, for Solomon, and for His people Israel.

God Appears Again to Solomon

[11]So Solomon finished the house of the Lord and the king’s house, and Solomon successfully accomplished everything that came into his heart to do in the house of the Lord and in his own house. [12]Then the Lord appeared to Solomon by night and said to him, “I have heard your prayer and have chosen this place for Myself as a house of sacrifice. [13]If I shut up heaven and there is no rain, or if I command the locusts to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among My people, [14]if My people who are called by My name humble themselves and pray and seek My face and turn from their wicked ways, then I will hear from heaven and will be merciful to their sins and heal their land. [15]Now My eyes will be open and My ears will hear the prayer of this place;

16for now I have chosen and sanctified this house, so that My name may be there forever, and My eyes and My heart will be there all the day. 17If you shall walk before Me as your father David and do everything I have commanded you, and will keep My statutes and My judgments; 18then I will establish the throne of your kingdom, as I covenanted with David your father, saying, ‘A man ruling in Israel shall not be removed from you.’ 19But if you turn away and forsake My statutes and My commandments that I set before you, and go and serve other gods and worship them, 20then I will remove you from the land I gave them and I will cast from My sight this house which I have sanctified for My name, and I will make it a parable and a byword among all peoples.

21“As to this proud house, everyone who passes will be astonished and say, ‘Why did the Lord do this to this land and this house?’ 22Then they will answer, ‘Because they forsook the Lord God of their fathers who brought them out of the land of Egypt, and embraced other gods and worshiped them and served them. That is why He brought all this calamity on them.’ ”

2 Chronicles 8

Solomon’s Other Accomplishments

1Twenty years after Solomon built the house of the Lord and his own house, 2Solomon built the cities Hiram had given him and settled the sons of Israel there. 3And Solomon went to Hamath Zobah and seized it. 4And he built Tadmor in the desert and built all the fortified cities in Hamath. 5He built Upper Beth Horon and Lower Beth Horon, cities fortified with walls, gates, and bars, 6and Baalath and all the fortified cities Solomon had, and all the chariot cities and the cities of the cavalry, and everything Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, in Lebanon, and in all his kingdom. 7All the people who were left of the Hittites, Amorites, Perizzites, Hivites, and Jebusites, who were not of Israel— 8that is, their sons who were left in the land after them, whom the sons of Israel did not destroy—from these Solomon raised forced labor, as it is done today. 9But Solomon did not turn the sons of Israel into servants for his kingdom. Some were men of war, captains of his officers, captains of his chariots and his cavalry. 10Others were chiefs of the officials of King Solomon, two hundred fifty, who ruled over the people.

11Now Solomon brought the daughter of Pharaoh up from the City of David to the house he built for her. For he said, “My wife shall not dwell in the house of David, king of Israel, because the place where the ark of the Lord has come is holy.”

12Then Solomon offered burnt offerings to the Lord on the altar of the Lord he built before the temple, 13according to the daily rate, offering according to the commandment of Moses, for the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the three appointed yearly feasts—the Feast of Unleavened Bread, the Feast of Weeks, and the Feast of Tabernacles. 14According to the order of David his father, he appointed the divisions of the priests for their service, the Levites for their duties—to praise and serve before the priests—as each day’s duty required, and he appointed the gatekeepers by their divisions at each gate, for so David the man of God commanded. 15Concerning any matter or the treasuries, they did not depart from the command of the king to the priests and Levites. 16Now all the work of Solomon was well ordered, from the day of the foundation until Solomon finished the house of the Lord.

17Then Solomon went to Ezion Geber and Elath on the seacoast, in the land of Edom. 18And Hiram sent him ships by the hand of his servants, and servants who knew the sea. They went with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, where they acquired four hundred fifty gold talents and brought them to King Solomon.

2 Chronicles 9

The Queen of Sheba Pays a Visit

1Now when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to Jerusalem to test Solomon with hard questions. She brought a very great retinue, camels that bore spices, an abundance of gold, and precious stones. And when she came to Solomon, she spoke with him about everything in her heart. 2Solomon answered all her questions. There was nothing too difficult for Solomon to explain to her. 3And when the queen of Sheba had seen Solomon’s wisdom, the house that he had built, 4the food on his table, the seating of his servants, the service of his waiters and their apparel, his cupbearers and their apparel, and the burnt offerings he made in the house of the Lord, she was beside herself.

5She said to the king, “What I heard in my own land about your words and your wisdom was true. 6However, I did not believe their words until I came and saw with my own eyes. And indeed what they told me was not the half of the greatness of your wisdom. You exceed the fame I heard. [7]Happy are your men, and happy are these servants of yours who stand continually before you and hear your wisdom! [8]Blessed be the Lord your God, who was pleased to set you on His throne to be king for the Lord your God! Because your God loved Israel and established them forever, He made you king over them to do justice and righteousness." [9]And she gave the king one hundred twenty talents of gold, a great quantity of spices, and precious stones. There were never such spices as those the queen of Sheba gave King Solomon.

[10]The servants of Hiram and the servants of Solomon also brought gold from Ophir and pine wood and precious stones. [11]The king made walkways of pine wood for the house of the Lord and for the king's house, and harps and stringed instruments for the singers, and there were none such as these seen before in the land of Judah. [12]Now King Solomon gave the queen of Sheba everything she desired, whatever she asked, much more than she had brought King Solomon. So she returned to her own land.

Solomon's Material Wealth

[13]The weight of gold that came to Solomon yearly was six hundred sixty-six talents of gold, [14]not including what the traveling merchants and traders brought. And all the kings of Arabia and governors of the country brought gold and silver to King Solomon. [15]And King Solomon made two hundred large shields of hammered gold. Six hundred shekels of hammered gold went into each shield, and each shield weighed six hundred shekels of gold. [16]He also made three hundred shields of hammered gold. Three hundred shekels of gold went into each shield. The king put them in the House of the Forest of Lebanon.

[17]And the king made a great throne of ivory from elephant tusks and overlaid it with pure gold. [18]There were six steps fastened to the golden throne, and there were armrests on either side of the place of the seat, and two lions stood beside the armrests. [19]Twelve lions stood beside the six steps. Nothing like this had been made for any other kingdom. [20]All King Solomon's drinking vessels were gold, and all the vessels of the House of the Forest of Lebanon were pure gold. Not one was silver, for this was accounted as nothing in the days of Solomon. [21]The king's ships went to Tarshish with Hiram's servants. Once every three years the merchant ships returned, loaded with gold and silver and elephant tusks and monkeys.

22 So King Solomon surpassed all the kings of the earth in wealth and wisdom. 23 And all the kings of the earth sought the presence of Solomon to hear the wisdom God put in his heart. 24 Each man brought his present, articles of silver and gold, garments, oil of myrrh, spices, horses, and mules, at a set rate every year. 25 Solomon had four thousand female horses for chariots and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he stationed in the chariot cities and with the king at Jerusalem. 26 So he reigned over all the kings from the river to the land of the foreigners, as far as the border of Egypt. 27 The king made silver as common in Jerusalem as stones, and he made cedar trees as abundant as the sycamores of the lowland. 28 And they brought Solomon horses from Egypt and from all lands.

The Death of Solomon

29 Now the rest of the acts of Solomon, first and last, are they not written in the words of Nathan the prophet, in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of Joel the seer concerning Jeroboam the son of Nebat?
30 Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years. 31 Then Solomon rested with his fathers and was buried in the City of David his father.
Rehoboam his son reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 10

Revolt against King Rehoboam

1 Rehoboam went to Shechem, for all Israel went to Shechem to make him king. 2 So when Jeroboam the son of Nebat heard it—he was in Egypt, where he had fled from the presence of King Solomon—Jeroboam returned from Egypt. 3 Then they sent for him and called him. And Jeroboam and all Israel came and spoke to Rehoboam, saying, 4 "Your father made our yoke heavy.
Now therefore, lighten the burdensome service of your father and the heavy yoke he put on us, and we will serve you." 5 So he said to them, "Come back to me in three days." And the people departed.

6 Then King Rehoboam gathered the elders who stood before his father Solomon while he still lived and said, "How do you advise me to answer these people?" 7 And they spoke to him, saying, "If you are kind to these people and please them and speak good words to them, they will be your servants forever." 8 But he rejected the advice the elders gave him and consulted the young men who had grown up with him, who stood before him.

9And he said to them, “What is your advice? How should I answer this people who spoke to me, saying, ‘Lighten the yoke your father put on us’?”
10Then the young men who had grown up with him spoke to him, saying, “This is how you should speak to the people who spoke to you, saying, ‘Your father made our yoke heavy, but you make it lighter on us’—this you shall tell them: ‘My little finger shall be thicker than my father’s waist! 11And now, whereas my father put a heavy yoke on you, I will add to your yoke. My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions!’ ” 12So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king had directed, saying, “Come back to me three days from now.”
13And the king answered them roughly. King Rehoboam rejected the advice of the elders 14and spoke to them according to the advice of the young men, saying, “My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add to it. My father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions!” 15So the king did not listen to the people, for this turn of events was from God, so the Lord might fulfill the word He had spoken by the hand of Ahijah the Shilonite to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.
16Now when all Israel saw that the king did not listen to them, the people answered the king, saying, “What share have we in David? What inheritance do we have in the son of Jesse? Every man to your tents, Israel! Now see to your own house, David!” So all Israel departed to their tents. 17And the men of Israel dwelt in the cities of Judah, and Rehoboam reigned over them.
18Then King Rehoboam sent Hadoram, who was in charge of revenue, but the children of Israel stoned him with stones, and he died. Therefore King Rehoboam mounted his chariot in haste to flee to Jerusalem. 19So Israel has been in rebellion against the house of David to this day.

2 Chronicles 11

The Prophecy of Shemaiah

1When Rehoboam came to Jerusalem, he assembled one hundred eighty thousand young men, warriors from Judah and Benjamin, to fight against Israel and restore the kingdom to Rehoboam. 2But the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying, 3“Speak to Rehoboam the son of Solomon and to all Judah and Benjamin, saying, 4‘Thus says the Lord: “You shall not go up and fight against your brethren! Let every man return to his house, for this is from Me.” ’ ” And they obeyed the words of the Lord and turned back from marching against Jeroboam.

Defensive Fortifications

5So Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem and built cities with walls in Judah. 6He built Bethlehem, Etam, Tekoa, 7Beth Zur, Sochoh, Adullam, 8Gath, Mareshah, Ziph, 9Adoraim, Lachish, Azekah, 10Zorah, Aijalon, and Hebron, walled cities which belong to Judah and Benjamin. 11He fortified them with walls and put captains in them and stores of food, olive oil, and wine. 12In every city he put shields and spears and made them very strong, and they belonged to Judah and Benjamin. 13And the priests and the Levites throughout Israel gathered to him from all their regions. 14For the Levites left the habitations of their possessions and came to Judah and Jerusalem, because Jeroboam and his sons had rejected them from serving the Lord. 15Then he appointed for himself priests for the high places and the idols, and the vain things and the calves Jeroboam had made. 16Then Jeroboam cast them out of the tribes of Israel, those who had set their heart on seeking the Lord God of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem to sacrifice to the Lord God of their fathers. 17So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah and strengthened Rehoboam the son of Solomon for three years, because he walked in the ways of David and Solomon for three years.

Rehoboam’s Family

18Then Rehoboam took as his wife Mahalath, the daughter of Jerimoth the son of David, and of Abihail the daughter of Eliah the son of Jesse. 19And she bore him children: Jeush, Shamariah, and Zaham. 20Then he took Maachah the daughter of Absalom, and she bore him Abijah, Attai, Ziza, and Shelomith. 21Now Rehoboam loved Maachah the daughter of Absalom more than all his wives and concubines, for he took eighteen wives and thirty concubines and begot twenty-eight sons and sixty daughters. 22And Rehoboam appointed Abijah the son of Maachah as chief to be the leader among his brothers, for he intended to make him king. 23He grew more powerful than all his sons throughout the territories of Judah and Benjamin and in all the fortified cities, and he gave them provisions in abundance. He also sought many wives for them.

2 Chronicles 12

Egypt Invades Judah

[1]When Rehoboam's kingdom was established and strengthened, he forsook the commandments of the Lord, as did all Israel along with him. [2]And in the fifth year of Rehoboam's reign, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, because they sinned against the Lord. [3]And he brought twelve hundred chariots, sixty thousand horsemen, and people without number who came with him from Egypt—the Lubim and the Sukkiim and the Ethiopians.
[4]And he took the fortified cities of Judah and came to Jerusalem. [5]Then Shemaiah the prophet came to Rehoboam and the leaders of Judah, who were gathered together in Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said to them, "Thus says the Lord: 'You have forsaken Me, and I shall forsake you in the hand of Shishak.' " [6]So the leaders of Israel and the king were ashamed and said,
"The Lord is righteous." [7]Now when the Lord saw that they repented, the word of the Lord came to Shemaiah, saying, "They repented. Therefore I will not destroy them, and I will grant them some deliverance. My wrath shall not be poured out on Jerusalem; [8]nevertheless, they will be servants of the king, and they will know My service as well as the service of the kingdom of the land."

[9]So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem and took the treasures of the house of the Lord and the treasures of the king's house. He took everything. He even carried away the gold shields Solomon had made.
[10]Then Rehoboam made bronze shields in their place and committed them to the hands of the captains of the guard who guarded the doorway of the king's house. [11]And whenever the king entered the house of the Lord, the guard would go and bring them out. Then they would take them back into the guardroom. [12]When Rehoboam repented, the wrath of the Lord turned from him, and He did not destroy him completely. Things went well in Judah.

Rehoboam's Reign Ends

[13]Thus Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem and reigned. Now Rehoboam was forty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned for seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city the Lord had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel to put His name there. His mother's name was Naamah, an Ammonite woman. [14]And he did evil because he did not direct his heart to seek the Lord. 15The acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the book of Shemaiah the prophet, and of Iddo the seer concerning genealogies? And Rehoboam waged war against Jeroboam all their days. 16So Rehoboam died and rested with his fathers, and was buried in the City of David. Then Abijah his son reigned in his place.

Abijah Is King of Judah

1In the eighteenth year of the reign of Jeroboam, Abijah became king over Judah. 2He reigned three years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Michaiah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah. And there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam. 3Abijah set a battle in array with an army of valiant warriors, four hundred thousand mighty men. Jeroboam also drew up in battle formation against him with eight hundred thousand mighty men of valor.

4Then Abijah stood on Mount Zemaraim, which is in the mountains of Ephraim, and said, "Hear me, Jeroboam and all Israel, 5do you not know that the Lord God of Israel gave the dominion over Israel to David and his sons forever by a covenant of salt? 6Yet Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, rose up and rebelled against his lord. 7Then worthless rogues gathered to him and strengthened themselves against Rehoboam the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young and inexperienced and could not withstand them. 8And now you think you can stand against the kingdom of the Lord, which is in the hand of the sons of David. You are a great multitude, and you have as gods the golden calves Jeroboam made for you. 9Did you not cast out the priests of the Lord, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and made priests for yourselves from the peoples of the land, so that whoever comes to consecrate himself with a young bull and seven rams may be a priest of things that are not gods?

10"But we have not forsaken the Lord our God. And the priests who minister to the Lord are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites attend to their duties. 11And every morning and every evening they offer burnt sacrifices and sweet incense to the Lord, and they set the showbread in order on the pure gold table, and the golden lamp stand with its lamps to burn every evening. For we keep the command of the Lord God of our fathers, but you have forsaken Him. 12Listen, Israel, God Himself is with us as our head, and so are His priests, with trumpets to sound the alarm over us. Children of Israel, do not fight against the Lord God of your fathers, for you shall not prosper!”

13And Jeroboam sent men to slip behind Judah, so Jeroboam would be in front of Judah with an ambush being behind them. 14Judah looked back, and behold, a battle line was behind them and in front of them. And they cried out to the Lord, and the priests sounded the trumpets. 15Then the men of Judah shouted. And as the men of Judah shouted, God struck Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah. 16And the sons of Israel fled before Judah, and God delivered them into their hands. 17Then Abijah and his people struck them with a great slaughter, and five hundred thousand mighty men of Israel fell slain. 18Thus the sons of Israel were subdued on that day, because Judah relied on the Lord God of their fathers.

19Abijah pursued Jeroboam and took cities from him: Bethel with its villages, Jeshanah with its villages, and Ephrain with its villages. 20So Jeroboam did not recover strength again in the days of Abijah. And the Lord struck him, and he died.

21However, Abijah grew mighty. He married fourteen wives and begot twenty-two sons and sixteen daughters. 22Now the rest of the acts of Abijah and his ways and his sayings are written in the annals of the prophet Iddo. 23And Abijah died and rested with his fathers. They buried him in the City of David. Then Asa his son reigned in his place. In his days, the land of Judah was quiet for ten years.

Asa Is King of Judah

1Asa did what was good and proper in the eyes of the Lord his God, 2for he removed the altars of the foreign gods and the high places and broke down the sacred pillars and cut down the groves. 3He commanded Judah to seek the Lord God of their fathers and to observe the law and the commandments. 4He also removed the altars and the idols from all the cities of Judah, and the kingdom was quiet under him. 5He was able to build walled cities in Judah, for the land had rest. There was no war in those years because the Lord gave him rest. 6Therefore he said to Judah, “Because we sought the Lord our God, let us build these cities and make walls around them, and towers, gates, and bars in the land we rule. We sought Him, and He gave us rest on every side, and we have prospered." [7]Asa had an army of three hundred thousand from Judah who carried shields and spears, and from Benjamin two hundred fifty thousand men who carried shields and drew bows. All these were mighty men of valor.

[8]Then Zerah the Ethiopian came against them with an army of a million men and three hundred chariots, and came to Mareshah. [9]So Asa went out against him, and they set the troops in battle array in the valley to the north of Mareshah. [10]And Asa cried out to the Lord his God and said, "Lord, with You it is not impossible, whether with the many or with the few. Strengthen us, Lord our God, for we trust in You. And in Your name we go against this multitude. Lord our God, do not let man prevail against You!"

[11]So the Lord struck the Ethiopians before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled. [12]And Asa and the people with him pursued them to Gerar, and the Ethiopians were so defeated they could not recover. They were crushed before the Lord and His army. And they carried away a great deal of spoil. [13]Then they cut off all the villages round about Gerar, for the fear of the Lord came upon them; even so, they plundered all their cities, for they had a great amount of spoil in them. [14]They even tore down the enclosures for the livestock. Then they took many of the sheep and camels and returned to Jerusalem.

Asa Brings Reforms

[1]Now the Spirit of God came upon Azariah the son of Oded. [2]And he went out to meet Asa and all Judah and Benjamin, and said, "Hear me, Asa, and all Judah and Benjamin. The Lord is with you while you are with Him. If you seek Him, He will be found by you, but if you forsake Him, He will forsake you. [3]For a long time Israel was without the true God, without a teaching priest, and held to what is not the law. [4]But when in their trouble they turned to the Lord God of Israel and sought Him, He was found by them. [5]In those times, there was no peace for the one who went out or the one who came in, but great terror of the Lord was on all the inhabitants of the lands. [6]So nation destroyed nation and city against city, for God troubled them with every adversity. [7]But be strong and do not let your hands be weak, for there is a reward for your work.”

[8]When Asa heard these words and the prophecy of Oded the prophet, he took courage and removed the abominations throughout the land of Judah and Benjamin, and the cities he took in the mountains of Ephraim. And he restored the altar of the Lord before the temple of the Lord. [9]Then he gathered all of Judah and Benjamin, and those who dwelt with them from Ephraim, Manasseh, and Simeon, for they came over to him in great numbers from Israel when they saw that the Lord his God was with him.

[10]So they gathered together at Jerusalem in the third month, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Asa. [11]And at that time, they offered to the Lord seven hundred calves and seven thousand sheep from the spoil they had brought. [12]Then they entered into a covenant to seek the Lord God of their fathers with all their heart and with all their soul. [13]Whoever would not seek the Lord God of Israel was to be put to death, small or great, man or woman. [14]With a loud voice and trumpets and rams’ horns they took an oath before the Lord. [15]And all of Judah rejoiced at the oath, for they had sworn with all their heart and sought Him with all their soul. And He was found by them, and the Lord gave them rest all around.

[16]And he removed Maachah his mother from being queen mother because she served the Asherah; and he cut down the idol and burned it at the Brook Kidron. [17]But the high places were not removed, and they still existed in Israel. But the heart of Asa was loyal all his days. [18]He also brought the things his father had dedicated and that he himself had dedicated—silver and gold and utensils.

[19]And there was no war until the thirty-fifth year of the reign of Asa.

2 Chronicles 16

Asa’s Treaty with Syria’s King

[1]In the thirty-eighth year of the reign of Asa, Baasha king of Israel came up against Judah and built Ramah, so that no one could go out or come in to Asa king of Judah. [2]Then Asa brought silver and gold from the treasuries of the house of the Lord and the king’s house. He sent them to the son of Hadad the king of Syria, who dwelt in Damascus, saying, [3]“Let there be a treaty between you and me, as there was between my father and your father. Here, I have sent you silver and gold. Come and drive away Baasha king of Israel so that he will withdraw from me.”

4So the son of Hadad heeded King Asa, and sent the captains of his armies against the cities of Israel. They attacked Ijon, Dan, Abel Maim, and all the areas around Naphtali. 5Now when Baasha heard it, he stopped building Ramah and ceased his work. 6Then King Asa took all of Judah, and they carried away the stones and timber of Ramah which Baasha had used for building. With them he built Geba and Mizpah.

Hanani’s Prophecy to Asa

7And at that time, Hanani the prophet came to Asa king of Judah and said to him, “Because you relied on the king of Syria and did not rely on the Lord your God, therefore the army of the king of Syria escaped from your hand.
8Were not the Ethiopians and the Lubim a large and courageous army with a great many chariots and horsemen? Yet, because you relied on the Lord, He delivered them into your hand. 9For the eyes of the Lord look over the whole earth and strengthen every heart that is loyal to Him. In this you did foolishly, and from now on you shall have wars.” 10Asa was angry at the prophet and he put him in prison, for because of this he was enraged at him. And at that time Asa oppressed some of the people.

Sickness and Death of Asa

11Now the acts of Asa, first and last, are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. 12In the thirty-ninth year of his reign, Asa became diseased in his feet, and his malady was severe. And in his disease he sought physicians rather than the Lord. 13So Asa rested with his fathers. He died in the thirty-ninth year of his reign. 14They buried him in the tomb he had made for himself in the City of David. And they laid him in a bed filled with spices and various ingredients prepared in a mixture of ointments. They made a very great funeral for him.

2 Chronicles 17

Jehoshaphat Is King of Judah

1Then Jehoshaphat his son reigned in his place and strengthened himself against Israel. 2He placed troops in all the fortified cities of Judah, and set captains in the land of Judah and in the cities of Ephraim which Asa his father had taken. [3]Now the Lord was with Jehoshaphat, because he walked in the former ways of his father David and did not seek idols, [4]but sought the Lord God of his father and walked in His commandments, and not according to the deeds of Israel. [5]Therefore the Lord guided the kingdom by his hand. And all Judah brought gifts to Jehoshaphat, and he had great wealth and honor. [6]His heart took delight in the ways of the Lord. And moreover, he removed the high places and groves from the land of Judah.

[7]And in the third year of his reign, he sent his leaders and the sons of the mighty men, Obadiah, Zechariah, Nethanel, and Michaiah, to teach in the cities of Judah. [8]And with them he sent Levites, Shemaiah, Nethaniah, Zebadiah, Asahel, Shemiramoth, Jehonathan, Adonijah, Tobijah—the Levites. And with them were the priests Elishama and Jehoram. [9]So they taught in Judah, and had the Book of the Law of the Lord with them. They went through the cities of Judah and taught the people.

Jehoshaphat's Strength

[10]And the fear of the Lord fell on all the kingdoms of the lands around Judah, so they did not make war against Jehoshaphat. [11]And some of the foreigners brought Jehoshaphat presents and silver as tribute, and the Arabians brought him flocks—seven thousand seven hundred rams. [12]So Jehoshaphat became increasingly powerful, and he built fortresses and fortified cities in Judah.

[13]He had great works in Judah, and in Jerusalem men of war, mighty men of valor. [14]These are their numbers by their fathers' houses: of Judah, the captains of thousands, Adnah the captain, and with him three hundred thousand mighty men of valor; [15]and with him was Jehohanan the captain, and with him were two hundred eighty thousand; [16]and with him was Amasiah the son of Zichri, who willingly offered himself to the Lord, and with him were two hundred thousand mighty men of valor. [17]From Benjamin came Eliada, a mighty man of valor, and with him were two hundred thousand men armed with bow and shield. [18]And with him was Jehozabad, who brought one hundred eighty thousand prepared for war. [19]These served the king in addition to those the king put in the fortified cities throughout Judah.

2 Chronicles 18

King Ahab Hears Micaiah's Prophecy

[1]Jehoshaphat had great wealth and honor, and he allied himself by marriage with Ahab. [2]After several years, he went down to visit Ahab in Samaria.
Ahab killed many sheep and oxen for him and for the people with him, and he persuaded him to go with him to Ramoth Gilead. [3]So Ahab king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat king of Judah, "Will you go with me against Ramoth Gilead?" And he answered him, "In time of war, I am like you and my people are like your people." [4]And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, "Please inquire of the Lord today."

[5]The king of Israel gathered the prophets—four hundred men—and said to them, "Shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?" And they said, "Go up, for God will deliver this place into the king's hand." [6]But Jehoshaphat said, "Is there not still a prophet of the Lord here, so that we may inquire of Him?" [7]So the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "There is still one man by whom we may inquire of the Lord, but I hate him because he never prophesies good concerning me, but always evil. He is Micaiah the son of Imla." And Jehoshaphat said, "Let not the king say such things!" [8]Then Ahab called a eunuch and said, "Bring quickly Micaiah the son of Imla!"

[9]The king of Israel and Jehoshaphat king of Judah sat on their thrones clothed in their robes. They sat at a threshing floor at the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them. [10]Now Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made iron horns for himself and said, "Thus says the Lord:
'With these you shall gore the Syrians until they are destroyed.' " [11]And all the prophets prophesied in a similar manner, saying, "Go up to Ramoth Gilead and prosper, for the Lord will deliver it into the king's hand."

[12]Then the messenger who went to call Micaiah spoke to him, saying,
"Now listen, the words of the prophets with one accord encourage the king.
Therefore let your word be like the word of one of them and speak encouragement." [13]And Micaiah said, "As the Lord lives, I will say whatever my God tells me." [14]Then he came to the king, and the king said to him, "Micaiah, shall we go to war against Ramoth Gilead, or shall I refrain?" And he said, "Go and prosper, and they shall be delivered into your hand!" [15]So the king said to him, "How many times shall I make you swear not to tell me anything but the truth, in the name of the Lord?" [16]Then he said, "I saw all Israel scattered on the mountains like sheep that have no shepherd; and the Lord said, 'These have no master; let each return to his house in peace.' " [17]And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, "Did I not tell you he does not prophesy good concerning me, but evil?”

18Then Micaiah said, “No, hear the word of the Lord. I saw the Lord sitting on His throne, and all the host of heaven standing at His right and His left.
19And the Lord said, ‘Who will deceive Ahab king of Israel, to go up so he may fall at Ramoth Gilead?’ So one spoke in this manner and another spoke in that manner. 20Then a spirit came forward and stood before the Lord, and said, ‘I will deceive him.’ And the Lord said, ‘In what way?’ 21So he said, ‘I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets.’ And the Lord said, ‘You shall deceive him and prevail. Go out and do so.’

22“Listen therefore! The Lord put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these prophets of yours. The Lord declares disaster against you.” 23Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah approached and slapped Micaiah on the cheek and said, “What sort of spirit of the Lord passed by way of me speaking to you?”
24And Micaiah said, “Indeed you shall see on that day when you go from chamber to chamber to hide yourself.” 25Then the king of Israel said, “Take Micaiah and return him to Amon the governor of the city, and to Joash the chief captain, the son of the king; 26and say, ‘Thus says the king: “Put this fellow in prison. Let him eat the bread of affliction and drink the water of affliction until I return in peace.” ’ ” 27And Micaiah said, “If you ever return in peace, the Lord did not speak by me.” And he said, “Take heed, all you people.”

King Ahab Killed in Battle

28So the king of Israel and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth Gilead. 29And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, “I will disguise myself and go into battle. You put on my robes.” So the king of Israel disguised himself and went into battle.

30Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots by saying, “Fight with no one small or great, but only with the king of Israel.” 31So when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, they said, “It is the king of Israel!” Therefore they surrounded him to attack. But Jehoshaphat cried out, and the Lord saved him, and God diverted them from him. 32For when the captains of the chariots saw that it was not Ahab king of Israel, they turned away from him. 33Now a certain man with good aim drew a bow and struck the king of Israel between the lungs and the breastplate. Ahab said to the driver of his chariot, “Turn around and take me out of the battle, for I am wounded.” 34On that day, the war turned. The king of Israel, away from the Syrians, remained standing in his chariot until evening, and at sunset he died.

2 Chronicles 19

Jehoshaphat Brings Reforms

[1]Then Jehoshaphat the king of Judah returned in peace to his house in Jerusalem. [2]And Jehu, the son of Hanani the prophet, went out to meet him and said to him, “King Jehoshaphat, do you help a sinner or love one who hates the Lord? Therefore, this wrath of the Lord came upon you. [3]Nevertheless, good things are found in you, for you removed the groves from the land of Judah, and did direct your heart to seek the Lord.”

[4]So Jehoshaphat dwelt at Jerusalem and went out again among the people from Beersheba to Mount Ephraim, and brought them back to the Lord God of their fathers. [5]And city by city, he appointed judges in all the fortified cities of Judah, [6]and said to the judges, “Watch what you are doing, because you are not judging for man but for the Lord, and the words of judgment are with you. [7]Now let the fear of the Lord be upon you. Take care and so do it, for there is no wrongdoing with the Lord our God, no partiality nor taking of bribes.”

[8]Moreover in Jerusalem, Jehoshaphat appointed some of the Levites and priests, and some of the chief fathers of Israel, for the judgment of the Lord and to judge those dwelling in Jerusalem. [9]And he commanded them, saying, “Thus you shall act in the fear of the Lord faithfully and with a mature heart. [10]Whatever case comes to you from your brethren that dwell in their cities, whether of bloodshed or offenses against law or commandment, against statutes or ordinances, you shall warn them not to trespass against the Lord, so that wrath may not come upon you and your brethren. Do this, and you will not be guilty of sin. [11]Listen, regarding Amariah the priest, he is head over you in each matter of the Lord. Zebadiah the son of Ishmael is the head over the house of Judah in every matter of the king; and the scribes and the Levites will be before you. Be willing and do the works, for the Lord will be with the good.”

Defeat of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir

[1]After this, the sons of Moab and the sons of Ammon and others from the Meunites came to battle against Jehoshaphat. [2]And some came and told Jehoshaphat, saying, “A great multitude has come against you from beyond the sea, from Syria. They are in Hazazon Tamar” (which is En Gedi). [3]Jehoshaphat was afraid and set himself to seek the Lord, and proclaimed a fast throughout all Judah. [4]So Judah gathered to seek the Lord, and from all the cities of Judah they came to seek the Lord. [5]Then Jehoshaphat stood in the assembly of Judah in Jerusalem, before the new court in the house of the Lord, [6]and said, “Lord God of our fathers, are You not God in heaven, and do You not rule over all the kingdoms of the nations, and in Your hand is there not power and might so that no one is able to withstand You? [7]Are You not the Lord who drove out the inhabitants of this land before Your people Israel and gave it to the seed of Abraham Your friend forever? [8]And in it they settled and built You a sanctuary in it to Your name, saying, [9]‘If disaster comes upon us, whether sword, judgment, death, or famine, we will stand before this house and before You, for Your name is in this house. It cries out to You in our affliction, and You will hear and save.’

[10]“Here are the sons of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir, whom You would not let Israel capture when they came out of the land of Egypt; they turned from them and did not destroy them. [11]Now they are here, attempting to throw us out of the inheritance You gave us. [12]Lord our God, will You not judge them? For we have no power against this great multitude coming against us. We do not know what to do to them, but our eyes are upon You.” [13]Now all Judah stood before the Lord, with their wives and their children.

[14]And the Spirit of the Lord came upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benaiah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, in the midst of the assembly. [15]And he said, “Listen, King Jehoshaphat, all Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem! Thus says the Lord to you: ‘Do not be afraid nor dismayed because of this great multitude, for the battle is not yours but God’s. [16]Go down against them tomorrow. They will surely come up by the Ascent of Ziz, and you will find them at the end of the river before the Desert of Jeruel. [17]You will not need to fight in this battle. Understand that the salvation of the Lord is with you, Judah and Jerusalem!’ Do not fear or be dismayed. Go out against them tomorrow, for the Lord is with you.” [18]And Jehoshaphat bowed with his face to the ground, and all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Lord and worshiped

Him. [19]And the Levites of the sons of Kohath and the sons of Korah stood up to praise the Lord God of Israel with voices loud and high.

[20]So they rose early in the morning and went to the Desert of Tekoa. And as they went out, Jehoshaphat stood and cried out and said, “Hear me, Judah and inhabitants of Jerusalem: trust in the Lord your God, and you shall be established; trust His prophet and you shall prosper.” [21]And he consulted with the people, and appointed singers and those who should confess and praise the beauty of holiness. And they went out before the army and said, “Give thanks to the Lord, for His mercy endures forever.” [22]Now when they began to sing and to give praise, the Lord allowed the sons of Ammon to fight against Moab and Mount Seir, who had come against Judah; and they were defeated. [23]For the sons of Ammon and Moab stood up against the inhabitants of Mount Seir and utterly killed and destroyed them. And when they had killed the inhabitants of Seir, they helped to destroy one another. [24]So when Judah came to a place overlooking the desert, they saw the multitude, and there were all the dead bodies fallen on the earth. No one had escaped. [25]When Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away their spoil, they found a great deal of cattle and baggage and spoils and precious articles, which they stripped off for themselves, and they spent three days gathering the spoil because there was so much. [26]And on the fourth day they assembled in the Valley of Blessing, for there they blessed the Lord. That is why that place has been called the Valley of Blessing until this day. [27]Then every man of Judah returned to Jerusalem with Jehoshaphat in front of them with great joy, for the Lord had made them rejoice over their enemies. [28]So they came to Jerusalem to the house of the Lord with stringed instruments and harps and trumpets. [29]And the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of the land when they heard that the Lord had fought against the enemies of Israel. [30]Then the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet, for his God gave him rest all around.

King Jehoshaphat’s Reign Is Over

[31]So Jehoshaphat was king over Judah. He was thirty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-five years in Jerusalem. His mother’s name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi. [32]And he walked in the ways of his father Asa and did not turn aside from them, doing right in the sight of the Lord. [33]But the high places were not taken away, for the people did not direct their hearts to the God of their fathers. [34]Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, from beginning to end, are written in the book of Jehu the son of Hanani, who wrote them down in the Book of the Kings of Israel.

35 After this Jehoshaphat king of Judah allied himself with Ahaziah the king of Israel, who acted most wickedly. 36 He allied himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish, and they made the ships in Ezion Geber. 37 But Eliezer the son of Dodavah of Mareshah prophesied against Jehoshaphat, saying, “Because you allied yourself with Ahaziah, the Lord will destroy your work, wreck your ships, and Ahaziah will be unable to go to Tarshish.”

2 Chronicles 21

Jehoram Is King of Judah

1 Jehoshaphat rested with his fathers and was buried with his fathers in the City of David. Then Jehoram his son reigned in his place. 2 He had six brothers, Azariah, Jehiel, Zechariah, Azaryahu, Michael, and Shephatiah; all were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Judah. 3 Their father gave them many gifts of silver and gold, together with weapons and fortified cities in Judah; but he gave the kingdom to Jehoram, since he was the firstborn. 4 Now when Jehoram was established over his father’s kingdom, he strengthened himself and killed all his brothers, as well as others of Israel. 5 Jehoram was thirty-two years old when he became king, and ruled for eight years in Jerusalem. 6 He walked in the way of the kings of Israel, as the house of Ahab had done; for Ahab’s daughter was his wife, and he did evil before the Lord. 7 Yet the Lord did not wish to destroy the house of David because of the covenant He had made with David, because He had promised to give a lamp to him and to his sons forever.

8 In those days, the Edomites revolted against Judah and set a king over themselves. 9 So Jehoram went out with his officers and all his cavalry. He rose by night and attacked the Edomites who had surrounded him and the captains of the chariots, and the people fled to their tents. 10 Thus Edom remained in opposition to Judah’s authority to this day. At that time, Libnah revolted against the rule of Jehoram because he had forsaken the Lord God of his fathers. 11 Moreover, he made high places in the cities of Judah and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit harlotry, and led Judah astray.

12 And a letter came to him from Elijah the prophet, saying, “Thus says the Lord God of your father David, because you have not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat your father, or in the ways of Asa the king of Judah, 13 but walked in the way of the kings of Israel; because you caused Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to play the harlot like the harlotry of the house of Ahab; and because you have killed your brothers, those of your father's household who were better than yourself, 14behold, the Lord will strike your people with a great affliction—your sons, your wives, and all your possessions. 15And you will become day by day very sick with a disease of your belly, until your belly comes out because of the sickness."

The End of Jehoram's Reign

16Moreover, the Lord stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of both the foreigners and the neighbors of the Arabs near the Ethiopians. 17And they came up to Judah and invaded it; they carried away all the possessions from the king's house as well as his sons and daughters, so he had no son left except Jehoahaz, the youngest of his sons. 18After all this the Lord struck him in the belly with an incurable disease. 19And in the course of time, at the end of two days, his belly came out with the disease, and he died in severe pain. His people made no funeral for him like the funeral for his fathers. 20He was thirty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for eight years. He departed without praise and he was buried in the City of David, but not in the tombs of the kings.

Ahaziah Is King of Judah

1And in his place, the inhabitants of Jerusalem made Ahaziah, his youngest son, king, for the raiders who came into the camp with the Arabians and the Alimazones killed all the older sons. So Ahaziah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, was made king. 2Ahaziah was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned for one year in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Athaliah, the daughter of Omri. 3He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was his counselor in sinning. 4He did evil in the sight of the Lord, similarly to the house of Ahab, for after the death of his father they were his counselors to his destruction. 5He followed their advice and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel to war against Hazael king of Syria at Ramoth Gilead, whose archers wounded Joram. 6Joram returned to Jezreel to recover from his wounds the Syrians inflicted in Ramah, when he fought against Hazael king of Syria. And Azariah the son of Jehoram, king of Judah, went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab in Jezreel, because he was sick.

[7]His going to Jehoram was God's opportunity for Ahaziah's downfall. For when he arrived, he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the Lord had anointed to cut off the house of Ahab. [8]And when Jehu was executing judgment on the house of Ahab, he found both the princes of Judah, and the sons of Ahaziah's brothers who served Ahaziah, and killed them. [9]Jehu gave orders to search for Ahaziah in Samaria where he was recuperating, and they brought him to Jehu. After they killed him, they buried him, because they said, "He is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the Lord with all his heart." Thus there was no one in the house of Ahaziah to assume power over the kingdom.

Athaliah Is Queen of Judah

[10]Now when Athaliah the mother of Ahaziah saw that her son was dead, she arose and destroyed all the royal heirs of the house of Judah. [11]But Jehoshabeath the king's daughter took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him away from among the king's sons being murdered, and she put him and his nurse in a bedroom. So Jehoshabeath, the daughter of King Jehoram, the wife of Jehoiada the priest—for she was the sister of Ahaziah—hid him from Athaliah, so she did not kill him. [12]He remained hidden with them in the house of God for six years while Athaliah reigned over the land.

2 Chronicles 23

Joash Is King of Judah

[1]In the seventh year, Jehoiada strengthened himself and took the captains of hundreds, Azariah the son of Jeroham, Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, Azariah the son of Obed, Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri with him into the house. [2]They went throughout Judah and gathered the Levites from all the cities of Judah, and the leaders of the families of Israel, and they came to Jerusalem.

[3]Then all the assembly of Judah made a covenant with the king in the house of God. And he showed them the king's son and said to them, "Behold, the king's son shall reign, as the Lord said of the house of David. [4]This is what you shall do: One-third of the priests and the Levites who enter on the Sabbath shall keep watch over the entrance gates. 5One-third shall be at the king's house. And one-third shall be at the Middle Gate. All the people shall be in the courts of the house of the Lord. 6But let no one come into the house of the Lord except the priests and those Levites who serve. They may go in, for they are holy, but all the people shall keep the watch for the Lord. 7And the Levites shall surround the king on all sides, every man with his weapons in his hand, and whoever comes into the house will be put to death. They will be with the king when he comes in and when he goes out."

8So the Levites and all Judah did everything Jehoiada the priest commanded. And each man took his men who were to be on duty on the Sabbath, along with those who were going off duty on the Sabbath, for Jehoiada the priest did not dismiss the divisions. 9And he gave them the swords and shields and weapons which had belonged to King David that were in the house of God. 10Then he stationed all the people, every man with his weapon in his hands, from the right side of the temple to the left side of the temple, and next to the altar and by the temple, and all around the king. 11And they brought out the king's son, put the crown on him, gave him the Testimony, and made him king. Then Jehoiada and his sons made him king and anointed him and said, "Long live the king!"

The Death of Athaliah

12Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and giving thanks and praising the king, she came to the king in the house of the Lord. 13When she looked, there was the king standing by his pillar at the entrance, with the leaders and the trumpeters around the king. All the people of the land were rejoicing and blowing trumpets, along with the singers and their musical instruments, and those who led in praise. So Athaliah tore her clothes and said, "Treason! Treason!" 14Jehoiada the priest went out and commanded the captains of hundreds, who were set over the army, and said to them, "Take her out of the house and slay whoever follows her with the sword." For the priest said, "Do not kill her in the house of the Lord." 15So they seized her, and she went into the king's house by the entrance of the Horse Gate, and there they killed her.

Jehoiada's Reforms

16Then Jehoiada made a covenant between himself, the people, and the king, that they should be the Lord's people. 17And all the people went to the house of Baal and tore it down. They broke its altars and idols in pieces, and killed Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. [18]Also, Jehoiada the priest strengthened the works of the house of the Lord in the hand of the priests and the Levites whom David had assigned in the house of the Lord, to offer the burnt offerings of the Lord as it is written in the Law of Moses, with rejoicing and singing as it was established by David. [19]And the gatekeepers stood at the gates of the house of the Lord so no one unclean should possibly enter. [20]Then he took the leaders of the families, the mighty men, the governors of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought the king into the house of the Lord. Going through the Inner Gate to the king's house, they set the king on the throne of the kingdom. [21]So all the people of the land rejoiced, and the city was quiet, for they had slain Athaliah with the sword.

King Joash Repairs the Temple

[1]Joash was seven years old when he became king, and he reigned for forty years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Zibiah of Beersheba. [2]Joash did what was right in the sight of the Lord for all the days of Jehoiada the priest. [3]And Jehoiada took two wives and begot sons and daughters. [4]After this, Joash set his heart on repairing the house of the Lord.

[5]So he gathered the priests and the Levites and said to them, "Go out to the cities of Judah and gather money from all Israel to repair the house of your God from year to year. See that you do it quickly." However, the Levites did not do it quickly. [6]So the king called Jehoiada the chief priest and said to him, "Why did you not require the Levites to bring in the collection from Judah and Jerusalem, according to the commandment of Moses the man of God when he assembled Israel at the tabernacle of witness?" [7]For Athaliah, a wicked woman, and her sons broke into the house of God and gave all the dedicated things of the house of the Lord to the Baals. [8]Then at the king's command, they made a chest and set it outside at the gate of the house of the Lord. [9]And they made a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem, to bring to the Lord the collection that Moses the servant of God imposed on Israel in the desert.

[10]And all the leaders and all the people gave and brought their contributions. They put them into the chest until it was full. [11]So at that time, when the chest was brought to the king's official by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw there was a lot of money, the king's scribe and the high priest's officer came and emptied the chest and returned it to its place. They did this every day and gathered a great deal of money. [12]The king and Jehoiada gave it to those who did the work of the service of the house of the Lord. They hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the Lord, and iron and bronze workers to restore the house of the Lord. [13]So the workmen labored, and by their hand the amount of work being completed increased. They restored the house of God to its original condition and reinforced it. [14]When they finished, they brought the rest of the money to the king and Jehoiada. With this, they made articles for the house of the Lord, articles for serving in the whole burnt offerings, and censers of gold and silver. And they offered burnt offerings in the house of the Lord without interruption all the days of Jehoiada.

Death of Jehoiada

[15]But Jehoiada grew old and full of days, and he died. He was one hundred thirty years old when he died. [16]They buried him in the City of David with the kings, because he had done good in Israel toward God and His house. [17]Now after the death of Jehoiada, the leaders of Judah came and bowed down to the king. And the king listened to them. [18]And they left the Lord God of their fathers to serve Asherah and the idols. And wrath came on Judah and Jerusalem on that day. [19]But still He sent prophets to them to bring them back to the Lord, but they did not listen. The prophets testified against them, but they would not listen.

[20]Then the Spirit of God came upon Zechariah the son of Jehoiada the priest, who watched over the people, and said to him, "Thus says the Lord: 'Why do you transgress the commandments of the Lord, so that you cannot prosper? Since you forsook the Lord, He shall forsake you.' " [21]So they conspired against Zechariah, and at the command of the king they stoned him with stones in the court of the house of the Lord. [22]Thus Joash the king did not remember the mercy Jehoiada his father had shown him, but killed his son. As he died, he said, "May the Lord see and judge!"

Death of Joash

[23]So after the end of the year, the army of Syria came up against him. They came to Judah and Jerusalem and destroyed all the leaders of the people from among the people, and sent all their spoil to the king of Damascus. [24]For the army of the Syrians came with a small company of men, but the Lord delivered a very great army into their hand, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers. They executed judgment against Joash. [25]When Syria withdrew, they had left him severely wounded. Then his own servants conspired against him, because of the blood of the sons of Jehoiada the priest, and killed him on his bed. He died, and they buried him in the City of David, but they did not bury him in the tombs of the kings. [26]Those who conspired against him were Zabad the son of Shimeath the Ammonite, and Jehozabad the son of Shimrith the Moabite. [27]He had five sons. Everything else that is written about him is in the annals of the Book of the Kings. Amaziah his son reigned in his place.

Amaziah Is King of Judah

[1]Amaziah was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. [2]And he did what was right in the sight of the Lord, but not with a loyal heart. [3]As soon as the kingdom was established for him, he executed his servants who murdered his father the king. [4]However, he did not execute their children, for as it is written in the Law in the Book of Moses where the Lord commands, saying, "The fathers shall not be put to death for their sons, nor shall the sons be put to death for their fathers, but each person shall die for his own sin."

War against Edom

[5]Amaziah gathered the house of Judah then according to their fathers' houses throughout Judah and Jerusalem, and set over them captains of thousands and captains of hundreds. He numbered them from twenty years old and above, and found there were three hundred thousand mighty men who could go to war with spear and shield. [6]And from Israel for one hundred talents of silver he hired one hundred thousand mighty men of valor. [7]But a man of God came to him, saying, "King, the army of Israel will not go with you, for the Lord is not with Israel, nor with any of the sons of Ephraim; [8]and if you try to be strong in battle, the Lord will cast you down before the enemy, for the Lord has power to strengthen and to overthrow." [9]Then Amaziah said to the man of God, "But what shall we do about the hundred talents I gave the army of Israel?" And the man of God answered, "The Lord can give you more than this." [10]So Amaziah discharged the troops that had come to him from Ephraim and sent them back home. Therefore their anger was greatly aroused against Judah, and they returned home in great anger.

[11]And Amaziah strengthened himself and led his people and went to the Valley of Salt, where he killed ten thousand of the sons of Seir. [12]The sons of Judah took ten thousand men captive, brought them to the top of the rock, and cast them down from there. They were all dashed to pieces. [13]As for the sons of the army Amaziah discharged so they would not go to war with him, they raided the cities of Judah from Samaria to Beth Horon and killed three thousand in them, and took a great deal of spoil. [14]After Amaziah came from the slaughter of the Edomites, he brought the gods of the sons of Seir, set them up to be his gods, and bowed down before them and burned incense to them. [15]Therefore the anger of the Lord was aroused against Amaziah, and He sent prophets who said to him, "Why did you seek the gods of the people who could not rescue their own people from your hand?" [16]As he talked with him, the king said to him, "Have we made you the king's counselor? Be careful so that you are not scourged!" Then the prophet ceased, and said, "I know that God determines to destroy you, because you did not heed my advice and you did this thing."

Judah Defeated by Israel

[17]Now Amaziah king of Judah sought advice and sent to Joash the son of Jehoahaz, the son of Jehu the king of Israel, saying, "Come, let us face one another in battle." [18]And Joash king of Israel sent to Amaziah king of Judah, saying, "The thistle in Lebanon sent to the cedar in Lebanon, saying, 'Give your daughter to my son as wife,' and the beasts of the field will come in Lebanon, and the beasts came and trampled the thistle. [19]Indeed, you say you defeated the Edomites, and your heart is lifted up to boast. Stay at home now. Why should you meddle with trouble and fall, you and Judah with you?"

[20]But Amaziah did not listen, as it came from God for him to be given into the hands of his enemies, since he sought the gods of Edom. [21]So Joash king of Israel went out, and he and Amaziah king of Judah faced one another at Beth Shemesh, which belongs to Judah. [22]And Judah was defeated by Israel, and every man fled to his tent. [23]Then Joash the king of Israel captured

Amaziah king of Judah, the son of Joash, at Beth Shemesh. And Joash brought him to Jerusalem and broke down the walls of Jerusalem from the Gate of Ephraim to the Corner Gate—four hundred cubits. 24And he took all the gold and silver, all the articles that were found in the house of the Lord with Obed-Edom, the treasures of the king's house, and the sons of mixed marriages, and returned to Samaria.

25Amaziah the son of Joash king of Judah lived for fifteen years after the death of Joash the son of Jehoahaz king of Israel. 26Now the rest of the acts of Amaziah, from first to last, are they not written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel? 27When Amaziah turned from the Lord, they made a conspiracy against him in Jerusalem, and he fled to Lachish. But they went after him to Lachish and killed him there. 28Then they brought him on horses and buried him with his fathers in the City of David.

2 Chronicles 26

Uzziah Is King of Judah

1Now all the people of the land took Uzziah, who was sixteen years old, and made him king instead of his father Amaziah. 2He built Elath and restored it to Judah after the king rested with his fathers. 3Uzziah was sixteen years old when he became king, and he reigned for fifty-two years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jecholiah of Jerusalem. 4And he did what was right in the sight of the Lord, according to everything his father Amaziah had done. 5He sought the Lord in the days of Zechariah, who was wise in the fear of the Lord. And as long as he sought the Lord, the Lord made him prosper.

6Now he went out and made war against the Philistines and broke down the walls of Gath, the wall of Jabneh, and the wall of Ashdod. And he built cities around Ashdod and among the Philistines. 7God strengthened him against the foreigners, against the Arabs who lived in the rock, and against the Meunites. 8And the Meunites brought tribute to Uzziah. His fame spread as far as the entrance of Egypt, for he became exceedingly strong. 9And Uzziah built towers in Jerusalem at the Corner Gate, at the Valley Gate, and at the corner buttress of the wall, and he fortified them. 10He also built towers in the desert. He dug many wells, for he had a great deal of livestock, both in the lowlands and in the plains. He had vine-dressers in the mountains and in Carmel, for he loved the soil.

[11]Moreover Uzziah had an army of fighting men who went out to war by companies, according to the number on their roll as prepared by Jeiel the scribe and Maaseiah the officer, under the hand of Hananiah, one of the king's captains. [12]The total number of chief officers of the mighty men of valor was two thousand six hundred. [13]And the power of an expert military force, equal to three hundred seven thousand five hundred, was with them to help the king against the enemy. [14]And for each of them in the army, Uzziah prepared shields, spears, helmets, body armor, bows, and slings for stones. [15]And in Jerusalem, he built devices invented by skilled men for the launching of javelins and large stones, and placed them on the towers and corners of the devices. And the fame of his preparing for war was heard far and wide, for he was helped marvelously till he became strong.

The Pride and Downfall of Uzziah

[16]But when he was strong, his heart was lifted up to his destruction; for he transgressed against the Lord his God by entering the temple of the Lord to burn incense on the incense altar. [17]So Azariah the priest went in after him, and with him were eighty valiant priests of the Lord. [18]And they challenged King Uzziah and said to him, "It is not for you, Uzziah, to burn incense to the Lord, but for the priests, the sons of Aaron, who are consecrated to burn incense. Leave the sanctuary, for you have rebelled against the Lord! You shall have no honor from the Lord God."

[19]Then Uzziah became furious with the priests while holding a censer in his hand to burn incense. And while he had a censer in his hand to burn incense, leprosy broke out on his forehead before the priests in the house of the Lord, next to the incense altar. [20]And Azariah the chief priest and all the priests looked on, for he was leprous on his forehead. So they thrust him out of the place. And indeed he hurried, because the Lord reproached him.

[21]King Uzziah was a leper until the day of his death, and because he was a leper he dwelt in an isolated house and was excluded from the house of the Lord. Then Jotham his son was over the king's house, judging the people of the land. [22]Now the rest of the acts of Uzziah, from first to last, are written by the prophet Isaiah. [23]So Uzziah rested with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of burial that belonged to the kings, for they said, "He is a leper." Then Jotham his son reigned in his place.

Jotham Is King of Judah

[1]Jotham was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Jerushah the daughter of Zadok. [2]He did what was right in the sight of the Lord according to everything his father Uzziah had done, although he did not enter the temple of the Lord. But still the people acted corruptly. [3]He built the Upper Gate of the house of the Lord, and he built extensively on the wall of Ophel.
[4]Moreover, he built cities in the mountains of Judah, and he built fortresses and towers in the forests. [5]He also did battle with the king of the sons of Ammon and defeated them. And the sons of Ammon gave him one hundred talents of silver, ten thousand kors of wheat, and ten thousand of barley every year. The king of Ammon brought this to him in the first year and the second year and the third year.

[6]So Jotham became mighty, for he directed his ways before the Lord his God. [7]Now the rest of the acts of Jotham and all his wars and his deeds are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah. [8]And Jotham rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the City of David. Ahaz his son, reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 28

Ahaz Is King of Judah

[1]Ahaz was twenty years old when he became king, and he reigned for sixteen years in Jerusalem. He did not do right in the sight of the Lord as his father David had done. [2]For he walked in the ways of the kings of Israel and made molded images for their idols. [3]He burned incense in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom and burned his children in the fire, according to the abominations of the nations whom the Lord had destroyed before the sons of Israel. [4]He burned incense on the high places, on the housetops, and under every green tree.

Judah Defeated by Syria and Israel

[5]Therefore the Lord his God delivered Ahaz into the hand of the king of Syria. They defeated him and carried away a great multitude of them as captives, and brought them to Damascus. He then was delivered into the hand of the king of Israel, who defeated him with a great slaughter. 6For Pekah the son of Remaliah, the king of Israel, killed one hundred twenty thousand mighty men in Judah in one day, because they had forsaken the Lord God of their fathers. 7Zichri, a mighty man of Ephraim, killed Maaseiah the king's son, Azrikam the officer over the house, and Elkanah, who was second to the king. 8And the sons of Israel carried away captive three hundred thousand of their brethren—their wives, the sons, and their daughters—and they took away a great deal of spoil from them and brought the spoil to Samaria.

Israel Releases Her Captives

9But a prophet of the Lord was there whose name was Oded, and he went out before the army that came to Samaria and said to them, "Look, the wrath of the Lord God of your fathers is on Judah. He has delivered them into your hand, but you killed them in a rage that reaches up to heaven. 10And now do you propose to force the sons of Judah and Jerusalem to be your male and female servants? Will I not bear witness about you before the Lord your God? 11Therefore, now hear me and return the captives you took from your brethren, for the fierce wrath of the Lord is upon you."

12Then some of the leaders of the sons of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against those who came from the war 13and said to them, "You shall not bring the captives here to us, for we have already offended the Lord. You intend to add to our sins and to our guilt, for our guilt is great and there is fierce wrath against Israel." 14So the armed men left the captives and the spoil before the leaders and all the assembly. 15And the men who were designated by name rose up and took the captives. From the spoil they clothed all who were naked among them, dressed them and gave them sandals, gave them food and drink, and anointed them. They let all the feeble ones ride on donkeys. So they brought them to their brethren at Jericho, the city of palm trees. Then they returned to Samaria.

Assyria Will Not Help Judah

16At that time King Ahaz sent to the kings of Assyria to help him. 17For again the Edomites had come and attacked Judah and carried away captives. 18The foreigners had also invaded the cities of the lowland and the South of Judah and had taken Beth Shemesh, Aijalon, Gederoth, Sochoh with its villages, Timnah with its villages, and Gimzo with its villages, and settled there. [19]For the Lord brought Judah low because of Ahaz king of Judah, for he had rebelled against the Lord. [20]Also Tiglath-Pileser, king of Assyria, came to him and struck him. [21]For Ahaz took what was in the house of the Lord and the house of the king and the leaders, and gave it to the king of Assyria, and he did not help him.

Sins and Death of Ahaz

[22]Now in the time of his distress, King Ahaz became increasingly unfaithful to the Lord. And the king said, [23]"I shall seek the gods of Damascus, who defeated me." And he said, "Because the gods of the king of Syria help them, I will sacrifice to them and they will help me." But they were the ruin of him and of all Israel.

[24]So Ahaz gathered the articles of the house of God, cut the articles of the house of God in pieces, shut the doors of the house of the Lord, and made altars for himself in every corner of Jerusalem. [25]And in every single city of Judah he made high places to burn incense to foreign gods, and provoked the Lord God of his fathers to anger. [26]Now the rest of his acts and all his deeds, from first to last, indeed they are written in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. [27]So Ahaz rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, in Jerusalem. But they did not place him in the tombs of the kings of Israel. Then Hezekiah his son reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 29

Hezekiah Is King of Judah

[1]Hezekiah became king when he was twenty-five years old, and he reigned for twenty-nine years in Jerusalem. His mother's name was Abijah the daughter of Zechariah. [2]And he did what was right in the sight of the Lord, according to everything his father David had done.

Cleansing the Temple

[3]In the first year of his reign, in the first month, he opened the doors of the house of the Lord and repaired them. [4]Then he brought in the priests and the Levites and gathered them in the East Square, [5]and said to them, "Hear me, Levites! Now sanctify yourselves, sanctify the house of the Lord God of your fathers, and cast out the uncleanness from the holy place; [6]for our fathers trespassed and did evil in the eyes of the Lord our God. They forsook Him, they turned their faces away from the dwelling place of the Lord and turned their backs on Him. [7]They also shut up the doors of the temple, put out the lamps, and did not burn incense or offer burnt offerings in the holy place to the God of Israel. [8]Therefore the Lord turned His anger against Judah and Jerusalem, and as you see with your eyes, He gave them up to terror, to desolation, and to jeering. [9]For indeed, because of this our fathers fell by the sword, and our wives, our sons, and our daughters are in captivity. [10]Now it is in my heart to make a covenant with the Lord God of Israel, to turn the fierce wrath of His anger from us. [11]Now do not be negligent, for the Lord chose you to stand before Him and serve Him, to minister to Him and burn incense."

[12]Then these Levites arose: the sons of Kohath, Mahath the son of Amasai and Joel the son of Azariah; of the sons of Merari, Kish the son of Abdi and Azariah the son of Jehallelel; of the Gershonites, Joah the son of Zimmah and Eden the son of Joah; [13]of the sons of Elizaphan, Shimri and Jeiel; of the sons of Asaph, Zechariah and Mattaniah; [14]of the sons of Heman, Jehiel and Shimei; and of the sons of Jeduthun, Shemaiah and Uzziel.

[15]And they gathered their brethren and sanctified themselves according to the commandment of the king, at the words of the Lord, to cleanse the house of the Lord. [16]Then the priests went into the house of the Lord to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness they found in the temple of the Lord and in the court of the house of the Lord. And the Levites took it out and carried it to the Brook Kidron. [17]They began to sanctify it on the first day of the first month, and on the eighth day of the month they came to the vestibule of the Lord. They sanctified the house of the Lord in eight days and finished on the sixteenth day of the first month.

[18]And they went in to King Hezekiah and said, "We have cleansed everything in the house of the Lord, the altar of burnt offerings with all its articles, and the table of the showbread with all its articles. [19]Moreover, we have prepared and sanctified all the articles King Ahaz polluted in his reign and his apostasy. We have prepared and sanctified them all, and there they are before the altar of the Lord."

Worship Is Restored

[20]Then King Hezekiah rose early, gathered the rulers of the city, and went up to the house of the Lord. [21]He offered seven calves, seven rams, seven lambs, and seven male goats for a sin offering for the kingdom, for the sanctuary, and for Judah. Then he commanded the priests, the sons of Aaron, to offer them on the altar of the Lord. [22]So they sacrificed the calves, and the priests received the blood and sprinkled it on the altar. Likewise they sacrificed the rams and sprinkled the blood on the altar. They also killed the lambs and sprinkled the blood on the altar. [23]Then they brought out the male goats for the sin offering before the king and the assembly, and they laid their hands on them. [24]And the priests sacrificed them. They presented their blood on the altar as a sin offering to make an atonement for all Israel, for the king commanded that the burnt offering and the sin offering be made for all Israel.

[25]And he stationed the Levites in the house of the Lord with cymbals, with stringed instruments, and with harps, according to the commandment of David and Gad the king's seer and Nathan the prophet; for this was the commandment of the Lord by his prophets. [26]The Levites stood with the instruments of David, and the priests with the trumpets. [27]Then Hezekiah commanded them to offer the burnt offering on the altar. And when the burnt offering began, they started to sing to the Lord with the trumpets and with the instruments of David king of Israel. [28]So all the assembly worshiped. The singers sang and the trumpeters sounded until the burnt offering was finished. [29]And when they had finished offering, the king and all who were present with him bowed. [30]And King Hezekiah and the leaders commanded the Levites to sing praise to the Lord with the words of David and of Asaph the prophet. So they sang praises with gladness, and bowed their heads and worshiped.

[31]Then Hezekiah spoke up and said, "Now that you have cleansed your hands for the Lord, come near and bring sacrifices and thank offerings into the house of the Lord." So the assembly brought sacrifices and thank offerings, and all who were of a willing heart brought burnt offerings. [32]And the number of the burnt offerings the assembly brought was seventy calves, one hundred rams, and two hundred lambs. All these were for a burnt offering to the Lord. [33]And there were six hundred consecrated calves and three thousand sheep. [34]But there were not enough priests, so they could not skin all the burnt offerings. Therefore their brethren the Levites helped them until the task was finished and until the other priests had sanctified themselves, for the Levites were more diligent in sanctifying themselves than the priests. [35]There were many burnt offerings, with the fat of the peace offerings and with the drink offerings for every burnt offering. So the service of the house of the Lord was set in order. [36]Then Hezekiah and all the people rejoiced that God had prepared the people, since the events took place so suddenly.

2 Chronicles 30

Hezekiah Celebrates the Passover

[1]Hezekiah sent word to all Israel and Judah and wrote letters to Ephraim and Manasseh, telling them to come to the house of the Lord at Jerusalem and keep the Passover to the Lord God of Israel. [2]For the king and his leaders and all the assembly in Jerusalem had agreed to keep the Passover in the second month. [3]For they could not keep it at the regular time, because a sufficient number of priests had not consecrated themselves and the people had not gathered in Jerusalem. [4]And the matter pleased the king and the assembly. [5]So they resolved to make a proclamation throughout all Israel from Beersheba to Dan that they should come to keep the Passover to the Lord God of Israel at Jerusalem, since they had not done it in the prescribed manner for a long time.

[6]Then the runners went throughout all Israel and Judah with the letters from the king and his leaders, and spoke according to the command of the king, “Sons of Israel, return to the Lord God of Abraham, Isaac, and Israel. Then He will return to the remnant of you who escaped from the hand of the king of Assyria. [7]Do not be like your fathers and your brethren who rebelled against the Lord God of their fathers; so He gave them up to desolation as you see. [8]Do not be stiff-necked as your fathers were. Give glory to the Lord God and enter His sanctuary, which He sanctified forever. Serve the Lord your God, so that He turns the fierceness of His wrath away from you. [9]For if you return to the Lord, your brethren and your children will be treated with compassion by those who led them captive, so they may come back to this land. For the Lord your God is gracious and merciful, and He will not turn His face from us if we return to Him.”

[10]So the runners passed from city to city, through Mount Ephraim and Manasseh, and as far as Zebulun. But the people laughed at them and mocked them. [11]Nevertheless some from Asher, Manasseh, and Zebulun were ashamed and came to Jerusalem. [12]At the word of the Lord, the hand of God was on Judah to give them singleness of heart to obey the command of the king and the leaders.

13 Now many people, a very great assembly, gathered at Jerusalem to keep the Feast of Unleavened Bread in the second month. 14 They arose and took away the altars in Jerusalem. And they took away all the altars on which they burned incense to the false gods and cast them into the Brook Kidron. 15 Then they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the fourteenth day of the second month. The priests and the Levites were ashamed and sanctified themselves, and they brought the burnt offerings to the house of the Lord. 16 They stood in their place according to their custom, according to the Law of Moses, the man of God. The priests received the blood from the hand of the Levites.
17 For there were many in the assembly who had not sanctified themselves.
Therefore the Levites had charge of the slaughter of the Passover lambs for all those who were not able to sanctify themselves to the Lord. 18 Most of the people from Ephraim, Manasseh, Issachar, and Zebulun had not cleansed themselves, but they ate the Passover contrary to what was written.

But Hezekiah prayed for them, saying, “May the good Lord provide atonement for everyone 19 who prepares his heart to seek God, the Lord God of his fathers, even though he is not cleansed according to the purification of the sanctuary.” 20 And the Lord listened to Hezekiah and healed the people.
21 So the sons of Israel who were present at Jerusalem kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days with great gladness. And the Levites and the priests praised the Lord every day, singing to the Lord with instruments.

22 And Hezekiah encouraged all the Levites who knew the good knowledge of the Lord. And they completed the feast in seven days, offering peace offerings and making confession to the Lord God of their fathers. 23 And the whole assembly agreed to keep the feast for another seven days, and so they kept it another seven days with great joy. 24 For King Hezekiah began the sacrifice for the assembly of Judah with a thousand calves and seven thousand sheep. And the leaders began the sacrifice for the assembly with a thousand calves and ten thousand sheep, and there was an abundance of holy things for the priests.

25 The whole assembly rejoiced along with the priests and Levites, all the assembly of Judah and those who came from Israel, the sojourners who came from the land of Israel, and those who dwelt in Judah. 26 So there was great joy in Jerusalem, for since the time of Solomon the son of David king of Israel there had been no feast like this in Jerusalem. 27 Then the priests, the Levites, arose and blessed the people, and their voice was heard. And their prayer came up to His holy dwelling place in heaven.

2 Chronicles 31

Priests and People Are Renewed

[1]Now when all was completed, all Israel who were present went out to the cities of Judah and broke the sacred pillars in pieces, cut down the groves, and cast down the high places and the altars—from all Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh—until they utterly destroyed them all. Then all the sons of Israel returned to their own possessions and their own cities.

[2]And Hezekiah appointed the divisions of the priests and the Levites according to their divisions, each man according to his service: the priests and Levites for burnt offerings and peace offerings, to praise, to give thanks, and to serve in the gates and the courts of the house of the Lord. [3]The king also appointed a portion of his possessions for the burnt offerings, for the morning and evening burnt offerings, the burnt offerings for the Sabbaths and the New Moons, and the feasts prescribed in the Law of the Lord.

[4]Moreover, he commanded the people who dwelt in Jerusalem to contribute a portion for the priests and the Levites so that they might devote themselves to the service of the house of the Lord. [5]As soon as the commandment was circulated, the sons of Israel brought in abundance the firstfruits of grain and wine, olive oil and honey, and of all the produce of the field. And they brought in abundantly the tithe of everything. [6]And the sons of Israel and Judah who dwelt in the cities of Judah brought the tithe of calves and sheep and the tithe of goats and consecrated them to the Lord their God, and they brought in offerings and laid them in heaps. [7]In the third month the heaps began to accumulate, and in the seventh month they were finished. [8]And when Hezekiah and the leaders came and saw the heaps, they blessed the Lord and His people Israel. [9]Then Hezekiah questioned the priests and the Levites about the heaps. [10]And Azariah, the chief priest from the house of Zadok, answered him and said, “Since the people began to bring the offerings into the house of the Lord, we have had enough to eat and drink and have plenty left, for the Lord blessed His people. What is left is this great abundance.”

[11]Now Hezekiah commanded them to prepare rooms in the house of the Lord, and they prepared them. [12]Then they faithfully brought in the offerings and tithes. Cononiah the Levite had charge of them, and Shimei his brother was his helper. [13]Jehiel, Azaziah, Nahath, Asahel, Jerimoth, Jozabad, Eliel, Ismachiah, Mahath, and Benaiah were overseers under the hand of Cononiah and Shimei his brother, at the commandment of Hezekiah the king and Azariah the ruler of the house of God. [14]Kore, the son of Imnah the Levite, the keeper of the East Gate, was over the freewill offerings to God, to distribute the offerings of the Lord and the most holy things. [15]Under him were Eden, Miniamin, Jeshua, Shemaiah, Amariah, and Shecaniah, his faithful assistants among the priests, to distribute to their brethren by divisions, great and small. [16]Apart from those, males from three years old and up were listed in the book of days, for daily service by division. [17]This was the register of the priests by their father's house, and the Levites from twenty years old and up according to their daily duties by divisions; [18]and in the register of all their sons and daughters, their whole company, for in their faithfulness they sanctified the holy place. [19]Also for the sons of Aaron the priests, who were from their cities and in every single city, there were men designated by name to distribute portions to all the males among the priests and to all who were listed by genealogies among the Levites.

[20]Thus Hezekiah did throughout all Judah, and he did what was good and right before the Lord his God. [21]And in every task he undertook in the service of the house of God, he sought his God in the law and in the commandment with all his heart. So he prospered.

2 Chronicles 32

Assyria Invades Judah

[1]After these things and this faithfulness, Sennacherib king of Assyria came to Judah and encamped against the fortified cities, thinking to capture them. [2]And when Hezekiah saw that Sennacherib came, and that his purpose was to make war against Jerusalem, [3]he consulted with his leaders and commanders to stop the water from the springs outside the city, and they helped him. [4]And he gathered many people, and they stopped the waters of the springs and the river that ran through the city, saying, "Let not the king of Assyria come and find a lot of water and prevail." [5]And Hezekiah strengthened himself and built up all the wall that was broken, raised it up to the towers, and built another wall outside. He also repaired the fortress of the City of David and made many weapons. [6]Then he set military captains over the people, gathered them to him in the open square of the Valley Gate, and encouraged them, saying, [7]"Be strong and courageous. Do not be afraid of the king of Assyria, nor before all the nation with him, for there are more with us than with him. [8]With him are arms of flesh, but with us is the Lord our God, to save us and to fight our battles." And the people were strengthened by the words of Hezekiah king of Judah.

[9]Sennacherib king of Assyria sent his servants to Jerusalem, while he and all the forces with him laid siege against Lachish, to Hezekiah king of Judah and to all Judah who were in Jerusalem, saying, [10]"Thus says Sennacherib king of Assyria: 'In what do you trust, that you continue under siege in Jerusalem? [11]Does not Hezekiah deceive you to give yourselves over to die by famine and by thirst, saying, "The Lord our God will deliver us from the hand of the king of Assyria"? [12]Did not the same Hezekiah take away the altars and the high places and command Judah and Jerusalem, saying, "You shall worship before one altar and burn incense on it"? [13]Do you not know what my fathers and I did to all the peoples of other lands? Were the gods of the nations of those lands able to deliver their lands from my hand? [14]Who among all the gods of those nations my fathers utterly destroyed could deliver his people from my hand, that your God will be able to deliver you from my hand? [15]Now therefore, do not let Hezekiah deceive you or persuade you like this. Do not believe him. For no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people from my hand or the hand of my fathers. How much less will your God deliver you from my hand?' "

[16]Furthermore, Sennacherib's servants spoke against the Lord God and His servant Hezekiah. [17]He also wrote a letter to revile the Lord God of Israel and spoke against Him, saying, "As the gods of the nations of other lands did not deliver their people from my hand, so the God of Hezekiah will not deliver His people from my hand." [18]And they called out with a loud voice in Hebrew to the people of Jerusalem on the wall, to frighten them and trouble them so that they might take the city. [19]And they spoke against the God of Jerusalem, as against the gods of the people of the earth, the work of men's hands.

Assyria's Defeat

[20]And King Hezekiah and the prophet Isaiah, the son of Amoz, prayed about this and cried out to heaven. [21]And the Lord sent an angel, who cut down every mighty man of valor and leader and captain in the camp of the king of Assyria. So he returned shamefaced to his land. And he went into the temple of his god, where some of his own offspring struck him down with the sword. [22]Thus the Lord saved Hezekiah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem from the hand of Sennacherib the king of Assyria and from the hand of all others. He gave them rest on every side. [23]And many brought gifts to the Lord in Jerusalem and presents to Hezekiah king of Judah, so afterwards he was exalted in the sight of all nations.

Hezekiah Humbled and Honored at His Death

[24]In those days Hezekiah was sick and near death, and he prayed to the Lord, and the Lord heard him and gave him a sign. [25]But Hezekiah did not repay the favor shown him, but exalted his own heart, and His anger came upon him, and upon Judah and Jerusalem. [26]Hezekiah was humbled because of his exalted heart, he and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, but the wrath of the Lord did not come upon them in the days of Hezekiah.

[27]Hezekiah had very great riches and honor. And he made himself treasuries for silver, for gold, for precious stones, for spices, for shields, and for all kinds of desirable items, [28]and cities for the harvest of grain, olive oil, and wine, and stalls for all kinds of livestock, and folds for flocks. [29]And he built cities for himself, and he possessed flocks and herds in abundance, for God had given him a great deal of property. [30]This same Hezekiah also stopped the water outlet of Upper Gihon and brought the water by a tunnel to the west side of the City of David. Hezekiah prospered in all his works. [31]However, regarding the ambassadors of the princes of Babylon, whom Babylon sent to him to inquire about the wonder done in the land, God withdrew from Hezekiah in order to test him and know what was in his heart.

[32]Now the rest of the acts of Hezekiah and his mercy, indeed they are written in the prophecy of Isaiah the prophet the son of Amoz and in the Book of the Kings of Judah and Israel. [33]So Hezekiah rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the upper tombs of the sons of David. And all Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem honored him at his death. Then Manasseh his son reigned in his place.

2 Chronicles 33

Manasseh Is King of Judah

[1]Manasseh was twelve years old when he became king, and he reigned for fifty-five years in Jerusalem. [2]But he did what was evil in the sight of the Lord, according to the abominations of the Gentiles whom the Lord destroyed before the sons of Israel, [3]for he turned and rebuilt the high places that Hezekiah his father had broken down. He raised up pillars for the Baals and made groves and worshiped all the host of heaven and served them. [4]He also built altars in the house of the Lord, where the Lord had said, “In Jerusalem shall My name be forever.” [5]And he built altars for all the host of heaven in the two courts of the house of the Lord. [6]Also he caused his sons to pass through the fire in the Valley of the Son of Hinnom. He practiced soothsaying and bird-augury and sorcery, and consulted mediums and divining spirits. He did much evil in the sight of the Lord and provoked Him to anger. [7]He even set a carved image and a cast image, idols he had made, in the house of God, where God had said to David and to Solomon his son, “In this house and in Jerusalem, which I chose out of all the tribes of Israel, I will put My name forever, [8]and I will not again remove the foot of Israel from the land I gave your fathers; provided they are careful to do all I have commanded them, according to the whole law and the statutes and the ordinances by the hand of Moses.” [9]So Manasseh led Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem astray to do more evil than the nations the Lord had destroyed before the sons of Israel.

Manasseh’s Repentance

[10]And the Lord spoke to Manasseh and his people, but they would not listen. [11]Therefore the Lord brought against them the captains of the army of the king of Assyria, who took Manasseh with bonds, bound him with fetters, and carried him to Babylon. [12]Now when he was in affliction, he sought the face of the Lord his God and humbled himself greatly before the God of his fathers, [13]and prayed to Him. And the Lord received his entreaty, heard his cry, and brought him back to Jerusalem into his kingdom. Then Manasseh knew that the Lord was God.

[14]After this, he built a wall outside the City of David on the west side of Gihon, in the valley, as far as the gate. It enclosed Ophel, and he raised it to a very great height. Then he put military captains in all the fortified cities of Judah. [15]He took away the foreign gods and the carved idols from the house of the Lord, and destroyed all the altars he had built in the mount of the house of the Lord and in Jerusalem outside the city. [16]He also repaired the altar of the Lord and sacrificed peace offerings and thank offerings on it. He commanded Judah to serve the Lord God of Israel. [17]Nevertheless, the people still sacrificed on the high places, but only to the Lord their God.

Manasseh's Death

[18]The rest of the acts of Manasseh and his prayer to his God, and the words of the seers who spoke to him in the name of the Lord God of Israel—indeed of the word [19]of his prayer and how God heard and responded to him, to all his sins and rebellions, and to the sites where he built high places and established groves and carved images, before he returned—indeed this is written among the sayings of the seers. [20]So Manasseh rested with his fathers, and they buried him in the garden of his house. Then his son Amon reigned in his place.

Amon Is King of Judah

[21]Amon was twenty-two years old when he became king, and he reigned for two years in Jerusalem. [22]But he did evil in the sight of the Lord, as his father Manasseh had done, for Amon sacrificed to all the idols his father Manasseh had made and served them. [23]And he did not humble himself before the Lord as his father Manasseh had humbled himself, but Amon trespassed more and more.

[24]Then his servants conspired against him and killed him in his house. [25]But the people of the land executed all those who had conspired against King Amon. Then the people of the land made his son Josiah king in his place.

2 Chronicles 34

Josiah Is King of Judah

[1]Josiah was eight years old when he became king, and he reigned for thirty-one years in Jerusalem. [2]And he did what was right before the Lord and walked in the ways of his father David. He did not turn aside to the right hand or the left.

Josiah Purges False Worship

[3]For in the eighth year of his reign, while he was still young, he began to seek the God of his father David. And in the twelfth year of his reign, he began to purge Judah and Jerusalem of the high places, the wooden images, the groves, and the molded images. [4]They broke down the altars of the Baals in his presence and the high places above them, and Josiah cut down the groves and the carved images and the molded images and crushed them to dust, and scattered it on the graves of those who had sacrificed to them. [5]He burned the bones of the priests on their altars, and cleansed Judah and Jerusalem [6]and the cities of Ephraim and Manasseh and Simeon, as far as Naphtali and all the surrounding areas. [7]When he had broken down the groves and the altars and the idols, beaten the carved images into powder, and cut down all the high places throughout the land of Israel, he returned to Jerusalem.

Repair of the Temple

[8]In the eighteenth year of his reign, after he cleansed the land and the temple, he sent Shaphan the son of Azaliah, and Maaseiah the governor of the city, and Joah the son of Joahaz his recorder to repair the house of the Lord his God. [9]When they came to Hilkiah the high priest, they delivered the money that was brought into the house of God which the Levites who kept the doors had gathered from the hand of Manasseh and Ephraim, from all the remnant of Israel, from all Judah and Benjamin and these who dwelt in Jerusalem. [10]Then they put it in the hand of the foremen who had the oversight of the house of the Lord, and they gave it to the workmen who worked in the house of the Lord to repair and restore the house. [11]They gave it to the carpenters and builders to buy hewn stone and timber for beams to roof the houses the kings of Judah had destroyed. [12]And the men were faithful in the work. Their overseers were Jahath and Obadiah the Levites, of the sons of Merari, and Zechariah and Meshullam, of the sons of Kohath, who supervised; and all the Levites who were skillful with musical instruments; [13]and overseers were over the burden-bearers and those who did work in any kind of service; and some of the Levites were scribes, officers, and gatekeepers.

The Book of the Law Is Found

[14]Now when they brought out the money that was brought into the house of the Lord, Hilkiah the priest found the Book of the Law of the Lord given by Moses. 15Then Hilkiah spoke up and said to Shaphan the scribe, “I found the Book of the Law in the house of the Lord.” And Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan. 16So Shaphan carried the book to the king and brought the king’s word, saying, “All the money given is in the hands of your servants who are doing the work; 17and they cast the silver found in the house of the Lord, and delivered it into the hand of the overseers and the workmen.” 18Then Shaphan the scribe told the king, saying, “Hilkiah the priest gave me a book.” And Shaphan read it before the king.

19Thus when the king heard the words of the Law, he tore his clothes. 20Then the king commanded Hilkiah, and Ahikam the son of Shaphan, and Abdon the son of Micah, Shaphan the scribe, and Asaiah the servant of the king, saying, 21“Concerning the words of the book that was found, go inquire of the Lord for me from those who are left in Israel and Judah. For the wrath of the Lord is burning greatly against us, for our fathers did not obey the word of the Lord nor do everything written in this book.” 22So Hilkiah and those the king had appointed went to Huldah the prophetess, the wife of Shallum, the son of Tokhath, the son of Hasrah, keeper of the wardrobe. She dwelt in Jerusalem in the Second Quarter. And they told her this.

23And she told them, “Thus says the Lord God of Israel, ‘Tell the man who sent you to Me, 24“Thus says the Lord: ‘Behold, I will bring calamity on this place—all the words written in the book they read before the king of Judah, 25for they forsook Me and burned incense to other gods. They provoked Me to anger with all the works of their hands. Therefore My wrath burns in this place and it will not be quenched.’ ” ’ 26But as for the king of Judah who sent you to inquire of the Lord—this is what you shall say to him: ‘Thus says the Lord God of Israel: “Concerning the words you have heard, 27because your heart was turned and you humbled yourself before My face when you heard My words against this place and against its inhabitants, and you humbled yourself before Me, and tore your clothes and wept before Me, I have heard you,” says the Lord. 28“Surely I will gather you to your fathers, and you shall be placed in your grave in peace. Your eyes shall not see the calamity I will bring on this place and its inhabitants.” ’ ” So they brought back word to the king.

Josiah Restores True Worship

29Then the king sent and gathered the elders of Judah and Jerusalem. 30The king went up to the house of the Lord with all the men of Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem—the priests and the Levites and all the people, great and small. And he read for their hearing all the words of the Book of the Covenant that was found in the house of the Lord. 31And the king stood by his pillar and made a covenant before the Lord that he would follow the Lord and keep His commandments, His testimonies, and His statutes with all his heart and all his soul, and perform the words of the covenant written in this book. 32And he required it of all who were present in Jerusalem and Benjamin. And the inhabitants of Jerusalem made a covenant in the house of the Lord God of their fathers. 33Thus Josiah removed all the abominations from all the land that belonged to the sons of Israel, and made all present in Jerusalem and Israel diligently serve the Lord their God for all their days. They did not depart from following the Lord God of their fathers.

2 Chronicles 35

Josiah Keeps Passover

1Now Josiah kept a Passover to the Lord his God in Jerusalem, and they slaughtered the Passover lambs on the fourteenth day of the first month. 2He established the priests in their duties and encouraged them for the service of the house of the Lord. 3Then he said to the Levites who had power in all Israel, to sanctify themselves for the Lord. And they put the holy ark in the house built by Solomon the son of David, king of Israel. And the king said, “It shall no longer be a burden on your shoulders. Now serve the Lord your God and His people Israel. 4Prepare yourselves according to your fathers’ houses, by your divisions, following the written instruction of David king of Israel and the written instruction of Solomon his son. 5And stand in the house according to the divisions of the fathers’ houses of your brethren, the sons of the people, and according to the division of the father’s house of the Levites. 6Slaughter the Passover and prepare the holy things for your brethren so they may do according to the word of the Lord by the hand of Moses.”

7Then Josiah began the sacrifice for the sons of the people, with sheep and lambs and young goats from the flock to the number of thirty thousand, as well as three thousand calves for all the Passover offerings, for all who were present. These were from the king’s possessions. 8And the leaders began the offering for the people and the priests and the Levites, rulers of the house of God. Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel gave the priests two thousand six hundred sheep and lambs and goats from the flock for the Passover offerings, and three hundred calves. [9]Conaniah and Banaiah and Shemaiah and Nethanel his brother, and Hashabiah and Jeiel and Jozabad, leaders of the Levites, began the offering for the Levites with five thousand sheep and five hundred calves for the Passover offerings.

[10]So the service was prepared. And the priests stood in their places with the Levites in their divisions according to the king's command. [11]And they slaughtered the Passover offerings. The priests sprinkled the blood with their hands, while the Levites skinned the animals. [12]Then they prepared the burnt offerings to give it to them by the divisions of the fathers' houses of the sons of the people, to offer to the Lord as it is written in the Book of Moses. And so they did in the morning. [13]They roasted the Passover offerings with fire according to the ordinance. But they boiled the other holy offerings in bronze pots and in pans. And it went well, and they divided them quickly among all the sons of the people. [14]Afterward they prepared portions for themselves and for the priests, because the priests were busy offering burnt offerings and fat until night. Therefore the Levites prepared portions for themselves and their brethren, the sons of Aaron. [15]And the singers, the sons of Asaph, were in their places according to the command of David. Asaph, Heman, and Jeduthun, the king's prophets and the gatekeepers, were at each gate. They did not have to leave their service of the holy things because their brethren the Levites prepared portions for them.

[16]So all the service of the Lord was arranged and prepared on that day to keep the Passover and to offer burnt offerings on the altar of the Lord according to the command of King Josiah. [17]And the sons of Israel who were present kept the Passover at that time, and they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days. [18]No Passover like this was kept in Israel since the days of Samuel the prophet, and none of the kings of Israel kept such a Passover to the Lord as Josiah kept, having the priests and the Levites, and all Judah and Israel present, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem, [19]in the eighteenth year of the reign of Josiah.

[20]The ventriloquists, and the mediums, and the images and the idols, and the other abominations which were in the land of Judah and in Jerusalem, King Josiah burned with fire, to confirm the words of the law written in the book which Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the Lord. [21]There was no one like him before him, who turned towards the Lord with all his heart and all his soul and all his strength in all the law of Moses. No one arose like him afterward. [22]But the Lord did not turn from the anger of His great wrath with which the Lord was enraged against Judah, because of all the provocations with which Mannaseh provoked Him. [23]And the Lord said, “I will remove Judah from before Me as I removed Israel, and I will reject Jerusalem, the city I chose, and the house where I said that My name would be there.”

Josiah Killed in Battle

[24]Pharaoh Necho, the king of Egypt, came against the king of the Assyrians to fight at the river Euphrates. And King Josiah went out against him. [25]But Pharaoh sent messengers to him saying, “What do I have to do with you, king of Judah? I have not come to fight against you today, and God commanded me to make haste. Refrain from meddling with God, who is with me, so that He does not destroy you.” [26]Nevertheless Josiah would not turn his face from him, but continued to fight with him. He did not heed the words of Necho from the mouth of God. So he came to fight in the Valley of Megiddo.

[27]And the archers shot King Josiah, and the king said to his servants, “Take me away, for I am severely wounded.” [28]His servants took him out of the chariot and put him in a second chariot he had, and brought him to Jerusalem. So he died and was buried with his fathers. And all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah. [29]Jeremiah also lamented for Josiah. And to this day, all the important men and women speak of Josiah in their lamentations. They made it a custom in Israel, and it is written in the Lamentations. [30]Now the rest of the acts of Josiah and his hope are written in the Law of the Lord, [31]and his deeds from first to last, indeed they are written in the Book of the Kings of Israel and Judah.

Jehoahaz Is King of Judah

[1]Then the people of the land took Jehoahaz, the son of Josiah, and anointed him and established him as king in his father’s place in Jerusalem. [2]Jehoahaz was twenty-three years old when he became king, and he reigned for three months in Jerusalem. [3]And his mother’s name was Amital the daughter of Jeremiah from Lobema. [4]And he did evil before the Lord according to everything his fathers did. [5]And Pharoah Necho bound him in Deble in the land of Emath, lest he reign in Jerusalem. [6]The king of Egypt carried him away to Egypt, and he imposed on the land a tribute of one hundred talents of silver and a talent of gold.

Jehoiakim Is King of Judah

[7]Then Pharaoh Necho made Josiah's son Eliakim king over Judah in place of his father Josiah, and changed his name to Jehoiakim. And Pharaoh Necho took Jehoahaz his brother and carried him off to Egypt, where he died. [8]And he gave silver and gold to Pharaoh. Then the land began to be taxed to give silver to feed Pharaoh, and each one asked as he was able for silver and gold from the people of the land to give to Pharaoh Necho.

[9]Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. And his mother's name was Zechora the daughter of Neriou from Rama. And as his fathers did, he did evil in the sight of the Lord his God in all things. [10]In those days, Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon came to the land, and he served him three years and revolted from him. [11]And the Lord sent the Chaldeans against them, and bands of robbers from Syria, and bands of robbers from the Moabites, and the sons of Ammon and Samaria. But after this they departed, according to the word of the Lord by the hand of his servants the prophets.

[12]But the wrath of the Lord was on Judah because they rebelled against Him through the sins of Manasseh in all he did, [13]and in the innocent blood Jehoiakim shed, for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood, and the Lord did not want to destroy him. [14]Nebuchadnezzar, king of Babylon, came up against him and bound him in bronze fetters and carried him off to Babylon. [15]He carried off some of the articles from the house of the Lord to Babylon and put them in his temple in Babylon. [16]And the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim and all he did, are they not written in the Book of the Kings of Judah? And Jehoiakim rested with his fathers and was buried in Ganoza with his fathers, and Jehoiachin his son reigned in his place.

Jehoiachin Is King of Judah

[17]Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he became king, and he reigned in Jerusalem for three months and ten days. And he did evil in the sight of the Lord. [18]At the turn of the year, King Nebuchadnezzar summoned him and brought him to Babylon with the costly articles from the house of the Lord, and made Zedekiah, his father's brother, king over Judah and Jerusalem.

Zedekiah Is King of Judah

19 Zedekiah was twenty-one years old when he became king, and he reigned for eleven years in Jerusalem. 20 He did evil in the sight of the Lord his God and was not ashamed before Jeremiah the prophet, nor because of the word of the Lord. 21 He also rebelled against King Nebuchadnezzar and broke the oath he swore by God. But he stiffened his neck and hardened his heart, turning against the Lord God of Israel.

22 Moreover all the nobles of Judah and the leaders and the priests and the people transgressed more and more, following all the abominations of the nations, and defiled the house of the Lord in Jerusalem. 23 And the Lord God of their fathers sent them warnings by His messengers, rising up early and sending His messengers, because He spared His people and His dwelling place. 24 But they mocked His messengers, despised His words, and scoffed at His prophets, until the wrath of the Lord rose against His people and there was no remedy.

25 Therefore He brought against them the king of the Chaldeans, who killed their young men with the sword in the house of His sanctuary, and did not spare Zedekiah or have pity on the virgins, and he led away the aged. He gave everything into their hands. 26 And all the articles from the house of God, great and small, the treasures of the house of the Lord and the treasures of the king and his nobles, he took all these to Babylon. 27 Then he burned the house of God, broke down the wall of Jerusalem, burned all its palaces with fire, and destroyed all its precious possessions. 28 And he settled those remaining in Babylon, where they became servants to him and his sons until the rule of the kingdom of the Medes, 29 to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah, until the land had enjoyed her Sabbaths. As long as she lay desolate, she kept the Sabbath, until seventy years had passed.

King Cyrus: Go up to Jerusalem

30 In the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, after the fulfillment of the word of the Lord by the mouth of Jeremiah, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus king of Persia and told him to make a proclamation throughout all his kingdom in writing, saying, 31 "Thus says Cyrus king of Persia to all the kingdoms of the earth: 'The Lord God of heaven gave to me even a command, to build for Him a house in Jerusalem of Judah. Is there anyone from among you, from among all the people God will be with? Let him go up to Jerusalem.' "

2 Chronicles 37

Prayer of King Manasseh

[1]“O Lord Almighty, the God of our fathers, of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and their righteous seed; [2]who made heaven and earth with all their ornamentation; [3]who set the bounds of the sea by the word of Your command; who closed the abyss and sealed it by Your fearful and glorious name; [4]before whom all things tremble and fear because of Your power; [5]for the majesty of Your glory is unbearable, and the wrath of Your threats toward sinners cannot be withstood; [6]yet Your merciful promise is immeasurable and unsearchable. [7]For You are the Lord Most High, and are tenderhearted, patient, very merciful, and who repent toward the evils of man.

[8]“Therefore You, O Lord God of the righteous, have not appointed repentance for the righteous, for Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, who have not sinned against You; but You have appointed repentance for me, a sinner, [9]because I have sinned more than the number of the sands on the seashore. My lawlessness, O Lord, is multiplied. Yes, my lawlessness is multiplied, and I am not worthy to fix my eyes to behold the heights of heaven because of the multitude of my wrongdoings. [10]I am bent down with so many iron chains that I shake my head over my sins, neither do I have any relief. For I have provoked Your anger and done evil in your sight. I have set up abominations and multiplied idols.

[11]“Now therefore, I bow the knee of my heart, begging goodness from You. [12]I have sinned, O Lord, I have sinned, and I know my lawlessness. [13]I ask and beg you: forgive me, O Lord, forgive me, and do not destroy me because of my lawlessness; neither reserve evils for me, nor be wrathful forever; nor condemn me to the lowest parts of the earth; for You are the Lord God of those who repent. [14]And in me, though I am unworthy, You will show Your goodness, and will save me according to Your great mercy. [15]Therefore I shall praise You continually all the days of my life, for all the powers of the heavens praise You, and Yours is the glory unto the ages. Amen.”

Annotations for 2 Chronicles

1:1–17 Like Solomon, Christ will be established and magnified (v. 1); and like the king before the old altar (vv. 3–6), Christ will break bread with His disciples for the last time on earth (Lk 24:33–42). He will impart to them His own wisdom and understanding (v. 10; Lk 24:45). He will bear witness (v. 13) to them of His divinity. Then, He will ascend (Lk 24:50–53) into the heavenly Jerusalem (v. 13; Heb 12:22), bringing all creation with Him.

2:14 The wheat, barley, oil, and wine foreshadow the Eucharist.

2:16 The foreigners are types of the faithful from every nation who will be brought into the Church.

3:1 Threshing floor: See text and notes on 1Ch 21.

3:5–14 Neither in Israel nor in the Church was the second of the Ten Commandments (Ex 20:4) ever viewed as prohibiting images in worship. The warning is against false images or idols—like the golden calf. The carved (v. 7) and woven (v. 14) icons in the temple foreshadow icons in the Orthodox Church. Under the old covenant, all images in the temple are earthly except the cherubim (v. 7; see Is 37:6; Heb 9:5), which signify God's inconceivable majesty. When Christ brings heaven and earth together in His Church, the things of heaven are more clearly depicted. Until Christ comes again, icons will be used in worship as windows into heaven, for as St. Paul writes, "For now we see in a mirror, dimly, but then face to face" (1Co 13:12).

3:8 Christ will fulfill the most holy place when He brings earth to heaven.

4:2–6 Christ, who is called the "lily of the valleys" (v. 5; SS 2:1), is also the sea of bronze; and the Holy Spirit is represented by the water. All who are cleansed in the basins or lavers of baptism have identified themselves with Christ's death, and have been raised up in Him into newness of life; partaking indeed of "living water" (Jn 4:10), they have "put on Christ" (Gal 3:27).

4:7, 8 The lampstands and the bowls symbolize Christ and His Church. In the old tabernacle, there was one laver and one lampstand with six bowls (Ex 25:31–39); now there are ten of each and one hundred golden bowls. This signifies the "great quantity" (v. 18) of blessings in Christ's kingdom.

5:1 Solomon's finished work on the temple will be fulfilled in Christ.

5:2–13 This passage foreshadows the falling asleep of the Theotokos, the Mother of God: "The Ark of God departed from Mount Zion for the heavenly country, borne on the shoulders of the apostles. Angels overshadowed it with their wings, accompanying it, together with the whole assembly of the Church. . . . So is it now with the dwelling-place of the true ark, no longer of the testimony, but the very substance of God the Word. The new Solomon, the Prince of peace, the Creator of all things in the heavens and on the earth, assembled together today the supporters of the new covenant, that is the apostles, with all the people of the saints in Jerusalem, brought in her soul through angels to the true Holy of Holies" (JohnDm).

5:13 As one: In His High Priestly Prayer, the Lord prays for the faithful, "that they all may be one in Us" (Jn 17:21). Hence at Divine Liturgy the faithful pray, "And grant us with one mouth and one heart to glorify and praise Your all-honorable and majestic Name."

5:13—6:2 The glory of the Lord represents the divine nature of Christ, which is joined to His human nature, the house or temple of His body, in the Incarnation.

6:2 Just as Solomon built a house, so Jesus proclaimed, "I will build My church" (Mt 16:18).

7:1 Fire came down from heaven: this foreshadows Pentecost (see 3Kg 18:30–38; 1Ch 21:26).

7:3 Here, and throughout the history of Israel and the Church, God's people worshiped and praised Him liturgically.

7:5 Solomon's huge sacrifice in the house symbolizes the power of the cross to save not only the Jews, but all humanity through the Church.

7:14–16 God's promise is to hear from heaven the prayers of His people.

9:17 Solomon's throne is a type of the Virgin Mary. "Thou art the royal Throne which angels surround, seeing upon it their very King and Lord" (JohnDm). "She is not merely a companion but she also stands at God's right hand, for where Christ sat in the heavens, that is, at the 'right hand of majesty' (Heb 1:3), there too she also takes her stand, having ascended now from earth into the heavens. Not merely does she love and is loved in return more than every other, according to the very laws of nature, but she is truly His Throne, and wherever the King sits, there His Throne is set also. And Isaiah beheld this Throne amidst the choir of cherubim and called it 'high' and 'exalted' (Is 6:1)" (GrgPal).

9:18 The six steps symbolize the completeness of Christ's work in overcoming the flesh.

9:19 The lions symbolize the apostles, saints, and martyrs.

9:22–28 Christ's heavenly kingdom is foreshadowed in Solomon's earthly kingdom.

10:1–11 Rehoboam's foolishness was used by the Lord for His purposes (v. 15).

11:1–4 God allowed the schism between Judah and Israel so that He might gather together and strengthen all those in Israel whose heart was set towards Him (16:9).

11:13–17 Those with right worship were rejected (v. 14) by Jeroboam because they served and worshipped God according to the traditions established by God through their fathers (v. 16). St. Paul speaks of the importance of holding steadfastly to "the traditions which you were taught, whether by word or our epistle" (2Th 2:15).

12:1 Note that Rehoboam and all Israel turned away from God (v. 1), but Judah is not mentioned (see v. 12).

12:5–8 Although the people forsook God, after they repented He did not destroy them, but rather allowed them to be brought under servitude by the enemy (v. 8). Only Christ, who alone is righteous (v. 6), will be able to bring complete deliverance to all who humble themselves before Him.

12:9–12 The gold shields are now bronze, a symbol of how the proud glory of Solomon's kingdom has been reduced by sin in just one generation.

13:4–20 Abijah testifies that those who keep the command of the Lord (v. 11) are those who hold fast against the enemy, and do not cease to worship God according to the ways and traditions of those who came before. True worship of God will be realized in the Church, for as Christ says, "the true worshipers will worship the Father in spirit and truth; for the Father is seeking such to worship Him" (Jn 4:23).

13:5 A covenant of salt: Salt is a symbol of an indissoluble covenant (see note on Lv 2:13).

14:7–10 Asa was outnumbered by the Ethiopians almost two to one, but he knew the Lord could give him victory with the many or with the few.

15:2 From the time Adam first walked the earth (Gn 2:16, 17), God has been laying out the conditions for salvation: He will be found by all who seek Him.

15:3 In Israel and in the Church, the teaching ministry of the priest is of utmost importance (see Eph 4:11). Without it, the people will not know the true God.

15:7 The prophet admonishes Asa to be strong in the Lord, for His "strength is made perfect in weakness" (2Co 12:9).

15:8–15 The great numbers represent those who seek God with all their heart and soul, for they will find rest (v. 15) in Him, just as He promised, in the "city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem" (Heb 12:22), which is His body, the Church.

16:1–10 Asa holds a valuable lesson for all believers. After trusting in the Lord for a decisive victory over the Ethiopians (14:7–10), he now seeks victory over Syria by taking silver and gold from the temple to buy off the Syrian king. "Are you so foolish? Having begun in the Spirit, are you now being made perfect by the flesh?" (Gal 3:3).

17:1–19 Jehoshaphat, like his father Asa (15:1–19), starts out well. He resists Israel, which is steeped in idolatry, and he took delight in the Lord. But he forms an alliance with King Ahab (18:1). This will lead to tragic consequences that will almost destroy the Davidic line (4Kg 11:1).

18:1–3 Assuming that ethnic rather than spiritual ties make the people one, Jehoshaphat allies Judah with Israel.

18:4 Though he doesn't seem to realize the depth of idolatry and darkness that has overtaken Israel, Jehoshaphat's conscience is sending up warning flags that will later save his life (v. 31).

18:4–34 See note on 3Kg 22:10.

19:1–3 "When we are unwarily joined in friendship with the wicked, we are bound in their sins. . . . Those who are at peace are to be admonished not to be afraid of disturbing their temporal peace, if they break forth into words of rebuke. And again they are to be admonished to keep inwardly with undiminished love the same peace which in their external relations they disturb by their reproving voice" (GrgGt).

19:4–11 God helped and saved Jehoshaphat because even though he acted foolishly, he has also shown he wants to do what is good (v. 11). Jehoshaphat finds mercy and forgiveness in God, who then inspires him to spearhead a spiritual revival in Judah.

20:3 Earlier, Jehoshaphat allied himself with evil because his pride had blinded him (18:1); but now he has learned to put his trust in God.

20:10–12 The sons of Ammon, Moab, and Mount Seir represent the powers of darkness, which are being allowed by God to remain in the world until the Last Judgment. These enemies bring hardships to men in order that through them God might strengthen the faithful and humble the proud. As the Lord Jesus says, "in the world you will have tribulation; but be of good cheer, I have overcome the world" (Jn 16:33).

20:15–22 The Lord is with you (v. 17): This is the key to salvation (see Eph 6:13). For the faithful, every spiritual battle has already been won by God the Father in His Son through the Holy Spirit.

20:35–37 The ships were wrecked: See note on 19:1–3.

21:1–20 The account of Jehoram serves to warn the Jews, and indeed all men, not to reject God's calling.

21:8–10 Edom revolts under Jehoram. Under Jehoshaphat, whose heart was towards God, Edom was kept under control (4Kg 3:12). Libnah, which means "white tree," is a Levitical city in Judah (Jos 21:13). Its revolt against Jehoram reveals how holiness is repelled by the presence of evil.

21:18–20 The tragic demise of a sinful man.

22:1–9 Ahaziah's is yet another story of a life without God.

22:5 Hazael: See note on 4Kg 8:12–19.

22:7–9 Jehu: See note on 4Kg 9:1–3.

22:10–12 As a usurper of power, Athaliah reigned six years but receives only brief mention.

22:11, 12 Joash was raised up in the house of God under the influence of the priests, and thus escaped the evil influence of his parents. In a similar way, God intends for righteousness in the heart to grow and mature within the Church.

23:1–11 Jehoiada the priest and those who help him are obedient to God, though evil around them would seem to be insurmountable. In the end, they prevail.

23:12–15 Athaliah is overthrown. Once again, Holy Scripture portrays the enemy being defeated by trickery, reminding us the devil is unfaithful even to his own.

24:1–27 Joash was faithful to the Lord until the priest Jehoiada died. The passage suggests that Joash relied on the faith of Jehoiada, but did not make that faith his own.

25:1–4 Amaziah . . . did what was right insofar as he followed the letter of the law (v. 4), but he did not love the ways of the Lord with a loyal heart. Note how he spares the children of those who killed his father, according to Dt 24:16, yet sets a bad example for his own son Uzziah, who, like his father, will one day lift up his heart in pride (26:16).

25:11–14 Amaziah falls into sins of greed, murder and idolatry. He believes he has defeated the Edomites, when in fact, their false gods have defeated him and taken his disloyal heart captive.

26:1–23 Uzziah . . . did what was right by following the commandments, and he sought the Lord with the help of the prophet. But like his father before him, he turned away from God, and he was stricken with leprosy. He was a contemporary of the prophet Isaiah (Is 6:1).

27:1–9 Prophecy is restored under Jotham, for Isaiah receives his heavenly vision at the beginning of his reign (see Is 6:1). Though the king was righteous, the people acted corruptly. The phrase he did not enter the temple most likely means he did not enter there to burn incense as his father had wrongly done (26:16–20).

28:1–27 Ahaz and the people of Judah have allowed themselves to be taken spiritually captive by their own sins (v. 19; Is 5:13). Therefore, in order to deter their blasphemy, God delivered them physically into the hands of the kings of Syria and Israel (v. 5).

28:9–15 Righteous men from Samaria treat the captives of Judah with kindness. Note the striking parallels in this passage (see v. 15) to the story that Jesus told of the Good Samaritan (Lk 10:30–37).

29:1–11 Hezekiah prefigures Christ, who opened the doors (v. 3) to heaven, gathered the faithful, and set the captives free (see 4Kg 18:1–8).

29:12–30 The Levites (v. 12) and priests (v. 16) prefigure the apostles and evangelists, who will restore right worship under Christ's leadership. The Brook Kidron (v. 16) is a type of baptism, which will sanctify (v. 17) the faithful.

29:34 The desire of the Levites to be sanctified exceeds that of the priests, showing that it is the state of the heart, not the office held, which determines true holiness.

29:36 God had prepared the people: Christ warns His followers to watch, for you do not know when the master of the house is coming—lest coming suddenly, he find you sleeping (Mk 13:35, 36; see also Mal 3:1).

30:1–21 Because Judah had fallen deeply into sin, the first week of the Passover feast was not kept to the letter of the law (vv. 3, 17–19). Yet God heard Hezekiah's prayer, gave the people singleness of heart (v. 12), and healed them (v. 20). Hezekiah prefigures Christ, who will do the same for all who follow Him with contrite hearts in the midst of a broken world.

30:23–27 Great joy: The second seven days of the feast foreshadow Pentecost.

31:1—32:1 After the feasting comes the work. The events described in this chapter will be fulfilled by the faithful of the Church, who have been hard at work since Pentecost, each called to his or her appointed task according to his or her abilities, performing deeds of faithfulness (32:1) in service to the Lord.

32:24–33 Hezekiah's sickness, the sign he was given, his subsequent sin, and his repentance are discussed at length in 4Kg 20 and Is 38:1–39:8.

33:1–20 Manasseh is a king who began as evil and ended as good.

33:13 Manasseh prayed to Him. "The Lord God for a while punished him that was addicted to idols, and had slain many innocent persons; and yet He received him when he repented, and forgave him his offenses, and restored him to his kingdom. For He not only forgives the penitent, but reinstates them in their former dignity" (JohnChr).

"Now if, looking to the magnitude of his own iniquities, he had despaired of restoration and repentance, he would have missed all which he afterwards obtained: but as it was, looking to the boundlessness of God's tender mercy instead of the enormity of his transgressions, and having broken in sunder the bonds of the devil, he rose up and contended with him, and finished the good course" (Dion).

34:1–13 True reform has to do with both the purging of what is false and evil (vv. 3–7) and the repairing of what is true and good (vv. 8–13). Josiah did both.

34:14–28 The Book of the Law here discovered is likely the whole Pentateuch, and it is unclear where it had been. Significantly, when parts of it were read to the king, his heart was turned and he humbled himself before the Lord (v. 27). The Scriptures are indeed "profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness" (2Ti 3:16).

34:29–33 Not only does the king attend to the reading of the Book of the Covenant, but he makes sure the priests and the Levites and all the people hear it as well. As a result, the hearers make a commitment to follow the Lord.

35:1–6 That Josiah kept the Passover shows not only his obedience to the Lord, but also his solidarity with the instruction of David (v. 4) and the writings of Moses (v. 6). This is a veritable rebirth of faith for the people.

35:28 The Jews mourned for Josiah because their righteous king was a victim of the finality of death under the old covenant. But Christ will fulfill the old covenant of death with a new covenant of love, forgiveness, and eternal life.

36:1–6 Judah's downfall is imminent with the brief ascension of the evil King Jehoahaz to the throne.

36:7–16 The Pharaoh of Egypt establishes the evil king Jehoiakim as ruler of Judah. He is then carried off to Babylon (v. 14) by King Nebuchadnezzar and briefly replaced by his son Jehoiachin.

36:22–29 God's judgment on Judah is justified, for the priests and the people have gone beyond the point of no return and will not repent (see 4Kg 25:8–21). Seventy years (v. 29) is the approximate time of the exile in Babylon (see also Jer 25:9–12; 27:6–8; 29:10; Lv 26:34–43).

36:30, 31 These verses parallel the opening verses of Ezra. Although he is a Gentile, Cyrus is called by God to look after His people.

- Prayer of King Manasseh The Prayer of King Manasseh is chanted during the service of Great Compline.

The First Book of Ezra

Author

Uncertain. The authorship of this book is debated, since it appears to contain some of Ezra's memoirs, and yet parts of 2 Chronicles and Nehemiah are found in the text.

Date

About 150 BC, and not later than 100 BC since Josephus used the LXX version in his Antiquities of the Jewish People (AD 93–94)

Major Themes

The restoration of temple worship in Jerusalem and renewed commitment to the Law of Moses

Background

This historical account assumes readers are familiar with the Mosaic and Davidic covenants, the history of the kings from David to the Babylonian Captivity, and the exile and return of the Jews to Jerusalem. First Ezra presents the Israelites as a people chosen to worship the true God; their strength comes from their faithfulness to His commandments.

Josiah Keeps the Passover

[1]Josiah kept the Passover to his Lord in Jerusalem. He sacrificed the paschal lamb on the fourteenth day of the first month. [2]He then placed the priests in the Lord's temple according to their divisions, clothed in their vestments. [3]He told the Levites, Israel's servants in the temple, to sanctify themselves to the Lord and to place the holy ark of the Lord in the house that King Solomon, son of David, had built. For he said, "No longer will you carry the ark upon your shoulders. [4]Now serve the Lord your God, and heal His people Israel. Prepare yourselves according to your families and tribes, according to the writing of King David of Israel and the magnificence of Solomon his son. [5]Stand in the temple in your proper order before your brothers, the children of Israel, and according to the office of your paternal families, the Levites. [6]Sacrifice the paschal lamb, prepare the sacrifices for your brothers, and keep the Passover according to the Lord's commandment given to Moses."

[7]Josiah gave thirty thousand lambs and kids and three thousand calves to the people who were present. These were given from the king's possessions to the people, to the priests, and to the Levites, as he promised. [8]Hilkiah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, the overseers of the temple, gave the priests two thousand six hundred sheep and three hundred calves for Passover. [9]Jeconiah, Shemaiah, and Nathanael his brother, and Hashabiah, Ochiel, and Joram, high-ranking officers, gave the Levites five thousand sheep and seven hundred calves for Passover.

[10]This is what happened. The priests and Levites stood in their proper order before the people, [11]holding the unleavened bread according to the tribes [12]and the governors of their paternal families, to present the offering to the Lord, as was written in the Book of Moses. This was done in the morning. [13]They roasted the paschal lamb with fire, as was fitting, and the sacrifices were boiled in copper pots and pans, providing a fragrant aroma. They were then carried out to all the people.

[14]After this was done, they prepared the paschal lamb for themselves and for the priests their brothers, the sons of Aaron. For the priests offered the fat until late and the Levites prepared it for themselves and for the priests, their brothers, the sons of Aaron. [15]The temple singers, the sons of Asaph, were also in their proper place according to their appointed order made by David, along with Asaph, Zechariah, and Eddinus, who belonged to the king's entourage. Moreover the gatekeepers from each gate were not to leave their posts, for their brothers, the Levites, prepared the paschal lamb for them.

[16]So the things concerning the sacrifices were completed on that day. They kept the Passover and offered sacrifices on the altar of the Lord according to the command of King Josiah. [17]Thus the children of Israel who were present at that time kept Passover, as well as the Feast of Unleavened Bread, for seven days. [18]From the times of Samuel the prophet, there was no Passover kept in Israel such as this. [19]No king in Israel ever kept such a Passover as Josiah did, along with the Levites, the Jews and all Israel who were present and living in Jerusalem. [20]This Passover was kept in the eighteenth year of Josiah's reign. [21]These works of Josiah were upright before the Lord, for his heart was full of godliness.

[22]The events that took place in the days of Josiah were recorded long ago. They concerned those who sinned and acted impiously against the Lord, even more so than any nation and kingdom. For they grieved Him extremely, so the words of the Lord came against Israel.

[23]Then after these acts of Josiah took place, Pharaoh the king of Egypt went to make war at Carchemish on the River Euphrates. So Josiah went out to encounter him. [24]Then the king of Egypt sent word to him, saying, "What do we have to do with each other, O king of Judea? [25]I was not sent against you by the Lord God, for my war is at the Euphrates. The Lord is now with me, and the Lord is hastening me onward! Therefore withdraw from me, and do not be in opposition to the Lord."

Josiah's Reign Is Ended

[26]Josiah, however, did not turn back his chariot, but tried to fight against him. Thus he did not heed the words of Jeremiah the prophet from the mouth of the Lord. [27]Rather, he engaged Pharaoh in battle on the plain of Megiddo, and his commanders came down against King Josiah. [28]Then the king told his servants, "Remove me from the fight, for I am badly wounded." Thus his servants immediately withdrew him from the line of battle. [29]They mounted him on his second chariot and brought him back to Jerusalem, where he died. So they buried him in the tomb of his forefathers.

[30]They mourned over Josiah throughout all Judea. Jeremiah the prophet also sang a lamentation on Josiah's behalf. Even to this day, the chief men and the women make lamentations for him, for it came to pass that this was to be done perpetually throughout the entire nation of Israel. [31]These things are recorded in the book of the histories of the Judean kings. Now everything Josiah did—his glory, his understanding in the law of the Lord, both his prior accomplishments and things now related—are recorded in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah.

Jerusalem Falls to Babylon

[32]The men of the nation took Jeconiah the son of Josiah to succeed Josiah as king. He was twenty-three years old. [33]He reigned for three months in both Judah and Jerusalem. Then the king of Egypt dethroned him in Jerusalem [34]and made the people pay a fine of one hundred talents of silver and one talent of gold. [35]The king of Egypt then appointed Jehoiakim his brother as king of Judah and Jerusalem. [36]Jehoiakim put the people of high status in prison, then arrested his brother Zarius and brought him up from Egypt.

[37]Now Jehoiakim was twenty-five years old when he became king of Judea and Jerusalem, but he did evil before the Lord. [38]So Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon came up against him, bound him with a copper chain, and led him away by force to Babylon. [39]Nebuchadnezzar also took some of the Lord's holy vessels and carried them away and placed them in his temple in Babylon. [40]Now the things written about Jehoiakim, his uncleanness and ungodliness, are described in the chronicles of the kings.

[41]Then his son Jehoiachin reigned in his place, for he was appointed king when he was eighteen years old. [42]He reigned three months and ten days in Jerusalem and did evil before the Lord. [43]After a year, Nebuchadnezzar sent and deported him to Babylon, together with the holy vessels of the Lord. [44]Then he appointed Zedekiah king of Judea and Jerusalem. Zedekiah was twenty-one years old and he reigned for eleven years. [45]He also did evil before the Lord and did not respect the words from the mouth of the Lord spoken to him by Jeremiah the prophet. [46]Although King Nebuchadnezzar made him swear in the Lord's name, he swore falsely and revolted. He became stiff-necked, hardened his heart, and transgressed the laws of the Lord God of Israel. [47]Even the chief leaders of the people and the priests acted in many ungodly and lawless ways, surpassing all the uncleanness of all the nations. They even defiled the Lord's temple which He had sanctified in Jerusalem.

[48]Now the God of their fathers sent to call them back through His angel so as to spare them and His dwelling place. [49]But they ridiculed His messengers, and whenever the Lord spoke, they mocked His prophets until He became furious with His people because of their impious acts. So He gave the command to bring the kings of the Chaldeans against them. [50]They killed their young men by the sword round about their holy temple. They spared neither young man nor virgin, neither old man nor child, for He handed over all into their hands. [51]They took all the large and small holy vessels of the Lord, the ark of the Lord, and the king's possessions, and carried them off to Babylon. [52]They burned the Lord's house, broke down the walls of Jerusalem, and set the towers on fire. [53]They made all its glorious things to be worthless and led away the survivors to Babylon with the sword.

[54]They became servants of the king and his heirs until the Persians began to reign, in fulfillment of the Lord's word by the mouth of Jeremiah, [55]which said, "Until the land has enjoyed its Sabbaths, it shall keep its Sabbath the entire time of its desolation until the fulfillment of seventy years."

Decree of Cyrus

[1]When Cyrus was reigning over the Persians in his first year, the Lord stirred up the spirit of King Cyrus of the Persians for the completion of the Lord's word by the mouth of Jeremiah. So he made a written proclamation in all his kingdom, saying, [2]"Thus says Cyrus the king of the Persians: Israel's Lord, the Lord Most High, revealed and indicated to me, the king of the inhabited world, that I should build a house for Him at Jerusalem in Judea. [3]Therefore, if any of you are from His nation, may the Lord be with you, and when you go up to Jerusalem in Judea, may you build the house of the Lord of Israel. He is the Lord who dwells in Jerusalem. [4]Therefore, let as many as are living around you in various places help you with gifts of gold and silver, with horses and cattle, as well as with other things added as votive offerings for the Lord's temple in Jerusalem."

[5]Then the chiefs of the families of Judah and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the priests and Levites, and everyone whose spirit the Lord stirred up stepped forth to go up to build the Lord's house in Jerusalem. [6]Those round about whose hearts were stirred helped them with everything: with silver and gold, with horses and cattle, and with a very great number of votive offerings.

[7]King Cyrus also brought forth the sacred vessels of the Lord which Nebuchadnezzar had carried out from Jerusalem and placed in his temple of idols. [8]Cyrus, king of the Persians, brought these out and handed them over to Mithridates, his treasurer. He, in turn, gave them to Sheshbazzar, the chief leader of Judea. [9]The number of these was as follows: one thousand gold cups, one thousand silver cups, twenty-nine silver censers, [10]thirty gold bowls, two thousand four hundred and ten silver bowls, and one thousand other vessels. [11]All the gold and silver vessels handed over totaled five thousand four hundred and sixty-nine. All these, together with the returning captives, were brought back to Jerusalem by Sheshbazzar.

Rebuilding of the Temple Opposed

[12]But Bishlam, Mithridates, Tabeel, Rehum, Beltethmus, Shimshai the scribe, and the other members of their council, as well as those living in Samaria and other places, wrote a letter to Artaxerxes during the time he was king of the Persians. They wrote it against those dwelling in Judea and Jerusalem, inscribed as follows:

[13]"To King Artaxerxes our lord from your servants Rehum the recorder, and Shimshai the scribe, and the other members of their council, and the judges in Coelesyria and Phoenicia: [14]Let it now be known to our lord the king that the Jews who came up from you to us went to Jerusalem to build the rebellious and evil city. They are restoring both its marketplaces and its walls and are laying a foundation for a temple. [15]If therefore this city is built and its walls completed, they will not continue to pay tribute but will also resist kings. [16]Since work is being done on the temple, we assume it best not to overlook such a matter, but to address our lord the king, that if it seems appropriate to you, this may be researched in the books of your forefathers. [17]For you will find the record of these things in the archives. You will learn that this city was rebellious and troubled both kings and cities, and that the Jews themselves are rebels. They formed military blockades in it from ancient times, which is the reason the city itself was destroyed. [18]Therefore we now make known to you, O lord our king, that if this city is built and its walls restored, you will no longer have access to Coelesyria and Phoenicia."

[19]Then the king wrote back to Rehum the recorder, to Beltethmus, to Shimshai the scribe, to the other members of their council, and to those dwelling in Samaria, Syria, and Phoenicia. He inscribed his letter as follows:

[20]"I read the letter you sent to me. [21]So I commanded a search to be made.

It was discovered that this city from ancient times stood in hostile array against kings, that the people within it perpetrated rebellion and war, [22]that mighty and fierce kings were ruling in Jerusalem and levying tributes from Coelesyria and Phoenicia. [23]Therefore I have now imposed orders to prevent those men from building the city, [24]to be careful not to do anything contrary to this order, and to do nothing to cause trouble for kings."

[25]After they read the letter from King Artaxerxes, Rehum, Shimshai the scribe, and the other members of their council went speedily to Jerusalem. They departed with cavalry and a large number of armed soldiers formed in battle array and began to hinder the builders. [26]So the building of the temple in Jerusalem became idle until the second year of the reign of Darius king of the Persians.

1 Ezra 3

The Three Young Guards

[1]Now King Darius put on a great banquet for all his subjects, for his entire household, and for all the nobles of Media and Persia. [2]He also invited all the satraps, commanders, and governors under him throughout the one hundred and twenty-seven provinces extending from India to Ethiopia. [3]They ate and drank, and when they were satisfied they returned home. As for King Darius, he returned to his bedchamber and slept, but awoke.

[4]Then the three young men who were attending the king as bodyguards said one to the other, [5]"Let each of us speak one strong saying, and whichever saying of ours seems to be the strongest, King Darius will give him great gifts and a feast in his honor. [6]He will be dressed in purple, drink from gold cups, and sleep in a gold bed. He will have a chariot with a gold-studded bridle, a turban of fine linen, and a gold necklace around his neck. [7]Because of his wisdom he will sit second to Darius and will be addressed as kinsman of Darius."

[8]So each one then wrote down his saying, sealed it, and placed it under the pillow of King Darius. They said, [9]"When the king awakens, they will give the writings to him and the one whose saying the king and the three nobles of Persia may judge the wisest, the victory shall be given to him, as it is written."

Which Is Strongest?

10 The first one wrote, “Wine is the strongest.” 11 The second wrote, “The king is the strongest.” 12 The third wrote, “Women are the strongest, but above all things the truth conquers.”

13 So when the king was awakened, he took the writings they gave to him, and he read them. 14 Then he sent forth and invited all the nobles of Persia and Media and the satraps, commanders, governors, and highest officials. He took his place in the seat of judgment, and the writings were read in their presence.
15 He said, “Call the young men, and they will clarify their sayings.” So they were summoned and came in. 16 They said to them, “Interpret for us the sayings you wrote.”

The Strength of Wine

17 So the first, who spoke about the strength of wine, began and said thus:
18 “Men, how is wine the strongest? It leads astray the mind of all who drink
it. 19 It makes a single mind of both the king and the orphan, of the servant and the freeman, and of the poor man and the rich man. 20 It turns every mind to feasting and gladness, and it does not remember any pain or any debt.
21 Wine makes all hearts rich, does not remember a king or satrap, and makes everyone talk in big money terms. 22 When men drink, they do not remember to act as a friend to friends, and after a short while they draw swords. 23 But when they become sober, they do not remember what they did. 24 O men, is not wine the strongest because it forces us to do such things?” So he spoke in this way and then became silent.

1 Ezra 4

The Strength of the King

1 Then the second, who talked about the strength of the king, began to speak:
2 “O men, has not man prevailed on land and sea, becoming the master of them and everything in them? 3 But the king is strong and rules over these, for he is their master; whatever he commands them they obey. 4 If he commands one to make war on the other, they do it. If he sends them out against enemies, they go and subdue mountains, walls, and towers. 5 They kill and are killed, but the word of the king is not transgressed. If they conquer, they bring everything to the king—whatever they forage or anything else. [6]But those who do not serve as soldiers nor wage war, but cultivate the land, they too bring to the king whatever they sow and harvest. They also compel one another to pay taxes to the king. [7]Although he is only one man, yet if he says to kill, they kill; if he says to spare, they spare. [8]If he says to smite, they smite; if he says to destroy, they destroy; if he says to build, they build. [9]If he says to cut down, they cut down; if he says to plant, they plant. [10]So all his people and his army listen to him. [11]In addition to these things, he reclines—he eats, he drinks, he rests—while they keep watch around him. Nobody can leave to do his own business, nor do they disobey him. [12]O men, in what is the king not strong, since he is so carefully obeyed?" Then he kept silent.

The Strength of Women

[13]Then the third, who had spoken about women and the truth and whose name was Zerubbabel, began to speak: [14]"Men, is not the king great, and men many, and wine strong? Who then rules them, or who is their master? Is it not women? [15]Women gave birth to the king and to all the people who rule over sea and land. [16]They came to exist from women, and women reared those who plant the vineyards from which the wine comes. [17]Women also make men's clothing and bring glory to men. Indeed, men could not exist without women.

[18]"Moreover, if men are gathering gold, silver, or anything beautiful, but see one woman who looks good in form and beauty, [19]they drop everything and gape at her, and with mouths wide open they stare at her. They all choose her rather than gold, silver, or any beautiful thing. [20]Yes, a man will even forsake his own father who reared him and his own country so as to cleave to his own wife. [21]He will live out his life and not even remember father, mother, or country. [22]From all this, you should realize that women rule over you!

"Do you not work hard and grow weary with toil, then bring it and give it all to women? [23]Furthermore, a man will put on his sword and go forth to rob, steal, and sail the sea and rivers. [24]He will stalk a lion and walk in darkness, and when he steals, whatever he takes and pillages he will bring back to his beloved. [25]For a man dearly loves his own wife more than his father or mother. [26]Yes, many men have lost all sense and even become slaves because of their wives. [27]Many have perished, stumbled, or sinned because of their wives.

28"Do you not believe me now? Is the king not great in his authority? Are not all the countries moved with fear to touch him? 29Yet I saw him with Apame, the king's concubine and the daughter of the admirable Bartacus. She sat at the king's right hand, 30removed the crown from the king's head, and put it on her own. She also struck the king with her left hand. 31At this, the king gaped at her with his mouth wide open. When she smiled at him he laughed, and when he exasperated her, he flattered her that she might be reconciled with him. 32O men, in what way are women not strong, since they do such things?"

The Strongest Is Truth

33Then the king and the nobles looked at one another, 34and Zerubbabel began to speak about the truth: "Men, are not women strong? The earth is great, heaven is high, and the sun is swift in its course, for it revolves around heaven in a circle and returns again to its place in one day. 35Is not He great who made all things? For His truth is great and stronger than all things. 36All the earth summons the truth, and heaven blesses it; for all His works shake with fear and tremble, and there is nothing unjust with Him. 37But wine is unjust, the king is unjust, women are unjust, all the children of the men and their works are unjust, and all such things are unjust; for there is no truth in them. So they will perish in their injustice.

38"But the truth abides and is strong forever. The truth lives and rules unto ages of ages. 39There is no partiality or prejudice with the truth, but it does righteous things, distinct from all wrongdoings and evil. All are pleased with its deeds, and there is nothing unjust in its judgment. 40For strength, dominion, authority, and majesty belong to it unto all ages, and blessed is the God of truth."

41So he stopped speaking, and all the people then cried aloud and said,
"Great is the truth, for it is the strongest!" 42Then the king said to him, "Ask what you will, and let it be more than what is written; for we will give it to you, inasmuch as you were found to be the wisest. You will also sit next to me and be called my kinsman."

Back to Jerusalem

43Then Zerubbabel said to the king, "Remember the vow you swore on the day you received your kingdom to rebuild Jerusalem 44and to send back all the vessels taken from Jerusalem, the ones Cyrus removed when he vowed to destroy Babylon and vowed to send them back there? [45]You also vowed to rebuild the temple which the Edomites set on fire when Judea was laid waste by the Chaldeans. [46]Now this is what I consider worthy of you, O lord our king, and what I ask of you, for this befits your greatness. Therefore I beg of you that you keep the vow you vowed to the King of heaven from your own mouth."

[47]Then King Darius arose and kissed him. He wrote letters for him to all the treasurers, governors, commanders, and satraps that they help him on his way, and everyone going up with him to rebuild Jerusalem. [48]He also wrote letters to all the governors in Coelesyria and Phoenicia, and to those in Lebanon to transfer cedar logs from Lebanon to Jerusalem to help him rebuild the city.

[49]Then he wrote to all the Jews who went up from his kingdom to Judea in behalf of their freedom, that no power, satrap, commander, or treasurer was to come against their doors; [50]that all the territory they ruled was to be theirs without subjection to taxes; that the Edomites were to hand over to the Jews the villages they had seized; [51]that twenty talents were to be given every year for the building of the temple until it was completed, [52]and ten talents every year for the whole burnt offerings to be offered each day on the altar according to the commandment to make seventeen offerings; [53]and that all those from Babylon who went up to build the city were to have their freedom, the people and their children, and all the priests who went up with them. [54]He also wrote that they were to pay the expenses for the priestly vestments in which they served. [55]He likewise wrote that they were to pay the Levites' expenses until the temple was completed and Jerusalem rebuilt. [56]Also, for all who guarded the city, he wrote that they were to be given lands and wages. [57]Then he sent forth from Babylon all the vessels Cyrus had removed; and everything Cyrus said to do, he also commanded to be done, and he sent them forth to Jerusalem.

[58]Now when the young man went out, he lifted his face to heaven toward Jerusalem and blessed the King of heaven, saying, [59]"The victory and the wisdom are from You, the glory is Yours, and I am Your servant. [60]Blessed are You who granted me wisdom, and I give thanks to You, O Lord of our fathers."

[61]So he took the letters and went to Babylon, and reported everything to all his brothers. [62]They, too, blessed the God of their fathers because He had granted them freedom and release from captivity [63]to go up and rebuild Jerusalem and the temple called by His name. Then they feasted with music and gladness for seven days.

Return of the Exiles

[1]After this the heads of the paternal houses were chosen according to their tribes to go up, along with their wives, sons, and daughters, and their male and female servants, and their cattle. [2]Darius also sent along one thousand cavalry with them, to bring them back to Jerusalem in peace and with the music of drums and flutes. [3]All their kindred were dancing, for Darius arranged for them to go up with them as well.

[4]These are the names of the men who were their governors and who went up according to their paternal houses in the tribes: [5]the priests, the sons of Phinehas the son of Aaron; Jeshua the son of Jozadak the son of Seraiah, and Joakim the son of Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, of the house of David, from the family of Phares, of the tribe of Judah. [6]Zerubbabel was the one who spoke wise words before Darius the king of the Persians in the second year of his reign, in the month of Nisan, the first month. [7]They are the ones from Judea who went up from their sojourn in captivity and whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon resettled in Babylon. [8]They returned to Jerusalem and the rest of Judea, each to his own city. They came with Zerubbabel, Jeshua, Nehemiah, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Bigvai, Hehum, and Baanah, their leaders.

[9]The number of those from the nation, including their leaders, were: the sons of Parosh, two thousand one hundred seventy-two; [10]the sons of Shephatiah, four hundred seventy-two; the sons of Arah, seven hundred fifty-six; [11]the sons of Pahath-Moab of the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred twelve; [12]the sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred fifty-four; the sons of Zattu, nine hundred forty-five; the sons of Chorbe, seven hundred five; the sons of Bani, six hundred forty-eight; [13]the sons of Bebai, six hundred twenty-three; the sons of Azgad, one thousand three hundred twenty-two; [14]the sons of Adonikam, six hundred sixty-seven; the sons of Bigvai, two thousand sixty-six; the sons of Adin, four hundred fifty-four; [15]the sons of Ater of Hezekiah, ninety-two; the sons of Kilan and Azetas, sixty-seven; the sons of Azaru, four hundred thirty-two; [16]the sons of Annias, one hundred one; the sons of Arom and the sons of Bezai, three hundred twenty-three; the sons of Hariph, one hundred twelve; [17]the sons of Baiterus, three thousand five; the sons of Bethlomon, one hundred twenty-three.

[18]Those from Netophah were fifty-five; those from Anathoth, one hundred fifty-eight; those from Beth Azmaveth, forty-two; [19]those from Kirjath Jearim, twenty-five; those from Chephirah and Beeroth, seven hundred forty-three; [20]the Chadiasans and Ammidians, four hundred twenty-two; those from Kirama and Geba, six hundred twenty-one; [21]those from Macalon, one hundred twenty-two; those from Betolio, fifty-two; the sons of Nephish, one hundred fifty-six; [22]the sons of the other Calamolalus and Ono, seven hundred twenty-five; the sons of Jerechus, three hundred forty-five; [23]the sons of Senaah, three thousand three hundred thirty.

[24]The number of the priests were: the sons of Jedaiah the son of Jeshua, of the sons of Anasib, nine hundred seventy-two; the sons of Immer, one thousand fifty-two; [25]the sons of Pashhur, one thousand two hundred forty-seven; the sons of Charme, one thousand seventeen.

[26]The Levites: the sons of Joshua and Kadmiel and Bannas and Sudias, seventy-four. [27]The number of the temple singers were: the sons of Asaph, one hundred twenty-eight. [28]The number of the gatekeepers were: the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, the sons of Shobai, in all one hundred thirty-nine.

[29]The number of the temple servants were: the sons of Esau, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth, the sons of Keros, the sons of Sua, the sons of Padon, the sons of Lebanah, the sons of Hagabah, [30]the sons of Akkub, the sons of Uthai, the sons of Ketab, the sons of Hagab, the sons of Subai, the sons of Hana, the sons of Cathua, the sons of Geddur, [31]the sons of Jairus, the sons of Daisan, the sons of Noeba, the sons of Chezib, the sons of Gazera, the sons of Uzza, the sons of Phinoe, the sons of Hasrah, the sons of Basthai, the sons of Asnah, the sons of Maani, the sons of Nephisim, the sons of Acuph, the sons of Hakupha, the sons of Asur, the sons of Pharakim, the sons of Bazluth, [32]the sons of Mehida, the sons of Cutha, the sons of Charea, the sons of Barkos, the sons of Serar, the sons of Temah, the sons of Neziah, the sons of Hatipha.

[33]The sons of the servants of Solomon: the sons of Assaphioth, the sons of Peruda, the sons of Jaalah, the sons of Lozon, the sons of Isdael, the sons of Shephatiah, [34]the sons of Agia, the sons of Pochereth-hazzebaim, the sons of Sarothie, the sons of Masiah, the sons of Gas, the sons of Addus, the sons of Subas, the sons of Apherra, the sons of Barodis, the sons of Shaphat, the sons of Allon. [35]All the temple servants and the sons of the servants of Solomon were three hundred seventy-two.

[36]Those who come up from Thermeleth and Thelersas, led by Charaath, Adan and Amar, [37]were unable to tell of their lineage and generation as to how they were from Israel. They were the sons of Delaiah the son of Tobiah, and the sons of Nekoda, and their number was six hundred fifty-two.

[38]The priests who laid claim to the priesthood but were not found in the register were: the sons of Habaiah, the sons of Hakkoz, and the sons of Jaddus, who married Agia, one of the daughters of Barzillai, and was called by his name. [39]So when a search into the lineage of these men was made in the register, and nothing was found, they were removed from the list to perform priestly service. [40]Nehemiah and Attharias said they were not to partake in the holy things until a high priest arose wearing the Urim and the Thummim.

[41]All those from Israel from twelve years of age and older, apart from the male and female servants, were forty-two thousand three hundred sixty. Their male and female servants were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven. Cantors and musicians were two hundred forty-five. [42]There were four hundred thirty-five camels, seven thousand thirty-six horses, two hundred forty-five mules, and five thousand five hundred twenty-five donkeys.

[43]Some of the heads of the paternal houses in Israel arrived at the temple of God in Jerusalem and vowed to the best of their ability to rebuild the house on its site, [44]and to give to the temple treasury for its works: one thousand minas of gold, five thousand minas of silver, and one hundred priestly vestments. [45]The priests, the Levites, and some of the people decided to live in Jerusalem, while the temple singers and doorkeepers settled in the countryside with all Israel in their villages.

The Altar Is Made Ready

[46]When the seventh month came and each of the children of Israel was settled in his own place, they gathered together with one accord in the open area of the first gate toward the east. [47]Then Jeshua the son of Jozadak and his brother-priests and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel with his brothers took charge. They prepared the altar of the God of Israel [48]to offer whole burnt offerings on it according to what was said in the book of Moses, the man of God.

[49]Some of the other people from the land gathered with them in hostility, and all the people of the land were stronger than they. Yet they set up the altar in its place and offered sacrifices and whole burnt offerings to the Lord at the appointed times, morning and evening. [50]They also kept the Feast of Tabernacles as commanded in the law, and they offered sacrifices every day as was fitting. [51]After this they offered the daily sacrifices and the sacrifices of the Sabbaths, the new moons, and all the sacred feasts. [52]As many as made a vow to God began to offer sacrifices to Him from the new moon of the seventh month, but the temple of God was not built as yet. [53]So they gave silver to the stonecutters and the woodworkers, and food, drink, and conveyances to the Sidonians and Tyrians, to bring cedar trees from Lebanon, then float them on rafts to the harbor at Joppa, according to the ordinance written to them from King Cyrus of the Persians.

[54]Then in the second year and the second month after they came to the temple of God in Jerusalem, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, Jeshua the son of Jozadak and their brothers, and the Levitical priests and all who came to Jerusalem from the captivity began the work. [55]They laid the foundation of God's temple on the new moon of the second month in the second year after they arrived in Judea and Jerusalem. [56]They established the Levites who were twenty years and older over the Lord's works. So Jeshua and his sons and brothers, and Kadmiel his brother, and the sons of Jeshua Emadabun, and the sons of Joda son of Iliadun with his sons and brothers, and all the Levites moved forward the work on God's house with one accord.

[57]The builders built the temple of the Lord. Then the priests, donned in their vestments and with musical instruments and trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with their cymbals, praised and blessed the Lord according to the instructions of King David of Israel. [58]They sang hymns, thanking the Lord "for His goodness and His glory to all Israel unto the ages." [59]All the people cried out with a loud voice, singing to the Lord because of the raising of the Lord's house.

Work on the Temple Is Halted

[60]But some of the priests and Levites, old men who were leaders of their paternal houses, had seen the former temple. So they came to the building of this one with loud crying and bitter wailing. [61]But many others came with trumpets and a loud shout of joy. [62]However, the crowd could not hear the trumpets because of the people who wept. Therefore the multitude blew their trumpets so loud, the sound could be heard far away.

63When the enemies of the tribe of Judah and Benjamin heard it, they came to see what the noise of the trumpets was about. 64They discovered that those from the captivity were rebuilding the temple for the Lord God of Israel. 65So they approached Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the leaders of the paternal houses and said to them, “We will build together with you. 66For we likewise obey your Lord and have offered sacrifices to Him from the days of King Esarhaddon of the Assyrians who brought us here.” 67But Zerubbabel, Jeshua, and the leaders of the paternal houses of Israel answered them, “It is not for you and us to build the house of the Lord our God. 68For we alone will build it for the Lord of Israel, according to what Cyrus the king of the Persians commanded us.” 69But the peoples of the land moved strongly against those in Judea. They besieged them and hindered them from continuing to build. 70By plots and by false claims and riots, they blocked the completion of the building during the lifetime of King Cyrus. 71They were halted from construction for two years until the reign of Darius.

The Temple Is Completed

1Now in the second year of the reign of Darius, the prophets to the Jews, Haggai and Zechariah the son of Iddo, who were in Judea and Jerusalem, prophesied to them in the name of the Lord God of Israel. 2Then Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak resumed building the house of the Lord in Jerusalem. The prophets of the Lord were with them and helped them. 3During this same time, Sisinnes, governor of Syria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and his associates arrived and said, 4“By whose instruction are you building this house, the roof, and completing all these other things? Who are the builders accomplishing all this?” 5But the elders of the Jews had the grace of visitation from the Lord, for His grace was over the captives. 6So they were not stopped from construction until word could be gotten to Darius about them and a response received. 7Here is a copy of the letter which Sisinnes, governor of Syria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and their officers, the governors in Syria and Phoenicia, wrote and sent to Darius:

[8]“To King Darius: Greetings. Let it be known fully to our lord the king that we arrived in the country of Judea and went into the city of Jerusalem. We discovered the elders of the Jews from the captivity building a great new house for the Lord in the city. It is made of polished stones with very costly wood laid on the walls. [9]Those works are being done with zeal, and the work is flourishing at their hands. It is being finished with all grandeur and carefulness.

[10]“We inquired of their elders, saying, ‘By whose direction are you building this house and setting the foundations for this building?’ [11]Then we asked them who their leaders were, for the sake of making them known to you in writing. And we asked them for a list of names. [12]They replied, ‘We are the servants of the Lord who created heaven and earth. [13]This house was built many years before by a king of Israel. He was great and powerful, and it was completed. [14]But when our fathers sinned against the Lord of Israel, who is in heaven, and provoked Him, He handed them over to the authority of Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon and of the Chaldeans. [15]He both razed the house and set it on fire; then he led the people as captives to Babylon.

[16]‘But in the first year King Cyrus reigned over the country of Babylon, he wrote to rebuild this house. [17]Then King Cyrus brought out the sacred vessels of gold and silver which Nebuchadnezzar had carried from this house in Jerusalem and put in his own temple, and he handed them over to Zerubbabel and Sheshbazzar the governor. [18]He then commanded him to carry all these vessels and put them back in the temple in Jerusalem, and to rebuild the Lord’s temple in this place. [19]Then this same Sheshbazzar, after he arrived here, set the foundations of the Lord’s house in Jerusalem. From that time until now, the rebuilding has continued, but it is not yet completed.’

[20]“Now therefore, O king, if you so determine, let a search be conducted in the royal archives of our lord the king in Babylon. [21]If it is discovered that the rebuilding of the house of the Lord in Jerusalem was done with the permission of King Cyrus and approved by our lord the king, let him direct us concerning this matter.”

[22]Then King Darius ordered a search to be conducted in the royal archives that were delivered to Babylon. So a scroll was found in the palace in Ecbatana in the country of Media wherein these words were recorded: [23]“In the first year of the reign of King Cyrus, he commanded that the Lord’s house in Jerusalem, where they sacrifice with perpetual fire, be rebuilt. [24]It was to be sixty cubits high and sixty cubits wide, with three layers of polished stones and one layer of new native wood. The expenses were to be paid from King Cyrus's treasury. [25]The sacred vessels of the Lord's house, those of both gold and silver which Nebuchadnezzar had carried from the house in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, these were to be returned to the house in Jerusalem and replaced where they were previously."

[26]Darius therefore commanded Sisinnes the governor of Syria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and their officers, and those chosen as leaders in Syria and Phoenicia, to stay away from the place, and to allow Zerubbabel the servant of the Lord and governor of Judea, and the elders of the Jews to erect the Lord's house on its former site.

[27]"I also command," he continued, "that the building be completed and that you be fully intent on helping the captives who returned to Judea until the completion of the Lord's house. [28]Furthermore, care must be taken to give a contribution from the regular tribute of Coelesyria and Phoenicia to these men, that is, to Zerubbabel, for bulls, rams, and lambs for sacrifices to the Lord. [29]Likewise, a regular contribution must be given every year, without complaining, of wheat, salt, wine, and oil for daily consumption, as the priests in Jerusalem may dictate, [30]so they may offer drink offerings to God Most High on behalf of the king and his children, and pray concerning their lives."

[31]Moreover he commanded, "As many as transgress or void anything written herein, wood should be taken from his own house and he will be hanged upon it. His possessions are then to be given over to the king.

[32]"Therefore, may the Lord whose name is invoked there destroy any king and nation that shall reach forth their hands to prevent or ruin the house of the Lord in Jerusalem. [33]I, King Darius, declare as herein decreed that this be accomplished diligently."

1 Ezra 7

[1]Then Sisinnes, governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, and Sathrabuzanes and his associates followed the command of King Darius, [2]and took diligent care of the holy works, and worked together with the elders of the Jews and the governors of the temple. [3]The sacred works were free from difficulty while the prophets Haggai and Zechariah prophesied. [4]So they completed these by the command of the Lord God of Israel; [5]and with the consent of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, the Persian kings, the house was completed the twenty-third day of the month of Adar during the sixth year of King Darius.

6Then the children of Israel, and the priests, the Levites, and the rest of those from the captivity who joined them did according to what is recorded in the book of Moses. 7For at the dedication of the Lord's temple, they offered one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, 8and twelve young goats as a sin offering for all Israel, with reference to the number of the twelve chiefs of Israel's tribes. 9The priests, clothed in their vestments according to their own people, attended to the works of the Lord God of Israel in accordance with the book of Moses, and the doorkeepers stood at each gate.

10The children of Israel who came from the captivity kept Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month, following the priests and the Levites being purified together. 11But although all the Levites were purified together, not all the children of the captivity were purified. 12Nevertheless they sacrificed Passover for all the children of the captivity, for their brother priests, and for themselves. 13The children of Israel who came from the captivity and all who sought the Lord and separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land ate the paschal lamb. 14They also observed the Feast of Unleavened Bread for seven days and rejoiced before the Lord. 15For He changed the counsel of the king of the Assyrians regarding them to make their hands strong in the works of the Lord God of Israel.

Ezra Returns to Jerusalem

1Now Ezra was born after these events, when King Artaxerxes of the Persians was reigning. Ezra was the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Shallum, 2the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, the son of Amariah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, the son of Abishua, the son of Phineas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the high priest. 3This Ezra came up out of Babylon as a scribe well-versed in the Law of Moses given by the God of Israel. 4The king gave him honor, for he found favor before him in all his petitions.

5Some of the children of Israel, and some of the priests, Levites, temple singers, doorkeepers and temple servants also came up with him to Jerusalem. This took place in the seventh year of Artaxerxes' reign, in the fifth month (this was his seventh year as king). [6]For they departed from Babylon on the new moon of the first month and entered Jerusalem on the new moon of the fifth month, according to the prosperous journey given them by the Lord. [7]For Ezra had such great skill that he left out nothing from the law and commandments of the Lord. He taught all Israel the complete ordinances and judgments.

Artaxerxes' Letter to Ezra

[8]A written ordinance from King Artaxerxes came to Ezra the priest and reader of the law of the Lord. A copy of it is as follows:

[9]"King Artaxerxes, to Ezra the priest and reader of the law of the Lord: Greetings. [10]I have decided to be benevolent and to order that any among the Jews, the priests and Levites, and those in our kingdom who wish and choose to do so may sojourn with you to Jerusalem.

[11]"As many therefore as have so determined, let them go out together with you (as this has seemed good to me and the seven friends who are my advisors) [12]so they may take care of matters concerning Judea and Jerusalem, as recorded in the law of the Lord, [13]and also carry gifts to the Lord of Israel which I and my friends have vowed for Jerusalem. If any gold and silver is found in the country of Babylon for the Lord in Jerusalem, let this also be collected, along with any gifts from the nation for the temple of their Lord in Jerusalem, [14]both of gold and silver for bulls, rams, and lambs, and whatever is needed with them, [15]to offer sacrifices upon the altar of their Lord in Jerusalem.

[16]"Whatever you and your brethren decide to do with the silver and gold, do it according to the will of your God, [17]as well as with the holy vessels of the Lord given to you for the needs of the temple of your God in Jerusalem. [18]Whatever else remains that you may happen to need for the temple of your God, it will be given you from the king's treasury.

[19]"I, King Artaxerxes, have ordered the treasurers of Syria and Phoenicia that whatever Ezra the priest and reader of the law of the Almighty God requests, they are to be diligent to give him, up to the sum of one hundred talents of silver, [20]and likewise, up to one hundred measures of wheat, one hundred measures of wine, and an abundance of salt. [21]Let all these things be performed carefully according to the law of God for the Most High God, that His anger may not descend on the kingdom of the king or his sons. [22]I also say to you that no tribute or penalty is to be imposed upon any priests, Levites, temple singers, doorkeepers, temple servants, or anyone having duties in this temple. Nor does anyone have the authority to levy any taxes upon them.

23"As for you, Ezra, appoint judges and justices in all Syria and Phoenicia according to the wisdom of God, that they may judge everyone who knows the law of your God; but you shall instruct those who do not know it. 24For whoever transgresses the law of your God and the royal law will be severely punished, either by death or another punishment, or by a monetary penalty or imprisonment."

Return of the Leaders

25So Ezra the scribe said, "Blessed is the only Lord God, who put these things into the king's heart to glorify His house in Jerusalem, 26and who gave me honor before the king and before his advisors, friends, and nobles. 27I was very encouraged by the help of my Lord and God and brought together men of Israel to journey with me."

28Here are the officers according to their paternal families and the governors who came up with me from Babylon during the reign of King Artaxerxes: 29Of the sons of Phineas, Gershom; of the sons of Ithamar, Gamael; of the sons of David, Hattush the son of Sechenias; 30of the sons of Parosh, Zechariah, and with him one hundred fifty men from the register; 31of the sons of Pahath-Moab, Eliehoenai the son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred men; 32of the sons of Zattu, Secheniah the son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred men; of the sons of Adin, Obed the son of Jonathan, and with him two hundred fifty men; 33of the sons of Elam, Josiah son of Gotholiah, and with him seventy men; 34of the sons of Shephatiah, Zeraiah the son of Michael, and with him seventy men; 35of the sons of Joab, Obadiah son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred twelve men; 36of the sons of Bani, Shelomith the son of Josiphiah, and with him one hundred sixty men; 37of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty-eight men; 38of the sons of Azag, Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred ten men; 39of the sons of Adonikam, the last ones, and these are their names: Eliphalat, Jeuel, and Shemaiah, and with them seventy men; 40of the sons of Bigvai, Uthai the son of Istalcurus, and with him seventy men.

41I gathered them together at the river called Theras. We camped there for three days, and I carefully observed them. 42When I did not find among them any sons of priests or Levites, [43]I sent word to Eleazar, Iduel, Maasmas, Jarib, Nathan, Elnathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, who were officers and men of understanding. [44]I directed them to go to Iddo, who was the leader over the place of the treasury, [45]and commanded them to reason with Iddo and his brothers and those at the place of the treasury to send us those who would serve as priests in the house of our Lord. [46]By the mighty hand of our Lord, they brought us skilled men of the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, that is, Sherebiah and his eighteen sons and brothers; [47]and also Asebiah and Annunus, and Hosaiah his brother, of the sons of Chanounaius, and their sons, twenty men; [48]and of the servants of the temple whom David and the officers appointed for the work of the Levites, two hundred twenty temple servants. The list of all their names was made known.

[49]There I declared a fast before our Lord for the young men, [50]to seek from Him a safe journey for us and for those coming with us, for our children and cattle. [51]I was ashamed to ask the king for infantry, cavalry, and an escort for safety against our enemies. [52]For we said to the king, “The strength of our Lord shall be with those who seek Him for any correction.” [53]Again we implored our Lord about all this, and we obtained His mercy.

[54]Then I separated twelve men, Serebiah and Asabiah, chief leaders among the priests, and also ten men from among their brothers with them. [55]I weighed out to them silver and gold, and the sacred vessels from the house of our Lord, which the king himself, his advisors, the nobles, and all Israel had given us. [56]After weighing it, I delivered to them six hundred fifty talents of silver, silver vessels worth one hundred talents, one hundred talents of gold, twenty bowls of wrought gold, and twelve vessels made of fine bronze that glistened like gold. [57]I said to them, “You are set apart to the Lord, as are the sacred vessels and the silver and gold. They are a vow to the Lord, to the Lord of our fathers. [58]Be alert and keep guard until you hand them over to the chief leaders among the priests and Levites, and to the heads of the paternal families of Israel in Jerusalem, to be put in the chambers of the house of our Lord.” [59]Then the priests and Levites took the silver, the gold, and the vessels that had been in Jerusalem and carried them into the house of the Lord.

[60]We broke camp at the river Theras on the twelfth day of the first month and came to Jerusalem, the mighty hand of our Lord with us. He delivered us on the way from every enemy, and we entered Jerusalem. [61]After we had been there three days, the gold and silver were weighed and brought to the house of our Lord to Marmuth the priest, son of Uriah. [62]Eleazar the son of Phineas was with him, as well as the Levites, Josabad the son of Joshua and Moeth the son of Sabannus. They counted the number and weight of everything, which was recorded at that very moment.

63Those who arrived from the captivity offered sacrifices to the Lord, the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-two lambs, and twelve male goats as a thank offering—all as a sacrifice to the Lord. 64Then they presented the king's ordinances to the royal stewards and governors of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, and they honored the people and the temple of the Lord.

65After this was done, the leaders came to me and said, 66"The people of Israel, the priests, and the Levites have not separated from the foreign peoples of the land and from their uncleanness: the Caananites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Moabites, the Egyptians, and the Edomites. 67For they and their sons have married their daughters, and the holy seed has been mingled with the foreign peoples of the land; and from the beginning of this situation the leaders and the nobles have participated in this sin."

68The moment I heard this, I tore my garments and my sacred apparel, pulled out hair from my head and beard, and sat down deep in turmoil and great sadness. 69Then as many as ever were moved by the word of the Lord of Israel, these gathered around me as I mourned over this lawlessness and sat in deep distress until the evening sacrifice. 70Then I rose up from the fast with my garments and sacred apparel torn, bowed down on my knees, and stretched out my hands to the Lord, saying:

Ezra's Prayer to God

71"O Lord, I am shamed and hesitant before Your face. 72For our sins abound far above our heads, and our ignorance has risen up to heaven. 73From the time of our fathers until this day, we are in great sin. 74Because of our iniquities and those of our fathers, we with our brothers, our kings, and our priests were handed over to the kings of the earth, to the sword, to captivity, to foraging, in shamefulness until this very day.

75"Now how great is the mercy that has come to us from You, O Lord! For You have left us a root and a name in this place of Your sanctuary, 76to unveil a light to us in the house of our Lord and God and to give us food in the time of our captivity. 77Even in our servitude we were never forsaken by our Lord, but He gave us favor with the kings of Persia, 78who gave us food and honored the temple of our Lord. They also raised up Zion from destruction and gave us a firm footing in Judea and Jerusalem.

79"So now, what are we to say, O Lord, since we have these things? For we disobeyed Your ordinances which You gave by the hand of Your servants the prophets, who said, 80'The land into which you are entering as an inheritance is a land made unclean by the defilement of the foreign peoples of the land, for they have filled it with their impurity. 81Thus, you are not to give your daughters in marriage to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons. 82Never seek to live in peace with them, that you may be strong and partake of the good things of the land, giving it to your children as an inheritance forever.'

83"Everything that happened to us came about because of our evil works and our many sins. 84You, O Lord, lightened the burden of our iniquities and gave us so great a root. But we turned back once more to transgress Your law, to mingle with the impurity of the foreigners in the land. 85Were You not furious with us to destroy us until there was no root left, nor a seed, nor our name? 86You are faithful, O Lord of Israel, for we were left as a root to this very day. 87Behold, we are now before You in our lawlessness, for because of this there is no place for us to stand before You."

88As Ezra was praying and giving thanks, weeping and prostrate on the ground before the temple, a very large crowd gathered around him—men, women, and young men from Jerusalem—for there was great lamentation among the people.

Foreign Wives Are Put Away

89Then Shecaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Israel, called out and said to Ezra, "We sinned against the Lord in taking foreign wives from among the peoples of the land, but now there is hope in Israel. 90Let us swear an oath to the Lord in this, to put away all our foreign wives with their children, as decided by you and by as many as obey the law of the Lord. 91Stand up and complete this task; for it is in your hands, and we are with you to take firm action." 92So Ezra stood up and commanded the leaders of the priests and the Levites of all Israel to act accordingly. Thus they swore an oath.

[1]Then Ezra arose from the court of the temple and went into the chamber of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib. [2]He spent the night there and ate no bread nor drank any water, but mourned over the great lawlessness of the people.

[3]A proclamation went forth throughout all Judea and Jerusalem that everyone from the captivity should gather in Jerusalem. [4]But for those who would not meet in two or three days, according to the presiding elders, their cattle would be confiscated for sacrifice and the men themselves would be excluded from the people who returned from exile. [5]So the men from the tribes of Judah and Benjamin gathered in Jerusalem on the third day, which was on the twentieth day of the ninth month. [6]Because of the inclement weather, all the people sat down, shivering together in the spacious court outside the temple.

[7]Ezra stood to his feet and spoke to them, saying, “You acted lawlessly and married foreign women, so you added to the sin of Israel. [8]Now therefore, make your confession and glorify the Lord God of our fathers. [9]Do His will and be separate from the peoples of the land and from your foreign wives.”

[10]Then all the people cried out and said with a loud voice, “Thus as You have said, we will do. [11]But our number is great and it is wintertime, so we cannot stand in the open air and find a way to do this work in one or two days; for we have sinned greatly in these matters. [12]So let the leaders of the people remain, and let those in our communities who have foreign wives return at an appointed time [13]to meet with the elders and judges of each settlement until we are delivered from the Lord’s wrath in this matter.” [14]Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jehziah the son of Thokanos accepted their conditions, and Meshullam, Levi, and Shabbethai agreed to be fellow arbitrators with them. [15]All those from the captivity also were in agreement with this.

[16]Then Ezra the priest chose for himself leading men of their paternal families, naming all of them, and on the first day of the tenth month they sat down together to begin their examinations [17]of the men who had taken foreign wives. These cases were brought to a conclusion on the new moon of the first month.

[18]Those priests who were found to have foreign wives were: [19]from the sons of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak and his brethren, Maseiah, Eliazar, Jarib, and Jodan. [20]They swore under oath to put away their wives and to make atonement with rams for their ignorance. [21]The priests from the sons of Immer were Ananias, Zebadiah, Manes and Shemaiah and Jehiel and Azariah. [22]And from the sons of Pashur: Elionai, Maasiah, Ishmael, Nathanael, Okideilus, and Salthas.

[23]From the Levites there were Jozabad and Shimei and Kolaiah, who was Kalitah, and Pethaiah and Judah and Jonah; [24]and from the temple singers there were Eliashib and Bacchurus; [25]and from the gatekeepers there were Shallum and Tolbanes.

[26]And from Israel: from the sons of Phorus, there were Jermas, Izziah, Melchiah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Asibias, and Benaiah. [27]From the sons of Elam there were Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jezrielus and Obadiah, Jeremoth and Elijah. [28]From the sons of Zamoth there were Eliadas, Eliasimus, Othoniah, Jeremoth, Sabathus, and Zerdaiah. [29]From the sons of Bebai, there were Johannes, Ananias, Zabdus, and Emathis. [30]From the sons of Mani there were Olamus, Mamuchus, Jedaiah, Jashub, Asaeilus, and Jeremoth. [31]From the sons of Addi there were Naathus, Moossiah, Laccunus, Naidus, Bescaspasmas, Sestheel, Balnouas, and Manasseh. [32]From the sons of Annan there were Elionas, Asaias, Melchias, Sabbaias, and Simon Chosamaias. [33]From the sons of Asam there were Maltannias, Mattathias, Zabannias, Eliphalat, Manasseh, and Shimei. [34]From the sons of Bahni there were Jeremiah, Mamdias, Maerus, Joel, Mamdai, Paedias, Vaniah, Carabasian, Eliasibas, Mamnitanaimas, Eliasis, Bannous, Elialis, Shomeis, Shelemiah, and Nethaniah. [35]From the sons of Ezora there were Shessis, Ezriel, Azeilas, Samatus, Zambris, and Joseph; and from the sons of Noomah there were Mazitias, Zabadias, Iddo, Joel, and Benaiah. [36]All of these married foreign women, whom they sent away along with their children.

The Reading of the Law

[37]The priests, the Levites, and those from Israel settled in Jerusalem and in the countryside on the new moon of the seventh month. So the children of Israel were in their dwelling places. [38]Then all the people gathered with one accord in the spacious place before the east gate of the temple. [39]They asked Ezra the high priest and reader to bring the Law of Moses, which had been handed down by the Lord God of Israel. [40]So Ezra the high priest brought the law for all the people—both men, women, and all the priests—to hear the law on the new moon of the seventh month. [41]He read aloud in the open place before the temple gate from early morning to noonday in the presence of both men and women; and all the people paid attention to the law. [42]Ezra the priest and reader of the law stood upon the wooden judgment seat that had been

[45]Then Ezra took in hand the book of the law in the presence of the people, for he had the seat of honor before all of them; [46]and when he opened the law, all of them stood up straight. Ezra then blessed the Lord God Most High, the God of Hosts, the Almighty. [47]All the people cried out, “Amen!” They raised up their hands, then fell prostrate on the ground and worshiped the Lord.

[48]The Levites, Jeshua, Anniuth, Sarabiah, Jadinus, Jakoubas, Sabbateus, Autias, Maiannas, Kalitas, Azariah and Jozabdas, Ananias, and Pelaiah, taught the law of the Lord. At the same time, they explained what was being read.

[49]Attarates then spoke to Ezra the high priest and reader, and to the Levites who taught the people, and to the multitude, saying, [50]“This day is holy to the Lord” (now all were weeping when they heard the law), [51]“so go therefore and eat the fat and drink the sweet, and send a gift to those who have none. [52]For this day is holy to the Lord. Do not be grieved, for the Lord will honor you.” [53]So the Levites gave a command to all the people, saying, “This day is holy; do not be grieved.”

[54]Then everyone went on their way to eat and drink, to gladden themselves, to give gifts to those who were lacking, and to heartily rejoice. [55]For they were inspired by the words which were taught to them, and they gathered together.

Annotations for 1 Ezra

1:1–31 The Passover under Josiah and the account of his death (vv. 26–31). Josiah was the last king of Judah to seek truth (v. 21). As such, he is a figure of Christ, who is the embodiment of truth (Jn 14:6). From Exodus 12 we learn that the Feast of the Passover is an OT type of the NT paschal feast (1Co 10:23–26), in which the Church celebrates the death and Resurrection of Christ.

2:1–4 Just as Josiah was the last Jewish king to seek the truth of God, so Cyrus was the first Gentile king to find truth in the Lord of Israel. And just as God used Cyrus, a Gentile king of Persia, to rebuild the physical temple and set the Jews free, so He will use Christ, King of the Jews, to build His Church and set the Gentiles free.

3:1, 2 This great banquet is also an icon of creation, which is itself a symbol of Christ's work in His Incarnation. The Feast of Passover described in 1 Ezra also images the heavenly banquet (Rev 19:7–9), and both are experienced today in the Holy Eucharist. As the psalmist writes, "But God is our King before the ages; / He worked salvation in the midst of the earth" (Ps 73:12).

3:4, 5 These three young men who speak as one are, like the three men at the trees of Mamre (Gn 18:2), another OT symbol of the Holy Trinity. Their role as the king's bodyguards illustrates the way in which the unknowable, inconceivable God reveals Himself in His creation as Triune.

3:6 Purple denotes royalty and equality with the king (see note on Est 6:6–9); the gold cups symbolize Christ's cup of salvation; sleep in a gold bed foreshadows His rest in the tomb; the chariot—like Elijah's chariot of fire (3Kg 2:11)—foreshadows the Ascension; the linen head covering points both to the OT priesthood and to the linen in which Christ's body was wrapped (Jn 20:7); and the necklace symbolizes virtue (Pr 3:3, 22; 6:21; SS 1:10; see also Dan 5:7).

3:7 Christ is the personification of wisdom. He sits next to the Father and is called His Son, His kinsman.

3:10–12 Wine, the king, and women, which prevail, and the truth, which conquers, are all illustrations of the divine attributes of God revealed in Christ and His Church. As these are explained to the king's court by the three bodyguards (3:15–4:41), so Christ, full of the Holy Spirit and in obedience to the Father, will reveal the three Persons of the Godhead when He is manifest to the world.

3:17–24 The strength of wine symbolizes the "new wine" of the new covenant (Mt 9:15–17): the Holy Spirit uniting with and dwelling within men. St. Paul writes, "And do not be drunk with wine . . . but be filled with the Spirit" (Eph 5:18).

4:1–12 The second man's speech about the king illustrates the manner in which God revealed Himself to man under the old covenant. He was known as their master (v. 3), a God who is to be obeyed by his people and his army (v. 10). The phrase one man (v. 7) is notable because the God of Israel is "One God," who did not reveal Himself as Trinity until the advent of Christ.

4:13 The third, named Zerubbabel, is the only one of the three bodyguards who is named. He is of Christ's lineage (Mt 1:12), a leader in the rebuilding of the temple, and a figure of Christ.

4:14, 15 Women prevail, for women fulfill man's purpose. God intended for men and women to be united in love, just as Christ and His Church are united in love (Eph 5:22, 23). Thus, as Zerubbabel describes women, we see Christ describing His relationship with His Bride.

4:16, 17 Vineyards and wine (v. 16) symbolize the Eucharist, and clothing (v. 17) points to being clothed with Christ in baptism. As woman is the glory of man (1Co 11:7), so the Church is the glory of Christ (Eph 5:21).

4:20 This is a paraphrase of Gn 2:24. According to St. Paul, the union of man and wife in marriage is an image of Christ and His Church (Eph 5:30–32; see note at 4:14, 15).

4:29–31 The concubine is often an OT figure of fallen humanity. She has received God's crown, that is His divine image and likeness, on her own head in creation (Gn 1:26). On the other hand, she has struck the king—indeed, killed him—that she might be reconciled with him, that is, with Christ.

4:33, 34 God and man looked at one another when Christ revealed Himself in truth to men.

4:35–40 Note especially the striking resemblance between this passage concerning truth and St. Paul's discourse on love (1Co 13). This passage is quoted extensively by the Fathers.

4:41 Echoing the voices of all the people in the king's court, the faithful sing at the end of the Divine Liturgy, "We have found the true faith, worshiping the undivided Trinity, who has saved us!"

4:42 Ask what you will: As the Father gives all things to the Son, so Christ gives all things to those who ask according to His will (Mt 21:22; Jn 14:14; 1Jn 5:15).

4:43–45 The request of Zerubbabel, echoed in the prayer of the repentant thief (Lk 23:42), reveals the will of God for the world: rebuild Jerusalem, that is, "the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem" (Heb 12:22). Send back all the vessels (v. 44) and rebuild the temple (v. 45) in a spiritual sense means to restore holiness in the hearts of men, which have been laid waste by sin.

6:1—7:15 This passage chronicles the completion of the temple under the leadership of Haggai and Zechariah. The building of the earthly temple is a type of our deification—becoming like God by His grace (1Co 6:19).

8:1–7 Ezra was one appointed by God to study and know the Law of Moses (v. 3), that he might teach it to others.

8:65–67 The law reveals the truth about the sins of the people, and transgression of the law is punishable by death (8:24).

8:68–92 Ezra is seen to be a man of prayer who repents for the sins of the people. Seeing his piety (v. 89), the leaders call a fast, and the people begin to repent and pray with one voice, for without repentance there can be no mercy (v. 75) and no salvation. Thus, as through one man's prayers Israel is saved, so through Christ's prayer (see Jn 17) the world is saved and the law fulfilled.

9:3, 4 This was a compulsory gathering where the people would listen to Ezra's exhortation (v. 7).

9:6–15 The cold weather prompts the people to request that dealing with the problem of foreign wives (v. 9) be handled in the local settlements.

9:42 Ezra read the law from a judgment seat, a place of authority erected for him (see 3:14).

9:55 That the hearers of the law were inspired by the words of the Scriptures brings to mind the response of the disciples ("Did not our heart burn within us?") as the Lord Jesus Christ opened to them the Holy Scriptures (Lk 24:32).

The Second Book of Ezra

(Ezra)

Author

Date

Dated at the return from exile in Persia from 538 to 410 BC.

Major Theme

The God of heaven Himself will prosper us (Neh 2:20). Ezra warns the people in Jerusalem that God requires absolute faithfulness to the Law of Moses and the prescribed temple worship. The future of the Israelites depends on their removal of all corrupting influences and cultures, especially the pagan practices of the Philistines, Samaritans, and Egyptians.

Another unifying theme is a reminder that the chosen people of God are to trust in Him and not in their military strength, because God delivers those that obey His laws and trust Him. Therefore, this book is considered a book of theology and not strictly history, since the emphasis is on the connection between sin and punishment for not following God, and faithfulness and blessing when God's commands are kept.

Background

Cyrus the Persian overthrew Babylon in 539 BC and issued his decree allowing the Jews to return in 538. The return to their homeland occurred in three waves over the next one hundred years. Ezra returned in the second group, in 457 BC.

Cyrus's Order to Rebuild the Temple

[1]Now in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia, that the word of the Lord from the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled, the Lord stirred up the spirit of Cyrus, king of Persia, and he made a proclamation throughout his entire kingdom, and even put it in writing, saying, [2]"Thus says Cyrus king of the Persians: 'The Lord God of heaven gave to me all the kingdoms of the earth. And He commanded me to build Him a house at Jerusalem in Judea. [3]Who is there among you from all His people? For his God shall be with him, and he shall go up to Jerusalem in Judea and rebuild the house of the God of Israel. He is the God who is in Jerusalem. [4]And each one remaining from all the places where he lives as a stranger, the people from where he lives shall help him with silver and gold, and goods, and livestock, along with freewill offerings for the house of the God which is in Jerusalem.' "

[5]Then the heads of the families of Judah and Benjamin, and the priests and the Levites, with all whose spirits God stirred up arose to go up and rebuild the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem. [6]And all those around them encouraged them with vessels of silver and gold, with goods and livestock, and by gifts, in addition to the freewill offerings. [7]King Cyrus brought out the articles of the house of the Lord which Nebuchadnezzar took away from Jerusalem and then placed in the house of his god, [8]and Cyrus king of the Persians brought them out by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and counted them out to Sheshbazzar, a ruler of Judah. [9]And this is their number: thirty gold basins, one thousand silver basins, twenty-nine knives, [10]thirty gold bowls, two hundred silver bowls, and one thousand other vessels. [11]All the vessels of gold and silver going up with Sheshbazzar from the land of exile, from Babylon into Jerusalem, totaled five thousand four hundred.

The Census of Those Returning to Judea

[1]And these are the sons from the places of the people who had gone up from the captivity, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away and settled in Babylon, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judea, every man into his city. [2]Those who came with Zerubbabel were Jesus, Nehemiah, Seraiah, Reelaiah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, and Baanah.

The number of the men of the people of Israel: [3]the sons of Parosh were two thousand one hundred seventy-two; [4]the sons of Shephatiah were three hundred seventy-two; [5]the sons of Arah were seven hundred seventy-five; [6]the sons of Pahath-Moab belonging to the sons of Jesus and Joab were two thousand eight hundred twelve; [7]the sons of Elam were one thousand two hundred fifty-four; [8]the sons of Zattu were nine hundred forty-five; [9]the sons of Zaccai were seven hundred sixty; [10]the sons of Bani were six hundred forty-two; [11]the sons of Bebai were six hundred twenty-three; [12]the sons of Azgad were three thousand two hundred twenty-two; [13]the sons of Adonikam were six hundred sixty-six; [14]the sons of Bigvai were two thousand fifty-six; [15]the sons of Adin were four hundred fifty-four; [16]the sons of Ater belonging to Hezekiah were ninety-eight; [17]the sons of Bezai were three hundred twenty-three; [18]the sons of Jorah were one hundred twelve; [19]the sons of Hashum were two hundred twenty-three; [20]the sons of Gibbar were ninety-five; [21]the sons of Bethlehem were one hundred twenty-three; [22]the sons of Netophah were fifty-six; [23]the sons of Anathoth were one hundred twenty-eight; [24]the sons of Azmaveth were forty-two; [25]the sons of Kirjath Arim, Chephirah, and Beeroth were seven hundred forty-three; [26]the sons of Ramah and Geba were six hundred twenty-one; [27]the men of Michmas were one hundred twenty-two; [28]the men of Bethel and Ai were four hundred twenty-three; [29]the sons of Nebo were fifty-two; [30]the sons of Magbish were one hundred fifty-six; [31]the sons of Elam were one thousand two hundred fifty-four; [32]the sons of Harim were three hundred twenty; [33]the sons of Lod, Aroth, and Ono were seven hundred twenty-five; [34]the sons of Jericho were three hundred forty-five; [35]the sons of Senaah were three thousand six hundred thirty; [36]the priests: the sons of Jedaiah belonging to the house of Jesus were nine hundred seventy-three; [37]the sons of Immer were one thousand fifty-two; [38]the sons of Pashhur were one thousand two hundred forty-seven; [39]the sons of Harim were one thousand seven; [40]the Levites, the sons of Jesus and Kadmiel, belonging to the sons of Hodaviah were seventy-four; [41]the singers: the sons of Asaph were one hundred twenty-eight; [42]the sons of the gatekeepers: the sons of Shallum, the sons of Ater, the sons of Talmon, the sons of Akkub, the sons of Hatita, and the sons of Shobai were one hundred thirty-nine in all; [43]the Nethinim: the sons of Ziha, the sons of Hasupha, the sons of Tabbaoth, [44]the sons of Keros, the sons of Siaha, the sons of Padon, [45]the sons of Lebanah, the sons of Hagabah, the sons of Akkub, [46]the sons of Hagab, the sons of Shalmai, the sons of Hanan, [47]the sons of Giddel, the sons of Gahar, the sons of Reaiah, [48]the sons of Rezin, the sons of Nekoda, the sons of Gazzam, [49]the sons of Uzza, the sons of Paseah, the sons of Besai, [50]the sons of Asnah, the sons of Meunim, the sons of Nephusim, [51]the sons of Bakbuk, the sons of Hakupha, the sons of Harhur, [52]the sons of Bazluth, the sons of Mehida, the sons of Harsha, [53]the sons of Barkos, the sons of Sisera, the sons of Tamah, [54]the sons of Neziah, and the sons of Hatipha; [55]the sons of Abdeselma: the sons of Sotai, the sons of Sophereth, the sons of Peruda, [56]the sons of Jaala, the sons of Darkon, the sons of Giddel, [57]the sons of Shephatiah, the sons of Hattil, the sons of Pochereth of Zebaim, and the sons of Ami; [58]all the Nethinim and the sons of Abdeselma were three hundred ninety-two.

[59]And these came up from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cherub, Addan, and Immer; but they could not identify their father's house or their seed, whether it was of Israel: [60]the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Bua, the sons of Tobiah, and the sons of Nekoda were six hundred fifty-two; [61]and of the sons of the priests: the sons of Habaiah, the sons of Koz, and the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called by their name. [62]These sought their names among those registered by genealogy, but they were not found. Therefore they were excluded from the priesthood. [63]And Athersatha told them not to eat from the holy things until a priest should arise with the Lights and Perfections.

[64]And the whole assembly together counted forty-two thousand three hundred sixty, [65]besides their male and female servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred thirty-seven; and there were two hundred men and women singers. [66]They had seven hundred thirty-six horses, two hundred forty-five mules, [67]four hundred thirty-five camels, and six thousand seven hundred twenty donkeys.

[68]And some from the heads of the families, when they came up to the house of the Lord in Jerusalem, offered freely for the house of God to erect it in its place. [69]According to their ability, they gave to the treasury for the work sixty-one thousand pieces of pure gold, five thousand pieces of silver, and one hundred garments of the priests. [70]So the priests and the Levites, some of the people, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the temple servants settled down in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

2 Ezra 3

The Feast of Tabernacles Observed

1 And when the seventh month had come and the children of Israel were in their cities, the people gathered together as one person in Jerusalem. 2 Then Jeshua the son of Jozadak and his brothers the priests, and Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and his brothers, arose and built the altar of the God of Israel to offer burnt offerings on it, as it is written in the Law of Moses the man of God. 3 And they set up the altar on the place, for fear had come upon them because of the neighboring peoples of the land, and they offered whole burnt offerings upon it to the Lord, both morning and evening. 4 They also kept the Feast of Tabernacles, as it is written, and offered the daily burnt offerings in the number required by ordinance for each day. 5 Afterwards they offered the regular burnt offering, and those for New Moons and for all the appointed feasts of the Lord that were consecrated, and those of everyone who willingly offered a freewill offering to the Lord. 6 On the first day of the seventh month they began to offer whole burnt offerings to the Lord, although the foundation of the house of the Lord had not yet been laid. 7 They also gave money to the masons and the carpenters, and food, drink, and oil to the people of Sidon and Tyre to bring cedar logs from Lebanon to the sea, to Joppa, according to the permission which they had from Cyrus king of Persia.

Temple Restoration Begins

8 Now in the second month of the second year of their coming to the house of God at Jerusalem, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak began the work, together with the rest of their people, the priests and the Levites, and all those returning from exile to Jerusalem. They appointed the Levites from twenty years and above to oversee the work of the house of the Lord. 9 And Jeshua with his sons and brothers, and Kadmiel with his sons, and the sons of Judah arose to oversee those working on the house of God:
the sons of Henadad, their sons, and their brethren the Levites.

10 And they laid the foundation for the building of the house of the Lord.
And the priests stood in their apparel with trumpets, and the Levites, the sons of Asaph, with cymbals, to praise the Lord, according to the ordinance of David king of Israel. 11And they sang antiphonally in praise and thanksgiving to the Lord that He is good, that His mercy is upon Israel forever. And all the people shouted with a loud voice to give praise to the Lord, for the foundation of the house of the Lord was laid. 12But many of the priests and the Levites and the elders and the heads of the father's houses, who had seen the first temple on its foundation and with their own eyes saw this house, wept with a loud voice. But the multitude, shouting with joy and gladness, lifted up their voices in song, 13and the people could not distinguish the shouting voices of joy and gladness from the wailing of the people weeping, for the people shouted out with a loud shout, and the sound was heard afar off.

Opposition to Restoring the Temple

1Now when those oppressing Judah and Benjamin heard that the sons of the captivity were building a house to the Lord God of Israel, 2they approached Zerubbabel and the heads of the father's houses and said to them, "We will rebuild with you, for we seek as you do, and we have sacrificed to Him since the days of Esarhaddon king of Assyria, who brought us here." 3But Zerubbabel and Jeshua and the rest of the heads of the father's houses of Israel said to them, "It is not for us and you to rebuild a house to our God, for we ourselves will rebuild it to the Lord our God, as King Cyrus the king of the Persians commanded us." 4But the people of the land were weakening the hands of the people of Judah, and were hindering them from building, 5and hiring people to work against them to frustrate their purpose all the days of Cyrus king of Persia, even until the reign of Darius king of Persia.

Resistance to Rebuilding Jerusalem

6In the reign of Ahasuerus, in the beginning of his reign, they wrote a letter against the inhabitants of Judea and Jerusalem. 7And in the days of Artaxerxes, Mithradites, and Tabeel, along with their fellow servants, they wrote in peace to Artaxerxes the king of Persia. The one levying tribute wrote a letter, one having been translated from the Syrian language. 8Rehum the chancellor and Shimshai the scribe wrote one letter against Jerusalem to the king, Artaxerxes:

[9]Thus has judged Rehum the chancellor and Shimshai the scribe, and the rest of our fellow servants the Dinaites, the Apharsathchites, the Tarphalaeans, Apharsaeans, the Archuaeans, the Babylonians, the people of Susa—who are Elamites, [10]and the rest of the nations whom the great and noble Osnapper sent out to colonize the land, and he resettled them in the cities of Samaria, and the rest of them on the other side of the River.

[11]This is the substance of the letter they sent him:

To Artaxerxes the king, from your servants the men beyond the River Jordan. [12]Let it be known to the king that the Jews coming up from you to us came to Jerusalem, and they are rebuilding this rebellious and wicked city, and repairing its walls and raising up its foundations. [13]Now let it be known to the king that if that city is rebuilt and if its walls are restored, you will not collect any taxes, nor will they pay anything, and this wrongs the king. [14]And because of this dishonor of the king, one not fitting for us to witness, we send this letter to inform the king, [15]that a search may be made in the book of the records of your fathers. There you will discover and know that this city is a rebellious city, one that is harmful to kings and provinces, and one having a longstanding history of harboring runaway slaves in the midst of her. It is for this reason the city was destroyed. [16]We therefore point out to the king that if this city is rebuilt and its walls restored, there will not be peace.

To Rehum the chancellor, to Shimshai the scribe, to the rest of their companions who dwelt in Samaria, and to the remainder beyond the River:

Peace. [18]The tax assessor you sent to us was summoned before me, [19]and a command was given by me, and we examined for ourselves and found that this city in previous days raised up in opposition to kings, and that rebellions and desertions take place in it. [20]There have also been mighty kings over Jerusalem who have ruled over all the region beyond the River; and tax, tribute, and custom were paid to them. [21]Now give the command to make these men cease, that this city may not be built until the command is given by me. [22]Take heed now that you do not fail to do this. Why should damage increase to the hurt of the kings?

[23]Then the tax assessor for King Artaxerxes read the letter before Rehum the chancellor, Shimshai the scribe, and their companions. And they went up in haste to Jerusalem against the Jews, and by force of arms made them cease.

[24]Thus the work of the house of God which is at Jerusalem ceased, and it was discontinued until the second year of the reign of Darius king of Persia.

2 Ezra 5

Reconstruction of the Temple Resumes

[1]Then Haggai the prophet and the prophet Zechariah the son of Iddo prophesied to the Jews who were in Judah and Jerusalem, in the name of the God of Israel over them. [2]At that time, Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel and Jeshua the son of Jozadak rose up and began to build the house of God which is in Jerusalem, and the prophets of God were with them, helping them.

[3]At the same time, Tattenai the governor of the region beyond the River and Shethar-Boznai and their companions came there and spoke thus to them: "Who commanded you to build this house and repair this wall?" [4]Then they said this to them, "What are the names of the men, the ones building this city?" [5]But the eyes of God were upon the exiles of Judah, and they were unable to stop them till a report was taken to Darius. Then a written answer was returned concerning this matter.

[6]This is a copy of the letter which Tattenai the governor of the province beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and their fellow servants the Apharsachites, the ones in the province beyond the River Jordan, sent to King Darius. [7]They sent a letter to him in which was written thus:

To Darius the king:

All peace.

[8]Let it be known to the king that we went into the province of Judea, to the temple of the great God, which is being built with heavy stones, and timber is being laid in the walls; and this work goes on diligently and prospers in their hands. [9]Then we asked those elders and spoke thus to them: "Who commanded you to build this temple and to finish these walls?" [10]We also asked them their names to inform you, that we might write the names of the men who were chief among them. [11]And thus they returned us an answer, saying, "We are the servants of the God of heaven and earth, and we are rebuilding the temple that was built many years ago, which a great king of Israel built and completed. [12]But because our fathers provoked the God of heaven to wrath, He gave them into the hand of Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon, the Chaldean, who destroyed this temple and carried the people away to Babylon. [13]However, in the first year of Cyrus king of Babylon, King Cyrus issued a decree to build this house of God. [14]Also, the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar had taken from the temple that was in Jerusalem and carried into the temple of Babylon—those King Cyrus took from the temple of Babylon, and they were given to one named Sheshbazzar, whom he had made governor. [15]And he said to him, 'Take these articles; go, carry them to the temple site that is in Jerusalem, and let the house of God be rebuilt on its former site.' [16]Then the same Sheshbazzar came and laid the foundation of the house of God which is in Jerusalem; but from that time even until now it has been under construction, and it is not finished." [17]Now therefore, if it seems good to the king, let a search be made in the king's treasure house, which is there in Babylon, whether it is so that a decree was issued by King Cyrus to build this house of God at Jerusalem, and let the king send us his pleasure concerning this matter.

King Cyrus' Order Is Rediscovered

[1]Then King Darius issued a decree, and a search was made in the archives, where the treasures were stored in Babylon. [2]And at Achmetha, in the palace that is in the province of Media, a scroll was found, and in it a record was written thus:

[3]In the first year of King Cyrus, King Cyrus issued a decree concerning the house of God at Jerusalem: "Let the house be rebuilt, the place where they offered sacrifices; and let the foundations of it be firmly laid, its height sixty cubits and its width sixty cubits, [4]with three rows of heavy stones and one row of new timber. Let the expenses be paid from the king's treasury. [5]Also let the gold and silver articles of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took from the temple which is in Jerusalem and brought to Babylon, be restored and taken back to the temple which is in Jerusalem, each to its place; and deposit them in the house of God"—

[6]Now therefore, Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, and Shethar-Boznai, and your companions the Persians who are beyond the River, keep yourselves far from there. [7]Let the work of this house of God alone; let the governor of the Jews and the elders of the Jews build this house of God on its site. [8]Moreover I issue a decree as to what you shall do for the elders of these Jews, for the building of this house of God: Let the cost be paid at the king's expense from taxes on the region beyond the River; this is to be given immediately to these men, so that they are not hindered. [9]And whatever they need—young bulls, rams, and lambs for the burnt offerings of the God of heaven, wheat, salt, wine, and oil, according to the request of the priests who are in Jerusalem—let it be given them day by day without fail, [10]that they may offer sacrifices of sweet aroma to the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king and his sons. [11]Also I issue a decree that whoever alters this edict, let a timber be pulled from his house and erected, and let him be hanged on it; and let his house be made a refuse heap because of this. [12]And may the God who causes His name to dwell there destroy any king or people who put their hand to alter it, or to destroy this house of God which is in Jerusalem. I Darius issue a decree; let it be done diligently.

[13]Then Tattenai, governor of the region beyond the River, Shethar-Boznai, and their companions diligently did according to what King Darius had sent.
[14]So the elders of the Jews built, and they prospered through the prophesying of Haggai the prophet and Zechariah the son of Iddo. And they built and finished it, according to the commandment of the God of Israel, and according to the command of Cyrus, Darius, and Artaxerxes, kings of Persia.

Dedication of the Temple

[15]Now the temple was finished on the third day of the month of Adar, which was in the sixth year of the reign of King Darius. [16]Then the children of Israel, the priests and the Levites and the rest of the descendants of the captivity, celebrated the dedication of this house of God with joy. [17]And they offered sacrifices at the dedication of this house of God, one hundred bulls, two hundred rams, four hundred lambs, and as a sin offering for all Israel twelve male goats, according to the number of the tribes of Israel. [18]They assigned the priests to their divisions and the Levites to their divisions over the service of God in Jerusalem, as it is written in the Book of Moses.

[19]And the descendants of the captivity kept the Passover on the fourteenth day of the first month. [20]For the priests and the Levites had purified themselves; all of them were ritually clean. And they slaughtered the Passover lambs for all the descendants of the captivity, for their brothers the priests, and for themselves. [21]Then the children of Israel who had returned from the captivity ate together with all who had separated themselves from the filth of the nations of the land in order to seek the Lord God of Israel. [22]And they kept the Feast of Unleavened Bread seven days with joy; for the Lord made them joyful, and turned the heart of the king of Assyria toward them, to strengthen their hands in the work of the house of God, the God of Israel.

Ezra Arrives in Jerusalem

[1]Now after these things, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia, Ezra the son of Seraiah, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah, [2]the son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub, [3]the son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth, [4]the son of Zerahiah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki, [5]the son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest— [6]this Ezra came up from Babylon, and he was a skilled scribe in the Law of Moses, which the Lord God of Israel had given. The king granted him all his request according to the hand of the Lord his God upon him. [7]Some of the children of Israel, the priests, the Levites, the singers, the gatekeepers, and the Nethinim came up to Jerusalem in the seventh year of King Artaxerxes. [8]They came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was the seventh year of the king. [9]On the first day of the first month he began his journey from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month he came to Jerusalem, since the good hand of his God was upon him. [10]For Ezra had prepared his heart to seek the Law of the Lord and to do it, and to teach statutes and ordinances in Israel.

The Favorable Decree of Artaxerxes

[11]This is a copy of the letter that King Artaxerxes gave Ezra the priest, the scribe, expert in the words of the commandments of the Lord and of His statutes to Israel:

[12]Artaxerxes, king of kings,

To Ezra the priest, a scribe of the Law of the God of heaven: Perfect peace, and so forth. [13]I issue a decree that all those of the people of Israel and the priests and Levites in my realm who volunteer to go up to Jerusalem may go with you. [14]And whereas you are being sent by the king and his seven counselors to inquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem with regard to the Law of your God which is in your hand; 15and whereas you are to carry the silver and gold which the king and his counselors have freely offered to the God of Israel, whose dwelling is in Jerusalem; 16and whereas all the silver and gold that you may find in all the province of Babylon, along with the freewill offering of the people and the priests, are to be freely offered for the house of their God in Jerusalem— 17now therefore, be careful to buy with this money bulls, rams, and lambs, with their grain offerings and their drink offerings, and offer them on the altar of the house of your God in Jerusalem. 18And whatever seems good to you and your brethren to do with the rest of the silver and the gold, do it according to the will of your God. 19Also the articles that are given to you for the service of the house of your God, deliver in full before the God of Jerusalem. 20And whatever more may be needed for the house of your God, which you may have occasion to provide, pay for it from the king's treasury. 21And I, even I, Artaxerxes the king, issue a decree to all the treasurers who are in the region beyond the River, that whatever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the Law of the God of heaven, may require of you, let it be done diligently, 22up to one hundred talents of silver, one hundred kors of wheat, one hundred baths of wine, one hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribed limit. 23Whatever is commanded by the God of heaven, let it diligently be done for the house of the God of heaven. For why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his sons?

24Also we inform you that it shall not be lawful to impose tax, tribute, or custom on any of the priests, Levites, singers, gatekeepers, Nethinim, or servants of this house of God. 25And you, Ezra, according to your God-given wisdom, set magistrates and judges who may judge all the people who are in the region beyond the River, all such as know the laws of your God; and teach those who do not know them. 26Whoever will not observe the law of your God and the law of the king, let judgment be executed speedily on him, whether it be death, or banishment, or confiscation of goods, or imprisonment.

27Blessed be the Lord God of our fathers, who has put such a thing as this in the king's heart, to beautify the house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem, 28and has extended mercy to me before the king and his counselors, and before all the king's mighty princes.

So I was encouraged, as the hand of the Lord my God was upon me; and I gathered leading men of Israel to go up with me.

2 Ezra 8

Families Who Returned from Exile

[1]These are the heads of their fathers' houses, the leaders who went up with me in the reign of Artaxerxes the king of Babylon: [2]of the sons of Phinehas, Gershom; of the sons of Ithamar, Daniel; of the sons of David, Hattush; [3]of the sons of Shecaniah, of the sons of Parosh, Zechariah, and a group of one hundred fifty men with him; [4]of the sons of Pahath-Moab, Eliehoenai the son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males; [5]of the sons of Zathoe, Shechaniah, the son of Jahaziel, and with him three hundred males; [6]of the sons of Adin, Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males; [7]of the sons of Elam, Jeshaiah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males; [8]of the sons of Shephatiah, Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him eighty males; [9]of the sons of Joab, Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred eighteen males; [10]of the sons of Shelomith, the son of Josiphiah, and with him one hundred sixty males; [11]of the sons of Bebai, Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him seventy-eight males; [12]of the sons of Azgad, Johanan the son of Hakkatan, and with him one hundred ten males; [13]of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these—Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemaiah—and with them sixty males; [14]also of the sons of Bigvai and Uthai, and with him seventy males.

Temple Servants

[15]Now I gathered them by the river that flows to Ahava, and we camped there for three days. And I looked among the people and the priests, and found there none of the sons of Levi. [16]Then I sent for Eliezer, Ariel, Shemaiah, Elnathan, Jarib, Elnathan, Nathan, Zechariah, and Meshullam, and also to Joiarib and Elnathan, men of understanding. [17]And I gave them a command for Iddo the chief man at the place Casiphia, and I told them what they should say to Iddo and his brethren the Nethinim at the place Casiphia—that they should bring us servants for the house of our God. [18]And as the hand of our God was good upon us, they brought us a man of understanding, of the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel, namely Sherebiah, with his sons and brothers, eighteen men; [19]and Hashabiah, and Jeshaiah of the sons of Merari, his brothers and his sons, twenty; [20]and from the temple servants of the Levites, whom David and the leaders had appointed for the service of the Levites, two hundred twenty temple servants. All of them were designated by name.

Ezra Proclaims a Fast

[21]Then I proclaimed a fast there at the river Ahava, that we might humble ourselves before our God, to seek from Him the right way for us and for our little ones and all our possessions. [22]For I was ashamed to request of the king an escort of soldiers and horsemen to help us against the enemy on the road, because we had spoken to the king, saying, “The hand of our God is upon all those for good who seek Him, but His power and His wrath are against all those who forsake Him.” [23]So we fasted and entreated our God for this, and He answered our prayer.

Gifts for the Temple

[24]And I separated twelve of the leaders of the priests—Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them— [25]and weighed out to them the silver, gold, and the articles, the first fruits of the house of our God, which the king, his counselors, his princes, and all Israel who were present had offered. [26]I weighed into their hand six hundred and fifty talents of silver, silver articles weighing one hundred talents, one hundred talents of gold, [27]twenty gold basins worth a thousand drachmas, and two vessels of fine polished bronze, precious as gold. [28]And I said to them, “You are holy to the Lord; the articles are holy also; and the silver and the gold are a freewill offering to the Lord God of your fathers. [29]Watch and keep them until you weigh them before the leaders of the priests and the Levites and heads of the fathers’ houses of Israel in Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the Lord.” [30]So the priests and the Levites received the silver and the gold and the articles by weight, to bring them to Jerusalem to the house of our God.

The Return to Jerusalem

[31]Then we departed from the river of Ahava on the twelfth day of the first month, to go to Jerusalem. And the hand of our God was upon us, and He delivered us from the hand of the enemy and from ambush along the road. [32]So we came to Jerusalem and stayed there three days.

33Now on the fourth day, the silver and the gold and the articles were weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas; with them were the Levites, Jozabad the son of Jeshua and Noadiah the son of Binnui, 34with the number and weight of everything. All the weight was written down at that time. 35The children of those who had been carried away captive, who had come from the captivity, offered burnt offerings to the God of Israel: twelve bulls for all Israel, ninety-six rams, seventy-seven lambs, and twelve male goats as a sin offering. All this was a burnt offering to the Lord.

36And they delivered the king's orders to the king's satraps and the governors in the region beyond the River. So they gave support to the people and the house of God.

2 Ezra 9

Intermarriage with Foreigners

1When these things were done, the leaders came to me, saying, "The people of Israel and the priests and the Levites have not separated themselves from the people of the lands with respect to the abominations of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Ammonites, the Moabites, the Moserites, and the Amorites. 2For they have taken some of their daughters as wives for themselves and their sons, so that the holy seed is mixed with the peoples of those lands. Indeed, the hand of the leaders and rulers has been foremost in this trespass." 3So when I heard this thing, I tore my garment and my robe, and plucked out some of the hair of my head and beard, and sat down astonished. 4Then everyone who trembled at the words of the God of Israel assembled to me because of the transgression of those who had been carried away captive, and I sat astonished until the evening sacrifice.

5At the evening sacrifice I arose from my fasting; and having torn my garment, I trembled and bowed down on my knees and spread out my hands unto the Lord God, 6and I said, "O Lord, I am too ashamed and embarrassed to lift up my face to You, for our iniquities have multiplied above our heads, and our guilt has grown up to heaven. 7Since the days of our fathers to this day we have been very guilty, and for our iniquities we, our kings, and our priests have been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, to plunder, and to humiliation, as it is this day. 8And now for a little while grace has been shown from the Lord our God to leave us a remnant to escape, and to give us a peg in His holy place, that our God may enlighten our eyes and give us a measure of revival in our bondage. 9For we are slaves. Yet our God did not forsake us in our bondage; but He extended mercy to us in the sight of the kings of Persia to revive us, to repair the house of our God, to rebuild its ruins, and to give us a wall in Judah and Jerusalem. 10And now, O our God, what shall we say in response to this? For we have forsaken Your commandments, 11which You gave us by Your servants the prophets, saying, 'The land which you are entering to inherit for yourself is a changing land in the removal of the people of the lands for their abominations with which they filled it from one end to the other with their impurity. 12Now therefore, do not give your daughters as wives for their sons, nor take their daughters to your sons; and never seek their peace or prosperity, that you may be strong and eat the good of the land, and leave it as an inheritance to your children forever.'

13"And after all of this which has come against us for our evil deeds and our great trespasses, there is not anyone such as our God, for You have punished us less than our iniquities deserve, and have given us such deliverance as this, 14even though we kept breaking Your commandments and intermarried with the people of the land. Do not be greatly upset with us to our utter destruction, to the point that there not be a remnant or survivor. 15O Lord the God of Israel, You are righteous, for we remain, being preserved to this day. Behold, we are in Your presence in our trespasses, though it is not possible to stand in Your presence because of this!"

Confession of Sin for Intermarriage

1And as Ezra prayed, and as he confessed, weeping and praying before the house of God, a very great assembly of men, women, and children gathered to him from Israel; for the people wept bitterly. 2Shechaniah son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, spoke up and said to Ezra, "We have broken the covenant with our God and have taken pagan wives from the peoples of the land, yet now there is hope for Israel in spite of this. 3Now therefore, let us make a covenant with our God to put away all these wives and those who have been born to them, as you advise. Arise and alarm them with the commands of our God, and let it be done according to the law. [4]Arise, for this matter is your responsibility. We also are with you. Be of good courage, and do it."

[5]Then Ezra arose, and made the leaders of the priests, the Levites, and all Israel swear an oath that they would do according to this word. So they swore an oath. [6]Then Ezra rose up from in front of the house of God and went over to the treasury of Jehohanan the son of Eliashib and entered there. He ate no bread and drank no water when he arrived, for he mourned because of the unfaithfulness of those of the exile. [7]And they issued a proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem to all the descendants of the captivity that they must gather at Jerusalem, [8]and that whoever would not come within three days, according to the instructions of the leaders and elders, all his property would be confiscated, and he himself would be separated from the assembly of those from the captivity.

[9]So all the men of Judah and Benjamin gathered at Jerusalem within three days. It was the ninth month, on the twentieth of the month; and all the people sat in the open square of the house of God, trembling because of this matter and because of the weather. [10]Then Ezra the priest stood up and said to them, "You have broken the covenant and taken pagan wives, adding to the guilt of Israel. [11]Now therefore, give praise to the Lord God of your fathers, and do His will; separate yourselves from the peoples of the land and from the pagan wives." [12]And all the assembly answered and said, "This word of yours is powerful upon us to do it. [13]But there are many people; it is the season for heavy rain, and we are not able to stand outside. Nor is this the work of one or two days, for there are many of us who have transgressed in this matter. [14]Please, let the leaders of our entire assembly stand; and let all those in our cities who have taken pagan wives come at appointed times, together with the elders and judges of their cities, until the fierce wrath of our God is turned away from us in this matter." [15]Only Jonathan the son of Asahel and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah opposed this, and Meshullam and Shabbethai the Levite gave them support.

[16]Then the descendants of the captivity did so. And Ezra the priest, with certain heads of the fathers' households, were set apart by the fathers' households, each of them by name; and they sat down on the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter. [17]By the first day of the first month they finished questioning all the men who had taken pagan wives.

Intermarriages Are Ended

[18]And among the sons of the priests who had taken pagan wives, the following were found of the sons of Jeshua the son of Jozadak, and his brothers: Maaseiah, Eliezer, Jarib, and Gedaliah. [19]And they gave their promise that they would put away their wives; and being guilty, they presented a ram of the flock as their trespass offering. [20]Also of the sons of Immer: Hanani and Zebadiah; [21]of the sons of Harim: Maaseiah, Elijah, Shemaiah, Jehiel, and Uzziah; [22]of the sons of Pashhur: Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethanel, Jozabad, and Elasah. [23]Also of the Levites: Jozabad, Shimei, Kelaiah (the same is, Kelita), Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer. [24]Also of the singers: Eliashib; and of the gatekeepers: Shallum, Telem, and Uri.
[25]And others of Israel: of the sons of Parosh: Ramiah, Jeziah, Malchiah, Mijamin, Eleazar, Asabia, and Benaiah; [26]of the sons of Elam: Mattaniah, Zechariah, Jehiel, Abdi, Jeremoth, and Eliah; [27]of the sons of Zattu: Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, Jeremoth, Zabad, and Aziza; [28]of the sons of Bebai:
Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai; [29]of the sons of Bani: Meshullam, Malluch, Adaiah, Jashub, Sheal, and Ramoth; [30]of the sons of Pahath-Moab:
Adna, Chelal, Benaiah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezalel, Binnui, and Manasseh;
[31]of the sons of Harim: Eliezer, Ishijah, Malchijah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, [32]Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah; [33]of the sons of Hashum: Mattenai, Mattattah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei; [34]of the sons of Bani: Maadai, Amram, Uel, [35]Benaiah, Bedeiah, Cheluh, [36]Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib, [37]Mattaniah, Mattenai, Jaasai, [38]Bani, Binnui, Shimei, [39]Shelemiah, Nathan, Adaiah, [40]Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai, [41]Azarel, Shelemiah, Shemariah, [42]Shallum, Amariah, and Joseph; [43]of the sons of Nebo: Jeiel, Mattithiah, Zebed, Zebina, Jaddai, Joel, and Benaiah. [44]All these had taken pagan wives, and some of them had wives by whom they had children.

Annotations for 2 Ezra

1:1 The word of the Lord came in fulfillment of Jer 29:10.

1:3 He is the God . . . in Jerusalem: Deities were generally seen as belonging to a specific location, yet this statement is also prophetic in that it points as well to the New Jerusalem, the eternal city over which God reigns and in which all nations will dwell (Rev 21).

1:1–4 The kings of the earth, who receive authority from the Lord (Jn 19:11; Rom 13:1–7), are used by God to fulfill His plan.

1:5 Unlike the exodus from Egypt, in which all Jews fled bondage, only those Jews whose spirits God stirred up fled from Babylon. Because life had become relatively comfortable, many were content to forsake Jerusalem and live under foreign rule.

1:7–11 The return of the sacred vessels was to furnish the temple. The water basins and wine bowls look ahead to the sacraments of baptism and the Eucharist.

2:1 Judea was a province of Babylon. Though most of the people taken in the Babylonian Captivity had died in Babylon, still there was an effort by their descendants to return every man into his city of Judea.

2:63 This command prefigures the New Testament Eucharist, of which none may partake without the presence of the bishop or his priest. The Lights and Perfections are the Urim and Thummim, part of the high priest's vestments used to discern God's will.

2:68–70 Freewill offerings for the house of God are an indication of faithfulness and show that worship was a high priority for the Jews who had returned.

3:1 The people assembling as one person is fulfilled at Pentecost (Acts 2:1) and in the Church when we assemble in unity for the Eucharist as the one Body of Christ.

3:2–6 Just as the burnt offerings of the Jews were offered on the altar at all the Jewish festivals, so in the Church, the sacrifice of Jesus Christ is commemorated at the Eucharist throughout the liturgical year. Notice the priorities these faithful Jews had in their restoration project. First, they established their worship (v. 6). Second, they built their temple (6:1). Last, they rebuilt the city.

3:7 Starting with Abraham (Gn 14:18–20), the tradition of God's people for giving money to the Lord is to give a tithe (Mal 3:8–12) plus freewill offerings. This is how the temple was built, and also how the Church is built.

3:8–11 The young Levites together with the sons of Judah begin to lay the foundation for the temple. This is fulfilled through Jesus Christ and His apostles in the building of the Church (Mt 21:42; 1Co 3:9–17; Eph 2:19–22).

3:12, 13 The beginning of the temple restoration was a time of bright sadness. Some wept with a loud voice while others were shouting for joy. The sadness was over the loss of the first temple—Solomon's glorious temple—and the memory of the sin that led to its downfall. The joy was in the hope of the completion of the temple's foundation.

4:1–5 "He who is not with Me is against Me," said Christ (Mt 12:30), and the neighbors of the Jews turned quickly against their efforts to rebuild God's house. When we serve the Lord, we can be almost certain to meet opposition.

4:12–16 The claim that the work of God is rebellion and harmful to kings whom God Himself has established is a standard ploy of Satan in his attempts to destroy God's obedient ones (Est 3:8, 9). This culminates in the charge that would be leveled against Christ Himself (Jn 19:12).

4:17–24 The discontinued work under Artaxerxes is reminiscent of the temporary captivity of Israel in Egypt when a new king arose who did not know the goodness of the people of God (Ex 1:8).

5:1, 2 The prophets of God constantly speak of the restoration of the house of God, just as the prophets throughout the Old Testament collectively point to the Resurrection of Christ. In this way, the restoration of the temple is itself a type of Christ (Jn 2:19–22).

5:5 Unless He allows it, the purpose of God cannot be stopped by earthly authorities or by the devil (Mt 16:18).

5:7–17 The appeal to search the king's treasure house to find the king's decree parallels the Church's readiness to search the Scriptures (Jn 5:39; Acts 17:11). Appealing to the Scriptures is how Jesus and His apostles demonstrated His genuine claim to be the Christ, the incarnate Son of God (Lk 24:27; Acts 17:2, 11; 18:28). Interestingly, the appeal to the Scriptures was also one of the ways Jesus' enemies tried to malign Him (Mt 4:6; Jn 7:52). In both cases, the reliability and authority of what has been written, accepted, and handed down as Holy Scripture is unquestioned.

6:1–3 The decree of Darius affirms the authority of the earlier decree by King Cyrus. In the same way, within the Church, the traditions of the faith and true doctrine are reaffirmed in every generation (2Th 2:15).

6:8–10 God's house will be built at the expense of even His enemies, for His glory, in order that they may offer sacrifices to God for the benefit of all the people. At each Divine Liturgy we represent the once-for-all sacrifice of Christ "on behalf of all and for all."

6:14 The earthly kings and Zechariah fulfill the prophecies of Haggai.

6:15 The restoration of the temple on the third day of this month certainly suggests the resurrection of Jesus Christ on the third day (Jn 2:19–22).

6:19–21 The unity at the Passover meal between the children of Israel and those who would seek the Lord from the nations points forward to the Eucharist, to which all people, both Jew and Gentile, are called.

7:1 After these things: Over one hundred years elapsed between the events of ch. 6 and those of ch. 7.

7:10 Ezra's journey and mission were the product of a faithful heart. His process was to (1) seek the Law, (2) do it, and (3) teach it. Though the Jews had protection and economic security in Babylon, Ezra led many to a future that was uncertain by earthly standards, but divinely protected. In the same way, Christian believers are called to escape the fleeting security of this world in order to build up the kingdom of Jesus Christ (Mk 8:34–38; 10:28–31).

7:12 Artaxerxes, using the title king of kings, becomes a picture of Christ, sending Ezra to rebuild Jerusalem. The Lord would later send His apostles to build the Church. Just as Artaxerxes gave all the articles needed (vv. 15–22), so Christ provides the grace of the Holy Spirit and His power to His disciples (Acts 1:8).

7:25, 26 Ezra is commanded by the king to appoint magistrates and judges to determine the people's obedience to the law of . . . God, just as Peter and the other apostles would be given authority to bind and loose the sins of the people (Mt 16:19; Jn 20:23). Ezra is further commanded to teach the uninformed, just as the apostles would be commanded to do (Mt 28:18–20).

7:27, 28 Ezra is encouraged by the way a pagan king would expend his resources to beautify the house of the Lord. If an unbeliever has enough faith to build the Lord's house, all the more is the believer called to offer of himself or herself to build up the Church of Jesus Christ!

8:16–18 Ezra recruits men of understanding and servants in order that a proper sacrifice may be offered, for the worship was the highest priority of the returning Jews (3:2–6).

8:21–23 A fast by the faithful has tremendous power in helping to discern the right way of God, and in securing His power against the enemy (Est 4:16; Joel 2:12–17; Mt 17:17–21).

8:28, 29 When a priest is ordained in the Orthodox Church, the bishop hands him a precious vessel called a diskos, on which is a portion of the eucharistic bread, and he is sent behind the altar. He is charged by the bishop to watch and keep the sacrament in holiness until the day he gives account for his priesthood before the throne of Christ.

8:31 He delivered us: See note on 8:21–23.

9:1, 2 Mixed marriages had not always been prohibited (e.g., Boaz and Ruth), but were now seen as detrimental to the purity of the Jewish people. St. Paul warns, "Do not be unequally yoked together with unbelievers" (2Co 6:14). The imagery of marriage is one of faithfulness between God and His people. Marriage between a Jew and a practicing pagan was seen as a serious violation of that faithfulness, as shown by Ezra's reaction and subsequent solution of putting away all pagan wives (10:3).

9:7 Defeat by the enemy was seen as being the result of sin. God had warned the Jews not to be led astray by foreign wives or they would face quick destruction (Dt 7:3, 4).

9:8 Here is the Gospel in foretaste. Grace has been shown to undeserving people (Rom 5:8).

9:11, 12 This specific commandment has a source outside the Scriptures. It is not found in the Law of Moses, which warns not against taking a foreign wife per se, but against marrying a foreigner who will not convert from idols to the Lord (Dt 7:3, 4). This latter situation is what Ezra was facing (v. 14).

10:1–4 Repentance is more than confession of sin and even weeping over it. It is also taking the necessary steps to put away the sin.

10:10 Unlike a one-time sin for which a person might readily repent, taking pagan wives is making a way of life in opposition to God. For the Jew and for the Christian, it is a complete and utter compromise with the world.

10:19 The ram as a trespass offering prefigures Christ, who will take away the deepest sins and guilt of man.

The Book of Nehemiah

Author
Nehemiah

Date
445 to 425 BC

Major Theme
The promises of God are fulfilled through His faithful ones.

Background
In the same spirit as Ezra, Nehemiah held a deep faith in God's promises. He was committed to the well-being of his fellow Jews and to the shaping of the Jewish religious community after the return from the Babylonian exile. He helped restore their hope as God's chosen people.

The book is about rebuilding the walls and gates of Jerusalem. Nehemiah, inspired by God, was the motivator and driving force behind this restoration. Serving as governor, he introduced administrative reforms needed to restore political stability. This occurred during the time that Ezra, priest and scribe, was working to reestablish the Mosaic Law as the spiritual center of the newly forming Jewish communities. Nehemiah was neither priest nor prophet, but a layman dedicated to God and to serving His people. He sets an example of discernment and dedication, patience and perseverance, being guided by prayer and love. And all this in the face of treacherous external enemies, and even some enemies opposed to the will of God from within.

Nehemiah 1

[1]The words of Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah.

It came to pass in the month of Chislev, in the twentieth year, as I was in Shushan the citadel, [2]that Hanani, one of my brothers, came with men from Judah; and I asked them concerning the Jews who had escaped, who had survived the captivity, and concerning Jerusalem. [3]And they said to me, “The survivors who are left from the captivity in the province live there in great distress and reproach. The wall of Jerusalem is also broken down, and its gates are burned with fire.”

Nehemiah’s Intercessory Prayer

[4]So it was, when I heard these words, I sat down and wept, and I mourned for many days; I was fasting and praying before the God of heaven. [5]And I said, “No indeed, O Lord, the mighty, the great and the awesome God of heaven, who keeps the covenant and mercy for those who love Him and who keep His commandments. [6]Let Your ear be attentive and Your eyes open, that You may hear the prayer of Your servant which I pray before You now, day and night, for the children of Israel, Your servants, and confess the sins of the children of Israel which we sinned against You. Both I and my father’s house have sinned. [7]We have departed from You, and have not kept the commandments, the statutes, nor the ordinances which You commanded Your servant Moses.

[8]“Remember, I pray, the word You commanded Your servant Moses, saying, ‘If you are unfaithful, I will scatter you among the nations, [9]but if you return to Me, and keep My commandments and do them, even if your dispersion be to the farthest part of heaven, yet I will gather them from there and bring them to the place which I have chosen as a dwelling for My name.’

[10]“Now these are Your servants and Your people, whom You have redeemed by Your great power and Your strong hand. [11]Rather, O Lord, let Your ear be attentive to the prayer of Your servant and to the prayer of Your servants who desire to fear Your name; and let Your servant prosper today, I pray, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man.” (For I was cupbearer to the king.)

Nehemiah Is Sent to Judah

1 And it came to pass in the month Nisan, in the twentieth year of the reign of King Artaxerxes, when the wine was before me, that I took the wine and gave it to the king. There was no one else present before him. 2 And the king said to me, “Why is your countenance sad, and why are you not self-controlled? This is nothing but sickness of the heart.” So I was greatly afraid.

3 Then I said to the king, “May the king live forever! Why should my face not be sad, when the city, the home of the tombs of my fathers, lies waste, and its gates destroyed by fire?” 4 Then the king said to me, “What is it that you request concerning this?” So I prayed to the God of heaven, 5 and I said to the king, “If it pleases the king, and if your servant has found favor in your sight, send me to Judah, to the city of the tombs of my fathers, that I may rebuild it.”

6 Then the king (his queen sitting beside him) said to me, “How long will your journey be? And when will you return?” And my request found favor before the king, and he sent me, and I gave him a time. 7 Then I said to the king, “If it pleases the king, let him give me letters for the governors beyond the River, that I may be given safe passage until I come to Judah, 8 and also a letter to Asaph the keeper of the king’s forest, that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates, and for the wall of the city, and for the house that I shall occupy.” And the king granted these to me as the good hand of God was upon me.

9 And I came to the governors beyond the River and gave them the king’s letters. Now the king had sent captains of the army and horsemen with me.
10 And for Sanballat the Horonite and Tobiah the Ammonite servant, it was distressing to them that a man had come to seek the well-being of the children of Israel.

Nehemiah Surveys Damage to the Wall

11 So I came to Jerusalem and was there three days. 12 Then I rose up in the night, I and a few men with me; I told no one what my God had put in my heart for me to do for Israel, nor was there any animal with me except the one on which I rode. 13 And I went out by night through the Valley Gate to the mouth of the spring of the fig tree and to the Dung Gate. And I was viewing the wall of Jerusalem which they had broken down and its gates which they had destroyed by fire. 14Then I passed on to the Fountain Gate and went to the King's Pool, but there was no room for the animal I was riding to pass. 15So I went up to the wall by the brook at night and viewed the wall. Then I was at the Valley Gate, and I returned. 16The sentries did not know why I had gone or what I was doing. And I did not tell the Jews, the priests, the nobles, the officials, or the others doing the work until my return.

17Then I said to them, "You see the distress we are in, how Jerusalem is laid waste and its gates are destroyed with fire. Come and let us rebuild the wall of Jerusalem, and we will no longer be a reproach." 18And I told them of the hand of God which is good upon me, and also of the king's words that he had spoken to me. So I said, "Let us rise up and let us build!" And their hands were strengthened for good work.

19But when Sanballat the Horonite, Tobiah the Ammonite servant, and Geshem the Arab heard of it, they laughed us to scorn and came to us and said, "What is this thing that you are doing? Are you rebelling against the king regarding this?" 20So I answered and said to them, "The God of heaven will Himself prosper us; and we His servants are innocent and we will build, but you have no part or right or memorial in Jerusalem."

The Builders of the Wall

1Then Eliashib the high priest and his brothers the priests rose up and rebuilt the Sheep Gate. They consecrated it and hung its doors, and they sanctified it even as far as the Tower of the Hundred and to the Tower of Hananel. 2Next to them, the men of Jericho rebuilt, and next to them the sons of Zaccur the son of Imri rebuilt.

3The sons of Hassenaah built the Fish Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors with its bolts and bars. 4And next to them Meremoth the son of Uriah, the son of Hakkoz, made repairs. Next to them Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabel, made repairs. Next to them Zadok son of Baana made repairs. 5Next to them the Tekoites made repairs, but their nobles did not put their shoulders to the work.

6Jehoiada the son of Paseah and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah repaired the Old Gate; they laid its beams and hung its doors along with its bolts and bars. [7]And next to them Melatiah the Gibeonite and Jadon the Meronothite and the men of Gibeon and Mizpah repaired the throne of the governor of the region beyond the River. [8]And next to them Hananiah the son of Rekem made repairs to the wall, and they fortified Jerusalem as far as the Broad Wall. [9]And next to them Rephaiah, leader of half the district of Jerusalem, made repairs. [10]Next to them Jedaiah the son of Harumaph made repairs in front of his house. And next to him Hattush the son of Hashabniah made repairs. [11]Malchijah the son of Harim and Hashub the son of Pahath-Moab repaired a second section as well as the Tower of the Ovens. [12]And next to him was Shallum the son of Hallohesh, leader of half the district of Jerusalem; he and his daughters made repairs.

[13]Hanun and the inhabitants of Zanoah repaired the Valley Gate. They built it, hung its doors with its bolts and bars, and repaired a thousand cubits of the wall as far as the Dung Gate. [14]Malchijah the son of Rechab, leader of the district of Beth Haccerem, repaired the Dung Gate along with his sons. He built it and hung its doors with its bolts and bars, [15]and they repaired the wall of the Pool of Shelah by the King's Garden, as far as the stairs that go down from the City of David. [16]After him Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, leader of half the district of Beth Zur, made repairs as far as the place in front of the tomb of David, to the manmade pool, and as far as the House of the Mighty. [17]After him the Levites, under Rehum the son of Bani, made repairs. Next to him Hashabiah, leader of half the district of Keilah, made repairs for his district. [18]After him their brothers, under Bavai the son of Henadad, leader of half the district of Keilah, made repairs. [19]And next to him Ezer the son of Jeshua, the leader of Mizpah, repaired another section in front of the Ascent to the Armory at the buttress. [20]After him Baruch the son of Zabbai repaired the other section, from the buttress to the door of the house of Eliashib the high priest. [21]After him Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz, repaired another section, from the door of the house of Eliashib to the end of the house of Eliashib. [22]And after him the priests, the men of Achechar, made repairs. [23]After him Benjamin and Hasshub made repairs by their house. After them Azariah the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah, made repairs by his house. [24]After him Binnui the son of Henadad repaired another section, from the house of Azariah to the buttress, even as far as the corner. [25]Palal the son of Uzai made repairs opposite the buttress and on the tower that projects from the king's upper house by the court of the prison. After him Pedaiah the son of Parosh made repairs. [26]And the Nethinim who dwelt in Ophel made repairs as far as the place of the Water Gate toward the east, and on to the projecting tower. 27After them the Tekoites repaired a second section, next to the great projecting tower and as far as the wall of Ophel.

28Beyond the Horse Gate the priests made repairs, each in front of his own house. 29After them Zadok the son of Immer made repairs in front of his own house. After him Shemaiah the son of Shechaniah, the keeper of the East Gate, made repairs. 30After him Hananiah the son of Shelemiah and Hanun, the sixth son of Zalaph, repaired another section. After him Meshullam the son of Berechiah made repairs in front of his dwelling. 31After him Malchijah the son of Saraphi made repairs as far as the house of the Nethinim and of the merchants, in front of the Miphkad Gate, and as far as the upper chamber at the corner. 32And between the upper chamber to the corner and the Sheep Gate, the bronze workers and the merchants made repairs.

The Workers Are Ridiculed

33Now it came to pass, when Sanballat heard we were rebuilding the wall, he was distressed, and he was furious and was mocking the Jews. 34And before his brothers and the army of Samaria he asked, “These Jews are rebuilding their city?” 35And Tobiah the Ammonite, who was with him, said to them, “Surely they will not sacrifice or eat in this place of theirs, will they? For even if a fox goes up on it, will it not break down their stone wall?”

36Hear, O our God, for we have become a scorn. Return this reproach of theirs upon their own head, and make them a scorn in a land of captivity. 37Do not cover their lawlessness.

Nehemiah 4

Conspiracy against Jerusalem

1Now it happened that when Sanballat, Tobiah, the Arabs, and the Ammonites heard that the rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem was progressing and the gaping holes were being filled in, a great evil came over them. 2For they all conspired together to come and attack Jerusalem. 3And we prayed to our God and set watchmen to observe their presence day and night.

4Then Judah said, “The strength of the enemy is broken, but there is so much rubbish that we will be unable to do work on the wall.” 5And our adversaries said, “They will neither know nor see anything till we come into their midst and kill them and cause this work to cease.” 6And so it was that the Jews, the ones dwelling near them, came and said to us, “They are coming up against us from all sides.” 7Therefore I positioned men behind the lower parts of the wall in the sheltered areas, and I positioned the people by families with their swords, their spears, and their bows. 8And I looked and arose and said to the nobles, to the leaders, and to the rest of the people, “Do not be afraid of them. Remember our God, great and awesome, and fight for your brethren, your sons, your daughters, your wives, and your houses.”

9And when our enemies heard their plan was known to us, and that God brought their plot to nothing, we returned, all of us, to the wall, each man to his own work. 10So it was from that day forward, half of them did the work, and half of them took up defensive positions with spears, shields, bows, and breastplates. The rulers stood with the entire house of Judah. 11Those who built on the wall and those who carried burdens loaded themselves in such a way that with one hand they held a weapon, and with the other hand they did the work. 12Every one of the builders, as he built, had his sword girded at his side, while next to him was the one who sounded the trumpet.

13Then I said to the nobles, the rulers, and the rest of the people, “The work is great and extensive, and we are scattered across the entire wall, each man far from his brother. 14Therefore, wherever you are, when you hear the sound of the trumpet, rally together to meet us there. Our God will fight for us.”

15So we labored in the work while the other half of the men held spears from daybreak until the stars appeared. 16And at that time I said to the people, “Spend the night within the midst of Jerusalem; let the night be a guard for you, and let the day be for work.” 17And I was there along with the watchmen behind me, and there was not one man of us who removed his clothing.

Nehemiah 5

Internal Strife

1Now there was a great outcry of the people and their wives against their Jewish brothers. 2For there were those who said, “We, our sons and our daughters are many; therefore let us get grain, that we may eat and live.” 3There were even some who said, “We pledged our lands and vineyards, even our houses, that we might receive grain and be able to eat.” 4Some even said, “We borrowed money for the king’s tax, pledging our lands and vineyards. 5Yet now our flesh is as the flesh of our brothers, our children as their children; and indeed we are forcing our sons and our daughters to be slaves, and some of our daughters have been brought into slavery. It is not in our power to redeem them, for other men have our lands and vineyards.”

6And I became very angry when I heard their outcry and these words. 7After serious thought, I rebuked the nobles and rulers and said to them, “Each of you is exacting usury from his brother.” So I called a great assembly against them. 8And I said to them, “According to our ability we have redeemed our Jewish brothers who were sold to the nations. Now indeed, will you even sell your brothers? Or should they be sold to us?” Then they were silenced and found nothing to say.

9Then I said, “What you are doing is not good. Should you not walk in the fear of our God because of the reproach of the nations, our enemies? 10I also, with my brothers and my servants, am lending them money and grain. Please, let us stop this usury! 11Restore now to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their olive groves, and their houses, also a hundredth of the money and the grain, the new wine, and the oil that you have charged them.” 12So they said, “We will restore it and will require nothing from them; we will do as you say.” So I called the priests and required an oath from them that they would do according to this promise. 13Then I shook out the fold of my garment and said, “So may God shake out each man from his house and from his property who does not perform this promise. Even thus may he be shaken out and emptied.” And all the assembly said, “Amen!” and praised the Lord. Then the people did according to this promise.

Nehemiah’s Unselfishness

14Moreover, from the time that I was appointed to be their governor in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year until the thirty-second year of King Artaxerxes, twelve years, neither I nor my brothers ate the governor’s provisions. 15But the former governors who were before me laid burdens on the people and took from them bread and wine, besides forty shekels of silver. Yes, even the outcasts bore rule over the people, but I did not do so because of the fear of God. 16Indeed, I also continued the work on this wall, and we did not buy any land. All my servants were gathered there for the work. 17And at my table were one hundred and fifty Jews and rulers, besides those who came to us from the nations around us. 18Now that which was prepared daily was one ox and six choice sheep. Also fowl were prepared for me, and once every ten days an abundance of all kinds of wine. Yet in spite of this I did not demand the governor's provisions, because the bondage was heavy on this people. 19Remember me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people.

The Opposition Intensifies

1Now it happened when Sanballat, Tobiah, and Geshem the Arab, and the rest of our enemies heard that I had rebuilt the wall, and that no gaps remained in the wall (though at the time I had not hung the doors in the gates), 2Sanballat and Geshem sent a letter to me, saying, "Come, let us meet among the villages in the plain of Ono." But they were plotting to do harm to me. 3So I sent messengers to them, saying, "I am doing so great a work that I cannot come down. Why should the work cease? As soon as I finish it I will come down to you." 4And they sent me the same message again, and I answered them in the same manner. 5Then Sanballat sent his servant to me as before, with an open letter in his hand. 6In it was written:

> It is reported among the nations that you and the Jews plan to rebel; therefore, according to these rumors, you are rebuilding the wall that you may be their king. 7And you have also appointed prophets to proclaim concerning you at Jerusalem, saying, "There is a king in Judah!" Now these matters will be reported to the king. So come, therefore, and let us consult together.

8Then I sent to him, saying, "No such things as you say are being done, but in your own heart you invent them." 9For they all were trying to make us afraid, saying, "Their hands will be weakened in the work, and the work will not be done." Now, therefore, I have strengthened my hands.

10Afterward I came into the house of Shemaiah the son of Delaiah, the son of Mehetabel, and he, being distressed, said, "Let us meet together in the house of God, within the temple, and let us close the door of the temple, for they are coming to kill you; indeed at night they are coming to kill you." 11And I said, "Who is the man that shall enter the house in order to live?"

12 Then I perceived that God had not sent him at all, but that he pronounced this prophecy against me because Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him. 13 For this reason he was hired, that I should be afraid and act that way and sin, so that they might have cause for an evil report that they might reproach me.
14 My God, remember Tobiah and Sanballat according to these their works, and the prophetess Noadiah and the rest of the prophets who would have made me afraid.

The Wall Is Completed

15 So the wall was finished on the twenty-fifth day of Elul, in fifty-two days. 16 And it happened, when all our enemies heard of it, and all the nations around us saw these things, that they were very disheartened in their own eyes; for they perceived that this work was done by our God.
17 Also in those days the nobles of Judah sent many letters to Tobiah, and the letters of Tobiah came to them. 18 For many in Judah were pledged to him because he was the son-in-law of Shechaniah the son of Arah, and his son Jehohanan had married the daughter of Meshullam the son of Berechiah.
19 Also they reported his good deeds before me and reported my words to him. Tobiah sent letters to frighten me.

Nehemiah 7

1 Then it was, when the wall was built and I had hung the doors, when the gatekeepers, the singers, and the Levites had been appointed, 2 I gave charge of Jerusalem to my brother Hanani, for he was a faithful man and feared God more than many, along with Hananiah the leader of the citadel. 3 And I said to them, “Do not let the gates of Jerusalem be opened until the sun is hot; and while they stand guard, let them shut and bar the doors; and appoint guards from among the inhabitants of Jerusalem, one at his watch station and another in front of his own house.”

Those Who Returned from Captivity

4 Now the city was large and spacious, but the people in it were few, and the houses were not rebuilt. 5 Then my God put it into my heart to gather the nobles, the rulers, and the people that they might be registered by genealogy.
And I found a register of the genealogy of those who had come up in the first return and found written in it:

[6]These are the people of the province who came back from the captivity, of those who had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and who returned to Jerusalem and Judah, everyone to his city. [7]Those with Zerubbabel, not only Jeshua, but also Nehemiah, Azariah, Raaemia, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispereth, Ezra, Bigvai, Nehum, Baanah, and Masphar, men of the people of Israel; [8]the children of Parosh, two thousand one hundred and seventy-two; [9]the children of Shephatiah, three hundred and seventy-two; [10]the children of Arah, six hundred and fifty-two; [11]the children of Pahath-Moab, of the sons of Jeshua and Joab, two thousand eight hundred and eighteen; [12]the children of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; [13]the children of Zattu, eight hundred and forty-five; [14]the children of Zaccai, seven hundred and sixty; [15]the children of Binnui, six hundred and forty-eight; [16]the sons of Bebai, six hundred and twenty-eight; [17]the children of Azgad, two thousand three hundred and twenty-two; [18]the children of Adonikam, six hundred and sixty-seven; [19]the children of Bigvai, two thousand and sixty-seven; [20]the children of Adin, six hundred and fifty-five; [21]the children of Ater of Hezekiah, ninety-eight; [22]the children of Hashum, three hundred and twenty-eight; [23]the children of Bezai, three hundred and twenty-four; [24]the children of Hariph, one hundred and twelve; [25]the sons of Gibeon, ninety-five; [26]the children of Bethlehem, one hundred and twenty-three, and Netophah, fifty-six; [27]the children of Anathoth, one hundred and twenty-eight; [28]the children of Beth Azmaveth, forty-two; [29]the children of Kirjath Jearim, Chephirah, and Beeroth, seven hundred and forty-three; [30]the men of Ramah and Geba, six hundred and twenty-one; [31]the men of Michmas, one hundred and twenty-two; [32]the men of Bethel and Ai, one hundred and twenty-three; [33]the men of Nebo, fifty-two; [34]the sons of Elam, one thousand two hundred and fifty-four; [35]the children of Harim, three hundred and twenty;
[36]the sons of Jericho, three hundred and forty-five; [37]the children of Lod, Hadid, and Ono, seven hundred and twenty-one; [38]the children of Senaah, three thousand nine hundred and thirty.

[39]The priests: the sons of Jedaiah of the house of Jeshua, nine hundred and seventy-three; [40]the sons of Immer, one thousand and fifty-two; [41]the sons of Pashhur, one thousand two hundred and forty-seven; [42]the sons of Harim were one thousand and seventeen.

[61]And these were the ones who came up from Tel Melah, Tel Harsha, Cherub, Addon, and Immer, but they could not identify their father's house nor their lineage, whether they were of Israel: [62]the sons of Delaiah, the sons of Tobiah, the sons of Nekoda, six hundred forty-two.

[63]And of the priests: the sons of Habaiah, the sons of Koz, the sons of Barzillai, who took a wife of the daughters of Barzillai the Gileadite and was called by their name. [64]These sought their listing among those who were registered by genealogy, but it was not found; therefore they were excluded from the priesthood as defiled. [65]And the governor said to them that they should not eat of the most holy things until a priest could consult with the Urim and Thummim.

[66]Altogether the whole assembly was forty-two thousand three hundred and sixty, [67]besides their male and female servants, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred and thirty-seven; and they had two hundred and forty-five men and women singers. [68]Their horses were seven hundred and thirty-six, their mules two hundred and forty-five, [69]their camels four hundred and thirty-five, and donkeys six thousand seven hundred and twenty.

[70]Some of the heads of the fathers' houses gave to the work of Nehemiah for the treasury one thousand gold drachmas, fifty basins, and thirty priestly garments. [71]Some of the heads of the fathers' houses gave to the treasury of the work twenty thousand gold drachmas and two thousand two hundred silver minas. [72]And that which the rest of the people gave was twenty thousand gold drachmas, two thousand two hundred silver minas, and sixty-seven priestly garments.

[73]So the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, some of the people, the Nethinim, and all Israel dwelt in their cities. When the seventh month came, the sons of Israel were in their cities.

Nehemiah 8

The People Hear the Law

[1]Now all the people gathered together as one man in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate; and they told Ezra the scribe to bring the Book of the Law of Moses, which the Lord had commanded Israel. [2]So Ezra the priest brought the Law before the assembly of men and women and all who could hear with understanding on the first day of the seventh month. [3]Then he read from it in the open square that was in front of the Water Gate from morning until midday, before the men and women and those who could understand; and the ears of all the people were attentive to the Book of the Law.

[4]So Ezra the scribe stood on a platform of wood which they had made for the purpose; and beside him, at his right hand, stood Mattithiah, Shema, Anaiah, Urijah, Hilkiah, and Maaseiah; and at his left hand Pedaiah, Mishael, Malchijah, Hashum, Hashbadana, Zechariah, and Meshullam. [5]And Ezra opened the book in the sight of all the people, for he was standing above all the people; and when he opened it, all the people stood up. [6]And Ezra blessed the Lord, the great God. Then all the people answered, "Amen, amen!" while lifting up their hands. And they bowed their heads and worshiped the Lord with their faces to the ground. [7]Also Jeshua, Bani, Sherebiah, Jamin, Akkub, Shabbethai, Hodijah, Maaseiah, Kelita, Azariah, Jozabad, Hanan, Pelaiah, and the Levites helped the people to understand the Law; and the people stood in their place. [8]So they read distinctly from the book in the Law of God; and they gave the sense and helped them to understand the reading.

[9]Then Nehemiah, who was the governor, Ezra the priest and scribe, and the Levites who taught the people said to all the people, “This day is holy to the Lord your God; do not mourn nor weep.” For all the people wept when they heard the words of the Law. [10]So he said to them, “Go your way, eat the fat, drink the sweet, and send portions to those for whom nothing is prepared; for this day is holy to our Lord. Do not sorrow, for the joy of the Lord is your strength.” [11]Thus the Levites quieted all the people, saying, “Be still, for the day is holy; do not be grieved.” [12]And all the people went their way to eat and drink, to send portions and rejoice greatly, because they understood the words that were declared to them.

Feast of Booths Restored

[13]Now on the second day the heads of the fathers’ houses of all the people, with the priests and Levites, were gathered to Ezra the scribe in order to understand the words of the Law. [14]And they found written in the Law which the Lord had commanded by Moses that the sons of Israel should dwell in booths during the feast of the seventh month, [15]and that they should announce and proclaim in all their cities and in Jerusalem. And Ezra said, “Go out to the mountain and bring olive branches, branches of oil trees, myrtle branches, palm branches, and branches of leafy trees to make booths, as it is written.”

[16]Then the people went out and brought them and made themselves booths, each one on the roof of his house, or in their courtyards or the courts of the house of God, and in the open square of the Water Gate and in the open square of the Gate of Ephraim. [17]So the whole assembly of those who had returned from the captivity made booths and sat under the booths; for since the days of Joshua the son of Nun until that day the sons of Israel had not done so. And there was very great gladness. [18]Also day by day, from the first day until the last day, he read from the Book of the Law of God. And they kept the feast seven days; and on the eighth day there was a sacred assembly, according to the prescribed manner.

The Worshipers Confess Their Sins

[1]Now on the twenty-fourth day of this month, the sons of Israel were assembled with fasting, in sackcloth, and with dust on their heads. [2]Then those of Israelite lineage separated themselves from all foreigners; and they stood and confessed their sins and the iniquities of their fathers. [3]And they stood in their place and read from the Book of the Law of the Lord their God, and they were confessing to the Lord and worshiping the Lord their God. [4]Then Jeshua, Bani, Kadmiel, Shebaniah, Bunni, Sherebiah, Bani, and Chenani stood on the stairs of the Levites and cried out with a loud voice to the Lord their God.

[5]And the Levites, Jeshua, Kadmiel, Bani, Hashabniah, Sherebiah, Hodijah, Shebaniah, and Pethahiah, said, “Stand up and bless the Lord your God forever and ever! Blessed be Your glorious name, which is exalted above all blessing and praise!”

Confession of the Sins of Israel

[6]And Ezra said, “You are the only Lord. You have made heaven, the heaven of heavens, with all their host, the earth and everything on it, the seas and all that is in them. You give life to all, and the host of heaven worships You. [7]You are the Lord God who chose Abram and brought him out of the land of the Chaldeans, and gave him the name Abraham. [8]You found his heart faithful before You and made a covenant with him to give the land of the Canaanites, the Hittites, the Amorites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, and the Girgashites—to give it to his descendants. You fulfilled Your words, for You are righteous.

[9]“You saw the affliction of our fathers in Egypt and heard their cry by the Red Sea. [10]And in Egypt You showed signs against Pharaoh, against all his servants, and against all the people of his land. For You knew that they acted proudly against them. So You made a name for Yourself as it is this day. [11]And You divided the sea before them, so that they went through the midst of the sea on dry land; and their persecutors You threw into the deep, as a stone into the mighty waters. [12]Moreover You led them by day with a cloudy pillar, and by night with a pillar of fire, to give them light on the road which they should travel.

13“You came down also on Mount Sinai and spoke with them from heaven.
You gave to them just ordinances and true laws, good commandments and precepts. 14You made known to them Your holy Sabbath and commanded them statutes and commandments and the Law by the hand of your servant Moses. 15You gave them bread from heaven for their hunger and brought them water out of a rock for their thirst. You told them to go in to possess the land which You had sworn to give to them. 16But they and our fathers acted proudly, hardened their necks, and did not heed Your commandments.
17They refused to obey, and they were not mindful of Your wonders that You did among them. But they hardened their necks, and they appointed a leader to return to their bondage in Egypt. But You are God, gracious and compassionate, long-suffering, abundant in kindness, and did not forsake them.

18“Even when they made a molded calf for themselves and said, ‘These are the gods that brought us up out of Egypt,’ and worked great provocations, 19yet in Your manifold mercies You did not forsake them in the wilderness.
The pillar of the cloud did not depart from them by day to lead them on the road; nor the pillar of fire by night to show them light and the way they should go. 20You gave Your good Spirit to instruct them, and did not withhold Your manna from their mouth, and gave them water for their thirst.
21Forty years You sustained them in the wilderness; they lacked nothing; their clothes did not wear out and their feet did not swell.

22“Moreover You gave to them kingdoms and You divided nations to them. So they took possession of the land of Sihon, the land of the king of Heshbon, and the land of Og king of Bashan. 23You also multiplied their children as the stars of heaven and brought them into the land which You had told their fathers to go in and possess. 24You subdued before them the inhabitants of the land, the Canaanites, and gave them into their hands, with their kings and the people of the land, that they might do with them as they wished. 25And they took strong cities and possessed houses full of all goods, cisterns already dug, vineyards, olive groves, and fruit trees in abundance. So they ate and were filled, and grew fat, and delighted themselves in Your great goodness.

26“Nevertheless, they were disobedient and rebelled against You, cast Your law behind their backs, and killed Your prophets, who testified against them to turn them to You, and they worked great provocations. 27Therefore
You delivered them into the hand of their enemies, who oppressed them; and in the time of their trouble, when they cried to You, You heard from Your heaven; and according to Your abundant mercies, You gave them deliverers who saved them from the hand of their enemies.

28"But after they had rest, they again did evil before You. Therefore You left them in the hands of their enemies so that they had dominion over them. Yet again they cried out to You, You heard from heaven; and You delivered them according to the multitude of Your mercies, 29and testified against them, that You might bring them back to Your Law. Yet they did not heed Your commandments, but sinned against Your judgments, 'which if a man does, he shall live by them.' But they stubbornly turned their backs, stiffened their necks, and would not hear. 30Yet for many years You had patience with them and testified against them by Your Spirit in Your prophets. Yet they would not listen; therefore You gave them into the hand of the peoples of the lands. 31Nevertheless in Your great mercy, You did not utterly consume them nor forsake them; for You are mighty and gracious and merciful.

32"Now therefore, our God, the great, the mighty, the powerful and awesome God, who keep Your covenant and Your mercy: do not let all the trouble seem small before You that has come upon us, our kings and our princes, our priests and our prophets, our fathers and all Your people, from the days of the kings of Assyria until this day. 33However, You are just in all that has befallen us; for You have dealt faithfully, but we have done wickedly. 34Neither our kings nor our princes, our priests nor our fathers, have kept Your Law, nor heeded Your commandments and Your testimonies with which You testified against them. 35For they have not served You in their kingdom, or in the many good things that You gave them, or in the large and rich land which You set before them; nor did they turn from their wicked works.

36"Behold! We are slaves today! And the land which You gave to our fathers to eat its fruit and its bounty, here we are, servants in it! 37And it yields much increase to the kings You have set over us because of our sins; also they have dominion over our bodies and our cattle at their pleasure; and we are in great distress. 38And because of all this, we make a sure covenant and write it; and all our rulers, our Levites, and our priests seal it."

Nehemiah 10

Those Who Signed the Covenant

[1]Those who sealed it were: Nehemiah the son of Hacaliah, and Zedekiah,
[2]Seraiah, Azariah, Jeremiah, [3]Pashhur, Amariah, Malchijah, [4]Hattush, Shebaniah, Malluch, [5]Harim, Meremoth, Obadiah, [6]Daniel, Ginnethon, Baruch, [7]Meshullam, Abijah, Mijamin, [8]Maaziah, Bilgai, and Shemaiah.
These were the priests. [9]The Levites: Jeshua the son of Azaniah, Binnui of the children of Henadad, and Kadmiel. [10]Their brothers: Shebaniah, Hodijah, Kelita, Pelaiah, Hanan, [11]Micha, Rehob, Hashabiah, [12]Zaccur, Sherebiah, Shebaniah, [13]Hodijah, the children of Beninu. [14]The leaders of the people:
Parosh, Pahath-Moab, Elam, Zattu, the children of [15]Bunni, Azgad, Bebai, [16]Adonijah, Bigvai, Adin, [17]Ater, Hezekiah, Azzur, [18]Hodijah, Hashum, Bezai, [19]Hariph, Anathoth, Nebai, [20]Magpiash, Meshullam, Hezir, [21]Meshezabel, Zadok, Jaddua, [22]Pelatiah, Hanan, Anaiah, [23]Hoshea, Hananiah, Hasshub, [24]Hallohesh, Pilha, Shobek, [25]Rehum, Hashabnah, Maaseiah, [26]Ahijah, Hanan, Anan, [27]Malluch, Harim, and Baanah.

The Covenant Which Was Sealed

[28]And the rest of the people—the priests, the Levites, the gatekeepers, the singers, the Nethinim, and all those separating from the peoples of the land to the Law of God, their wives, their sons, and their daughters, everyone who had knowledge and understanding— [29]these, joining with their brothers, bound themselves with a curse and entered into a curse and an oath to walk in God's Law which was given by Moses the servant of God, and to observe and do all the commandments of our Lord and His statutes: [30]not to give our daughters as wives to the peoples of the land, nor take their daughters for our sons; [31]and if the peoples of the land brought wares to sell on the Sabbath day, we would not buy from them on the Sabbath or on a holy day; and we would forgo the seventh year's produce and the exacting of every debt.
[32]Also we will make ordinances for ourselves to exact from ourselves yearly one-third of a shekel for the service of the house of our God: [33]for the showbread, for the regular grain offering, for the regular burnt offering of the Sabbaths, the New Moons, and the set feasts; for the holy things, for the sin offerings to make atonement for Israel, and all the work of the house of our God. [34]We—the priests, the Levites, and the people—cast lots for bringing the wood offering into the house of our God according to our fathers' houses, at the appointed times year by year, to burn on the altar of the Lord our God as it is written in the Law. [35]And we made ordinances to bring the firstfruits of our ground and the firstfruits of all fruit of all trees, year by year, to the house of the Lord; [36]to bring the firstborn of our sons and our cattle, as it is written in the Law, and the firstborn of our herds and our flocks to the house of our God, to the priests who minister in the house of our God; [37]to bring the firstfruits of our grain, the fruit from all kinds of trees, the new wine and oil to the priests, to the storerooms of the house of our God; and to bring the tithes of our land to the Levites, for the Levites should receive the tithes in all the cities of our servitude. [38]And the priest, the descendant of Aaron, shall be with the Levites when the Levites receive tithes; and the Levites shall bring up a tenth of the tithes to the house of our God, to the rooms of the storehouse. [39]For the children of Israel and the children of Levi shall bring the offering of the grain, of the new wine and the oil to the storerooms where the articles of the sanctuary are, where the priests who minister and the gatekeepers and the singers are; and we will not neglect the house of our God.

Nehemiah 11

The People in Jerusalem

[1]Now the leaders of the people dwelt at Jerusalem; the rest of the people cast lots to bring one out of ten to dwell in Jerusalem, the holy city, and nine-tenths were to dwell in other cities. [2]And the people blessed all the men who willingly offered themselves to dwell at Jerusalem.

[3]These are the heads of the province who dwelt in Jerusalem. (But in the cities of Judah, everyone dwelt in his possession in their cities—Israelites, the priests, and the Levites, the Nethinim, and the descendants of Solomon's servants.) [4]Also in Jerusalem there dwelt some of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin.

Of the children of Judah: Athaiah the son of Uzziah, the son of Zechariah, the son of Amariah, the son of Shephatiah, the son of Mahalalel, of the children of Perez; [5]and Maaseiah the son of Baruch, the son of Col-Hozeh, the son of Hazaiah, the son of Adaiah, the son of Joiarib, the son of Theziah, the son of Shiloni. [6]All the sons of Perez who dwelt at Jerusalem were four hundred sixty-eight valiant men.

[7]And these are the children of Benjamin: Sallu the son of Meshullam, the son of Joed, the son of Pedaiah, the son of Kolaiah, the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ithiel, the son of Jeshaiah; [8]and after him Gabbai and Sallai, nine hundred twenty-eight. [9]Joel the son of Zichri was their overseer, and Judah the son of Asana was second over the city.

[10]Of the priests: Jedaiah the son of Joiarib, and Jachin; [11]Seraiah the son of Hilkiah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, was the leader of the house of God. [12]Their brethren who did the work of the house were eight hundred and twenty-two; and Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pelaliah, the son of Amzi, the son of Zechariah, the son of Pashhur, the son of Malchijah, [13]and his brethren, heads of the fathers' houses, were two hundred and forty-two; and Amashai the son of Azarel, the son of Ahzai, the son of Meshillemoth, the son of Immer, [14]and their brethren, mighty men of valor, were one hundred and twenty-eight. Their overseer was Zabdiel, the son of one of the great men.

[15]Also of the Levites: Shemaiah the son of Hasshub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Bunni; [16]Mattaniah the son of Micha, the son of Zabdi, the son of Asaph, the leader who began the thanksgiving with prayer; Bakbukiah, the second among his brethren; and Abda the son of Shammua, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun. [17]All the Levites in the holy city were two hundred and eighty-four.

[18]Moreover the gatekeepers, Akkub, Talmon, and their brothers who kept the gates, were one hundred and seventy-two. [19]Also the overseer of the Levites was Uzzi the son of Bani, the son of Hashabiah, the son of Micha, of the sons of Asaph, the singers in charge of the service of the house of God. [20]For it was the king's command concerning them that a certain portion should be for the singers, a quota day by day. [21]Pethahiah the son of Meshezabel, of the children of Zerah the son of Judah, was the king's deputy in all matters concerning the people.

Those Outside Jerusalem

[22]With regard to the villages within their rural districts, some of the children of Judah dwelt in Kirjath Arba and [23]in Jeshua, [24]and in Beersheba, [25]and their villages, and Azekah and its villages; and they set up tents in Beersheba. [26]The children of Benjamin dwelt around Geba of Michmash, [27]and some of the Levites of Judah were in Benjamin.

Nehemiah 12

The Priests and Levites

[1]Now these are the priests and the Levites who came up with Zerubbabel the son of Shealtiel, and Jeshua: Seraiah, Jeremiah, Ezra, [2]Amariah, Malluch, Hattush, [3]Shechaniah, [4]Sallu, Amok, Hilkiah, and Jedaiah. These were the heads of the priests and their brothers in the days of Jeshua.

[5]Moreover the Levites were Jeshua, Binnui, Kadmiel, Sherebiah, Judah, and Mattaniah who led the thanksgiving psalms, he and his brothers. [6]Also Bakbukiah and Unni, their brothers, stood across from them in their duties.

[7]Jeshua begot Joiakim, Joiakim begot Eliashib, Eliashib begot Joiada, [8]Joiada begot Jonathan, and Jonathan begot Jaddua.

[9]Now in the days of Joiakim, the priests, the heads of the fathers' houses, were: of Seraiah, Meraiah; of Jeremiah, Hananiah; [10]of Ezra, Meshullam; of Amariah, Jehohanan; [11]of Melichu, Jonathan; of Shebaniah, Joseph; [12]of Harim, Adna; of Meraioth, Helkai; [13]of Iddo, Zechariah; of Ginnethon, Meshullam; [14]of Abijah, Zichri, the son of Minjamin; of Moadiah, Piltai; [15]of Bilgah, Shammua; of Shemaiah, Jehonathan; [16]of Joiarib, Mattenai; of Jedaiah, Uzzi; [17]of Sallai, Kallai; of Amok, Eber; [18]of Hilkiah, Hashabiah; and of Jedaiah, Nethanel.

[19]The Levites in the days of Eliasib, Joida, Jaddusa and Joanan, and Idua, were being recorded as heads of families, even those priests within the kingdom of Darius of Persia. [20]The sons of Levi, heads of the families until the days of Johanan the son of Eliashib, were written in the Book of the Chronicles. [21]And the leaders of the Levites were Hashabiah, Sherebiah, and Jeshua the son of Kadmiel. With their brothers across from them, they offered praise and gave thanks, each group alternating with the other, according to the command of David the man of God.

[22]Mattaniah, Bakbukiah, Obadiah, Meshullam, Talmon, and Akkub were gatekeepers keeping the watch at the storerooms of the gates. [23]These lived in the days of Joiakim the son of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and in the days of Nehemiah the governor, and of Ezra the priest, the scribe.

Dedication of the Wall

[24]Now at the dedication of the wall of Jerusalem, they sought out the Levites in all their places in order to bring them to Jerusalem to celebrate the dedication with gladness, with thanksgivings and singing, and with cymbals, stringed instruments, and harps. [25]And the sons of the singers gathered together from the countryside around Jerusalem, and from the villages of the Netophathites, 26from the house of Gilgal, and from the fields of Geba and Azmaveth. For the singers had built villages for themselves all around Jerusalem. 27The priests and Levites purified themselves, and then purified the people, the gates, and the wall.

28So I brought the leaders of Judah up on the wall and appointed two large thanksgiving choirs. One went to the right hand on the wall toward the Refuse Gate. 29After them went Hoshaiah and half the leaders of Judah, 30and Azariah, Ezra, Meshullam, 31Judah, Benjamin, Shemaiah, Jeremiah, 32and some of the priests' sons with trumpets—Zechariah the son of Jonathan, the son of Shemaiah, the son of Mattaniah, the son of Michaiah, the son of Zaccur, the son of Asaph, 33and his brothers, Shemaiah, Azarel, Milalai, Gilalai, Maai, Nethanel, Judah, and Hanani, with the musical instruments of David the man of God. Ezra the scribe went before them. 34By the Fountain Gate, in front of them, they went up the stairs of the City of David, on the stairway of the wall, beyond the house of David as far as the Water Gate eastward.

35The other thanksgiving choir went the opposite way, and I was behind them with half the people on the wall, going past the Tower of the Ovens as far as the Broad Wall, 36and above the Gate of Ephraim, above the Old Gate, above the Fish Gate, the Tower of Hananel, the Tower of the Hundred, as far as the Sheep Gate; and they stopped by the Gate of the Prison. 37So the two thanksgiving choirs stood in the house of God, likewise I and the half of the rulers with me; 38and the priests, Eliakim, Maaseiah, Minjamin, Michaiah, Elioenai, Zechariah, and Hananiah, with trumpets; 39also Maaseiah, Shemaiah, Eleazar, Uzzi, Jehohanan, Malchijah, Elam, and Ezer. The singers sang loudly with Jezrahiah the director. 40Also that day they offered great sacrifices and rejoiced, for God had made them rejoice with great joy; the women and the children also rejoiced, so that the joy of Jerusalem was heard afar off.

Temple Appointees

41And at the same time some were appointed over the rooms of the storehouse for the offerings, the firstfruits, and the tithes, to gather into them from the fields of the cities the portions specified by the Law for the priests and Levites; for Judah rejoiced over the priests and Levites who ministered. 42Both the singers and the gatekeepers kept the charge of their God and the charge of the purification according to the command of David and Solomon his son. 43For in the days of David and Asaph of old, there were chiefs of the singers and songs of praise and thanksgiving to God. 44In the days of Zerubbabel and Nehemiah, all Israel gave portions for the singers and the gatekeepers, a portion for each day. They also consecrated holy things for the Levites, and the Levites consecrated them for the children of Aaron.

Nehemiah 13

The Last Reforms of Nehemiah

1On that day they read in the Book of Moses, in the hearing of the people, and it was found to be written that no Ammonite or Moabite should ever come into the assembly of God, 2for they had not met the children of Israel with bread and water, but instead hired Balaam to bring a curse against them. But our God turned the curse into a blessing. 3So it was, after hearing the Law, they separated all the mixed multitude from Israel.

4Now before this, Eliashib the priest, living in the storeroom of the house of our God, was allied with Tobiah. 5And he had prepared for him a large room where previously they had stored the grain offerings, the frankincense, the articles, the tithes of grain, the new wine and oil, which were commanded to be given to the Levites and singers and gatekeepers, as well as the firstfruits for the priests. 6But during all this I was not in Jerusalem, for in the thirty-second year of Artaxerxes, king of Babylon, I had returned to the king. Then after certain days I obtained leave from the king 7and came to Jerusalem. Here I discovered the evil thing Eliashib had done for Tobiah. He had prepared a room for him in the courts of the house of God. 8This grieved me bitterly; therefore I tossed out from the room all the household goods of Tobiah. 9Then I commanded them to cleanse the rooms, at which time I brought the articles of the house of God back into them, along with the grain offering and the frankincense.

Tithes Are Restored

10I also realized that the portions for the Levites were held back from them. For each of the Levites and the singers who did the work had gone back to his field. 11So I contended with the rulers and said, “Why is the house of God forsaken?” And I gathered them together and set them in their place. 12Then all Judah brought the tithe of the grain and the new wine and the oil to the storehouse. [13]I appointed Shelemiah the priest and Zadok the scribe as treasurers over the storehouse, along with Pedaiah of the Levites. Next to them was Hanan the son of Zaccur, the son of Mattaniah. They were chosen for they were counted as faithful, and it was their duty to distribute to their brothers.

[14]Remember me, O my God, concerning this, and do not wipe out my good deeds that I have done for the house of my God and for its services!

The Sabbath Is Restored

[15]In those days I saw in Judah people treading wine presses on the Sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and loading donkeys with wine, grapes, and figs, and all kinds of burdens, which they brought into Jerusalem on the Sabbath day. [16]Men of Tyre dwelt there also, who brought in fish and all kinds of goods and sold them on the Sabbath to the children of Judah and in Jerusalem. [17]Then I contended with the free sons of Judah and said to them, "What evil thing is this that you do by which you profane the Sabbath day? [18]Did not your fathers do this, and did not our God bring all this disaster on us and on this city? Yet you bring added wrath on Israel by profaning the Sabbath."

[19]So it was, when the gates of Jerusalem stood open before the Sabbath, that I commanded, and they shut the gates; and I charged that they must not be opened until after the Sabbath day. Then I posted some of my servants at the gates so that no burdens would be brought in on the Sabbath day. [20]Now the merchants and sellers of all kinds of wares lodged outside Jerusalem once or twice. [21]So I warned them and said to them, "Why do you spend the night around the wall? If you do so again, I will lay hands on you!" From that time on they came no more on the Sabbath. [22]Then I told the Levites who were cleansing themselves, who came to guard the gates, to sanctify the Sabbath day.

Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of Your mercy!

Pagan Marriages Forbidden

[23]In those days I also saw Jews who married women of Ashdod, of Ammon, and of Moab. [24]And half their children spoke in the language of Ashdod, and could not speak the language of Judah, but spoke according to the language of one or the other people. [25]So I contended with them and cursed them, struck some of them and pulled out their hair, and made them swear by God, saying, “You shall not give your daughters as wives to their sons, nor take their daughters for your sons. [26]Did not Solomon king of Israel sin by these things? Yet among many nations there was no king like him, who was beloved of his God; and God made him king over all Israel. Nevertheless pagan women caused even him to sin. [27]Should we then hear of your doing all this great evil, transgressing against our God by marrying pagan women?”

[28]And one of the sons of Jehoiada, son of Eliashib the high priest, was a son-in-law of Sanballat the Horonite; therefore I drove him from me.

[29]Remember them, God, because of the rights of inheritance of the priesthood and of the covenant of the priesthood and the Levites.

[30]And I cleansed them of every pagan thing. I assigned the daily courses to the priests and the Levites, each to his own service, [31]and to bringing the wood offering and the firstfruits at the appointed times.

In goodness, remember me, O our God!

Annotations for Nehemiah

1:1 Nehemiah means "comforted of God." Shushan is Susa, a provincial capital in Persia, its most prominent city and winter residence of King Artaxerxes (Est 1:2). Chislev is late November/early December. The twentieth year is that of the reign of Artaxerxes I, dating this account at 445 BC.

1:2 Hanani, a presumed blood brother of Nehemiah, is later made ruler of Jerusalem (7:2). He accompanies some men from Judah on an 800-mile journey to Persia to tell Nehemiah the status of (a) the survivors of the captivity now back in Judah and (b) the city of Jerusalem.

1:3 The returned exiles are in great distress, for the wall and gates of Jerusalem are destroyed. Addressing these two problems—the wall and the gates—is key to understanding the Book of Nehemiah.

1:4 Nehemiah, as would Christ (Mt 23:37), laments prayerfully for the people of Jerusalem, acknowledging they were guilty of sin and disobedience. Moreover, though a layman, he stands with the prophets in interceding with God for the sake of the chosen people and striving to renew the people's obedience to the Law. Throughout Scripture, fasting and praying go together. For Orthodox Christians, the Church offers additional services of worship and intercession during seasons of fasting, especially Lent and Advent.

1:5–11 No indeed is Nehemiah's way of saying, "I'm not putting up with the damaged state of the walls and gates of Jerusalem." Nehemiah's prayer reflects his devotion to the words of Scripture. The phrase great and awesome God is from Dt 7:21. Verses 8 and 9 quote Dt 30:1–5. This man . . . the king is Artaxerxes I, under whom Nehemiah held the office of cupbearer (v. 11). He it is who would grant Nehemiah's request to return to Jerusalem (2:6–8).

2:1 In ancient times, a ruler's demise was often brought about through the poisoning of his food or wine. So before King Artaxerxes was served, Nehemiah would first sample his food and drink. Typically, a cupbearer was in the king's presence more than any of his other subjects and often was held in high confidence. On this day, no one else was present but his queen (v. 6).

2:3 May the king live forever! was the common way to greet a king (see Dan 2:4; 5:10; 6:7, 22), in the same spirit as greeting the bishop with "Many years to you, O Master," or, "Master, bless."

2:4 Nehemiah continues in prayer, silently and in brief, to the God of Heaven, for Artaxerxes had decreed that Jerusalem not be rebuilt unless by his order (2:19).

2:5 Nehemiah moves from intercessor to mediator. It was crucial for him both to be prayerful and to act.

2:7, 8 Sensing there would be opposition, Nehemiah asks for letters to give him safe passage and timber to complete the work of rebuilding the wall and the gates of Jerusalem. The good hand of God had touched the heart of the king, who came to understand the benefits of a loyal Jewish ally in Judah.

2:10 Sanballat and Tobiah, together with Geshem the Arab (v. 19), will be Nehemiah's constant detractors throughout the rebuilding of the wall. According to an ancient papyrus, Sanballat later became governor of Samaria.

2:11–16 Jesus warned His servants to be "wise as serpents and harmless as doves" (Mt 10:16). Being a man of wisdom, Nehemiah secretly inspects the wall of Jerusalem by night (v. 13). Not even the sentries knew what he was up to (v. 16).

2:17, 18 I said to them: With the survey completed and the mission now clear, Nehemiah calls together the officials of Jerusalem and the workers (v. 16). Here he moves from mediator (2:5) to motivator: Let us rise up and let us build (v. 18).

2:19, 20 Whenever God's will is being carried out, expect the critics to step forward. Jesus had the scribes and Pharisees, St. Paul had Demas and Alexander the coppersmith (2Ti 4:9–15), and Nehemiah had Sanballat, Tobiah, and Geshem, who laughed at the project. The prophet, not arguing, said, "God . . . will . . . prosper us" (see Ex 14:14; 1Th 5:24).

3:1–32 The work to rebuild Jerusalem and restore Israel within the land God promised to their ancestors begins at once. The laborers are a veritable "Who's Who" of Jerusalem and the surrounding communities. They include the high priest and the priests (v. 1), and the men of Jericho (v. 2), who are likely returned exiles from that city. The Tekoites (v. 5), from Amos' hometown of Tekoa (Am 1:1), did repair work (their nobles probably sided with Sanballat), along with the sons of other district leaders (vv. 12, 14, 16) and some Levites (v. 17)—the cooperation is stunning. The Nethinim (v. 26) are a group or order of temple servants. Even the merchants took part (v. 32).

3:33–35 A fox could destroy the wall: As critics of God's work are prone to do, they use ridicule in an effort to distract. (See note on 2:19, 20.)

3:36 Nehemiah's response to those openly opposed to God's will is not anger but prayer, that God will bring vengeance against them (see Gn 12:1–3; Jos 1:5; Dt 32:35; Rom 12:19).

4:1–3 Not only verbal ridicule, but here also armed conspiracy becomes a tool of those opposed to God.

4:7, 8 A wonderful picture of synergy—working together with God. Nehemiah strategically positioned men to fight, while promising the people that God will fight for them.

4:10 Judah is the people in general. Note how half played offense, doing the work, and half played defense, protecting the project.

4:13, 15 As with these workers, we often need to endure sacrifice and discomfort not only to complete God's work but also to sustain over time the project God gives us to do (12:27, 28).

5:1–5 The great outcry was over grain shortages (vv. 2, 3), having to borrow money to pay the king's tax (v. 4), and having to sell children into slavery (v. 5).

5:7–11 After serious thought shows yet another facet of Nehemiah's brilliant leadership. Not acting impulsively, he prays, plans, and thinks things through before issuing his rebuke. Usury, the charging of interest, is permitted, but not when both parties are Jews (Ex 22–25; Lv 25:35–38). This rebuke, including the touchy issue of slavery (v. 8), worked. The nobles and rulers were speechless.

5:14, 15 Typically the governor lived at taxpayer expense, but not Nehemiah. Because of the fear of God he provided for himself, as did St. Paul hundreds of years later (1Co 9:1–18), setting a servant example for others.

5:19 Those with a sincere faith in God who act with righteous motives may seek a blessing from Him (Dt 28:1–14; Mk 10:29, 30).

6:1, 2 The plain of Ono is near Judah's border with Samaria, a two-day journey. In meeting there Nehemiah would not only risk his own life, but would jeopardize the rebuilding of Jerusalem.

6:5 Having previously failed to thwart him, Sanballat delivers an open letter to Jerusalem to discredit Nehemiah and through rumor bring dissension among the faithful.

6:7 The king who would get this report is the King of Persia, Artaxerxes (2:1).

6:9 With great leaders, the more people say the job will not be done, the greater the leaders' resolve becomes. With God's help, Nehemiah's hands only get stronger!

6:10–12 Shemaiah, an apparent prophet whom Tobiah and Sanballat had hired (v. 12), was revealed as a false prophet, for his words were in disobedience to God. The reference to Noadiah (v. 14) indicates others had been hired as well.

6:15, 16 The enemies lost out and God's will prevailed as the wall was finished in just fifty-two days—less than two months! Disheartened, even Sanballat and Tobiah were forced to admit the work was done by . . . God.

6:17–19 Though defeated, the well-connected Tobiah continued his letters of assault. Jesus called this kind wolves "in sheep's clothing" (Mt 7:15).

7:1–3 With the wall rebuilt, Nehemiah, as governor, appoints his brother Hanani, who feared God, as ruler of Jerusalem. Hananiah became the leader of the citadel (or fortress). This helped ensure the safety and well-being of Jerusalem.

7:6–73 This list of names confirms the remnant Jews who, due to their faithfulness to God and steadfast obedience to the Mosaic Law, were allowed to return to Jerusalem.

8:1 The public proclamation of the Scriptures—the reading and preaching of the Word of God—is essential to the evangelical mission of the Church. The sacrifices were offered only in the temple, but here the message of the Book is heard in the open square.

8:2 This assembly gathered on the first day of the seventh month because it was the Feast of Trumpets, or Jewish New Year.

8:5 All the people stood up for the reading of the Scriptures. To this day in the Orthodox Church the people stand for the reading of the Gospel.

8:6 They bowed their heads: A symbol of humility and reverence in worship.

8:7, 8 The foundations of apostolic ministry are found in helping the people to understand the Scriptures and in building them up in the knowledge of the Lord. (See Acts 2:37–39; 8:30, 31.)

8:10 True feasting includes caring for the poor (see Est 9:21), those for whom nothing is prepared.

8:14–17 Living in booths is a reminder that the faithful are but sojourners in this world, moving toward a true home in God's kingdom (see Lv 34–42).

8:18 The assembly on the eighth day points us to the Kingdom of heaven. In the Church, the seven-day week reflects God's creation and work in this world, while the eighth day is the day without end, the day beyond this world when all is fulfilled.

9:1–3 Having heard the word of God, the faithful are convicted of their sins and moved to repentance, fasting, confession, and prayer. Note they confessed not privately, but in the midst of those assembled together (see Jam 5:16).

9:6–38 The prayer of Ezra follows the classic biblical pattern of praise, remembrance of God's works, and petition. This same pattern is followed in the eucharistic prayers of the Divine Liturgy.

9:38 The sure covenant, recorded in ch. 10, is a pledge to "not neglect the house of our God" (see 10:39).

10:1 Those who sealed (signed) this covenant to protect God's house were the priests (v. 8). Later (vv. 29, 30) the covenant was accepted by the people. This prefigures the New Covenant of Jesus Christ, affirmed by the apostles and accepted by the Church.

10:29 The curse was an agreement to accept punishment on oneself if the oath was broken.

10:39 The oath or covenant is summed up in the words, we will not neglect the house of our God.

11:1, 2 The majority sent to dwell in other cities could be seen to prefigure the apostles being sent out to evangelize the nations. These may also be understood to image those called to live faithfully in this world, while the blessed minority remaining in Jerusalem signify men and women who can accept the monastic life of serving God in separation from this world.

11:3–21 These inhabitants of Jerusalem are grouped as follows: the laypeople (vv. 3–9); priests (vv. 10–14); Levites (vv. 15–17); and gatekeepers (v. 18). In the Church, there is also a great variety of God's servants (1Co 12:4–6).

12:28–37 A description of antiphonal singing, which is still the traditional way the Psalms are sung during the Orthodox Liturgy in many countries of the world. The two thanksgiving choirs that went to meet each other in the house of God (v. 37) prefigure the two covenants which are united in Jesus Christ. In this way, the choirs also serve as a type of the unity of Jew and Gentile in Christ. The two choirs can also be understood as the departed faithful (the Church triumphant) and the living faithful (the Church militant) being united in the Kingdom of heaven.

12:41–44 As in the temple, so in the Church, faithful servants of God are appointed to assume responsibility for detailed tasks.

13:1–31 This could be called "the chapter of hard choices." Nehemiah reminds his readers that it is better to be pure than popular. (a) After hearing the Scriptures read, the people gained the courage to separate the heathen, the mixed multitude (v. 3), from the congregation of Israel (vv. 1–3). (b) Nehemiah tossed . . . all the household goods of Tobiah (v. 8) out of his rooms in the temple. Why did Eliashib the priest (v. 4) move him in? In 13:28, we find that Eliashib has family ties to Sanballat, the co-conspirator to stop the rebuilding of the walls of Jerusalem (vv. 4–9). (c) Nehemiah put the Levites and the singers (v. 10) back on the payroll. He confronted the rulers of the temple and set them in their place (v. 11). (d) The people of Judah had secularized the Sabbath (v. 15), making it a day of commerce and not a day of rest. Nehemiah makes an unveiled threat to the merchants (vv. 20, 21) and appoints guards to sanctify the Sabbath day (v. 22). (e) Finally, Nehemiah put a stop to Israelites marrying pagans (vv. 23–27).

13:30 This verse could be Nehemiah's epitaph: I cleansed them of every pagan thing.

Major Themes

The Book of Tobit is a love story. A father sends his only son into the world so that he may find a bride, save her, and bring her back rejoicing to his parents. The same story is told by the Lord in John 3:16.

From the beginning, God has been working in history to bring man out of the darkness of sin and death and into the glorious light of Christ. This is the story of salvation, and the Book of Tobit is an icon of that story. Within Tobit's narrative lies a shadowy outline of God working in history from the beginning to the end of the age, as He makes preparation for the uniting of man and all creation to God in Christ.

Background

The story of Tobit is set against the backdrop of the Assyrian exile in Nineveh. Family tragedy, hope, and divine intervention are interwoven to communicate the presence of God's providence.

Outline

I. Tobit's Life before the Exile, His Early Days in Nineveh (1:1–22)
II. Tobit's Charity, His Blindness, and His Prayer for Help (2:1–3:6)
III. Tobiah's Quest and Marriage (3:7–9:6)
  A. Sarah's predicament and prayer (3:7–17)
  B. Tobit sends Tobiah on his quest with Raphael in disguise (4:1–5:23)
  C. Tobit marries Sarah and breaks the curse (6:1–9:6)
IV. Tobiah's Return and Conclusion (10:1–14:15)
  A. Tobiah returns and heals his father (10:1–11:19)
  B. Raphael reveals his identity (12:1–22)
  C. Tobit praises God (13:1–14:1)
  D. Final Days of Tobit (14:2–15)

Tobit's Early Years in Israel and Nineveh

[1]This is the book of the words of Tobit, the son of Tobiel, the son of Hananiel, the son of Aduel, the son of Gabael, of the seed of Asiel, from the tribe of Naphtali. [2]He was led captive out of Thisbe in the days of Shalmaneser, king of the Assyrians. Thisbe is south of Kedesh Naphtali, in Galilee above Asher.

[3]I, Tobit, walked in the paths of truth and righteousness all the days of my life. I did much almsgiving to my brethren and to the people who journeyed with me as exiles to Nineveh, in the country of the Assyrians. [4]In my young days, when I was in my own country, the land of Israel, the entire tribe of my father Naphtali turned away from the house of Jerusalem, which was chosen from all the tribes of Israel, to sacrifice for all the tribes. This temple, the habitation of the Most High God, was sanctified and built for all generations forever.

[5]Now all the tribes that joined in the revolt sacrificed the heifer to Baal. The house of Naphtali, the tribe of my father, also revolted. [6]But I alone traveled frequently to Jerusalem for the feast days, as it is written for all of Israel in an everlasting ordinance. I would carry the firstfruits and the tithes of my harvest and the first-shearing. [7]These I would give to the priests, the sons of Aaron, at the altar. I would offer the tenth of all the harvest to the sons of Levi who served at Jerusalem. I would also sell off the second tenth and go and spend it at Jerusalem each year. [8]The third tenth I would give to whom it was fitting, as Deborah the mother of my father commanded me, for I was left an orphan by my father. [9]When I became a man, I took Anna for a wife from my own kindred. With her I became the father of Tobias.

[10]When I was taken captive to Nineveh, all my brothers and those from my race ate from the bread of the Gentiles. [11]But I protected myself by not eating it. [12]For I remembered God with all my soul. [13]So the Most High gave me grace and comeliness before Shalmaneser, and I became his purchasing agent. [14]I would go into Media. And one time in Rages of Media, I entrusted to Gabael, the brother of Gabrias, ten talents of silver.

[15]When Shalmaneser died and his son Sennacherib reigned in his place, the roads were unstable and I could no longer travel to Media. [16]In the days of Shalmaneser, I did much almsgiving to my brothers. [17]I would give my bread to the hungry and my clothing to the naked. If I saw anyone of my people dead, cast outside the wall of Nineveh, I would bury him. [18]If King Sennacherib put someone to death when he came trying to escape from Judea, I buried them secretly. For in his anger, he put many to death, and the bodies were sought by the king; but they were not found. [19]But one of the men of Nineveh went and made known to the king concerning my burying them. So I hid, and when I knew I was being sought to be put to death I was frightened and ran away. [20]All of my possessions were seized and I had nothing left, except Anna my wife and Tobias my son.

[21]But not even fifty days passed before two of King Sennacherib's sons had killed him and escaped into the mountains of Ararat. Thus Esarhaddon his son reigned in his place. He appointed Ahikar, the son of my brother Anael, to be over all the accounts of his kingdom and over the entire government. [22]Ahikar then entreated on my behalf, so I came to Nineveh. Now Ahikar was the wine-pourer, the keeper of the signet ring, the administrator and the accountant. Esarhaddon appointed him second to himself, and he was my nephew.

The Charitable Tobit Becomes Blind

[1]When I arrived at my house, my wife Anna and my son Tobias were given back to me. It was the Feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the seven weeks. A good dinner was prepared for me, so I sat down at the table to eat. [2]When I saw the abundance of meat, I said to my son, "Go and bring whomever you may find of our needy brethren who are mindful of the Lord. Behold, I will wait for you." [3]But he came back and said, "O father, one of our people was strangled and thrown into the marketplace." [4]So before I even tasted anything, I jumped up and carried the corpse into a room until sunset. [5]Then I returned, bathed myself, and ate my bread in sorrow. [6]Then I remembered the prophecy of Amos, how he said,

> "Your feasts will be turned into mourning,
> And all your gladness into a song of grief."

So I wept. [7]When the sun went down, I departed, and after digging a grave, I buried him. [8]My neighbors laughed at me and said, “He is no longer afraid to be put to death for doing such a thing. He ran away before, and now, behold, he is burying the dead again.”

[9]On the same night that I buried him, I returned home. But since I was defiled, I slept by the wall of the courtyard with my face uncovered. [10]However, I did not see the sparrows on the wall, for while my eyes were open the sparrows discharged their droppings into my eyes, and they became white films in my eyes. I went to physicians, but they could not help me. Then Ahikar supported me until he left for Elymais.

[11]Then my wife Anna worked for hire at what women do. [12]She would send her work to the owners and they would pay her. On one occasion they paid her wages and also gave her a small goat. [13]But when she returned to me, it began to bleat. So I said to her, “Where did this goat come from? Is it not stolen? Return it to the owners, for it is unlawful to eat what is stolen.” [14]But she replied, “It was given to me as a gift. It was in addition to my wages.” But I did not believe her, telling her to return it to its owners. I blushed in embarrassment for her sake. So she answered and said to me, “Are your acts of charity and righteous deeds lawful? Behold, you are a know-it-all!”

Tobit 3

Tobit’s Prayer

[1]Then I wept in my sorrow, and with pain I prayed, saying:

[2]“O Lord, You are righteous. So too are all Your works. All Your ways are mercy and truth. Your judgments are true and just forever. [3]Remember me and look upon me with favor. Do not punish me for my sins and my ignorance, nor those sins of my fathers which they committed against You. [4]Because they disobeyed Your commands, so You gave us as spoil, captivity and death. You made us a byword of disgrace among all the nations in which we were scattered. [5]Now Your judgments concerning my sins are many and they are true, because I did them, and so did my fathers. For we did not keep Your commandments. Indeed we did not walk in truth before You. [6]Now do with me as is best before You. Command that my spirit be taken up, so I may be released and become soil, since it is better for me to die than to live. For I have heard false insults, and there is much sorrow within me. Command that I be freed from distress to now enter into the eternal place. Do not turn Your face away from me."

7On the same day, in Ecbatana of Media, Sarah, the daughter of Raguel, happened to be insulted by her father's maids. 8She was married to seven husbands, but before they could be with her as a wife, Asmodeus, the evil demon, killed them. So they said to her, "Do you not recollect that you strangled these husbands? You have already had seven husbands, but you received no profit from any of them. 9Therefore, why punish us? If they are dead, go with them. May we never see a son or daughter of yours."

10When she heard this, she was so distressed that she considered hanging herself. But she said, "I am the only one of my father. If I do this, it will be a disgrace to him, and I will bring down his old age with sorrow into Hades." 11So she prayed by her window and said:

Sarah's Prayer

"Blessed are You, O Lord my God. Blessed is Your holy and precious name unto the ages. May all Your works bless You forever. 12Now, O Lord, I offer myself completely to You. 13Command that I be released from the land, that I may not hear such disgrace any more. 14O Lord, You know that I am innocent of any sin with a man. 15I have not defiled my name nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity. I am my father's only offspring. He has no other child who will be his heir. Neither does he have a brother close at hand, nor an adopted son that I might keep myself as a wife to him. Seven of my husbands have already perished. What should I live for? But if it does not seem good to You to kill me, command that I be looked upon with favor, and that mercy be shown to me, so I may no longer hear disgrace."

16The prayer of both was heard in the presence of the great glory of Raphael, 17and he was sent to heal the two of them: to remove the white films from Tobit; to give Sarah of Raguel to Tobias the son of Tobit as a wife; and to bind Asmodeus the evil demon, for it fell upon Tobias to inherit her. At that same time Tobit returned and entered his house, and Sarah of Raguel came down from her upstairs room.

Tobit 4

Tobit Instructs Tobias

[1]On that day Tobit remembered the silver he had entrusted to Gabael at Rages of Media. [2]So he said to himself, “I requested death for myself. Why do I not call my son Tobias to make this known to him before I die?”

[3]So he summoned him and said, “My son, if I die, bury me, but do not disregard your mother. Honor her all the days of your life. Do what is pleasing to her, but do not grieve her. [4]Remember, my son, that she experienced many dangers for you while you were in the womb. When she dies, bury her beside me in the same grave. [5]My son, remember the Lord our God all your days, and do not desire to sin or to disobey His commandments. Do righteousness all the days of your life, and do not walk in the ways of wrongdoing. [6]For if you walk in the truth, you will be successful in your works. [7]Do almsgiving from your possessions to all who do righteousness. When you do almsgiving, do not let your eye be envious. Do not turn your face away from any poor man, so the face of God will not be turned away from you. [8]Do almsgiving based on the quantity of your possessions. If you possess only a few, do not be afraid to give according to the little you have. [9]You are storing up a good treasure for yourself in the day of necessity. [10]For almsgiving delivers us from death and prevents us from entering into the darkness. [11]Indeed, almsgiving is a good gift for all who do it before the Most High.

[12]“My son, guard yourself from all fornication, and above all take a wife from among the seed of your fathers. Do not take a foreign woman who is not from the tribe of your father, for we are sons of the prophets. Noah, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob are our fathers from of old. Remember, my son, that all these took wives from among their brothers and were blessed in their children. Their seed will inherit the land. [13]So now, my son, love your brothers and do not be arrogant in your heart against your brothers, the sons and daughters of your people. Take a wife for yourself from them, for arrogance brings destruction and great disorder, and in such worthlessness there is loss and great defect. For worthlessness is the mother of famine.

[14]“Do not keep overnight the wages of any man who works for you, but pay him immediately. If you serve God, He will pay you. Give heed to yourself, my son, in all your works, and be disciplined in all your conduct. [15]What you yourself hate, do not do to anyone. Do not drink wine unto a state of drunkenness, and do not let drunkenness become your traveling companion. [16]From your bread, give to him who is hungry, and from your clothing, give to the naked. If you have more than you need, do almsgiving, and do not let your eye envy the almsgiving when you do it. [17]Spread out your bread on the grave of the righteous, but do not give it to sinners.

[18]"Seek counsel from every sensible man, and do not treat any useful advice with contempt. [19]At every opportunity bless the Lord God, but more than this ask that your ways may become straight, and that all your paths and purposes may prosper. For not every nation has understanding. But the Lord Himself gives all that is good, and as He desires He humbles whomever He will. Now my son, let none of my commandments be removed from your heart.

[20]"Now let me point out to you the ten talents of silver I entrusted to Gabael the son of Gabrias, in Rages of Media. [21]Do not fear, my son, that we have become poor. For you are very rich if you fear God. Stay away from every sin, and do what is pleasing before Him."

Tobias Obeys His Father

[1]Tobias answered him and said, "O father, I will do everything you have commanded me. [2]But how will I be able to obtain the silver, for I do not know him?" [3]Then he gave him the record of the debt and said to him, "Find for yourself a man who will travel with you, and I will pay him his wages as long as I remain alive. Now go and obtain the silver."

[4]Then Tobias went to look for a man and found Raphael, who was an angel. But he did not know it. [5]So Tobias said to him, "Can you go with me to Rages of Media? Are you acquainted with those places?" [6]The angel said to him, "I will go with you. I am acquainted with the roadways and I have lodged with our brother Gabael." [7]Tobias said to him, "Wait for me and I will tell my father." [8]He said to him, "Do so, but do not delay."

[9]So he went to his father and said, "Behold, I have found someone who will go with me." But his father said, "Call him to me, that I may know what tribe he belongs to, and if he is trustworthy enough to go with you." [10]So he invited him, and Raphael came in. They greeted one another cordially.

[11]Tobit then said to him, "Brother, to what tribe and kindred do you belong?" [12]Raphael responded, "Do you seek a tribe and a family, or a hired man to go with your son?" Tobit replied, "Brother, I wish to know your people and your name." [13]Then he said, "I am Azarias, the son of Ananias the Great, one of your relatives.” 14So Tobit said to him, “You are most welcome, my brother. Do be not angry with me for seeking to learn of your tribe and your family. As it turns out, you are a brother of mine from a good and upright family. For I knew Ananias and Jonathan, the sons of Shemiah the Great, since we would journey in common to Jerusalem to worship and to offer the firstborn and the tenth of our harvest. They were not led astray in the deception of our brothers. My brother, you are from a good root.

15“But tell me, what shall I give you as wages? A drachma a day and expenses for you and my son? 16I will even add more to your pay, if you both return in good health.” 17Thus they were well pleased. Then he said to Tobias, “Prepare for the journey, and may it be prosperous.” So his son prepared the things for the journey. Then his father said to him, “Go with this man, and may the God who dwells in heaven prosper your journey. May His angel journey with you.” They both departed, and the young man’s dog went with them.

18But Anna his mother wept and said to Tobit, “Why have you sent our son away, or is he not the staff of our hands when he goes in and out before us? 19Do not attain silver upon silver, but may it be dirt compared to our son. 20For as he was given to us to live by the Lord, this is sufficient for our existence.” 21Tobit said to her, “My sister, do not be concerned. He shall return in good health, and your eyes will see him. 22For a good angel will go with him, and his journey shall be prosperous. He will return in good health.” 23So she ceased weeping.

The Journey to Rages

1They went on the journey and came to the Tigris River. So they spent the evening there. 2The young man went down to wash himself, and a fish jumped up from the river and was determined to swallow the young man. 3The angel said to him, “Take hold of the fish.” So the young man grabbed the fish and put it on the bank. 4Then the angel said to him, “Cut open the fish. Take the heart, the liver, and the gall and put them in a safe place.” 5The young man did as the angel commanded him. Then they cooked the fish and ate it.

6After this, they traveled together until they came near to Ecbatana. 7Then

the young man said to the angel, “Brother Azarias, what is the purpose of the liver, the heart, and the gall of the fish?” [8]He replied, “If a demon or an evil spirit troubles anyone, the heart and the liver must be used to make smoke before the man or woman, and that person will never be troubled again. [9]As for the gall, use it to anoint a man who has white films on his eyes, and he will be healed.”

[10]As they came near Rages, [11]the angel said to the young man, “Brother, we will spend the night with Raguel. He is your relative and with him is his only child, a daughter named Sarah. [12]I will speak for her that she might be given to you as a wife, because her inheritance belongs to you; for you alone are from her people. The girl is beautiful and she is sensible.

[13]“So now listen to me, for I will speak to her father. When we return from Rages, we will celebrate the wedding. For I know that Raguel cannot give her to any other man according to the rule of Moses, or he will be subject to death. Thus it is proper that you receive the inheritance rather than another man.”

[14]Then the young man said to the angel, “Brother Azarias, I have heard the girl was given seven husbands, and they all perished in the bridal chamber. [15]Now I am the only son of my father, and I fear for myself lest, entering the bridal chamber, I may die even as those before me. For a demon loves her, and he does not harm anyone except those who approach her. Now I fear for myself lest I die and bring the life of my father and mother down into their tomb with grief and sorrow upon me. They have no other son who will bury them.”

[16]But the angel said to him, “Do you not remember the words your father commanded you, to take a wife for yourself from among your people? Now listen to me, brother, for she will be a wife to you. As for the demon, have no concern, for this night she will be given to you as a wife. [17]If you enter the bridal chamber, you will take with you ashes of incense, and lay some of it on the heart and liver of the fish. Then you will make smoke, and the demon will smell it and flee and never return. [18]When you approach her, both of you will rise up and cry out to the merciful God. He will save you and be merciful. Do not fear for yourself, for she has been prepared for you from of old. You will save her and she will go with you. I believe that you will have children by her.”

[19]As Tobias heard these words, he loved her and his soul was very much united to her.

Tobit 7

At the House of Raguel

[1]Then they went to Ecbatana and came to the house of Raguel. Sarah went ahead to meet them, and after they greeted one another, she escorted them into the house. [2]Raguel said to Edna his wife, “How the young man resembles my cousin Tobit!” [3]Then Raguel asked them, “Where are you from, brothers?” They answered, “We are from the sons of Naphtali who are captives in Nineveh.” [4]Then he said to them, “Do you know Tobit our brother?” They responded, “We know him.” [5]Then he asked, “Is he in good health?” They answered, “He is alive and in good health.” Tobias then added, “He is my father.”

[6]Raguel jumped up and kissed him and wept. He blessed him and said to him, “You are the son of a good and noble man!” But when he heard that Tobit had lost his eyesight, he was grieved and wept. [7]Edna his wife and Sarah his daughter also wept, and they received them eagerly. [8]And they killed a ram from the sheep and set many dishes before them.

[9]Then Tobias said to Raphael, “Brother Azarias, speak about what you said on the way, and let the matter be completed.” [10]So he told Raguel what he said, and Raguel said to Tobias, “Eat, drink, and be glad, for it is fitting for you to marry my child. However, I must tell you the truth. [11]I gave my daughter to seven men, and when they went in to her, they died during the night. But for now, be glad!” [12]But Tobias said, “I will not eat anything until after you establish an agreement with me.” So Raguel said, “Receive her according to the decree, for you are her relative and she is yours. The merciful God will prosper you in what is good.”

Tobias and Sarah Are Wed

[13]So he called Sarah his daughter, and taking her by the hand, he gave her to be a wife for Tobias. Then he said, “Behold, receive her according to the decree of Moses, and bring her before your father.” He then blessed them [14]and summoned his wife Edna. She took a scroll and wrote out the agreement. They sealed it, and then they began to eat.

[15]After this, Raguel called his wife Edna and said to her, “Sister, prepare the other room and lead her into it.” [16]She did as he said and led her there. Then Sarah wept, but Edna understood the tears of her daughter and said to her, [17]“Be courageous, my child. May the Lord of heaven and earth give you grace instead of this sorrow of yours. Be courageous, my daughter.”

Tobit 8

[1]When they finished dining, they led Tobias to her. [2]As he went, he remembered the words of Raphael, and put the heart and the liver of the fish upon the embers of the incense and made smoke. [3]When the demon smelled the fragrant scent, he fled to the upper parts of Egypt, and there the angel bound him. [4]While both were enclosed in the room, Tobias rose up from the bed and said, “Arise, sister, and let us pray that the Lord will have mercy upon us.” [5]So Tobias began to pray, saying:

“Blessed are You, O God of our fathers, and blessed is Your holy and glorious name unto the ages. The heavens and all Your creatures bless You. [6]You made Adam and gave him Eve as a helper, his wife as a support. From them the seed of mankind came to be. You said, ‘It is not good for the man to be alone. Let Us make a helper for him like himself.’ [7]O Lord, I now take this my sister as my wife, not on account of fornication, but in truth. Command that she and I may have mercy, and in this grow old together.”

[8]And with him she said, “Amen.” [9]Then both fell asleep for the night.

[10]But Raguel rose up and went outside and dug a grave, saying, “He, too, may have died.” [11]Raguel then went back into his house [12]and said to his wife Edna, “Send one of the maids and let her see if indeed Tobias is alive. If he is not, let us bury him that no one may know.” [13]So the maid went to the door, and when she opened it she found both of them sleeping. [14]She came out and told the two of them that he was alive.

[15]Then Raguel blessed God, saying:

“Blessed are You, the God, with every pure and holy blessing. Your holy ones and all Your creatures bless You. All Your angels and Your chosen ones bless You unto all the ages. [16]Blessed are You, for You have made me glad, and it did not turn out for me as I suspected. Rather, You did with us according to Your abundant mercy. [17]Blessed are You, for You had mercy on our two only children. O Lord, show them mercy, and complete their life in health and with gladness and mercy.”

[18]Then he ordered his household servants to fill in the grave.

[19]After this he provided a wedding feast for them lasting fourteen days.

[20]Before the time of the wedding feast was over, Raguel swore an oath and said to Tobias, “You are not to leave from here unless the two of you stay the fourteen days of the wedding feast. [21]At that time take half of my belongings and go in good health to your father. The remainder will be yours when I and my wife die.”

Tobit 9

Gabael Returns the Silver

[1]Then Tobias called Raphael and said to him, [2]“Brother Azarias, take a servant and two camels with you and journey to Rages of Media. Find Gabael and bring the silver back to me and bring him to the wedding feast. [3]For Raguel has sworn an oath for me not to go away. [4]But my father is counting the days, and if I delay much longer he will be very distressed.” [5]Then Raphael went and spent the night with Gabael, and gave him the handwritten receipt. So Gabael brought the small sealed bags and gave them to him. [6]They both rose early in the morning and went to the wedding feast. Then Tobias blessed his wife.

Anna’s Distress

[1]Tobit his father was counting each day. But when the days needed to complete the journey ended and they had not returned, [2]he asked, “Has he perhaps been dishonored? Or has Gabael died and no one gave him the silver?” [3]So he was very distressed. [4]Then his wife told him, “The young man has perished. That is why he is delayed.” Then she began to weep for him and said, [5]“Nothing matters to me, my child, the light of my eyes, for I permitted you to go.” [6]So Tobit said to her, “Be silent and have no more thoughts about it. He is in good health.”

[7]She replied to him, “You be quiet. Do not deceive me. My child has perished.” Then throughout the day she went outside to the road by which he departed, and during the day she did not eat bread. At night she did not cease lamenting for her son Tobias until the fourteen days of the wedding feast were over, the days Raguel swore him to celebrate there.

The Bride and Groom Depart

[8]Then Tobias said to Raguel, “Send me back, for my father and my mother no longer hope they will see me.” [9]But his father-in-law said to him, “Stay with me, and I will send messengers to your father. They will make clear to him how you are doing.” But Tobias said, “No indeed. On the contrary, send me back to my father.”

[10]Then Raguel arose and gave Sarah his wife to him, and half of his belongings in servants, cattle, and silver. [11]Then he blessed them and sent them on their way, saying, “May the God of heaven prosper you, my children, before the day I die.” [12]To his daughter he said, “Honor your husband’s mother and father, for they are now your parents. Let me hear a good report of you,” and he kissed her. [13]Then Edna said to Tobias, “My beloved brother, may the Lord of heaven bring you back and grant me to see your children from my daughter Sarah, that I may rejoice before the Lord.
Behold, I am entrusting my daughter to your care. Do not grieve her.” [14]With this, Tobias went on his way blessing God that He had prospered his journey.
Then he blessed Raguel and Edna his wife.

Tobit 11

Tobit’s Blindness Is Healed

[1]He traveled until they approached Nineveh. Here Raphael said to Tobias, [2]“My brother, are you not aware of how you left your father? [3]Let us run ahead of your wife and prepare the house. [4]Take the gall of the fish in your hand.” So they proceeded, and the dog followed behind them.

[5]Meanwhile Anna sat gazing upon the road for her boy. [6]She perceived that he was coming and said to the father, “Behold, your son is coming, and the man traveling with him!”

[7]Raphael said, “I know that the eyes of your father will open. [8]Rub the gall on his eyes. When the eyes sting, he will rub them and cause the white film to fall away. He will then see you.”

[9]Then Anna ran up to her son and fell upon his neck and said to him, “I have seen you, my child. From this day, I am now ready to die!” So they both wept. [10]Then Tobit came out of the door. He stumbled, but his son ran up to him. [11]He took hold of his father and dabbed the gall on the eyes of his father, saying, “Father, take courage!” [12]Then as his eyes stung, he rubbed them, and the white films peeled off from the corners of his eyes. [13]When he saw his son, he fell upon his neck, weeping, and said, [14]“Blessed are You, O God, and blessed is Your name unto the ages. Blessed are all Your holy angels, for You scourged me but had mercy on me. Behold, I see Tobias my son.” [15]His son went in rejoicing and told his father the great things that had happened to him in Media.

[16]Then Tobit rejoiced and blessed God as he went to meet his daughter-in-law at the gate of Nineveh. But those who saw him as he walked along were amazed that he could see. Tobit gave thanks before them, because God had mercy on him. [17]Then as Tobit drew near to meet Sarah, his daughter-in-law, he blessed her, saying, “May you be in good health, my daughter! Blessed is God who brought you to us, and blessed are your father and your mother.”

[18]So there was rejoicing among all his brethren in Nineveh. [19]Even Ahikar and his nephew Nadab came, for the wedding feast for Tobias was kept with gladness for seven days.

Tobit 12

Raphael Reveals His Identity

[1]Tobit summoned his son Tobias and said to him, “My son, see to the wages of the man who went with you, and we must add to them.” [2]He replied to him, “My father, it is no harm for me to give him half of what I brought. [3]For he brought me safely to you, healed my wife, and brought me the silver. Likewise he healed you.” [4]The elderly man replied, “He more than earned it.” [5]So he called the angel and said to him, “Take half of everything you brought.”

[6]Then Raphael secretly called the two of them, and said to them, “Bless God and give Him thanks. Ascribe greatness to Him and give thanks in the presence of all the living for what He has done for you. It is good to bless God and to exalt His name. Make known the words of God’s works honorably and do not delay to give thanks to Him. [7]It is noble to keep hidden the secret of a king, but glorious to unveil the works of God. Do good, and evil will not find you. [8]Prayer is good with fasting, almsgiving, and righteousness. A few prayers with righteousness are better than many with wrongdoing. It is better to do almsgiving than to lay up gold. [9]For almsgiving rescues one from death, and it will wash away every sin. Those who do almsgiving and are righteous will be full of life. [10]But those who sin are enemies of their own life.

[11]"I will not hide anything from you. Indeed, I did say that it is good to conceal the secret of a king, but to reveal gloriously the works of God. [12]Now when you and your daughter-in-law Sarah prayed, I brought the remembrance of your prayer before the Holy One. When you also buried the dead, I was likewise present with you. [13]Then too, when you did not hesitate to stand up and leave your dinner so as to depart and care for the dead, your doing what is good did not escape me; but I was with you. [14]Now God sent me to heal you and Sarah your daughter-in-law. [15]I am Raphael, one of the seven holy angels who report the prayers of the saints and who enter before the glory of the Holy One."

[16]The two of them were troubled and fell upon their faces, for they were afraid. [17]But he said to them, "Do not be afraid, for peace shall be with you. But bless God forever. [18]For I did not come of my own good will, but rather by the will of our God. Therefore bless Him forever. [19]All these days I appeared to you I did not eat or drink; but you were seeing a vision. [20]Now give thanks to God, because I am ascending to Him who sent me. Write in a book everything that was accomplished."

[21]Then they stood up, but no longer saw him. [22]They acknowledged the great and wondrous works of God, and how the angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

Tobit 13

Tobit Exalts the Lord

[1]Then Tobit with exceeding joy wrote a prayer, saying:

[2]"Blessed is God
Who lives unto the ages,
And blessed is His kingdom,
For He scourges, and is merciful;
He brings down into Hades,
And leads up.
There is no one who will escape His hand.

[3]Give thanks to Him before the nations,
O children of Israel,
For He scattered us among them.
[4]Make known His greatness there;
Exalt Him in the presence of all the living,
For He is our Lord and God;
He is our Father unto all the ages.
[5]He will scourge us for our wrongdoings,
But He will again have mercy
And gather us from all the nations,
Wherever you were dispersed among them.
[6]If you return to Him with all your heart
And with all your soul,
To do the truth before Him,
Then He will turn to you
And not hide His presence from you.
[7]Behold for yourself what He will do for you,
And give thanks to Him fully with the organ of speech.
Bless the Lord of righteousness,
And exalt the King of the ages.
[8]In the land of my captivity, I give thanks to Him,
And make known His might and majesty to a nation of sinners.
Be converted, you sinners,
And do righteousness before Him.
Who knows if He will desire you
And have mercy on you?
[9]I exalt my God,
And my soul exalts the King of heaven
And will rejoice exceedingly in His majesty.
[10]Let all speak of His majesty
And give thanks to Him in Jerusalem.
O Jerusalem, the holy city,
He will scourge you for the deeds of your sons,
But He will again show mercy to the sons of the righteous.
[11]Give thanks to the Lord with goodness
And bless the King of the ages,
That His tabernacle may be restored again to you in joy.

[12]May He rejoice in you, the captives,
And may He love those who are distressed among you
Unto all generations forever.
[13]Many Gentiles will come from afar
To the name of the Lord God,
Bearing gifts in their hands
And offerings to the King of heaven.
Generations of generations will offer You joyful worship.
[14]Cursed are all who hate You;
Blessed are all who love You forever.
[15]Rejoice and be exceedingly glad for the children of the righteous,
For they will be gathered together
And will bless the Lord of the righteous.
Blessed are those who love You.
They will rejoice in Your peace.
[16]Blessed are the many who grieved over all Your scourges,
For they will rejoice when they see all Your glory
And will rejoice forever.
Let my soul bless God the great King.
[17]For Jerusalem will be built with sapphire and emerald,
And her walls with precious stones,
And her towers and battlements with pure gold.
The streets of Jerusalem will be paved
With beryl, onyx, and stones from Ophir.
[18]All her streets will proclaim, ‘Alleluia!’
And will give praise, saying,
‘Blessed is God, who exalted you unto all the ages.’”

Tobit 14

[1]Then Tobit ceased giving thanks.

Tobit’s Final Words

[2]He was fifty-eight years old when he lost his sight, and eight years later he regained it. Tobit did almsgiving, and continued to fear the Lord God, and gave thanks to Him. [3]He grew very old, and called his son and his son’s sons, and said, “My son, take your sons. Behold, I have grown old, and I am departing from this life. [4]Depart to Media, my son, for I trust all the words Jonah the prophet spoke concerning Nineveh, that it will be overthrown. But in Media there will be more peace for a time. For our brethren in the land will be dispersed in the earth from the good land. Jerusalem shall be desolate, and the house of God therein will be burned up. It shall be desolate for a time.

[5]“But God will again have mercy on them, and He will return them to the land. They will build the house, but not as it was before, until the times of the age are fulfilled. After this, they will return from the captivity and build Jerusalem honorably. The house of God within her will be built as a glorious building for every generation forever, as the prophets said concerning her. [6]All the Gentiles shall return to truly fear the Lord God. They shall bury their idols in the earth, and all the Gentiles will bless the Lord. [7]His people will offer thanks to God, and the Lord will exalt His people. All who love the Lord God in truth and righteousness will rejoice. They will show mercy to our brethren.

[8]“So now, my son, depart from Nineveh, since what the prophet Jonah said will doubtless come to pass. [9]But keep the law and the ordinances. Be merciful and righteous, that it may be well with you. Bury me decently and your mother with me, but lodge no longer in Nineveh. [10]My son, observe what Aman did to Ahikar who reared him, how he led him from light into darkness, and how greatly he repaid him. Indeed Ahikar was saved, but as for that man, he was repaid with retribution and descended into the darkness. Manasseh did almsgiving and was saved from the trap of death that was set for him. But Aman fell into the trap and perished. [11]Now then, my children, observe what almsgiving does, and how righteousness delivers us.”

After he said these things, his soul departed as he lay on his bed. He was one hundred and fifty-eight years old, and Tobias buried him gloriously. [12]When Anna died, he buried her with his father. Then Tobias departed with his wife and his children to Ecbatana, to Raguel his father-in-law. [13]He grew old honorably and buried the parents of his wife most respectfully. They inherited their estate and that of Tobit his father.

[14]Tobias died at Ecbatana of Media when he was one hundred and twenty-seven years old. [15]Before he died, he heard of the destruction of Nineveh, taken by Nebuchadnezzar and Ahasuerus. Thus before his death he rejoiced over Nineveh.

Annotations for Tobit

1:1 Tobit means “the Lord is good.”

1:2 Thisbe is in modern-day Lebanon (ancient Phoenicia), north of the Sea of Galilee. Naphtali (v. 1) was led captive to Assyria under the predecessor of Shalmaneser (4Kg 15:29).

1:3 Nineveh is on the east bank of the Tigris River, which is in ancient Babylon and modern-day northern Iraq. Nineveh was the capital city of Assyria.

1:6–8 Tobit reminds us to be faithful to the Lord even when it is inconvenient. The everlasting ordinance (v. 6) is recorded in Dt 12:11–14.

1:9 Anna means “grace.”

1:10, 11 The bread of the Gentiles is described in Dt 14:3–21 as unclean food for the people of God.

1:14 Media was an area south of the Caspian Sea, part of modern-day Iran.

1:17 Not to bury the dead was seen as a curse, the ultimate in disrespect (4Kg 9:10; Jer 8:2; see also 2:3–8).

1:22 Ahikar, the nephew of Tobit, carries the name of a hero popular in ancient literature. He becomes second in command under the new king.

2:1 The Jewish Feast of Pentecost (lit. “fifty”) comes seven weeks or fifty days after Passover. These events are fulfilled (1) in the death, burial, and Resurrection of “Christ our Passover” (1Co 5:7) and (2) at the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost.

2:6 See Amos 8:10.

2:11 Some scholars speculate Anna was a weaver.

2:14 Anna reproaches Tobit, suggesting his acts of charity and his righteous deeds have failed him. This is similar to the rebuke by Job’s wife (Job 2:9).

3:2 Having had his own works judged (2:14), Tobit confesses it is the Lord who is righteous, as are His works.

3:6 In his pain, Tobit asks that he might die and enter into the eternal place.

3:7 Ecbatana is the capital of Media (see note at 1:14).

3:8 Asmodeus means “the destroyer.” Jesus said of Satan, “The thief does not come except to steal, and to kill, and to destroy” (Jn 10:10).

3:11 Blessed are You, O Lord: These are the opening words of numerous Jewish and Christian prayers. Many services in the Orthodox Church begin with, “Blessed is the Kingdom” or “Blessed is our God.”

3:16, 17 God answered the prayer of both Tobit and Sarah, sending the Archangel Raphael (meaning “God heals”) to heal them.

4:5 A father could not give a son better counsel.

4:7 The word almsgiving is used repeatedly throughout the Book of Tobit. It simply means to give of oneself above and beyond what is due (see also 4:16).

4:12 In Jewish tradition, to take a foreign woman as a wife was seen as an offense to God (Ezra 10:2).

4:20 Tobias is sent by his father to Gabael in Rages (near modern-day Teheran, Iran) to retrieve ten talents of silver held by him for safekeeping. Tobit even has the receipt! (See 5:3.)

5:3–6 Raphael is hired to accompany Tobias on his journey to Rages. But the archangel identifies himself as Azarias (meaning “God helps”), a relative of Tobit (5:13).

5:17 May His angel journey with you: Tobit is unaware that his request has already been granted (see also 5:22). Tobias’s dog goes with them, and commentators puzzle over its significance.

6:1–9 The fish not only provided food (v. 5), but its liver and heart (v. 7) were set aside to cast out a demon (v. 8). Gall is bile used as a medicine; it would later bring a cure to Tobit’s eight years of blindness (11:11–14).

6:13 According to the rule of Moses is likely a reference to Nm 36:8 (though there is no mention there of a death penalty), in which it is stated that a daughter with an inheritance must marry within her father’s tribe.

6:14, 15 Tobias is concerned that Sarah’s first seven husbands all died on their wedding night. He knows his death, as the only child, would bring grief and sorrow to his parents.

6:16–18 The angel appeals both to (1) the words of Tobit to take a wife from their tribe (Naphtali) and (2) to the merciful God who will cause the demon to flee (see Jam 4:7).

7:3–6 Though Raguel and Edna knew of Tobit, it appears they did not know of Tobias.

7:10–13 Raguel is honest about the fate of Sarah's seven previous husbands, but blesses Tobias to receive her.

8:2–4 The demon is exorcized both by the incense and by prayers to the Lord. The psalmist connects these two actions when he writes, "Let my prayer be set forth before You as incense" (Ps 140:2).

8:5 See note for 3:11.

8:6 See Gn 2:18.

8:7 Though they are young, Tobias prays that he and his bride will grow old together. In the Orthodox wedding service, the priest prays over the bridal pair: "Grant them to lead an upright and blameless life even unto a ripe old age."

8:10–14 During the night Raguel rose up and dug a grave for Tobias, fearing he may have died. This was not the case.

8:15–17 Raguel is careful to bless God for His abundant mercy in sparing Tobias' life.

8:19–21 Normally a wedding feast lasted seven days (see 11:18). Raguel also contributes half of his possessions as his gift.

9:1–6 Tobias entrusts Raphael to find Gabael and bring him and the silver to the wedding feast. Likewise, at the end of the ages, the hosts of heaven will call the faithful to "the marriage supper of the Lamb" (Rev 19:9).

10:1–7 The extended fourteen days of the wedding feast (v. 7) cause friction between Tobit and Anna because Tobias has not returned home. They try to hush each other up (vv. 6, 7).

10:8–10 Raguel wants the newlyweds to stay even longer, but Tobias prevails. They depart with a blessing.

10:13 Edna's request to see your children from my daughter Sarah is echoed by the Orthodox priest at the crowning service, praying that the wedded couple will "see your children's children."

11:1–3 Raphael and Tobias decide to leave Sarah at the city gate of Nineveh see (11:16) and run ahead to meet the worried parents.

11:11, 12 Following Raphael's instructions (11:7), Tobias dabbed the gall on the eyes of his father. Tobit was healed of his blindness.

11:16, 17 Tobit did four things en route to the gate of Nineveh which are instructive for all fathers, and for all believers: (1) he rejoiced, as St. Paul so often encouraged the Philippians to do; (2) he blessed God for his son's new bride; (3) he publicly gave thanks for his restored eyesight; and (4) he blessed his family. God loves a grateful servant.

12:1–5 Note the spirit of generosity in Tobit and Tobias. Whereas many modern believers hesitate to return even ten percent to God, these men offered God's servant half of everything they brought!

12:8, 9 The Archangel Raphael's exhortation is remarkably similar to one section of Jesus' Sermon on the Mount. In Matthew 6, Jesus spoke of fasting (6:16–18), almsgiving (6:1–4), prayer (6:5–13), and righteousness (6:33).

12:12–14 Raphael's ministry to Tobit's family is that of a guardian angel. Note he carries Sarah's prayer before the Holy One, he is present with those he serves, and he is sent by God to bring healing. "Angel" means "messenger."

12:15 Raphael reveals himself to Tobit and Tobias as one of seven holy angels who appear before the glory of the Holy One (see Rev 1:4). These seven are also called archangels. The names of four of them are revealed: Raphael, Gabriel (Dan 9:21; Lk 1:19, 26–38), Michael (Dan 10:21; Jude 9) and Uriel (2 Esdras 4:1).

12:20 Raphael is ascending to God to appear "before His throne" (Rev 1:4).

13:1 As with many Old Testament prayers, the prayer of Tobit resembles many of the psalms.

13:2 Blessed is the kingdom is how we begin the Sunday worship of the Church.

13:3 The nations are the Gentile nations where God's children are scattered.

13:6 This promise is repeated to Israel throughout the Old Testament.

13:11 His tabernacle is the temple in Jerusalem.

13:13 The author of Tobit understands that one day many Gentiles will come to the King of heaven and that generations of generations of them will worship in what will be called the One Holy Church (see Jn 1:12).

13:17, 18 This passage also has in view the New Jerusalem (see Rev 21:1–3, 10, 11).

14:4 Scholars agree that Nineveh was overthrown in 612 BC. Jonah warned of the fall (Jon 3:3, 4) and Nahum, in his book, records it.

14:5 The temple will be rebuilt, but not as it was before. The second temple, not as glorious, was completed in approximately 515 BC (see Hag 1:1–15).

14:6 The Gentiles: See note at 13:3.

14:10 Ahikar: See 1:21.

14:11 Almsgiving and righteousness: See 12:8, 9.

The Book of Judith

Author

The identity of the author is not known.

Date

Although the story occurs during the reign of Nebuchadnezzar and the Assyrian domination of the Near East, the ideas and language place it somewhere in the second century BC. The work was probably composed sometime during the reign of John Hyrcanus I (135–105 BC), high priest and king of Israel.

Major Theme

God protects His people from their enemies. The Lord God works in mysterious ways throughout history through the agency of human beings, both evil and good, powerful and weak. Judith's lesson to us is that our worship of God, trust in Him, and obedience to His commandments result in divine protection and salvation from our enemies, no matter how powerful those enemies seem to be in this world.

Background

The heroine of this story is Judith, meaning Jewess, the beautiful widow of a wealthy farmer, pious and of good reputation among her countrymen. She single-handedly takes on Holofernes, the enemy of Israel, a general in Nebuchadnezzar's army.

King Nebuchadnezzar's Victories

1 It was the twelfth year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar, who reigned in the great city of Nineveh. In those days Arphaxad, who reigned over the Medes in Ecbatana, 2 built a wall around Ecbatana of hewn stones which were three cubits wide and six cubits long. He made the wall seventy cubits high and fifty cubits wide. 3 At its gates he set its towers, a hundred cubits high and sixty cubits wide at their foundations. 4 And he made its gates raised to seventy cubits high and forty cubits wide, for the marching out of his mighty armies and his infantry in battle array. 5 In those days King Nebuchadnezzar waged war against King Arphaxad in the great plain, the plain in the region of Ragau. 6 And all those who inhabited the hill country and all those who lived along the Euphrates, the Tigris, and the Hydaspes rallied to him, including those from the plain of Arioch, king of the Elamites. Many nations of the sons of Chaldea gathered in battle array.

7 Then Nebuchadnezzar, the Assyrian king, sent envoys to all those dwelling in Persia, to all living in the west, and to those who dwelled in Cilicia, Damascus, Lebanon, and Antilebanon, and to all those who lived on the seacoast, 8 and those among the nations of Carmel and Gilead, and Upper Galilee and the great plain of Esdraelon, 9 and to all those in Samaria and its cities, and beyond the Jordan as far as Jerusalem, Bethany, Chelous and Kadesh and the river of Egypt, and to Tahpanhes and Rameses and the whole land of Goshen, 10 even beyond Tanis and Memphis and to all the inhabitants of Egypt as far as the boundaries of Ethiopia. 11 But all who lived in that area scorned the summons of Nebuchadnezzar, king of the Assyrians, and refused to join with him in the war because they were not afraid of him. They regarded him as but one man, and they sent his messengers away empty-handed and dishonored.

The Defeat of Arphaxad

12 Then Nebuchadnezzar was extremely angry with all that land, and swore by his throne and his kingdom that he would take vengeance on all the regions of Cilicia and Damascus and Syria; that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Moab, and the sons of Ammon, and all Judea, and all those in Egypt as far as the borders of the two seas. 13So in his seventeenth year, he marched with his army against King Arphaxad and defeated him in battle. He routed the whole army of Arphaxad and all his cavalry and all his chariots; 14he ruled over his cities. Then he came to Ecbatana, and took over its towers and plundered its marketplaces and put its adornments to shame. 15He captured Arphaxad in the mountains of Ragau and ran him through with his spears, totally destroying him that day. 16Then he returned, he and all his sundry multitude of a great many warriors, and they rested there and feasted sumptuously for one hundred twenty days.

Nebuchadnezzar's Secret Plan for War

1In the eighteenth year, on the twenty-second day of the first month, in the house of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, it came about there was talk that it was time to take vengeance on all the land, just as he had said. 2So he summoned all his officers and all his nobles, and he laid out verbally all the wickedness of the land. 3They determined to destroy everyone who had not obeyed his summons.

4When he finished his plan, Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians called Holofernes, the chief captain of his army, second in command to him, and said to him, 5"Thus says the great king, the lord of all the earth: Behold! You shall go out from my presence and take men confident in their strength with you, a hundred twenty thousand foot soldiers and twelve thousand cavalry. 6March against all the land of the west, because they disobeyed my commands. 7You shall order them to prepare the earth and water, for I will come out in wrath, and I will cover the whole face of the land with the footprints of my army, and I will give them over to my army as plunder. 8Their wounded will fill the valleys, and their brooks and rivers shall be overflowing with their dead. 9I will lead them away as captives to the end of the whole earth. 10And going out ahead of me, you shall seize all their territory. They will surrender themselves to you, and you shall hold them for me until the day of their punishment. 11Against the ones who refuse, let your eye not spare them, and give them over to slaughter and plunder throughout all your territory. 12For as I live, and by the power of my kingdom, what I have spoken I will do by my hand. 13Take heed and do not transgress any of the orders of your lord, but carry them out fully just as I have commanded you, and do it without any delay.”

Holofernes’ March through the West

14So Holofernes went out from the presence of his lord and called all the generals, captains, and officers of the Assyrian army. 15And as his lord had commanded him to do, he mobilized one hundred twenty thousand select men for the battle, together with twelve thousand archers on horseback, 16and he set them in formation as any great army is organized in time of war. 17He brought a great number of camels, donkeys, and mules to transport their baggage; innumerable sheep, goats, and oxen for their food supply; 18ample provisions for every man, and a great quantity of gold and silver from the king’s palace. 19He marched out with his entire army to go in advance of Nebuchadnezzar the king to cover the entire face of the land to the west with their chariots, cavalry, and their select infantry. 20And along with them went a great mixed crowd, like a swarm of locusts, like the dust of the earth, for the multitude could not be numbered.

21And they went out from Nineveh three days’ journey to the plain of Bectileth, and they camped over against Bectileth, near the mountain to the left of Upper Cilicia. 22Then he took his entire army—his infantry, the cavalry, and his chariots—and went from there into the hill country. 23He ravaged Put and Lud, and he plundered all the Rassisites and the Ishmaelites along the desert towards the south of the Chelleans. 24Then he followed the Euphrates and passed through Mesopotamia, destroying all the fortified cities along the river Abron, until he came to the sea. 25He captured the region of Cilicia and killed everyone who resisted him, and came as far as the southern borders of Japheth, opposite Arabia. 26He encircled all the Midianites and torched their tents and plundered their sheepfolds. 27Next he marched down into the plain of Damascus at the time of the wheat harvest and burned all their fields, destroying their flocks and herds. He sacked their cities, ravaged their lands, and struck down all their youths with the edge of the sword.

28Thus fear and dread of him came upon all the inhabitants of the seacoast, at Sidon and Tyre, and those living in Sur and Ocina, and all those living in Jamnia. Those residing in Azotus and Ashkelon also greatly feared him.

Judith 3

[1]They sent messengers to him to sue for peace, saying, [2]“Behold! We the servants of Nebuchadnezzar the great king lie prostrate before you. Do to us as is pleasing in your sight. [3]Behold! All our dwellings, all our land, all our fields of wheat, our flocks and herds, and all our tents are before you; do with them as you desire. [4]Behold! Our cities also and their inhabitants are your slaves; come and deal with them as is fitting in your sight.”

[5]These men came to Holofernes and reported all these things to him. [6]He went down to the seacoast with his army and stationed garrisons over the fortified cities, and selected chosen men from them as allies. [7]These people, and all their surrounding countryside, received him with garlands and dancing and timbrels. [8]But he destroyed all their borders and cut down their sacred groves, for he had been given orders to demolish all the gods of the land, so all nations would worship Nebuchadnezzar only, and so all their tongues and tribes would call upon him as god. [9]Then he came to Esdraelon, near Dothan, facing the great ridge of Judea. [10]He camped between Geba and Scythopolis, and remained there for a month to bring together all the supplies for his army.

Israel Prepares Its Defense

[1]When the Israelites residing in Judea heard everything Holofernes, the commander of Nebuchadnezzar king of the Assyrians, had done to the nations, and how he stripped and demolished all their temples, [2]they were greatly terrified at his presence. They were troubled for Jerusalem and also for the temple of the Lord their God. [3]For they had just recently come back from exile, and all the people of Judea had only recently been regathered, and the holy vessels, the altar, and the temple had been consecrated, having been profaned. [4]So they sent word into all the region of Samaria, and to Kona, Beth Horon, Belmen, and to Jericho and Choba and Aesora, and to the valley of Salem. [5]Immediately they seized all the hilltops and fortified the villages in them, and stored up provisions in preparation for war, having just harvested their fields.

[6]Joakim the high priest, who was in Jerusalem at that time, wrote to those dwelling in Bethulia and Betomesthaim, which faces Esdraelon opposite the plain near Dothan. [7]He ordered them to occupy the mountain passes, since Judea could be invaded through them. They were easy to defend because the approach was narrow, with space for only two men at the most to pass.

8The Israelites did as instructed by Joakim the high priest and the council of all the people of Israel, which met in Jerusalem. 9And all the men of Israel cried to God with great fervor and humbled themselves in great somberness. 10They, their wives and children, their cattle, and all the strangers, the hired servants and the purchased slaves, put sackcloth around their waists. 11All the men of Israel and the women and the children living in Jerusalem prostrated themselves before the temple, and put ashes on their heads and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord. 12They also covered the altar with sackcloth, and cried out fervently with one accord to the God of Israel that He would not allow their infants to be prey and their wives to be seized; that the cities they inherited not be destroyed; that their sanctuary not be desecrated and be a reproach to the gloating of the Gentiles.

13The Lord heard their cry and looked down on their affliction, for the people were fasting many days in all Judea and Jerusalem before the sanctuary of the Lord Almighty. 14And Joakim the high priest and all the priests who stood before the presence of the Lord and served the Lord, having girded their waists with sackcloth, offered the continual whole burnt offerings and the votive and the freewill offerings of the people. 15With ashes on their turbans, with all their strength they cried out to the Lord to look with favor upon all the house of Israel.

Holofernes Hears of Israel's Preparations

1It was told to Holofernes, the commander of the Assyrian army, that the Israelites were prepared for war and had blocked the passes in the mountains, fortified all the hilltops, and placed barricades in the plains. 2He was very angry, and he called all the princes of Moab and the captains of Ammon and all the governors of the seacoast together. 3He said to them, "Tell me, sons of Canaan, who are these people who live in the hill country? What cities do they inhabit? How large is their army? In what does their power and strength consist? And who is the king who rules them and leads their army? 4Why have they alone refused to come and meet with me along with all those dwelling in the west?"

An Ammonite's History of Israel

5 Then Achior, the leader of the Ammonites, said to him, "Let my lord hear now the word that comes from the mouth of your servant, and I will tell you the truth concerning this people who dwell in this hill country near you; no falsehood will come out of the mouth of your servant. 6 These people are descended from the Chaldeans. 7 They previously sojourned in Mesopotamia because they did not wish to follow the gods of their fathers, who were in Chaldea. 8 For they had departed from the way of their ancestors and worshiped the God of heaven, the God they had come to know. As a result, they cast them out from the presence of their gods, and they fled to Mesopotamia and sojourned there for a long time. 9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place of their sojourn and go to the land of Canaan. They settled there and became very wealthy in gold, silver, and abundant livestock. 10 But when a famine spread through all of Canaan, they went down into Egypt and sojourned there as long as there was food; and there they became a great multitude, so great they could not be numbered.

11 "Then the king of Egypt rose against them and, taking advantage of them, forced them to make bricks; he humbled them and made them slaves.
12 So they cried out to their God, and He struck the whole land of Egypt with deadly plagues. The Egyptians cast them out from their presence. 13 So God dried up the Red Sea before them. 14 He led them by way of Sinai and Kadesh-Barnea, and they drove out all those living in the desert. 15 They settled in the land of the Amorites, and by their strength they utterly destroyed all the residents of Heshbon. And crossing over the River Jordan, they occupied all of the hill country. 16 Then they drove out the Canaanites, the Perizzites, the Jebusites, the Shechemites, and the Gergesites, and they dwelled there for a long time.

17 "If they did not sin before their God they prospered, because their God, who hates sin, was with them. 18 But when they strayed from the path which He prescribed for them, they were destroyed in numerous battles, and they were exiled to a land not their own, and the temple of their God was brought down to the ground, and their cities were seized by their adversaries. 19 Yet now they have come back to their God and returned from their dispersion, and they have taken back Jerusalem, where their sanctuary is. They have settled in the hill country, for it was not inhabited.

20 "Now my lord and master, if there is any sin of ignorance in this people and they sin against their God, then we will identify their offense and will go up to defeat them. [21]But if there is no lawlessness in their nation, then let my lord leave them alone, lest their Lord shield them, and their God defend them, and we will become a reproach before the whole earth."

[22]Now when Achior finished speaking these things, all the people standing around the tent started to grumble. Then Holofernes' officials and all those dwelling in the seacoast and Moab insisted Achior be put to death. [23]They said, "We will not be afraid of the Israelites. For behold! They are people in whom there is no might nor the power to wage war. [24]Now therefore, we will go up, Lord Holofernes, and they will be devoured by your whole army."

Judith 6

Holofernes' Response

[1]As the disruption of the men outside the council calmed down, Holofernes, the Assyrian army commander, spoke to Achior in the presence of all the crowd of foreigners and to all the sons of Moab: [2]"Who are you, Achior, and you mercenaries of Ephraim, to prophesy among us as you did today, to tell us we should not wage war against the Israelite people because their God will shield them? Who is god besides Nebuchadnezzar? He will send his power and will utterly destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God will not deliver them. [3]Rather we, the servants of the king, will strike them down as one man. They will not withstand the strength of our cavalry. [4]We will subdue them with it; their high hills will be drunk with their blood, and their plains will be filled with their bodies. Their footprints will no longer remain, but they will utterly perish, says King Nebuchadnezzar, lord of all the earth. It is he who has spoken; none of his words will be in vain.

[5]"But you, O Achior, and your mercenaries of Ammon who spoke these words in the day of your wrongdoing, you will not see my face from this day forth until the time I will punish these people who came up out of Egypt. [6]When I return, the sword of my forces and of my servants will pass through your sides, and you will fall among their wounded men. [7]Now my servants will take you back to the hill country, and they will put you in one of the cities of the hill passes. [8]You will not die until you perish alongside them, [9]and if you really suppose in your heart that they will not be taken by us, then do not be downcast. I have spoken, and no word of mine shall fail."

[10]Now Holofernes commanded his servants, who were standing by in his tent, to capture Achior and remove him to Bethulia and turn him over to the sons of Israel. 11Then the servants took hold of him and led him outside the camp toward the plain. They traveled from the plain into the hill country to the springs below Bethulia. 12When the men of the city saw them, they took up their weapons and hurried out of the city to the crest of the mountain. The slingers kept the servants from ascending by hurling stones at them. 13Taking shelter down at the base of the mountain, they tied up Achior and left him at the foot of the mountain, and went back to their master.

14When the Israelites went down from their dwelling, they found and loosed him and brought him to Bethulia. They set him before the leaders of the city, 15who in those days were Uzziah the son of Micah of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabris the son of Gothoniel, and Charmis the son of Melchiel. 16They summoned all the city elders, and all their young men and the women rushed to the assembly, and they set Achior in the midst of all the people. Uzziah asked him what had happened. 17He reported to them the events of the council of Holofernes, and all the many words he had spoken in the midst of the Assyrian officials, and all that Holofernes arrogantly boasted against the house of Israel.

18Then the people fell down and worshipped God and cried out, saying, 19"O Lord God of heaven, look down upon their arrogance, and have mercy on the humble state of our people. Look with favor upon those who are sanctified unto You this day." 20Then they encouraged Achior and praised him exceedingly. 21Then Uzziah took him from the assembly to his house and gave a feast for the elders. And all that night they called upon the God of Israel for help.

Judith 7

Israel Is Attacked at Bethulia

1On the next day, Holofernes commanded his entire army and all his allies who joined with him to move against Bethulia and occupy the passes up in the hill country, and to attack the Israelites. 2So their soldiers broke camp, and their army numbered a hundred seventy thousand infantry and twelve thousand cavalry (not including the baggage handlers), a great multitude. 3They camped beside the spring in the valley near Bethulia. They were spread out in width over Dothan as far as Belbaim and in length from Bethulia to Cyamon, facing Esdraelon.

4When the Israelites saw their great numbers, they were exceedingly distressed, each saying to his neighbor, “Now they will ravage the entire land. Neither the high hills, nor the valleys, nor the foothills will support their weight.” 5Still each one took up his weapons, and having lit fires on their watchtowers, they stood guard that whole night.

6Then on the second day, Holofernes brought all his cavalry out in full view of the Israelites in Bethulia. 7He carefully inspected the approaches leading to the city, and then he came upon the springs which were their water source and seized them. He placed soldiers there to guard over them, and returned to his encampment.

8Then all the chief men of the sons of Edom, and all the leaders of the people of Moab, and the commanders of the seacoast region came to him, saying, 9“Let our lord now hear our word, that there be no losses in your army. 10For this people, the Israelites, do not put their trust in spears, but in the height of the mountains where they dwell, since it is not easy to reach their mountain peaks. 11Indeed, master, do not engage them in battle formation, and not one man of your forces will fall. 12Stay instead in your camp, and keep all the men of your army there. Have your servants take control of the spring which comes from the base of the mountain, 13for this is where the citizens of Bethulia draw their water. Their thirst will consume them, and they will surrender their city. Then we and our forces will go up to the peaks of the mountains nearby and camp there to make sure no one departs from the city. 14They and their wives and their children will waste away from starvation, and before the sword can come against them they will already be struck down in the streets where they live. 15So you will repay them an evil recompense, because they rebelled and did not meet with you in peace.”

16And their words pleased Holofernes and all his servants, and he gave command that they do just as they said. 17So the forces of the Ammonites departed, along with five thousand Assyrians, and they set up camp in the valley and captured the springs, the water supply for the Israelites. 18Then the Edomites and the Ammonites came up and camped in the hills facing Dothan, and from there they dispatched some of their troops to the south and east, toward Egrebeh, near Chusi beside the brook Mochmur. The remainder of the Assyrian forces camped on the plain and spread out over the whole countryside, and their tents and the supply lines expanded everywhere, an enormous array.

19Then the children of Israel were disheartened, and they cried out to the Lord their God. Their enemies had them surrounded, and there was no way for them to escape. 20The entire army of Assyrians—their infantry, chariots, and their cavalry—encircled them for thirty-four days, and all the water containers of the citizens of Bethulia stood empty. 21Their cisterns were dried up, and there was not one day in which there was enough water to drink, for the water was rationed. 22Their children became listless, and their women and youths fainted from thirst and collapsed in the city streets and in the gateways, for there was no longer any strength in them.

The People Want Surrender

23Then all the people, the youths, the women, and the children, crowded around Uzziah and the leaders of the city. With loud voices they cried out before all the elders, saying, 24"May God judge between you and us! For you have done us a great wrong by not making peace with the Assyrians. 25For now there is none to help us. And God has delivered us into the hands of them who laid us low in thirst and in great destruction. 26So call to them and surrender the whole city to be plunder to the army of Holofernes and all his forces. 27For it is better for us to be plunder to them, for we shall become their slaves, but our lives will be saved, and we will not have to watch our infants die before our eyes, and our wives and children breathing their last.
28We call all of heaven and earth to witness against you and entreat our God, the Lord of our fathers, who is punishing us according to our sins and the sins of our fathers, do according to these words spoken this very day."

29And with one accord, a great mourning broke out in the midst of the whole assembly, and with a loud voice they cried out to the Lord God. 30But Uzziah spoke to them, "Brothers, take courage, and let us endure yet five more days, in which the Lord our God will return His mercy to us. He will not utterly forsake us. 31But if these days come and go, and no help reaches us, I will do as you say."

32Then he dismissed the people to their various posts, and they went up on the walls and watchtowers of their city, and he sent the women and children home. And they were in great misery in the city.

Judith Upbraids the Rulers of Bethulia

[1]In those days, Judith got word of this matter. She was the daughter of Merari, the son of Ox, the son of Joseph, the son of Oziel, the son of Elkiah, the son of Ananias, the son of Gideon, the son of Raphaim, the son of Ahitub, the son of Elijah, the son of Hilkiah, the son of Eliab, the son of Nathanael, the son of Salamiel, the son of Sarasadai, the son of Israel. [2]And her husband was Manasseh, of her own tribe and family. He had died at the time of the barley harvest. [3]For as he supervised those binding the sheaves in the field, he was overcome with heat stroke and fell on his bed and died in his city of Bethulia. They buried him with his fathers in the field lying between Dothan and Balamon.

[4]Judith remained a widow in her house for three years and four months, [5]setting up a tent for herself on the rooftop of her house, and she wrapped sackcloth around her waist and wore the garments of her widowhood. [6]She fasted every day of her widowhood, except for the day preceding the Sabbaths, the Sabbath days themselves, the eves of the new moons and the new moons, and the feasts and days of celebrations of the house of Israel. [7]Beautiful in stature, she was very lovely to look upon. Manasseh, her husband, left her gold and silver, men and women servants, and livestock and fields. She kept up this property, and [8]no one spoke ill of her, for she feared God and was devoted to Him.

[9]When Judith heard the angry words the people spoke against the rulers, being weak for want of water, and the things Uzziah said to them, by oath promising them after five days to surrender the city to the Assyrians, [10]she sent her faithful maid, who was responsible for all her possessions, to call on Chabris and Charmis, elders of the city. [11]They came to her, and she said to them, “Listen to me now, rulers of the people of Bethulia! Your words spoken today to the people are not right, nor is the oath you have sworn and pronounced between God and yourselves, promising to surrender the city to our adversaries unless the Lord turns and helps you in so many days.

[12]“Now who are you to have put God to the test this day, setting yourselves up as God’s equal among the sons of men? [13]You are testing the Lord Almighty, but you will never come to know anything! [14]You cannot plumb the depths of the heart of man, nor grasp the thoughts of his mind. How then do you expect to search out God, who made all these things, and come to understand His mind or comprehend His purpose? No, brothers! Do not provoke the Lord our God to anger. [15]For if He does not wish to come to our aid within five days, He has the power to protect us anytime He pleases, or even to destroy us before the face of our enemies. [16]But do not put a time bind on the purposes of the Lord our God, for He is not to be threatened as is a man, nor to be coaxed as a human being.

[17]"Therefore, while we await His deliverance, let us call upon Him to help us, and if it pleases Him He will hear our voice. [18]For there has not arisen in our generation, nor has there been in this present time any tribe or family or people or city of ours that bowed down to gods made with hands, as happened in earlier times. [19]Because of this, our fathers were given over to the sword and to pillage, and that is why they suffered a great defeat before our enemies. [20]But we know no other god but Him; therefore we have hope He will not disregard us nor any of our nation. [21]For if we are seized, all Judea will fall, and our sanctuary will be plundered, and He will make us accountable for its profanation with our blood. [22]For the slaughter of our brethren, the captivity of our land, and the desolation of our inheritance He will bring upon our heads, regardless of where we are enslaved among the Gentiles. We will be an offense and a reproach in the eyes of those who master us. [23]For our servitude will not be to our benefit; rather, the Lord our God will turn it to humiliation.

[24]"Now my brothers, let us set an example for our people, for their very lives depend upon us. Furthermore, the sanctuary, the temple, and the altar rest upon us. [25]Besides all this, let us be thankful to the Lord our God, who is testing us just as He did our fathers. [26]Remember His actions toward Abraham and how He put Isaac to the test. Recall what happened to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria while shepherd to the sheep of Laban, the brother of his mother. [27]For He has not tested us with the fire, even as He did them, to search out their hearts. Nor has He punished us. Rather, the Lord scourges those drawing near to Him as a warning."

Uzziah's Answer

[28]Then Uzziah said to her, "All that you said you spoke with a good heart, and there is no one who will oppose your words. [29]This is not the first day on which your wisdom has been evident, but from your earliest years all the people have recognized your understanding, because the disposition of your heart is good. [30]But the people are very thirsty, and they compelled us to do just as we spoke to them and caused us to take an oath which we will not break. [31]Now pray for us, since you are a devout woman, that the Lord will send rain to fill our cisterns, and we shall not faint from thirst again."

[32]Then Judith replied to them, "Hear me, and I will do something which will be known unto all the generations of our descendants. [33]You must stand at the gate tonight, and I will go out with my maid, and within these days in which you promised to surrender the city to our enemies, the Lord will deliver Israel by my hand. [34]But you must not ask me what I am going to do, because I will not tell what I am going to do until I complete the task."

[35]So Uzziah and the rulers said to her, "Go in peace, and may the Lord God go before you to take vengeance upon our adversaries." [36]So they left the tent and returned to their posts.

The Prayer of Judith

[1]Then Judith prostrated herself, put ashes upon her head, and uncovered the sackcloth which she had put on. And at the time of the evening incense being offered in the house of God in Jerusalem, Judith cried out to the Lord with a loud voice and prayed:

[2]"O Lord God of my father Simeon, to whom You gave a sword for vengeance against the foreigners who loosened the girdle of the virgin to defile her, and disgracefully exposed her thighs, and violated her body to humiliate her, for You had said, 'It shall not be done,' and yet they did it. [3]So You gave their rulers over to be killed, and their bed, which was ashamed of their deceit, they themselves being deceived, to be stained with blood. You struck down the servants along with their princes, and princes on their thrones. [4]You gave their wives over to plunder and their daughters to captivity, and all their spoils You divided among Your beloved sons, those who were zealous with Your zeal and abhorred the defilement of their blood, and called upon You to help. O God, my God, hear me also, a widow!

[5]"For You did those things and the things that occurred before and those that followed after; and You have planned the ones present, and the ones for the future. [6]And the things You have determined present themselves and say, 'Behold, we are here'; for all Your ways are prepared beforehand, and Your judgment is by foreknowledge.

[7]"For behold, the Assyrians are multiplied in their strength. They are exalted with horses and riders. They glory in the strength of their infantry;

they hope in shield and spear, in bow and sling, but they do not know that You the Lord crush wars; [8]the Lord is Your name. Break their might by Your might, and tear down their power in Your anger; for they intend to defile Your sanctuary and desecrate the tent where Your glorious name rests, and to cut off the horns of Your altar with the sword. [9]Behold their arrogance. Send Your wrath upon their heads. Grant to the hand of the widow to do what I plan. [10]By the deceit of my lips, strike down the slave with the ruler and the ruler with his servant. Crush their pride by the hand of a woman.

[11]"For Your might is not in numbers, nor Your power in men who are strong, but You are the God of the lowly; You are the helper of the oppressed, the defender of the weak, the protector of those who are forsaken, the savior of those without hope. [12]Yes, O God of my father and God of the inheritance of Israel, Lord of heaven and earth, Creator of the waters, King of all Your creation, attend to my prayer! [13]Cause my deceitful words to be their wound and a bruise to those who planned cruelty against Your covenant, and Your holy house, and Mount Zion, and against the house Your sons possess.
[14]Make Your entire nation and every tribe to know and understand that You are God, the God of all power and might, that there is none other who protects the people of Israel but You only."

Judith Begins to Execute Her Plan

[1]When she had ceased crying to the God of Israel and had completed all her words, [2]she arose from where she had prostrated herself, and summoned her maid and went down into the house, where she lived on the Sabbaths and her feast days. [3]There she took off the sackcloth she was wearing and removed her widow's garments. She washed her body with water and anointed herself with precious ointment. She braided her hair and put a headdress on her head, and put on festive attire she had worn when her husband Manasseh was alive.
[4]She placed sandals on her feet, and put on her bracelets, her anklets, her rings, earrings, and all her jewelry. She made herself very beautiful, inviting to the eyes of all the men who might look on her. [5]Then she gave her maid a flask of wine and a cruse of oil, and filled a bag with grain and a cake of dried fruit and a loaf of bread; all these items she wrapped up together and gave them to her maid.

6 Then they went out to the gate of the city of Bethulia and found Uzziah standing there with the elders of the city, Chabris and Charmis. 7 And they saw her, and her face was changed and her clothing was different, and they marveled at her beauty and said to her, 8 "May the God of our fathers grant you favor and fulfill your pursuits, to the exaltation of the sons of Israel and the glory of Jerusalem."

9 She bowed down to God and said to them, "Order the gates of the city to be opened, and I will go out to fulfill the words you spoke with me." They commanded the young men to open the gates as she had requested. 10 And so they did, and Judith went out along with her maid, and the men of the city watched her until she went down the mountain and crossed the valley, until they could no longer see her.

11 The women traveled straight through the valley, and an Assyrian patrol met her. 12 They seized her and asked, "Who are you, and where are you coming from, and where are you going?" She replied, "I am a daughter of the Hebrews, and I am fleeing from them, because they are about to be given over to you to be devoured. 13 I have come to see Holofernes, the commander of your forces, to give him an accurate report. I will show him the way he can go out and take all the hill country captive without losing the body or the life of any of his men."

14 And as the men listened to her words, and beheld her face—for she was wondrously beautiful in their eyes—they said to her, 15 "You have spared your life by hastening to come down to see our lord. Now come with us to his tent, and we will escort you to him, to deliver you to him. 16 When you stand before him, do not be fainthearted, but report to him just as you said, for he will treat you well." 17 They then chose a hundred men from among them to escort her and her maid, and they brought them to Holofernes' tent.

18 There came about quite a commotion throughout the entire camp, for the rumor of her arrival quickly spread among the tents. They came and gathered around her as she stood outside the tent of Holofernes while they announced her presence to him. 19 They marveled at her beauty, and because of her, they wondered about the Israelites. Each said to his neighbor, "Who will dare despise this people with a woman like this among them? Surely it is not wise to leave even one of their men alive, for if we let them go they will be able to outwit the whole world!"

Judith Meets Holofernes

[20]Then those guarding Holofernes and all his servants came out and led her into the tent. [21]Holofernes was reclining on his couch under a canopy of purple and gold, emeralds and other precious stones. [22]When they told him of her being there, he came out, preceded by silver lamps, to the entrance of the tent. [23]And when Judith came in before him and his servants, they were taken by the beauty of her face. She prostrated herself, paying homage to him, but his servants lifted her up.

Judith 11

[1]Then Holofernes spoke to her, saying, “Woman, take courage; do not be fearful in your heart. I have never hurt anyone who chooses to serve Nebuchadnezzar, king of the whole earth. [2]Even now, if your people inhabiting the hill country had not held me in such low regard, I would not have lifted my spear against them. Rather, they did this to themselves. [3]Now tell me why you have fled from them and come to us, for you have come to a safe place. Take courage! You shall live tonight and from this day forward. [4]No one will harm you, but they will treat you well, as they do all the servants of my lord, King Nebuchadnezzar.”

[5]Then Judith said to him, “Receive the words of your servant, and permit your handmaid to speak in your presence. I will say nothing untrue to my lord tonight. [6]And if you carry out all the words of your handmaid, God shall do something great through you, and my lord shall not fail in his pursuits. [7]For Nebuchadnezzar, king of all the earth, lives, and the power of him who sent you to set aright every soul prevails. Not only does all mankind serve him because of you, but because of your strength even the wild animals of the field, the beasts of burden, and the birds of the heaven shall live for Nebuchadnezzar and his whole house. [8]For we heard of your wisdom and the great accomplishments of your life, and it is spoken throughout the whole earth that you alone are noble in all the kingdom, competent in knowledge, and remarkable in military strategy.

[9]“Now as for the words Achior spoke in your council, we have heard these things. For the men of Bethulia spared his life, and he told them all the things he had spoken to you. [10]Therefore, master and lord, do not dismiss his words, but bear them in mind, because they are true. Thus our nation is not punished, nor does the sword prevail against them, unless they sin against their God.

11 “And now, so that my lord not be defeated and unsuccessful, death will come upon them, for a sin has overtaken them by which they will provoke their God, when they do that which is not proper. 12 Since their food supply gave out and water is scarce, they have determined to kill their animals and to consume all that God in His laws specifically told them not to eat. 13 They further resolved to consume the firstfruits of the grain and the tithes of wine and oil they sanctified and reserved for the priests in Jerusalem, who serve in the presence of our God—things not lawful for any person to touch with his hands. 14 And they have sent people to Jerusalem to bring permission back from the council of elders, because those living there have done these things.
15 And it will come to pass when the response is reported to them, and they act on it, on that same day they will be delivered over to you to be crushed.
16 “When I, your handmaid, learned of this, I fled from these people. And God sent me to do some things with you, by which all the earth will be astonished when they learn of them. 17 For your servant is God-fearing, serving the God of heaven night and day. Now, my lord, I will stay here with you, but each night your handmaid will go out in the valley, and I will pray to God, and He will tell me when they have committed their sins. 18 At that hour
I will come and inform you, and you shall go out with all your army, and none of them will be able to resist you. 19 Then I will bring you through the midst of Judea until you reach Jerusalem. There I will place your chariot in their midst, and you will guide them like sheep who have no shepherd; not even a dog shall growl at you. This was made known to me as a gift of foreknowledge, and I have been sent to report this to you.”

Holofernes Is Taken by Judith’s Plan

20 What she said pleased Holofernes and all his servants. They admired her wisdom and said, 21 “There is not such a woman of beauty and with the wisdom of words from one end of the earth to the other.” 22 Holofernes spoke to her, saying, “It is good that God sent you here, ahead of your people. You bring strength to our hands and demise to those who disparaged my lord.
23 You not only look beautiful, but you are wise in your words. If you will do as you said, your God will be my God, and you will dwell in the house of King Nebuchadnezzar, and you will be known in all the earth.”

Judith 12

[1]He then gave the order to have her brought into where his silver service was kept, and he commanded them to prepare some of his own delicacies for her and his wine to drink. [2]"I will not eat any of this," Judith said, "lest it cause offense. But I will be supplied by the provisions I brought with me." [3]Then Holofernes told her, "If your provisions run out, where do we obtain more of the same? For no one from your people is with us." [4]Then Judith answered him, "My lord, even as you live, your handmaid will not use up what I brought with me until the Lord completes by my hand what He has purposed."

[5]Then Holofernes' servants led her into the tent, where she slept until midnight. She rose as the morning watch approached, [6]and sent a message to Holofernes, saying, "My lord, let the command be given to allow your handmaid to go out and pray." [7]So Holofernes ordered his guards not to detain her. So she stayed in the camp for three days, but each night she went out into the valley of Bethulia and washed in the water from the spring of the camp. [8]When she came up out of the water, she prayed to the Lord God of Israel to guide her way for the victory of His people. [9]So, returning cleansed, she remained in the tent until her evening meal was offered to her.

Holofernes' Feast

[10]It came to be on the fourth day that Holofernes hosted a banquet just for his personal staff. None of the officers were invited. [11]He spoke to Bagoas, a eunuch who was in charge of his private affairs, saying, "Now go and persuade the Hebrew woman you care for to join us to eat and drink. [12]It would be disgraceful to us if we allowed such a woman to be neglected, for if we do not seduce her she will laugh at us."

[13]Then Bagoas departed from Holofernes' presence and came to her and said, "Let not this beautiful handmaiden hesitate to come to my lord in the honor of his presence, and to drink wine with us in merriment. On this day you will be like one of the daughters of the Assyrians who serve in the house of Nebuchadnezzar." [14]Then Judith answered, "Why would I refuse my lord? For whatever is pleasing to him I will do immediately, and this will be a delight to me until the day I die." [15]So she arose and dressed herself in all her womanly finery. Her maid went on ahead to spread out the lambskins on the ground for her in front of Holofernes, which she had received from Bagoas for her use to recline on each day when she ate.

[16]Now when Judith came in and reclined, the very heart of Holofernes was ravished by her, and his deepest feelings were aroused. He was exceedingly desirous of her, and had been waiting for the moment to seduce her since the first time he saw her. 17Then Holofernes said to her, “Drink and be merry with us.” 18Judith replied, “Indeed, my lord, I will happily drink now, for this is the best day of my entire life.” 19Then taking what her maid prepared, she ate and drank before him. 20Holofernes was delighted because of her, and he drank more wine than in any one day since birth.

Judith 13

Judith Beheads Holofernes

1When evening came, his servants quickly departed, and Bagoas shut the tent from the outside and dismissed the waiters from the presence of his lord. They all went to bed, being very tired, for the banquet had lasted a long time. 2Judith was left alone in the tent as Holofernes was sprawled out on his bed, for he had become unconscious from the wine. 3Now Judith had instructed her faithful maid to remain outside the bedchamber and wait for her to emerge, just like she did on other days, for she said she would go out to pray, and she had told Bagoas the same thing.

4So everyone left, with no one great or small remaining in his bedchamber. Then Judith stood next to his bed and said in her heart, “O Lord, God of all strength, look down at this hour on the works of my hands for the glory of Jerusalem. 5For now is the time to aid Your inheritance, and to help carry out my plan for the destruction of the enemies who have risen against us.” 6Then she approached the bedpost, near the head of Holofernes. She took out his sword which hung there. 7She then came closer to the bed, and taking hold of the hair on his head, she said, “O Lord God of Israel, at this moment strengthen me.” 8Then she struck his neck twice with all her might and cut off his head. 9She then rolled his body off the bed and tore down the canopy from the posts. Next she stepped outside and gave the head of Holofernes to her maid, 10who put it into her food bag.

Judith Returns to Bethulia

Then the two of them together went out to pray, as was their custom. Passing through the camp, they went down around the valley, and up the mountain of Bethulia until they reached its gates. 11And from a distance

Judith cried out to the guards at the gates and said, “Open! Open the gate! God, our God, is with us! He yet shows His strength in Israel and His might against our adversaries, just as He has done this day!” 12When the men of her city heard her voice, they ran with haste down to the gate of the city and called the elders of the city together. 13From the least to the greatest they quickly gathered, for they considered it incredible that she had come back, and they thrust open the gate and welcomed the women. They then built a fire for light, and everyone crowded around them.

14Then with a loud voice Judith said to them, “Praise God! Praise Him! Praise God! For He has not taken away His mercy from the house of Israel, but by my hand He has shattered our enemies this very night!” 15Then she took the head out of the bag, displaying it to them, and said, “Behold the head of Holofernes, commander of the Assyrian army. And this is the canopy under which he lay in his drunkenness. The Lord struck him dead by the hand of a woman. 16As the Lord lives, who guarded me in the path I have walked, my face deceived him to his demise. Yet he committed no sin toward me, either to defile me or shame me.”

17All the people were completely astounded, and they bowed down to worship God, saying with one voice, “Blessed are You, our God, who this very day brought the enemies of Your people to nothing.”

18Uzziah said to her, “You are blessed by the Most High God, O daughter, above all other women on the earth. Blessed be the Lord God, who created the heavens and the earth, who led you to sever the head of the chief of our adversaries. 19Your hope in Him will never depart from the hearts of men as they call to mind the power of God. 20May God grant this to you as an everlasting honor and reward you with blessings. For you did not spare your life on account of the humble state of our nation. Rather, you avenged our calamity, walking a straight path in the presence of our God.” And all the people responded, “Amen! Amen!”

Judith 14

Judith’s Plan Continues

over them. March out of the city as though you were going down to the plain against the outposts of the Assyrians, but do not go down. [3]Then they will take up their weapons and head into their camp and awaken the officers of the Assyrian army. They will hurry together to Holofernes' tent, but they will not find him. Panic will overcome them, and they will run from you. [4]Then you and all those who dwell inside the boundaries of Israel shall pursue them and kill them as they flee. [5]But before you do these things, call Achior the Ammonite to me so he may look upon and recognize the man who hated the house of Israel and sent him to us as though to his death."

[6]So they sent for Achior from Uzziah's house, and when he came he saw the head of Holofernes held in the hand of a man in the assembly of the people. He fell on his face and fainted. [7]But when they picked him up, he fell prostrate at the feet of Judith, and bowing before her, said, "Blessed are you in all the tents of Judea. Those who hear your name in every nation will tremble. [8]But for now, explain to me everything you did during these days."

Then, in the midst of the people, Judith told him the many things she had done since the day she departed until the time she was speaking with them. [9]And as she completed her report, the people shouted loudly, making jubilant noise in the city. [10]And when Achior saw all the things the God of Israel had accomplished, he believed in God profoundly, was circumcised, and has been membered with the house of Israel until this day.

[11]At daybreak, they hung the head of Holofernes on the wall, and every man seized his weapons. They then marched out in companies to the mountain passes. [12]And when the Assyrian forces saw them, they notified their captains, and they went in turn to the generals, the captains, and all their officers. [13]They went to the tent of Holofernes and said to the man in charge of all his affairs, "Awaken our lord at once, for the slaves dare to come down to wage war against us, to their total destruction."

[14]Then Bagoas went in and knocked at the door of the tent, for he presumed Holofernes was sleeping with Judith. [15]When there was no answer, he opened the door and entered the bedchamber. He found him sprawled out on the floor, a corpse without a head. [16]With a loud voice he cried out, weeping and groaning. Shouting out, he tore his garments. [17]He then went to the tent where Judith had lodged. Unable to find her, he ran out to the people and cried out, [18]"The slaves deceived us! A single woman of the Hebrews has brought shame upon the house of King Nebuchadnezzar! Come and see—Holofernes is sprawled on the ground and his head is gone." [19]When the Assyrian army officers heard these words, they tore their tunics and were in a state of great turmoil. They cried aloud, shouting in the midst of the camp.

Judith 15

The Assyrian Army Is Decimated

[1]When those in their tents heard the wailing, they were utterly astounded at what had happened. [2]Fear and trembling came over them, and not waiting for each other, they all impulsively ran out of the camp and fled in every direction through the valley and the hill country. [3]Even those who had been camping in the hill country outside Bethulia arose and fled. Then every warrior amongst the Israelites rushed out against them. [4]Uzziah dispatched his men to Betomasthem, and to Bebai and Choba and Kola and to all the regions of Israel to report on what had happened, in order that they would all hurry out to face their enemies and destroy them. [5]So when word came to the Israelites, they came upon them with one accord and smote them as far away as Choba. Likewise, when told what had happened in the enemy camp, even those from Jerusalem and the surrounding hill country came out. And those from Gilead and Galilee outflanked them, inflicting massive slaughter, well beyond Damascus and its boundaries. [6]The inhabitants of Bethulia who remained there descended on the Assyrian camp, plundering it, and were greatly enriched. [7]Soon the Israelite forces came back from the slaughter, taking possession of the spoils, as did those in the villages and towns of the hill country and the plain. They took much of the plunder, for it was there in great quantity.

[8]Then Joakim the high priest and the elders of Israel dwelling in Jerusalem came to observe the great things the Lord had done for His people, and to see Judith and to greet her. [9]When they met with her, with one accord they blessed her and told her, “You are the glory of Jerusalem, the heroine of Israel, the pride of our people! [10]You accomplished all these things by your own hand. You brought about good things for Israel, and God is well pleased with them. May you be eternally blessed by the Almighty Lord.” And the people all said, “Amen!”

[11]The people pillaged the camp for thirty days, giving Judith Holofernes’ tent, all his silver service, his couches, his bowls, and all his furnishings. Some of these she loaded on her mules, and she harnessed them to her wagons and stacked the rest on them. [12]Then all the women of Israel assembled to see her. They blessed her and performed a dance to honor her. And she took woven branches in her hands, and presented them to these women. [13]And she and those with her crowned themselves with garlands of olive wreaths. She stepped out before all the dancers, leading all the women. At the same time, the men of Israel followed, bearing their weapons, clothed with garlands and singing songs of praise. [14]Then Judith began singing a hymn of thanks before all Israel, and the people responded heartily with this song of praise.

Judith's New Song

[1]And Judith said:

"Begin a hymn to my God with tambourines,
Sing to the Lord with cymbals;
Lift to Him a new psalm,
Exalt Him, and call upon His name.
[2]For God is the Lord who makes wars cease,
For into His camps, into the midst of His people,
He rescued me from the hands of those pursuing me.
[3]The Assyrian descended from the mountains of the north;
He came with the countless numbers of his army,
Whose multitude blocked up the rivers,
And his cavalry covered the hills.
[4]He said he would set my territory on fire,
And slaughter my young men with the sword,
And dash my nursing babies on the ground,
And take my children as plunder
And my virgins as spoils of war.
[5]But the Lord Almighty has thwarted them
By the hand of a woman.
[6]For their mighty man did not fall by our young men,
Nor did the Titans' sons strike him down,
Nor did tall giants attack him,
But Judith, daughter of Merari,

In the beauty of her appearance disabled him.
7For she took off the garment of her widowhood
To exalt those afflicted in Israel,
And anointed her face with perfume,
8And bound her hair with a headband,
And put on a linen garment to entice him.
9Her sandals caught his eyes,
Her beauty captured his mind,
And the sword slashed his neck.
10The Persians shuddered at her courage,
And the Medes were disturbed at her daring.
11Then my downhearted people raised the war cry,
And my weak ones cried out, and the enemies were terrified;
They raised up their voices, and the enemy was overthrown.
12The sons of the handmaidens stabbed them,
And wounded them as the offspring of fugitives;
They were destroyed by the army of the Lord.
13I will sing a new song to my God:
Great are You, O Lord, and glorious,
Marvelous in power and unsurpassable.
14Let all Your creation serve You,
For You spoke, and they were created;
You sent Your Spirit, and He formed them.
There is nothing which can resist Your voice.
15For the mountains with the waters shall be shaken at their foundations,
And at Your presence, the rocks shall be melted as beeswax.
And yet You are merciful to those who fear You.
16For every sacrifice as a sweet-smelling offering is like nothing,
And the fat in the whole burnt offerings is like nothing to You;
But he who fears the Lord is great in all things.
17Woe to the nations that rise up against My people;
The Lord Almighty will punish them on the day of judgment;
He will give them over to fire and worms in their flesh;
In pain they shall weep forever.

[18]When they came to Jerusalem, they worshiped God; and when they were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, freewill offerings, and their gifts. [19]And Judith dedicated all the property of Holofernes that the people gave to her, along with the canopy which she herself had taken from his bedchamber, as a votive offering to God. [20]For three months, the people in Jerusalem feasted continually before the sanctuary, and Judith stayed with them.

The End of Judith's Days

[21]After these days everyone returned home, and Judith went to Bethulia and lived at her estate. She was honored throughout the entire country for the rest of her days. [22]Many men desired her, but she married no man during the remaining days of her life, after Manasseh her husband died and was buried with his people. [23]She became greatly renowned, and she grew old in the house of her husband until she reached the age of one hundred five years. She freed her maid, then died in Bethulia. They buried her in the tomb of Manasseh, her husband, [24]and she was mourned by the house of Israel for seven days. Before her death, she gave her possessions to all who were nearest of kin to her husband Manasseh, and to her own nearest of kin. [25]And no one again brought fear to the people of Israel in the days of Judith, nor for a long while after she died.

Annotations for Judith

1:1 This opening verse is anachronistic in that the father of Nebuchadnezzar, Nebopalassar, destroyed Nineveh in about 607 BC.

1:2–5 These verses are a parenthetical description of the massive fortifications of Ecbatana, which in turn implies the great power of Arphaxad, with whom Nebuchadnezzar waged war (v. 5).

1:6 The sons of Chaldea are the central power of the alliance that defeats the great army of Arphaxad (1:13). The irony is that these "sons" will prove powerless before a "daughter of the Hebrews" (10:12). The Euphrates, the Tigris, and the Hydaspes (a river in India) alludes to a large territory ruled by Artaxerxes (see Est 1:1).

1:10 From Ethiopia to the Hydaspes (v. 6) gives the full breadth of Nebuchadnezzar's proclaimed authority.

1:11 Building on 1:6, the author here introduces the supreme irony of this story: "the lord of all the earth" (Nebuchadnezzar) (2:5) will be shown as but one man, and "men confident in their strength" (2:5) will be sent away empty-handed and dishonored.

1:12 The borders of the two seas is parallel to the "boundaries of Ethiopia" (1:10). Great rivers are sometimes called seas in ancient Hebrew literature.

1:15 The mountains of Ragau are some two hundred miles east of Ecbatana and away from the direction of attack; thus Arphaxad was captured while fleeing from defeat.

1:16 They returned to Nineveh.

2:1 The first month is Nisan (March–April) and the twenty-second day is the day after the end of the Feast of Unleavened Bread on the Hebrew calendar.

2:5 The titles the great king and lord of all the earth are further claims of divinity by Nebuchadnezzar (see Jos 3:11; Ps 47:3).

2:7 Prepare the earth and water "after the manner of the kings of Persia to whom earth and water were ceremonially given by custom as acknowledgment that they were lords of land and sea" (Herodotus 6:48, 49). This may be an indication of surrender.

2:8, 9 Just as Christ "descended into the lower parts of the earth" (Eph 4:9) to defeat the enemy of His people, the captives, so Judith will descend to the valley to defeat the enemy of her people (10:10).

2:12 It is not Nebuchadnezzar's hand that will be decisive in the end, but Judith's (8:33; 13:14).

2:17 The Pharisee-like piety of the author is demonstrated here by his inclusion of only clean animals as part of the food supply of the Assyrians, who were notable for their unclean preferences (Hos 9:3).

2:20, 21 The journey here covers some three hundred miles in only three days, an impossible accomplishment given the size of the army and its composition. This hyperbole, along with the simile, like a swarm of locusts (v. 20), calls to mind the dramatic words of another prophet (Joel 2:4, 5).

2:24 The region intended here is uncertain, but perhaps it refers to Upper Mesopotamia towards Ararat and Lake Van.

2:26 These are the Ishmaelite Midianites (Gn 37:27, 28), who were nomads of the desert northeast of the Jordan valley (Jdg 6:33; 7:25).

2:27 The time of the wheat harvest would have been about June, a short span of only three months for such an expansive campaign.

3:6 For their surrender, the people of the seacoast are given favorable treatment, though their traditions and gods will be put down (3:8).

3:7 These garlands would have been crowns of leaves or flowers (see WSol 2:8) with dancing and timbrels in the fashion of Jephthah's daughter (Jdg 11:33).

3:8 To cut down their sacred groves strips them of their gods, thereby asserting the supremacy of Nebuchadnezzar over the land and the people.

3:9 Ridge is literally "saw," which suggests a serrated horizon (see 1Kg 14:4, 5). Also Esdraelon, a valley, "saws" the mountain range of Judea in two.

4:4 Samaria was returned to Judea by Demetrius I Soter (reigned 162–150 BC; see 1Mc 10:30, 38) and annexed by John Hyrcanus in 107 BC. Its inclusion here as part of Judea suggests this story was written sometime during the reign of John Hyrcanus (135–104 BC).

4:6 Bethulia and Betomesthaim are unknown places and appear only in Judith. Bethulia is a word-play on Bethuel (a city of Simeon). Both are consistent with our Simeonite heroine (see 9:2) and the Assyrian messengers who bring this assault on Israel (see 1:11; Is 37:24). Betomesthaim (Hebrew: Beth-Moutemah) means "house of enmity" and is likely a scornful allusion to the city of Samaria.

4:11 Casting ashes on their heads is a sign of contrition and lamentation.

4:14 Served here is a liturgical term (see also Lk 1:23, "service"; Acts 13:2, "ministered"; Heb 8:6, "ministry"). St. Clement writes, "We ought to do all those things the Master has ordered us to perform at the appointed times. He has commanded sacrifices and services to be performed. . . . Thus, to the high priest has been appointed his proper services, to the priests, their own place assigned, upon the Levites their proper duties imposed; and the layman is bound by the rules for laymen." We see here in Judith the oft-repeated practice of God's people gathering together in worship and prayer to seek divine mercy and grace.

5:1 These barricades consisted of camouflaged pits containing sharply pointed stakes meant to lame horses or impale infantry.

5:3, 4 Canaan is used here in its archaic sense (see Gn 10:15–19) and includes all those dwelling in the west (v. 4).

5:5–21 The Protomartyr Stephen gave an account (Acts 7) similar to this.

5:6, 7 The Chaldeans were a Semitic people (Gn 10:21–31) who settled the area just north of the Persian Gulf (Gn 10:30). Ur of the Chaldeans (Gn 11:27, 28) was just outside of Mesopotamia (Greek for "between the rivers") just south of the Euphrates River. The Chaldean city of Ur was the site of a major temple of the moon-god Sin. Such was the Chaldean penchant for worshiping the heavens, and the name became a proverbial term for astrologers (see Dan 2:2).

5:8 Had come to know is an active-voice verb in Greek: knowing God requires that we diligently seek Him (Pr 8:17; Heb 11:6). Abraham came to know the God of heaven by looking beyond the heavens to seek his Creator. He thereby received the true inheritance (Heb 11:8–10, 16). That the Chaldeans cast them out we find only at this place in Scripture, and in Jewish tradition.

6:2 The mention of mercenaries is an allusion to Is 28:1.

6:9 Holofernes is now exalting himself as equal with King Nebuchadnezzar, and even with God Himself.

6:15 Since Uzziah is of the tribe of Simeon, as is Judith (11:2), apparently we are meant to understand the entire city as being of Simeon, a noted avenger of Israel (Gn 34:25–27; 49:5).

6:21 This feast would have been a solemn occasion in order to call on the God of Israel (see Joel 1:14; 2:15–17).

7:3 Knowing the locations of Dothan and Esdraelon, the description given here points to the entire valley of Jezreel being occupied by the allies (7:1).

7:6 The point of bringing forth all his cavalry against the Israelites, who had no such forces, is to intimidate them.

7:11 Ironically, the one man who will fall is Holofernes himself (13:4–8).

7:20, 21 Their water containers would be those which were usually filled at the now inaccessible springs. The cisterns went dry, leaving the people with rationed water.

7:24–32 These verses form the foil of faithlessness against which the faith of Judith will stand.

8:1 A genealogy such as this establishes one as a legitimate member of a community, in this case Israel. It is significant the author leaves out Judith's tribal affiliation. The message is to all Israel and not only to one person, city, or tribe.

8:5 A tent . . . on the rooftop provided Judith with solitude from the daily activities of a household (see Pr 21:8).

8:6 Judith's fasting every day of her widowhood does not mean she practiced complete abstinence. Rather, according to Jewish tradition, she would have abstained from morning until evening, eating a meal only after sundown.

8:10 Judith wisely calls the elders of the city to her home to avoid publicly shaming them for their unwise decision.

8:17 This is the crux of the author's message in this book.
8:32 Hear me means, "Give heed to what I have said." Judith's speech here is the foundation for her decisions that follow.
9:1 That Judith uncovered the sackcloth in which she was clothed after the elders had left (8:36) demonstrates her true humility: she did not present herself with a sad countenance.
9:2 See Gn 34 for the account of this tragic incident.
9:12 Heaven, earth, and waters comprise the visible world and thereby express the full scope of the rule of the Creator and King.
9:13 Judith wisely understands that the intent of the enemy is the removal of the religion of Israel.
9:14 This is the purpose for Judith's story.
10:2 Judith arose from being prostrated in prayer (9:1).
10:4 This short list of feminine jewelry is comparable to the longer list in Is 3:16–23.
10:7, 8 This passage brings to mind the words of Pr 31:28.
10:9 Judith bowed down to God before them, for in such veneration "God is honored, as a king is honored through the honor given to a beloved servant. They are honored as servants in attendance upon their Master, as valued friends, but not as the king" (JohnDm).
10:12 Judith identifies herself as a daughter of the Hebrews since foreigners commonly identified Israelites as Hebrews (see 1Kg 4:6; Acts 6:1).
10:21 Holofernes' canopy, worthy of a great king (see Est 1:6 and SS 3:7, 9, 10), reveals his inflated opinion of himself.
11:4 Although no one will harm Judith, she will be the destruction of Holofernes (9:13).
11:5–8 In considering the deceitful flattery of Judith's words, the author is following an ancient standard of morality: there are no rights for an alien enemy (Dt 23:3–6). Christ, however, has called us to a more perfect way: "Love your enemies, bless those who curse you, do good to those who hate you, and pray for those who spitefully use you and persecute you" (Mt 5:44).
11:6 Judith's words are deliberately ambiguous. Holofernes pridefully understands my lord to refer to himself, but Judith is actually saying, "my Lord shall not fail in His pursuits."
11:17 Night and day reflects the ancient method of reckoning time in which a new day begins at sunset (Gn 1:5).
11:23 There is betrayal in Holofernes' vow, your God will be my God, because he acknowledges King Nebuchadnezzar as god (3:8; 6:2).
12:2 Judith's polite but firm refusal to eat from the table of Gentiles is akin to the piety later found among the Pharisees (Gal 2:12).
12:5 The morning watch is from about two a.m. until dawn.
12:7 That Judith washed in the water from the spring was ceremonial, not merely practical. Jewish places of prayer were usually located near water (Ps 136:1; Ezk 1:3; Acts 16:13).
12:10 The officers were excluded so as to limit the feast to a private household affair.
12:12 Passions (in this case, lust) can affect moral judgment to the point that evil is considered good (Is 5:18–23). Holofernes is so enmeshed in his passion he considers it a disgrace if we do not seduce her.
12:14 Again, Judith's words are deliberately ambiguous (see 11:6, note). Bagoas understands my lord to refer to Holofernes, but Judith means "my Lord."
12:15 Holofernes' intent upon Judith had been made plain by the lambskins. They were used for bedding, not to recline on to eat a meal.
12:16 Ravished does not mean filled with joy. Rather, it here indicates a violent seizing of one's senses which results in senselessness, even insanity.
13:2, 3 Holofernes' being unconscious from the wine explains why Bagoas unquestioningly accepts Judith's words that she would go out to pray. Of course, she was preparing for her unhindered departure.
13:4, 5 Judith prayer was said in her heart to keep this final petition for blessing between herself and the Lord and away from prying ears.
13:6, 7 Holofernes' sword and Judith's plea O Lord . . . strengthen me brings to mind Ps 36:15, 17, 39.
13:13 Her return was incredible to them because, in their weakness of faith, they thought her departure had meant her certain death.

13:14 Praise God contains an allusion to the etymology of the name Judith, which means "Jewess" or "praise" (see Gn 49:8).

13:15 That Holofernes died by the hand of a woman emphasizes the shame associated with his being so weak as to have succumbed to such a death.

13:16 Judith here offers evidence that her act was consistent with God's will.

13:18–20 This blessing is a prototype of the blessing and veneration the Church gives to the Theotokos.

14:1 This public display of the head (or body) of a fallen enemy leader was done to reveal his disgrace (Dt 21:22, 23).

14:5 The canopy (13:15) is a single witness to the identity of the head. Achior is a former ally of Holofernes who provides confirmation of the identity of the head.

14:10 For an Ammonite to be membered with the house of Israel is in contradiction to the law (Dt 23:4, 5). So also is the salvation of all Gentiles.

15:8 They would have greeted her with words similar to St. Paul's salutation to the Thessalonians, "Now may the Lord of peace Himself give you peace always in every way. The Lord be with you all" (2Th 3:16), a typical Jewish greeting.

15:13 The songs of praise would likely have included the Psalms of Ascent (120–134).

16:2 This verse alludes to Ps 17:48.

16:3 The mountains of the north was the typical path of advance against Israel by the kingdoms of the east in order to avoid a march across the Arabian desert.

16:5, 6 See Is 57:13.

16:6 The Titans' sons are likely Goliath and his kin (2Kg 21:18–22).

16:10 The Persians and the Medes are a reminder that this story is set in the time after the return from captivity.

16:14 This verse is a paraphrase of Ps 32:6.

16:19 In imitation of Abraham (Gn 14:22, 23), and Elisha (4Kg 5:16), Judith took nothing for herself, but dedicated all the property to the Lord.

16:22 Judith maintained her widowhood until the end of her life, a common practice in Israel (Lk 2:36, 37) and in the Church (1Co 7:8, 39, 40; 1Ti 5:5). The phrase was buried with his people is indicative of the Hebrew practice of burying succeeding generations of the family in a common grave site (Gn 49:29).

The Book of Esther

Author

By tradition, Mordecai (9:20, 29).

Date

About 450 BC, after the fall of Babylon.

Major Theme

Divine providence of God in taking care of His people in adversity when they pray to Him and trust in Him. The Jews fasted and prayed when they learned of an evil plot to destroy them. Esther, an orphan, was chosen by King Xerxes (Ahasuerus) to replace the Persian queen. It was because of her royal position that she was able to persuade the king to save her people. Similar patterns to the rise of Esther as queen may be seen in the rise of Joseph to the court of the Pharaoh and the rise of Daniel in the court of Babylon.

Background

The Book of Esther is an account of the Jews who chose to remain in Susa, Persia, after Cyrus gave them a decree to return to Jerusalem (2Ez 1:1–4). Thus, 2 Ezra fits in time between chapters 6 and 7 of Esther, linking the Book of Esther to the time of Ezra and Nehemiah. Haman's effort to eradicate the Jews is the last major effort to destroy them before the time of the Maccabees. God promised to give rest to the Israelites (Dt 25:19), and with Haman's execution the Jews have rest from their enemies.

Introduction: Mordecai's Prophetic Dream

[1a]In the second year of the reign of the great King Artaxerxes, on the first day of Nisan, Mordecai, the son of Jair, son of Shimei, the son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, had a dream. [1b]He was a Jewish man living in the city of Susa, a great man who served in the court of the king. [1c]He was from the captives Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had deported from Jerusalem with Jechoniah the king of Judah. [1d]And this was his dream:

Behold, there was noise and tumult, thunder and earthquake—confusion on the earth. [1e]Two great dragons came forth, both ready for combat. A great roar came forth from them, [1f]and at the sound of them, every nation prepared to wage war against the nation of the just. [1g]And indeed, it was a day of gloom and of darkness, tribulation and anguish, oppression and great confusion upon the earth. [1h]The entire upright nation was troubled, fearing the evils against them; they were prepared to perish, and they cried out to God. [1i]And at their cry there came forth, as it were from a small spring, a great river having abundant water. [1j]There was light, and the sun rose, and the lowly were exalted, and they devoured the esteemed.

[1k]Mordecai, who had seen this vision and what God was planning to do, awoke. [1l]He kept it in his heart and wished to ponder it until night.

A Plot against the King

[1m]Then Mordecai rested in the courtyard with Gabatha and Tharra, the king's two eunuchs who guarded the courtyard. [1n]He overheard their words and considered their anxieties, and he realized they were preparing to lay hands upon the king, and he informed the king about them. [1o]Then the king interrogated the two eunuchs, and they confessed and were led away to be executed. [1p]The king made a memorandum of these matters, and Mordecai also wrote about these matters. [1q]And the king commanded Mordecai to serve in the court, and he gave him gifts for this service. [1r]But Haman, the son of Hamadatha the Agagthite, was held in high honor before the king, and he sought for ways to bring harm to Mordecai and his people because of the two eunuchs of the king.

King Artaxerxes' Banquet

1It came to pass, after these matters, in the days of Artaxerxes (this is the same Artaxerxes who reigned over the hundred and twenty-seven provinces, from India to Ethiopia), 2in the days when King Artaxerxes sat on the throne in the city of Susa, 3that in the third year of his reign he gave a feast for his friends and the rest of the nations, and for the nobles of the Persians and the Medes and the chiefs of the satraps. 4And after these things, that is after he had displayed the wealth of his kingdom and the glory of the joy of his riches for one hundred eighty days, 5when the days of the celebration were completed, the king set forth a banquet in the court of the king's palace for six days for the people living in the city. 6The courtyard was adorned with fine white linen curtains stretched out on cords of purple and fastened to square gold and silver studs, on pillars of marble and stone. And the couches were of gold and silver on a mosaic pavement of emerald stone, mother of pearl, and marble, and transparent coverings variously adorned with colorful flowers and encircled with embroidered roses. 7There were gold and silver cups, and a ruby goblet set out, worth thirty thousand talents, and there was an abundance of sweet wine, which the king himself drank. 8Now this banquet was not in keeping with established law; but this is what the king desired, and he ordered all the stewards of his household, those of his men, to do his will. 9Queen Vashti also provided a banquet for the women in the royal palace of King Artaxerxes.

Queen Vashti Dishonors the King

10Now on the seventh day, the king was merry and told Mehuman, Biztha, Harbona, Bigtha, Abagtha, Zethar, and Carcas—the seven eunuchs, the servants of King Artaxerxes— 11to bring the queen before him, to enthrone her and to place the royal crown upon her, to show her beauty to the rulers and the nations, for she was beautiful. 12But Queen Vashti did not heed his words and refused to come with the eunuchs. The king was distressed and angry.

13The king said to his friends, "Thus has Vashti spoken; follow the law and justice concerning this." 14And Arkesaios, Sarsathaios and Memucan, the nobles of the Persians and Medes, those near to the king and first in rank by the king, went to him. 15They reported to him what according to the laws was to be done to the queen Vashti, because she did not do as commanded by King Artaxerxes by way of the eunuchs. 16And Memucan said to the king and the princes, “Queen Vashti has not only wronged the king, but also all the king’s rulers and nobles.” 17He reported the words of the queen, and how she contradicted the king, and how she disobeyed King Artaxerxes: 18“Thus today the royal ladies of the rulers of the Persians and the Medes, hearing the words which were spoken to the king, will dare to dishonor their husbands in the same way. 19If it pleases the king, let him make a royal decree, and let it be written according to the laws of the Persians and the Medes, and let it not be declared otherwise, that the queen no longer come before him, and let the king give her royal position to a woman better than she. 20And let the decree of the king, which he shall have made, be proclaimed throughout his kingdom, and thus all wives will honor their husbands, from the poor to the rich.” 21And the word pleased the king and the nobles, and the king did just as Memucan said. 22He then sent out to his entire kingdom, throughout the provinces, according to their own language, that husbands be feared in their own houses.

Esther 2

The Search for a New Queen

1And after these words the wrath of the king subsided, and he no longer mentioned Vashti, remembering either what she had said or how he had condemned her. 2Then the king’s servants who attended him said, “Let beautiful young virgins be sought for the king, 3and let the king appoint officers in all the provinces of his kingdom, that they may gather all the beautiful young virgins to the city of Susa into the women’s quarters, under the custody of the king’s eunuch, custodian of the women. And let beauty preparations be given them. 4And let the young woman who pleases the king be queen instead of Vashti.” This thing pleased the king, and he did so.

5Now there was a Jewish man in the city of Susa whose name was Mordecai, son of Jair, son of Shimei, son of Kish, of the tribe of Benjamin, 6who was an exile from Jerusalem, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had taken captive. 7He had raised the daughter of Abihail, his father’s brother, and her name was Esther; and when her parents died, he brought her up to be his wife, and she was beautiful.

Esther Chosen Queen

[8]So when the king's ordinance was heard, many young maidens were gathered together in the city of Susa, under the custody of Hegai, and Esther was brought to Hegai, the custodian of the women. [9]And the young woman pleased him and found favor in his sight. He hastened to give beauty treatments to her, and her portion, and the seven young maidens appointed to her from the palace. He himself treated her and her maidservants well in the women's quarters. [10]But Esther did not reveal her people or her family, for Mordecai charged her not to reveal it. [11]And every day Mordecai walked about the courtyard of the women to see what would happen to Esther.

[12]Now this was the time for a young woman to go in to the king, after she had completed twelve months, for thus are the days of preparation fulfilled: six months being anointed with oil of myrrh, and six months with perfumes and beauty treatments for women. [13]After this, she goes to the king, and she shall be allowed to bring whatever she asks with her from the women's quarters into the royal palace. [14]She enters in the evening, and towards daybreak she departs quickly to the second women's quarters, where Shaashgaz, the king's eunuch, is the guardian of the women, and she does not go in to the king again unless she should be called by name.

[15]Now when the time came for Esther the daughter of Abihail, the uncle of Mordecai, to go in to the king, she neglected nothing which the king's eunuch, the guardian of the women, commanded. Now Esther obtained favor in the sight of all who saw her. [16]So Esther went in to King Artaxerxes in the tenth month, which is Tebeth, in the seventh year of his reign. [17]And the king loved Esther, and she found favor beyond all the other virgins, and he placed the queen's crown on her. [18]And the king gave a banquet for all his friends and nobles for seven days, and he exalted the marriage feast of Esther and granted a release to those under his reign.

[19]And Mordecai was serving in the courtyard. [20]Now Esther had not revealed her heritage, just as Mordecai commanded her when she was with him, which is to fear God and to keep His commandments, and Esther did not change her manner of life.

A Plot against the King

[21]Now two of the king's eunuchs, the chiefs of the bodyguards, were furious because Mordecai had been promoted, and they sought to kill King Artaxerxes. [22]And the matter was made known to Mordecai, and he informed Esther, and she made the details of the plot known to the king. [23]The king examined the two eunuchs and hanged them. The king then ordered that a record remembering the good will of Mordecai be placed in the royal library.

Esther 3

Haman's Hatred of Mordecai

[1]After these things King Artaxerxes honored Haman, the son of Hammedatha the Agagite, and elevated him and set his seat above all his friends. [2]All those in the court bowed to him, for thus the king commanded, but Mordecai refused to bow to him. [3]Then those in the court said to Mordecai, "Mordecai, why do you ignore the king's command?" [4]They said this to him daily, but he did not listen to them. And they informed Haman that Mordecai resisted the words of the king, and that Mordecai had revealed to them that he was a Jew. [5]When Haman learned that Mordecai did not bow to him, he became exceedingly angry, [6]and he determined to destroy all the Jews of the kingdom of Artaxerxes. [7]And he made a decree in the twelfth year of the reign of Artaxerxes, and he cast lots to determine the precise day and month to destroy the race of Mordecai on a single day, and the lot fell on the fourteenth day of the month, which is the month of Adar.

[8]Then Haman spoke to King Artaxerxes, saying, "There is a certain people scattered among the peoples throughout your kingdom; their laws are different from all other people, and they disregard the king's laws. Therefore it is not fitting for the king to let them remain. [9]If it pleases the king, let him make a decree to destroy them. If so, I will pay ten thousand talents of silver into the king's treasury." [10]So the king took off his signet ring and placed it into the hand of Haman in order to seal what was written against the Jews. [11]And the king said to Haman, "Keep the silver, and deal with those people as you wish."

[12]Then the king's scribes were called on the thirteenth day of the first month, and they wrote, as Haman commanded, to the commanders and the governors in the one hundred twenty-seven provinces stretching from India to Ethiopia, and to the rulers of the nations, in their own language. They wrote in the name of King Artaxerxes, [13]The letter was sent by couriers throughout the kingdom of Artaxerxes to utterly destroy the race of the Jews on a single day, in the twelfth month, which is Adar, and to plunder their possessions.

The Letter Sent to Destroy the Jews

[13a]The following is a copy of the letter:

The great King Artaxerxes, to the rulers in the hundred twenty-seven provinces from India to Ethiopia, and who hold authority under him, thus decrees: [13b]Ruling over many nations, and having gained dominion over all the world, not motivated by the power of authority, but ever conducting myself in moderation and unceasing gentleness, I was desiring to make the lives of my subjects continually tranquil and to maintain the kingdom calm and safe to its furthest borders, and to restore the peace desired by all men. [13c]But when I inquired of my counselors how this should be done, Haman, who excels in good sense among us, and has been shown unwavering in good will and unshakeable in fidelity, and has attained the second place in the kingdom, [13d]made known to us that there is a race of people full of ill will who are mixed in with all the other races throughout the whole world, whose laws are contrary to all the other nations, and they continually disregard the ordinances of the kings. Thus the joint administration, blamelessly administered by us, cannot be performed.

[13e]Therefore, we have determined that this people alone is in opposition to every other person, entertaining a strange code of laws, and not disposed to our affairs and perpetrating the worst evils, and thus the kingdom is not able to experience stability. [13f]Therefore, we have designated all those made known to you in the letters written by Haman, who is appointed over such matters and who is our second father, to root out and destroy all of them, with their wives and children, without any mercy, sparing no one, on the fourteenth day of the twelfth month Adar of this present year— [13g]that this race of people, both from before and until now hostile to us, violently going down to death in one day, may afterwards secure for us a time that is tranquil and an undisturbed state of affairs.

[14]Copies of the letters were published throughout every province, and an order was given to all nations to be ready on that day. [15]The matter was quickly dispatched also in Susa. And the king and Haman were drinking, but the city was troubled.

Mordecai Enlists Esther's Aid

[1]But Mordecai, learning what had happened, tore his clothes and put on sackcloth, and sprinkled ashes on himself, and running through the square of the city he cried out with a loud voice, "A people who have done no wrong are about to be destroyed!" [2]He went as far as the king's gate, and there he waited, for it was not allowed for him to enter the courtyard wearing sackcloth and covered in ashes. [3]And in every province where the king's command and decree arrived, there was great mourning among the Jews, with fasting, weeping, and wailing; and many lay in sackcloth and ashes. [4]The queen's maids and eunuchs came and told her, and she was deeply distressed upon hearing of this situation. Then she sent garments to clothe Mordecai and take his sackcloth away from him, but he would not accept them.

[5]Then Esther called Hathach, her eunuch who attended to her, and sent him out to learn for herself the details from Mordecai. [7]Mordecai made known to him what had happened, and the offer Haman had made to the king to put ten thousand talents into the treasury to destroy the Jews. [8]He also gave him a copy of the decree posted in Susa concerning their destruction to show it to Esther. He told him to instruct her to go in to the king and make supplication before him, and to plead before him for the people, remembering, said he, "the days of your low estate and how you were raised by my hand; because Haman, second to the king, spoke against us for our death. Call upon the Lord and speak to the king concerning us, and to deliver us from death!" [9]So Hathach came and told her all these words.

[10]Then Esther said to Hathach, "Go to Mordecai and say, [11]'All the nations of the kingdom know that any man or woman who goes into the inner court to the king who has not been summoned, there is no deliverance for him unless the king holds out his golden scepter to save that person. And I have not been called to go in to the king for thirty days.' " [12]So Hathach related all Esther's words to Mordecai.

[13]And Mordecai said to Hathach, "Go and say to Esther, 'Do not say to yourself that you alone will be saved in the kingdom apart from all the other Jews. [14]For if you choose not to heed this request at this time, help and deliverance for the Jews will arise elsewhere, but you and your father's house will perish. Besides, who knows whether it is for this occasion you reign as queen?' " [15]Then Esther dispatched the one who came to her to Mordecai, saying, [16]"Go and assemble together the Jews in Susa. Fast for me; do not eat or drink for three full days and three full nights. I and my maids will also fast.

Then I will go to the king, contrary to the law, even if I am to perish.” [17]So Mordecai went and did all that Esther commanded him.

The Prayer of Mordecai

[17a]He then beseeched the Lord, remembering all the works of the Lord, and said, [17b]“O Lord, Lord, almighty King, all things are under Your power, and there is no one to oppose You in Your desire to save Israel. [17c]For You have made heaven and the earth, and every wondrous thing under heaven, and You are the Lord of all, and there is no one who shall resist You, Lord. [17d]You know all things: You know, O Lord, that it is not out of disrespect or arrogance or love of honor that I did this, to refuse to bow down to the haughty Haman, for I would have been happy to kiss the soles of his feet for the salvation of Israel. [17e]For I did this in order that I not place the glory of man above the glory of God. I will not bow down to anyone but You, my Lord, and I will not do these things out of arrogance.

[17f]“And now, O Lord God, King, God of Abraham, save Your people, for they look upon us for our destruction, and they desire to destroy Your inheritance from the beginning. [17g]Do not disregard Your portion which You redeemed for Yourself out of the land of Egypt. [17h]Hear my prayer and be merciful to Your inheritance. Turn our mourning into feasting so we may live and hymn Your name, O Lord. Do not destroy the mouth of those who praise You.”

[17i]Then all Israel cried out with all their might, for their death was before their eyes.

The Prayer of Esther

[17j]And Queen Esther, seized with the agony of death, fled to the Lord for refuge. And removing her royal garments, she put on the garments of distress and mourning. Instead of the magnificent perfumes, she covered her head with ashes and dirt. She humbled her body exceedingly. She set aside everything of her worldly joy, and her hair was unkempt. She implored the Lord God of Israel, and said:

[17k]“O My Lord, You alone are our King. Help me, who am alone and have no help but You! For my risk of danger is in my hand. [17l]I have heard from my birth in the tribe of my family that You, O Lord, chose Israel out of all the nations, and our fathers out of all their ancestors, for an everlasting inheritance, and do for them whatever You have spoken. [17m]Now we sinned before You, and You have delivered us into the hands of our enemies because we have worshiped their gods. O Lord, You are righteous. [17n]But now they are not satisfied with the bitter state of our bondage, but they have pledged to their idols to abolish the decree You have spoken and to destroy Your inheritance, to close the mouths of those who praise You, and to extinguish the glory of Your temple and Your altar, [17o]and to open the mouths of the heathen to proclaim the virtues of their false gods, and to extol a human king forever.

[17p]"O Lord, do not give Your scepter over to those who are not. Do not let them laugh at our fall, but turn their counsel against themselves, and make an example of the one who rules against us. [17q]Remember us, O Lord. Manifest Yourself in the time of our affliction, and encourage me, O King of gods and ruler over every power. [17r]Grant to my mouth proper words in the presence of the lion, to turn his heart to a hatred of our enemy, so that he and those agreeing with him may perish. [17s]Save us by Your hand, and help me who am alone and have no one but You, O Lord.

[17t]"You know all things, and You know I hate the glory of the lawless and abhor the bed of the uncircumcised and of every foreigner. [17u]You know my necessity, for I abhor the symbol of my proud station which is upon my head on the days when I appear in public, as if it were a menstrual rag, and I do not wear it on the days I am alone. [17v]Your handmaid has not eaten at the table of Haman, nor have I honored the banquet of the king, nor drunk the wine of libations. [17w]Neither has Your handmaid rejoiced since the day of her elevation, except in You, O Lord, God of Abraham. [17x]O God, who have power over all, hear the voice of us in despair, and deliver us from the hand of those acting wickedly, and deliver me from my fear."

Esther 5

Esther Goes before the King

[1]And it happened on the third day, when she ceased praying, she took off the garments of the solemnity, and put on her glorious apparel. [2]And having become resplendent, appealing to the all-seeing God and Savior, she took with her two of her favorite maids. Upon the one she leaned as an elegant woman and the other maid followed behind her, bearing her train. [3]She was aglow in the perfection of her beauty. Her face was as radiant as it was lovely, but her heart shrank with fear. [4]And having entered through all the doors, she stood face to face with the king. He was sitting on his royal throne, clothed in all his glorious apparel, covered with gold and precious stones. He was awesome. [5]And as he looked up, resplendent in his glory, at the very edge of anger, the queen collapsed, her complexion paled, and she slumped against the head of the maid who went before her. [6]But God changed the spirit of the king to gentleness. And full of great concern, he leapt from his throne and held her in his arms until she recovered. He comforted her with calming words and said to her, [7]"Esther, what is it? I am your brother. Be of good cheer! You are not going to die because of this usual ordinance. Come near!" [8]And lifting his golden scepter, he laid it upon her neck, and he embraced her and said, "Speak to me."

[9]And she said to him, "I saw you, my lord, as an angel of God, and my heart was troubled for fear of your majesty, for you, my lord, are awesome, and your face is full of kindness." [10]But while she was speaking to him, she fainted. And the king was troubled, and all his servants comforted her.

[11]And the king said, "What do you want, Esther? What is your request? It shall be granted to you, even up to half my kingdom." [12]Then Esther said, "Today is my special day. If, therefore, it pleases the king, let both you and Haman come to the banquet which I will prepare for today." [13]And the king said, "Have Haman hasten here that we may do what Esther asks." They both came to the banquet of which Esther spoke.

Esther's First Banquet

[14]So at the banquet, the king said to Esther, "What is it, Queen Esther? Whatever you desire will be granted to you." [15]And she said, "My request and my petition is this: [16]If I find favor in the sight of the king, let the king and Haman also come tomorrow to the banquet which I will prepare for them, and tomorrow I will do the same."

[17]So Haman went out from the king overjoyed and cheerful, but when Haman saw Mordecai the Jew in the court, he was enraged. [18]And having entered his own home, he called his friends and his wife, Zeresh. [19]And he showed them his wealth and the honor the king had bestowed upon him, how he made him to be first and chief in the kingdom. [20]Haman added, "The queen invited no one else to be with the king at the banquet except me, and I am also invited tomorrow. [21]But these things do not please me when I see Mordecai the Jew in the courtyard."

22 Then Zeresh his wife and friends said to him, “Have a tree cut down, fifty cubits high, and in the morning speak to the king and let Mordecai be hanged on the tree. But go with the king to the banquet and be merry.”
Haman liked what they said, and the tree was made ready.

Esther 6

The King’s Sleepless Night

1 But the Lord made it difficult for the king to sleep that night, and the king commanded his servant to bring in the written records of notable events.
2 And he found the written records about Mordecai, how he had told the king about the two eunuchs of the king when they were keeping guard and sought to lay hands on Artaxerxes. 3 Then the king said, “Has any honor or favor been granted Mordecai?” And the king’s servants said, “Nothing was done for him.”

4 And at the same time the king asked about the good will of Mordecai, behold, Haman entered the courtyard. The king said, “Who is in the courtyard?” Haman had come in to talk to the king about hanging Mordecai on the gallows he had prepared. 5 And the king’s servants said, “Behold, Haman is standing in the courtyard.” And the king said, “Let him come in.”

The King Honors Mordecai

6 The king said to Haman, “What should I do for a man whom I wish to honor?” And Haman thought to himself, “Whom would the king wish to honor but me?” 7 So Haman said to the king, 8 “As for the man whom the king wishes to honor, have the king’s servant bring the royal robe the king wears, along with the horse he rides, 9 and let these be given to one of the king’s honored friends, and let him clothe the man whom the king loves and then mount him upon the horse. And let it be proclaimed in the city square, saying, ‘Thus it shall be done for every man whom the king honors!’ ” 10 Then the king said to Haman, “You have spoken well; thus you shall do to Mordecai the Jew, the one serving in the courtyard, and let no word you have spoken be overlooked.” 11 So Haman took the robe and the horse and arrayed Mordecai with the robe, and mounted him on the horse; and he went throughout the city square, and proclaimed, saying, “Thus shall it be done to every man whom the king honors.”

12 Mordecai returned to the courtyard, but Haman returned to his own quarters grieving, with his head down. 13 And Haman related these events to his wife Zeresh and his friends. Then his friends and wife said to him, “If Mordecai, before whom you are beginning to fall, is of the Jewish race, you will not be able to defend against him, for the living God is with him.”
14 While they were still speaking, the king’s eunuchs came to hasten Haman to the banquet which Esther had prepared.

Esther 7

Esther’s Second Banquet

1 So the king and Haman came to the banquet to drink together with the queen. 2 And the king said to Esther on this second day of the banquet, “What is it, Queen Esther? What is your request? What is your petition? Let it be granted to you, even up to half my kingdom.” 3 She said in reply, “If I have found favor in the sight of the king, let my life be given to me at my request, and my people at my petition. 4 For both I and my people are sold into destruction, pillage, and bondage. We and our descendants have already been enslaved as male and female slaves, and I refuse to listen to this, for the accuser of my people is not worthy of the king’s court.” 5 Then the king said, “Who is this who dared to do this thing?” 6 And Esther said, “The enemy is this wicked man, Haman.” Then Haman was troubled before the king and the queen.

Haman Is Hanged

7 The king arose from the banquet and went into the garden, but Haman was pleading with the queen, for he realized that he was in desperate circumstances. 8 The king returned from the garden, and Haman, while entreating the queen, had fallen upon the couch. And the king said, “So! Will you force yourself upon my wife in my own house?” And hearing this, Haman changed in his countenance. 9 Then Harbona, one of the eunuchs, said to the king, “Look! Haman has prepared a gallows for Mordecai, the one who spoke for the benefit of the king. A gallows fifty cubits high has been set up at Haman’s place.” Then the king said, “Hang him on it!” 10 And Haman was hung on the gallows he had prepared for Mordecai. Then the wrath of the king was appeased.

Esther 8

Haman's Plot Is Thwarted

1 On that day, King Artaxerxes gave Esther everything belonging to Haman the accuser. And Mordecai was summoned before the king, because Esther made known his relationship to her. 2 The king then took the signet ring he had taken from Haman and gave it to Mordecai. Then Esther appointed Mordecai over everything that belonged to Haman.

3 Again she fell down at the feet of the king, and she implored him to remove all the evils Haman had done to the Jews. 4 Then the king held out his golden scepter toward Esther. So Esther arose and stood beside the king and said, 5 "If it seems good to you, and I have found favor, let a letter be sent out to revoke the letters sent out by Haman, which were written to annihilate all the Jews in your kingdom. 6 For how can I be able to look upon the oppression of my people? How will I endure the destruction of my countrymen?"

7 Then the king said to Esther, "Since I granted you everything that belonged to Haman, and hung him from the gallows because he laid hands on the Jews, what else do you want? 8 Write it yourselves in my name, as it seems good to you, and seal it with my ring; for whatever is written by command of the king and sealed with my ring cannot be revoked."

9 So the scribes were summoned in the first month, which is Nisan, on the twenty-third day of that same year. For whatever was ordered was written to the Jews, to the local governors, and to the chiefs of the satraps from India as far as Ethiopia, one hundred and twenty-seven provinces, to every place according to their own language. 10 So it was written by the authority of the king and sealed with his ring, and the letters were dispatched by couriers.
11 As he commanded by these letters, the Jews were to exercise their own laws in every city, to be of help to each other, and to treat their adversaries and those opposing them as they wished. 12 This was to take effect beginning on one day throughout all the kingdom of Artaxerxes—the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, which is Adar.

The New Decree

12a The following is a copy of the letter:

12b The great King Artaxerxes, to the governors of the provinces in the hundred twenty-seven satrapies, from India to Ethiopia, and to the faithful to our interests: Greetings!

[12c]Many of those who have been frequently honored in the great kindness of their benefactors have become high-minded; not only do they seek to do harm to our subjects, but being unable to bear such a measure, they undertake to plot against their own benefactors. [12d]Not only do they drive out gratitude from among men, but also being puffed up by those who are unacquainted with goodness, they suppose they will escape the vengeance of the all-seeing God. [12e]And often, many of those who have been appointed to positions of authority, being entrusted to manage the affairs of friends and having been given a position of authority as an encouragement, have become accessories to the shedding of innocent blood; [12f]and they have involved them in circumstances without remedy by deceiving with false arguments the benign kindness of the rulers. [12g]And it is possible to observe this, not so much from examining the ancient traditions, as by your learning from the wicked deeds accomplished in your midst by the pestilential influence of those unworthy of holding power. [12h]We must be on guard for the future, that we may maintain the kingdom undisturbed and peaceful for all the people, [12i]making the most of changes, and always judging fairly in the matters coming to our attention.

[12j]Thus Haman, the son of Hammedatha, a Macedonian, certainly not of Persian blood, but differing greatly from our kindness, and having been hospitably received by us, [12k]received such a large share of the benevolence which we have for all peoples that he was even publicly proclaimed to be our father, reverenced by all; he attained the rank of second to the royal throne. [12l]But unable to bear his dignity, he endeavored to deprive us of our kingdom and our life. [12m]And by very twisted methods of deception, he demanded the destruction of our deliverer and constant benefactor, Mordecai, and Esther, the blameless consort of our kingdom, together with their whole race. [12n]For through these ways, he expected to catch the nation of the Persians undefended, and to guide the Macedonians to victory. [12o]However, we find that the Jews, who have been consigned to destruction by this terribly wicked man, are not criminals, but live by most just laws. [12p]We find them to be children of the Most High, Most Mighty, Living God, who has guided the kingdom both for us and our forefathers in the most excellent manner.

[12r]Therefore, post a copy of this document publicly in every place, making it known that the Jews are to follow their own customs; and join in supporting them, so that on the day set for their destruction, the thirteenth day of the twelfth month Adar, they may defend themselves against those who would attack them. [12s]For God, who holds power over all things, has made this a day of gladness for them instead of a day of the destruction of a chosen race. [12t]Therefore, celebrate this outstanding day among your named feasts with all rejoicing, so that both now and in the future it may be deliverance for us and for the well-inclined Persians; and for those who plot destruction against us, a remembrance of destruction. [12u]And every city or province whatsoever which shall not act in accordance with these things shall be mercilessly destroyed with spear and fire; it shall be made impassable not only to men, but even to wild animals and birds forever. [13]Let copies of the decree be posted conspicuously throughout the kingdom, and let all the Jews be ready on that day to fight against those who oppose them.

The Posting of the New Decree

[14]So horsemen were sent out quickly to carry out the king's commands, and the decree was also posted in Susa.

[15]Then Mordecai went out robed in royal raiment, having a gold crown and a diadem of fine purple linen; and seeing him, the people of Susa rejoiced. [16]And there was light and gladness for the Jews. [17]In every city and province where the decree was published, where the proclamation was posted, there was joy and gladness among the Jews—feasting and good cheer. And many of the Gentiles were circumcised and lived in the Jewish way, because of fear of the Jews.

Esther 9

The Jews Defeat Their Enemies

[1]Now in the twelfth month, on the thirteenth day of the month of Adar, the decree written by the king arrived. [2]On that day those in opposition were destroyed by the Jews, for fearing them, no one resisted. [3]For the leaders of the satraps, the sovereigns, and the royal scribes honored the Jews, and the fear of Mordecai weighed on them, [4]for the order of the king had come down that Mordecai should be acknowledged throughout the kingdom. [5]And in the city of Susa, the Jews killed five hundred men. [6]These included Parshandatha, Dalphon, Aspatha, [7]Poratha, Adalia, Aridatha, [8]Parmashta, Arisai, Aridai, and Vajezatha— [9]the ten sons of Haman, son of Hamadatha, the enemy of the Jews. They ravaged them. [10]On that day, the number of those killed in Susa was reported to the king.

[11]Then the king said to Esther, “The Jews have killed five hundred men in the city of Susa. How do you think they have made out in the surrounding lands? What more do you yet desire, so that it will be done for you?” [12]Esther said to the king, “Let the Jews be granted the opportunity to do the same tomorrow in order to hang the sons of Haman.” [13]And he permitted this to be done, and he set out for the Jews of the city the bodies of the sons of Haman to hang. [14]Then the Jews gathered together in Susa on the fourteenth of Adar and killed three hundred men, but they plundered nothing.

[15]The rest of the Jews throughout the kingdom assembled and came to the aid of one another, and they had rest from their enemies, for they killed fifteen thousand of them on the thirteenth of Adar, but they plundered nothing. [16]Then they rested on the fourteenth of that month, and observed it as a day of rest with joy and gladness.

[17]And the Jews in the city of Susa also gathered together on the fourteenth, but did not rest from their enemies, but they observed the fifteenth with joy and gladness. [18]This is why the Jews scattered in every foreign land observe the fourteenth of Adar with gladness as a holiday, sending parcels to their neighbors. But those living in the major cities keep the fifteenth of Adar as a holiday, sending parcels to their neighbors.

The Feast of Purim

[19]Mordecai wrote these things in a book and sent it to all the Jews in the kingdom of Artaxerxes, to those both near and far, [20]to establish these days as holidays, and to observe both the fourteenth and fifteenth day of Adar—[21]for on these days the Jews had rest from their enemies. Thus Adar is the month which was turned from mourning into joy, and from grief into a holiday; to celebrate the whole time with feasting and gladness, sending parcels to friends and to the poor.

22The Jews accepted everything just as Mordecai wrote to them: 23how Haman the son of Hamadatha, the Macedonian, warred against them; how he had made a decree and cast lots to exterminate them; 24how he had gone to the king telling him to hang Mordecai; and how all the evils he plotted against the Jews came upon himself, and how he was hanged, he and his children. 25Therefore these days were called Purim—on account of the lots (because in their language they are called pur), because of the words of this letter, and because of all they had suffered on account of these things and all that had happened to them.

26Mordecai established it, and the Jews took it upon themselves, their descendants, and upon those joining with them not to do otherwise. And these days are to be a memorial throughout every generation, and city, and family, and province. 27Thus these days of Purim shall be observed forever, and their remembrance shall not cease in any generation. 28Then Queen Esther, daughter of Abihail, and Mordecai the Jew wrote down the many things they had done and the truthfulness of the command of Purim. 29And Mordecai and Queen Esther established it for themselves, establishing it at that time according to their soundness of mind and their purpose. 30Esther established it by a command forever, and it was written for a memorial.

Esther 10

1And the king levied tribute upon his kingdom both by land and sea. 2And his power and valor, the riches and the glory of his kingdom, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Persia and Media for a memorial. 3And Mordecai was next to King Artaxerxes, and he was great in the kingdom and honored by the Jews; and being beloved, he set forth in detail the way of life to all his people.

Epilogue

3aAnd Mordecai said, “These things were from my God. 3bFor I recall the dream which I had concerning these things, and not one detail of them has failed.

3c“There was a small spring that became a river; there was light and the sun and much water. The river is Esther, whom the king married and made queen. [3d]The two serpents are Haman and I. [3e]The nations are the Gentiles gathering together to destroy the name of the Jews. [3f]And my nation, which cried out to God and was delivered, is Israel. For the Lord has saved His people, and the Lord has rescued us from all these evils. And God performed signs and great wonders, which have not happened among the Gentiles.

[3g]"On account of this, He made two lots, one for the people of God and one for the Gentiles. [3h]And these two lots came in the hour, and in the time, and in the day of judgment before God and among all the Gentiles. [3i]And God remembered His people and vindicated His inheritance. [3j]And they shall observe these days in the month of Adar, the fourteenth and fifteenth day of that month. They shall gather together with joy and gladness before God throughout all generations forever among His people Israel."

[3k]In the fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy and Cleopatra, Dositheus, who said he was a priest and a Levite, and Ptolemy his son brought in the letter of Purim, which they declared existed, and that Lysimachus, the son of Ptolemy, who was in Jerusalem, had translated it.

Annotations for Esther

1:1a–1r These verses occur only in the Greek LXX manuscripts and appear there as an addition to the Book of Esther.

1:1d–1j The dream (which is interpreted in 10:1-3k) prepares Mordecai for the test he will face and reveals that God is behind the course of human events.

1:1m–1r This plot, recounted in 2:21–23, serves to describe the animosity between Haman and Mordecai.

1:1–6 Artaxerxes is imperfect, passionate, and self-indulgent. Nevertheless, by virtue of his office and by reigning over many nations, he functions as a figure for God. The dignity of an earthly office is not diminished by the failings of the person holding it (see Jn 11:51; Acts 23:1–5).

1:7 The various cups were likely plunder from conquered nations.

1:12 Queen Vashti's refusal to attend the king's festival, being preoccupied with her own, serves as a warning to those who see themselves as followers of the King but whose heart is self-centered, as in Christ's parable of the wedding feast (Mt 22:1–14; Lk 14:15–24).

1:16 As with Queen Vashti, our actions may have consequences that go far beyond ourselves.

1:22 Note that the king's decree was distributed to all people according to their own language, so that all could understand and follow. This is why in the Orthodox Church throughout the world it is imperative that the gospel be preached (Acts 2:4–11) and the liturgy be celebrated (1Co 14:1–25) in the language spoken by the people (see also 3:12).

2:1 After these words: The events in this chapter take place about four years after those in ch. 1 (compare 1:3 with 2:16). A war against Greece, in which Persia was soundly defeated, took place during this span of time.

2:7 Mordecai's relation to Esther is that of both guardian and husband, a necessary social and legal arrangement and not unusual at the time. This would also be the relationship between Joseph and the Virgin Mary. In this situation, there was no sexual relationship, as demonstrated by Esther's virginity.

2:12 The twelve months were days of preparation and training. If these are the preparations to visit an earthly king, all the more should the faithful prepare to meet Christ the King through prayer, fasting, and confession as we encounter Him in the services of the Church.

2:18 Granted a release indicates a national holiday and a remission of taxes (see 10:1). The coronation banquet of seven days for a new queen would raise morale after the defeat in war.

2:20 Though in a pagan palace, Esther did not change her manner of life nor cease to fear God. God calls us to faithfulness in whatever situation He places us.

2:23 The good will of Mordecai was recorded, but not yet rewarded. Faithfulness to God is never forgotten by the Lord, even if it appears to go unnoticed (Heb 6:10). The true reward is glorification, not in this life, but in the Kingdom to come (Heb 11:39, 40).

3:1–9 The extreme animosity between Haman and Mordecai quite possibly is rooted in an old tribal feud. Mordecai was a Benjamite (1:1a). According to the Hebrew text, Haman was a descendant of Agag, whose nation was utterly destroyed by King Saul (1Kg 15:8), also a Benjamite. Haman sees the situation as an opportune time not only to destroy Mordecai, but to vengefully destroy all the Jews (v. 6).

3:7 The month of Adar was eleven months away. Delays occur frequently in this book, giving time for the divine plan of God to unfold.

3:8 They disregard the king's laws: Haman's accusation against the Jews is the same as the authorities' accusation would be against Jesus (Lk 6:6, 7) and His followers (Acts 6:11–14).

3:13a–13g These verses do not occur in the Hebrew manuscripts, but only in the Greek LXX, and are considered by many to be an addition to the Book of Esther. The demonic pride of Haman is evident in the letter. As author of the letter (v. 12), Haman attempts to glorify himself in the name of the king, while slandering the people of God.

4:1–3 Mordecai is consistently seen by the fathers as a Christ-figure (see 8:12m, where he is referred to as "deliverer and constant benefactor" to the Jews). Consistent with this typology, Mordecai leaves the courtyard of the king, removes his fine garments, and goes out among his people to share in their sufferings (see Php 2:5–7).

4:4 In Esther's attempt to help Mordecai, she tries to take his sackcloth away and give him new garments, but he would not accept them. This is fulfilled when Peter would try to dissuade Jesus from accepting the Cross (Mt 16:22). Because His mission was to completely identify with His people, Jesus also would not be dissuaded.

4:13, 14 God's plan of salvation involves the cooperation of His people. If someone God calls is unwilling to cooperate, two things will happen: (1) God will find willing participants elsewhere, for God's plan can never be thwarted; and (2) those who were not willing will perish with the unfaithful (see Mt 21:41). Mordecai's question, who knows whether it is for this occasion you reign as queen? is a call to all believers to courageously discern the will of God for their particular moment in life in order to fulfill God's plan. Note Mordecai's unswerving trust in God in spite of the seemingly hopeless circumstances.

4:15–17 Esther's fast and her courageous act of mercy for her people reveal her resolve and her character. This fast of Esther and the whole community marks the turning point in the events of the story and the beginning of the downfall of Haman.

4:17a–17x These verses do not occur in the Hebrew manuscripts.

4:17a–17h Mordecai's prayer, not included in the Hebrew text, follows a classic pattern of praise, remembrance of God's works, and petition.

4:17e One of the devil's unsuccessful temptations of the Lord was to try to lure Christ to bow down before him (Mt 4:9, 10).

4:17j–17x The prayer of Queen Esther includes repentance on behalf of the people and rejection of the glories of this world. Faithful Jews realized that inevitably, the evils inflicted on their nation resulted from their abandoning God's way. Their difficulty was overcome only through genuine repentance.

5:1 Esther comes forth from her chamber on the third day, giving a resurrectional tone to her subsequent victory over Haman.

5:2 Appealing to the all-seeing God and Savior: Esther's apparel is appropriate not only for the king, but for her Almighty King and God. Thus, we understand there is appropriate dress for coming before the Lord in worship. Likewise, our baptismal garment is given by the Lord and is the only garment worthy of the King's palace (see Mt 22:11–14).

5:3 Esther's heart shrank with fear because the lives of her people were at stake. St. Paul admitted to the people of Corinth, "I was with you in weakness, in fear, and in much trembling" (1Co 2:3).

5:11 Up to half my kingdom: A figure of speech. This royal courtesy magnifies the generosity of the king and gives opportunity for the petitioner to appear modest when the actual request is made (see Mk 6:23).

5:12 Esther's request is most noble—she asks to be permitted to serve the king. This stands in contrast to Vashti, who prepared a banquet for herself and those who would serve her (1:9).

5:16 The delay until tomorrow allows events to unfold in which the Lord will not only save the Jews, but will bring down Haman (see note at 3:7).

5:17–21 Haman's pride will not allow him to be content. His rage towards another person prevents him from continuing in all the blessings from the king.

5:22 Hanged on the tree: A gallows tree was used for various means of public execution, including hanging, impaling, and public display of a corpse. This was the Persian precursor to Roman crucifixion. Fifty cubits is approximately 75 feet (23 meters), and indicates Haman's intention to put Mordecai to death with extreme humiliation.

6:1 The Lord made it difficult for the king to sleep: The fathers understand this verse to show that it is the Lord who directs the plan of salvation, even through unbelievers.

6:6–9 Haman unwittingly defines the honor of his enemy. The honor of being clothed with the royal robe the king wears makes the recipient, Mordecai, share in the royalty of the king himself, just as Christ fully shares in the divinity of the Father (see also Is 63:1–5).

6:11 This is Mordecai's second journey through the city. The first journey was in sackcloth and ashes (4:1), but this one is in glory and honor.

7:1 Not everything we need must be gained immediately! In this case a crucial deadline is approaching, but the queen is patient, awaiting the right time to gain the desired result, literally the salvation of her people.

7:4 Accuser (lit. "devil"): The unambiguous identity of Haman.

7:9, 10 St. Jerome writes, "Haman was burned in the fire of his own kindling."

8:5–8 With Haman executed and Mordecai and Esther delivered, there is still an edict in force for the destruction of the Jews throughout the kingdom. Esther asks the king to revoke the death sentence against them. However, an order of a Persian king was irrevocable (see 1:19). Such an order can, however, be superseded with a new decree (v. 8), which is actually to the Jews' advantage. If the first decree could have been revoked, the Jews would have been saved, but their enemies would also have lived on to persecute them another day. This new decree makes possible the final destruction of these enemies.

8:9 According to their own language: See note at 1:22.

8:12a–12k This section is in the Greek LXX text; it does not appear in the Hebrew manuscripts.

8:12c They undertake to plot against their own benefactors: To plot against the Jews, from whom the Savior of the world would come, is to plot against hope for oneself. The same can be said of persecutors of the Church, where the Savior dwells.

8:12m Our deliverer and constant benefactor: See note at 4:1–3.

8:12r This new decree gives royal authority to the Jews to destroy those under Haman's influence and those who would destroy the Jews (see Eph 6:12).

8:12s, 12t Victory is already assumed, and deliverance will be received by both the Jews and the well-inclined Persians.

8:15 Royal raiment: See note at 6:6–9.

8:16 And there was light and gladness: This recalls the prophetic dream of Mordecai (1:1j).

8:17 Gentiles were circumcised: It is remarkable how much power of persuasion there is in the works of God!

9:1–16 What is done in secret is shouted from the housetops (Lk 12:3). Haman's plot was made in secret, but now the bodies of his sons are exposed (v. 13) as was his secret plot (see also Lk 8:17).

9:19 It is often noted that the Hebrew version of Esther never mentions the name of God. Since the story was copied and sent to the Jews, both near and far, the name of God would inevitably be omitted, for this name was too sacred to write. It follows that the account Mordecai wrote in a book would not necessarily be worded the same as letters that were widely circulated. Furthermore, with the help of Mordecai, Esther wrote down her own account of the events (v. 30). Thus, there were at least three distinct accounts of this story.

9:25 These days were called Purim—on account of the lots (because in their language they are called pur): In 3:7, Haman casts lots to determine the day for the Jews to be massacred. The word pur is not a Hebrew word in origin. It comes from the Persian or Assyrian and means lot. Thus, it was Haman's lot that established the date for the great Jewish celebration of Purim, which commemorates the deliverance recorded in this book.

10:3a–3k Mordecai interprets his dream recorded in the introduction to ch. 1. This dream was likely on his mind continually as the circumstances unfolded, for not one detail of them has failed (v. 3b).

10:3k This indicates the source of the Greek translation of this passage. The fourth year of the reign of Ptolemy would date the translation of this passage from Hebrew to Greek around the year 114 BC.

The First Book of the Maccabees

Author

Although the author of 1 Maccabees never identifies himself, it may reasonably be assumed that he was an orthodox Jew familiar with both the geography and the topography of Judea.

Date

About 104 BC, according to the last two verses of the book (16:23, 24). The work was compiled during or shortly after the reign of John Hyrcanus I (134–104 BC), the high priest and ruler of Israel. It covers the period from the reign of Antiochus IV Epiphanes (175–164 BC) to the succession of John Hyrcanus.

Major Theme

God's deliverance of Israel during the Jewish Wars. The author makes it clear that God chose the Hasmonean family as the instrument of his deliverance (5:62). Their primary objective was the rededication of the temple (4:36–61), an event still celebrated by Jews everywhere as the festival of Hanukkah, from the Hebrew word for "dedication."

Background

First Maccabees was originally written in Hebrew and was probably called "The Hasmoneans," after Mattathias of the house of Hashmon (2:1). It was Mattathias who began the Jewish revolt with the help of his five sons. The bulk of the book recounts Judah's war against Antiochus IV, the Seleucid ruler who tried to force Hellenism upon the Jews.

Outline

I. Prologue: The Hellenistic Empire from Alexander to Antiochus IV (1:1–64)
II. The Hasmonean (Maccabean) Revolt (2:1–4:61)
III. Jewish Expeditions against Neighboring Tribes (5:1–68)
IV. Lysias Usurps the Throne (6:1–63)
V. The Reign of Demetrius I Soter (7:1–50)
VI. The Alliance between the Jews and the Romans (8:1–31)
VII. Jonathan Succeeds Judas (9:1–73)
VIII. The Rise and Fall of Alexander Balas (10:1–11:19)

IX. Demetrius II Betrays the Jews (11:20–53)
X. Trypho and the Reign of Antiochus VI (11:54–12:53)
XI. The Emergence of the Jewish Nation under Simon (13:1–16:24)

1 Maccabees 1

Alexander the Great

[1]After Alexander, the son of Philip the Macedonian, came out of the land of Kittim and conquered Macedonia, and defeated Darius the king of the Persians and the Medes, and reigned in his place—he was already king of Greece— [2]he then fought numerous wars, conquered fortresses, and slaughtered the kings of the earth. [3]He went to the ends of the earth and took the spoils of many nations. So the earth rested from war before him, and he was exalted; his heart was likewise encouraged. [4]He formed a mighty army and ruled countries, nations, and princes, and they all paid taxes to him.

[5]Then later, he fell sick, and he knew he was dying. [6]So he brought in his trusted servants who had grown up with him from childhood, and parceled out his kingdom to them while he was still living. [7]After Alexander reigned for twelve years, death claimed him. [8]Then his servants began to rule, each in his appointed place. [9]They all put on crowns after he died, and their sons for many years after them, and the evils they caused multiplied on the earth.

Antiochus Epiphanes and the Lawless Jews

[10]A sinful root came forth from them, Antiochus Epiphanes, the son of Antiochus the king, who was a hostage in Rome. He began his reign in the one hundred and thirty-seventh year of the kingdom of the Greeks.

[11]In those days lawless men came forth from the sons of Israel, and they persuaded many, saying, “Let us make a covenant with the Gentiles surrounding us, for ever since we were separated from them, many evils have found us.” [12]This proposal found favor in their eyes, [13]and some of the people eagerly desired to enter into this agreement. So they went to the king, and he gave them authority to observe the ordinances of the Gentiles. [14]Then they built a gymnasium in Jerusalem according to the customs of the Gentiles, [15]and made themselves as the uncircumcision. So they fell away from the holy covenant, yoked themselves to the Gentiles, and sold themselves to do evil.

Antiochus Conquers Egypt

16 Thus the kingdom was prepared before Antiochus, and he determined he would reign over the land of Egypt, so as to rule over two kingdoms. 17 Thus he entered Egypt with a strong multitude of chariots, elephants, cavalrymen, and a large army. 18 He engaged Ptolemy king of Egypt in battle, and Ptolemy turned from him in shame and fled. Many were wounded and fell. 19 So they captured mighty cities in Egypt, and Antiochus took spoils in the land of Egypt.

Antiochus Pillages the Temple

20 After he conquered Egypt in the one hundred and forty-third year, Antiochus turned and went up to Israel and Jerusalem with a large army. 21 He entered the sanctuary in arrogance and took the golden altar, the lampstand, all the utensils, 22 the table of presentation, the cups and bowls, the golden censers, the curtain, the crowns, and the golden ornaments on the face of the temple. He stripped everything, 23 and took the silver and the gold and everything costly, and the hidden treasures he found. 24 Taking all these things, he departed for his own land. He committed deeds of murder and spoke with great arrogance.

25 There was great mourning everywhere in Israel,
26 Rulers and elders groaned,
Virgins and young men grew weak,
And the beauty of the women was altered.
27 Every bridegroom took up a lament
And sat mourning in his bridal chamber.
28 The land was shaken for its inhabitants,
And all the house of Jacob was clothed with shame.

More Destruction in Jerusalem

29 After two years, the king sent a revenue official to the cities of Judah, and he entered Jerusalem with a large army. 30 Antiochus spoke peaceable words to them with deceit, and they believed him. Then he fell upon the city suddenly, struck it a great blow, and killed many people from Israel. 31 He took spoils from the city, set it on fire, and tore down its houses and the city walls. 32 They took captive the women and the children and took possession of the animals.

33 Then they built the city of David with a great and strong wall and strong towers, and it became their citadel. [34]They placed there a sinful nation of lawless men, and they became strong within it. [35]And they laid up weapons and provisions, and gathered together the spoils they had taken from Jerusalem. Then they returned there and were like a great snare.

[36]It became an ambush against the sanctuary,
An evil accuser against Israel continually.
[37]They shed innocent blood around the sanctuary
And defiled the sanctuary.
[38]The inhabitants of Jerusalem fled because of them,
And she became a dwelling place of strangers.
She became a stranger to her offspring,
And her children forsook her.
[39]Her sanctuary was laid waste like a desert
And her feasts were turned into mourning,
Her Sabbaths into a disgrace
And her honor into contempt.
[40]Her dishonor prevailed against her glory,
And her high position was turned into mourning.

A Decree of Corruption

[41]Then the king wrote to all his kingdom, that they all were to be as one people, [42]and that each one was to forsake his customs. So all the nations accepted the word of the king. [43]Many from Israel also thought it good to serve him, so they sacrificed to idols and profaned the Sabbath.

[44]Then the king sent books to Jerusalem and the cities of Judah by the hand of messengers, and told them to follow foreign customs in the land, [45]to forbid whole burnt offerings and sacrifices and drink offerings in the sanctuary, to profane the Sabbaths and the feasts, [46]and to defile the sanctuary and the holy ones. [47]These books also told them to build altars, sacred precincts, and temples to idols, to sacrifice swine and common animals, [48]to leave their sons uncircumcised, so they would corrupt their souls by every unclean and profane thing, [49]and forget the law and alter all the ordinances. [50]They also added that whoever did not obey the word of the king would die.

[51]According to all these words he wrote to everyone in his kingdom. He also placed inspectors over all the people and commanded the cities of Judah to sacrifice in each and every city. [52]Thus many of the people, everyone who forsook the law, joined together and did evil things in the land. [53]They forced Israel to hide in every place of refuge they had.

[54]Then on the fifteenth day of Chislev, in the one hundred and forty-fifth year, they set up the abomination of desolation on the altar of the whole burnt offerings and built altars in the surrounding cities of Judah. [55]They also burned incense at the doors of houses and in the streets. [56]And when they found books of the law, they tore them to pieces and burned them in the fire. [57]Whenever a book of the covenant was found in someone's possession, or if anyone sympathized with the law, the judgment of the king was to kill him. [58]They acted with their might against Israel, against those who were found month after month in the cities.

[59]Then on the twenty-fifth day of the month they sacrificed on the altar, which was on top of the altar of the whole burnt offerings. [60]In keeping with the decree, they sentenced to death the women who had their children circumcised, [61]and the families who had circumcised them, and hung the infants from their mothers' necks. [62]Yet many in Israel grew strong, and determined in themselves not to eat unclean things. [63]They chose rather to die than be defiled by foods or profane the holy covenant. So they died, [64]and great wrath came upon Israel.

1 Maccabees 2

The Zeal of Mattathias

[1]In those days Mattathias, the son of John of the tribe of Simeon, a priest of the sons of Joarib, rose up from Jerusalem and settled in Modein. [2]He had five sons: John, called Gaddi; [3]Simon, called Thassi; [4]Judas, called Maccabeus; [5]Eleazar, called Avaran; and Jonathan, called Apphus. [6]He saw the blasphemies taking place in Judah and Jerusalem, [7]and said:

> "Alas, why was I born to see this,
> The ruin of my people,
> The destruction of the holy city,
> And to live there when it was delivered
> Into the hand of the enemy,
> The sanctuary into the hand of foreigners.

[8]Her temple has become like a man without honor.
[9]Her glorious vessels were carried away into captivity;
Her infants have been slain in the streets,
Her young men with the sword of the enemy.
[10]What nation has not inherited her palaces
And taken hold of her spoils?
[11]All her adornment has been removed:
In place of freedom, she has become a slave;
[12]And behold, our sanctuary,
Our beauty and our glory have been laid waste,
And the Gentiles have desecrated it.
[13]Why should we live any longer?”

[14]Thus Mattathias and his sons tore their clothes, put on sackcloth, and mourned exceedingly.

Apostasy at Modein

[15]Now those from the king who were enforcing the apostasy journeyed to the city of Modein to make them offer sacrifice, [16]and many from Israel also came with them. So Mattathias and his sons gathered together. [17]Then those from the king spoke to Mattathias, saying, “You are a great and glorious leader in this city and supported by your sons and brothers. [18]Now come, be the first to follow the decree of the king, as all the Gentiles and the men of Judah have done, and those who remain in Jerusalem; and you and your sons will be among the king’s friends, and you and your sons will be honored with silver and gold and many rewards.”

[19]Then Mattathias answered, speaking with a loud voice, “Though all the Gentiles in the house of the kingdom of the king obey him, and each turns from the worship of their fathers and chooses to follow his commands, [20]my sons and my brothers and I will continue in the covenant of our fathers. [21]Far be it from us to forsake the law and the ordinances. [22]We will not obey the words of the king to turn aside from our worship to the right or to the left.”

[23]When he finished saying these words, a Jew came forward in the sight of everyone to sacrifice upon the altar in Modein in accordance with the king’s decree. [24]When Mattathias saw him, he was filled with zeal, and his heart trembled and poured forth anger in judgment. Then he ran and slew him upon the altar. [25]So he killed the king’s man who wanted to offer sacrifice at that time, and he tore down the altar. [26]Thus he had zeal for the law, just as Phinehas had against Zambri the son of Salome.

Warfare in the Wilderness

[27]Then Mattathias cried out with a loud voice in the city, saying, “Every one who has zeal for the law and holds to the covenant, let him follow me.” [28]So he and his sons fled into the mountains and left behind whatever they had in the city.

[29]Then many who sought righteousness and judgment went down to the desert to live there, [30]they, their sons, their women, and their cattle, because evils increased severely against them. [31]It was also announced to the king’s men and the soldiers in Jerusalem, the city of David, that certain men who had scattered when the command of the king was made known had gone into hiding in the desert. [32]Thus, many ran after them, tracked them down, marched against them, and engaged them in battle on the Sabbath day.

[33]Then they said to them, “Now, come out and do the will of the king and you shall live.” [34]But they answered, “We will not come out, nor will we do the will of the king to desecrate the Sabbath day.” [35]So the enemy rushed into battle against them. [36]Yet they did not answer them, nor did they cast a stone, nor did they block up their hiding places, [37]saying, “Let us all die in our innocence. Heaven and earth will testify for us that you destroyed us unjustly.” [38]So the king’s men rose against them in battle on the Sabbath, and they died along with their women, children, and cattle, as many as a thousand people.

[39]Then Mattathias and his friends grieved for them exceedingly. [40]So each one said to his neighbor, “If we do as our brothers did and fail to fight against the Gentiles for our life and our ordinances, they will quickly wipe us off the earth.” [41]So they resolved on that day, saying, “Every man who comes against us for battle on the Sabbath day, let us war against him, and we shall not all die as our brothers did in their hiding places.”

[42]Then the synagogue of the Hasideans gathered with them, a mighty army from Israel, everyone who willingly offered himself for the law. [43]Everyone who escaped from evils was added to them and became their support. [44]So they formed an army, and struck the sinners in their wrath and the lawless men in their anger. The rest fled to the Gentiles to be rescued. [45]Mattathias and his allies also surrounded the altars and tore them down, [46]and they circumcised the uncircumcised boys by force, as many as they found in the mountains of Israel. [47]Thus they pursued the sons of arrogance, and the undertaking prospered in their hand. [48]They took the law out of the hand of the Gentiles and the kings, and did not allow the sinners to dominate them.

Last Days of Mattathias

[49]Then the days approached for Mattathias to die, and he spoke to his sons, saying, “Now arrogance and scorn and the time of destruction and furious anger have been strengthened. [50]Therefore, children, be zealous for the law, and offer your lives for the covenant of our fathers; [51]and remember the deeds our fathers did in their generations, and receive great honor and an everlasting name. [52]Was not Abraham found faithful in trial, and it was reckoned to him as righteousness? [53]And Joseph at the time of his trouble kept the commandment and became ruler of Egypt. [54]Phinehas our father showed true zeal and received a covenant of eternal priesthood. [55]Joshua fulfilled the word and became a judge in Israel. [56]Caleb testified in the assembly and received an inheritance in the land. [57]David, in the mercy shown him, inherited the throne of the kingdom forever. [58]In his great zeal for the law, Elijah was taken up into heaven. [59]Ananias, Azarias, and Mishael believed and were saved from the fiery furnace. [60]In his innocence, Daniel was delivered from the mouth of lions. [61]Thus, understand from generation to generation that all who hope in the Lord will not be weak. [62]Do not fear the words of a sinful man, because his glory is like manure and worms. [63]Today he will be exalted, but tomorrow he will not be found; for he returned to his dust, and his purpose will perish. [64]Children, be courageous and strong in the law, because you will be honored by it.

[65]“So behold Simeon, your brother. I know he is a man of wisdom. Listen to him every day, and he shall be your father. [66]Judas Maccabeus, mighty in fighting from his youth, he shall be the leader of your army, and he will fight the fight of the people. [67]And you, bring forth with you all those who are doers of the law, and seek justice for your people. [68]Repay the Gentiles in full, and hold fast to the ordinance of the law.”

[69]Then he blessed them and was added to his fathers. [70]So he died in the one hundred and forty-sixth year and was buried in the tomb of his fathers in Modein; and all of Israel mourned him with great mourning.

1 Maccabees 3

Judas Maccabeus Succeeds His Father

[1]Then Judas his son, who was called Maccabeus, rose up in his place. [2]His brothers all helped him, and everyone who had been allied with his father, and they fought the battle for Israel with gladness.

Eulogy to Mattathias

[3]He enlarged his people's glory
And was clothed with a breastplate like a giant;
And he girded on his weapons And waged war,
Sheltering the camp with his sword.
[4]He was like a lion in his deeds,
Like a young lion roaring for its prey.
[5]For he pursued the lawless and searched them out;
And he set on fire those who troubled his people.
[6]The lawless were humbled from fear of him,
And all the workers of lawlessness were troubled;
For deliverance prospered by his hand.
[7]He embittered many rulers,
And brought joy to Jacob by his deeds;
And may his memory be blessed forever.
[8]He passed through the cities of Judah
And destroyed the ungodly from the land;
And he turned wrath away from Israel.
[9]His name was known to the ends of the earth,
And he gathered those who were perishing.

Judas' Early Victories

[10]Then Apollonius gathered the Gentiles together and brought a great army from Samaria to wage war with Israel. [11]But Judas knew it and went out to meet him. He struck and killed him, and many wounded fell; and the rest fled. [12]They took their spoils, and Judas took the sword of Apollonius and fought with it every day.

[13]Now Seron, the leader of the army of Syria, heard Judas had gathered a large assembly of faithful men with him, and they were going out into battle. [14]So he said, "I will make a name for myself and be honored in the kingdom. I will fight Judas and his followers who despised the word of the king." [15]He set forth, and with him went an army of godless men, strong enough to help him take vengeance on the sons of Israel.

16So he drew near to the highlands of Beth-Horon, and Judas went out to meet him with only a few allies. 17As they saw the army coming to meet them, they said to Judas, “How will we, being few, be able to fight against such a powerful number? We who have come out today are weak from lack of food.” 18Then Judas said, “It is easy to hem in many at the hands of a few, and it makes no difference before heaven to save with many or with few. 19For victory in battle does not come from the size of the army, but from the might of heaven. 20These come against us in the abundance of insolence and lawlessness, to seize us and our women and children, and to take spoils from us; 21but we are fighting for our lives and our laws. 22God Himself will crush them from before our face; but as for you, do not fear because of them.”

23When he was through speaking, Judas suddenly rushed against them, and Seron and his army were destroyed before him. 24He pursued him into the descent of Beth-Horon as far as the plain. Around eight hundred of their soldiers perished; the remainder fled into the land of the Philistines. 25Then fear of Judas and his brothers began, and terror fell upon the nations around them. 26So his fame reached the king, and the Gentiles talked about the battles of Judas.

Syrian Counterattack

27When Antiochus the king heard these words, he was very angry, and he sent and gathered all the forces of his kingdom, an exceedingly strong army. 28He also opened his treasury and gave a year’s wages to the troops, and commanded them to be ready for any need. 29Then he noticed the silver in the treasury was depleted, and the taxes from the region were small, because of the dissension and misfortune he caused in the land when he took away the laws that existed from the earliest days. 30So he took care not to pay out expenditures and give gifts as abundantly as he had done before, even more lavishly than the previous kings. 31He was very disturbed in himself, so he decided to go to Persia and collect taxes from those regions and gather abundant silver.

32He left Lysias, a man of distinction from the royal lineage, in charge of all the king’s affairs, from the river Euphrates to the boundary of Egypt. 33He was also to take care of his son Antiochus until his return. 34Then he handed over to Lysias half of the armies and the elephants. He gave him orders concerning all his wishes and concerning those who lived in Judea and Jerusalem. [35]He ordered him to send an army against them, to destroy them and remove the might of Israel and the remnant of Jerusalem, and to remove their memory from that place. [36]He was also to settle foreigners in all their regions and distribute their land by lot. [37]Then the king took half of the remaining armies and left Antioch, the capital of his kingdom. In the one hundred and forty-seventh year, he crossed over the Euphrates River and entered the regions on the other side.

[38]Lysias appointed Ptolemy, the son of Dorymenes, and Nicanor and Gorgias, valiant men who were loyal to the king, [39]and he sent with them forty thousand infantry and seven thousand cavalry to go into the region of Judah and crush it according to the king's orders. [40]So he set out with the whole army, and they went and camped near Emmaus on the plain. [41]When the merchants of the region heard about them, they took a very large amount of silver and gold and shackles and went into the camp to obtain the sons of Israel as slaves. The army of Syria and of the land of the Philistines joined them as well.

The Jews Prepare for Battle

[42]Now Judas and his brothers saw that evil events were increasing and the armies were encamped at their borders. They learned also the words of the king which he ordered, to bring destruction and annihilation on the people. [43]So each man said to his neighbor, "Let us repair the ruin of our people and battle for our people and the sanctuary." [44]Then the assembly gathered to prepare for battle and to pray and ask God for mercy and compassion.

> [45]Jerusalem was uninhabited like a desert.
> No one brought products in or took them out,
> And the sanctuary had been trampled down.
> The sons of foreigners were in the citadel,
> A lodging place for the Gentiles.
> Gladness was taken from Jacob,
> And flute and harp played no more.

[46]They assembled and went into Mizpah, opposite Jerusalem, because at a former time Mizpah was a place for prayer in Israel. [47]They fasted on that day and put on sackcloth, sprinkled ashes upon their head, and tore their garments. [48]They opened the book of the law to look into those matters about which the Gentiles consulted the likenesses of their idols. [49]They also carried the priestly garments and the firstfruits and the tithe, and they stirred up the Nazirites who had finished their days. [50]Then they cried aloud to heaven, saying,

> “What do we do with these,
> And where will we take them?
> [51]Your sanctuary has been trampled down and defiled,
> And Your priests are in mourning and humiliated.
> [52]Behold, the Gentiles have gathered against us to destroy us.
> You know what they plan against us.
> [53]How will we be able to stand against them
> If You will not help us?”

[54]Then they blew the trumpets and cried out with a loud shout. [55]After this, Judas appointed rulers for the people, leaders for thousands and hundreds and fifties and tens. [56]He ordered those who were building houses, or were betrothed to women, or were growing vineyards, or were afraid, to return each one to his own home, according to the law.

[57]Then the army departed and set up camp south of Emmaus. [58]Judas said to them, “Be ready at dawn to fight with these Gentiles who have gathered against us to destroy us and our sanctuary. [59]For it is better for us to die in war than to look upon the evils the Gentiles would bring to us and the sanctuary. [60]But as God’s will is in heaven, so He will do.”

1 Maccabees 4

Judas Fights the Gentiles at Emmaus

[1]Then Gorgias took five thousand men and a thousand choice cavalry, and the army marched out by night, [2]to descend upon the camp of the Judaeans and strike them suddenly. Young men from the citadel served as his guides. [3]But Judas got word of it, and he and his soldiers marched out to strike the king’s army in Emmaus [4]while his forces were dispersed from the camp. [5]When Gorgias came into the camp of Judas at night, he found no one. So he sought them in the mountains, saying, “These are fleeing from us.”

[6]At first light, Judas was seen on the plain with three thousand men, but they did not have armor and swords as they wished. [7]They saw the Gentiles' camp with strong fortification and surrounded by cavalry trained for battle. [8]But Judas said to his men, "Do not be afraid of their numbers or of their attack. [9]Remember how our fathers were saved in the Red Sea, when Pharaoh pursued them with his army? [10]So now, let us cry out to heaven to see if the Lord will be with us, and remember the covenant of our fathers, and crush these forces before us this day. [11]Then all the nations will know that He is the Redeemer and Savior of Israel."

[12]So the Gentiles lifted their eyes and saw them coming opposite them, [13]and they departed from their camp and went into battle. Then those with Judas sounded the trumpets. [14]Thus they met, and the foreigners were crushed, fleeing into the plain. [15]All those remaining fell by the sword. They pursued them as far as Gazara and as far as the plain of Idumea and Azotus and Jamnia, and about three thousand of their men fell. [16]Then Judas and his army returned from pursuing them, [17]and he said to the people, "Do not desire the spoils, for the battle is before us. [18]Gorgias and his army are in the mountain nearby, but stand firm before our enemies and battle them; and afterwards, take the spoils boldly."

[19]While Judas was finishing these words, an enemy detachment was seen peeping out from the mountains, [20]and they saw that their army had been put to flight and that the Judeans had set their camp on fire; for the smoke that was seen revealed what had happened. [21]When they became aware of this, they were very afraid, and when they observed the forces of Judas prepared for battle in the plain, [22]they fled to the region of the Philistines. [23]Judas returned to take spoils from their camp, and they took massive amounts of gold and silver, and cloth dyed blue and purple, and abundant wealth. [24]As they returned from battle they sang hymns and blessed heaven, because the Lord is good, for His mercy endures forever. [25]Thus great deliverance happened to Israel on that day. [26]But all the Gentiles who escaped went and reported to Lysias everything that had happened. [27]When he heard this, he was bewildered and disheartened, because things had not happened to Israel as he wished, and had not turned out as the king commanded him.

Judas Defeats Lysias

[28]The following year, Lysias recruited sixty thousand chosen men and fifty thousand cavalry so he could fight them. [29]Then he came to Idumea and camped in Beth-zur, and Judas met them there with ten thousand soldiers. [30]When he saw their mighty camp, he prayed and said, “Blessed are you, O Savior of Israel, who stopped the attack of the giant warrior by the hand of your servant David, and delivered the Philistines’ camp into the hands of Jonathan the son of Saul, his armor-bearer. [31]Even so, besiege this camp by the hand of your people Israel, and let these enemies be ashamed of their army and cavalry. [32]Put cowardice in them and melt the boldness of their might, and let them be shaken by their defeat. [33]Cast them down with the sword of those who love You, and let all men who know Your name give praise to You with hymns.”

[34]Then they attacked one another, and five thousand men from the camp of Lysias fell, and some fell from the opposite side. [35]When Lysias saw the turn of events for his troops, and the courage shown by those of Judas, and how they were prepared either to live or to die bravely, he returned to Antioch and recruited mercenaries to again invade Judea with an even greater force.

Restoration of the Temple

[36]So Judas and his brothers with him said, “Behold, our foes have been crushed. Let us go up to purify the sanctuary and renew it.” [37]Thus the entire camp gathered and ascended to Mount Zion. [38]They saw there the sanctuary deserted, the altar desecrated, and the doors burned down. In the courtyard they found that bushes had grown up as in a wooded area or on one of the mountains. They also saw the priests’ quarters in ruins. [39]So they tore their garments and lamented greatly, and sprinkled themselves with ashes. [40]They fell on their faces on the earth, sounded the signal on the trumpets, and cried to heaven.

[41]Then Judas ordered his men to fight those in the citadel until he purified the sanctuary. [42]He chose righteous priests, devoted to the law. [43]They purified the sanctuary, and carried the defiled stones to an unclean place. [44]And they discussed what they should do with the altar of whole burnt offerings, which had been desecrated. [45]It seemed to them the best plan was to tear it down, so it would not be a reproach to them because the Gentiles had corrupted it. So they tore down the altar. [46]They also stacked the stones in an appropriate location on the temple hill until a prophet would come and tell what should be done with them.

[47]Then they took uncut stones, according to the law, and constructed a new altar like the one before. [48]They also repaired the sanctuary and the inside of the temple, and consecrated the courtyards. [49]They made new holy vessels and carried the lampstand, the altar of incense, and the table into the temple. [50]And they burnt incense on the altar and lit the lights on the lampstands, and these gave light inside the temple. [51]Then they set bread on the table, hung the curtains, and completed all the tasks they had begun.

[52]They rose early on the morning of the twenty-fifth day of the ninth month, which is the month of Chislev, in the one hundred and forty-eighth year, [53]and offered sacrifice according to the law on the new altar of whole burnt offerings which they made. [54]It was consecrated with songs and harps and lutes and cymbals at the time and on the day the Gentiles had desecrated it. [55]All the people fell down and worshiped and blessed heaven, which had prospered them. [56]They celebrated the consecration of the altar for eight days; and they offered whole burnt offerings with gladness, and the sacrifice of a peace offering and a thank-offering. [57]They also adorned the face of the temple with crowns of gold and small shields, and restored the gates and the priests' quarters, and installed doors. [58]There was great gladness among the people, and the disgrace of the Gentiles was removed.

[59]Then Judas and his brothers and the congregation of Israel decided that each year at that time the days of the consecration of the altar should be observed with joy and gladness for eight full days, beginning on the twenty-fifth of the month of Chislev.

[60]At this same time they also built high walls and strong towers around Mount Zion, lest the Gentiles come and destroy these things, as they had done before. [61]Then he stationed an army there to guard it, and he fortified the town of Beth-zur, so the people would have a fortress that faced Idumea.

1 Maccabees 5

Battles with Surrounding Nations

[1]When the surrounding nations heard the altar was repaired and the sanctuary renewed as before, they were extremely angry. [2]So they resolved to kill the race of Jacob who lived among them, and they began to kill and destroy the people. [3]Thus Judas waged war on the sons of Esau in Idumea at Acrabattene, for they were besieging Israel. He struck them a great blow, humbled them, and took spoils from them. [4]He also recalled the evil acts by the sons of Baean, who trapped and snared the people in ambush out on the roads. [5]He shut them up in their towers and encamped around them, vowing to destroy them. So he set their towers on fire with everyone inside. [6]Then he crossed over against the sons of Ammon, and found a strong army and many people, with Timothy as their leader. [7]He fought many battles against them until he struck them down, and they were crushed before him. [8]Then he overpowered Jazer and its villages and came back to Judea.

[9]Now the foreigners in Gilead assembled against the Israelites living within their borders, to destroy them. But they fled into the fortress of Dathema [10]and sent letters to Judas and his brothers, saying, “The Gentiles have gathered against us and surrounded us to destroy us. [11]They have made ready to come here and overpower the fortress where we have taken refuge, and Timothy is in charge of their army. [12]Now therefore, come and deliver us from their hand, for many of our men have perished. [13]All our brothers in the region of Tob have been put to death, and they took their wives and children captive, along with their possessions; and they destroyed about a thousand men there.”

[14]While their letters were being read, behold, other envoys arrived from Galilee with torn garments and reported similar words, [15]saying that those from Ptolemais, Tyre, Sidon, and all Galilee of the Gentiles had assembled themselves together, “to destroy us.” [16]So when Judas and the people heard these words, a great assembly was gathered to decide what to do for their brothers who were in trouble and were being attacked by adversaries. [17]So Judas told Simon his brother, “Choose men for yourself and go and save your brothers in Galilee, while my brother Jonathan and I go to Gilead.” [18]He left Joseph, the son of Zachariah, and Azariah, a leader of the people, with the rest of the army in Judea, to guard it. [19]He ordered them, saying, “Take charge of this people, but do not go into battle against the Gentiles until we return.” [20]Then three thousand troops were chosen for Simon to go to Galilee, and eight thousand men for Judas to take to Gilead.

Victories in Galilee and Gilead

[21]Thus Simon went into Galilee and fought many battles with the Gentiles, and crushed the Gentiles before him. [22]He chased them to the gates of Ptolemais, and three thousand Gentiles perished, and he took their spoils. [23]So he took the Israelites of Galilee and Arbatta, along with their wives and children and everything they possessed, and brought them with great joy to Judea.

24Meanwhile, Judas Maccabeus and Jonathan his brother crossed over the Jordan and journeyed three full days into the desert. 25They came upon the Nabateans, who met them peacefully and told them everything that had happened to their brothers in Gilead: 26"Many have been imprisoned in Bozrah and Bosor in Alema, Chaspho, Maked, and Carnaim (all these cities were fortified and strong), 27and some have been imprisoned in the remaining cities of Gilead. Tomorrow your foes will attack the strongholds to destroy and capture all of them in one day."

28Judas and his forces returned at once to Bozrah by the desert road; and he captured the city, killed all the males by the edge of the sword, took all the spoils, and set the city on fire. 29He marched from there by night, and they kept going until they reached the fortress of Dathema. 30Then at daybreak they looked up and beheld many people, too many to count, carrying ladders and engines of war to take the fortress and strike the Israelites inside. 31When Judas saw the battle had started, an outcry went up from the city to heaven with trumpets and loud shouts. 32So he said to his army of men, "Fight today for the sake of our brothers!" 33Then he came up behind them in three companies, and they sounded the trumpets and cried aloud in prayer. 34When Timothy's army saw that they faced Maccabeus, they fled before him. He struck them a great blow, and on that day eight thousand of them perished.

35Judas then made his way to Alema. He waged war and captured it, taking its spoils and setting the city on fire. 36He marched on from there and captured Chaspho, Maked, and Bosor, and the remaining cities of Gilead.

37Timothy, however, called together more troops and set up camp opposite Raphon across the stream. 38Judas dispatched soldiers to scout the camp, and they returned to him, saying, "All the foreigners have gathered around us, and a very large army is with him. 39Further, they have hired Arab mercenaries to help, and they are also camped on the other side of the stream, prepared to come against you in battle." So Judas went out to face them.

40Timothy told the officers of his army while Judas and his camp drew near the stream, "If he crosses the stream against us first, we will be unable to withstand him, for he is strong enough to defeat us. 41But if he is frightened and sets up camp across the stream, we will pass over against him and crush him."

42But as Judas approached the water, he stationed the scribes of the troops near the stream and ordered them, "Do not allow anyone to stay in camp, but make all of them join the battle.” [43]So Judas crossed over to meet them first, with all the men behind him. Then all the Gentiles were crushed by them. They dropped their weapons and fled into the sacred regions of Carnain. [44]So Judas captured the city and set the sacred precinct on fire, along with all those residing there. Thus Carnain was defeated, for they were not able to stand against Judas.

[45]After this, Judas assembled all the Jews living in Gilead, from small to great, along with their wives and children and their possessions, a great entourage, to return to the land of Judah. [46]They came as far as Ephron, an expansive and fortified city on the highway. They could not pass through, either to the right or the left. The only way to go was through the middle of town. [47]But the men of the city closed it off and barricaded the gates with stones. [48]So Judas sent them a peaceful word, saying, “Let us pass through your land to go to our land. No one will harm you. Merely we will come through on foot.” But they refused to open to him. [49]So Judas gave orders to proclaim to the troops that each man make camp where he was. [50]Then the soldiers in the army made camp, and he fought the men of Ephron all day and all night, and the city was given over into his hand. [51]He killed every male with the edge of the sword, destroyed the city completely, and took its spoils. So he passed through the city, stepping over those who were killed.

[52]Then they came to the Jordan, crossing over into the great plain facing Beth-shan; [53]and Judas gathered the stragglers and encouraged the men along the way until they entered Judah. [54]They marched up to Mount Zion and sacrificed whole burnt offerings, and offered whole burnt offerings with joy and gladness of heart, because not one of them was lost before they returned home in peace.

[55]While Judas and Jonathan had been in Gilead, and Simon his brother was in Galilee facing Ptolemais, [56]Joseph the son of Zacharias, and Azariah, officers of the army, got word of their courageous acts and the victorious battles they fought. [57]They spoke, saying, “Let us make a name for ourselves as well and take on the Gentiles who live around us.” [58]Thus they gave a command to those from the army with them, and they marched to Jamnia. [59]But Gorgias and his army went out from the city to face them in battle, [60]and Joseph and Azariah were routed and chased as far as the boundaries of Judea. That day about two thousand men of Israel perished. [61]It was a great defeat for the people; for expecting to act heroically, they did not follow the orders of Judas and his brothers. [62]And they did not belong to the seed of those men through whom Israel received the gift of deliverance.

63So Judas and his brothers were honored greatly throughout all Israel and even by the Gentiles, where their name was being heard. 64People assembled around them and gave them praise.

65Then Judas went out with his brothers and fought the sons of Esau in the land to the south, and attacked Hebron and its towns, and pulled down its many fortresses and set on fire its towers round about. 66He also marched into the country of the Philistines, and then on to Marisa. 67Some priests that day who wanted to show their courage perished in battle, for they went out to fight recklessly. 68But Judas turned aside to Azotus, the country of the Philistines. He destroyed their altars, set the carved idols of their gods on fire, and took spoils in the cities. Then he came back to the land of Judah.

1 Maccabees 6

Last Days of King Antiochus IV

1Now King Antiochus passed through the upper countries and heard that Elymais in Persia was a splendid city for its wealth in silver and gold. 2Its temple contained great wealth, with shields of gold, breastplates, and weaponry left there by Alexander, the son of Philip, the Macedonian king who first ruled over the Greeks. 3So he came and sought to defeat the city and take spoils, but he failed because his plot was uncovered by the men of the city. 4They confronted and fought against him, and he fled and retreated from there very discouraged, and went back to Babylon.

5Then a man came and told him while he was still in Persia that his army which had invaded the land of Judah was put to flight; 6that Lysias had gone first with a strong army, but had been put to shame before Israel; that Israel was growing strong by the weapons, supplies, and abundant spoils they had taken from the armies they had conquered. 7Moreover, they had pulled down the abomination he built on top of the altar in Jerusalem; and they had encircled the sanctuary with high walls as it had before, as well as Beth-zur, his hometown.

8When the king received this report, he was shocked and greatly shaken. He fell upon his bed and was sick with grief, because matters had not gone for him as he hoped. 9King Antiochus lay there several days, for deepening grief worsened his condition. He concluded he was about to die. 10Thus he called together his friends, saying, “Sleep has eluded my eyes, and anxiety has devastated my heart. [11]I ask myself, ‘What is this stress I have come to, and into what sea of troubles am I immersed? For I was kind and loved as a ruler.’ [12]But now I recall the evils I did in Jerusalem; for I took all the silver and gold vessels, and sent to destroy those who lived in Judah for no good reason. [13]I know that because of these things, evils have found me; and behold, I am perishing with deep grief in a foreign land.”

Succession of Antiochus V

[14]He then summoned Philip, one of his friends, and set him over his entire kingdom. [15]He gave him his crown and his robe and ring, that he could take charge of his son Antiochus and raise him to rule. [16]Thus Antiochus the king died in the one hundred and forty-ninth year. [17]When Lysias found out the king had reposed, he established Antiochus his son to reign. Lysias had raised him from youth and called him Eupator.

Siege of the Citadel

[18]Now men from the citadel were confining Israel to the area around the sanctuary. They were attempting by whatever means to injure them, and to bring strength to the Gentiles. [19]So he gathered all the men to defeat them. [20]They assembled the army and attacked the city in the hundred and fiftieth year. He also built engines of war and other instruments of battle.

[21]But some of these enemies escaped from the enclosure, and some ungodly Israelites sided with them. [22]They approached the king, saying, “How long will it be until you render a judgment to avenge our brothers? [23]We were pleased to serve your father, and to follow what he said and obey his orders. [24]Because of this the sons of our people attacked the citadel and became our enemies. Besides this, they killed as many of us as they found, and our inheritances were taken away. [25]But they have not stretched out their hand against us alone, but also against all the lands on their borders; [26]and behold, today they have surrounded the citadel in Jerusalem to defeat it. They have strengthened the sanctuary and Beth-zur as well. [27]So unless you quickly overtake them, they will do worse things than these, and you will be unable to stop them.”

Campaign of Antiochus V and Lysias

[28]The king was angered greatly when he heard this, so he assembled all his friends, the military leaders, and those who ruled. [29]Armies of mercenaries came to him as well from other nations and from various islands of the seas. [30]So the number of his armies was one hundred thousand foot soldiers, twenty thousand calvary, and thirty-two elephants trained for battle. [31]They arrived through Idumea and marched against Beth-zur, fighting for many days and building engines of war. But Israel went out, set them on fire, and battled heroically.

[32]Judas then marched out from the citadel and set up camp at Beth-zechariah, across from the king's camp. [33]The next morning the king rose at dawn and led his army on a forced march on the highway to Beth-zechariah. His soldiers prepared themselves for warfare and blew the trumpets. [34]They also showed the elephants the juice of grapes and mulberries to ready them for the campaign. [35]Then they stationed the elephants among the phalanxes and set alongside each animal a thousand men, covered with coats of mail and with bronze helmets on their heads. Five hundred horsemen were chosen and assigned to each elephant. [36]These positioned themselves beforehand wherever the animal was, and wherever it went, they rode alongside and never left it alone. [37]Sturdy covered wooden towers were strapped upon each elephant by a special harness, and four armed men fought from inside each tower with its Indian driver. [38]They positioned the remainder of the horsemen on each side, on the two flanks of the forces, disturbing the enemy while they themselves were protected by the phalanxes. [39]As the sun shined on the golden and bronze shields, the hills glistened from them and lit up like a flaming fire.

[40]While one sector of the king's forces was stretched out on the high hills and some were on the plain, they marched on steadfastly in good order. [41]Everyone trembled when they heard the sounds of the soldiers as they marched along, and the clanging of their weapons, for the army was massive and very strong. [42]But Judas drew near with his army in battle formation, and six hundred of the king's men fell. [43]Then Eleazar, called Avran, saw one of the elephants covered with royal armor. It was taller than the rest, and he reasoned the king was riding it. [44]So he laid down his life to rescue his people and to make an everlasting name for himself. [45]He ran boldly into the center of the phalanx, killing soldiers to the right and left, and they got out of his way on both flanks. [46]Then he crawled under the elephant, struck it from beneath, and killed it. It fell to the ground on top of him, and he died there.

55Now Lysias got word that Philip, whom Antiochus the king had chosen while still alive to raise Antiochus his son to rule, 56had returned from Persia and Media with the armies that had gone there with the king, and that he was trying to gain control of the kingdom. 57So Lysias decided immediately to send a message to the king, the commanders, and the men, saying, "We grow weaker each day, our food supply is running out, the force we are fighting against is strong, and governing the kingdom puts pressure on us. 58Therefore, let us come to agreement with these men and have peace with them and their nation. 59We should arrange for them to live by their laws as before; for it was because of their laws which we abolished that they became furious and did all the things they have done."

60This word pleased the king and the commanders, so he sent an offer of peace to the Israelites, which they accepted. 61Thus the king and the commanders gave them their oath. On these conditions the Israelites evacuated the fortress. 62But when the king came to Mount Zion and saw the fortification of the place, he broke his promise and commanded his men to pull down the surrounding wall. 63Then he left hastily and came back to Antioch. There he discovered Philip in charge, so he attacked him and captured the city by force.

1 Maccabees 7

Demetrius I Becomes King

[1]Demetrius the son of Seleucus set forth from Rome in the one hundred and fifty-first year, sailed with a few men into the city by the sea, and reigned there. [2]As he entered the royal house of his fathers, his army seized Antiochus and Lysias and brought them to him. [3]When he became aware of this action, he said, “Do not show me their faces.” [4]So the soldiers put them to death, and Demetrius occupied the throne of his kingdom.

[5]Then all the lawless and ungodly men of Israel came to him. Alcimus, who wanted to be a priest, led them. [6]They brought charges against the people before the king, saying, “Judas and his brothers have destroyed all your friends and scattered us from our land. [7]Therefore, send a man you trust, and let him see all the destruction he did to us and to the country of the king.
Then let him bring punishment to them and all who serve them.”

Bacchides and Alcimus Control Judah

[8]The king then appointed Bacchides, one of his friends, who ruled the province of Beyond-the-River, for he was prominent in the kingdom and loyal to the king. [9]Then he sent him and the ungodly Alcimus, whom he appointed to the priesthood, and ordered him to avenge the sons of Israel.
[10]They marched on with a large army and came into the land of Judah, and sent envoys to Judas and his brothers with peaceful words full of deceit.
[11]But they did not heed their words, for they noticed they came with a large army.

[12]Then a delegation of scribes was sent to meet with Alcimus and Bacchides to request justice. [13]The Hasideans were the first among the sons of Israel to seek peace with them. [14]For they said, “A man, a priest from the seed of Aaron, came with their forces, and he will not do us wrong.” [15]The priest spoke peacefully to them and promised them, saying, “We will not seek to injure you or your friends.” [16]They believed him, but he overtook sixty of their men and put them to death in one day, according to the word which was written:

> [17]“They poured out the flesh of your saints
> And their blood around Jerusalem,
> But there was no one to bury them.”

[18]Then fear and trembling fell upon all the people, for they said, “There is no truth and uprightness in them. For they violated the promise and oath they swore."

19So Bacchides departed from Jerusalem and marched to Beth-zaith. He sent for and captured many of the soldiers who deserted him, and some of the people, and he slaughtered them at the great well. 20He put Alcimus in charge of the region and left an army with him to serve him. Then Bacchides returned to the king.

21Alcimus then strove for the high priesthood, 22and all who harassed their people also gathered with him. They took control of the country of Judah and damaged Israel greatly. 23Now Judas saw all the evil Alcimus and those with him had done among the sons of Israel; it was worse than what the Gentiles did. 24Thus Judas departed to all the regions surrounding Judea and took vengeance on the men who had deserted. He forbade those in the city to journey out to the countryside. 25But when Alcimus realized Judas and his followers were growing strong and knew that he could not prevail against them, he went back and brought evil charges against them before the king.

Nicanor Marches on Israel

26The king then sent Nicanor, one of his renowned commanders who hated and disdained Israel, and ordered him to get rid of the people. 27Nicanor came up to Jerusalem with a large army, and he sent Judas and his brothers peaceful words full of deceit, saying, 28"Let there be no quarrel between us. I will come peacefully with a few men to see you in person." 29So he approached Judas, and they greeted each other peacefully. But the adversaries prepared to seize Judas. 30Then Judas was aware that Nicanor had come with deceit; and he feared him, so he did not care to meet him again. 31When Nicanor learned his plot had been discovered, he went into battle with Judas at Caphar-salamah. 32Some five hundred of Nicanor's soldiers fell; the remainder fled to the city of David.

33After this, Nicanor went up to Mount Zion. Then some priests came out of the sanctuary, along with some elders of the people, to greet him in peace, showing him the whole burnt offering which they had sacrificed on behalf of the king. 34However, he mocked and ridiculed them. He defiled them and spoke with arrogance to them. 35He also swore an oath angrily, saying, "Unless Judas and his troops are delivered into my hands now, then if I come back in peace, I will set this house on fire." Then he stormed out in great rage. 36The priests then entered and stood facing the altar and the sanctuary.

They wept and cried out, [37]"You chose this place to be called by Your name that it might be a house of prayer and supplication for Your people. [38]Take vengeance on this man and on his soldiers, and let them die by the sword.
Remember their blasphemies and let them be alive no longer."

[39]Soon Nicanor left Jerusalem and camped at Beth-horon, and the army of Syria joined him. [40]But Judas took position in Adassa with three thousand troops. Judas prayed, saying, [41]"When the ambassadors from the king uttered blasphemy, Your angel went forth and struck one hundred and eighty-five thousand of the Assyrians. [42]Crush also this army before us today, and let the others know that he spoke blasphemy against Your sanctuary; and judge him according to his malice."

Nicanor Falls in Battle

[43]So the armies faced off in war the thirteenth day of the month Adar, and Nicanor's army was scattered. He himself was the first to fall in the war.
[44]When his soldiers saw Nicanor die, they dropped their weapons and ran.
[45]Israel even chased them a day's journey from Adassa as far as Gazara. As they pursued them, they kept blowing the trumpets, sounding the battle call.
[46]Then the Israelites went out from all the villages around Judea and outflanked the adversaries. They drove them back to the pursuing army, and they all fell by the sword. Not one of them survived. [47]Then Israel captured the spoils and their possessions. They even beheaded Nicanor and severed his right hand, which he had stretched out arrogantly. They carried them and put them on display just outside Jerusalem. [48]So the people were very glad, and they celebrated that day as a day of great joy. [49]A decree came forth to celebrate this day at the same time every year, on the thirteenth day of Adar.
[50]Thus the land of Judah had peace for several days.

1 Maccabees 8

Pact with the Romans

[1]Then Judas learned of the reputation of the Romans, that they were mighty and behaved well toward all who made a pact with them. They could ensure friendship with as many as came to them, indeed, because they were of great strength. [2]People also told him of their warfare and the courageous works they were doing in Gaul—how they conquered them and imposed taxes on them. [3]They also reported what they had done in the country of Spain, to take control of their silver and gold mines, [4]and how they dominated the entire region by their careful planning and forbearance, although the area was a great distance away. The Romans also defeated kings who challenged them from around the world, until they subdued them and struck a deadly blow against them. But the others paid them taxes each year.

[5]They battled and soundly conquered Philip and Perseus, kings of the Macedonians, and others who stood up against them in war. [6]They further conquered Antiochus the great king of Asia, who went to war against them with a hundred and twenty elephants and cavalry and chariots and a massive army. But his troops were destroyed by them. [7]They captured him alive, and ordered that he and those who would rule in the future should pay large taxes along with hostages. [8]They also took from him the countries of India, Media, and Lydia. Then they gave some of the best of all these territories to King Eumenes.

[9]The Greeks also plotted to come against them, [10]but this became known to the Romans, and they sent one of their generals against them. He fought with them, and many wounded fell, and the Romans took their wives and children captive. They robbed them, took their land, pulled down their fortresses, and have to this day enslaved them. [11]They crushed and captured the remaining kingdoms and the islands, as many as would oppose them. But they secured a relationship with their friends and those people who relied on them. [12]Thus they conquered rulers far away and nearby; as many as had heard of their reputation feared them. [13]Those the Romans desire to help and to raise up as kings, they establish; and those kings they wish to depose they depose, for they have great power. [14]But despite all this, none of the Romans has donned a crown or vested in purple, so as to be magnified by it. [15]Instead they formed a council for themselves, and three hundred and twenty senators constantly deliberate concerning the people, to help them behave in an orderly fashion. [16]They trust one man to govern them for a year, and to rule over their land. Everyone heeds this one leader, and there is no jealousy or strife among them.

[17]Now Judas appointed Eupolemus the son of John, son of Accos, and Jason the son of Eleazar, and dispatched them to Rome to build friendship and an alliance [18]and to free their people from a yoke of bondage, because they realized the Greek kingdom was subjecting Israel to total servitude. [19]So they journeyed to Rome—a very long trip. When they came to the senate chamber, they said the following: [20]"Judas, also named Maccabeus, his brothers, and the Jewish people sent us here to you to build an alliance and have peace with you, that you may enlist us as your friends and allies."

Terms of the Alliance

[21]The proposal pleased the senate. [22]So this is the copy of the message they issued in reply, inscribed on bronze tablets and sent to Jerusalem, to be kept there as a record of peace and friendship:

> [23]"May it be well with the Roman people, and the Jewish nation shall respond wholeheartedly as their allies, as the occasion may dictate. [24]If war comes first to Rome or to any of their allies in all their dominion, [25]the Judean nation shall act as their allies, wholeheartedly, as the occasion may dictate to them. [26]As to any enemy who wages war, the Jews shall not donate or supply grain, weapons, money, or ships, as Rome has stated, and they shall honor these commitments without getting anything in return. [27]Similarly, should war break out first against the Jewish nation, the Romans shall freely respond as their allies, as is appropriate for them. [28]Further, no grain, weapons, money, or ships will be given to allies of the enemy, as Rome has decided, and they shall hold to these obligations and do so with no deception. [29]Thus the Romans offer a treaty with the Jews on these terms. [30]If after these agreements take effect, both parties should decide to add or subtract anything, they shall do so by agreement, and whatever they add or subtract shall be binding.
> [31]"Now regarding the evils Demetrius the king is doing to them, we have sent to him this word: 'If therefore they appeal to us against you again, we will defend their rights and oppose you, be it on the sea or on land.' "

1 Maccabees 9

Judas Dies in Battle

[1]Now Demetrius got word that Nicanor and his men had fallen in battle, so he authorized Bacchides and Alcimus to go a second time into the land of Judah and take the right-hand flank of the army with them. [2]Thus they traveled the highway into Gilgal and camped at Mesaloth in Arbela. They captured it, and many people died. [3]Then in the first month of the one hundred and fifty-second year, they encamped opposite Jerusalem. [4]But they departed there and went to Berea, twenty thousand foot soldiers and two thousand cavalry with them.

[5]Now Judas set up camp in Elasa, and three thousand chosen men accompanied him. [6]When they saw how large the number of the enemy forces was, they were very afraid, and many sneaked out of the camp. Just eight hundred men remained among them.

[7]When Judas realized his troops had run away and the battle was pressing upon him, he was greatly discouraged and had no time to rally them. [8]Though weary, he said to those who remained, “Let us arise and move out against our enemies. We may yet be able to fight them.” [9]But they kept trying to turn him back, saying, “We are not able. Let us rather save our lives now. Let us return with our brothers and fight against them later, for we are too few.” [10]But Judas answered, “May it be far from us to do such a thing, to run away from them. If our time has come to die, then let us die courageously for the sake of our people. We will not leave behind a charge against our honor.”

[11]Then the forces of Bacchides moved out from the camp in formation and stood to encounter them. The mounted troops were divided into two parts, and the sling-throwers and the archers advanced before the army, along with all the chief warriors; Bacchides was on the right flank. [12]Then the phalanx drew near between the companies on both sides and sounded their trumpets. The army of Judas also blew its trumpets. [13]The ground shook by the clamor of the troops, and the battle raged on from morning until nightfall.

[14]Judas realized that Bacchides had the strength of his forces on the right flank. So all the stouthearted men came together with Judas. [15]They demolished the right flank, and pursued Bacchides’ men all the way to Mount Azotus. [16]When those on the left flank saw that the right flank was broken, they reversed course and followed closely behind the army of Judas. [17]The battle was fierce, and many men on both sides suffered wounds and fell. [18]Judas also fell, and his men fled.

[19]Jonathan and Simon took Judas their brother and buried him in the tomb of his fathers in Modein. [20]They wept for him, and all Israel mourned him with great lamentation for many days, saying,

[21]“How the mighty is fallen, Israel’s savior.”

[22]Now the abundant acts of Judas—his wars, the brave things he did, and his greatness—are not recorded, for there were far too many.

Jonathan Succeeds His Brother

23 After Judas's death, the lawless emerged in all the regions of Israel, and all those rose up who worked evil. 24 In those days, there was a very great famine, and the nation deserted with the evildoers to Bacchides, 25 He chose godless men and appointed them lords of the country. 26 These men sought out and searched for the allies of Judas, bringing them to Bacchides. He took vengeance on them and mocked them. 27 There was great perplexity in Israel, such as had not been seen since the days when the prophets ceased to be seen in their midst.

28 Then all of Judas's friends came together and spoke to Jonathan.
29 "Since your brother Judas died, a man like him has not come out to take on our enemies, namely Bacchides and those from our country who hate us.
30 Therefore, we have now chosen you this day to replace him as our ruler and be our leader in battle." 31 So Jonathan accepted the command at once and rose up in the place of Judas his brother.

Jonathan Takes on Bacchides

32 When Bacchides heard this, he sought to kill him. 33 But Jonathan, Simon his brother, and everyone with him knew of this, and they escaped to the desert of Tekoa and camped near the waters of the pool of Asphar.
34 Bacchides discovered this on the Sabbath, and he and his army all crossed over the Jordan.

35 So Jonathan sent John his brother as leader of the people, and he begged his Nabatean friends for approval to store their huge amount of baggage with them. 36 But the sons of Jambri from Medeba came out and seized John, and left with everything he had.

37 After these things happened, they told Jonathan and his brother Simon, saying, "The sons of Jambri are holding a great marriage feast, and they are bringing the bride from Nadabath, a daughter of one of the great noblemen of Canaan, with a huge convoy." 38 They remembered the blood of John their brother, and went up and hid under the cover of the mountain. 39 They raised their eyes and looked, and behold, there was a noisy crowd coming with much baggage. The bridegroom also came forth with his friends and brothers to meet them with tambourines, the musicians—and many weapons.
40 Jonathan's men rose up against them from an ambush and killed them.
Many of the wounded also fell, and the rest fled to the mountain. So they took all their spoils. [41]The wedding was changed to mourning, and the sound of the musicians became like a dirge. [42]Thus they avenged their brother's blood and returned to the low ground of the Jordan.

[43]Bacchides then heard of this and arrived with a large army on the Sabbath at the banks of the Jordan. [44]So Jonathan said to those with him, "Let us stand and fight for our lives, for today is not as yesterday or the day before. [45]Behold, the battle is before us and behind us. The water of the Jordan is on this side and that, and the low ground and thicket is not the place to turn aside. [46]Now therefore, cry out to heaven that you may be saved from the hand of our adversaries." [47]So the battle was joined, and Jonathan reached out his hand to strike Bacchides, who ducked aside and went behind him. [48]Then Jonathan and his forces jumped into the Jordan River, swimming to the other side. Bacchides and his army did not cross over the Jordan to strike them. [49]About a thousand of Bacchides' soldiers fell on that day.

[50]Bacchides then returned to Jerusalem and built fortified cities in Judea: the fortresses were in Jericho, and in Emmaus, Beth-horon, Bethel, Timnath, Pharathon and Tephon, all with high walls, gates, and bars. [51]He also placed a guard in them, and they were hostile to Israel. [52]Then he strengthened the cities of Beth-zur and Gazara, and the citadel, and placed armies in them with stores of provisions. [53]He also seized the sons of the rulers of the area, holding them hostage under armed guards at the citadel in Jerusalem.

Attempted Destruction at the Temple

[54]Then in the one hundred fifty-third year, in the second month, Alcimus issued the command to take down the wall of the inner court of the sanctuary. Then he took down the work of the prophets and started to destroy it. [55]At that instant, Alcimus was stricken, his mischief was thwarted, his mouth was shut up, and he became paralyzed. He could not even speak a word so as to give orders concerning his property. [56]So Alcimus died then and there in great pain. [57]When Bacchides saw that Alcimus had died, he returned to King Demetrius. Thus the land of Judah was peaceful for two years.

[58]Soon, all the lawless men deliberated among themselves, saying, "Behold, Jonathan and those with him are living in peace and certitude. Now, therefore, let us bring Bacchides back here, and he will seize them all in one night." [59]So they went and conversed with him, [60]and he departed to come with a large army, secretly sending letters to all his allies in Judea, telling them to capture Jonathan and those with him. But they could not do so, because their plot had been discovered. 61So Jonathan and his men caught about fifty of their countrymen who were the leaders of the agitation, and killed them.

Bacchides' Forces Are Crushed

62Then Jonathan, Simon, and those with them departed for Bethbasi in the desert, and rebuilt the outpost that had been destroyed and strengthened it. 63When Bacchides heard of this, he gathered all his army and sent orders to the men of Judea. 64Then he arrived and camped at Bethbasi and attacked it for many days, making engines of war. 65But Jonathan left Simon his brother in the city, and headed out into the country with a handful of men. 66He struck Odomera and his brothers and the sons of Phasiron inside their tents. Then he launched his attack and entered into battle with his armies. 67Meanwhile Simon and those with him came out of the city and set on fire the engines of war. 68Once they took the offensive against Bacchides, he was crushed by them. They upset him greatly because his plan of attack was in vain. 69Also, he was filled with rage at his advisors, the lawless men who urged him to come into the country. So he killed many of them and then decided to return home.

70When Jonathan learned of these events, he sent envoys to make peace with Bacchides and to obtain freedom for the captives. 71Bacchides accepted the proposal and swore to Jonathan he would not harm him all the days of his life. 72He returned to him the hostages taken earlier from the land of Judah. Then he returned to his homeland and made no further attempt to come into their country. 73Thus the sword was laid down in Israel. Then Jonathan settled down in Michmash, where he began to judge the people and to destroy the ungodly men of Israel.

1 Maccabees 10

Alexander Appoints Jonathan High Priest

1Then in the one hundred and sixtieth year, Alexander, the son of Antiochus Epiphanes, went forth and conquered Ptolemais. They made him welcome, and he reigned there. 2But when Demetrius the king learned this, he gathered a huge army and went out to battle him. 3Demetrius also sent a letter to Jonathan with peaceful words to flatter him. 4For he said, "Let us act with foresight to make peace with him before he sides with Alexander against us. [5]For he will recall the evils we carried out against him, and against his brothers and his nation." [6]So the king gave authority to Jonathan to assemble an army, prepare weapons, and be his ally. He also ordered the hostages in the citadel to be released to him.

[7]Then Jonathan entered Jerusalem and read the letter in the presence of all the people and those in the citadel. [8]They were very frightened when they heard the king had given Jonathan authorization to assemble an army. [9]So the men in the citadel returned the hostages to Jonathan, and he brought them back to their parents.

[10]Soon, Jonathan settled in Jerusalem and began to reconstruct the city. [11]He also told the workers to build the walls to surround Mount Zion with square-cut stones for fortification, which they did. [12]Then the foreigners who had been in their fortresses built by Bacchides fled. [13]Each one left his place and departed into his own land. [14]Only some in Beth-zur who had forsaken the law and the commandments remained, for it was a place of refuge.

[15]When King Alexander heard about the proposals Demetrius had sent to Jonathan, and was told about the battles and the courageous deeds done by Jonathan and his brothers (as well as what they had suffered), [16]he said, "Where will we find another like this man? Let us make him our friend and our ally." [17]So he wrote a letter and sent it to him, saying:

> [18]"Alexander the king to Jonathan his brother, greetings. [19]We have heard you are a mighty warrior and suitable to be our friend. [20]So now we appoint you today as high priest of your people and command that you be called a friend of the king (he also sent him a purple robe and a golden crown). We ask you to agree with our interests and maintain friendship with us."

[21]So Jonathan, in the seventh month of the one hundred and sixtieth year, put on the holy robe at the Feast of Tabernacles. Then he gathered an army and stockpiled many weapons.

Demetrius I Writes to Jonathan

[22]When Demetrius heard these reports, he was disturbed and said, [23]"What is this that we have done? Alexander has upstaged us by forming a friendship with the Jews for support! [24]I also will write them words of encouragement and promise them glory and gifts, that they may be my support." [25]So he sent them the following message:

“King Demetrius to the nation of the Jews, greetings. [26]Since you have kept your agreements with us and maintained our friendship, and have not sided with our enemies, we have learned of this and rejoice. [27]Even now, do continue to keep faith with us, and we will repay you good things for your deeds. [28]We will grant you many prerogatives and give you gifts.

[29]“At this time I am releasing and exempting all Jews from tribute and salt taxes and from crown levies. [30]Furthermore, instead of handing over to me a third of the harvest and half of the fruit of the trees, which I am due, I cancel them from this day forward and beyond. I will not extract them from those of Judah, nor from the three provinces annexed to them from Samaria and Galilee from now on. [31]In addition, let Jerusalem and her vicinities be set apart and released from tithes and taxes. [32]I am also releasing my control of the citadel in Jerusalem, and I give it to the high priest, that he may place men in it whom he himself chooses to guard it. [33]So every soul of the Jews taken captive from the land of Judah into all my kingdom I release freely without payment. Let all officials also cancel the duties on their livestock.

[34]“Moreover, all the feasts, the Sabbaths, the new moons, the appointed days, as well as the three days prior to the feast and three after the feast, let all these days be established as exempt and released for the Jews in my kingdom. [35]No one will have the power to exact anything from them or to trouble any of them about anything.

[36]“Let the number of Jews in the army of the king be limited to thirty thousand men, and let the stipend that is due to all the troops of the king be paid to them. [37]Some of them are to be established in the great fortresses of the king, and some are to be set in positions of trust wherever the kingdom has need. Let their officers and leaders be taken from them, and let them live by their own laws, as the king commanded in the land of Judah.

[38]“As for the three provinces added to Judea from the country of Samaria, let them be considered as one, so it may not be subject to any other authority than the high priest. [39]I have given Ptolemais and the land adjoining it as gifts to the sanctuary in Jerusalem, for regular expenses in the sanctuary. [40]I also grant fifteen thousand silver shekels yearly out of the king’s revenues from the appropriate places. [41]Even all the surplus the officials did not pay as in the first years, from now on they will give for the works of the temple. [42]Moreover, the five thousand shekels of silver which the officials received every year from the incomes of the sanctuary, these are also cancelled, because they belong to the priests who minister there. [43]Further, whoever takes refuge at the temple in Jerusalem or in any of its vicinities because he owes a royal payment or any debt, let him be released and receive back all his property in my kingdom.

[44]"The expense of rebuilding and restoring the structures of the sanctuary is also to be paid from the king's revenue. [45]Then too, the expenses of rebuilding the walls of Jerusalem and the fortifications around it are to be paid from the king's revenue, and also the rebuilding of the walls in Judea."

Offer Rejected, Demetrius Killed

[46]But when Jonathan and the people heard these words, they did not believe or accept them, because they remembered the great wrongs Demetrius had done in Israel and how badly he had afflicted them. [47]So they favored Alexander, because he was the first to offer peaceable words to them; therefore, they remained allied with him all his days.

[48]Now King Alexander assembled a large army and took position opposite Demetrius. [49]The two kings met in battle, and the army of Demetrius fled. Alexander took pursuit and defeated them. [50]He fought very hard until sunset, and Demetrius fell on that day.

Alexander Weds Cleopatra

[51]Then Alexander sent envoys to Ptolemy the king of Egypt with the following message:

[52]"Since I returned to my kingdom and have taken the throne of my fathers and established my rule (for I defeated Demetrius and secured control of my country; [53]I faced him in war and he and his forces were destroyed by us; and we indeed have sat down upon the throne of his kingdom), [54]now let us build a friendship with each other. Give me your daughter in marriage, and I will become your son-in-law. I will give you gifts worthy of both you and her."

[55]Then Ptolemy the king answered, saying:

"It was a good day when you went back to your fathers' homeland and occupied the throne of their kingdom. [56]Now I will do for you what you requested, so meet me at Ptolemais, that we might see each other; and I will be your father-in-law, as you asked."

[57]Then Ptolemy left Egypt along with his daughter Cleopatra, and reached Ptolemais in the one hundred and sixty-second year. [58]King Alexander met him there, and Ptolemy gave him his daughter Cleopatra in marriage. He celebrated her wedding in Ptolemais with great pageantry, in royal manner.

Jonathan Made Governor

[59]Then King Alexander wrote for Jonathan to meet him. [60]So he journeyed with splendor to Ptolemais and there met the two monarchs. He offered them silver and gold, and gave their friends numerous gifts. Thus he found favor with them.

[61]Then some troublemakers from Israel, lawless men, also gathered against Jonathan to accuse him, but the king paid no attention to them. [62]The king then gave command to remove Jonathan's clothes and robe him in purple; and they did. [63]Then the king seated him with himself and said to his leaders, "Go out with him into the midst of the city and proclaim that no one should accuse him concerning any matter; and let no one trouble him for any cause." [64]So it was that when his accusers saw the honor given him according to the proclamation, and saw him robed in purple, they fled. [65]Thus the king honored him and inscribed him among his close friends. He also appointed him general and provincial governor. [66]Then Jonathan departed to Jerusalem with peace and gladness of heart.

Demetrius II Appoints Apollonius

[67]Now in the one hundred and sixty-fifth year, Demetrius, the son of Demetrius, traveled from Crete to the land of his fathers. [68]When King Alexander heard it, he was very distressed and went back to Antioch. [69]Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius governor of Coele-Syria. Apollonius gathered a large army and marched against Jamnia. He sent word to Jonathan the high priest, saying:

> [70]"You alone rose up against us, but I was ridiculed and disgraced because of you. Why do you maintain authority over us in the hill country? [71]Now therefore, if you trust in your army, come down against us in the plain, and let us judge together for ourselves there, for I have an army of the cities. [72]Inquire and learn who I am, and the others who help us. They tell us there is no place for your foot to stand before us, because your fathers were put to flight twice in their land. [73]Even now, you shall not be able to withstand such a cavalry and army in the plain, where there is neither stone nor pebble nor any place to flee."

Jonathan Defeats Apollonius

[74]But when Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moved to action. He chose ten thousand men and departed from Jerusalem, and his brother Simon joined to help him. [75]He took up a position at Joppa, but the men of that city shut its gates; for Apollonius had a band of soldiers in Joppa. So Jonathan attacked them. [76]Then the men of Joppa became fearful and opened the gates; and Jonathan captured Joppa.

[77]When Apollonius got word of it, he gathered three thousand cavalry and a sizable army and marched into Azotus, as though he were going beyond. But he went ahead into the plain, since he had a large cavalry and trusted in it. [78]Jonathan chased him to Azotus, and there the armies joined in battle. [79]But Apollonius secretly had left a thousand cavalry behind. [80]Jonathan discovered there was an ambush behind him, for they encircled his army and shot arrows at his troops from morning till sundown. [81]But his army stood their ground, as Jonathan had ordered, and their cavalry grew tired.

[82]Then Simon brought in his army and confronted the phalanx in battle (for the cavalry had grown tired); and they were crushed by him and fled. [83]When the cavalry was scattered on the plain, they retreated to Azotus, entering Beth-dagon, their pagan temple, to hide. [84]Then Jonathan set Azotus and the surrounding cities on fire and took spoils from them. The temple of Dagon and those who took refuge in it were burned up in the fire. [85]So eight thousand men fell by the sword along with those who were killed by the fire.

[86]Then Jonathan left there and camped opposite Ashkelon, and the men of the city came out with great ceremony to meet him. [87]Jonathan and the men with him later went back to Jerusalem with many spoils. [88]Thus when King Alexander heard these reports, he proceeded to honor Jonathan again. [89]So he sent him a golden buckle, as was customary to give to the relatives of kings. He also gave to him Ekron and all its regions as his possession.

1 Maccabees 11

Ptolemy IV, Alexander Die

[1]Then the king of Egypt gathered together a large army, like sand along the seashore, and many ships; and he sought to obtain possession of Alexander's kingdom by deceit, and to add it to his kingdom. [2]So he set out for Syria with words of peace, and those from the cities were open to him and met with him, because King Alexander ordered them to meet him since he was his father-in-law. [3]But when Ptolemy entered the cities, he set a band of soldiers in every city.

[4]But when they neared Azotus, they showed him the temple of Dagon which had been burned, and Azotus and the surrounding fortifications that were destroyed, and the bodies of those lying about whom Jonathan had burned in the war; for they made heaps of them in his path. [5]They also told the king what Jonathan had done, so as to blame him; but the king remained silent. [6]Jonathan then met the king in Joppa with great ceremony, and they greeted each other and stayed the night there. [7]Jonathan journeyed with the king to the river Eleutherus, and then went back to Jerusalem.

[8]Thus King Ptolemy ruled over the coastal cities as far as Seleucia by the sea, and devised evil plans against Alexander. [9]So he sent ambassadors to King Demetrius, saying, “Come, let us enter into a covenant with one another. I will give you my daughter, Alexander’s wife, in marriage, and you will reign over your father’s kingdom. [10]For I regret giving him my daughter, since he tried to kill me.” [11]Thus, Ptolemy blamed Alexander because he desired his kingdom. [12]So he took back his daughter and gave her to Demetrius. Therefore he was estranged from Alexander, and their animosity was evident.

[13]Then Ptolemy entered Antioch and assumed the crown of Asia. So he wore two crowns on his head, that of Egypt and that of Asia. [14]But King Alexander was in Cilicia at this time, for the inhabitants there were in revolt. [15]When Alexander heard of it, he engaged him in battle. So Ptolemy went out with a mighty force and faced him, putting him to flight. [16]Then Alexander took refuge in Arabia, seeking safety. King Ptolemy was held in great honor. [17]So Zabdiel the Arab cut off Alexander’s head and sent it to Ptolemy. [18]But King Ptolemy died three days later, and his garrisons in the fortresses were destroyed by the inhabitants of those fortresses. [19]Thus in the one hundred and sixty-seventh year, Demetrius became king.

Jonathan Finds Favor with Demetrius II

[20]In those days, Jonathan gathered men from Judea to attack the citadel in Jerusalem, and he built many engines of war for use against it. [21]But some lawless men who despised their nation came to the king and told him

Jonathan would set siege to the citadel. [22]When the king heard this, he was enraged; and he broke camp and went to Ptolemais. He wrote Jonathan that he was to lift the siege, and to meet him in Ptolemais at once for a conference.

[23]But when Jonathan heard this, he issued orders to continue the siege. Then he chose some elders of Israel and some priests, and put himself in danger. [24]For he took silver, gold, clothing, and many other friendly gifts and went to the king in Ptolemais. And Jonathan found favor with him. [25]Again, some lawless men from the nation accused Jonathan. [26]But the king did to him as those before him had done and exalted him in front of all his friends. [27]He also confirmed him in the high priesthood and whatever other honors he held before, and considered him as one of his best friends. [28]Then Jonathan asked the king to exempt Judea from taxes along with the three provinces and Samaria, and promised him three hundred talents. [29]The king was pleased and wrote Jonathan a letter concerning all these things. Its message was as follows:

> [30]"King Demetrius to his brother Jonathan and the nation of the Jews, greetings. [31]The copy of this letter which we wrote to Lasthenes our relative concerning you we have copied also to you, that you might know what it says. [32]'King Demetrius to his father Lasthenes, greetings. [33]To the nation of the Jews, our friends, and who do what is right towards us, we have decided to do good, because of their goodwill toward us. [34]We have established the borders of Judea for them and the three provinces of Aphairema, Lydda, and Rathamin. They were added to Judea from Samaria, as well as all the areas bordering them. All who offer sacrifices in Jerusalem we have released from the royal taxes which the king received from them each year, from the harvest of the earth and fruit of the trees. [35]Any other payments due us from now on from the tithes, the salt pits, and the crown taxes—from all these we grant release. [36]None of these provisions will be cancelled from now on for all time. [37]Now therefore, take heed to make a copy of this, and let it be given to Jonathan and put in a notable place on the holy mountain.' "

Jonathan Aids Demetrius II

[38]When King Demetrius saw the land was peaceful before him and no one was opposed to him, he dismissed his troops, each to their own place, except the foreign soldiers whom he had recruited as mercenaries from the islands of the nations. So all the soldiers who had served his fathers hated him. [39]Now Trypho formerly had been one of Alexander's supporters. He saw that all the soldiers complained against Demetrius. So he approached Imalkue the Arab, who was rearing Antiochus, the young son of Alexander. [40]He insisted that he hand Antiochus over to him, so as to make him king in place of his father. He told Imalkue everything Demetrius had done and the hatred his troops had for him; and he remained there many days.

[41]Meanwhile, Jonathan sent to King Demetrius the request that he remove the soldiers in the citadel from Jerusalem as well as those in the fortresses; for they were at war with Israel. [42]Then Demetrius sent to Jonathan, saying, "Not only will I do these things for you and your nation, but I will greatly honor you and the Jewish nation when I have the opportunity. [43]And you will do rightly to send me soldiers who will ally with me, because all my troops have revolted." [44]So Jonathan sent three thousand very able men to him at Antioch. When they came to the king, he was very glad at their arrival.

[45]Then men from the city gathered within the city, a hundred and twenty thousand of them, and they wanted to kill the king. [46]But the king fled into the palace, and those from the city seized the streets of the city, and they began to fight. [47]So the king summoned the Jews for help, and they all rallied around him and dispersed throughout the city. On that day they killed about one hundred thousand men. [48]They set the city on fire, took many spoils on that day, and rescued the king. [49]When the men of the city realized the Jews had gained control of the city at will, they lost their courage and called out to the king with this request: [50]"Restore the peace and make the Jews quit fighting us and the city." [51]So they threw down their weapons and made peace. Then the Jews were honored before the king and before all those in his kingdom. After this, they returned to Jerusalem with many spoils.

[52]Thus King Demetrius ruled on the throne of his kingdom, and the land was peaceful before him. [53]But he broke his word about everything he promised Jonathan. Thus he became estranged from him, and did not repay Jonathan the favors he had done for him, but greatly afflicted him.

Antiochus VI Honors Jonathan

[54]Later, Trypho returned and had with him the young boy Antiochus, who put on the crown and became king. [55]All the troops who had cursed Demetrius gathered around him. They fought against Demetrius, who was put to flight. [56]Trypho then captured the elephants and gained control of Antioch.

[57]So Antiochus the younger wrote to Jonathan, saying, “I confirm you in the high priesthood, set you over the four provinces, and you will be one of the king’s friends.” [58]He also sent him gold cups to serve him at table, and gave him authority to drink from these, to dress in purple, and to wear a golden buckle. [59]He then established Simon his brother as general from the Ladder of Tyre to the boundary of Egypt.

[60]Then Jonathan departed and journeyed beyond the river and in the cities. The entire army of Syria gathered around him as allies. When he went into Askelon, the people of the city met him and honored him. [61]From there, he left for Gaza, but when the inhabitants of Gaza shut him out, he besieged the city, set its surrounding fortifications on fire, and plundered them. [62]Thus the men of Gaza pleaded with Jonathan. He made peace with them, took the sons of their governors as hostages, and dispatched them to Jerusalem. Then he traveled through the country, going as far as Damascus.

[63]Jonathan also got word the officers of Demetrius had arrived in Kadesh in Galilee with a sizable army. They intended to oust him from office. [64]So he set out to meet them, but he left his brother Simon in the country. [65]Then Simon positioned himself at Beth-zur, and for many days fought against it and blocked it off. [66]Then the people begged him for peace, and he granted it to them. So he cast them out from there, took possession of the city, and placed a garrison in it.

[67]Now Jonathan and his soldiers camped by the lake of Gennesaret, and rose early the next morning and marched to the plain of Hazor. [68]Then behold, the foreign army met him in the plain and set up an ambush against him in the mountains. But they themselves met him face to face. [69]Then the men in the ambush rose up from their places and joined the battle. [70]All Jonathan’s men fled. None of them remained except Mattathias, the son of Absalom, and Judas, the son of Chalphi, commanders of the armed forces. [71]So Jonathan tore his garments, poured earth on his head, and prayed. [72]Then he turned back to the battle and put the enemy to flight. [73]When Jonathan’s men who had run away saw this, they returned and joined him in the pursuit of the enemy as far as Kadesh, and there they set up camp. [74]As many as three thousand of the foreign army fell that day. Then Jonathan went back to Jerusalem.

1 Maccabees 12

Friendship Renewed with Rome and Sparta

[1]When Jonathan saw the time was right, he chose envoys and sent them to Rome to validate and renew friendship with them. [2]Also, he sent letters to Sparta and other localities for the same reasons. [3]So they left for Rome, entered the senate chamber, and said, “Jonathan, the high priest, and the nation of the Jews sent us here to renew the former friendship and alliance between ourselves.” [4]Then the Romans wrote letters to the citizens in every place, so they might send forth the ambassadors to the land of Judah in peace.

[5]This is the copy of the letters which Jonathan wrote to the Spartans:

[6]“Jonathan the high priest, the elders of the nation, the priests, and the Jewish people to their brothers the Spartans, greetings. [7]Some time earlier, letters were sent to Onias the high priest by Arius, who ruled over you, that you are our brothers, as the attached copy indicates. [8]Onias received the envoy with honor, and he accepted the letters, which plainly showed the alliance and friendship. [9]Therefore, although we do not need these things, since we have the holy books in our hands, [10]we have decided to send and renew our brotherhood and friendship, so we would not be estranged from you. For significant time has elapsed since you sent word to us. [11]Therefore at every opportunity, both on feast days and ordinary days, we remember you unceasingly in the sacrifices we offer and in our prayers, as it is right and proper to remember brothers; [12]for we rejoice in your glory. [13]But many troubles and many wars have surrounded us, and the kings around us have fought against us. [14]We did not wish to trouble you and our other allies and friends with these wars. [15]For we have had help from heaven assisting us, for we were freed from our enemies, and they were humbled. [16]Therefore we chose Numenius son of Antiochus and Antipater son of Jason, and sent them to Rome to renew our former friendship and alliance with them. [17]We also ordered them to go to you, to greet you and give you these letters from us concerning the renewal of our brotherhood. [18]Now then, please send us a reply.”

[19]This is the copy of the letters they sent to Onias:

[20]“King Arius of the Spartans to Onias the high priest, greetings. [21]It has been put in writing regarding both the Spartans and the Jews that they are brothers, and are both of the family of Abraham. [22]So now that we know this, please write us concerning your welfare. [23]Thus we are writing to you that your cattle and possessions are ours, and ours are yours. Therefore we order our ambassadors to report to you accordingly."

Campaigns of Jonathan and Simon

[24]Then Jonathan heard the officers of Demetrius had come back with a larger army than before to make war against him. [25]So he marched out of Jerusalem and engaged them in the area around Hamath, giving them no chance to invade his country. [26]So he sent out spies to their encampment. They later returned and told him the army of Demetrius planned to attack the Jews at night. [27]At sunset, Jonathan ordered those with him to stay awake and to be ready with their weapons for a fight during the night. Then he sent out an advance guard to surround the camp. [28]When the enemy got word that Jonathan and his soldiers were ready for battle, they were terrified at heart. So they lit fires in their camp and fled. [29]But Jonathan and his men did not know this until it was morning, for they saw the firelight. [30]So Jonathan chased after them, but could not overtake them, because they crossed over the Eleutherus River. [31]Then Jonathan turned aside against the Arabs, called Zabadeans, and struck them and took their spoils. [32]He then broke camp and marched to Damascus and throughout all that country.

[33]Meanwhile, Simon went out and marched as far as Askelon and the fortresses nearby, and turned aside to Joppa and captured it. [34]For he heard they wished to hand over the fortress to the men sent by Demetrius. So he established a garrison there to guard it.

[35]When Jonathan returned, he assembled the elders of the people. Together, they decided to build fortresses in Judea, [36]and to make the walls of Jerusalem even higher, and raise a great high wall between the citadel and the city to separate it from the city, so it would be isolated and its garrison could not buy nor sell goods. [37]So they assembled to rebuild the city and part of the wall on the valley to the east that had fallen; thus he repaired the wall that is called Chaphenatha. [38]Simon also built Adida in the Shephelah. They fortified it and set up bolted gates.

Jonathan Captured, Troops Killed

[39]Then Trypho sought to rule Asia, to wear the crown, and to stretch forth his hand against King Antiochus. [40]He also took precautions lest Jonathan would not permit it, but wage war against him. So seeking to capture and destroy him, he marched forth to Beth-shan. [41]Then Jonathan went out to meet him with forty thousand soldiers chosen for battle, and he came to Beth-shan. [42]When Trypho saw that he came with a large army, he was afraid to stretch forth his hand against him. [43]So he received him honorably and met him with all his friends. He gave gifts to Jonathan, and ordered his friends and his own troops to obey him as himself. [44]Then he said to Jonathan, “Why have you troubled all these men? We are not at war! [45]Now send them home; but choose a few soldiers for yourself to be with you. Then come with me to Ptolemais, and I will give it over to you along with the rest of the fortresses and the remaining troops and officers. Then I will turn around and go home, for that is why I came here.”

[46]So Jonathan believed Trypho, and did as he had said and sent away the troops, who departed for the region of Judah. [47]But he kept three thousand soldiers with him, two thousand of which he left in Galilee, and a thousand who went with him. [48]But when Jonathan entered Ptolemais, the men of the city shut the gates and captured him, and they slew with the sword all who entered with him.

[49]Then Trypho sent soldiers and cavalry into Galilee and the Great Plain, to kill all Jonathan’s men. [50]But when the soldiers learned that Jonathan and those with him had been captured and killed, they encouraged each other to keep marching in close formation, ready for attack. [51]But when the pursuers saw them ready to fight for their lives, they retreated. [52]So they all came safely to the land of Judah and cried out for Jonathan and his men. They were exceedingly afraid, and all Israel mourned greatly. [53]Then all the nations surrounding them tried to defeat them, saying, “There is none to lead them or to help them. Now then, let us wage war against them and erase them from memory.”

1 Maccabees 13

Simon Leads His People

[1]Now Simon learned that Trypho had assembled a huge army to march on the land of Judah and crush it. [2]He saw the people were trembling with fear, so he went to Jerusalem and gathered everyone together. [3]He encouraged them, saying, “You know what my brothers and I and my father’s house have done concerning the laws and the sanctuary. You know, too, the wars and the crises we have seen. [4]This is why all my brothers perished, all for the sake of Israel, and only I am left. [5]Now may my life never be safeguarded in time of trouble, for I am in no way better than my brothers. [6]Thus I will avenge my nation and this sanctuary and your wives and children, for all the nations have hatefully gathered to destroy us."

[7]Thus he rekindled the spirit of the people when they heard these words. [8]They responded with a loud voice, saying, "You lead us in place of Judas and your brother. [9]Fight our wars, and we will do everything you tell us." [10]So he gathered all the men of fighting age and rushed to finish the walls of Jerusalem; he fortified the city on all sides. [11]Then he sent Jonathan son of Absalom with a sizable army to Joppa, and he drove out its people and remained there.

Trypho Kills Jonathan

[12]Meanwhile, Trypho left from Ptolemais with a large force to come into the land of Judah. Jonathan accompanied him under guard. [13]Now Simon set up camp in Adida, opposite the plain. [14]When Trypho heard that Simon had risen up in place of his brother Jonathan and was about to face him in battle, he sent men to him, saying, [15]"We are detaining your brother Jonathan because of the silver he owed the royal treasury and for which he is responsible. [16]Now send a hundred talents of silver and two of his sons as hostages, that when he is freed he will not rise up against us; then we will free him." [17]Simon sensed they were speaking to him deceitfully, but he sent for the silver and the sons, lest he arouse great hostility among the people, for they might say, [18]"Because Simon did not give him the money and the sons, Jonathan perished." [19]Then he sent the sons and the hundred talents. But Trypho acted with deceit and would not free Jonathan.

[20]Later, Trypho arrived to invade Judah to destroy it, and they circled around the road leading to Adora. But Simon and his army advanced along opposite him every place he went. [21]Then men from the citadel sent ambassadors to Trypho, urging him to come to them through the desert and send food for them. [22]Trypho then prepared all his cavalry to come, but there was a heavy snowfall that night, and he could not march through the deep snow. Instead, he departed and went into Gilead. [23]But when he came near Bascama, he slew Jonathan and buried him there. [24]Then Trypho turned and went to his own country.

25 Simon sent men and gathered the remains of his brother Jonathan and buried him in Modein, the city of his fathers. 26 All Israel mourned him with great lament for many days. 27 Simon also built up the tomb of his father and brothers with polished stone in front and back, making it high enough to be seen. 28 He then built seven pyramids, one opposite the other, for his father and his mother and his four brothers. 29 Around these pyramids he made engines of war, building massive pillars around them, and upon these pillars he placed suits of armor for a perpetual memorial, and alongside the suits of armor he made carved ships, so they could be seen by everyone sailing the sea. 30 This tomb which he made in Modein exists until this day.

Demetrius II Honors Simon

31 Now Trypho also dealt wickedly with young Antiochus the king and murdered him. 32 Then he became king in his place and wore the crown of Asia, bringing great adversity to the land. 33 Simon thus strengthened the fortresses in Judea, surrounding them with high towers and with thick walls and gates and bolts, storing provisions in the fortresses. 34 Also Simon selected men and sent them to King Demetrius to bring relief for the country, for all Trypho's actions were violent. 35 Then the king sent him a positive answer and wrote him this letter:

> 36 "King Demetrius to Simon the high priest, friend of kings, and to the > elders and the Jewish nation, greetings. 37 We received the crown of gold > and the palm branch you sent. We are ready to declare general peace with > you and to order our officials to cancel your taxes. 38 Indeed, all the grants > we made to you stay intact, and let the fortresses you built remain in your > keeping. 39 We also forgive the mistakes committed up to the present day > as well, and remove the crown tax you owe. If any other tax has been > exacted in Jerusalem, let it be no longer exacted. 40 If some of your men > are suited for enrollment in our bodyguard, let them be enrolled. And may > there be peace among us."

41 The yoke of the Gentiles was lifted from Israel in the one hundred and seventieth year. 42 Then the people began to record in their letters and contracts, "In the first year of Simon, the great high priest and commander and ruler of the Jews."

Simon Secures Gazara and Jerusalem

[43]In those days Simon camped at Gazara, surrounding it with soldiers. He also built an engine of war, brought it to the city, and struck and seized one tower. [44]Then the men in the siege engine jumped out and ran into the city, and there was a great commotion in Gazara. [45]The men in the city also climbed up onto the wall with their wives and children, tearing their clothes and crying with a loud voice, pleading with Simon to make peace with them. [46]They said, “Treat us not according to our evil deeds, but according to your mercy.” [47]So Simon made an agreement with them and ceased waging war against them. But he cast them out of the city and purified the houses that contained idols. Thus he entered Gazara with hymns and blessings. [48]He also cast out all uncleanness from it and settled men there who would keep the law. Then he fortified it and built a dwelling there for himself.

[49]But the men in the citadel at Jerusalem were prevented from coming and going in the region to buy and to sell. So they were extremely hungry; even the strong among them were dying of hunger. [50]When they called out to Simon to be at peace with them, he did so and then cast them out from there, purifying the citadel from its defilements. [51]They entered it on the twenty-third day of the second month of the one hundred and seventy-first year with praise and palm branches, and with lyres, cymbals, and stringed instruments, and with hymns and songs, because a great enemy had been defeated and cast out of Israel. [52]Thus Simon ordered that each year they should commemorate this day with jubilation. When the temple mount was fortified along with the citadel, he himself and his men lived there. [53]Then Simon noted that his son John had reached adulthood. So he appointed him commander of all the army, and he lived in Gazara.

1 Maccabees 14

A Tribute to Simon

[1]Then in the one hundred and seventy-second year, King Demetrius gathered his troops and went into Media to enlist help for himself to wage war against Trypho. [2]When Arsaces, king of Persia and Media, learned that Demetrius had entered his borders, he sent one of his officers to capture him alive. [3]So he set out and attacked the camp of Demetrius, and captured him and brought him to Arsaces, who put him in prison.

[4]The land of Judah was peaceful all the days of Simon,
And he sought the good of his nation,
And his leadership and his glory pleased them all his days.
[5]Then in all his glory he took Joppa for a harbor
And made an entrance to the islands of the sea.
[6]He enlarged his nation's borders
And gained control of his country.
[7]He also gathered many captives
And ruled Gazara and Beth-zur and the citadel.
When he removed from it the uncleanness,
No one opposed him.
[8]They farmed their land in peace,
And the land gave forth its produce,
And the trees of the plain their fruit.
[9]Elders sat in the streets,
Talking together of good things;
And the young men wore the glories and apparel of war.
[10]He supplied the cities with food
And furnished them with weapons of defense,
Until his fame spread to the ends of the earth.
[11]He established peace in the land,
And Israel rejoiced with great delight.
[12]Each one sat under his vine and fig tree,
And no one made them afraid.
[13]He caused war to cease in the land,
And kings were defeated in those days.
[14]He fortified all the humble among his people;
He demanded adherence to the law
And removed all the lawless and evil men.
[15]He beautified the sanctuary
And multiplied the vessels of the sanctuary.

Alliances Renewed with Rome and Sparta

[16]When it was heard in Rome and as far away as Sparta that Jonathan had died, they were in great sorrow. [17]But when they heard that his brother Simon had been made high priest in his place and was ruling over the land and the cities in it, [18]they wrote to him on bronze plaques to renew the friendship and alliance they had built with him and with his brothers Judas and Jonathan.

19 These tablets were read before all the people gathered in Jerusalem.
20 This is a copy of the letters the Spartans sent:

> "The leaders and the city of the Spartans, to Simon, the high priest, and the elders and the priests, and to all the Jewish people, our brothers, greetings. 21 The ambassadors who were sent by you to our people told us about your glory and honor, and we were overjoyed at their coming. 22 So we recorded what was said by them in our public decrees as follows: 'Numenius, son of Antiochus, and Antipater, the son of Jason, ambassadors of the Jews, came to renew their friendship with us. 23 Our citizens were pleased to receive them honorably and to place a copy of their words in the public archives, so the people of the Spartans might have a record of them. They also sent a copy of this to Simon the high priest.' "

24 Later, Simon dispatched Numenius to Rome with a large gold shield that weighed a thousand minas, to verify the alliance with them.

A Bronze Plaque for Simon

25 The people heard these words and they said, "How can we show our gratitude to Simon and his sons? 26 For he, his brothers, and his father's house stood strong and waged war with the enemies of Israel by themselves, and secured her freedom." So they wrote these words on bronze tablets and put them on the pillars on Mount Zion, 27 and this is a copy of what they wrote:

> "On the eighteenth day of Elul, in the hundred and seventy-second year, which is the third year of the great high priest Simon in the court of God's people, 28 at the large gathering of the priests and people and the rulers of the nation and the elders of the land, the following was made known to us:
> 29 "Since there have often been wars in the country, Simon the son of Mattathias, priest of the sons of Joarib, with his brothers, placed themselves at risk and opposed their nation's adversaries, so their sanctuary and the law would be protected; and they honored their nation with great glory. 30 Jonathan also rallied their nation, was made their high priest, and was brought before his people. 31 When their adversaries chose to invade their country and seize their sanctuary, 32 Simon set out to wage war for his country. He spent large amounts of his own money, and supplied weapons to the soldiers in his nation's army, and paid them wages. [33]Thus he strengthened the cities of Judea, and Beth-zur on the boundary of Judea, where the weapons of the enemy were kept; and he established there a garrison of Jews. [34]He also strengthened Joppa by the sea and Gazara on the boundary of Azotus, where the enemy had previously lived. He moved the Jews there and supplied them with whatever they needed for their welfare.

[35]"When the people saw Simon's dependability and the glory he was committed to bring to his nation, they chose him as their ruler and high priest, because he did all these things and because of the righteousness and good faith he kept toward his nation. In every way he tried to honor his people. [36]Under his rule, everything he touched prospered, and he drove out the Gentiles from the land. The men in the city of David in Jerusalem had made a citadel for themselves, from which they went out and defiled the vicinity of the sanctuary and caused great harm to its purity. [37]Then he settled Jews in it and strengthened it for the security of the country and the city, and built up the walls of Jerusalem to greater heights.

[38]"In light of these accomplishments, King Demetrius established him in the high priesthood. [39]He also made him one of his friends and showed him great honor. [40]For he heard the Jews were called friends, allies, and brothers by the Romans and that they had received Simon's ambassadors with honor.

[41]"Thus the Jews and the priests were pleased that Simon should be their ruler and high priest forever, until a faithful prophet should arise. [42]They were also pleased that he should be their governor, and take responsibility for the sanctuary and choose workers to meet its needs, and to look after the country, the weapons and the fortresses. [43]Indeed they decided he should look after the sanctuary and be obeyed by all, that all the contracts of the nation should be drafted with his signature, and that he should be vested in purple and gold.

[44]"None of the people or the priests were to be allowed to repeal any of these things, or say anything in opposition to him, or hold an assembly of the people without him, or be clothed in purple, or wear a gold buckle. [45]Anyone who should do anything contrary to these decisions or nullify any of them was to be held liable.

[46]"All the people resolved that Simon should act according to these decisions. [47]So Simon consented, agreeing to become high priest, and to be the governor and ethnarch of the Jews and priests and the guardian of all."

48They commanded that this decree be inscribed on bronze tablets and be put in a public place near the sanctuary. 49Copies were also placed in the treasury, accessible to Simon and his sons.

1 Maccabees 15

Antiochus VII Seeks Simon's Help

1 Then Antiochus, son of King Demetrius, sent a letter from the islands of the sea to Simon, the high priest and ethnarch of the Jews, and to all the nation. 2It contained the following:

"Antiochus the King to Simon, high priest and ethnarch, and the nation of the Jews, greetings. 3Since certain troublemakers gained the mastery over the kingdom of our fathers, I wish to lay claim to the kingdom so I can establish it as it was before. I have recruited a multitude of troops and prepared war ships. 4I plan to go throughout the nation, that I may pursue those who laid our country to ruin and desolated many of its cities. 5Now therefore, I validate your tax remissions, which the kings before me forgave you, and whatever other payments they remitted for you. 6I also authorize you to make your own coinage as money for your nation, 7and allow Jerusalem and the sanctuary to be free. All the weapons you prepared and the fortresses you built, which you seized, let them remain with you. 8Every money you owe the royal treasury, as well as future debts, let them be remitted from now on and for all time. 9As soon as we regain control of our kingdom, we will honor you and your nation and the temple with great glory, that your glory may be evident in all the earth."

10In the one hundred seventy-fourth year, King Antiochus went to the land of his fathers and all his soldiers went with him. Few sided with Trypho. 11When Antiochus went after him, he fled to Dora by sea, 12for he knew that calamity had come upon him. His armies deserted him. 13Then Antiochus set up camp opposite Dora with one hundred and twenty thousand fighting men and eight thousand cavalry. 14He encircled the city, and the ships joined the battle from the sea. So he pressed hard against the city by land and sea and did not allow anyone to leave or enter.

The Jews Receive Rome's Support

15 Then Numenius and his men came from Rome with letters to the kings and their countries, in which the following was contained:

> 16 "Lucius, the Roman consul, to Ptolemy the king, greetings. 17 The > ambassadors of the Jews came to us as friends and allies to renew their > longstanding friendship and alliance. They were sent from Simon, the > high priest, and by the Jewish people, 18 and brought a gold shield of a > thousand minas. 19 Therefore it pleased us to write the kings and their > countries, that they not seek to hurt them or wage war against them and > their cities and country, or form alignments with those who fight them.
> 20 It seems right to accept the shield from them. 21 If therefore any > troublemakers have escaped from their country to you, give them over to > Simon the high priest, that he might prosecute them according to their > law."

22 The consul wrote identical letters to King Demetrius, and to Attalus, Ariarathes, and Arsaces, 23 and to all the nations, to Sampsames, and the Spartans, and to Delos, Myndos, Sieyon, Caria, Samos, Pamphylia, Lycia, Halicarnassus, Rhodes, Phaselis, Cos, Side, Arados, Gortyna, Cnidus,
Cyprus, and Cyrene. 24 They also sent a copy to Simon the high priest.

Antiochus VII Turns on Simon

25 Meanwhile, King Antiochus besieged Dora a second time, repeatedly launching his forces against it and building engines of war. He put Trypho in confinement, so he could neither go out or go in. 26 Then Simon sent Antiochus two thousand chosen men as allies, along with silver, gold, and considerable weaponry. 27 But Antiochus decided not to accept these things; he broke all the former agreements he had made with Simon, becoming estranged from him. 28 Then he sent Athenobius, one of his friends, to confer with him, saying, "You control Joppa, Gazara, and the citadel in Jerusalem; they are cities of my kingdom. 29 You desolated their territory and caused great damage in the land; and you rule over many places in my kingdom.
30 Now therefore, give back the cities you took and the taxes from the places you rule outside the boundaries of Judea. 31 Otherwise, give me five hundred talents of silver for them, as well as five hundred talents more for the destruction you caused and for the tribute of the cities; or else we will wage war and defeat you."

32 When Athenobius, the friend of the king, entered Jerusalem and saw the glory of Simon and the sideboard plated with gold and silver, a magnificent display, he stood amazed. Then he reported the words of the king to him. [33]Thus Simon answered and said to him, “We have not taken any foreign land, nor have we captured foreign property, but only the inheritance of our fathers, which years ago was seized unjustly by our adversaries. [34]But now that we have occasion, we are holding firmly to the inheritance of our fathers. [35]And as for Joppa and Gazara, which you want, their people were causing great damage to our people and our country. For them we will give you one hundred talents.” [36]Athenobius said not a word in reply, but returned to the king in anger. When he relayed to him these words, plus Simon’s splendor and everything he witnessed, the king was extremely enraged.

[37]Now Trypho had boarded a ship and escaped to Orthosia. [38]So the king made Cendebeus his commander-in-chief of the seacoast and gave him infantry soldiers and cavalry. [39]He then ordered him to encamp opposite Judea, and further ordered him to build Kedron and strengthen its gates, and to wage war against the people. But the king himself pursued Trypho. [40]When Cendebeus arrived in Jamnia, he began to harass the people. He also invaded Judea, took people captive, and killed them. [41]Then he built up Kedron and stationed cavalry and soldiers there, so they could march through the roads of Judea, making roads as the king commanded him.

1 Maccabees 16

Simon’s Sons Defeat Cendebeus

[1]Then John traveled from Gazara and told his father Simon the damage Cendebeus was inflicting. [2]So Simon called his two oldest sons, Judas and John, and said to them, “My brothers and I and my father’s house have fought Israel’s battles from our youth until this very day. Things have gone well for us, so as to rescue Israel many times over. [3]Now I have become old, and you by His mercy are men of maturity. Take over my position and my brother’s role and go fight for our country, and may the help sent from heaven be yours.”

[4]Thus John chose twenty thousand fighting men and cavalry from the country. Together they marched toward Cendebeus and encamped overnight in Modein. [5]They arose early, marching to the plain. Behold, a huge army was marching out to meet them, infantry and cavalry, and there was a stream between them. [6]John and his army faced off against them, and when he saw that his troops were afraid to ford the stream, he crossed first. His soldiers saw him and crossed behind him. [7]He then divided up the men, putting the cavalry in the middle of the infantry, for the enemy's cavalry was very large. [8]When they sounded the trumpet, Cendebeus and his army were routed, and numbers of them fell wounded. The rest of them fled into the fortress. [9]Then Judas, the brother of John, was wounded, but John pursued them until Cendebeus reached Kedron, where he had done construction. [10]When they ran into the towers in the fields of Azotus, John set them afire, and roughly two thousand of their men perished. Then he returned to Judea in peace.

John Succeeds Simon

[11]Now Ptolemy, the son of Abubus, had been made governor to rule over the plain of Jericho. He had large hoards of silver and gold, [12]for he was the son-in-law of the high priest. [13]He was optimistic and full of determination to seize control of the country. So he developed an evil strategy to seize Simon and his sons by trickery.

[14]Now Simon was paying a visit to the cities throughout the country, concentrating on their needs. So he went down to Jericho along with his sons Mattathias and Judas in the one hundred and seventy-seventh year, in the eleventh month, the month of Shebat. [15]The son of Abubus received them with deceit in the little fortress called Dok, which he had erected, and he gave them a grand feast and hid the men there. [16]So when Simon and his sons became drunk, Ptolemy and his soldiers emerged and grabbed their weapons. When they encountered Simon in the banquet hall, they murdered him along with his two sons and certain of his servants. [17]Indeed, Ptolemy committed great treachery, returning evil for good.

[18]Ptolemy then drafted a report to the king about these things and asked that he might send him soldiers to help, and to secure their country and cities. [19]He also dispatched soldiers to Gazara to seize John, and sent letters to military tribunes to come to him, so he might give them silver, gold, and gifts. [20]Then he sent others to capture Jerusalem and the temple hill. [21]But somebody ran ahead and told John in Gazara that his father and his brothers had been killed and that "he has sent men to kill you as well." [22]When John heard this, he was deeply shocked. He captured the soldiers who came to crush him and killed them; for he discovered they were there to kill him.

[23]The rest of John's words and his war history and brave acts, which he did so courageously, plus the heightening of the walls which he built, and his other accomplishments, [24]behold, they are written in the book of his high priesthood, from when he was first made high priest following his father.

Annotations for 1 Maccabees

1:1 Alexander is Alexander the Great.

1:8, 9 According to the historian Josephus, Alexander's generals divided his empire into several dynastic houses: Ptolemy in Egypt, Seleucis in Babylon, Lysimachus in Hellespont, Cassander in Macedonia, and Antigonus in Asia.

1:11–15 Those sons of Israel who wanted to introduce Greek culture into Jewish life were called Hellenists. They sought to overthrow the legitimate high priest Onias III and succeeded in having one of their own, Onias' brother Jason, appointed high priest by Antiochus IV (2Mc 4). Jason built a gymnasium where young Jews competed alongside the Greeks. Many Jewish men underwent painful operations to hide their circumcision.

1:16–19 Antiochus IV campaigned against Ptolemy IV (reigned 180–145 BC) in Egypt from 170 to 168 BC.

1:20–24 Antiochus entered Jerusalem, pillaging the temple to pay his war debts.

1:29–35 Apollonius the Mysarch, a commander of Mysian mercenaries, erected a citadel (v. 33) known as the Acra (lit. "Acropolis") on the temple mount, just north of the temple itself, where he installed a Phrygian named Philip as governor (Josephus).

1:41–53 Antiochus the king abandoned his dream of rebuilding Alexander's kingdom for the more modest goal of consolidating his own empire. He decreed that the Jews were to abandon their religion (v. 42) because it was considered politically disruptive. Any Jew who refused to sacrifice to the Greek gods on behalf of the emperor (vv. 44–49) was tortured and killed (v. 50).

1:54 Inside the temple, Antiochus erected the abomination of desolation (Dan 9:27), either a statue of Zeus sculpted in the likeness of the emperor or some cultic stones. Until that time, the temple had been the focal point of the Jewish nation and faith. Jews made three pilgrimages there each year, at the feasts of Passover, Pentecost, and Tabernacles.

1:62–64 Unclean food involved the sacrifice of swine to Zeus. Josephus the historian notes that while the Jews were being persecuted, their Samaritan neighbors lied to Antiochus, calling themselves a colony of Medes and Persians, not Jews. He reports they even went so far as to have their temple on Mount Gerizim dedicated to Jupiter Hellenius.

2:1–5 Mattathias of the House of Hashmon fled the Hellenizing evils of Jerusalem with his five sons (later known as the Hasmoneans). They moved to Modein, a rural town seventeen miles northwest of Jerusalem. It was common for Jews of the time to have both a Jewish and a Greek name. Judas was also called Maccabeus, hence the family was called "the Maccabees."

2:15–18 The king's officers sought to induce Mattathias to sacrifice first. They reasoned that the others from Israel would surely follow his lead.

2:24–26 Elsewhere in Israel, Jews had either been compliant or faced death willingly (1:63), so it is very possible Mattathias and his allies surprised and overcame a small troop of Antiochus' soldiers. Their sense of security as an occupying force may have made them careless; and they certainly did not expect a rebellion from the "docile" Jews.

2:27, 28 Mattathias and his sons fled to a retreat in the Gophna mountains, located in southern Samaria. In this way, they avoided the jurisdiction of the Seleucid commander of Judea and could remain unmolested for a time.

2:32–38 It was forbidden for Jews to fight on the Sabbath (Ex 31:12–18), and Antiochus' soldiers took full advantage of this fact (v. 38).

2:39–41 Mattathias and the Jews realized they would be slaughtered if they chose not to defend themselves on the Sabbath. In a truly radical statement for their day, the Maccabees foreshadowed Jesus' words, "The Sabbath was made for man, and not man for the Sabbath" (Mk 2:27).

2:42–48 The Hasideans were Jews who strictly upheld the law. Together with Mattathias they began cleansing Israel of impurity, attacking both Gentiles and Jewish traitors.

2:65–68 Mattathias designated his son Judas Maccabeus as his military successor. Judas had likely developed a natural instinct for guerrilla warfare while hunting and herding in the Judean hill country.

3:32–41 Lysias sent three generals (v. 38) to camp at Emmaus (v. 40—today's Imwas, next to Latrum) where they could send out spies to avoid Judah's traps.

3:42–44 In addition to his hand-picked soldiers, Judas operated a large militia system, whereby men could be called from their everyday tasks through an intricate network of runners. These "spies" also kept him informed as to the words of the king and the whereabouts of the Seleucid army.

4:8–11 Beyond his military prowess, Judas was the spiritual leader of his people as well.

4:52–59 Judas and his followers celebrated the first Festival of Rededication, which the historian Josephus calls the "Festival of Lights." The celebration lasted eight days, beginning on the twenty-fifth of Chislev (December). Today the festival is called Hanukkah (lit. "dedication") and is celebrated with the lighting of the Hanukkah lamp. According to the Babylonian Talmud, the Hasmoneans found only one undefiled container of oil left in the temple. Miraculously, it lasted for eight full days.

5:1–8 Judas and company marched out to rescue those Jews under heavy persecution by the Seleucid sympathizers in Judea. For consolidation purposes, Judas waged war on the Idumeans at Acrabattene, the sons of Baean, the Amalekites under Timothy, and the people of Jazer.

5:28–34 Judas encountered Timothy again, struck him a great blow, and captured his engines of war. Later, Judah used the siege equipment to tackle the Acra fortress.

5:55–62 Joseph and Azariah failed because they did not belong, nor were they divinely sanctioned members of the Hasmonean family (v. 62). Instead of following God's appointed leaders, they proudly sought their own glorification (v. 57).

6:1–4 Antiochus tried to steal the famed temple treasures of the Alexandrians but was thwarted by the men of Elymais, the part of Elam not controlled by the Seleucids. He was after his hero Alexander the Great's armor, said to be housed in the temple.

6:34–37 Lysias chose elephants not only for their innate ability as fighters, but for use in frightening the Jews, who had not encountered them before. In v. 35, phalanxes are heavily armed troops marching in close array, and coats of mail refers to flexible armor consisting of a mesh of interlinked metal rings used defensively in battle.

6:43–46 Eleazar bravely tried to kill Antiochus and overcome the Jews' fear of the elephants.

6:53 Some of the Jewish forces remaining in Judea barely held out for lack of food. God had commanded them to leave the earth fallow every seventh year (Ex 23:10, 11), so they had little surplus.

7:1–4 Demetrius I (reigned 162–150 BC), the son of emperor Seleucus IV (assassinated by Antiochus IV), was sent to Rome under the Treaty of Apamea and kept there by the Senate after they repeatedly refused to let him return home (Polybius). He escaped to the Syrian coast with the help of Polybius and his friend Menyllus, an envoy of Ptolemy VI Philometer of Egypt. Once in Tripolis, Demetrius set himself up as the true Seleucid emperor (Josephus).

7:5 High priest Alcimus was accepted by the Hasidic Jews for his Aaronic background and elected by Demetrius (or possibly earlier by Lysias) for his Hellenistic sympathies.

7:23 Judas refused to recognize a high priest appointed by Demetrius.

7:26–49 Nicanor was one of those who had escaped from Rome with Demetrius (Josephus). His death occurred on the thirteenth day of Adar (v. 49; roughly March) in 161 BC and is still observed as the Day of Nicanor.

8:1–16 Polybius (c. 160 BC) claimed that by his time the Romans had cleared the people of Gaul (Celtic migrants) from the Po valley up to the Alps. Rome then assumed the domain of Alexander the Great following their victory over Philip of Macedonia (v. 5) at Cynoscephalae in 197 BC, and his son Perseus at Pydna in 168 BC. Under Scipio, the Romans took Spain from the Carthaginians after the Second Punic War (202 BC) and the final defeat of Hannibal.

9:28–30 The Jews elected Jonathan as their new military leader in 159 BC. When Bacchides found out about the election, he tried to have Jonathan assassinated (v. 32). When that failed, he marched after the Jews on the Sabbath, thinking that he would take them by surprise (v. 34).

9:35–42 One of the remaining brothers, John, was killed by the sons of Jambri, apparently a local tribe, while journeying to the Nabateans in the Transjordan (Josephus).

9:54 The wall of the inner court of the temple had multiple functions. First, it separated the priests from the laity. Secondly, it divided the men from the women. Lastly and most importantly, it kept Gentiles from entering the sacred areas of the temple.

9:71 Bacchides finally realized that the Maccabees were the controlling force in Judean politics, so he made peace with them.

10:84 Dagon (lit. "a fish") was one of the gods of the Philistines, a seafaring people, and was represented by a man's torso with the tail of a fish. Dagon had two temples mentioned in the Bible, one at Gaza (Jdg 16:21–30) and one at Ashdod (1Kg 5:5; 1Ch 10:10).

10:88, 89 Alexander recognized Jonathan as an equal—a far cry from the Jews' rebel days in the Gophna hills.

11:67–74 The foreign army was from a conglomerate of tribes trying to take advantage of the struggle Jonathan faced against Demetrius.

13:1–11 The last of the original Maccabees, Simon was elected to take Jonathan's place as military and spiritual leader of Judea.

13:12–19 When Simon learned that Jonathan was still alive—they had thought he was dead—and being held captive, he negotiated with Trypho, who double-crossed him.

13:22 A providential snow storm stopped Trypho short of crushing the Maccabees.

13:23–30 Jonathan was killed at Bascama in 142 BC (Josephus). Simon recovered the body and buried it at Modein with the rest of their family.

13:31, 32 Trypho was the first king not of the Seleucid house. According to Josephus, Trypho had his physicians tell the public Antiochus had died during surgery while they were trying to remove "a stone."

13:42 Historians consider Simon the first ruler of the Hasmonean dynasty. After years of warfare, the Jews were finally freed from the yoke of the Seleucids.

13:43–53 Simon defeated Gazara and set up his son, John, as commander of forces (v. 53) and as high priest (16:24) from 134–104 BC. The citadel garrison, half starved, also gave in to Simon, who entered triumphantly (vv. 49, 50). This fortress was the final Seleucid stronghold, and its overthrow symbolized the hard-won freedom of the Jewish people.

14:26 The bronze tablets served as a national declaration of independence for the Jewish nation and as a kind of constitution for the Hasmonean government.

16:1–3 John was the third son of Simon. He reigned from 134–104 BC.

16:21 Ptolemy tried to kill John as well, but John's informers reached him first.

16:23, 24 Later, after Antiochus besieged Jerusalem, he and John struck a treaty of peace. During the siege, Antiochus became known as "the pious" when he halted the war with the Jews for seven days and sent two adorned bulls into the city during the Feast of Tabernacles (Josephus).

The Second Book of the Maccabees

Author

The author is unknown, but it is certainly not the author of 1 Maccabees. This author was most probably a Jew from Palestine who abbreviated or summarized a five-volume work by Jason of Cyrene (2:19–32), who wrote in Greek.

Date

About 124 BC or later. The bulk of Jason's five-volume work spans 180–160 BC.

Major Theme

God takes care of the Jewish people by rewarding those who are faithful to the Law and punishing evildoers. This is a story of the weak overcoming the mighty because they pray to God, trust in Him, and obey His laws. The main character, Judas Maccabeus, brings deliverance to the persecuted Jewish community through his victories.

Background

The story begins with two letters from Jerusalem to the Jews in Alexandria, Egypt, urging them to celebrate the rededication of the temple in Jerusalem (the feast of Hanukkah) and to resist the pagans. The author then proceeds to summarize the five-volume work of Jason of Cyrene concerning the exploits of Judas Maccabeus and his family.

Outline

I. Introduction (1:1–2:32)
- A. Letter to the Jews in Egypt (1:1–9)

2 Maccabees 1

Letter to the Jews in Egypt

1 “The Jewish brothers in Jerusalem and the land of Judea, to their Jewish brothers in Egypt: Greetings and good peace.

2 “May God do good to you, and may He remember His covenant with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, His faithful servants. 3 May He give all of you a heart to worship Him and do His will with a strong heart and willing soul.
4 May He open your heart to His law and His commandments, and may He bring you peace. 5 May He hear your prayers and be reconciled to you, and may He not forsake you in an evil time. 6 We are now praying for you here.

7 “In the one hundred and sixty-ninth year, in the reign of Demetrius, we Jews wrote to you at the culminating point of the affliction that came upon us, in those years from the time Jason and his followers revolted against the holy land and the kingdom, 8 and burned the gate and shed innocent blood.
We prayed to the Lord and we were heard. So we offered sacrifice and fine flour, lit the lamps, and set out the loaves. 9 Now then, celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles in the month of Chislev, in the one hundred and eighty-eighth year.”

Letter to Aristobulus and Those in Egypt

10 “Those in Jerusalem and in Judea, and the senate and Judas, to Aristobulus, who is from the family of the anointed priests and is the teacher of Ptolemy the king, and to the Jews who are in Egypt, greetings and good health.

Thanksgiving for Protection

11 “Since we were saved by God from great dangers, we thank Him abundantly as those drawn up in battle order against a king. 12 For He drove out those who fought against the holy city. 13 And when Antiochus their leader reached Persia with a force around him that seemed irresistible, they were cut to pieces in the temple of Nanea through a deception employed by the priests of Nanea. 14 For Antiochus, together with his friends, arrived at the temple to marry her, for the sake of obtaining most of its treasures as a dowry. [15]When the priests of the temple of Nanea set out the treasures, and Antiochus, with a few men, had come inside the enclosed wall of the sacred precinct, they closed the temple as soon as he entered it. [16]Then they opened the secret door of the ceiling and threw stones. They struck down the governor and his men, dismembered them, and took their heads and threw them to the people outside. [17]Blessed in every way be our God, who delivered up the ungodly men.

The Holy Fire

[18]"Since on the twenty-fifth day of Chislev we will celebrate the purification of the temple, we thought it needful to notify you that you might also celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles and the feast of the fire, when Nehemiah, who built the temple and the altar, offered sacrifices. [19]For when our fathers were led captive to Persia, the pious priests of that time took some of the fire off the altar and hid it secretly in the hollow of a dry well, where they sealed it, so the place would be unknown to anyone. [20]But after enough years had passed, when it pleased God, Nehemiah was sent away by the king of Persia, and he appointed the descendants of the priests who hid the fire to get it. When they reported to us that they had not found the fire but rather a thick liquid, he commanded them to dip it out and bring it. [21]But when the things of the sacrifices were brought to be offered, Nehemiah told the priests to sprinkle the liquid on the wood and the things laid upon it. [22]When this was done and some time had elapsed, and the sun, which had been clouded over, shone forth, a great fire flared up, causing everyone to marvel. [23]While the sacrifice was being consumed, the priests and everyone offered prayer. Jonathan led and all the rest responded, as did Nehemiah.

The Prayer of Nehemiah

[24]"The prayer was offered as follows: 'O Lord, Lord God, Creator of all things, fearful, mighty, righteous, and merciful, the only King and Good One, [25]You only are bountiful, alone righteous, almighty, and eternal. You save Israel from every evil, and You chose our fathers and sanctified them. [26]Accept this sacrifice on behalf of all Your people Israel, and protect Your portion, and sanctify it. [27]Gather our scattered people, free those enslaved among the Gentiles, look upon the rejected and despised, and make the Gentiles know that You are our God. [28]Torment the oppressors and those insolent with arrogance. [29]Plant Your people in Your holy place, as Moses said.’

30“Then the priests sang hymns, 31and when the things of the sacrifice were consumed, Nehemiah ordered that the remaining liquid should be poured upon large stones. 32When this was done, a flame flared up; but when a light from the altar shone in turn, the flame went out. 33Now when this became known, the matter was reported to the king of the Persians. He was told that in the place where the exiled priests had hidden the fire, the liquid had appeared from which Nehemiah and his men purified the sacrifice. 34So the king investigated the matter, enclosed the place, and made it sacred. 35Then the king exchanged many excellent gifts with those he favored. 36Nehemiah and his men called this ‘nephthar,’ which means ‘purification,’ but by most people it is called ‘nephtha.’

2 Maccabees 2

Jeremiah Hides the Text

1“One finds in the records, as it is noted, that Jeremiah the prophet ordered those migrating to take some of the fire. 2The prophet also gave the law to those migrating and commanded them not to forget the Lord’s ordinances, nor be led astray in their thoughts when they happened to see the gold and silver statues and their adornment. 3He also spoke other such words and urged them not to depart from the law in their hearts.

4“It was also written that the prophet received an oracle and ordered that the tabernacle and the ark should accompany him when he went to the mountain where Moses had gone up and had seen the inheritance of God. 5So when Jeremiah went there and found a cave, he brought the tabernacle, the ark, and the altar of incense, and then sealed up the entrance. 6Some who followed him came to mark the way, but they were unable to find it. 7Now when Jeremiah learned of this, he rebuked them and said, ‘The place shall be unknown until God gathers His people again and shows His mercy. 8Then the Lord will disclose these things, and the glory of the Lord and the cloud will be seen, as they were shown to Moses, and as Solomon deemed it worthy that the place should be specially consecrated.’

9“It was also made clear that Solomon in his wisdom offered sacrifice for the consecration and completion of the temple. 10Just as Moses prayed to the Lord and fire came down from heaven and consumed the sacrifice, so

Solomon also prayed, and the fire came down and consumed the whole burnt offerings. [11]Moses said, ‘They were consumed because the sin offering had not been eaten.’ [12]Likewise Solomon also celebrated the eight days.

Memoirs of Nehemiah

[13]“The same things are reported in the records and in the memoirs of Nehemiah, and also that he founded a library and gathered books about the kings and the prophets, and the writings of David, and letters of kings about votive offerings. [14]Likewise Judas also collected all the books, lost on account of the war that came upon us; so they are in our possession. [15]Thus if you have need of them, send people to bring them to you.

[16]“Since then we are about to celebrate the purification, we write to you. Therefore you will do well to celebrate the days. [17]For it is God who saved all His people, and gave back the inheritance to all, and the kingdom, the priesthood, and the consecration, [18]as He promised through the law. For we hope in God that He will have mercy upon us soon and gather us from everywhere under heaven into His holy place; for He delivered us from great evils and has purified the place.”

Author’s Introduction

[19]Now the account of Judas Maccabeus and his brothers, the purification of the great temple, and the consecration of the altar, [20]and moreover, the wars against Antiochus Epiphanes and his son Eupator, [21]and the interventions that came from heaven to those who behaved courageously on behalf of Judaism, who although few in number plundered the whole country and pursued the barbarian multitudes, [22]and recovered control of the temple famous throughout the world, freed the city, and restored the laws that were about to be dissolved, while the Lord with great goodness was merciful to them— [23]all this, which was made clear by Jason of Cyrene in five books, we shall attempt to abridge into a single book.

[24]We realize that a confused mass of material and subject matter makes it too hard on most people who wish to plunge into the narrative of history. [25]Thus we have aimed to help those who wish to read with delight, to make it easy for those who are inclined to memorize, and to appeal to those who read for profit. [26]Therefore for us who have undertaken the difficult task of brevity, this is no easy matter, but one demanding sweat and loss of sleep, [27]as is the case with one who prepares a banquet seeking the benefit of others. All the same, for the sake of the gratitude of many we will gladly endure the uncomfortable toil, [28]leaving the intricate examination of exact details to the compiler, while devoting our labor to arriving at the outlines of the abridgement.

[29]Just as the architect of a new house must be concerned with the whole construction, while the one who decorates it and paints it needs to consider only what is suitable for its adornment, so it seems to me is the case with us. [30]It is fitting for the originator of a history to enter into a thorough discussion of words and be inquisitive about every detail, [31]but one who pursues brevity of narrative must be permitted to forgo exhaustive treatment. [32]Therefore from hereon let us begin our narrative, adding only so much to what has already been said; for it is foolish to lengthen the preface of a history, but cut short the history itself.

2 Maccabees 3

Disagreement between Onias and Simon

[1]When the holy city was inhabited in complete peace, because the laws were very well observed on account of the godliness of the high priest Onias and his hatred of wickedness, [2]it happened that the kings themselves honored the place and glorified the temple with very magnificent gifts. [3]Even Seleucus, the king of Asia, provided revenue at his own expense for all the services of the sacrifices.

[4]But a certain Simon, from the tribe of Benjamin, who had been made protector of the temple, was at variance with the high priest about the administration of the city market. [5]Thus when he could not prevail over Onias, he went to Apollonius, son of Tarsus, who at that time was governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia. [6]He reported to him the untold wealth in the temple treasury at Jerusalem, so much that the funds could not be counted. Furthermore they did not belong to the account of the sacrifices, and it was possible they could fall under the authority of the king.

Heliodorus Dispatched to Jerusalem

[7]When Apollonius met the king, he informed him about the money that was disclosed to him. So the king chose Heliodorus, who was over his affairs, and sent him with orders to remove the aforesaid money. [8]Thus Heliodorus immediately set out on his journey, seemingly to make an inspection of the cities of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, but actually to carry out the king's purpose.

[9]When he arrived in Jerusalem and was kindly received by the high priest of the city, he told about the disclosure and why he had come, and inquired whether this was truly the case. [10]The high priest informed him of the deposits belonging to widows and orphans, [11]and also some money of Hyrcanus, son of Tobias, a man held in very high regard—the value of which totaled four hundred talents of silver and two hundred of gold. All this was contrary to the report of the ungodly Simon. [12]He also told Heliodorus that it was altogether impossible to wrong those who trusted in the holiness of the place and in the dignity and inviolability of the temple honored throughout all the world. [13]But because of the king's orders, Heliodorus said the money must by all means be taken to the king's treasury. [14]So he set a day to go in and direct the inspection of these funds.

There was no little anguish throughout the whole city. [15]The priests prostrated themselves before the altar in their priestly garments and appealed to heaven, to Him who gave the law concerning deposits, to keep them safe for those who deposited them. [16]To see the appearance of the high priest was to be wounded at heart, for his face and the change of his color revealed the anguish in his soul. [17]For alarm and a trembling of body had come upon the man, through which the pain in his heart became evident to those who saw him. [18]People also rushed out of their houses in crowds to make a public supplication, because the place was about to be brought into contempt. [19]Women, girded with sackcloth beneath their breasts, amassed in the streets. Some of the virgins who were kept inside ran together to the gates, some to the walls, and others peeked out the windows. [20]All stretched out their hands to heaven and made entreaty. [21]There was something pitiable in the prostrations of the entire populace and in the anxiety and great anguish of the high priest.

The Lord Stops Heliodorus

[22]So they called upon the Almighty Lord to keep safe and secure what had been entrusted for those who had placed them in trust; [23]but Heliodorus continued with what had been decided. [24]So when he arrived at the treasury with his bodyguard, the Lord of spirits and all authority was already present. He caused such a great manifestation that all who dared to accompany him were panic-stricken at God's power. They turned about and fled in feebleness and terror. [25]For a certain horse appeared to them, having a fearful rider. It was arrayed with a very beautiful pack-saddle, and it rushed furiously at Heliodorus and struck at him with its front hooves. He who sat thereon was seen wearing a full armor of gold. [26]Two other young men also appeared to him, remarkable in bodily strength, very beautiful in grandeur, and illustrious in dress. They stood on each side of him and pummeled him continually, inflicting him with many wounds.

[27]Suddenly Heliodorus fell to the ground, and a deep darkness overcame him. His men then picked him up and put him on a stretcher, [28]and carried him away—this man who had just entered the treasury with a great retinue and all his bodyguard, but now was not able to help himself. So they came to know, and it was clearly proven to be the power of Almighty God. [29]He was speechless because of the divine visitation, being thrown on the ground, deprived of all hope of recovery. [30]The people blessed the Lord, who acted marvelously for His own place. The temple, which a little while earlier had been full of fear and trouble, was now filled with joy and gladness, because the Almighty Lord had appeared.

[31]Certain friends of Heliodorus quickly entreated Onias the high priest to call upon the Most High to grant life to him who was lying there, about at his last breath. [32]So the high priest, suspecting the king might think some foul play was perpetrated by the Jews regarding Heliodorus, offered sacrifice for his recovery. [33]While the high priest was making the offering of atonement, the same young men again appeared to Heliodorus, dressed in the same apparel. They stood and said, "Be very grateful to Onias the high priest, for on his account the Lord has granted you your life. [34]Now since you were punished by heaven, report to all men the majestic power of God." Then having said this, they became invisible.

Heliodorus Gives Thanks to God

[35]Then Heliodorus offered sacrifice to the Lord and made very great vows to Him who had spared his life. So after he gladly received Onias, he returned with his forces to the king. [36]Then he bore testimony to all men about the deeds of the great God which he had seen with his own eyes. [37]When the king asked Heliodorus what kind of man would be suitable to send on another journey to Jerusalem, he replied, [38]"If you have any enemy or plotter against you, send him there, for you will receive him back thoroughly punished, if he should escape at all. For truly there is some power of God about that place. [39]For He who has His dwelling in heaven watches over that place and aids it, and destroys those who come to do it harm."

[40]So this was how things turned out concerning Heliodorus and the preservation of the treasury.

2 Maccabees 4

Simon's Rage

[1]The previously mentioned Simon, who informed about the money and his homeland, spoke evil things against Onias, claiming it was Onias himself who terrified Heliodorus and created the calamity. [2]Simon dared to say that Onias, the man who was the benefactor of the city, the protector of his fellow countrymen, and a zealot for the laws, plotted the whole matter. [3]But when Simon's hatred progressed to the point that even murders were committed by those he approved, [4]Onias realized the danger of Simon's love of strife, and that Apollonius, son of Menestheus and governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, was even intensifying Simon's malice. [5]So he went to the king, not to accuse his fellow citizens, but to look out for the common good, both public and private. [6]For he saw that without the king's attention, matters could not reach a peaceful settlement, and that Simon would not cease from his fury.

Jason Makes the Jews Learn Greek Customs

[7]When Seleucus died and Antiochus, also called Epiphanes, succeeded to the kingdom, Jason the brother of Onias obtained the high priesthood by corruption. [8]For through a petition, he promised the king three hundred and sixty talents of silver, and from another source of revenue, eighty talents. [9]In addition to this, he promised to pay one hundred and fifty more if the king gave him permission to establish a gymnasium as a place for training young men, and for enrolling the men of Jerusalem as citizens of Antioch. [10]When the king assented and Jason seized the high priesthood, he at once changed his countrymen over to the Greek way of life. [11]He set aside the royal benefits to the Jews brought about through John, the father of Eupolemus, the ambassador who established friendship and alliance with the Romans. He also renounced and destroyed conformity to the laws, and created a new civic life contrary to the customs. [12]For he eagerly founded a gymnasium under the citadel itself, and persuaded the most noble of the young men to wear the Greek cap.

[13]So there was the fullest expression of Hellenization and the adoption of foreign customs because of the surpassing wickedness of Jason, who was ungodly and not a true high priest. [14]Therefore the priests were no longer eager to serve at the altar, but they despised the temple and neglected the sacrifices. Instead, they hastened to take part in the unlawful proceedings in the wrestling-school after the invitation to the discus. [15]They counted the honors of their fathers as nothing, but regarded Greek honors as the best. [16]For this reason, difficult circumstances overtook them, and those whose way of life they admired and wished altogether to assimilate became their enemies and punished them. [17]For to act in an ungodly way against the divine laws is no light thing; but the following events will make this clear.

[18]When the quadrennial games were being held at Tyre and the king was present, [19]the vile Jason sent ambassadors, since they were Antiochian citizens from Jerusalem, to carry three hundred silver drachmas for a sacrifice to Hercules. Those who carried the money, however, considered it inappropriate and best not to use the money for sacrifice, but to expend it for another purpose. [20]So this money, intended by the sender for the sacrifice to Hercules, was by the decision of those who carried it applied to the construction of battleships.

[21]When Apollonius the son of Menestheus was sent to Egypt to share in the festal proclamation of King Philometor, Antiochus learned that Philometor had become hostile to his government. So he was concerned for his own safety. Therefore, after he reached Joppa, he went on to Jerusalem. [22]He was magnificently received by Jason and the city, being ushered in with torches and shouts. Then he encamped in Phoenicia.

Menelaus Buys the High Priesthood

[23]Then after a period of three years, Jason sent Menelaus, son of the previously mentioned Simon, to carry the money to the king and to complete the records of necessary business. [24]But when he was commended to the king, Menelaus honored him with an appearance of authority and obtained the high priesthood for himself, outbidding Jason by three hundred talents of silver. [25]After he received the king’s orders, although in no way worthy of the high priesthood, he returned, carrying the rage and savage cruelty of a tyrant and a wild beast and having the wrath of a barbarian. [26]Thus Jason, after he undermined his own brother, was undermined by another, and was driven as a fugitive into the land of the Ammonites.

[27]So Menelaus took hold of the high priesthood, but he did not pay regularly any of the money promised to the king. [28]Thus when Sostratus the commander of the citadel kept demanding payment, since the collection of revenue was his responsibility, the two of them were summoned before the king on this account. [29]Menelaus left his own brother Lysimachus as his court official in the high priesthood, while Sostratus left Crates in charge of his Cyprian troops.

Onias Is Murdered

[30]While these things were taking place, it came about that the cities of Tarsus and Mallus revolted because they were given as a gift to Antiochis, the king's concubine. [31]So the king went quickly to put down the rebellion. He left Andronicus, a man highly regarded, to act as his regent. [32]But Menelaus, thinking he had gained a convenient opportunity, pilfered some of the gold vessels from the temple and gave them to Andronicus. As it happened, he had already sold other vessels to Tyre and the neighboring cities. [33]But when Onias found out exactly what had taken place, he condemned these acts, after he departed to a safe place at Daphne, located near Antioch. [34]Therefore Menelaus took Andronicus aside and urged him to kill Onias. Thus Andronicus went to Onias and persuaded him with deceit. He welcomed him with sworn pledges and gave him his right hand. Although Onias was suspicious, Andronicus persuaded him to come out of his place of sanctuary. Then, with no sense of justice, he immediately put him to death.

[35]For this reason, not only the Jews, but also many of the other nations, took offense and were angry at the unjust murder of the man. [36]So when the king returned from the region of Cilicia, the Jews in the city pleaded with him regarding the senseless murder of Onias, and the Greeks also felt the common hatred of the crime. [37]Therefore Antiochus was grieved at heart and filled with pity; and he wept on account of the decency and good behavior of the deceased. [38]Inflamed with anger, he immediately stripped off the purple robe from Andronicus and tore off his garments. Then he led him around the whole city to that very place where he sinned against Onias, and there he put the bloodstained man to death. Thus the Lord repaid him with the punishment he deserved.

Menelaus Tried for Lysimachus's Murder

39When much sacrilegious plunder by Lysimachus took place in the city with the consent of Menelaus, and when the report of this spread abroad, the people gathered together against Lysimachus, because many of the gold vessels had already been carried away. 40Thus, since the crowds were stirring and completely filled with wrath, Lysimachus armed about three thousand men and began an unjust attack, led by a certain Auranus, a man advanced in years but no less advanced in stupidity. 41So when the Jews became aware of the assault of Lysimachus, some picked up stones and clubs, and others took handfuls of ashes lying about, and threw them in utter confusion at Lysimachus and his men. 42As a result, they wounded many of them, killed some, and forced them all to flee. Then they killed the temple robber himself near the treasury.

43But a judgment concerning this was presented against Menelaus. 44For when the king arrived at Tyre, three men sent by the council of elders presented the case before him. 45But Menelaus, who was already defeated, promised considerable wealth to Ptolemy son of Dorymenes if he won over the king. 46Therefore Ptolemy took the king aside into a certain courtyard, as if to offer him refreshment, and persuaded him to change his mind. 47For he indeed acquitted Menelaus, the cause of all the evil, but he sentenced to death those unfortunate men who would have been freed uncondemned even if they pleaded before Scythians. 48So those who had spoken for the city, the people, and the holy vessels quickly suffered the unjust penalty. 49For this reason, even the Tyrians were indignant over the crime and provided magnificently for their funeral expenses. 50But Menelaus, because of the covetousness of those in power, remained in office, increased in malice, and brought about great treachery against his fellow citizens.

2 Maccabees 5

1Around this time, Antiochus set out for his second assault into Egypt. 2So it came about throughout the entire city of Jerusalem that for almost forty days there were apparitions of horsemen dressed in apparel interwoven with gold and moving quickly through the air, in companies fully armed with spears and drawn swords— 3troops of horsemen set in battle array and making attacks and counterattacks on this side and on that, with the movement of shields and a multitude of spears, and the shooting of arrows, and the brightness of gold ornaments, and breastplates of all sorts. 4Therefore all the men prayed that the appearance might be for the good.

Jason's Assault on Jerusalem

5But when a false report was circulated that Antiochus was dead, Jason took no less than a thousand men and suddenly made an assault upon the city. When the men on the wall were driven off and the city was finally taken, Menelaus was banished into the citadel. 6But Jason kept slaughtering his own fellow citizens without mercy, not comprehending that success against his kinsmen was his very unlucky day, for he imagined that he was winning trophies over his enemies rather than over people of the same race. 7Yet he did not get the upper hand of the government, but in the end gained disgrace from his plot, and took refuge again among the Ammonites.

8In the end, his life reached an ugly conclusion. He was accused before Aretas the ruler of the Arabs, but fled from city to city. He was pursued by all, detested as a rebel against the laws, and abhorred as an executioner of his homeland and fellow-citizens. Finally he was cast ashore in Egypt. 9Thus he who so often banished many from their homelands himself perished in a strange land; for he had set sail to the Lacedaimonians to obtain protection because of their kinship. 10So he who cast out many without a burial was unmourned, for he had no funeral of his own, nor did he share a place in the tomb of his fathers.

Antiochus Kills and Desecrates

11When the news of what happened reached King Antiochus, he took it to mean that Judea was in revolt. So inwardly he became like a wild beast, left Egypt, and took the city in war. 12He commanded his soldiers to cut down without mercy whomever they met and to slaughter those who went into their houses. 13So there was a killing of young and old, a killing of boys, women, and children, and a slaughtering of virgins and infants. 14Eighty thousand were destroyed in a total of three days, forty thousand in hand-to-hand combat; and no fewer were sold into slavery than were slain.

15Not satisfied with these things, Antiochus dared to enter the most holy temple in all the earth. He had as his guide Menelaus, who had become a traitor both to the laws and to his country. 16With defiled hands he took the holy vessels, and with profane hands he pulled down the things dedicated by other kings to increase the glory and honor of the place. [17]Antiochus was haughty, but was unaware that, because of the sins of those who lived in the city, the Lord was momentarily angered, and therefore was withholding grace as a temporary punishment of the place. [18]However, if the people of the city had not been involved in so many sins, this man would have been scourged and brought to ruin as soon as he had come, as was Heliodorus, whom Seleucus the king had sent to inspect the treasury. [19]But the Lord did not choose the nation because of the place, but the place because of the nation. [20]Therefore the place also itself shared in the misfortunes that befell the nation, and later had a share in its benefits; and what was forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty was restored again in all its glory by the reconciliation of the great Lord.

[21]At any rate, Antiochus carried off eighteen hundred talents from the temple and hurried away to Antioch. In his arrogance he thought he could sail on the land and walk on the sea because of the lifting up of his heart. [22]But he also left governors to afflict the people. In Jerusalem he left Philip, a Phrygian by race, more barbarous in character than the one who appointed him; [23]and in Gerizim, Andronicus. In addition to these he left Menelaus, who lorded it over his fellow citizens worse than did the others, having a hateful disposition toward the Jewish citizens. [24]Antiochus sent Apollonius, commander of the Mysians, with an army of twenty-two thousand men, with orders to slaughter all the grown men and to sell the women and young boys as slaves. [25]After he arrived in Jerusalem and pretended to be peace-loving, this man waited until the holy day of the Sabbath; then, finding the Jews not at work, he commanded his men to take up arms. [26]He put to the sword all those who came out to see them; then he rushed into the city with his armed men and killed great numbers of people.

[27]But Judas Maccabeus, with about nine others, withdrew into the desert so as not to share in the defilement. He kept himself and those with him alive in the mountains as do wild animals, by continually eating food that grew wild.

2 Maccabees 6

Persecution of the Jews

[1]Not long afterward, the king sent an Athenian senator to compel the Jews to leave behind the laws of their fathers and not to live by the laws of God. [2]He also insisted they pollute the temple in Jerusalem by calling it the temple of Olympian Zeus, and to call the one in Gerizim the temple of Zeus the Hospitable, as did the people who lived at one time in that place. [3]The intensity of evil was hard to deal with and extremely hateful, [4]for the temple was filled with debauchery and reveling by the Gentiles, who relaxed with friends and had intercourse with women within the sacred precincts, and still further brought unfitting things inside. [5]The altar was filled with disgusting things forbidden by the laws. [6]A man could neither keep the Sabbath, nor observe the feasts of his fathers, nor simply confess himself to be a Jew.

[7]When the month came for the king's birthday, the Jews were led by bitter constraint to partake of the sacrifices; and when the feast of Dionysus came, they were forced to walk in procession for Dionysus wearing ivy wreaths. [8]Moreover, a decree laid down by Ptolemy was sent to the nearby Greek cities that the same manner of conduct be imposed on the Jews to partake of the sacrifices; [9]but they should slaughter those who chose not to change over to Greek customs. One could see, therefore, their present misery.

[10]For instance, there were two women brought for circumcising their children. They publicly paraded these women around the city, with their babes hanging from their breasts, then they threw them down from the city wall. [11]Others who came together in the nearby caves to keep the seventh day secretly were betrayed to Philip and were all burned together, because they piously kept themselves from crying out for help on account of their regard for the most holy day.

[12]Now I urge those who read this book not to be discouraged by these calamities, but to recognize that these punishments were for the discipline of our people, but not for their destruction. [13]For it is an act of great kindness for the Lord not to allow our people to act ungodly for long, but to punish them immediately. [14]But the Lord does not act the same way with other nations. He waits patiently until they attain the completion of their sins, then punishes them. Thus He does not judge us in this way, [15]so as to take vengeance on us afterwards when we have reached the end of our sinning. [16]For this very reason He never withdraws His mercy from us. Although He disciplines us with calamities, He does not abandon His own people. [17]Let what I have said serve as a reminder, but we must continue the narrative.

Eleazar Is Martyred

[18]Eleazar, one of the scribes in high position, a man already advanced in years and of a noble presence, was forced to open his mouth to eat swine's flesh. [19]But welcoming an honorable death rather than a defiled life, he spat out the flesh and approached the rack of his own accord. [20]He did as men should do who refuse what is not lawful to eat, even for the love of life.

[21]Those in charge of the unlawful sacrifice, because of their longtime acquaintance with him, took the man aside privately and urged him to bring meat proper for him to use, pretending to prepare it for himself as though he were eating the flesh of the sacrifice commanded by the king. [22]Thus by doing this he might be saved from death, and be treated kindly on account of his long friendship with them. [23]But making an honorable resolve worthy of his years and the dignity of his old age and gray hair, which he had reached through the distinction of his excellent life even from childhood, and moreover according to the holy God-given laws, he turned himself over to them quickly, telling them to send him immediately to Hades.

[24]"For to pretend such things," he said, "is not worthy of our time of life, lest many of the young should suppose that Eleazar in his ninetieth year has gone over to a foreign religion, [25]and because of my pretense for the sake of living a brief moment longer, they should be led astray through me, while I earn only pollution and defilement in my old age. [26]For even if for the present I should avoid the punishment of men, yet whether I live or die, I shall not escape the hands of the Almighty. [27]Therefore by manfully giving up my life now, I will show myself worthy of my old age, [28]and leave to the young a noble example of how to die a good death willingly and bravely for the venerable and holy laws."

After he said this, he went straight to the rack, [29]and those who had just demonstrated good will toward him now showed hostility, because they took the words he had spoken to be madness. [30]When he was about to die from the blows, he groaned and said, "It is evident to the Lord in His holy knowledge that, though I could have been saved from death, I am enduring terrible sufferings in my body from this beating, but in my soul I gladly suffer these things because I fear Him."

[31]So in this manner he died, leaving in his death an example of his noble character and a memorial of his virtue, not only to the young but to the many people of his nation. Saints of the Old Testament

2 Maccabees 7

A Mother and Her Sons Are Martyred

[1]It came about also that seven brothers with their mother were arrested and forced by the king to be bound and tortured with whips and cords until they partook of the unlawful swine's flesh. [2]One of them, acting as spokesman, said, "What do you intend to ask and learn from us? For we are ready to die rather than transgress the laws of our fathers."

[3]The king became enraged, and commanded that pans and caldrons be heated. [4]These were heated immediately; and he commanded them to cut out the spokesman's tongue, and to scalp him and cut off his hands and feet, while the rest of the brothers and the mother watched. [5]When he was utterly helpless, the king ordered them to take him to the fire, while he was still breathing, and to fry him in a pan. As the smoke from the pan spread out broadly, the brothers and their mother encouraged one another to die bravely, saying, [6]"The Lord God is taking notice of us and in truth is encouraging us, as Moses proclaimed in his song which he sang, bearing witness against the people to their faces: 'And God will have compassion on His servants.' "

[7]After the first brother died in this manner, they brought forward the second for their sport. They tore away the skin of his head with the hair, and asked him, "Will you eat pork rather than have your body punished limb by limb?" [8]But he replied in the language of his fathers and said to them, "No."
Therefore this brother in turn underwent the same torture as the first. [9]So when he was at his last breath, he said, "You accursed wretch! You set us free from this present life, but the King of the world will raise us to an everlasting renewal of life, because we die for His laws."

[10]After him, the third fell prey to their sport. When it was demanded, he quickly put out his tongue and courageously stretched forth his hands, [11]and said bravely, "I received these from heaven, and because of His laws I disregard them, and from Him I hope to get them back again." [12]As a result the king himself and those with him were astonished at the young man's spirit, for he regarded his sufferings as nothing.

[13]When he died, they tortured and tormented the fourth in the same way.
[14]So when he was near death, he said, "One may be chosen to die at the hands of men and to look for the hope that God gives of being raised again by Him. But for you there shall be no resurrection to life."

[15]Next they led forward the fifth and tormented him. [16]But he looked at the king and said, "Because you have authority among men, mortal though you are, you do what you please; but do not think that God has forsaken our people. [17]Continue, and behold how His mighty power will torture you and your seed!”

[18]After him they led forward the sixth. When he was about to die, he said, “Do not deceive yourself, for we are suffering these things on our own account because of our sins against our own God. Therefore things worthy of wonder have happened. [19]But do not think that you shall be innocent for trying to fight against God!”

[20]The mother was especially admirable and worthy of good memory. Though she saw her seven sons perish in the span of a single day, she bore it courageously because of her hope in the Lord. [21]She encouraged each of them in the language of their fathers. Filled with a noble spirit, she stirred her womanly reasoning with manly courage, saying to them, [22]“I do not know how you came into being in my womb. It was not I who gave you breath and life, nor I who arranged in order the elements within each of you. [23]Therefore the Creator of the world, who formed man in the beginning and devised the origin of all things, will give both breath and life back to you again in His mercy, since you now disregard yourselves for the sake of His laws.”

[24]Antiochus supposed that he was being treated with contempt, and suspected her speech was insulting him personally. Thus, since the youngest brother was still alive, not only did he appeal to him in words, but at the same time guaranteed him with oaths that he would make him rich and enviable if he would turn away from his fathers, and that he would consider him a friend and entrust him with public affairs. [25]But when the young man refused to pay any attention to him, the king called his mother to him and urged her to advise the boy to save himself. [26]After much urging from him, she agreed to persuade her son. [27]But she leaned close to him and mocked the cruel tyrant, speaking in their native tongue, saying, “My son, have mercy on me. I carried you for nine months in my womb, and nursed you for three years. I reared you and brought you up to this point in your life, and have taken care of you. [28]I beseech you, my child, to look at heaven and earth and see everything in them, and know that God made them out of nothing; so also He made the race of man in this way. [29]Do not fear this executioner! But be worthy of your brothers and accept death, that in God’s mercy I may receive you back again with your brothers.”

[30]While she continued speaking, the young man said to the king, “What are you waiting for? I will not obey the king’s command, but I obey the command of the law, given to our fathers through Moses. [31]But you, who have invented all manner of evil against the Hebrews, will not escape the hands of God, [32]for we are suffering because of our own sins. [33]So if for the sake of reproof and discipline, our living Lord is angry for a little while, He will again be reconciled with His own servants. [34]But you, O unholy man and most defiled of all men, do not be elated in vain and puffed up by uncertain hopes when you raise your hand against the children of heaven. [35]You have not yet escaped the judgment of the almighty, all-seeing God. [36]For now our brothers have endured a brief suffering and then passed on into everlasting life under God's covenant. But you, by God's judgment, will receive just punishments for your haughtiness. [37]Like my brothers, I give up body and soul for the laws of our fathers, crying out to God, that He may soon show His mercy to our nation, and by afflictions and calamities make you confess that He alone is God, [38]and through my brothers and me bring to an end the wrath of the Almighty which has justly come upon our entire nation."

[39]Then the king became bitterly enraged at his contempt and treated him worse than the others. [40]So, putting his trust completely in the Lord, he died in his innocence. [41]Last of all, the mother died, after her sons.

[42]Let this be enough, then, about the eating of sacrifices and the extreme tortures.

The Revolt of Judas Maccabeus

[1]But Judas, also called Maccabeus, and those with him secretly infiltrated the villages and summoned their kinsmen. They called together those who had continued in the Jewish religion and took them as companions. So they gathered about six thousand men. [2]They invoked the Lord to look upon the people, who were trampled underfoot by all, to have compassion on the temple, which had been profaned by ungodly men, [3]to have mercy on the city, which was being destroyed and was about to be leveled to the ground, and to hearken to the blood that cried out to Him. [4]They also invoked Him to remember the lawless destruction of the sinless babies and the blasphemies committed against His name, and to show His hatred of evil.

[5]As soon as Maccabeus had his army in order, he was not to be withstood by the Gentiles, for the wrath of the Lord had turned to mercy. [6]He came without notice to towns and villages and set them on fire. At opportune times he regained places and put to flight not a few of the enemy. [7]He found the night the best time for such hostilities. So talk of his manliness spread everywhere.

Nicanor Attacks Judea

[8]When Philip realized that Judas was making progress little by little and that he was advancing with more frequent efficiency, he wrote to Ptolemy, the governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia, for aid to the king's government. [9]And Ptolemy quickly appointed Nicanor the son of Patroclus, the foremost of his friends. He sent him in command of no fewer than twenty thousand Gentiles of all nations to get rid of all the people of Judea. He sent Gorgias with him, a general and a man experienced in the affairs of war. [10]Nicanor determined to make up for the king the taxes due to the Romans—two thousand talents—from the capture of the Jews. [11]He immediately sent word to the cities by the sea, inviting them to buy Jewish slaves and promising to hand over ninety slaves for a talent, not expecting that the judgment of the Almighty was about to fall upon him.

[12]Now word came to Judas concerning Nicanor's impending attack; and when he told those with him about the arrival of the army, [13]those who were cowardly and distrustful of God's justice ran off and removed themselves from that place. [14]Others sold all their remaining property, and at the same time entreated the Lord to rescue those sold by the ungodly Nicanor before he even met them. [15]They entreated Him, not for their own sake, but for the sake of the covenants made with their fathers, and because they were called by His holy and magnificent name. [16]But Maccabeus gathered those around him, six thousand in number, and exhorted them neither to be panic-stricken by the enemy nor to fear the great multitude of Gentiles who were unjustly coming against them, but to contend bravely. [17]He also exhorted them to keep before their eyes the lawless outrage committed against the holy place by the Gentiles, and the torture of the mocked city, and still more the dissolution of their ancestral way of life. [18]"For they trust in arms and bold acts," he said, "but we trust in Almighty God, who with only one nod is able to overthrow both those who come against us and the entire world."

[19]He also spoke to them of the times help came to their forefathers, how the one hundred and eighty-five thousand perished under Sennacherib, [20]and how in the time when the battle took place in Babylonia against the Galatians, eight thousand in all entered the fray, along with four thousand Macedonians. But when the Macedonians were perplexed, the eight thousand destroyed the one hundred and twenty thousand because of the help that came to them from heaven. Then they took many spoils.

Judas' Victories

[21]With these words he gave them good courage and prepared them to die on behalf of their laws and their homeland. Then he divided his forces into four parts. [22]He appointed his brothers, Simon and Joseph and Jonathan, each to command a division, putting fifteen hundred soldiers under each. [23]In addition, he appointed Eleazar to read aloud from the holy book and gave the watchword, "The help of God." Then he led the first division himself and joined battle with Nicanor.

[24]When the Almighty became their ally, they slew more than nine thousand of the enemy, and wounded and crippled most of Nicanor's army, and forced them all to flee. [25]They seized the money of those who came to buy them as slaves. After they pursued them for some distance, they were compelled to return because of the hour; [26]for they did not continue their pursuit because it was the day before the Sabbath. [27]So when they had collected their arms and stripped the spoils from their enemy, they kept the Sabbath, greatly blessing and giving thanks to the Lord, who had brought them safely through the day and appointed it for them as a beginning of mercy. [28]Then after the Sabbath they gave a portion of the spoils to those who were tortured and to the widows and orphans, and distributed the rest among themselves and their children. [29]When they had done this, they made a common supplication and besought the merciful Lord to be reconciled at last with His servants.

[30]Moreover, of the forces on the side of Timothy and Bacchides, who contended against them, they killed more than twenty thousand of them and became the masters of exceedingly high fortresses. They divided a great many spoils, giving shares equal to their own to those who had been tortured and to the orphans and widows, and also to the aged. [31]After they collected the enemy's weapons, they organized them all carefully in convenient places, and carried the rest of the spoils to Jerusalem. [32]They killed the commander of Timothy's forces, a most unholy man and one who had greatly troubled the Jews. [33]While they were celebrating the victory in the city of their fathers, they burned those who had set fire to the temple gates: Callisthenes and some others, who had fled into one small house; so they received a recompense worthy of their impiety.

34The thrice-sinful Nicanor had brought the thousand merchants for the purchase of the Jews, 35but he was humbled with the help of the Lord by the opponents he regarded as of the least account. Thus, after he succeeded primarily in the destruction of his own army, he took off his glorious military apparel and made his way inland alone like a fugitive until he reached Antioch. 36There, he who had undertaken to establish taxes for the Romans by the capture of the people of Jerusalem proclaimed that the Jews had a Defender, and therefore were invulnerable, because they followed the laws appointed beforehand by Him.

2 Maccabees 9

God Punishes Antiochus

1About that time, it happened that Antiochus returned in dishonor from the region of Persia. 2For he had entered the city called Persepolis and attempted to rob the temples and control the city. Therefore when the citizens rushed to the city's aid with arms, Antiochus and his men were routed; and it came about that Antiochus was put to flight by the citizens and made a shameful return home. 3Now while he was in Ecbatana, news came to him about what had happened to Nicanor and the forces of Timothy. 4Swollen with rage, he supposed that he would also vent upon the Jews the evil done to him by those who had banished him. Wherefore he commanded his charioteer to drive without stopping to complete the journey. But the judgment of heaven came upon him, for in his arrogance he said, "When I arrive there I will make Jerusalem a common burial place of the Jews."

5But the all-seeing Lord, the God of Israel, struck him with an incurable and unseen plague. For as soon as he stopped speaking, a deadly pain seized him in his inward parts, with sharp internal torments— 6and this very justly, for he had tortured the inward parts of others with many and unusual afflictions. 7Yet by no means did he cease from his haughtiness, but was even more filled with arrogance, breathing fire in his rage against the Jews and giving orders to hasten the journey. So it came to pass that he fell out of his chariot as it rushed along, and the fall was so hard that it tortured every limb of his body.

8He who had just been thinking that he could command the waves of the sea because of his superhuman arrogance, and imagined he could weigh the high mountains in a balance, was brought down to earth and carried in a litter. Thus he conveyed plainly to all the manifest power of God. [9]Accordingly, worms swarmed up from the ungodly man's body, and his flesh rotted away while he was still alive, anguishing and in pain. Because of his odor, the whole army was repulsed by his rottenness, [10]and because of his intolerable smell no one was able to carry the man who a little while before thought he could touch the stars of heaven. [11]Then he was broken down, and began to cease from much of his arrogance and to come to a recognition of the divine scourge; for he was bent over with pain at every moment. [12]When he could no longer endure his own stench, he spoke these words: "It is right to be subject to God, and no mortal should think that he is equal with God."

[13]Then this disgusting man prayed to the Lord, who would no longer have mercy on him, [14]saying that the holy city, which he had been hastening to level to the ground and make into a common burial place, he was now proclaiming to be free. [15]Moreover, the Jews, whom he did not consider worthy of a burial place, but to be thrown out along with their children for the wild animals and the birds to eat, he would make them all equal to citizens of Athens. [16]Furthermore, the holy temple, which he had plundered in times past, he would adorn with the finest offerings, and restore—many times over—all the holy vessels; and the taxes assigned to the sacrifices he would pay from his own revenues. [17]In addition to this, he also would become a Jew and visit every inhabited place to proclaim the might of God.

A Final Letter to the Jews

[18]But when his sufferings did not cease at all, for the judgment of God came upon him justly, he was driven to despair over what had happened to him. Thus he wrote the Jews the letter recorded below, in the form of a supplication. It contained the following words:

> [19]"To the good Jewish citizens, Antiochus your king and general sends many greetings and good wishes for your health and welfare. [20]If you and your children are strong and your interests are served, then I am glad. With my hope in heaven, [21]I kindly remember your respect and goodwill.
> "Now as I was returning home from the region of Persia, I was struck with a difficult illness and now consider it necessary to be concerned about the common safety of all. [22]But I am not giving up hope for myself, for I have great hope of escaping from this illness. [23]Nevertheless, I observed that even my father, when he led his army into the upper countries, appointed his successor, [24]that if anything unexpected should arise or any unwelcome news should come, the people throughout the realm would not be troubled; for they would know to whom the government was left.

[25]"In addition to this, I understand how the rulers, close at hand and the neighbors of my kingdom, keep watching for opportunities and waiting to see how things will turn out. Thus I have appointed my son Antiochus to be king. Oftentimes when I hastened off to the upper provinces, I entrusted and commended him to most of you. So I have written to him what is written here.

[26]"Therefore I urge you and request that you remember my acts of kindness for both the common and private good, and maintain your present goodwill toward me and my son. [27]For I am persuaded that he, following my policy, will treat you kindly and considerately."

[28]So the murderer and blasphemer suffered very grievously, as he had treated others. For he died a miserable death in the mountains of a foreign land. [29]Then Philip, who grew up with him, took his body home. But fearing the son of Antiochus, he went instead to Ptolemy Philometor in Egypt.

2 Maccabees 10

Judas Maccabeus Purifies the Temple

[1]With the Lord leading them on, Maccabeus and those with him received back the temple and the city. [2]They took down the altars fabricated in the marketplace by the foreigners, and also destroyed the sacred precincts. [3]When they had purified the temple, they made another altar and, striking fire out of stones, they offered sacrifices—the first in two years. They offered incense and lit lamps and set out the bread of the Presence.

[4]When they had done this, they fell prostrate and besought the Lord so as never again to fall into such calamities, but if they should ever sin, they might be chastised by Him with gentleness and not be handed over to blasphemous and barbarous nations. [5]It happened on the anniversary of the same day the temple was profaned by the foreigners, that the purification of the temple took place: on the twenty-fifth day of the same month, which was Chislev. [6]They celebrated it for eight days with rejoicing, in the manner of the Feast of Tabernacles, remembering how a short time before they had spent the feast living in mountains and caves like wild animals. [7]Therefore, carrying ivy-wreathed wands, beautiful olive branches, and even palm branches, they offered hymns of praise to Him who made possible the purifying of His own place. [8]They decreed by a common edict and vote that the whole Jewish nation should celebrate these days every year. [9]Such then was the end of Antiochus, called Epiphanes.

The Reign of Antiochus V Begins

[10]Now we will tell what took place under Antiochus Eupator, the son of that ungodly man, and will set forth and encompass briefly the calamities of the wars. [11]For this man inherited the kingdom and appointed a certain Lysias as chief governor of Coelesyria and Phoenicia. [12]Then Ptolemy, called Macron, led the way in protecting the rights of the Jews because of the wrongdoing that happened to them, and he attempted to maintain peaceful relations with them. [13]For this reason he was accused before Eupator by the king's friends. He heard himself called a traitor at every turn because he abandoned Cyprus, entrusted to him by Philometor, and defected to Antiochus Epiphanes. Since he could not exercise his noble authority honorably, he took poison and ended his life.

The Idumeans Fall to Judas

[14]When Gorgias became governor of the region, he maintained mercenary troops and attacked the Jews at every turn. [15]At the same time, the Idumeans, in possession of vital strongholds, were harassing the Jews. They received fugitives from Jerusalem and endeavored to keep up the war. [16]But Maccabeus and his men made supplication and implored God to be their ally, then rushed against the strongholds of the Idumeans. [17]They attacked them aggressively, gained possession of the places, and drove back all who fought upon the wall. They slaughtered everyone they encountered, killing no fewer than twenty thousand.

[18]But at least nine thousand fled into two very strong towers, which were well equipped, containing everything necessary to withstand a siege. [19]So Maccabeus left behind Simon, Joseph, and also Zacchaeus and those with him, a force sufficient to besiege them. Then he went to more urgent places. [20]But those around Simon, who were money lovers, were bribed by some of those in the towers. When they had received seventy thousand drachmas, they allowed some of them to slip away. [21]When news of what happened reached Maccabeus, he gathered the leaders of the people and accused them of selling their brothers for money by releasing their enemies to fight against them. [22]Then he killed these men who had become traitors and immediately seized the two towers. [23]Faring well at arms in everything he undertook, he destroyed more than twenty thousand in the two fortresses.

Maccabeus Victorious over Timothy

[24]Now Timothy, who had been defeated previously by the Jews, gathered a very massive and powerful force of mercenaries and assembled cavalry from Asia in no small number. Then he arrived as though he would take Judea captive. [25]As he drew near, Maccabeus and his men made supplication to God as they sprinkled earth on their heads and girded their loins with sackcloth. [26]They fell prostrate before the foot of the altar and implored Him to be merciful to them and to be an enemy to their enemies and an adversary to their adversaries, as the law plainly shows. [27]Then arising from prayer, they took up their weapons and advanced a considerable distance from the city. When they came near the enemy, they were by themselves. [28]But as dawn was breaking, the armies attacked one another. The one had the guarantee of prosperity and victory, with their virtue and the Lord as their place of refuge, but the other depended on rage as their leader in the fight.

[29]When the battle was strongly contested, there appeared to the enemy from heaven five majestic men on horses with golden bridles, and they were leading the Jews. [30]They took Maccabeus between them and shielded him with their own armor. They kept him from being wounded and cast arrows and thunderbolts on the enemy. Wherefore, confused with blindness and full of disorder, they were cut to pieces. [31]Twenty thousand five hundred were slaughtered along with six hundred cavalry.

[32]Timothy himself fled to a stronghold called Gazara, especially well garrisoned, where Chaereas was commander. [33]Maccabeus and his men eagerly besieged the stronghold for four days, [34]but the men within it trusted in the security of the place. So they kept blaspheming beyond measure and uttering disgusting words. [35]Now when the fifth day dawned, twenty young men in the army of Maccabeus burned with anger because of the blasphemies. So they bravely attacked the wall and with savage fury struck down everyone they encountered. [36]Others likewise went up during the distraction against those inside and burned down the towers. They kindled fires and burned the blasphemers alive. Others broke through the gates, let in the rest of the force, and took control of the city. 37They killed Timothy, who was hiding in a well, and his brother Chaereas and Apollophanes. 38When they had done this, they blessed the Lord with hymns and praises, thanking Him who shows great kindness to Israel and gives them victory.

2 Maccabees 11

The Defeat of Lysias

1Shortly afterward, Lysias, who was the king's guardian and kinsman and in charge of the government, was greatly upset at what had happened, 2and gathered about eighty thousand infantry and all his cavalry to come against the Jews. He purposed to make the city a home for Greeks, 3to levy taxes on the temple, as he did on the sacred places of the other nations, and to put the high priesthood up for sale every year. 4He took no account at all of God's power, but was elated with his countless thousands of infantry and his thousands of cavalry, plus his eighty elephants. 5Thus he entered Judea and drew near Beth-zur, a fortified place about twenty miles from Jerusalem, and besieged it.

6When Maccabeus and his men heard of this, that Lysias was besieging the strongholds, they and all the people begged the Lord with lamentations and tears to send a good angel to save Israel. 7Maccabeus himself was the first to bear arms, and he pleaded with the others to join with him in risking their lives to go help their brothers. Then they eagerly set out together. 8But in that place, while they were still near Jerusalem, a horseman appeared before them, clothed in white and brandishing a full armor of gold. 9Then together they all blessed the merciful God and were strengthened in heart, ready to bring damage not only on humans but on the most savage of beasts or walls of iron. 10Because the Lord had mercy on them, they advanced with their weapons, having with them their ally from heaven. 11They hurled themselves against the enemy like lions and overthrew eleven thousand of them, as well as sixteen hundred cavalry, and forced all of them to flee. 12Most of them escaped, wounded and naked, and Lysias himself escaped by a disgraceful flight.

A Peace Accord with the Jews

13 But as Lysias was not lacking in intelligence, he discussed the loss that had happened to him. He realized the Hebrews were unconquerable, because the Almighty God was their ally. 14 So he sent a message and persuaded them to settle everything on just terms. Moreover, perhaps he could also persuade the king and compel him to become their friend. 15 Then Maccabeus agreed to everything Lysias urged, since he was concerned about what was best for all.
For whatever Maccabeus gave to Lysias in writing concerning the Jews, the king granted.

16 Four letters were written to the Jews from Lysias, encompassing the following:

> "Lysias to the people of the Jews, greetings. 17 John and Absalom, who > were sent by you, have given us your signed communication and asked > about the matters addressed in it. 18 Accordingly, I reported to the king > whatever was necessary to bring him, and he granted whatever was > possible. 19 If you will keep your goodwill toward the government, I will > try in the future to promote your welfare. 20 So in behalf of these things > and their details, I have ordered that these men and my representatives > confer with you. 21 Farewell. The one hundred and forty-eighth year, the > twenty-fourth of Dioscorinthius."

22 Now the king's letters contained the following:

> "King Antiochus to Lysias his brother, greetings. 23 Since our father has > departed to the gods, we desire the subjects of the kingdom be > undisturbed in caring for their own affairs. 24 We understand the Jews do > not approve of our father's change to Greek customs, but choose their > own way of life and ask that their customs be granted them. 25 Since > therefore we prefer for this nation to be free from disturbance, our > decision is for their temple to be returned to them and for them to live > according to the customs of their forefathers. 26 Therefore, you will do > well to send word to them and give them assurances of friendship, so they > may know our policy. Be in good spirits, and continue gladly to help them > in their own affairs."

27 The king's letter to the nation was as follows:

> "King Antiochus to the Jewish senate and the rest of the Jews, > greetings. 28 If you are healthy, this would be as we desire. We are also in > good health. 29 Menelaus has told us you wish to return home and attend to > your own affairs. 30 Therefore, those who return home by the thirtieth of > Xanthicus will have our pledge of friendship, with freedom from fear,

[31]for the Jews to enjoy their own food and laws as before; and none of them shall be troubled in any way for things done in ignorance. [32]I have also sent Menelaus to encourage you. [33]Farewell. The one hundred and forty-eighth year, the fifteenth of Xanthicus."

[34]The Romans also sent them a letter, which read as follows:

"Quintus Memmius and Titus Manius, legates of the Romans, to the people of the Jews, greetings. [35]We also approve of those things concerning which Lysias the kinsman of the king has granted you. [36]But the matters he decided to report to the king, as soon as you have considered these things, send someone promptly that we may explain what is suitable for you, for we are on our way to Antioch. [37]For this reason make haste and send someone to let us know your intentions. [38]Farewell. The one hundred and forty-eighth year, the fifteenth of Xanthicus."

2 Maccabees 12

Judas Prevails in Joppa and Jamnia

[1]When these agreements had been made, Lysias returned to the king, and the Jews went back to their farming. [2]But some of the governors of various locales—Timothy and Apollonius son of Gennaeus, as well as Hieronymus and Demophon, and in addition Nicanor the commander of the Cyprians—would not allow the Jews to enjoy tranquility and live in peace.

[3]Then the people of Joppa did so great an ungodly deed as this: they invited the Jews who lived among them, together with their wives and children, to embark on ships equipped for sea, as though they harbored no ill will toward them. [4]Now this was done by the common vote of the city. But when the Jews welcomed this, wishing to live in peace and suspecting nothing, the men of Joppa took them out to sea and drowned at least two hundred of them.

[5]When Judas learned of the cruelty visited on his countrymen, he summoned his men. [6]So when he had called upon God, the righteous judge, he attacked the murderers of his brothers. He set the harbor on fire by night, burned the ships, and put to the sword those who fled there. [7]But since the gates of the city were closed, he departed, intending to come again and root out the whole community of Joppa. [8]However, when he learned that the people in Jamnia intended to wipe out the Jews who were living among them in the same way, [9]he attacked the Jamnian people by night and set the harbor and the fleet on fire; therefore, the glow of the light was visible as far as Jerusalem, thirty miles away.

Defeat of the Nomads

[10]When they had gone about a mile from there on their march against Timothy, Arabs attacked him with no less than five thousand infantry and five hundred cavalry. [11]After a strongly contested battle, Judas and his men, with God's help, were successful. The defeated nomads pleaded with Judas to grant them pledges of friendship. They promised to give him livestock and to benefit them in other ways. [12]So Judas, supposing they could indeed be useful in varied ways, agreed to make peace with them. Then after he accepted their pledges, they returned to their tents.

[13]He also attacked a certain town named Caspin, strongly fortified with earthworks and walls, and inhabited by a mixed population of Gentiles. [14]Those within it trusted in the security of the walls and their supply of provisions. They behaved very contemptuously toward Judas and his men, insulting them and even blaspheming and saying unlawful things. [15]But Judas and his men called upon the great Lord of the world, who overthrew Jericho without battering rams or engines of war in the times of Joshua. Then Judas and his men assaulted the walls. [16]They overpowered the city by the will of God and inflicted such indescribable slaughter that the adjoining lake, a quarter of a mile wide, seemed to be filled with blood.

Victory over Timothy's Garrison

[17]From there, they went ninety-five miles and continued on to Charax, to the Jews who were called Toubiani. [18]They did not overtake Timothy in that region, for by then he had departed from there without accomplishing anything; but in one place Timothy left a very strong garrison. [19]Dositheus and Sosipater, who were commanders under Maccabeus, marched out and crushed those men Timothy left in the stronghold, over ten thousand soldiers. [20]But Maccabeus organized his army in divisions—setting men in command of the divisions—and hastened after Timothy, who had with him one hundred and twenty thousand infantry and two thousand five hundred cavalry.

[21]When Timothy learned of the approach of Judas, he sent the women and the children ahead with the baggage to a place called Carnaim; for that place was hard to attack and difficult to access because of the narrowness of all its places. [22]But when Judas' first division appeared, alarm and fear came over the enemy at the manifestation to them of Him who sees all things. They ran off in flight, rushing headlong in every direction, so as to be often hurt by their own men and stabbed by the points of their own swords. [23]Judas pursued them with great vigor, piercing the sinful men with the sword and killing as many as thirty thousand of them.

[24]Timothy himself fell into the hands of Dositheus and Sosipater and their soldiers. With great trickery he pleaded with them to let him go safely, because he held the parents of most of them and some of their brothers, to whom no regard would be shown. [25]So when with many words he had confirmed his solemn promise to restore them unharmed, they released him for the sake of rescuing their brothers.

Other Campaigns

[26]Then Judas marched against Carnaim and the temple of Atargatis, and destroyed twenty-five thousand people. [27]After the rout and slaughter of these, he also marched on Ephron, a fortified town where Lysias lived with countless people of all nations. Strong young men were set as guards before the walls and fought mightily. Many provisions of war engines and missiles were stored there. [28]But the Jews called upon the Lord, who with power crushes the strength of His enemies. Thus they took possession of the city and killed as many as twenty-five thousand of those within it.

[29]Moving away from Ephron, they hurried on to Scythopolis, seventy-five miles from Jerusalem. [30]But when the Jews who lived there testified to the goodwill the people of Scythopolis had shown them and their civilized treatment of them in times of trouble, [31]they thanked them and encouraged them also to be favorable to the Jewish race in the future. Then Judas and his men arrived at Jerusalem, the Feast of Weeks being close at hand.

[32]After this feast, also called Pentecost, they marched against Gorgias, the governor of Idumea. [33]He came out against them with three thousand infantry and four hundred cavalry. [34]After they engaged in battle, it happened that a few of the Jews were killed. [35]But a certain Dositheus, one of Bacenor's men, a man on horseback and a strong man, grabbed hold of Gorgias. He took hold of his cloak and was dragging him off by sheer strength. He intended to take the accursed man alive, but one of the Thracian cavalry chased him down and severed his arm. So Gorgias fled to Marisa.

[36]Now Esdris and his men had been fighting for a long while and were tired. So Judas called on the Lord to show Himself as their ally and leader in battle. [37]They began to sound the battle cry in the language of their forefathers and sang hymns. Then he charged against the troops of Gorgias when they least expected it, and set them to flight.

Prayers for the Fallen

[38]Then Judas retrieved his army and entered the city of Adullam. As the seventh day was dawning, they purified themselves according to custom and spent the Sabbath there. [39]The following day, as was now necessary, Judas and his men left to gather up the bodies of those killed in battle, to bring them back to rest with their kindred in the tombs of their forefathers. [40]But under the tunics of each of the dead, they uncovered sacred tokens of the Jamnian idols, which the Jews are forbidden by law to wear. So the reason these men died in battle became clear to everyone. [41]Thus they all blessed the ways of the Lord, the righteous judge, who reveals the hidden things. [42]They turned to supplication and prayed that the sin they had committed might be completely blotted out.

The noble Judas exhorted his people to guard themselves from sin, for with their own eyes they had seen what happened to those who died in battle because of their sin. [43]He then took up an offering from his soldiers amounting to two thousand silver drachmas, and sent it to Jerusalem to present as a sin offering. In doing so he acted properly and with honor, taking note of the resurrection. [44]For if he were not looking for the resurrection of those fallen, it would have been utterly foolish to pray for the departed. [45]But since he was looking to the reward of splendor laid up for those who repose in godliness, it was a holy and godly purpose. Thus he made atonement for the fallen, so as to set them free from their transgression.

2 Maccabees 13

The Death of Menelaus

[1]In the one hundred forty-ninth year, Judas and his men got word that Antiochus Eupator was marching against Judea with a huge army, [2]and with him his guardian, Lysias, who was in charge of the government. Each of them had a Greek army of one hundred ten thousand infantry, five thousand three hundred horsemen, twenty-two elephants, and three hundred chariots armed with scythes.

3Menelaus also joined forces with them. It was a great irony that he encouraged Antiochus, not for the preservation of his homeland, but for his expectation to be established in authority. 4But the King of kings aroused anger in Antiochus against this sinful man. So when Lysias pointed out that this man was the cause of all the trouble, he commanded them to take him to Beroea, to put him to death as was the custom there. 5For there is a tower in that place, fifty cubits high and filled with ashes. It also has a contrivance continuing around it on all sides that inclines steeply into the ashes. 6There they all shove anyone guilty of sacrilege or who has done excessive evils to their destruction. 7Thus it happened that Menelaus the lawbreaker died by such a destiny. He was even deprived of a burial in the ground. 8Now this was altogether just, for since he committed many sins against the sacred altar, whose fire and ashes were holy, he should get death for himself in ashes.

The Jews Prevail near Modein

9The king was coming with barbarous arrogance to face the Jews with things far worse than anything done by his father. 10But when Judas learned of this, he charged the people to call upon the Lord day and night, asking Him to help them now as He had formerly; for they were about to be deprived of their law, their homeland, and their temple. 11They prayed He would not allow the people who had just begun a new life to fall into the hands of the blaspheming Gentiles. 12After they all made the same petition together and constantly implored the merciful Lord with weeping, fasting, and prostrations for three days, Judas encouraged them and commanded them to stand firm.

13Then he consulted privately with the elders and determined to march out, to let the matter be decided by the help of God before the king's army could enter Judea and take possession of the city. 14So, committing the results to the Creator of all and urging those with him to fight nobly to the death for the laws, the temple, the city, the country, and the commonwealth, he positioned his army near Modein. 15After he gave his men the watchword, "God's Victory," and chose his best young men, he besieged the royal palace by night, killing as many as two thousand men in the camp. He also slew the leading elephant and its rider. 16As a result, they filled the camp with terror and disorder and departed victoriously. 17This all happened by daybreak, because the protection of the Lord was with him.

Antiochus V Makes Peace with the Jews

18 Thus the king tasted the courage of the Jews and plotted a strategy against their positions. 19 He marched against Beth-zur, a stronghold of the Jews, but was turned back. He attacked again, but was beaten. 20 Judas then sent supplies to the men inside the fortress. 21 But Rhodocus, a man from the Jewish army, tipped off the enemy with secret information. Thus he was sought after, caught, and imprisoned. 22 The king spoke a second time with the people in Beth-zur, gave assurances, received their pledges, and departed.
He then attacked Judas and his forces, but was vanquished.

23 He then learned that Philip, whom he had left in charge of the government in Antioch, had lost his sanity. He was disheartened and summoned the Jews, and yielded and gave an oath to honor all their rights.
Thus he settled with them and offered sacrifice, respected the temple, and treated the place humanely. 24 He welcomed Maccabeus, and Hegemonides was left as governor from Ptolemais to Gerar. 25 Then he went to Ptolemais, but the people of Ptolemais were indignant over the treaty with the Jews. In fact, they were so enraged they sought to annul its provisions. 26 But Lysias took the public stage and defended the treaty as best he could. He did persuade them, and gaining their goodwill, he returned to Antioch. This is the outcome of the king's strategy and settlement.

2 Maccabees 14

Alcimus Accuses Judas

1 After three years' time, word reached Judas and his soldiers that Demetrius, the son of Seleucus, had killed Antiochus and Lysias his guardian, then had sailed into the harbor of Tripolis with a powerful army and fleet 2 and taken possession of the country.

3 Now there was a certain Alcimus, formerly a high priest, who had willfully defiled himself in the times of social and political disturbance. He realized there was no way for him to live in safety or to approach the holy altar ever again. 4 So he went to King Demetrius sometime in the one hundred and fifty-first year and presented him a crown of gold and a palm branch, as well as some of the customary olive branches from the temple. During that day he remained peaceful. [5]But he seized an opportunity in his own stupidity when he was invited by Demetrius to a session of the council and was questioned about the disposition and intentions of the Jews.

Thus he said to the council: [6]“Those of the Jews who are called Hasideans, whose leader is Judas Maccabeus, are maintaining war and stirring up rebellion, and will not allow the kingdom to attain stability. [7]Wherefore I have set aside my paternal glory—meaning my high priesthood—and now have come here. [8]I came here first out of my honest concern for the well-being of the king, and second out of consideration for my own fellow-citizens; for through the rashness of those just mentioned, our entire nation is suffering misfortune. [9]Because you, O king, are acquainted with the details of these things, please take care of our country and our hard-pressed people with the gracious love for mankind that you have for everyone. [10]For as long as Judas is alive, it will be impossible for the government to experience peace.”

Nicanor Sent to Kill Judas

[11]After he said this, the rest of the king’s friends who bore malice against Judas aroused even greater anger in Demetrius. [12]Immediately he chose Nicanor, the commander of a squadron of elephants, appointing him governor of Judea. [13]He sent him off with the charge to kill Judas, scatter his soldiers, and establish Alcimus as high priest of the great temple. [14]The Gentiles who had fled before Judas throughout Judea joined Nicanor, for they thought the setbacks and calamities of the Jews would bring prosperity to themselves.

[15]The Jews got word of Nicanor’s coming and the assault of the Gentiles. So they sprinkled their heads with earth and prayed to Him who establishes His people forever, and always helps His own inheritance by making Himself present. [16]At the command of Judas their leader, they immediately moved the army from there and met the enemy in battle at a village called Dessau. [17]Simon, the brother of Judas, had encountered Nicanor in battle, but was halted because of the unexpected silence of those adversaries.

A Short-Lived Alliance

[18]Nevertheless, when Nicanor heard of the bravery of Judas and his men and their courage in battle for their country, he pulled back from deciding the matter by bloodshed. [19]So he sent forth Posidonius, Theodotus, and Mattathias to offer and receive pledges of friendship. [20]After an extensive investigation of the terms, the leader communicated the terms to the people, and it appeared they were of one mind; and they agreed to the treaty. [21]So they set aside a day to meet privately. From each army a chariot came forward, and seats of honor were set in place. [22]Judas appointed battle-ready men at strategic places lest the enemy attempt sudden trickery, but the consultation was held in a fitting way.

[23]Nicanor remained in Jerusalem and did nothing improper, but he dismissed the crowd of people that had gathered. [24]He also kept Judas in his presence continually, for he was heartily attached to the man. [25]He encouraged him to marry and have children. Thus Judas got married, settled down, and lived a normal life.

A Rekindled Enmity

[26]When Alcimus became aware of their goodwill for each other, he took the treaty that was made and went to King Demetrius. He told him Nicanor was disloyal to the government, since he had appointed Judas, the plotter against the kingdom, to be his successor. [27]The king became enraged. Provoked by the false accusations of that depraved man, he wrote to Nicanor that he was most displeased with the treaty and ordered him to send Maccabeus as a prisoner to Antioch at once.

[28]When this message reached Nicanor, he was upset and very grieved that he had to break the agreement when the man had not done wrong. [29]But since he could not act in opposition to the king, he watched for a strategic opportunity to carry out the command. [30]Maccabeus noticed that Nicanor was becoming more harsh in his treatment of him and more rude when they met than was customary. Judas decided Nicanor's sour behavior was not at all propitious, so he gathered up a good number of his men and hid from him.

[31]When Nicanor realized he had been boldly outmaneuvered by the man, he went to the great and holy temple and found the priests offering the customary sacrifices. He commanded them to hand him over. [32]They declared under oath they did not know the whereabouts of the man he sought. [33]So Nicanor stretched out his right hand toward the temple and swore this oath: "If you will not hand over Judas to me as a prisoner, I will raze this shrine of God to the ground, destroy the altar, and erect at this place a splendid temple to Dionysus." [34]After he said this, he departed. Then the priests reached out their hands to heaven, calling upon the everlasting Defender of our nation, saying, [35]"O Lord of all, while You have need of nothing, You were pleased to have a temple for Your dwelling in our midst.

[36]Now then, O Holy One, O Lord of all holiness, preserve forever undefiled this house so recently purified.”

Razis the Elder Dies

[37]Razis was one of the elders of Jerusalem and was denounced before Nicanor as a man who loved his fellow-citizens, a man held in high esteem and called a father of the Jews because of his goodwill. [38]For in past times when there was isolation from the Gentiles, he was brought to judgment for practicing the Jewish religion. But with all zeal he risked his life, body and soul, for his religion. [39]Nicanor wished to make obvious his ill-will for the Jews. So he sent more than five hundred soldiers to arrest Razis, [40]for he thought that by arresting him he would produce calamity among the Jews. [41]Thus when the soldiers were about to capture the tower and were forcing open the door of the courtyard, they commanded that the doors be set on fire. When Razis was surrounded, he fell upon his own sword, [42]for he preferred to die bravely rather than fall into the hands of sinners and suffer outrages unworthy of his own noble birth.

[43]However, in the tension of the confrontation, he did not fall with exactness on his sword. As the crowd rushed through the doors, he took courage and jumped up on the wall, bravely throwing himself down into the throng. [44]But as people quickly stepped back, there was an open space, and he landed in the midst of the empty area. [45]He was still alive. In a blaze of anger, he stood up; and though his blood gushed like a spring and his injuries were severe, he darted through the crowd. He climbed up on a steep rock, [46]and with his blood completely drained out of him, he tore out his intestines, took them in both hands and threw them at the crowd as he called on the Lord of life and spirit to return them to him again. Such was the manner of his death.

Nicanor’s Failed Plan

[1]When Nicanor learned that Judas and his men were in the province of Samaria, he decided to attack them in utter safety on their day of rest. [2]But the Jews who were forced to accompany him said, “By no means should you so cruelly and barbarously bring destruction. Show respect for the Sabbath day, which He who sees all things has honored with holiness above other days.” [3]Then the thrice-sinful man asked if there were a Lord in heaven who ordered the keeping of the Sabbath day. [4]When they declared, “It is the living Lord Himself, the Ruler in heaven, who commanded the keeping of the seventh day,” [5]he responded, “I am a ruler on earth. I command you to take up your weapons and complete the king’s business.” Nevertheless, he was unsuccessful in carrying out his heinous plan.

Judas Maccabeus Mobilizes His Men

[6]In his utter vanity and arrogance, Nicanor decided to put up a public monument of victory over Judas and his army. [7]But Maccabeus never ceased to trust the Lord and fully hope that He would help him. [8]So he encouraged his men to have no fear of any attack from the Gentiles, but to bear in mind how help had come to them from heaven in times past. Now they should anticipate the victory the Almighty would give to them. [9]He also exhorted them out of the law and the prophets, calling to mind the battles they had won, making them more eager to fight. [10]Then after he revived their courage, he gave his commands and at the same time emphasized the Gentiles’ faithlessness and their failure to keep their oaths. [11]So he issued each of them armor—not so much of the surety of shields and spears as with the encouragement of courageous speech. Then he inspired them all by telling about a dream, a kind of vision, worthy of believing.

[12]The vision he saw was this: Onias, who had been high priest, a true gentleman of modest and noble manner, one well-spoken and from childhood formed in all that pertains to virtue, was praying with hands outstretched for the whole nation of the Jews. [13]Then in the same manner another man appeared, distinguished by his gray hair and glory, and having about him a certain astonishing and majestic preeminence. [14]Onias then spoke, saying, “This is Jeremiah, the prophet of God, a man who loves his brothers and prays fervently for the people and the holy city.” [15]Stretching forth his right hand, Jeremiah gave a sword of gold to Judas, and as he presented it to him, he addressed him as follows: [16]“Take this sacred sword, a gift from God, by which you will strike down your enemies.”

[17]Encouraged by Judas’ words, a man so good and able in stirring up virtue and courage in the souls of young men, they determined not to plan out a campaign. Instead they would wage war bravely, at once, deciding the matter with hand-to-hand combat with all manliness, because the city, the sanctuary, and the temple were at risk. [18]Their main concern was not first for wives and children, or even for brothers and relatives; their greatest fear was for the consecrated temple. [19]As for those who remained in the city, they were distressed and worried about the conflict in the open country.

Nicanor's Demise

[20]Everyone was now living in suspense over the outcome of the war. The enemy was nearby; their army was prepared for battle. And their elephants were strategically positioned, and the cavalry was deployed on the flanks. [21]Maccabeus noted carefully the great masses before him, the variety of their armaments, and the savageness of the elephants. So he reached out his hands toward heaven and called on the Lord, the Wonderworker; for he knew it is not by weapons alone, but by the Lord's decision that victory is won by those worthy of it. [22]Thus he cried out to Him in the following manner: "O Lord, in the time of Hezekiah the king of Judea, You sent Your angel, and he killed as many as one hundred and eighty-five thousand in the camp of Sennacherib. [23]So now, O Ruler of the heavens, send us a noble angel to go before us spreading fear and trembling. [24]By the strength of Your arm, may those who speak blasphemy as they come against Your holy ones be struck down." With these words he completed his prayer.

[25]Nicanor and his men marched ahead with trumpets and battle songs, [26]but Judas and his men joined the enemy in battle with invocations and prayers. [27]They fought with their hands and prayed to God in their hearts, and struck down at least thirty-five thousand men. So they were deeply gladdened by God's visitation.

[28]When the battle was ended and they were marching home with joy, they recognized Nicanor, in full armor, lying dead. [29]With tumultuous shouts, they blessed the Lord in the language of their fathers. [30]Then Judas, who was in body and soul ever the chief defender of his fellow-citizens and who from youth maintained goodwill toward his countrymen, commanded them to sever Nicanor's head and arm and take them back to Jerusalem. [31]When he arrived there, he called his countrymen together and stationed the priests before the altar. Then he sent for those in the citadel. [32]Before them, he displayed the head of the defiled Nicanor and that slanderous man's hand, which he had boastfully stretched out against the holy house of the Almighty. [33]He cut out the tongue of the godless Nicanor and announced he would feed it to the birds bit by bit, and hang up the rewards of his folly opposite the sanctuary. [34]Then everyone lifted their eyes to heaven and blessed the Lord who visited them, saying, “Blessed is He who kept His own place undefiled.” [35]Judas then fastened Nicanor’s head to the wall of the citadel, a visible symbol to all present of the Lord’s help. [36]So they all decreed by public vote never to allow this day to be unobserved, but to celebrate it on the thirteenth day of the twelfth month, called Adar in the Syrian language—the day before Mordecai’s day.

The End

[37]This is the way things turned out for Nicanor. So from that time on the city has been controlled by the Hebrews. Thus I will end my story here. [38]If I have written well and made my point in the narrative, this is what I myself desired. But if it was done poorly and is just average, this is the best I could do. [39]For as it is disagreeable to drink wine only or water only, whereas wine mingled with water is pleasing and delightful and brings greater joy, so also the written style of the account delights the ears of those who read it. This then shall be the end.

Annotations for 2 Maccabees

1:1 Greek letters normally began with greetings, and Jewish letters began with the word peace. Though written entirely in Greek, 2 Maccabees employs both words. This is a letter from Jews in Jerusalem to Jews in Egypt concerning the celebration of Hanukkah.

1:7 The date refers to the year 143 BC (see 1Mc 10:67).

1:9 The true Feast of Tabernacles (or Booths) was an autumn event wherein water and wine were added to altar sacrifices commemorating Israel's deliverance from Egypt and then finding a homeland given by God. The feast commemorating Judas Maccabeus's restoration of the temple (10:3) is joined to that one. Today the feast is called Hanukkah or the Feast of Lights. During this feast torches were lit in the temple, and around them the people sang and danced. It was the feast (see Jn 7:2) at which Jesus stood and said, "I am the light of the world" (Jn 8:12). The date identified is 124 BC.

1:10 The section that follows (1:11–2:18) is a second letter from the Jews in Jerusalem to the Jewish teacher and scholar Aristobulus, who lived in Egypt.

1:13 Nanea is a pagan goddess, probably Aphrodite.

1:16 The author sees justice in divine retribution (3:27, 28; 9:28; 15:32, 33; see also 9:2 and 1Mc 6:1–4).

1:18 It is noteworthy that an eighth day was added to this celebration (see Neh 8:13–18). This section of 2 Maccabees is referring to the feast of Hanukkah, which celebrates fire and light (see note at 1:9).

1:20 The liquid is probably naphtha. Regardless, the story of the fire does not appear in Nehemiah, but in the rabbinical writings there is an account of a miracle wherein a small amount of oil burned for an extended period.

1:21 The prophet Nehemiah was to rebuild the walls of Jerusalem that had been destroyed by fire (Neh 2:11–18).

1:24 This begins the prayer of Nehemiah (1:24–2:18). See also Neh 1:5–11.

2:1 These records are unknown today.

2:5 According to 3Kg 8:4, Solomon brought the ark as well as the tabernacle (or the tent) and its contents to Jerusalem. Afterward, there is no further mention of the tent in Scripture. There is a tradition in which Jeremiah took the ark from Jerusalem and hid it when the temple was destroyed in 587 BC.

2:10 The two incidents are recorded in Lv 9:23, 24 and 2Ch 7:1.

2:19–23 2 Maccabees is a shortened version of five books of Jewish history written by Jason of Cyrene (v. 23), which have been lost. This section explains the purpose of the book.

2:29–32 An apologetic for the brevity of narrative (v. 31) or short summary of Jason's five books (2:19–23) by the author.

3:1 Onias III was high priest before 175 BC. He is mentioned in WSir 50:1.

3:2 Throughout the book, the place is the temple.

3:3 Seleucus IV ruled from 187–175 BC. The events of 3:1–4:6 take place under his reign. During this period, there is a complicated political struggle involving Egypt and Syria and the family of the high priest.

3:5 Another famous son of Tarsus is the Apostle Paul (Acts 11:25, 26).

3:18 Onias probably had withheld tax money, and the time of relative peace was drawing to an end. The entire city was being pulled into the turmoil.

3:20 The people stretched out their hands to pray. Perhaps the earliest account of the lifting of hands for intercession is in Moses' role in Israel's victory over Amalek (Ex 17:8–13). St. Paul instructs the Church to pray "lifting up holy hands" (1Ti 2:8).

3:25 The scene calls to mind the rider in Rev 6:2.

3:26 This is reminiscent of the two angels in dazzling apparel in Lk 24:4 and Acts 1:10.

3:34 The angel in Acts 5:19, 20 gives similar instructions.
4:7 Seleucus is replaced by Antiochus, who rules from 175–164 BC. Epiphanes means "god is manifest."
4:8 A talent is a weight, here in silver, equal to approximately 3000 shekels, or about $385.
4:10 The Greek way of life included the worship of pagan gods.
4:12 This particular Greek cap is linked to the Greek god Hermes.
4:13 Jason no longer kept the Mosaic Law, but instead foreign customs. Ethnic tradition must never take precedence over apostolic tradition in the Church.
4:17 God gave the Law to Moses, and for a Jew not to obey divine laws was ungodly, equivalent to apostasy.
4:22 Phoenicia is on the Mediterranean coastline just north of modern-day Beirut, Lebanon. The ancient ruins of this kingdom still exist there.
4:26 Evil divides. It picks allies only for the moment and is undermined when pride causes new rifts. Thus, Jesus warns, "Every city or house divided against itself will not stand" (Mt 12:25).
4:33 In ancient days a safe place was provided for people in certain religious sites. This particular haven is a pagan temple dedicated to Greek gods. Daphne was a suburb outside of Antioch, Syria.
4:38 Being stripped before being put to death added to the humiliation.
5:2 Forty days is a biblical number of completion or fullness. The Flood lasted forty days and nights (Gn 7:12); Jonah declared Nineveh would be destroyed in forty days (Jon 3:4).
5:6 One is reminded of Herod's destruction of the innocent children without mercy at the time of the birth of Jesus (Mt 2:16–18).
5:11 The city here is Jerusalem.
5:15–20 Antiochus was permitted by God to carry out this insane desecration of the most holy temple because of the sins of the people. It was not just because Antiochus was bent on destruction, but because the Lord allowed it for the good of His people (vv. 17, 18).
5:19 Because the Lord chose the nation Israel, the place (the temple) was located there.
5:25 Jews did not work or take up arms on the Sabbath.
6:2–5 A pagan statue or altar (v. 5) was erected in the temple in Jerusalem and a sexual fertility cult was instituted. In addition, swine and other unfitting things (v. 4) were sacrificed in the temple.
6:7 Dionysus is the pagan god of wine who rules over a celebration of drunkenness.
6:11 This is another example of the Jews piously keeping the seventh day, the Sabbath. In the same spirit, Christians are urged to assemble for worship (Heb 10:25).
6:12–16 This short treatise on divine discipline is very similar to the teaching, "whom the Lord loves He chastens," in Heb 12:5–11. (See also Is 54:7, 8.)
6:24–31 Eleazar is willing to die for God's holy laws (v. 28). This is a mystery to the pagan-minded, who only see blind fanaticism in the righteous. St. Paul explains why unbelievers do not understand (1Co 2:14).

Saints of the Old Testament

Immediately after quoting the Lord's proclamation to Moses, "I am the God of Abraham, the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob," Jesus asserts, "God is not the God of the dead, but of the living" (Mt 22:32). Thus He affirms that the great patriarchs of the Old Testament still live, as do all the righteous men and women of old who lived in anticipation of the coming Messiah. Hebrews 11 reviews the wonderful deeds of many of these Old Testament saints, and we then read that "we are surrounded by so great a cloud of witnesses" (Heb 12:1).

For the New Testament Church, then, these "witnesses" were the saints of the Old Testament. Eusebius of Caesarea, the church historian, writing early in the fourth century, called these great saints "Christians in fact, if not in name." He went on to say:

> It is obvious that they knew God's Christ Himself, since He appeared to Abraham, instructed Isaac, spoke to Jacob, and conversed freely with Moses and the Prophets who came later, as I have already shown. Hence, you will find that those divinely favored men were even honored with the name of "Christ," according to the word which says of them, "Touch not my Christs [Greek christoi, anointed ones], and do My Prophets no harm" (Ps 104:15).

Honoring the Saints

The Church's natural and fitting veneration of the saints of the Old Testament is very evident in a hymn sung on the second Sunday preceding Christmas, the Sunday of the Holy Forefathers:

> Come feast-lovers, let us extol with hymns the assembly of the forefathers—Adam the first father, Enoch, Noah, and Melchizedek, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob; and those after the Law—Moses, Aaron, Joshua, and Samuel; and with them Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, Daniel, and the twelve Prophets, with Elijah and Elisha, and all the rest.

Besides being remembered on these two Sundays, many Old Testament saints have their own days of commemoration, such as Jeremiah (May 1); Job (May 6); Isaiah (May 9); Elijah (July 20); Samuel (August 20); Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob (August 21); Joshua (September 1); Moses (September 4); Baruch (September 28); Hannah (December 9); Daniel (December 17); and Joseph (son of Jacob) and King David (first Sunday after Christmas).

The church fathers often extol these Old Testament heroes. St. John Chrysostom repeatedly urged his flock to emulate the patient endurance of "the great and noble Job." St. Gregory of Nyssa writes, "Noah was a righteous man, the Scriptures say, and Abraham was faithful, Moses meek, Daniel wise, Joseph chaste, Job blameless, and David perfect in patience."

Eleazar and the Maccabean martyrs, whose story is told in 2 Maccabees 6:18–7:42, deserve special attention. This Jewish scribe and seven brothers, along with their mother, Solomonia, valiantly defied the sacrilegious commands of King Antiochus IV Epiphanes, who was fiercely persecuting the Jews. For their defiance, they were brutally executed in Jerusalem in about 167 BC. These unwaveringly faithful Jews are prototypes of all the Christian martyrs. In their commemoration on August 1, they are called "great martyrs, before the martyrs of Christ."

The Church's high esteem for the Old Testament saints is also seen in her custom of depicting the forefathers and prophets around the base of the interior central dome of a church. And by remembering these saints in her liturgical calendar, the Orthodox Church demonstrates her understanding that the Body of Christ transcends limitations of time and space. This awareness is clearly expressed at every Divine Liturgy: "And again we offer unto You this reasonable service for all those who in faith have gone before us to their rest: patriarchs, prophets, apostles, preachers, evangelists, martyrs, confessors, ascetics, and every righteous spirit made perfect in faith."

For Orthodox Christians, it is the experience of worshipping God with all the saints that powerfully confirms their continuing presence in our midst.

7:1 Like 6:18–31, ch. 7 bears a likeness to the early Christian accounts of the deaths of martyrs for Christ. The details of each death serve to portray the depths of faith in the story of the seven brothers and their mother. St. Cyprian, in a letter designed to strengthen one who was on the verge of martyrdom, wrote extensively of the martyrdom of each of these seven men and their mother.

7:6 Shortly before his death, Moses sings to Israel in Dt 32. The quote here is from Dt 32:36.

7:9 The King of the world is the Son of God, who is the source of resurrection and eternal life for those who follow His commandments.

7:14 In the Gospel of St. John, Jesus speaks of two paths for the resurrected: eternal life for those who have done good and condemnation for those who have done evil (Jn 5:29).

7:20 A basic hymn and prayer of the Orthodox Church is "Memory Eternal"—that the righteous departed will be kept in God's memory for all eternity. The mother and the seven brothers bring to mind the fullness of God's mercy and love.

7:22 It is the Spirit of God who gives breath and life to all people who come into the world (see Gn 2:7).

7:24–31 The tactics of Antiochus were often used by executioners to tempt Christian martyrs to reject Christ.

7:28 That God created the universe out of nothing is a fundamental teaching of the Holy Scriptures (Gn 1:1; also see Heb 11:3).

7:29 The mother clearly confesses the bodily resurrection from the dead.

7:37, 38 While condemning King Antiochus' actions, the youngest brother also hopes that he will eventually repent and confess that He alone is God.

8:1–7 The lowest point of the book has been reached, and now the people of Israel begin to revolt against the Gentiles under the leadership of Judas Maccabeus.

8:16 The revolt gains momentum and the early successes attract six thousand Jews, who form an army in order to enter full-scale warfare against the Gentiles.

8:23 The outmanned army of Jews with its watchword is not unlike the army of the Emperor Constantine, who fought in the name of Christ to defeat a superior foe in the early fourth century.

8:26, 27 Even in the heat of battle, keeping the Sabbath took precedence over all else.

9:8 There is a song of peace in Isaiah wherein no one but the Lord can weigh the high mountains (Is 40:12); but Antiochus is so absorbed in superhuman arrogance he is seen as making himself equal to God (see 9:12).

9:9 Note that Herod was inflicted with a similar condition (Acts 12:23).

9:11–18 Antiochus' repentance is a classic case of too little too late. "It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God" (Heb 10:31).

10:5 The twenty-fifth of Chislev on the Hebrew calendar corresponds with December 25, bringing to mind the coming of the Son of God in the flesh for the purification of mankind.

10:6 The Feast of Tabernacles is a September Jewish feast, mentioned in Lv 23:43 as the Feast of Booths, when the Jews would live in booths constructed out of palm branches.

10:7 The scene is reminiscent of Palm Sunday (Jn 12:13).

10:10 Antiochus Eupator inherits the kingdom in 9:25. He is a young boy who reigns for only two years before being murdered (see 14:1, 2; 1Mc 7:34).

10:29 See Rev 9:17.

10:38 The Jews begin (10:16) and end their task in prayer.

11:3 It was a pagan Greek practice to sell the high priesthood annually in order to raise money for the government.

11:8 See 3:25.

11:16 The name of Judas Maccabeus is conspicuous in its absence from these letters, an obvious snub by Lysias.

11:21 December, 164 BC.

12:2 Timothy: See 8:30–33.

12:8 Jamnia is just south of Joppa.

12:15 See Jos 6:1–21.

12:22 A manifestation of God, who sees all things.

12:31 This is a wheat harvest feast celebrated seven weeks after Passover when men were required to be present in Jerusalem.

12:32 Pentecost is used here as another name for the Feast of Weeks.
12:40 These tokens are pagan charms that are idolatrous to the Jews.
12:42 This is a clear statement that the righteous Jews prayed for the departed so that the sin they had committed might be blotted out.
12:43, 44 It is hope in the resurrection of the departed that forms the basis for prayers for them. In Christ all are alive. The power of these verses clearly indicates the depth of belief the Jews had in both the resurrection and the power of prayer for those gone before us to their rest.
12:45 Judas Maccabeus leads the Jews in praying for the release of their compatriots who had sinned.
13:4 The King of kings is the Eternal Son and Word of God ( see Rev 19:13, 16).
13:12 To pray in a prostrate position was a sign of great need to be freed from acts of sacrilege (see 3:15; 10:4). The fact that they made prostrations for three days and then arose reminds us of the third-day resurrection of Jesus Christ.
14:1 This is about the year 161 BC. The invaders kill both Antiochus and Lysias (see 1Mc 7:2–4).
14:4 By offering the crown of gold Alcimus concedes that Demetrius is the new king, and the palm branch is an emblem of his victory. Our Lord is offered palm branches in Jerusalem emblematic of His Kingship (Jn 12:13).
14:6–10 The parallels between Alcimus and Judas Iscariot are noteworthy. Alcimus attempts to destroy Judas Maccabeus as Judas Iscariot betrays Jesus.
14:15 Sprinkling earth on the head is a sign of humility and a recognition of God the Creator (see Gn 3:19 and also Jos 7:6).
14:33 Since the Jews had recent memory of the cult of Dionysus, this oath would have had profound impact (see 6:7).
14:35, 36 This petition reflects the traditional patterns of Jewish liturgical prayer.
15:1 Nicanor was aware the Jews would not fight on the Sabbath.
15:2 These Jews were conscripted into Nicanor's army and wished to keep the Sabbath (see Ex 20:8–11).
15:12 Onias is the high priest recorded in 3:1–4:1.
15:14 The Jews believed departed saints like Jeremiah were alive before the general resurrection. This is clearly revealed in the New Testament when Moses and Elijah appear with Christ on Mt. Tabor (Mt 17:1–4).
15:18 The Jews' main concern is to protect the temple (see 14:33).
15:22 See 4Kg 19:35.
15:26 One of the prayers the Jews may have used in battle is Ps 68, the verses of which the Orthodox Church uses to begin Paschal Matins, Liturgy, and Vespers. They announce Christ's defeat of death and the devil.
15:30 This is Nicanor's right arm, which he used to point at the temple sanctuary and threaten to level the altar and erect a shrine to Dionysus (see 14:33; 15:32).
15:39 Delights the ears indicates this work was meant to be read aloud.

The Third Book of the Maccabees

Author

The author is an unidentified Alexandrian Jew who wrote the book in Greek.

Date

Early first century BC is a likely date, considering the book's literary affinities and textual similarities with 2 Maccabees.

Major Theme

As with the previous Maccabean works, the predominant message is that God remains faithful to His chosen people, blessing and preserving them in tribulation. The book was written to console, exhort, and teach the Egyptian Jews in the midst of their tribulations, and to inspire faith in the providence of God (4:21) by recounting how the Jews had been delivered from similar trials in the past.

Background

The title of the work is a misnomer, for the contents do not deal with the exploits of the Maccabean heroes. Instead, the book recounts the struggles of Egyptian Jews who suffered under Ptolemy IV Philopater (221–203 BC).

The book begins by describing the attempt of King Ptolemy to enter and desecrate the Holy of Holies in the Jerusalem temple. When the desecration is averted by divine intervention through the prayers of Simon the high priest (1:1–2:24), the king returns to Egypt determined to wreak vengeance on Israel for his humiliation in Jerusalem. The remainder of the work describes the persecution of the Jews, the miracles wrought on their behalf, and their subsequent deliverance by God.

Outline

I. The Battle of Raphia and Ptolemy's Attempt to Desecrate the Temple (1:1–29)
II. The Prayer of Simon the High Priest for God's Help Is Answered (2:1–24)
III. King Ptolemy's Cruel Treatment of the Jews (2:25–5:51)
IV. Eleazar's Prayer of Intercession; Two Angels Rescue the Jews (6:1–29)
V. Ptolemy Repents and Favors the Jews; They Celebrate (6:30–7:23)

The Battle at Raphia

[1]When Philopator heard from those who returned that the regions he ruled had been captured by Antiochus, he issued orders to all his infantry and cavalry forces, took his sister Arsinoe along with him, and set out toward the area near Raphia, where the forces of Antiochus were positioned. [2]Now a certain Theodotus, intending to carry out a plan he had developed, took the finest of the Ptolemaic weapons issued earlier to him and crossed by night to Ptolemy's tent with the intention of killing him by himself, and in that way ending the war. [3]But Dositheus, called the son of Drimylos, by birth Jew who afterward changed his religion and apostatized from the traditions of his fathers, removed the king and put in his place a certain unimportant man in the tent. That man suffered the vengeance intended for the king.

[4]When a fierce battle took place and things were going rather well for Antiochus, Arsinoe went and exhorted the soldiers with her cries and tears. With her hair disheveled, she urged them to be brave and to defend themselves and their children and wives. She promised to give each of them two minas of gold if they were victorious. [5]So it happened the enemy was defeated in hand-to-hand combat, and many were taken captive. [6]But having prevailed against the plot, Ptolemy decided to visit and encourage the neighboring cities. [7]In doing so and by enriching their sacred precincts with gifts, he built up the morale of the conquered people.

Ptolemy Tries to Enter the Temple

[8]When the Jews sent representatives to him from the senate, they greeted him, brought him gifts, and congratulated him on the way things turned out. He was favorable to them and eager to visit them soon. [9]When he came to Jerusalem, he sacrificed to the Almighty God and made thank offerings and did what was appropriate in the place. In coming into the holy place, he was astonished at its excellence and beauty, [10]and he admired the good order of the temple and conceived a desire to enter into the inner sanctuary. [11]They told him, however, it was inappropriate for him to do this, since even citizens of their own nation were not allowed to enter, nor even all the priests. Only the high priest who was first over all of them could enter, but only once a year. Ptolemy, though, was not at all persuaded. [12]Even when the law was read to him, still he would not stop insisting that he should enter, saying, “Even if others are deprived of this honor, I must not be deprived.” [13]Then he asked why nobody ever prevented him from going into all the other shrines. [14]Someone said without thinking that it was improper to take that as a portent. [15]When that happened, he said that he would enter anyway, whether they liked it or not.

[16]Then the priests, fully vested, prostrated themselves and supplicated God Most High to help them in the present circumstances, to turn away the impulse of the man of evil design. The temple was filled with their cries and tears. [17]Those who remained in the city rushed out, supposing that something mysterious was happening. [18]Even the virgins who had remained in their chambers rushed out with their mothers and sprinkled dust on their hair, filling the streets with wailing and groaning. [19]Those, too, who were recently brought to their bridal chambers abandoned the modesty that was appropriate for them and raced through the city in a disorderly manner. [20]At that point, mothers and nurses even abandoned their newborns here and there, some at home and others in the streets, and without looking back crowded into the most high temple.

[21]The prayers of those gathered were of varied forms because of what the king was plotting in such an unholy way. [22]Besides, more aggressive citizens would in no way tolerate the carrying out of his plan or the fulfillment of his intention. [23]They shouted to their neighbors to make a run on the weapons and to die courageously for the law of their fathers. They created a great disturbance in the place and were barely restrained by the aged and the elders. They took up the same posture of prayer as the others.

[24]In the meantime, the multitude returned to prayer as before. [25]The elders close by the king made many attempts to divert his haughty mind from the plan he had concocted. [26]But in his arrogance he dismissed everything they said and began to approach the place, determined to complete his plan. [27]When those around the king observed this, they turned to one another and called upon Him who is all-powerful to come to their aid in this current struggle and not to ignore this lawless and arrogant act. [28]But because of the continual impassioned shouting of the crowds, it seemed that not only those present but also the very walls and the earth itself were echoing the cry, for they all preferred death to the profaning of the temple.

A Priestly Prayer Stops Ptolemy

1 The high priest Simon bent his knees before the temple and stretched out his hands with great dignity, calmly offering the following prayer: 2 "O Lord, Lord, King of the heavens and Master of all creation, Holy One among the holy ones, the only Ruler, the Almighty: attend to us who are grievously oppressed by an unholy and irreverent man who is arrogant in his audacity and power. 3 For You, the Creator of all and Ruler over all, are a righteous Master, and You judge those who do anything with insolence and arrogance.
4 In the past You destroyed those who acted unjustly, among whom were the giants who trusted in their physical strength and boldness, whom You destroyed by bringing the great flood of water upon them. 5 You burned up with fire and brimstone the inhabitants of Sodom, who acted in arrogance and were notorious for their evil acts, and You made them an example for those who came after them. 6 You made known Your might and power among men and brought many different acts of punishment on the arrogant Pharaoh, who enslaved Your holy people Israel. 7 For when he chased after them with horse-drawn chariots and a myriad of troops, You overwhelmed him in the depths of the sea, and brought across to safety those who trusted in You, the King of all creation. 8 So when they considered the works of Your hands, they praised
You, the Almighty God.

9 "You, O King, created the endless and measureless earth and chose this city. You sanctified this holy place for Your name and hallowed it by its magnificent appearance, even though You have no need of anything. You made its structure solid for the glory of Your great and honorable name.

10 "Because You love the house of Israel, You promised that if we should suffer setbacks and if distress should overtake us, You would hear our supplication when we come into this place to pray. 11 Indeed, You are faithful and true. 12 But often when our fathers were afflicted, You helped them in humility and saved them from great evils. 13 Behold, O holy King, how we are oppressed because of our manifold sins, subjected to our enemies and lying in helplessness. 14 In our downfall this arrogant and ungodly man continues to desecrate the holy place which is dedicated to the name of Your glory on the earth. 15 Your dwelling place, the heaven of the heavens, is unapproachable by men. 16 But since You by Your grace consented to grant Your glory upon

Your people Israel, You hallowed this place. [17]Do not punish us for the defilement caused by these men, and do not chastise us for this profanity. Do not allow these lawless people to brag in their anger and exult in the pride of their tongues, saying [18]that they trampled the house of holiness as the houses of abominations are trampled.

[19]"Wipe away our sins, disperse our errors, and display Your compassion at this hour. [20]Let Your mercies come upon us quickly. Grant praise in the mouth of us who have fallen and are crushed in our souls, and bring us peace."

[21]Then God, who watches over all, our Holy Forefather among the holy ones, heard this lawful supplication and scourged the man who raised himself up in arrogance and audacity. [22]He shook him on one side and the other, as a reed is shaken by the wind, so that he lay powerless on the ground. Besides being paralyzed in his limbs, he was unable to cry out, since he was struck by a righteous judgment. [23]Therefore his friends and bodyguards alike were struck by an overwhelming fear, seeing the severe punishment that overtook him. Fearing he would die, quickly they dragged him away. [24]Later, when he recovered, he still did not repent after being chastised, but went his way making bitter threats.

Ptolemy Assaults the Jews

[25]Then Ptolemy crossed over to Egypt, where he increased his evil, assisted by the aforementioned drinking companions and comrades, who were unacquainted with anything righteous. [26]He was not content with his countless acts of indecency, but audaciously proceeded to spread many evil reports throughout the region. Many of his friends observed the king's intentions and adjusted themselves to conform to his will. [27]He undertook to spread abroad a public blame against the Jewish nation, and raising a plaque on the tower at the palace, he carved this inscription: [28]"No one shall enter the temple who does not sacrifice, but all the Jews shall be gathered for a census for taxation and reduced to servant status. Those who oppose this will be taken by force and put to death. [29]Those registered are to be branded by fire on their bodies with the ivy leaf symbol of Dionysus, and they will also return to their former status." [30]But so as not to appear an enemy to all, he wrote underneath: "If some of them prefer to join those initiated into the mysteries, they will have equal rights of citizenship with the Alexandrians."

[31]Some, then, obviously hated the price required to maintain godliness in the city. So they gave themselves up willingly, for they expected greater glory from the association they were about to have with the king. [32]But most of them prevailed with a noble spirit and did not abandon their faith. They paid money to save their lives and fearlessly exerted themselves to be saved from the census. [33]They remained hopeful of finding help, while loathing those who isolated themselves from them. They considered them betrayers of the nation, and therefore, deprived them of friendship and assistance.

3 Maccabees 3

[1]When the ungodly king heard this, he reached such a point of rage that he was angry not only at the Jews of Alexandria, but even more so against those in the countryside. So he commanded that they all be brought together in one place and put to death by the worst possible means. [2]While these things were being organized, an antagonistic rumor was circulated against the Jewish nation by men who conspired to harm them. This was on the pretext the Jews hindered others from the observance of their customs.

[3]The Jews, though, maintained their goodwill and unswerving faith toward the throne. [4]But because they worshiped God and lived by His precepts, they kept themselves separate from others with regard to food, and therefore appeared hateful to some. [5]But they adorned their way of life with the good deeds of righteous people, and thus established themselves as honorable to all men. [6]Yet those of other nations took no account of the good works the Jews offered the nation, which was the common talk of all men. [7]Instead they droned on about the differences in worship and foods, saying the Jews were not committed to the king or the authorities, but were hostile and in great opposition to his leadership. Therefore they attached no ordinary blame to them.

[8]Now there were Greeks in the city who had not been harmed in any way by the Jews, yet they observed the growing crowds and unprecedented tumult surrounding these people. But they could not help them because they lived in weakness under tyranny. But they attempted to comfort them and, being grieved, hoped for a change in the situation. [9]For it was incomprehensible to ignore such a large group which had done no wrong. [10]But already certain neighbors and business associates drew them aside, gave them pledges of protection, and offered more serious efforts toward their defense.

Ptolemy’s Decree

[11]Then the king, who exalted himself in his current prosperity and did not consider the power of the Almighty God, assumed he could persist continually in the same purpose. So he wrote this letter against them:

[12]“King Ptolemy Philopator, to the commanders and soldiers in Egypt and the surrounding region, greetings and health. [13]I myself and my government are well. [14]When our expedition to Asia took place, as you know, and was brought to completion according to expectation by the help of the gods not lightly given, [15]we thought it fit not by force of the spear, but by equity and great benevolence, to foster the peoples inhabiting Coelesyria and Phoenicia and to willingly treat them well. [16]We distributed large revenues to the priests around the cities, and also went to Jerusalem to honor the temple of those guilty people, who never cease from their folly. [17]They accepted our presence in word, yet were insincere in their deeds. For when we were eager to enter their inner shrine and honor it with extraordinary and most beautiful votive offerings, [18]we were carried away by arrogant old men who prevented us from entering. But they were spared the exercise of our strength because of the benevolence we have toward all men. [19]Yet as they kept up their obvious hostility toward us, they became unique among the nations, because they lifted their heads against kings and benefactors and did not want to consider any deed as sincere.

[20]“But we adapted ourselves to their foolishness and crossed into Egypt with victory. We met all nations with kindness and did what was proper. [21]Yet in this matter we proclaimed forgiveness to all of their kinsmen in Jerusalem. Then because of our confederacy with them and the many things we entrusted to them in sincerity from of old, we dared to make a change and grant them the honor of Alexandrian citizenship. So in this way they would be partakers of the things that are always sacred.

[22]“They, however, took it in a different spirit. With their innate malice, they rejected it and turned aside to evil. [23]Not only did they reject the priceless citizenship, but they even showed loathing in word and silence toward the few among them who were sincerely disposed toward us. So quite in keeping with their infamous way of life, they suspected that we would quickly reverse our policy. [24]Therefore we placed great trust in the signs that these men were ill-disposed toward us in every way. Thus we took precautions against the possibility that a sudden disturbance might rise up against us later, for we considered these impious men to be betrayers behind our backs and barbarian enemies. [25]So we have ordered that as soon as this letter arrives, those who live there with their wives and children should be sent to us immediately by force in iron shackles, bound securely on all sides, for a fatal and shameful massacre as is fitting to traitors. [26]When they have been punished, we are certain that our government will be established afterward in tranquility and security.

[27]"But whoever conceals any of the Jews, from old man to infant or even sucklings, will be killed with the cruelest tortures, along with his entire household. [28]Whoever is willing to give information will receive the estate of the one who is punished, as well as two thousand drachmas of royal silver, and will be crowned with freedom. [29]Every place without exception where a Jew is found concealed will become desolate and burned with fire, and will become useless for all time for every mortal creature."

[30]This is the manner in which the letter was written.

3 Maccabees 4

Deportation to Alexandria

[1]Wherever this decree arrived, a feast at public expense was arranged for the Gentiles with shouting and rejoicing, as the hatred they had harbored against the Jews before now appeared openly. [2]But for the Jews, there was unceasing sorrow and lamentable crying with tears; everywhere their hearts burned, and with groans they bewailed the unexpected destruction that was suddenly inflicted on them. [3]But was there any district or city, or any inhabited place whatsoever, or any streets, that were not filled with their mourning and wailing? [4]For they were being sent off by the commanders of the city in such a bitter and ruthless spirit that even when some of their enemies saw them receive such unusual punishments before their eyes, they considered them a common object of pity, and wept for their miserable expulsion and the uncertainty of their lives. [5]A large group of old men, covered with gray hair, was forced to march swiftly, despite the sluggishness of their old age. With shameless violence they were driven on a harsh journey. [6]Young women who had just stepped into their bridal chamber to enter married life exchanged delight for wailing. With their perfumed hair sprinkled with dust, they openly raised a lamentation instead of wedding hymns, as they were carried away together by the violence of the Gentiles. [7]In shackles and in view of the public, they were dragged along violently to the boat of embarkation. [8]Their husbands, in their vigorous youthful prime and with nooses encircling their necks instead of flowers, passed the remaining days of their wedding feast in lamentations rather than feasting and youthful celebration, as they saw the grave already before their feet. [9]But they were brought on board like wild animals in iron-bound restraints, some fastened by their necks to the benches of the ships, others with their feet secured in unbreakable fetters. [10]In addition they had the thick deck above them; thus, darkness covered their eyes on all sides, and they were treated like betrayers during the entire voyage.

Death Threat

[11]When they were brought to the place called Schedia and their voyage was completed according to the king's decree, he directed that they be confined outside the city in the hippodrome, which had an immense outside perimeter. He also commanded that at the appointed time, they be made a public example for those returning to the city and those going from the city to the country. Thus they could not communicate with the king's forces, or in any way claim to be within the boundaries of the city. [12]But as this took place, the king heard that their Jewish compatriots from the city often went out secretly to lament the shameful suffering of their brothers. [13]Growing furious, he commanded that these visitors be treated in precisely the same way as the others, so they would not be spared any of their punishment. [14]He further commanded that every tribe be registered by name, not for the toilsome servitude just mentioned, but so they would suffer the prescribed tortures and be put to death in a single day. [15]Their registration took place, then, with bitter haste and zealous diligence. It took forty days from sunrise to sunset, yet still remained incomplete.

[16]The king was filled with great and constant joy as he established banquets to extol all his idols, with a mind that wandered far away from the truth. With a profane mouth, he praised mute things that were unable to speak or offer help, and spoke improper things against the Almighty God. [17]But after the aforementioned interval of time, the scribes suggested to him that he would no longer be able to accomplish the registration of the Jews because their number was so large. [18]They said that although there were still many of them in the country, some of whom were gathered in their houses and others elsewhere in the region, it was impossible for all the commanders in Egypt to register them. [19]But the king threatened the scribes more harshly, claiming they were bribed to provide the Jews a mechanism of escape. But he was clearly convinced [20]when they proved what they said, for they showed him that the paper and writing pens they used were depleted. [21]This was the activity of God's invincible providence helping the Jews from heaven.

Hermon and His Elephants

[1]Then the king, filled with wrath and anger and inflexible in every respect, summoned Hermon, the keeper of the elephants. [2]On the following day, he ordered that he take all the elephants—five hundred in number—and get them drunk with plenty of unmingled wine and abundant handfuls of frankincense. Then after they had grown wild from the bounteous abundance of drink, he was to lead them where the Jews would meet their fate. [3]When he had issued these directives, he resumed his feasting, alone with those of his friends and of the army who were particularly hostile toward the Jews. [4]Then Hermon, caretaker of the elephants, obediently carried out all his orders. [5]The servants responsible for the Jews went out at evening, binding the hands of these unfortunate people, and managed to keep them in custody all night. They expected the whole nation would meet a final destruction. [6]But the Jews, thinking they were deprived of all protection from the Gentiles because of being bound on all sides, [7]called out to the Lord Almighty, Sovereign of all authority, their merciful God and Father. With tears and with a cry not easily silenced, they prayed [8]that He divert the unholy plot against them with a vengeance by a glorious appearance, and save them from the fate now present before them. [9]Their supplication went up earnestly to heaven.

[10]Now Hermon got his pitiful elephants drunk by filling them up with a great abundance of wine and frankincense. Then he came to the court early in the morning to make his report to the king. [11]But God sent on the king a deep sleep, that good gift from the beginning of time which he has cast on those He favors during both night and the day. [12]Thus the king was restrained from his awful plan by the sweet and deep sleep from the Lord. He was disappointed in his lawless and unbending scheme. [13]But when the Jews escaped the appointed hour, they praised their holy God, and again beseeched Him who is easily reconciled to show the strength of His almighty hand to the haughty Gentiles.

14By now it was almost the middle of the tenth hour, and the man in charge of banquet invitations arranged the guests together, came forward, and nudged the king. 15As soon as he finally roused him, he made a report about what was happening and informed him that the hour of the banquet had already passed. 16But as the king considered this, he returned to his drinking, and commanded those around him at the banquet to locate opposite him. 17When this was done, he urged them to give themselves to still more eating and drinking, so the effect of the banquet would be still more raucous. 18As the festivities progressed, the king summoned Hermon and with a direct threat asked why the Jews had made it alive through the present day. 19But when Hermon declared that while it was still night he had done what was ordered, the king's friends confirmed this. 20Then overcome with a savagery worse than that of Phalaris, the king said that because of the day's sleep they received favor; but without delay on the coming day, Hermon must ready the elephants for the extermination of the godless Jews. 21So when the king had spoken, all the guests present willingly and joyfully agreed with the plan; then each departed for home. 22However, they did not use the night for sleep, but to devise all sorts of insults for those they assumed had met their doom.

God Delivers His People

23As soon as the cock crowed at dawn, Hermon harnessed the beasts and set them in motion in the great colonnade. 24Crowds had gathered around the city for this pitiful sight, even before dawn. 25But the Jews, at their last breath and at the last moment, made a tearful supplication in mournful songs. They stretched out their hands to heaven, and prayed to the Almighty God to quickly help them again. 26The rays of the sun were not yet spreading when Hermon stood by and called the king and his friends, who were waiting. He pointed to the door and showed that what the king desired was ready. 27But when the king received the report, he was terrified at the unusual invitation to come out. Completely overcome with bewilderment, he asked what this was which had been done so quickly. 28This was an act of God, Master over all things, who placed a forgetfulness in the king's mind about what had been plotted before.

29But Hermon and all the king's friends told him, "The beasts and the troops are ready, O king, according to your eager purpose.” [30]But at these words, he was filled with deep anger, because his whole plot had been scattered from his mind by God’s providence. Then he glared at them and threatened, [31]“If your parents or children were here, I would furnish them as a lavish feast for the wild beasts, instead of these innocent people, who have shown me and my fathers complete and unbending loyalty in everything asked of them. [32]In fact, if it were not for my familiarity with you and your usefulness, you would be deprived of life rather than them.”

[33]Thus, Hermon endured an unexpected and dangerous threat, and his eyes shifted and his countenance fell. [34]Then one by one the king’s friends slunk away sullenly, and each one returned to his own business. [35]But when the Jews heard what the king said, they praised God as the revealed Lord and King of kings, since this happened to them because of His help.

The Ambivalent King

[36]Meanwhile, the king restarted the banquet. He encouraged the guests to resume their merrymaking as before. [37]Then he summoned Hermon and threatened him, saying, “How many times must you be given orders about these same things, you worthless wretch? [38]Equip the elephants once again to crush the Jews tomorrow.” [39]But his administrators who were reclining together with him, curious as to his unstable mind, urged him, saying, [40]“How long, O king, are you going to tease us as if we were irrational, for you commanded now for the third time to destroy them? Then again you took back your command and what seemed good to you. [41]Because of this, the city is in turmoil, expecting you to act, and is in danger of being torn apart by the growing crowds.”

[42]At this point, the king, a Phalaris in every way, was filled with insanity, and counting as nothing his changes of mind concerning the care of the Jews, swore a firm oath to send them to Hades without delay, mangled by the feet and knees of the wild beasts. [43]He would then attack the Jewish land and abruptly level it to the ground with fire and the spear, and burn down for all time the temple where they made sacrifices, which had been made inaccessible to him. [44]Then his friends and officials departed joyfully, and confidently assigned the forces to the key places in the city to keep watch.

[45]Then the keeper of the elephants brought the beasts almost to a state of madness, so to speak, with the sweetest drinks of wine mixed with frankincense; and he equipped them with frightful devices. [46]So about dawn, when the city was filled with countless hordes of onlookers filling the hippodrome, he went into the court and urged the king to fulfill his purpose. 47The king then worked up his depraved mind into a fit of wrath, and rushed out in full strength with all the beasts. With hardened heart, he wanted to see with his own eyes the lamentable and evil crushing of the Jews.

48The Jews saw the cloud of dust stirred up by the elephants as they came out of the gate, the armed forces behind them. They also heard the trampling of the throng and loud, boisterous noise. 49They considered this the last moment of their lives and the end of their wretched uncertainty. Turning to one another in sorrow, they kissed each other with tears, and embracing their loved ones, they fell on their necks, parents and children and mothers and daughters, women with infants at their breasts drawing their last milk. 50Nonetheless, when they recalled the help from heaven they had received earlier, they suddenly threw themselves face down, women taking the infants from their breasts, 51and they cried out in a loud voice, beseeching the Master of all to have mercy on them. For they were standing at the very gates of Hades.

3 Maccabees 6

The Prayer of Eleazar

1Now there was a certain man, Eleazar, famous among the priests of the land, who reached the prime of his life in old age and adorned his life with every virtue. He directed the elders around him to call on the holy God, and he prayed as follows:

> 2"O King, mighty in power, O Most High, the Almighty God, who governs all creation in mercy, 3look upon the seed of Abraham and the descendants of the saintly man Jacob, because a dedicated portion of Your people, O Father, are being unjustly destroyed as strangers in a foreign land. 4Pharaoh abounded in chariots and was the master of this Egypt when he arose with unlawful boldness, a boasting tongue, and an arrogant army. But You destroyed him by drowning him in the sea and appeared as a light of mercy to the nation Israel. 5Sennacherib also boasted in his countless forces, because this oppressive king of the Assyrians had already taken the whole world under his authority by the spear. Then he was lifted up against Your holy city and spoke grievously with pride and insults. But You shattered him, O Master, and made Your power visible to many nations. [6]Then when the three companions in Babylon willingly gave their lives to fire—for they would not bow to vain things—You sent dew upon the fiery furnace and saved them to their last hair. You sent them back unharmed and turned the flames against their adversaries. [7]Daniel was thrown to the lions below ground as food for lions because of jealous slander. But You brought him unharmed back up to daylight. [8]Jonah was decomposing in the belly of the deep-sea monster. But You, O Father, watched over him and returned him unharmed to all his kin. [9]So now, O hater of insolence, O merciful Defender of all, appear speedily to those of the family of Israel, under outrageous abuse by abominable and lawless Gentiles.

[10]"Even if our life has become enmeshed in unrighteousness during our captivity, save us from the hand of our adversaries, O Master, and destroy us by whatever death You choose. [11]Only do not allow these vain-minded men to praise their useless things as they destroy those You love, saying, 'Not even their God could rescue them.' [12]But You, who have all strength and authority, O Eternal One, look down on us now. Have mercy on us, who are being deprived of life like traitors by the thoughtless insults of lawless men. [13]Let the Gentiles cower at Your unconquerable power this day, O Honorable One who has the power to save the race of Jacob. [14]This entire multitude of babes and their parents beseech You with tears. [15]Let it be revealed to all the Gentiles, O Lord, that You are with us, and that You did not turn Your face from us. For as You said, 'Not even in the land of their enemies did I neglect them.' Do this for us, O Lord."

The Jews Are Delivered

[16]When Eleazar finished his prayer, the king arrived at the hippodrome with the beasts and with all the haughtiness of his army. [17]Then the Jews who saw him cried out in a loud voice to heaven, so much so that the valleys nearby echoed and brought unrestrained fear on the whole army. [18]Then the Almighty God, most glorious and full of truth, manifested His holy face and thrust open the doors of heaven, from which two glorious angels descended, terrible in form, and visible to all except the Jews. [19]They attacked the enemy forces, filled them with confusion and fright, and bound them with immovable fetters. [20]The king's body was seized with a tremor, and he even forgot his contemptible vocabulary. [21]Then the beasts turned against the armed forces who were behind them, and they trampled and killed them.

Ptolemy's Change of Heart

22 The king's wrath was turned to compassion and tears because of the plot he devised earlier, 23 for he heard the wailing and saw all the people who fell to destruction. So, weeping with anger, he threatened his friends, shouting, 24 "You act as if you were the king yourselves, and you exceed tyrants in your savagery and attack even me, your benefactor. You scheme to deprive me of my reign and my life itself with secret plots which are unprofitable to the kingdom. 25 Who drove these people from their houses—who faithfully kept our strongholds—and stupidly gathered all of them here? 26 Who so unlawfully entangled in terrible dangers these, who from the beginning differed from all other nations in their goodwill toward us and repeatedly accepted the worst pitfalls known to man? 27 Release them! Undo their unjust bonds. Send them back home in peace and beg forgiveness for what you did to them. 28 Set free the sons of the heavenly and living Almighty God, who has provided uninterrupted tranquility for our affairs from the time of our fathers until now." 29 Thus he said these things. So the Jews, who were released immediately, kept praising their holy God and Savior, for they had at last escaped death.

30 Then the king returned to the city and summoned the man in charge of the treasury. He commanded that he provide wine and everything else necessary so the Jews could feast for seven days. For the king thought it fitting that they celebrate their deliverance and rejoice in the very place they expected to meet their doom. 31 Then those who had been treated disgracefully and were close to death, or rather stood at death's door, were given a special invitation. They organized a feast of deliverance from the bitter and mournful fate of death. Filled with joy, their celebration took the place of desolation and grave clothes. 32 They ceased their chanting of lamentations and took up an ode of their fathers, praising their wonderworking God and Savior. They halted all wailing and lamenting and formed choirs as a symbol of joy and peace. 33 Similarly, the king called a great feast to celebrate these things, and ceaselessly and magnificently gave thanks to heaven for his unplanned experience of personal salvation. 34 Those who believed previously that the Jews were going to be made food for the birds unto destruction, and thus registered them with glee, sighed as they were covered with shame, for their fire-breathing aggression was shamefully extinguished.

35But the Jews, as we said before, formed the aforementioned choir and spent their time feasting with psalms of a joyful thanksgiving. 36They established a public ritual to commemorate these things within their entire community for the generations to come. They structured this observance as a festival, not for drunkenness and gluttony, but because of the salvation which they received from God. 37They then requested that the king dismiss them to return back home.

38Now their registration took place from the twenty-fifth of Pachon until the fourth of Epiphi, that is, forty days. They faced destruction from the fifth of Epiphi until the seventh, that is, three days. 39During this time the Lord over all things manifested His mercy with great glory and saved them all, together and unharmed. 40Thus they feasted with everything provided by the king until the fourteenth day, when they also petitioned to be sent away. 41The king immediately granted their request and wrote for them the letter, copied below, to the commanders in each city, magnanimously stating his concern for them:

3 Maccabees 7

A Letter of Support from the King

1"King Ptolemy Philopator, to the commanders in Egypt and to all those in authority in our government, greetings and health. 2We ourselves are well, as are our children, with the great God guiding our affairs as we desire. 3Some of our friends through malignity kept urging us and finally persuaded us to gather the Jews in our kingdom to have them punished in a body with unusual punishments, as if they were rebels. 4They argued that until this was accomplished, our government would never be stable because of their ill-will toward all nations. 5They led them out cruelly in fetters as slaves, or rather as traitors, and without making any inquiry or investigation, they attempted to attack them, girding themselves with fierceness more savage than that of the Scythians. 6But because of the fairness we have toward all men, we threatened them severely for these things. Yet we barely spared their lives, because we recognized that the heavenly God surely protects the Jews, as a father protects his sons and fights on their behalf. 7We considered the steadfast goodwill they had toward us and toward our brothers, and justly acquitted them from every manner of charge. [8]Then we ordered our people to go about their business, each in his own place, with no one harming them or reproaching them undeservedly about what happened. [9]For you know that if we plot any evil against them or trouble them at all, we will have not man but God the Most High, the Master of all power, unfavorable to us in vengeance for these things and inescapable in everything forever. Farewell."

The Traitors Are Punished

[10]When they received this letter, the Jews did not hasten to depart immediately, but rather petitioned the king that those of the race of Jews who transgressed the law of the Holy God should receive the punishment they deserved. [11]They proclaimed that those who transgressed the divine commands on account of their appetites would never again be favorable toward the king's government. [12]So he accepted the truth of what they said and deferred to them, giving them permission in all things to destroy those who had transgressed the law of God throughout his kingdom with boldness and without any royal authority or supervision. [13]Then their priests and the whole multitude extolled the king and, as was appropriate, responded with an alleluia, and departed in joy. [14]As they went their way, they punished and killed anyone of their race they encountered who had defiled himself, putting him to public shame. [15]So on that day they killed more than three hundred men, and they held a joyous festival because they had overtaken those who were defiled. [16]Then those who had held firmly to God to the point of death received the pleasure of their deliverance. They left the city wreathed in all sorts of sweet-smelling flowers, with joyful shouts of thanks in praises and melodious hymns to the God of their fathers, the everlasting Savior of Israel.

[17]But when they reached Ptolemais, called the Rose-bearing City because of the special character of the place, the fleet had waited there for seven days according to the plan they determined. [18]They held a feast of deliverance there for the king, who liberally supplied them with everything they needed for their journey home. [19]When they reached land in peace with proper giving of thanks, they also decided to again set apart these days for joyful festivity during their stay. [20]They marked these days on a column inscribed and set in the banquet site, consecrating it as a place of prayer. Then they went away safely through land, sea, and river, each to his own home, free and overjoyed by the command of the king. [21]They had more honor than before among their adversaries, were held in esteem and awe, and none of them lost any of their belongings. [22]Instead, they reclaimed all of their own things which had been registered. If anyone held something of theirs, they returned it with the greatest fear, since the Almighty God had done perfectly magnificent works to gain their deliverance.

[23]Blessed is the Savior of Israel unto ages of ages! Amen.

Annotations for 3 Maccabees

1:1 Philopator is Ptolemy IV (see 3:12). The battle near Raphia is dated by most at 217 BC. Arsinoe was the sister of Philopator, who married her and later had her murdered.
1:2 Theodotus had led the Egyptian army into Syria.
1:4 Antiochus III ruled Syria in the years 223–187 BC.
1:9 The Almighty God can also be rendered "God Most High" (1:16; see also 4:16) or even "the Greatest God." The place is a reference in late Jewish antiquity to the temple (v. 10) at Jerusalem.
1:10, 11 Inner sanctuary is a reference to the holy of holies. For a Gentile to enter this area would ritually defile it and be a great offense against God. Israel and especially the priests would be held accountable.
1:12 Evidently, Ptolemy thought the Jews were making up the law to keep him out. They read him the law to try to convince him (Ex 30:10; Lv 16:2, 11, 12, 15, 34). The king feels slighted and sees the high priest as beneath him.
1:13 The other shrines are various places in the temple.
1:16 The response of the Jews to Ptolemy's plan is telling. The priests, caring nothing for appearance, immediately supplicate God Most High for help, and do so loudly with cries and tears. The priests were fully vested for sacrifice and thanksgiving; sackcloth and ashes were for penitence.
1:17 This is an activity repeated in 2Mc 3:20–30.
1:20 Mothers and nurses caring for infants left them to entreat God for protection from Ptolemy's sin.
1:22, 23 Aggressive citizens is likely a reference to young men filled with zeal for the Lord and the traditions of their fathers. They were barely restrained by the older and wiser men who prevailed over them. The older men convinced the younger to join in prayer instead, knowing their uncontrolled fervor would result in the slaughter of all present.
1:25 The elders were Ptolemy's guides in the temple as well as his advisors.
1:27 Even those accompanying the king now joined together in prayer to God.
1:28 The cacophony is so intense that it seems even the temple walls themselves rebel against such blasphemous action.
2:1 Simon was the son of Onias II and high priest from 219–196 BC. According to Sirach, he was a great spiritual leader of the Jews who repaired and fortified the temple at Jerusalem (WSir 50:1–21). His prayer follows Jewish tradition, beginning with praise and doxology, glorifying God as the ruler of the universe. Then follows a commemoration, calling to remembrance God's past mighty deeds on behalf of His people. A fervent petition for divine favor and action punctuates its closure.
2:2 References to God as King of the heavens include Dan 4:37; 1Ez 4:46, 58; Jdt 9:12; Tb 13:7, 11.
2:5 Sodom: See Gn 13:13; Dt 29:23; WSol 10:6–8; 2Ez 2:8; Lk 17:29; 2Pt 2:6; Jude 1:7.
2:6 Punishment on . . . Pharaoh: See Ex 5–12; Rom 9:17.
2:7 The sea: See Ex 14:21–28.
2:9 Chose this city: Jerusalem is specifically mentioned throughout the Old Testament as having been the city God has chosen for His name (see 3Kg 8:44, 48; 11:32, 36; 14:1; 4Kg 23:27; 2Ch 6:34, 38; 12:13; WSir 49:6).
2:13 Simon does not excuse the Israelites' responsibility for their current situation, but rather acknowledges their plight is the result of their manifold sins. Israel is lying in helplessness if they face Ptolemy without God's help.
2:15 The heaven of the heavens is a superlative indicating the true dwelling place of God is beyond the temple, in the highest of all heights, the most heavenly heaven.
2:16 Your glory is a reference to the shekinah, or the manifest glory of God to Israel, who dwells in the tabernacle and the temple, showing His presence among the people. For Christians, the manifest glory of God to Israel is none other than our Lord Jesus Christ, who before His Incarnation made Himself present among the Israelites (Ex 24:16, 17; 40:34, 35; Lv 9:23; 2Ch 5:14; 7:1–3).
2:18 The final indignity to a defeated people was to destroy their houses of worship.
2:22 Ptolemy, because of his arrogance before God, shook and became as powerless as the idols of vanity

(see also 2Mc 3:27–29 for God's similar treatment of Heliodorus).

2:24 Ptolemy slinks away, humiliated but unrepentant.

2:25 Returning to Egypt only served to strengthen Ptolemy's resolve to get revenge on the Hebrews.

2:28 The battle lines are drawn in this unseen warfare. The Jews must not worship their God, and everyone in Alexandria must sacrifice to Dionysus. (For a similar battle of powers, see Dan 3.) The census is of slaves and servant classes, seemingly unique to Alexandria. The Jews are effectively becoming the property of the state.

2:29 Those registered are those who willingly comply. They will be branded, and this mark of allegiance will be permanent. Some people in ancient times would mark or brand themselves with the symbol of their god, here the ivy leaf. St. John predicts a similar mark of the beast (Rev 13:16, 17) in the end times.

2:31 Worshipping the one true God was fine, but not if it involved suffering.

2:32 Like Jacob, who struggled with God and prevailed (though he did not "win" the fight with the angel), the Jews are prevailing because they will not abandon their faith. They also paid bribes to save their lives.

2:33 These dissenters have not only denounced their God, but are considered betrayers to the whole nation of Jews.

3:1 King Ptolemy IV was well known for his profanity and rage.

3:2 The pretext for destroying the Jewish nation will be their alleged oppression of others—which is also an excuse set forth by those opposing Christians today.

3:8 The Greeks in Egypt understood that if the Jews, who had done nothing wrong, have fallen under tyranny, surely no one else is safe either. They act honorably to defend the Jews and aid them.

3:11 King Ptolemy IV is living off his father's political and material capital and reveling in it.

3:12–29 The king's anger and spite are clear from the self-justifying style of the letter.

3:21 For many years, Jews had been entrusted with positions of authority, influence, and management in Alexandrian society because they were trustworthy and honest fulfillers of their duty. Many faithfully manned the fortresses that guarded Ptolemy's kingdom (see 6:25).

3:23 Citizenship in Alexandria could not be purchased, as could later Roman citizenship, but instead was granted as a royal favor.

3:25 The king is calling for the destruction of fathers.

3:27 Now genocide is being advocated, and Ptolemy expects the cooperation of his people.

3:30 Rather than putting forth an exact copy of the actual letter, the author states this is a paraphrase, containing the manner and tone of the original letter.

4:1 A public ceremony was held in Ptolemy's typical style, allowing inhabitants to drink heavily and revile the Jews.

4:4 Death and the great fragility of human life carries a spiritual, emotional, and psychological uncertainty for men (WSir 7:36).

4:5 The easiest Jews to identify and arrest would be the elders with gray hair, who were to be led away first.

4:7, 8 The Jews cannot even protect their newlyweds from seizure and arrest, a terrible disgrace. The whole scene gives the impression of incredible despair.

4:11 Schedia is a small peninsula not far from Alexandria, about three miles. There are so many Jews, they must be interred in the enormous hippodrome or stadium at the east gate of Alexandria.

4:13 Up until now, the Jews of Alexandria have been spared such shameful treatment.

4:14 Such an unusual command can only demonstrate Ptolemy's irrational rage at the Jews. Recall that at the time of the Nativity of Christ, the Jews were called to be registered and enrolled, each with his own tribe (Lk 2:1–4).

4:15 Forty days: A traditional time of preparation, mentioned with great frequency and rich symbolism in Holy Scripture.

4:17, 18 The job was too big to complete. This failure was due to God's providence (4:21).

5:1 War elephants usually were associated closely with their trainers, and watching over this group would be the master trainer, Hermon.

5:2 Five hundred elephants would ensure that not one Jew in the hippodrome would escape a frightful death. Ancient war elephants were specimens of extraordinary size and power. They were used not only for battle, but also as beasts of burden. Wine in ancient times was thick and potent, like a syrup, which was mixed with water to give it a drinkable consistency. Frankincense was a medical remedy for poisoning. To keep the elephants healthy, Ptolemy ordered that they be given this antidote to the wine so they might not later suffer the effects of inebriation.

5:7 References to God as Father exist several times in the Old Testament (2:21; Ps 88:26; Tb 13:4; WSol 2:16; WSir 23:4).

5:11 According to WSir 31:20, healthful sleep depends on moderate eating. This deep sleep is a godsend for the Jews and a blessing for Ptolemy.

5:13 Their execution should have taken place in the morning.

5:14 This would be 4:30 p.m. The king has slept away the entire day.

5:20 Phalaris was the ruler of sixth-century BC Agrigentum. His savagery and cruelty were legendary. The godless Jews were those who did not sacrifice to the official gods of Greek or Roman cities. They were considered atheists by the locals.

5:22 Ptolemy's friends are preparing to revile those whom the king clearly wants destroyed in order to gain his favor.

5:24 Even the pitiful sight of a horrific death is still entertainment for pagans of the ancient world.

5:27–30 Through riotous feasting, Ptolemy is not only still drunk, but he cannot recall his former commands. The king is exhibiting more than his characteristic impulsiveness. God is at work, first bringing the king sleep and now removing his memory of his vicious orders.

5:31 The king himself declares the Jews innocent. He has not forgotten the loyalty they have shown as faithful citizens of Egypt for generations.

5:34 Ptolemy's drinking friends have no desire to stay and bear the brunt of his anger. The party is over, and one by one they take leave.

5:35 Someone reports to the Jews what is happening. They give praise to God.

5:36 The king has sobered up enough to begin the whole cycle of revelry as before.

5:39–41 Finally, the royal family administrators speak up, warning that the city is in chaos. These episodes of Ptolemy's are riling up the growing crowds.

5:42 A Phalaris: See note on 5:20. The firm oath is undoubtedly to Dionysus, the patron of Alexandria at that time. Hades is the abode of the dead, not hell in the Christian understanding of a place of torment for sinners.

5:43 Ptolemy is now adding his characteristic promises to utterly destroy his enemies. It borders on royal hyperbole because he never fulfills his threats.

5:50, 51 The Jews have bade each other farewell (v. 49), but still call on the Lord for help even against all odds and cry out for mercy. In the Gospels, there are seven instances of someone calling on Jesus for mercy (Mt 9:27; 15:22; 17:15; 20:30, 31; Mk 10:47, 48; Lk 17:13; 18:38, 39). In every case, they receive it.

6:1 The name Eleazar means "God has helped." His prayer follows the pattern of Simon's earlier prayer (see notes on 2:1–20).

6:2–5 Eleazar likens Israel to that portion of the sacrifices which was set aside for Aaron and his sons (the priests) as their perpetual due from Israel (Lv 7:34, 35; Nm 18:8–18). The Jews have become the inheritance of the Lord (Ps 27:9; 32:12; Is 19:25). More than a chosen nation, they have been set apart for holiness. Sennacherib (v. 5) was the king of Assyria during the reign of Hezekiah, king of Judah. The episode noted is the occasion when, at the supplication of Israel, God sent an angel who in one night slew 185,000 of Sennacherib's forces, sending him home to Nineveh in humiliation and defeat. He was assassinated shortly afterwards (4Kg 18:13; 19:35–37; WSir 48:18–21).

6:6 Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah (their pagan names were Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego) are the three young men in the fiery furnace recorded in Dan 3.

6:7 The deliverance of the Prophet Daniel here is a type of the Resurrection.

6:8 Jonah is well known as a typological prophecy of the Resurrection of Christ. For the Lord, upon His Resurrection, was given back to His people, His disciples, His kin, and His mother.

6:15 The statement You are with us (Is 8:10) is of such importance that it is repeated at Great Compline services. The ultimate experience of this reality is Immanuel, "God with us," our Lord Jesus Christ.

6:18 Almighty in Greek is pantocrator. In Orthodox theology the title Pantocrator is reserved for Christ, the Ruler of all Creation. Manifested in Greek is epifanas, from which we get the English word "epiphany." The heavenly doors open to reveal angels or heavenly mysteries. These angelic powers are usually arrayed for battle. They terrify the enemy and strike with impunity those adversaries God sent the angels to destroy (see 2Mc 3:25, 26; 10:29, 30).

6:21 The fate intended for the Jews has been visited upon their enemies, just as it was with Pharaoh's army in the Red Sea.

6:23 A great number of Ptolemy's armed men were slain. Ptolemy has repented of attacking the innocent Jews, not of his cruel and arbitrary behavior.

6:26 They differed in that they worship only the one true God.

6:31 The Jews are being given the seat of honor at feasts in honor of their deliverance.

6:32 Ode of their fathers: Undoubtedly a psalm or the song of the three young men in the fiery furnace (Dan 3:23–91). This would have become a regular feature in Jewish liturgical practice. How much more appropriate at such a celebration—and everyone would know the words!

6:35 See Col 3:16; Jam 5:13.

6:38 The number forty represents a period of preparation, exercise, and readiness. Here the Jews were waiting for their salvation. In light of this pattern, both Advent (Nativity fast) and Great Lent (Paschal fast) are periods of forty days, in preparation respectively for the Incarnation and Resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ.

6:41 Unlike the previous letter (3:12–29), which was paraphrased in content and tone, the author states that this letter has been copied.

7:2 The children are Ptolemy's family and friends at court. Ptolemy had only one child and heir.

7:3 Though changed, Ptolemy still does not take full responsibility for his own actions, perhaps in order to make his previous royal order not seem ridiculous.

7:5 The Scythians were infamous for their savagery and brutality.

7:9 God the most High: Another ancient way of referring to the God of Israel, and one frequently used in localities where non-Jews abound (see Gn 14:19–22; Dan 3:26; Mk 5:7; Lk 8:28; Acts 16:17).

7:10 While living under Gentile dominion, the Jews had to ask permission of the king to enforce their own laws with regard to putting someone to death (see Jn 18:31).

7:13 Alleluia is the Greco-Roman version of the Hebrew hallelujah, meaning "praise the Lord." Even after aggrandizing the king, the Jews give praise to God for all that He in His power has accomplished on their behalf.

7:14 The Jews now seek out, punish, and publicly humiliate the apostate Jews who dared to receive the branding mark of Dionysus (see note at 2:29).

7:17 The coastal city of Ptolemais, southwest of modern-day Cairo, was an easily defensible harbor on the Egyptian coast and a popular anchorage for the Alexandrian fleet. (There were many cities named Ptolemais, one near Thebes in Egypt and even one in Israel, the modern city of Akko on the Mediterranean Sea, on the north coast of the Bay of Haifa.)

7:20 A column: A common commemorative to memorialize a military victory or other exceptionally significant event.

7:22 In their absence, their possessions were plundered. No one expected them to be reclaimed. This was unprecedented.

The Book of the Psalms

Authors

Among the authors of the Psalms are David, the temple musicians, and Moses.

Date

Generally from 1000 BC, the time of David, to several centuries thereafter.

Major Theme

The songs of God's people. Each psalm has its own theme, as noted in the titles.

Background

(1) Types of psalms: The Psalms are of many types, including: (a) prophecies of the coming Messiah, (b) prayers for the king, (c) personal lamentations, (d) songs of praise, and (e) hymns for special feasts.

(2) The prayer book of the Church: The Psalms have become for the Church, as for ancient Israel, a book of prayer and praise. All find their fulfillment in Christ, the Son of God. Not only do the Psalms predict specific events of Christ's life, but in them He Himself intercedes for and with His people before the Father. The Psalms can also be seen as a dialogue between the Church, the body of Christ, and Christ her Head. Therefore, they make the most sense to us when they are prayed or sung (chanted), not simply read.

(3) Uses in the Church: The Book of Psalms, or Psalter, is used in the Orthodox Church in three primary ways:

(a) In the daily cycle of prayers. The liturgical tradition appoints certain psalms as "fixed" portions of the daily services. These will be pointed out in the notes throughout the text as psalms for morning prayers, evening prayers, and prayers of the hours.

(b) In the weekly order of the morning and evening services (Matins [Orthros] and Vespers). When these are done in their entirety, as in the monasteries, all the psalms are chanted in the course of each week, staring at Saturday Vespers and concluding at Matins the following Saturday.

(c) In the observance of the Church year, the liturgical tradition selects particular psalms or verses for special feasts or seasons as prophetic statements illustrating the work of Christ for us. For example, the Passion Song of Psalm 21 (“They pierced My hands and My feet”) is used in the Church on Great and Holy Friday. Thus, using the Psalms is crucial to our understanding of the fullness of Christ’s ministry to His people.

(4) Purpose: The Psalms serve many functions. They (a) foretell coming events; (b) recall history; (c) frame laws for life; (d) reveal what must be done to obey God’s word; (e) are a treasury of good doctrine; and (f) help overcome the passions that exercise dominion over our souls, through the power of poetic expression to capture and gradually transform our thoughts.

Psalm 1

[1]Blessed is the man
Who walks not in the counsel of the ungodly,
Nor stands in the way of sinners,
Nor sits in the seat of the troublesome;
[2]But his will is in the law of the Lord,
And in His law he meditates day and night.
[3]He shall be like a tree
Planted by streams of waters,
That produces its fruit in its season;
And his leaf shall not wither,
And whatever he does shall prosper.
[4]Not so are the ungodly, not so,
But they are like the dust the wind drives from the face of the earth.
[5]Therefore the ungodly shall not rise in the judgment,
Nor sinners in the counsel of the righteous;
[6]For the Lord knows the way of the righteous,
But the way of the ungodly shall perish.

Psalm 2

[1]Why do the nations rage,
And the people meditate on vain things?
[2]The kings of the earth set themselves,
And the rulers gather together
Against the Lord and against His anointed, saying,
[3]“Let us break their bands,
And cast away their yokes from us.”
[4]He who sits in the heavens shall laugh at them;
The Lord shall mock them.
[5]Then shall He speak to them in His wrath
And trouble them in His anger,
[6]“But I was established as King by Him

Over His holy hill of Zion,
Declaring the Lord's decree.
7 The Lord said to Me,
'You are My Son,
Today I have begotten You;
8 Ask of Me, and I will give You
The nations for Your inheritance
And the ends of the earth for Your possession.
9 You shall shepherd them with an iron staff;
You shall shatter them like a potter's vessel.' "
10 And now, O kings, understand;
Be instructed, all you judges of the earth.
11 Serve the Lord with fear
And rejoice in Him with trembling.
12 Lay hold of His instruction, lest the Lord be angry,
And you perish from the righteous way
When His fury shall be quickly kindled.
Blessed are all who trust in Him.

Psalm 3

1 A psalm by David, when he fled from the face of his son, Absalom.

2 O Lord, why do those who afflict me multiply?
Many are those who rise up against me.
3 Many are those who say to my soul,
"There is no salvation for him in his God."
(Pause)

4 But You, O Lord, are my protector,
My glory and the One who lifts up my head.
5 I cried to the Lord with my voice,
And He heard me from His holy hill.
(Pause)

6 I lay down and slept;
I awoke, for the Lord will help me.

7I will not be afraid of ten thousands of people
Who set themselves against me all around.
8Arise, O Lord, and save me, O my God,
For You struck all those who were foolishly at enmity with me;
You broke the teeth of sinners.
9Salvation is of the Lord,
And Your blessing is upon Your people.

Psalm 4

1*For the End; in psalms; an ode by David.*

2You heard me when I called, O God of my righteousness.
You strengthened my heart when I was in distress;
Have mercy on me, and hear my prayer.
3How long, O you sons of men,
Will you be slow of heart?
Why do you love vain things
And seek after lies?
4Know that the Lord made His Holy One wondrous;
The Lord will hear me when I cry to Him.
5Be angry, and do not sin;
Have remorse upon your beds
For what you say in your hearts.
(Pause)

6Offer the sacrifice of righteousness,
And hope in the Lord.
7There are many who say, “Who will show us good things?”
O Lord, the light of Your face was stamped upon us.
8You put gladness in my heart;
From their season of wheat, wine, and oil they were multiplied.
9I will both sleep and rest in peace,
For You alone, O Lord, cause me to dwell in hope.

Psalm 5

[1]For the End; concerning the inheritance; a psalm by David.

[2]Give ear to my words, O Lord,
Hear my cry.
[3]Give heed to the voice of my supplication,
My King and my God,
For to You will I pray, O Lord.
[4]In the morning You shall hear my voice;
In the morning I will stand before You,
And I will watch.
[5]For You are not a God who wills lawlessness,
Nor shall the evildoer dwell with You.
[6]The lawless shall not stand before Your eyes;
You hate all the workers of lawlessness;
[7]You shall destroy all who speak falsehood;
The Lord abhors the man of violence and deceit.
[8]But as for me, in the fullness of Your mercy I will come into Your house;
In fear of You I will worship toward Your holy temple.
[9]Lead me, O Lord, in Your righteousness because of my enemies;
Make straight Your way before me.
[10]For there is no truth in their mouth;
Their heart is vain;
Their throat is an open grave;
They deal deceptively with their tongues.
[11]Judge them, O God.
Let them fall by their false accusations;
Cast them out in the multitude of their ungodliness;
For they provoked You, O Lord.
[12]But let all who hope in You be glad;
They will greatly rejoice forever,
For You will dwell in them;
And all who love Your name will boast in You.
[13]For You will bless the righteous;

O Lord, You crowned us with the shield of Your goodwill.

Psalm 6

[1]For the End; in hymns, concerning the eighth; a psalm by David.

[2]O Lord, do not reprove me in Your anger,
Nor discipline me in Your wrath.
[3]Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I am weak;
Heal me, O Lord, for my bones are troubled;
[4]And my soul is greatly troubled;
But You, O Lord, how long?
[5]Return, O Lord, and deliver my soul.
Save me because of Your mercy.
[6]For there is no remembrance of You in death;
And in Hades who will give thanks to You?
[7]I am weary with my groaning;
Every single night I will dampen my bed;
I will drench my couch with my tears.
[8]My eye is troubled by anger;
I grow old among all my enemies.
[9]Depart from me, all you workers of lawlessness;
For the Lord heard the voice of my weeping;
[10]The Lord heard my supplication;
The Lord received my prayer.
[11]Let all my enemies be ashamed and greatly troubled;
Let them turn back and be suddenly ashamed.

Psalm 7

[1]A psalm by David, which he sang to the Lord concerning the words of Cush, the son of Benjamin.

[2]O Lord my God, in You I hope;
Save me from all who pursue me, and deliver me,
[3]Lest like a lion he snatch away my soul

While there is none to redeem or save.
[4]O Lord my God, if I have done this,
If there is wrongdoing in my hands,
[5]If I dealt back evil to those dealing evil to me,
Then may I fall empty because of my enemies,
[6]Then may the enemy pursue and overtake my soul,
And trample down my life to the ground,
And make my glory settle in the dust.
(Pause)

[7]Arise, O Lord, in Your anger;
Be exalted to the very boundaries of my enemies;
Awaken, O Lord my God, in the ordinance You commanded,
[8]So the congregation of the peoples shall surround You,
And because of this, return on high.
[9]The Lord shall judge the people;
Judge me, O Lord, according to my righteousness,
And according to the innocence within me.
[10]Bring an end to the wickedness of sinners,
And keep straight the righteous;
For God examines hearts and reins.
[11]My righteous help is from God,
Who saves the upright in heart.
[12]God is a righteous, strong, and patient judge,
Not bringing down wrath every single day.
[13]If You do not return, he will polish his sword;
He stretched his bow and readied it,
[14]And he readied his instruments of death
And prepared his arrows to kindle a fire.
[15]Behold, he suffered the pains of childbirth in unrighteousness;
He conceived pain and brought forth lawlessness;
[16]He opened up a pit and dug it out,
And he will fall into the hole he made.
[17]The pain shall return on his own head,
And his wrongdoing shall come down on his crown.
[18]I will give thanks to the Lord according to His righteousness

And will sing to the name of the Lord Most High.

Psalm 8

[1]For the End; concerning the winepresses; a psalm by David.

[2]O Lord, our Lord, how wondrous is Your name in all the earth,
For Your splendor is exalted far beyond the heavens.
[3]From the mouths of babies and nursing infants
You prepared praise because of Your enemies,
That You may destroy the enemy and avenger.
[4]For I shall look at the heavens, the works of Your fingers,
The moon and stars You established.
[5]What is man that You remember him,
Or the son of man that You visit him?
[6]You made him a little lower than the angels;
You crowned him with glory and honor.
[7]You set him over the works of Your hands;
You subjected all things under his feet,
[8]All sheep and oxen,
And besides these, also the animals of the field,
[9]The birds of heaven and the fish of the sea,
And the things passing through the paths of the seas.
[10]O Lord, our Lord, how wondrous is Your name in all the earth.

Psalm 9 (9, 10)

[1]For the End; concerning the hidden things of the Son; a psalm of David.

[2]I will give thanks to You, O Lord, with my whole heart;
I will tell of all Your wondrous things;
[3]I will be glad and rejoice in You;
I will sing praise to Your name, O Most High.

4When my enemy turns backward,
They shall be feeble and perish before Your face.
5For You maintain my judgment and my right;
You sit upon the throne, judging in righteousness.
6You rebuke the nations, and the ungodly man destroys himself;
You blotted out their name, in their lifetime and unto ages of ages;
7The swords of the enemy are completely forsaken,
And You pulled down their cities;
Their memory was destroyed with a noise.
8But the Lord abides forever;
He prepared His throne in judgment,
9And He shall judge the world in righteousness;
He shall judge the peoples in uprightness.
10The Lord is also a refuge for the poor man,
A helper in seasons of affliction;
11And let those who know Your name put their hope in You;
For You, O Lord, do not forsake those who seek You.
12Sing to the Lord who dwells in Zion.
Proclaim His dealings among the nations,
13For He who avenges blood remembers them;
He does not forget the cry of the poor.
14Have mercy on me, O Lord, and see how my enemies have humbled me,
You who raise me up from the gates of death,
15That I may proclaim all Your praises
In the gates of the daughter of Zion.
I will rejoice in Your salvation.
16The nations are trapped in the destruction they caused;
Their foot is caught in the trap they hid.
17The Lord is known in the judgments He makes;
The sinner is caught in the works of his hands.
(Pause)

18Let sinners be turned back into Hades,
And all the nations who forget God.

[19]For the poor man shall not be forgotten in the end;
The patience of the poor shall not perish forever.
[20]Arise, O Lord, and do not let man prevail;
Let the nations be judged in Your presence.
[21]Set a lawgiver over them, O Lord,
And let the nations know that they are men.
(Pause)

[22]Why do You stand afar off, O Lord?
Why do You disregard me in times of affliction?
[23]When the ungodly man behaves arrogantly, the poor are set afire;
Let him be caught in the counsels he ponders.
[24]For the sinner praises himself in the desires of his soul,
And the unjust man blesses himself.
[25]The sinner provokes the Lord;
He will not seek Him out because of the fullness of His wrath;
God is not before him.
[26]His ways are defiled in every season;
Your judgments are removed from his face;
He shall rule over all his enemies,
[27]For he said in his heart, “I will not be shaken;
From generation to generation I will be without trouble.”
[28]His mouth is full of cursing, bitterness and deceit;
Suffering and pain are under his tongue.
[29]He lies in ambush with the wealthy;
He kills the innocent in hidden places;
His eyes look intently at the poor;
[30]He lies in ambush in a hiding place, like a lion in his den;
He lies in wait to seize the poor man,
To seize the poor man to drag him away;
[31]He will humble him in his snare;
But he will bend down and fall when he rules over the poor.
[32]For he said in his heart, “God forgets;
He turned His face so as never to see it.”
[33]Arise, O Lord God, let Your hand be lifted high,

And do not forget Your poor.
34Why has the ungodly man provoked God?
For he said in his heart, “You will never call me to account for this.”
35But You do see, You do perceive the suffering and pain,
That You might deliver them into Your hands;
Therefore, the poor man will be left to You;
You give help to the orphan.
36Break the arm of the sinner and the evil man;
His sin shall be sought, and because of it he will not be found;
37The Lord will reign,
But you, O nations, you will perish from His earth.
38The Lord hears the desire of the poor;
Your ear heeds the readiness of their heart,
39To judge the orphan and the humble,
That man may no longer increase his great boasting upon the earth.

Psalm 10 (11)

1*For the End; a psalm by David.*

In the Lord I trust. How will you say to my soul,
“Flee to the mountains like a sparrow”?
2See, the sinners stretch tight their bow;
They prepare their arrows in the quiver,
That in a moonless night they may shoot down the upright in heart.
3For the things You created, they destroyed.
But what did the righteous man do?
4The Lord is in His holy temple;
The Lord, His throne is in heaven;
His eyes are fixed upon the poor man,
His eyelids examine the sons of men.
5The Lord examines the righteous man and the ungodly man,
And he who loves unrighteousness hates his own soul.

6He shall rain down snares upon sinners;
Fire and brimstone and a raging wind shall be the portion of their cup.
7The righteous Lord loves righteousness;
His face beholds the upright.

Psalm 11 (12)

1*For the End, concerning the eighth; a psalm by David.*

2Save me, O Lord, for the holy man has ceased;
The truthful are diminished from among the sons of men.
3Each one speaks useless things to his neighbor;
Deceptive lips speak with a double heart.
4May the Lord destroy all deceptive lips
And the tongue that speaks boastful things, 5Saying, “We will make our tongue powerful;
Our lips are our own;
Who is lord over us?”
6“Because of the suffering of the needy,
And because of the groaning of the poor,
Now I will arise,” says the Lord;
“I will establish them in salvation;
I will declare it boldly.”
7The words of the Lord are pure words,
Like silver fired in a furnace of earth,
Purified seven times.
8You shall guard us, O Lord;
You shall preserve us from this generation forever.
9The ungodly walk in a circle;
In Your exaltation, You highly exalted the sons of men.

Psalm 12 (13)

1*For the End; a psalm by David.*

[2]How long, O Lord? Will You forget me to the end?
How long will You turn Your face from me?
[3]How long will I take counsel in my soul,
Having grief in my heart daily?
How long will my enemy be exalted over me?
[4]Look upon me and hear me, O Lord my God;
Enlighten my eyes, lest I sleep in death,
[5]Lest my enemy say,
"I prevailed against him";
Those who afflict me greatly rejoice, if I am shaken.
[6]But I hope in Your mercy;
My heart shall greatly rejoice in Your salvation;
I will sing to the Lord, who shows kindness to me;
I will sing to the name of the Lord Most High.

Psalm 13 (14)

[1]For the End; a psalm by David.

The fool says in his heart, "There is no God."
They are corrupt, they are abominable in their habits;
There is none, not even one, who does good.
[2]The Lord stooped down from heaven to look upon the sons of men,
To see if there were any who understood or sought God.
[3]All turned aside and were altogether corrupted;
There was not even one doing good, no, not one.
Their throat is an open tomb;
They deal deceptively with their tongues;
The poison of serpents is under their lips,
Whose mouth is full of curses and bitterness;
Their feet are swift to shed blood;
Affliction and suffering are in their ways,
And the way of peace they have not known;
There is no fear of God before their eyes.
[4]Do all the workers of lawlessness not know?
They eat up my people as they eat bread, and they do not call upon the Lord.

5They were in great fear where no fear was,
Because God is in the righteous generation.
6You shamed the counsel of the poor man,
Because the Lord is his hope.
7Who will bring about the salvation of Israel out of Zion?
When the Lord returns His people from captivity,
Let Jacob greatly rejoice, and let Israel be glad.

Psalm 14 (15)

1*A psalm by David.*

O Lord, who shall dwell in Your tabernacle?
Who shall live in Your holy mountain?
2He who walks blamelessly, and works righteousness,
And speaks truth in his heart,
3Who does not deceive with his tongue,
Neither does evil to his neighbor;
And does not find fault with those nearest him.
4He disdains those who do evil in his presence,
But he holds in honor those who fear the Lord;
He swears an oath to his neighbor and does not set it aside.
5He does not lend his money at interest,
And he does not take a bribe against the innocent.
6He who does these things shall never be shaken.

Psalm 15 (16)

1*A pillar inscription; by David.*

Preserve me, O Lord, because I hope in You.
2I said to the Lord, “You are my Lord;
You have no need of my good things.”
3To the saints on His earth,
In them He magnified all His will.

[4]Their diseases were multiplied;
They hastened after these things;
I will not join in their assemblies of blood,
Nor will I remember their names with my lips.
[5]The Lord is the portion of my inheritance and my cup;
You are He who restores my inheritance to me.
[6]Portions fell to me among the best,
And my inheritance is the very finest.
[7]I will bless the Lord who caused me to understand;
Moreover, until night my reins also instructed me.
[8]I saw the Lord always before me;
Because He is at my right hand, that I may not be shaken.
[9]Therefore my heart was glad,
And my tongue rejoiced exceedingly;
My flesh also shall dwell in hope.
[10]For You will not abandon my soul to Hades
Nor allow Your Holy One to see corruption.
[11]You made known to me the ways of life;
You will fill me with gladness in Your presence;
At Your right hand are pleasures forevermore.

Psalm 16 (17)

[1]A prayer of David.

Listen, O Lord of my righteousness;
Attend to my supplication;
Give ear to my prayer that is not with deceitful lips.
[2]From Your face let my judgment come;
Let my eyes behold uprightness.
[3]You tested my heart, when You visited me in the night;
You tried me in the fire, and found nothing unjust in me.
[4]That my mouth might not speak of the works of men,
I held to hard ways because of the words of Your lips.
[5]Restore my steps in Your paths,
That my footsteps may not slip.
[6]I cried out, because You listened to me, O God;

Incline Your ear to me, and hear my words.
7Magnify Your mercies,
O You who save those who hope in You
From those who rise up against Your right hand.
8Keep me as the apple of Your eye;
In the shelter of Your wings, You will shelter me
9From the face of the ungodly who trouble me.
My enemies surrounded my soul;
10Their fat enclosed them;
Their mouth spoke arrogantly.
11Casting me out, they now surround me;
They set their eyes to bend down to the earth.
12They seized me like a lion ready to tear its prey,
Like a young lion lurking in secret places.
13Arise, O Lord, outrun them and trip up their heels;
Rescue my soul from the ungodly,
And Your sword from the enemies of Your hand.
14O Lord, destroy them from the earth;
Scatter them in their life.
Their belly is filled with Your hidden things;
They are satisfied with their sons,
And they leave their possessions to their children.
15As for me, in righteousness I shall behold Your face;
I shall be satisfied when Your glory is revealed.

Psalm 17 (18)

1*For the End; by the child of the Lord, David; what things he spoke to the Lord, even the words of this ode, in the day the Lord delivered him from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul;*

2*thus he said:*

“I will love You, O Lord, my strength.
3The Lord is my foundation, my refuge, my deliverer;
My God is my helper, on Him I will hope,
My champion, the horn of my salvation, and my protector.

[4]I will call upon the Lord and praise Him,
And I shall be saved from my enemies.
[5]The anguish of death surrounded me;
The floods of the lawless troubled me greatly;
[6]The anguish of Hades encircled me;
The snares of death ran me down.
[7]In my affliction I called upon the Lord,
And I cried out to my God;
He heard my voice from His holy temple,
And my cry shall come before Him, into His ears.
[8]Then the earth was shaken and was trembling;
And the foundations of mountains were stirred up,
And they were shaken, because God was angry with them.
[9]Smoke ascended in His wrath,
And burst into flame from His face;
Coals were kindled by Him.
[10]He bowed heaven and descended,
And darkness was under His feet.
[11]And He rode upon the cherubim, and flew;
He flew upon the wings of the wind.
[12]He made darkness His hiding place;
His tabernacle was around Him,
Dark water in the clouds of the sky.
[13]Because of the brightness before Him, the clouds,
The hail and the fiery coals passed through.
[14]The Lord thundered from heaven,
The Most High gave forth His voice;
[15]And He sent forth His arrows, and scattered them;
And He multiplied lightning, and threw them into utter confusion.
[16]Then the springs of the waters were seen,
And the foundations of the world were uncovered
By Your rebuke, O Lord,
By the breathing of the breath of Your wrath.
[17]He sent from on high, and He took me;
He drew me out of many waters.
[18]He will deliver me from my strong enemies,

And from those who hate me,
Because they were too strong for me.
[19]They overran me in the day of my misfortune,
But the Lord became my support,
[20]And He led me into a wide place;
He will deliver me, because He willed it for me.
He will deliver me from my strong enemies
And from those who hate me.
[21]The Lord will reward me according to my righteousness;
And according to the purity of my hands He will recompense me,
[22]Because I kept the ways of the Lord
And did not act impiously against my God;
[23]For all His judgments are before me,
And I did not remove His ordinances from me.
[24]I will also be blameless before Him,
And I will keep myself from my lawlessness.
[25]The Lord will reward me according to my righteousness,
According to the purity of my hands before His eyes.
[26]With the holy You will be holy;
And with the innocent man You will be innocent;
[27]And with the elect You will be elect;
And with the crooked You will be crooked.
[28]For You will save a humble people,
And You will humble the eyes of the arrogant.
[29]For You will light my lamp, O Lord;
O my God, You will enlighten my darkness.
[30]For in You I shall be delivered from ordeals,
And in my God I shall leap over a wall.
[31]My God, His way is blameless;
The teachings of the Lord are tried by fire;
He is the shield of all who set their hope on Him.
[32]For who is God besides the Lord?
And who is God besides our God?
[33]It is God who girds me with power,
And He made my way blameless;
[34]Who makes my feet like a deer

And sets me on high places;
35Who teaches my hands to make war;
And You make my arms a bronze bow;
36And You gave me the shield of Your salvation;
And Your right hand supported me;
And Your instruction restored me to the end;
And Your instruction will teach me.
37You widened my steps under me,
And my footsteps were not feeble.
38I shall pursue my enemies and overtake them;
And I shall not turn back until they faint;
39I shall wound them until they cannot stand;
They shall fall under my feet.
40For You armed me with strength for war;
You entangled under my feet all who rose up against me,
41And You gave me the back of my enemies;
And You destroyed all who hate me.
42They cried out, but there was none to save them;
Even to the Lord, but He did not answer them.
43I will grind them fine, like the dust that blows in the wind;
I will smooth them out, like mud in the streets.
44Deliver me from the contradictions of the people;
You will establish me as the head of the Gentiles;
A people I never knew served me;
45The moment they heard, they obeyed me;
Sons who are strangers lied to me;
46Sons who are strangers became old,
And they became lame because of their beaten path.
47The Lord lives, and blessed is my God.
Let the salvation of my God be exalted,
48The God who vindicates me,
And who subdued the peoples under me,
49My deliverer from the rage of my enemies;
Because of those who rise up against me, You will exalt me;
You will deliver me from the unrighteous man.
50Therefore I will give thanks to You among the Gentiles, O Lord,

And sing to Your name,
51He who magnifies the salvation of His king
And shows mercy to His anointed,
To David and his seed forever.”

Psalm 18 (19)

1*For the End; a psalm by David.*

2The heavens declare the glory of God;
The firmament shows the creation of His hands.
3Day to day utters speech,
And night to night reveals knowledge.
4There is no speech nor language
Where their voices are not heard.
5Their proclamation went forth into all the earth,
And their words to the ends of the world.
In the sun He set His tabernacle;
6And it rejoices exceedingly
Like a bridegroom coming forth from his bridal chamber,
Like a strong man to run a race.
7Its rising is from one end of heaven,
And its circuit runs to the other end;
And nothing shall be hidden from its heat.
8The law of the Lord is blameless, converting souls;
The testimony of the Lord is trustworthy, making children wise;
9The ordinances of the Lord are right, rejoicing the heart;
The commandment of the Lord is bright, enlightening the eyes;
10The fear of the Lord is pure, enduring unto ages of ages;
The judgments of the Lord are true, being altogether just.
11More to be desired are they than gold and a very precious stone,
Sweeter also than honey and the honeycomb.
12For indeed Your servant keeps them;
In keeping them there is great reward.

13 Who will understand his transgressions?
Cleanse me from hidden sins,
14 And spare your servant from unnatural sins;
If they have no dominion over me, then I shall be blameless,
And I shall be cleansed from great sin.
15 Let the words of my mouth and the meditation of my heart
Be always pleasing before You,
O Lord, my helper and my redeemer.

Psalm 19 (20)

1 For the End; a psalm by David.

2 May the Lord hear you in the day of affliction;
May the name of the God of Jacob defend you.
3 May He send you help from His holy place,
And may He support you from Zion.
4 May He remember every sacrifice of yours,
And may your whole burnt offering be honored.
(Pause)

5 May He give you according to your heart,
May He fulfill all your counsel.
6 We will greatly rejoice in Your salvation,
And in the name of our God we will be magnified.
7 Now I know the Lord has saved His anointed;
He will hear him from His holy heaven;
The salvation of His right hand is mighty.
8 Some glory in chariots, some in horses,
But in the name of the Lord our God we shall be magnified.
9 Their feet were tied together; so they fell;
But we rose up and were restored.
10 O Lord, save Your King,
And hear us in the day we call upon You.

Psalm 20 (21)

[1]For the End; a psalm by David.

[2]O Lord, the king shall be glad in Your power,
And in Your salvation he will greatly rejoice.
[3]You gave him his soul's desire,
And You did not deprive him of his lips' request.
(Pause)

[4]For You anticipated him with blessings of goodness;
You placed a crown of precious stones on his head.
[5]He asked You for life, and You gave it to him,
Length of days unto ages of ages.
[6]Great is his glory in Your salvation;
Glory and majesty You shall place upon him.
[7]For You shall give him blessing unto ages of ages;
You shall fill him with the joy of Your presence.
[8]For the king hopes in the Lord,
And in the mercy of the Most High he will not be shaken.
[9]May Your hand be found on all Your enemies;
May Your right hand find all who hate You.
[10]You shall make them like a fiery furnace
In the time of Your presence;
The Lord shall throw them into confusion in His wrath,
And the fire shall devour them.
[11]You shall destroy their offspring from the earth
And their seed from among the sons of men.
[12]For they vented all their evils against You;
They reasoned through a counsel they could not establish.
[13]For You shall make them turn their back;
Among Your remnants, You shall make ready their countenance.
[14]Be exalted, O Lord, in Your power;
We will sing and praise Your mighty deeds.

Psalm 21 (22)

[1]For the End; concerning help in the morning; a psalm by David.

[2]O God, my God, hear me; why have You forsaken me?
The words of my transgressions are far from my salvation.
[3]O my God, I will cry out by day, but You will not hear me;
And by night, but not for a lack of understanding in me.
[4]But You dwell among the saints, O praise of Israel.
[5]Our fathers hoped in You;
They hoped in You, and You delivered them.
[6]They cried out to You and were saved;
They hoped in You and were not ashamed.
[7]But I am a worm, and not a man;
A reproach of man and despised by the people.
[8]All who see me mock me;
They speak with their lips and shake their head,
[9]Saying, “He hoped in the Lord, let Him rescue him;
Let Him save him since He delights in him.”
[10]For You are He who drew me from the womb,
My hope from my mother’s breasts;
[11]I was cast upon You from the womb,
From my mother’s womb You are my God.
[12]Do not stand off from me, for affliction is near;
There is no one to help.
[13]Many young bulls surrounded me;
Fat bulls encircled me.
[14]They opened their mouths against me
Like a raging and roaring lion.
[15]I am poured out like water,
And all my bones are shattered;
My heart is like wax, melting into my stomach.
[16]My strength is dried up like an earthen vessel;
My tongue cleaves to my throat;
And You led me into the dust of death.
[17]For many dogs surrounded me;
An assembly of evildoers enclosed me;
They pierced my hands and my feet.
[18]I numbered all my bones,
And they look and stare at me.
[19]They divided my garments among themselves,

And for my clothing they cast lots.
[20]But You, O Lord, do not remove Your help from me;
Attend to my aid.
[21]Deliver my soul from the sword
And my only-begotten from the hand of the dog;
[22]Save me from the lion's mouth,
My humiliation from the horns of the unicorns.
[23]I will declare Your name to my brethren;
In the midst of the church I will sing to You.
[24]You who fear the Lord, praise Him.
All you seed of Jacob, glorify Him;
Fear Him, all you seed of Israel.
[25]For He has not despised nor scorned the beggar's supplication,
Nor has He turned away His face from me;
And when I cried out to Him, He heard me.
[26]My praise is from You in the great church;
I will pay my vows before those who fear Him.
[27]The poor shall eat and be well-filled,
And those who seek Him will praise the Lord;
Their hearts will live unto ages of ages.
[28]All the ends of the world shall remember and turn to the Lord;
And all families of the Gentiles shall worship before You,
[29]For the kingdom is the Lord's;
And He is the Master of the Gentiles.
[30]All the prosperous of the earth ate and worshiped;
All going down into the earth shall bow down before Him,
And my soul lives with Him.
[31]And my seed shall serve Him;
The coming generation shall be told of the Lord,
[32]And they will declare His righteousness
To a people who will be born, because the Lord made them.

Psalm 22 (23)

[1]A psalm by David.

The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want.
[2]He makes me to lie down in green pastures;
He leads me beside the still waters.
[3]He restores my soul;
He leads me in the paths of righteousness
For His name's sake.
[4]Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death,
I will fear no evil, for You are with me;
Your rod and Your staff, they comfort me.
[5]You prepare a table before me in the presence of my enemies;
You anoint my head with oil;
Your cup runs over.
[6]Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me
All the days of my life;
And I will dwell in the house of the Lord to the end of my days.

Psalm 23 (24)

[1]A psalm by David; on the first day of the week.

The earth is the Lord's, and its fullness,
The world and all who dwell therein.
[2]For He founded it upon the seas
And prepared it upon the rivers.
[3]Who shall ascend to the mountain of the Lord?
Who shall stand in His holy place?
[4]He who has innocent hands and a pure heart;
He who does not lift up his soul to vanity;
He who does not swear deceitfully to his neighbor.
[5]He shall receive blessing from the Lord
And mercy from the God of his salvation.
[6]This is the generation of those who seek Him,
Who seek the face of the God of Jacob.
(Pause)

7 Lift up the gates, O you rulers,
And be lifted up, you everlasting doors,
And the King of glory shall enter.
8 Who is this King of glory?
The Lord strong and mighty,
The Lord powerful in battle.
9 Lift up the gates, O you rulers,
And be lifted up, you everlasting doors,
And the King of glory shall enter.
10 Who is this King of Glory?
The Lord of hosts, He is the King of glory.

Psalm 24 (25)

1 A psalm by David.

To You, O Lord, I lift up my soul, O my God.
2 I trust in You; let me not be ashamed;
Let not my enemies laugh at me.
3 For all who wait upon You shall not be ashamed;
Let those be ashamed who act lawlessly in vain.
4 Make known Your ways to me, O Lord,
And teach me Your paths.
5 Lead me in Your truth and teach me,
For You are the God of my salvation,
And on You I wait all the day.
6 Remember Your compassion, O Lord,
And Your mercy, for they are from of old.
7 Do not remember the sins of my youth, nor of my ignorance;
But remember me according to Your mercy,
Because of Your loving-kindness, O Lord.
8 Good and upright is the Lord;
Therefore He will instruct sinners in His way.
9 He will guide the gentle in judgment;
He will teach the gentle His ways.
10 All the ways of the Lord are mercy and truth
For those who seek His covenant and His testimonies.

[11]For Your name's sake, O Lord,
Pardon my sin, for it is great.
[12]Who is the man who fears the Lord?
He will instruct him in the way He chooses.
[13]His soul shall dwell among good things;
His seed shall inherit the earth.
[14]The Lord is the strength of those who fear Him,
And to those who fear Him, His name is the Lord,
And He will show them His covenant.
[15]My eyes are always toward the Lord,
For He shall pluck my feet out of the trap.
[16]Look upon me and have mercy on me,
For I am only-begotten and poor.
[17]The afflictions of my heart have been widened;
Bring me out of my distresses.
[18]Look on my humiliation and my pain
And forgive all my sins.
[19]Look on my enemies, because they multiply,
And they hate me with unjustified hatred.
[20]Keep my soul, and deliver me;
Let me not be ashamed, because I hope in You.
[21]The innocent and the upright cleave to me
Because I wait upon You, O Lord.
[22]Redeem Israel, O God,
Out of all his afflictions.

Psalm 25 (26)

[1]Of David.

Judge me, O Lord, for I walk in my innocence,
And by hoping in the Lord, I shall not weaken.
[2]Prove me, O Lord, and test me,
Try my reins and my heart in the fire.
[3]For Your mercy is before my eyes,
And I was well-pleasing in Your truth.
[4]I have not sat down with vain councils,

Nor will I go in with those who transgress the law.
5I hate the assembly of evildoers,
And I will not sit with the ungodly.
6I will wash my hands in innocence;
So I will go about Your altar, O Lord,
7That I may hear the voice of praise
And tell of all Your wondrous works.
8O Lord, I love the beauty of Your house,
And the place where Your glory dwells.
9Do not destroy my soul with the ungodly,
Nor my life with men of blood,
10In whose hands is lawlessness;
Their right hand is full of bribes.
11But as for me, I walk in my innocence;
Redeem me and have mercy on me.
12For my foot stands in uprightness;
In the churches I will bless You, O Lord.

Psalm 26 (27)

1*Of David; before he was anointed.*

The Lord is my light and my savior; whom shall I fear?
The Lord is the defender of my life; whom shall I dread?
2When the wicked drew near against me to eat up my flesh,
Those who afflict me and are my enemies, they weakened and fell.
3Though an army should array itself against me, my heart shall not be afraid;
Though war should rise up against me, in this I shall hope.
4One thing I ask from the Lord; this I will seek,
That I may dwell in the house of the Lord all the days of my life,
And behold the delights of the Lord,
And visit His temple.
5For He hid me in His tabernacle in the day of my troubles;
He sheltered me in the secret place of His tabernacle;

He set me high upon a rock.
[6]And now, behold, He has lifted up my head above my enemies;
I went around and offered in His tabernacle a sacrifice of joy;
I will sing to the Lord, and praise Him with the harp.
[7]O Lord, hear my voice, wherein I cry;
Have mercy on me and hear me.
[8]My heart speaks to You; my face seeks You;
Your face, O Lord, I will seek.
[9]Do not turn away Your face from me;
Do not turn away from Your servant in wrath;
Be my helper; do not utterly cast me away,
Nor forsake me, O God my savior.
[10]For my father and my mother forsook me,
But the Lord laid hold of me.
[11]Instruct me, O Lord, in the way of Your law;
Set me on a straight path because of my enemies.
[12]Do not deliver me to the souls of those who afflict me,
For unjust witnesses rise up against me;
And injustice lies to itself.
[13]I believe I shall see the Lord's goodness in the land of the living.
[14]Wait on the Lord;
Be courageous, and strengthen your heart,
And wait on the Lord.

Psalm 27 (28)

[1]Of David.

To You, O Lord, I cry;
O my God, may You not pass over me in silence;
May You never be silent to me,
Else I would become like those who go down into the pit.
[2]Hear the voice of my supplication when I pray to You
And when I lift up my hands toward Your holy temple.
[3]May You not associate my soul with sinners,

Nor destroy me with the workers of injustice,
Who speak peace with their neighbor,
But evil is in their hearts.
4Give them according to their works,
According to the wickedness of their pursuits;
Give them according to the works of their hands;
Return to them their due reward.
5Because they do not understand the works of the Lord,
Nor the deeds of His hands,
You will destroy them, and never rebuild them.
6Blessed is the Lord,
Because He heard the voice of my supplication.
7The Lord is my helper and my champion;
In Him my heart hoped, and I was helped,
And my flesh revived;
And I will give thanks to Him willingly.
8The Lord is the strength of His people,
And the protector of the salvation of His anointed.
9Save Your people, and bless Your inheritance;
And shepherd them, and raise them up forever.

Psalm 28 (29)

1*A psalm by David; the final day of the Feast of Tabernacles.*

Bring to the Lord, O you sons of God,
Bring to the Lord the sons of rams;
Bring to the Lord glory and honor.
2Bring to the Lord the glory due His name;
Worship the Lord in His holy court.
3The voice of the Lord is upon the waters;
The God of glory thundered;
The Lord is upon the many waters.
4The voice of the Lord is strong;
The voice of the Lord is full of majesty.
5The voice of the Lord shatters cedars,
And the Lord shall grind to powder the cedars of Lebanon;

6And He shall grind them fine like the young bull, and like Lebanon,
But His beloved shall be like a son of unicorns.
7The voice of the Lord cuts through fiery flames;
8The voice of the Lord shakes the desert,
And the Lord will shake the desert of Kadesh.
9The voice of the Lord causes deer to calve,
And uncovers the thickets;
And in His temple, everyone speaks of His glory.
10The Lord shall dwell in the deluge,
And the Lord shall sit as King forever.
11The Lord will give strength to His people;
The Lord will bless His people with peace.

Psalm 29 (30)

1*For the End; the psalm of an ode at the consecration of the house; by David.*

2I will exalt You, O Lord, for You lifted me up,
And did not let my enemies rejoice over me.
3O Lord my God, I cry to You, and You will heal me.
4O Lord, You brought my soul out of Hades;
You saved me from those who go down to the pit.
5Sing praises to the Lord, you saints of His,
And give thanks at the remembrance of His holiness;
6For there is wrath in His anger,
But life in His will;
Weeping will lodge at evening,
But great joy in the morning.
7As for me, I said in my prosperity,
“I shall not be shaken forever.”
8O Lord, in Your will, grant beauty and power;
You turned away Your face, and I was troubled.
9I shall cry to You, O Lord,
And to God I shall make supplication.
10What profit is there in my blood,
When I go down into decay?

Will the dust confess You?
Or will it declare Your truth?
[11]The Lord heard, and had mercy on me;
The Lord became my helper.
[12]You turned my lamentation into dancing for me;
You tore up my sackcloth and clothed me with gladness,
[13]That my glory may sing praise to You,
And not be pierced with sadness;
O Lord my God, I shall give thanks to You forever.

Psalm 30 (31)

[1]For the End; a psalm by David; of ecstasy.

[2]In You, O Lord, I hope; may I not be ashamed forever;
In Your righteousness deliver and rescue me.
[3]Incline Your ear to me;
Rescue me speedily;
Be to me a God who protects me,
And a house of refuge to save me.
[4]For You are my strength and my refuge,
And for Your name's sake You will guide and sustain me;
[5]For You will bring me out from the snare they hid for me;
For You are my protector.
[6]Into Your hands I shall entrust my spirit;
You redeemed me, O Lord God of truth.
[7]You hate those who maintain their empty vanities,
But I hope in the Lord.
[8]I will greatly rejoice and be glad because of Your mercy,
For You beheld my humiliation;
You saved my soul from distress,
[9]And did not shut me up into the hands of the enemy;
You set my feet in a wide place.
[10]Have mercy on me, O Lord, for I am afflicted;
My eye is troubled with anger;
So are my soul and my stomach.
[11]For my life is wasted with grief

And my years with sighing;
My strength is weakened with poverty,
And my bones are troubled.
12 I became a reproach among all my enemies,
And especially to all my neighbors,
And a fear to all my acquaintances;
Those who saw me outside fled from me.
13 I am forgotten like one whose heart is lifeless;
I was made like a vessel that is utterly broken.
14 For I heard the blame of many who dwell round about
When they were gathered together against me,
When they plotted to take my life.
15 But as for me, I hope in You, O Lord;
I said, "You are my God."
16 My times are in Your hands;
Deliver me from the hand of my enemies,
And from those who persecute me.
17 Make Your face shine upon Your servant;
Save me in Your mercy.
18 O Lord, do not let me be ashamed, because I call upon You;
Let the ungodly be ashamed,
And lead them down into Hades.
19 Let deceitful lips become speechless
When they speak lawlessness against the righteous
With arrogance and contempt.
20 How great, O Lord, is the abundance of Your goodness
You hide for those who fear You,
Which You will work for those who hope in You
In the sight of the sons of men.
21 You shall hide them in the secret of Your presence from the disturbance of men;
You will shelter them in Your tabernacle from the contradiction of tongues.
22 Blessed is the Lord,
For He magnified His mercy in a fortified city.
23 But I said in my ecstasy,
"Indeed, I am cast away from the countenance of Your eyes."
Therefore You heard the voice of my supplication

When I cried to You.
24Love the Lord, all you His saints,
For the Lord seeks out truth,
And He repays those who act with great arrogance.
25Be courageous, and let your heart be strengthened,
All who hope in the Lord.

Psalm 31 (32)

1*By David; concerning understanding.*

Blessed are those whose transgressions are forgiven,
And whose sins are covered.
2Blessed is the man whose sin the Lord does not take into account,
And in whose mouth there is no deceit.
3Because I kept silent, my bones grew old
From my groaning all the day long;
4For day and night Your hand was heavy upon me;
I became miserable when the thorn pierced me.
(Pause)

5I made known my sin,
And I did not hide my transgression;
I said, “I will confess my transgression to the Lord,”
And You forgave the ungodliness of my sin.
(Pause)

6For this cause, everyone who is holy will pray to Him in a well-fitted time;
Surely they will not draw near to Him in a flood of many waters.
7You are my refuge from the oppression of those who surround me;
O my exceeding joy, redeem me from those who encircle me.
(Pause)

[8]“I will give you understanding, and I will teach you in the way you should walk;
I will fix My eyes on you.
[9]Do not be like the horse and the mule, which have no understanding;
You squeeze their jaws with bit and bridle,
Lest they come near you.”
[10]Many are the scourges of the sinner,
But he who hopes in the Lord, mercy shall encircle him.
[11]Be glad in the Lord and rejoice greatly, O righteous ones,
And boast, all you upright in heart.

Psalm 32 (33)

[1]By David.

Rejoice greatly in the Lord, O righteous ones;
Praise is fitting for the upright.
[2]Give thanks to the Lord on the lyre;
Sing praises to Him on a ten-stringed instrument.
[3]Sing to Him a new song;
Sing praises beautifully with a shout.
[4]For the word of the Lord is right,
And all His works are done in faithfulness.
[5]He loves mercy and judgment;
The earth is full of the Lord’s mercy.
[6]By the word of the Lord the heavens were established,
And all the host of them by the breath of His mouth,
[7]Who gathers the waters of the sea together as in a wineskin,
Who put the abysses in storehouses.
[8]Let all the earth fear the Lord,
And let all the world’s inhabitants be shaken by Him;
[9]For He spoke, and they were made;
He commanded, and they were created.
[10]The Lord scatters abroad the counsels of the nations,
And He sets aside the reasoning of peoples;
And He rejects the counsels of rulers.

11The counsel of the Lord abides forever,
The thoughts of His heart from generation to generation.
12Blessed is the nation whose God is the Lord,
The people He chose as an inheritance for Himself.
13The Lord looked attentively from heaven;
He saw all the sons of men.
14From His prepared dwelling-place,
He looked upon all who dwell on the earth,
15He who alone fashioned their hearts,
He who understands all their works.
16A king is not saved by his large army,
And a giant shall not be saved by his immense strength;
17A horse is a false hope for salvation,
And it shall not be saved by its enormous power.
18Behold, the eyes of the Lord are on those who fear Him,
On those who hope in His mercy,
19To deliver their souls from death
And to keep them alive in famine.
20Our soul shall wait for the Lord;
He is our helper and protector;
21For our heart shall be glad in Him,
And we hope in His holy name.
22Let Your mercy, O Lord, be upon us,
As we hope in You.

Psalm 33 (34)

1*By David; when he changed his countenance before Abimelech, who let him go, and he departed.*

2I will bless the Lord at all times;
His praise shall continually be in my mouth.
3My soul shall be praised in the Lord;
Let the gentle hear, and be glad.
4Oh, magnify the Lord with me,
And let us exalt His name together.

[5]I sought the Lord, and He heard me;
And He delivered me from all my sojourning.
[6]Come to Him, and be enlightened,
And your face shall never be ashamed.
[7]This poor man cried, and the Lord heard him,
And saved him from all his afflictions.
[8]The Angel of the Lord shall encamp around those who fear Him,
And He will deliver them.
[9]Oh, taste and see that the Lord is good;
Blessed is the man who hopes in Him.
[10]Fear the Lord, you His saints,
For there is no want for those who fear Him.
[11]Rich men turned poor and went hungry;
But those who seek the Lord shall not lack any good thing.
(Pause)

[12]Come, you children, listen to me;
I will teach you the fear of the Lord.
[13]Who is the man who desires life,
Who loves to see good days?
[14]Keep your tongue from evil,
And your lips from speaking deceit.
[15]Shun evil and do good;
Seek peace and pursue it.
[16]The eyes of the Lord are upon the righteous,
And His ears are open to their supplications.
[17]The Lord's face is against those who do evil,
So as to destroy their remembrance from the earth.
[18]The righteous cried, and the Lord heard them;
And He delivered them from all their afflictions.
[19]The Lord is near those who are brokenhearted,
And He will save the humble in spirit.
[20]Many are the afflictions of the righteous,
But He will deliver them from them all.
[21]The Lord shall guard all their bones;
Not one of them shall be broken.

22The death of sinners is evil,
And those who hate the righteous shall go wrong.
23The Lord will redeem the souls of His servants,
And all who hope in Him shall not go wrong.

Psalm 34 (35)

1*By David.*

O Lord, judge those who injure me;
Make war on those who make war on me.
2Take hold of weapon and shield, and rise up to my help.
3Bring forth the sword, and confine those in opposition who pursue me;
Say to my soul, “I am your salvation.”
4Let those who seek my soul be dishonored and shamed;
Let those who plot evils against me be turned backward and disappointed.
5Let them be like dust in the wind’s face,
And let the Angel of the Lord afflict them.
6Let their way be dark and slippery,
And let the Angel of the Lord pursue them.
7For without cause they hid the destruction of their trap for me;
In vain they reproached my soul.
8Let a trap they do not know catch them,
And they themselves shall fall into the same trap.
9But my soul shall greatly rejoice in the Lord;
My soul shall delight in His salvation.
10All my bones shall say, “O Lord, who is like You?
You who deliver a poor man from hands stronger than he,
And a poor and needy man from those who plunder him.”
11Unjust witnesses rose up against me,
Asking me things I knew nothing about;
12They repaid me evil for good,
And bereavement for my soul.
13But I put on sackcloth when they troubled me,

And I humbled my soul with fasting;
And my prayer will return into my bosom.
[14]Like a neighbor, like our brother, so they were well-pleasing;
Like one who laments and is of a sad countenance, so I humbled myself.
[15]But they were delighted, and were gathered together against me;
Whips were gathered together against me, but I did not know it;
They were torn asunder, yet they were not pierced to the heart.
[16]They tempted me; they mocked and sneered at me;
They gnashed their teeth at me.
[17]O Lord, when will You look on this?
Restore my soul from their malice,
My only-begotten from the lions.
[18]I will give thanks to You, O Lord, in the great church;
I will praise You among a mighty people.
[19]Let them not rejoice over me, those who are unjustly my enemies,
Those who hate me without a cause, and wink with their eyes.
[20]For they spoke peace to me,
But in their wrath they schemed deceit,
[21]And opened wide their mouth at me,
Saying, “Well done! Well done! Our eyes saw it!”
[22]You saw this, O Lord; do not keep silence;
O Lord, do not be far from me.
[23]Arise, O Lord, attend to my judgment,
My God and my Lord, to my cause.
[24]Judge me according to Your righteousness, O Lord my God,
And let them not rejoice against me;
[25]Let them not say in their hearts,
“Well done! Well done, our soul!”
Let them not say, “We swallowed him up!”
[26]May those who rejoice at my troubles be altogether

dishonored and shamed;
Let those who boast against me be clothed with shame and humiliation.
27Let those who desire my righteousness greatly rejoice, and be glad,
And let them say continually, “The Lord be magnified,”
Those who desire His servant’s peace.
28And my tongue shall meditate on Your righteousness,
And on Your praise all the day long.

Psalm 35 (36)

1*For the End; by David, the servant of the Lord.*

2The transgressor, so as to sin, says within himself,
“There is no fear of God before his eyes”;
3For he acts deceitfully before Him,
Lest He discover his lawlessness and hate it.
4The words of his mouth are lawlessness and deceit;
He is unwilling to understand how to do good;
5He devises lawlessness on his bed;
He sets himself in every way not good,
And he does not abhor evil.
6O Lord, Your mercy is in heaven,
And Your truth reaches to the clouds;
7Your righteousness is like the mountains of God;
Your judgments are a great deep;
Men and cattle You will save, O Lord.
8How You multiply Your mercy, O God!
The sons of men shall hope under the shelter of Your wings.
9They shall be intoxicated with the fatness of Your house,
And You will give them drink from the abundant water of Your delight.
10For with You is the fountain of life;
In Your light we shall see light.
11Extend Your mercy to those who know You,
And Your righteousness to the upright in heart.

12 Let not the foot of arrogance come against me,
And may the hand of sinners not shake me.
13 Those who work lawlessness fall there;
They are cast out, and unable to stand.

Psalm 36 (37)

1 Of David.

Do not be envious of those who do evil,
Nor be jealous of those who work lawlessness;
2 For like grass they shall be dried up quickly,
And like green vegetables they shall swiftly wither.
3 Hope in the Lord, and work goodness;
Dwell in the land, and you shall be nurtured by its riches.
4 Delight in the Lord,
And He will give you the requests of your heart.
5 Reveal your way to the Lord,
And hope in Him; and He will do it.
6 He shall bring forth your righteousness as light,
And your judgment as the noonday sun.
7 Submit to the Lord, and supplicate Him;
Do not be envious of him who prospers in his way,
Nor of him who transgresses the law.
8 Cease from wrath and forsake anger;
Do not be envious so as to do evil;
9 Because evildoers will be destroyed,
But those who wait on the Lord, these shall inherit the earth.
10 For in a little while the sinner shall no longer be present,
And you will look for his place, but not find it.
11 But the gentle shall inherit the earth,
And they will delight in the fullness of peace.
12 The sinner will closely observe the just man
And gnash at him with his teeth.
13 But the Lord shall laugh at him,
Because He foresees his day will come.
14 The sinners draw the sword

And stretch their bow,
To cast down the poor and needy,
To slay the upright in heart.
15May their sword enter their heart,
And may their bows be shattered.
16Better the little with the just man
Than the great riches of sinners;
17For the arms of sinners shall be shattered,
But the Lord supports the righteous.
18The Lord knows the ways of the blameless,
And their inheritance shall be forever.
19They shall not be ashamed in an evil time,
And in days of famine they shall be filled.
20But the sinners shall perish,
And the enemies of the Lord altogether,
When they glorify and exalt themselves;
Like smoke they shall vanish away.
21The sinner borrows, but will not repay;
However, the righteous man is compassionate, and gives;
22For those who bless Him shall inherit the earth,
But those who curse Him shall be utterly destroyed.
23The steps of a man are guided aright by the Lord,
And he shall desire His way.
24When he falls, he shall not be broken to pieces,
For the Lord supports him with His hand.
25I was young, but indeed I grew old;
Yet I have not seen the righteous forsaken,
Nor his seed begging bread.
26Day in and out, he is merciful and lends,
And his seed shall be a blessing.
27Turn away from evil, and do good,
And dwell unto ages of ages;
28For the Lord loves judgment,
And He will not abandon His holy ones;
They shall be kept forever.
But the lawless shall be banished,
And the seed of the ungodly shall be utterly destroyed.

[29]The righteous shall inherit the earth
And dwell upon it unto ages of ages.
[30]The mouth of the righteous shall meditate on wisdom,
And his tongue shall speak of judgment;
[31]The law of God is in his heart,
And his steps shall not be tripped up.
[32]The sinner observes the righteous man
And seeks to put him to death;
[33]But the Lord will not leave him in his hands,
Nor condemn him, when He judges him.
[34]Wait on the Lord, and keep His way,
And He shall exalt you to inherit the earth;
You shall see the sinners when they are utterly destroyed.
[35]I saw the ungodly greatly exalted
And lifting himself up like the cedars of Lebanon;
[36]And I passed by, and behold, he was not;
And I sought for him,
But his place was not found.
[37]Keep innocence, and behold uprightness,
For this is the remnant for the peaceful man.
[38]But transgressors shall be utterly destroyed together;
The remnants of the ungodly shall be utterly destroyed.
[39]Now the salvation of the righteous is from the Lord,
And He is their protector in time of affliction;
[40]And the Lord shall help them, and deliver them;
And He shall deliver them from sinners,
And save them, because they hope in Him.

Psalm 37 (38)

[1]A psalm by David; for remembrance concerning the Sabbath.

[2]O Lord, do not rebuke me in Your wrath,
Nor chasten me in Your anger.
[3]For Your arrows are fixed in me,
And Your hand rests on me;
[4]There is no healing in my flesh because of Your wrath;

There is no peace in my bones because of my sins.
5For my transgressions rise up over my head;
Like a heavy burden they are heavy on me.
6My wounds grow foul and fester
Because of my folly.
7I suffer misery, and I am utterly bowed down;
I go all the day long with a sad face.
8For my loins are filled with mockeries,
And there is no healing in my flesh.
9I am afflicted and greatly humbled;
I roar because of the groaning of my heart.
10O Lord, all my desire is before You,
And my groaning is not hidden from You.
11My heart is troubled; my strength fails me,
And the light of my eyes, even this is not with me.
12My friends and neighbors draw near and stand against me,
And my near of kin stand far off;
13And those who seek my soul use violence,
And those who seek evil for me speak folly;
And they meditate on deceit all the day long.
14But I like a deaf man do not hear,
And I am like a mute who does not open his mouth.
15I am like a man who does not hear,
And who has no reproofs in his mouth.
16For in You, O Lord, I hope;
You will hear, O Lord my God.
17For I said, “Let not my enemies rejoice over me,
For when my foot was shaken, they boasted against me.”
18For I am ready for wounds,
And my pain is continually with me.
19For I will declare my transgression,
And I will be anxious about my sin.
20But my enemies live, and are become stronger than I;
And those who hate me unjustly are multiplied;
21Those who repaid me evil for good
Slandered me, because I pursue righteousness;
And they threw away my love as though it were a stinking corpse.

22Do not forsake me, O Lord;
O my God, do not depart from me;
23Give heed to help me,
O Lord of my salvation.

Psalm 38 (39)

1*For the End, for Jeduthun; an ode by David.*

2I said, “I will guard my ways, that I may not sin with my tongue;
I set a guard on my mouth
When the sinner stood against me.”
3I was deadened and humbled; and I kept silent, even from good;
And my grief was stirred anew.
4My heart was hot within me,
And in my meditation, fire will be kindled.
I spoke with my tongue,
5“O Lord, make me to know my end,
And what is the measure of my days,
So as to know what I lack.
6Behold, You made my days as a handbreadth,
And my existence is as nothing before You;
But all things are vanity, and every man living.
(Pause)

7“Nevertheless man walks about like a phantom;
Surely in vain they stir themselves up;
He stores up treasure, but does not know for whom he will gather it.
8And now what is my patience?
Is it not the Lord?
And my support is from You.
9Deliver me from all my transgressions;
You made me a reproach to the undiscerning.

10 I was dumb and opened not my mouth;
For You are He who made me.
11 Take away Your scourges from me;
Because of the strength of Your hand I fainted.
12 With rebukes You chasten a man for his transgression,
And You cause his soul to waste away like a spider web;
But every man stirs himself up in vain.
(Pause)

13 "Hear my prayer, O Lord,
And give ear to my supplication;
Do not be silent at my tears,
For I am a sojourner before You,
And a stranger, as were all my fathers.
14 Do not forsake me, that I may revive Before I depart and am no longer here."

Psalm 39 (40)

1 For the End; a psalm by David.

2 I waited patiently for the Lord, and He heeded me;
And He heard my supplication,
3 And brought me up out of a miserable pit
And from miry clay;
And He established my feet on a rock
And kept straight my steps.
4 He put a new song in my mouth,
A hymn to our God;
Many will see and be afraid,
And shall hope in the Lord.
5 Blessed is the man whose hope is the name of the Lord,
And who did not look into vanities and false frenzies.
6 Many, O Lord my God, are the wonders You performed,
And in Your thoughts there is no one who shall be likened to You;
I declared and said, "They are multiplied beyond number.

[7]Sacrifice and offering You did not will;
But a body You prepared for me;
A whole burnt offering and a sin offering You did not require.”
[8]Then I said, “Behold, I come
(it is written of me in the volume of the book);
[9]I willed to do Your will, O my God,
And Your law in the midst of my heart.”
[10]I proclaimed righteousness in the great church;
Behold, I shall not restrain my lips,
O Lord, You know.
[11]I did not hide Your righteousness in my heart;
I declared Your truth and Your salvation;
I did not hide Your mercy and Your truth from the great congregation.
[12]O Lord, do not remove Your compassion from me;
May Your mercy and Your truth take hold of me continually.
[13]For evils without number surrounded me;
My transgressions overpowered me, and I could not see;
They multiplied more than the hairs of my head,
And my heart failed me.
[14]Be pleased, O Lord, to deliver me;
O Lord, give heed to help me.
[15]May those who seek my soul to make away with it
Be disgraced and confounded together;
May those who wish evil for me be turned back and disgraced;
[16]May those who say to me, “Well done! Well done!”
Receive their shame immediately.
[17]May all who seek You, O Lord,
Rejoice exceedingly, and be glad in You;
And may those who love Your salvation
Say continually, “The Lord be magnified.”
[18]But I am poor and needy; the Lord will take care of me.
You are my helper and my protector; O my God, do not delay.

Psalm 40 (41)

[1]For the End; a psalm by David.

[2]Blessed is he who understands the poor and needy;
The Lord will deliver him in an evil day.
[3]May the Lord keep him, and give him life,
And make him blessed on the earth,
And not deliver him into the hands of his enemies.
[4]May the Lord help him on his bed of pain;
You turned his bed from sickness to wholeness.
[5]O Lord, I said, “Have mercy on me;
Heal my soul, for I have sinned against You.”
[6]My enemies speak evil things against me,
“When will he die, and his name perish?”
[7]And if he comes to see us, he speaks in vain;
His heart gathered lawlessness to itself;
He went forth and spoke the same.
[8]All my enemies whisper together against me;
Against me they devise evils for me;
[9]They testify a lawless word against me,
“Since he is asleep, will he rise up again?”
[10]For even the man of my peace, in whom I hoped,
He who ate my bread, dealt deceptively with me;
[11]But You, O Lord, have mercy on me,
And raise me up; and I will repay them.
[12]By this I know You are pleased with me,
Because my enemy did not rejoice over me.
[13]And because of my innocence, You supported me,
And established me before You forever.
[14]Blessed is the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting.
Amen! Amen!

Psalm 41 (42)

[1]For the End; for understanding; for the sons of Korah.

[2]As the deer longs for the springs of waters,
So my soul longs for You, O God.
[3]My soul thirsts for the living God;
When shall I come and appear before the face of God?
[4]My tears were my bread day and night,
When they said to me each day, “Where is your God?”
[5]I remembered these things, and poured out my soul within me;
For I shall enter the place of the wondrous tabernacle, even the house of God,
To celebrate a festival with a voice of great joy and praise.
[6]Why are you so sad, O my soul?
And why do you trouble me?
Hope in God, for I will give thanks to Him;
My God is the salvation of my countenance.
[7]My soul within me was troubled;
Therefore I will remember You
From the land of the Jordan and Hermon,
From the small mountain.
[8]Deep calls to deep at the sound of Your waterfalls;
All Your waves and billows went over me.
[9]By day the Lord shall command His mercy,
And by night His ode will be with me,
A prayer to the God of my life.
[10]I will say to God, “You are my protector.
Why have You forgotten me?
Why do I go about with a sad face when my enemies afflict me?”
[11]Those who afflict me revile me when they break my bones,
When they speak to me each day, saying, “Where is your God?”
[12]Why are you so sad, O my soul?
And why do you trouble me?
Hope in God, for I will give thanks to Him.
My God is the salvation of my countenance.

Psalm 42 (43)

[1]A psalm by David.

Judge me, O God, and pass judgment in my cause against an unholy nation;
Deliver me from the unjust and deceitful man.
[2]For You, O God, are my strength;
Why do You cast me off?
Why do I go about with a sad face when my enemy afflicts me?
[3]Send out Your light and Your truth;
They guided me and led me to Your holy mountain
And to Your tabernacles.
[4]And I will come to the altar of God,
To the God who makes glad my youth;
I will give thanks to You with the lyre, O God, my God.
[5]Why are you so sad, O my soul? And why do you trouble me?
Hope in God, for I will give thanks to Him;
My God is the salvation of my countenance.

Psalm 43 (44)

[1]For the End; a psalm for the sons of Korah; for understanding.

[2]O God, we heard with our ears;
Our fathers proclaimed it to us,
The work You performed in their days, in days of old.
[3]Your hand utterly destroyed the nations, and You planted them;
You afflicted and cast out peoples.
[4]For they did not inherit the land with their sword,
And their arm did not save them;
But it was Your right hand and Your arm,
And the light of Your countenance,
Because You took pleasure in them.

[5]You Yourself are my King and God,
Who commands salvation for Jacob;
[6]In You we shall push back our enemies,
And in Your name we shall scorn those who rise up against us.
[7]For I will not hope in my bow,
And my sword will not save me;
[8]For You saved us from those who afflict us,
And You disgraced those who hate us.
[9]We shall praise God all day long,
And we shall give thanks to Your name forever.
(Pause)

[10]But now You rejected and disgraced us,
And You will not go out with our armies;
[11]You turned us back from our enemies,
And those who hate us took spoil for themselves.
[12]You gave us as sheep to be eaten,
And You scattered us among the nations.
[13]You bound Your people without honor,
And there was no abundance given to ransom them.
[14]You made us a reproach to our neighbors
And a scorn and derision to those around us;
[15]You made us a byword among the nations
And a shaking of the head among the peoples.
[16]All day long my disgrace is before me,
And the shame of my face covers me,
[17]Because of the voice of him who reviles and chatters,
Because of the face of the enemy and persecutor.
[18]All these things came upon us, but we have not forgotten You,
And we did not act unjustly with Your covenant;
[19]Our heart did not draw back,
Yet You turned our steps from Your way.
[20]You humbled us in a place of affliction,
And the shadow of death covered us.
[21]If we forget the name of our God,

And spread out our hands to a foreign god,
22Would not God search this out?
For He knows the secrets of the heart.
23For Your sake we are put to death all day long,
We are counted as sheep for the slaughter.
24Awake; why do You sleep, O Lord?
Arise; and do not reject us to the end.
25Why do You turn away Your face,
And forget our poverty and our affliction?
26For our soul was humbled to the dust,
And our belly was joined to the ground.
27Arise, O Lord; help us,
And redeem us for Your name's sake.

Psalm 44 (45)

1*For the End, concerning things that shall be changed; to the sons of Korah for understanding; an ode concerning the Beloved One.*

2My heart overflowed with a good word;
I tell my works to the King;
My tongue is the pen of a swift-writing scribe.
3You are more beautiful than the sons of men;
Grace was poured out on Your lips;
Therefore God blessed You forever.
4Gird Your sword upon Your thigh, O Mighty One,
In Your splendor and Your beauty.
5And stretch Your bow, and grant prosperity, and reign
Because of truth, gentleness, and righteousness,
And Your right hand shall guide You wondrously.
6Your arrows are sharp, O Mighty One (The peoples shall fall under You),
In the heart of the King's enemies.
7Your throne, O God, is forever and ever;
Your royal scepter is a scepter of uprightness.
8You loved righteousness and hated lawlessness;
Therefore God, Your God, anointed You

With the oil of gladness more than Your companions.
[9]Myrrh and stacte and cassia pour forth from Your garments,
From the ivory palaces from which they gladdened You.
[10]There are daughters of kings in Your honor;
The queen stood at Your right hand in apparel interwoven with gold,
And adorned and embroidered with various colors.
[11]Listen, O daughter, behold and incline your ear,
And forget your people and your father's house;
[12]For the King desired your beauty,
For He is your Lord.
[13]And the daughters of Tyre shall worship Him with gifts;
The rich among the people shall entreat your favor.
[14]All her glory as the King's daughter is within,
Adorned and embroidered with golden tassels.
[15]The virgins behind her shall be brought to the King;
Her neighbors shall be brought to You;
[16]They shall be brought with gladness and rejoicing;
They shall be led into the temple of the King.
[17]In place of your fathers, sons shall be born to you;
You shall make them rulers over all the earth.
[18]They shall remember your name from generation to generation;
Therefore, peoples shall give thanks to you
Forever and unto ages of ages.

Psalm 45 (46)

[1]For the End; for the sons of Korah; a psalm concerning hidden things.

[2]God is our refuge and power;
A help in afflictions that severely befall us.
[3]Therefore we will not fear when the earth is troubled,
And when the mountains are removed into the hearts of the seas.
[4]Their waters roared and were troubled;
The mountains were troubled by His might.

(Pause)

5The torrents of the river gladden the city of God;
The Most High sanctified His tabernacle.
6God is in her midst; she shall not be shaken;
God shall help her early in the morning.
7The nations were troubled; kingdoms fell;
He uttered His voice; the earth shook.
8The Lord of hosts is with us;
The God of Jacob is our protector.
(Pause)

9Come, behold the works of the Lord,
The wonders He wrought on the earth.
10When He makes wars cease to the ends of the earth,
He will break the bow and shatter the weapon;
And He will burn up the shields in fire.
11Be still, and know that I am God;
I will be exalted among the nations;
I will be exalted in the earth.
12The Lord of hosts is with us,
The God of Jacob is our protector.

Psalm 46 (47)

1*For the End; a psalm for the sons of Korah.*

2Oh, clap your hands, all you nations;
Shout to God with the voice of rejoicing;
3For the Lord Most High is fearsome,
A great King over all the earth.
4He subdued the peoples under us
And the nations under our feet.
5He chose us for His inheritance,
Jacob’s beauty, which He loved.
(Pause)

6God ascended with a shout,
The Lord with the sound of the trumpet.
7Sing praises to God; sing praises;
Sing praises to our King; sing praises;
8For God is King of all the earth;
Sing praises with understanding.
9God reigns over the nations;
God sits on His holy throne.
10The rulers of the people gather together
With the God of Abraham,
For God's mighty ones of the earth are greatly exalted.

Psalm 47 (48)

1*A psalm of an ode for the sons of Korah; for the second day of the week.*

2Great is the Lord, and greatly to be praised
In the city of our God, in His holy mountain,
3Well-rooted in joy throughout the earth,
The mountains of Zion, the sides of the north,
The city of the great King;
4God is known in her palaces
When He helps her.
5For behold, the kings assembled;
They came together;
6They saw her; thus they marveled;
They were troubled; they were shaken;
7Trembling laid hold of them;
There were labor pains, like a woman giving birth.
8You shall wreck the ships of Tarshish with a violent wind.
9As we heard, so we saw
In the city of the Lord of hosts,
In the city of our God;
God established her forever.
(Pause)

10We pondered Your mercy, O God,

In the midst of Your temple.
[11]According to Your name, O God,
So is Your praise to the ends of the earth;
Your right hand is full of righteousness.
[12]Let Mount Zion be glad;
Let the daughters of Judah greatly rejoice
Because of Your judgments, O Lord.
[13]Encircle Zion and embrace her;
Describe her towers in detail;
[14]Set your hearts on her power
And observe her palaces,
That you may describe them to another generation.
[15]For He is God, our God,
Forever and unto ages of ages;
He will shepherd us unto the ages.

Psalm 48 (49)

[1]For the End; a psalm for the sons of Korah.

[2]Hear this, all you nations;
Give ear, all you inhabitants of the world,
[3]Both earthborn and the sons of men,
Rich and poor together.
[4]My mouth shall speak wisdom,
And the meditation of my heart, understanding;
[5]I will incline my ear to a parable;
I will open my riddle on the harp.
[6]What should I fear in an evil day?
The lawlessness at my heel surrounds me.
[7]Those who trusted in their power
And those who boast in the abundance of their wealth,
[8]A brother does not redeem; shall a man redeem?
He will not give his ransom to God
[9]And the price of his soul's redemption.
[10]And he rested forever, and shall live to the end,
Because he will not see decay when he sees wise men die.

11 Foolish and senseless men die together,
And they leave their wealth to strangers;
12 And their graves will be their homes continually,
Their dwelling places from generation to generation.
They called their lands after their own names.
13 A man being in honor did not understand;
He was compared to the senseless cattle, and became like them.
14 Their road is a snare for them,
Yet afterwards, men will be well pleased with their sayings.
15 Like sheep, they are put in Hades; death will shepherd them;
And the upright shall gain dominion over them in the morning;
And their help shall be made old in Hades away from their glory.
16 Yet God will redeem my soul
From the hand of Hades when He shall receive me.
(Pause)

17 Do not be afraid when a man becomes rich,
And when the glory of his house is increased;
18 For when he dies, he shall carry nothing away;
Neither will his glory descend with him.
19 For his soul shall be blessed in his lifetime;
He will acknowledge You when You do him good.
20 He shall enter the generations of his fathers;
He shall not see light forever.
21 A man being in honor did not understand;
He was compared to the senseless cattle, and became like them.

Psalm 49 (50)

1 A psalm for Asaph.

The God of gods, the Lord, spoke, and summoned the earth

From the sun’s rising to its very setting.
2From Zion in beauty’s splendor,
God will come openly;
3He is our God, and He shall not be silent;
A fire shall be kindled before Him,
And there shall be a mighty storm round about Him.
4He shall summon heaven above
And the earth to judge His people;
5Gather His holy ones to Him,
Who establish His covenant upon sacrifices;
6And the heavens declare His righteousness,
For God is Judge.
(Pause)

7Hear, O my people, and I will speak to you,
O Israel, and I will testify against you;
I am God, your God.
8I will not find fault with your sacrifices,
Because your whole burnt offerings are continually before Me.
9I will not accept a young bull from your house,
Nor he-goats from your flocks.
10For all the wild animals of the forest are Mine,
The cattle and the oxen in the hills.
11I know all the birds of heaven,
And the ripe fruit of the field is with Me.
12If I were hungry, I would not tell you;
For the world is Mine, and all its fullness.
13Will I eat the flesh of bulls,
Or drink the blood of goats?
14Offer to God a sacrifice of praise,
And pay your vows to the Most High.
15Call upon Me in the day of affliction,
And I will deliver you; and you shall glorify Me.
(Pause)

16To the sinner God says,
“Why do you declare My ordinances,

And take up My covenant in your mouth?
17You hate My instruction,
And cast My words behind you.
18If you see a thief, you run with him,
And you keep company with adulterers.
19Your mouth is filled with evil,
And your tongue weaves deceits.
20You sit and speak against your brother,
And place a stumbling block before your mother's son.
21You do these things, and I keep silent;
You think I am lawless like you;
But I shall rebuke you, and contradict you to your face.
22Understand these things, you who forget God,
Lest He snatch you away, and there be none to deliver;
23A sacrifice of praise shall glorify Me,
And there is the way whereby I will show him the salvation of God."

Psalm 50 (51)

1*For the End; a psalm by David;*

2*when Nathan the prophet came to him, at the time he went in to Bathsheba.*

3Have mercy on me, O God, according to Your great mercy;
And according to the abundance of Your compassion, blot out my transgression.
4Wash me thoroughly from my lawlessness
And cleanse me from my sin.
5For I know my lawlessness,
And my sin is always before me.
6Against You only have I sinned
And done evil in Your sight;
That You may be justified in Your words,
And overcome when You are judged.
7For behold, I was conceived in transgressions,
And in sins my mother bore me.

[8]Behold, You love truth;
You showed me the unknown and secret things of Your wisdom.
[9]You shall sprinkle me with hyssop, and I will be cleansed;
You shall wash me, and I will be made whiter than snow.
[10]You shall make me hear joy and gladness;
My bones that were humbled shall greatly rejoice.
[11]Turn Your face from my sins,
And blot out all my transgressions.
[12]Create in me a clean heart, O God,
And renew a right spirit within me.
[13]Do not cast me away from Your presence,
And do not take Your Holy Spirit from me.
[14]Restore to me the joy of Your salvation,
And uphold me with Your guiding Spirit.
[15]I will teach transgressors Your ways,
And the ungodly shall turn back to You.
[16]Deliver me from bloodguiltiness, O God, the God of my salvation,
And my tongue shall greatly rejoice in Your righteousness.
[17]O Lord, You shall open my lips,
And my mouth will declare Your praise.
[18]For if You desired sacrifice, I would give it;
You will not be pleased with whole burnt offerings.
[19]A sacrifice to God is a broken spirit,
A broken and humbled heart God will not despise.
[20]Do good, O Lord, in Your good pleasure to Zion,
And let the walls of Jerusalem be built;
[21]Then You will be pleased with a sacrifice of righteousness,
With offerings and whole burnt offerings;
Then shall they offer young bulls on Your altar.

Psalm 51 (52)

[1]For the End; concerning understanding; by David;

[2]When Doeg the Edomite came and reported to Saul and said,

“David went to the house of Abimelech.”
3Why do you boast in evil, O mighty man,
And in lawlessness all the day long?
4Your tongue devises wrongdoing;
You work deceit like a sharpened razor.
5You love evil rather than good,
Wickedness rather than speaking righteousness.
6You love all the words of destruction;
You love a deceitful tongue.
7Therefore, God shall destroy you completely;
He shall pluck you up and remove you from your dwelling,
And uproot you from the land of the living.
(Pause)

8The righteous also shall see and fear,
And shall laugh at him, saying,
9“Behold, this man did not make God his helper,
But hoped in the abundance of his riches;
And he was made powerful in his vanity.”
10But I am like a fruitful olive tree in the house of God;
I hope in God’s mercy
Forever and unto ages of ages.
11I will give thanks to You forever for what You did,
And I will wait on Your name;
For it is good in the sight of Your holy ones.

Psalm 52 (53)

1*For the End; for Mahaleth; concerning understanding; by David.*

2The fool said in his heart, “There is no God.”
They are corrupt and abominable in lawlessness;
There is none who does good.
3God looked from heaven upon the sons of men
To see if there were any who understood or sought God.
4All turned aside; they were all together rendered useless;
There is none who does good, not even one.

[5]Do all the workers of lawlessness not know?
They eat up my people as they eat bread, and do not call upon
God.
[6]They were in great fear where no fear was,
For God scattered the bones of men-pleasers;
They were put to shame, because God scorned them.
[7]Who will bring the salvation of Israel out of Zion?
When God brings back the captivity of His people,
Jacob will greatly rejoice, and Israel will be glad.

Psalm 53 (54)

[1]For the End; in hymns; concerning understanding; by David;

[2]when the Ziphites came and said to Saul, "Is not David hiding with us?"

[3]Save me, O God, in Your name,
And judge me in Your power.
[4]O God, hear my prayer;
Give ear to the words of my mouth.
[5]For strangers rise up against me,
And the powerful seek after my soul;
They have not set God before them.
(Pause)

[6]For behold, God is my helper;
The Lord is the protector of my soul.
[7]He will return evils to my enemies;
Utterly destroy them in Your truth.
[8]I will sacrifice to You voluntarily;
I will give thanks to Your name, O Lord, for it is good.
[9]You delivered me from all my afflictions,
And my eye looked upon my enemies.

Psalm 54 (55)

[1]For the End; in hymns; concerning understanding; by David.

[2]Give ear to my prayer, O God,
And do not despise my supplication;
[3]Attend to me, and hear me.
I am vexed in my prayer, and troubled
[4]By the enemy's voice and by the sinner's affliction;
For they turned their lawlessness upon me,
And in wrath they were indignant with me.
[5]My heart was troubled within me,
And the terror of death fell on me.
[6]Fear and trembling came upon me,
And the darkness covered me.
[7]I said, "Who will give me wings like a dove,
And I will fly away, and be at rest?
[8]Behold, I fled far away,
And lodged in the wilderness."
(Pause)

[9]I wait for the One who saves me
From faintheartedness and storm.
[10]Drown them in the sea, O Lord, and divide their tongues;
For I see lawlessness and strife in the city.
[11]Day and night, it shall surround her upon her walls;
Lawlessness and trouble and wrongdoing are in her midst;
[12]And usury and treachery
Have not ceased from her squares.
[13]For if an enemy reviled me,
I would have endured it;
And if one hating me boasted against me,
I would have hidden from him.
[14]But it was you, a man my equal,
My guide and my friend,
[15]Who together with me sweetened our meals;
In God's house we walked in unity.
[16]Let death come upon them,
And let them go down alive into Hades;
Because evils are in their dwellings, in the very midst of them.

17But I cried out to God,
And the Lord heard me.
18Evening and morning and midday, I shall tell;
I shall proclaim, and He will hear my voice.
19He will redeem my soul in peace from those who draw near to me,
For they were with me in abundance.
20God shall hear, and humble them,
He who exists before the ages.
(Pause)

For there is no change in them,
And they have not feared God.
21He stretched forth His hand in punishment;
They defiled His covenant.
22They were scattered by the wrath of His face,
And His heart drew near;
His words were softened above oil,
And they are arrows.
23Cast your care upon the Lord,
And He shall support you;
He will never allow the righteous to be moved.
24But You, O God, will bring them down into the pit of decay;
Men of blood and deceit
Shall not live even half their days.
But I will hope in You, O Lord.

Psalm 55 (56)

1*For the End, for the people far from the holy places; by David; for a pillar inscription, when foreigners conquered him in Gath.*

2Have mercy on me, O Lord, for man tramples me down;
All day long he afflicts me in war.
3All day my enemies trample me down,

For many are those who war against me from on high.
4I will not fear by day,
But I will hope in You.
5I will praise God with my words all day long;
In God I hope; I will not be afraid; what will flesh do to me?
6All day long they make my words repulsive;
All their thoughts are against me for evil.
7They will dwell near and hide;
They will watch my heel
As they wait for my soul.
8In no way will You save them;
In wrath You will bring down peoples, O God.
9I declare my life to You;
You set my tears before You, as also in Your promise.
10My enemies shall be turned back
In whatever day I may call upon You;
Behold, I know You are my God.
11In God I will praise His word;
In the Lord I will praise His word.
12In God I hope; I will not be afraid;
What will man do to me?
13In me, O God, are vows
I will render in praise to You;
14For You delivered my soul from death,
And my feet from slipping;
That I may be well-pleasing before God in the light of the living.

Psalm 56 (57)

1*For the End; corrupt not; by David; for a pillar inscription, when he escaped from the face of Saul to the cave.*

2Have mercy on me, O God, have mercy on me,
For my soul trusts in You;
And in the shadow of Your wings I will hope,
Until lawlessness shall pass away.

[3]I will cry out to God most High;
My God who is my benefactor.
[4]He sent from heaven and saved me;
He gave over to disgrace those who trample me down.
(Pause)

God sent out His mercy and His truth,
[5]And delivered my soul from the midst of young lions.
Although troubled, I fell asleep;
As for the sons of men, their teeth are a weapon and arrows,
And their tongue is a sharp dagger.
[6]Be exalted, O God, above the heavens,
And Your glory above all the earth.
[7]They prepared a trap for my feet,
And they bowed down my soul;
They dug a pit before my face,
But they fell into it.
(Pause)

[8]My heart is ready, O God,
My heart is ready;
I will sing, and I will sing a psalm.
[9]Awake, my glory;
Awake, harp and lyre;
I will arise at dawn.
[10]I will give thanks to You, O Lord, among the peoples;
I will sing to You among the Gentiles.
[11]For Your mercy is magnified to the heavens,
And Your truth to the clouds.
[12]Be exalted, O God, above the heavens;
And Your glory above all the earth.

Psalm 57 (58)

[1]For the End; corrupt not; by David; for a pillar inscription.

[2]If, then, you truly speak of righteousness,

Do you judge rightly, O you sons of men?
3For in your heart you work lawlessness in the earth;
Your hands weave unrighteousness.
4Sinners are alienated from the womb;
From birth they are led astray; they speak lies.
5Their anger is according to the likeness of a serpent;
Like a deaf asp that stops its ears,
6Which will not listen to the sound of charms,
Nor to an enchantment of a skillful charmer.
7God shattered their teeth in their mouths;
The Lord broke the teeth of the lions.
8They shall pass along like water running through;
He will bend His bow until they are weakened.
9Like melting wax they will be destroyed;
Fire fell on them, and they never saw the sun.
10Before your thorns are aware of its prickly shrub,
He will swallow you up, as if you were alive, as if in His anger.
11A righteous man shall be glad when he sees the vengeance of the ungodly;
He shall wash his hands in the blood of the sinner.
12A man will say, “If indeed there is fruit for the righteous man,
Then it is God who judges them on the earth.”

Psalm 58 (59)

1*For the End; corrupt not; by David; for a pillar inscription, when Saul sent and watched his house, that he might kill him.*

2Rescue me from my enemies, O God,
And redeem me from those who rise up against me.
3Deliver me from the workers of lawlessness
And save me from men of blood.
4For behold, they hunt for my soul;
Mighty men set upon me.
Neither is it for my lawlessness, nor for my sin, O Lord;

[5]I run without lawlessness, and keep a straight path;
Rise up and meet me, and see.
[6]And You, O Lord God of hosts, the God of Israel,
Give heed, and examine all the Gentiles;
Do not be merciful to all who work lawlessness.
(Pause)

[7]They shall return at evening,
And hunger like dogs; and they shall encircle the city.
[8]Behold, they shall speak with their mouth,
And a sword is in their lips; for they say, “Who hears?”
[9]But You, O Lord, shall laugh at them;
You shall hold all the nations in contempt.
[10]O my strength, I shall keep watch with You,
For You are my protector, O God.
[11]As for my God, His mercy shall go before me;
God will show it to me among my enemies.
[12]Do not kill them, lest they forget my people;
Scatter them by Your power,
And bring them down, O Lord my protector.
[13]For the sin of their mouth, for the word of their lips,
Let them also be taken in their arrogance;
And from their vow of evil and lie, their end will be proclaimed [14]In a wrath of destruction, and let them be no more;
And they shall know God is Jacob’s Lord,
And the Lord of the ends of the earth.
[15]They shall return at evening, and hunger like dogs;
And they shall encircle the city.
[16]They shall be scattered to and fro so as to eat,
But if they are not satisfied, they shall also grumble.
[17]But I will sing of Your power,
And greatly rejoice in Your mercy in the morning;
For You are my protector,
And my refuge in the day of my affliction.
[18]You are my helper; I will sing to You;
For You, O God, are my protector;
You are my mercy, O my God.

Psalm 59 (60)

[1]For the End; for things yet to be changed; for a pillar inscription; by David; for teaching,

[2]when he burned Mesopotamia of Syria, and Syrian Soba, and Joab returned and struck twelve thousand in the Valley of Salt.

[3]O God, You drove us off and destroyed us;
You were angry, and had mercy on us.
[4]You made the earth quake, and You troubled it;
Repair its ruins, for it was shaken.
[5]You showed Your people difficult things;
You made us drink the wine of bewilderment.
[6]You gave a sign to those who fear You,
So they may flee from the face of the bow.
(Pause)

[7]That Your beloved may be rescued,
Save with Your right hand, and hear me.
[8]God spoke in His holy place:
I will greatly rejoice, and divide Shechem,
And I will measure out the valley of the tabernacles.
[9]Gilead is mine, and Manasseh is mine,
And Ephraim is the strength of my head;
Judah is my king.
[10]Moab is the cauldron of my hope;
Over Edom I will extend my shoe;
Foreign tribes were subjected to me.
[11]Who will bring me into a fortified city?
Who will lead me as far as Edom?
[12]Will not You, O God, who drove us away?
And will not You, O God, go out with our armies?
[13]Give us help from affliction,
For the salvation of man is useless.
[14]But in God we shall work power,
And He will utterly scorn those who afflict us.

Psalm 60 (61)

[1]For the End; in hymns; by David.

[2]Hear my supplication, O God;
Attend to my prayer.
[3]From the end of the earth I cried out to You
When my heart was discouraged;
You lifted me high on a rock.
[4]You guided me, for You became my hope,
A tower of strength from the face of the enemy.
[5]I will dwell in Your tabernacle unto the ages;
I will be covered with the shelter of Your wings.
(Pause)

[6]For You, O God, hear my prayers;
You give an inheritance to those who fear Your name.
[7]You will add days to the days of the king,
His years as the days of generation to generation.
[8]He will abide before God forever;
Who will seek out His mercy and truth?
[9]So I will sing praise to Your name unto ages of ages,
That I may pay my vows day to day.

Psalm 61 (62)

[1]For the End, for Jeduthun; a psalm by David.

[2]Shall not my soul be submissive to God?
For from Him is my salvation.
[3]For He is my God and my savior,
My protector; I shall be shaken no more.
[4]How long will you attack a man?
All of you murder him;
You attack him as you would a leaning wall and a broken hedge.

5 They also planned to remove my honor;
They ran with a lie;
They blessed with their mouth, and they cursed with their heart.
(Pause)

6 However, be submissive to God, O my soul,
For my patient endurance is from Him.
7 For He is my God and my savior,
My protector; I shall never be moved.
8 In God is my salvation and my glory;
He is the God of my help, and my hope is in God.
9 Hope in Him, all you congregation of people;
Pour out your hearts before Him;
God is our helper.
(Pause)

10 But the sons of men are useless;
The sons of men are liars with the yokes of wrongdoing;
They are altogether useless.
11 Do not hope in wrongdoing,
And do not hunger for booty;
If riches flow in,
Do not set your heart on them.
12 God spoke once;
I heard these two things:
13 That power is of God, and to You, O Lord, is mercy;
For You will repay every man according to his works.

Psalm 62 (63)

1 A psalm by David, when he was in the desert of Judea.

2 O God, my God, I rise early to be with You;
My soul thirsts for You.
How often my flesh thirsts for You
In a desolate, impassable, and waterless land.

3So in the holy place I appear before You,
To see Your power and Your glory.
4Because Your mercy is better than life,
My lips shall praise You.
5Thus I will bless You in my life;
I will lift up my hands in Your name.
6May my soul be filled, as if with marrow and fatness,
And my mouth shall sing praise to You with lips filled with rejoicing.
7If I remembered You on my bed,
I meditated on You at daybreak;
8For You are my helper,
And in the shelter of Your wings I will greatly rejoice.
9My soul follows close behind You;
Your right hand takes hold of me.
10But they seek for my soul in vain;
They shall go into the lowest parts of the earth.
11They shall be given over to the edge of the sword;
They shall be a portion for foxes.
12But the king shall be glad in God;
All who swear by Him shall be praised,
For the mouth that speaks unrighteous things is stopped.

Psalm 63 (64)

1*For the End; a psalm by David.*

2Hear my voice, O God, in my supplication;
Deliver my soul from fear of the enemy.
3You sheltered me from the conspiracy of evildoers,
From the multitude of those who work lawlessness,
4Who sharpen their tongue like a sword;
They stretched their bow, a bitter thing,
5To strike down the blameless man in secret;
Suddenly they will shoot him, and not be afraid.
6They made an evil word strong in themselves;
They told of hiding snares;

They said, “Who will see them?”
7They searched out lawlessness;
In searching they grew weary.
A man shall draw near, and the heart is deep;
8And God shall be exalted.
Their blows became a childish barb,
9And their tongues were utterly weakened in them.
All who saw them were troubled,
10And every man was afraid.
And they proclaimed the works of God,
And understood His deeds.
11The righteous man shall be glad in the Lord, and shall hope in Him;
And all the upright in heart shall be praised.

Psalm 64 (65)

1*For the End; a psalm by David; an ode; sung by Jeremiah and Ezekiel regarding the situation of the sojourners, when they were about to depart.*

2It is fitting to sing a hymn to You in Zion, O God,
And a vow shall be rendered to You in Jerusalem.
3Hear my prayer;
To You all flesh shall come.
4The words of lawless men overpowered us,
And You will show mercy to our ungodliness.
5Blessed is he whom You choose and help;
He shall dwell in Your courts.
We shall be filled with the good things of Your house;
Holy is Your temple, wondrous in righteousness.
6Hear us, O God our savior,
The hope of all the ends of earth
And of those far off at sea,
7He who prepares mountains in His strength,
Who is girded with power,
8Who troubles the depth of the sea,
The sounds of its waves.

The nations shall be troubled,
9And those who inhabit the ends of the earth
Shall be afraid because of Your signs;
You shall gladden the outgoings of morning and evening.
10You visited the earth and watered it;
You enriched it abundantly;
The river of God is filled with waters;
You prepared their food, for thus is Your preparation thereof.
11Water its furrows; multiply its fruits;
With its raindrops the earth will be gladdened when it produces fruits.
12You will bless the crown of the year with Your goodness,
And Your fields will be filled with fatness;
13The desert fruits will be made fat,
And the hills will be girded with rejoicing.
14The rams of the sheep are clothed with wool,
And the valleys shall abound in wheat;
They will shout and truly sing hymns.

Psalm 65 (66)

1*For the End; an ode of a psalm of resurrection.*

Shout to God, all the earth;
2Sing now to His name;
Give glory to His praise.
3Say to God, “How fearful are Your works;
In the greatness of Your power Your enemies will lie to You;
4Let all the earth worship You and sing to You;
Let them sing to Your name.”
(Pause)

5Come and see the works of God;
He is more fearful in His counsels than the sons of men,
6Who turns the sea into dry land;
They will cross over the river on foot.
There we will be glad in Him,

7In Him who as Lord shall rule in His power forever;
His eyes will look at the Gentiles;
Let not those who provoke Him be exalted in themselves.
(Pause)

8Bless our God, you Gentiles,
And make the voice of His praise to be heard,
9Who established my soul in life,
And who did not permit my feet to be moved.
10For You, O God, tested us;
You tried us in the fire, as silver is purified by fire.
11You brought us into the snare;
You laid affliction on our back.
12You put men on our heads;
We went through fire and water,
And You led us into a refreshing place.
13I will go into Your house with whole burnt offerings;
I will pay You the vows
14My lips uttered,
And my mouth spoke in my affliction;
15I will offer You whole burnt offerings full of marrow;
With incense and rams,
I will offer oxen with a young he-goat.
(Pause)

16Come and hear, and I will describe to you,
All who fear God,
What things He did for my soul.
17I cried to Him with my mouth,
And I exalted Him with my tongue.
18If I regarded wrongdoing in my heart,
Let not the Lord hear me.
19Therefore God heard me;
He gave heed to the voice of my supplication.
20Blessed be God, who has not turned away my prayer,
Nor His mercy from me.

Psalm 66 (67)

[1]For the End, in hymns; a psalm of an ode.

[2]May God be gracious to us, and bless us;
May He cause His face to shine upon us,
(Pause)

[3]That we may know His way on the earth,
Your salvation among all the Gentiles.
[4]Let the peoples give thanks to You, O God;
Let all the peoples praise You.
[5]Let the Gentiles be glad and greatly rejoice,
For You shall judge the peoples in uprightness,
And lead the Gentiles on the earth.
(Pause)

[6]Let the peoples give thanks to You, O God;
Let all the peoples praise You.
[7]The earth yielded her fruit;
May God, our God, bless us.
[8]May God bless us,
And let all the ends of the earth be in fear of Him.

Psalm 67 (68)

[1]For the End; a psalm of an ode; by David.

[2]Let God arise, and let His enemies be scattered,
And let those who hate Him flee from before His face.
[3]As smoke vanishes, so let them vanish;
As wax melts before the fire,
So let the sinners perish from the face of God.
[4]And let the righteous be glad;
Let them greatly rejoice before God;
Let them be glad with merriment.

[5]Sing to God; sing to His name;
Make ready the way for Him
Who rides upon the sunset;
His name is the Lord;
And greatly rejoice before Him.
Let them be troubled before His face,
[6]He who is the father of orphans and the judge of widows;
God is in His holy place.
[7]God settles the solitary in a house;
With courage He leads out those in bondage,
Likewise those who rebel, who dwell in tombs.
[8]O God, when You went forth before Your people,
When You passed through the desert,
(Pause)

[9]The earth shook; truly the heavens let the rain fall,
Before the face of the God of Sinai,
Before the face of the God of Israel.
[10]You, O God, willingly grant rain to Your inheritance,
And it was weakened, but You restored it.
[11]Your creatures are dwelling in it;
In Your goodness, O God, You provide for the poor.
[12]The Lord will give His word
To those proclaiming the gospel with great power, [13]He who is the King of hosts of the beloved,
That He may divide the booty for the beauty of the house.
[14]If you fall asleep in the midst of your portions,
You will have the wings of a dove, all covered with silver,
And her back with yellow gold.
(Pause)

[15]When the heavenly One appoints kings over it,
They shall become as white as the snow on Zalmon.
[16]The mountain of God is a fertile mountain,
A mountain richly curdled with milk, a fat mountain.
[17]Why do you think about other mountains richly curdled with milk?
This is the mountain God consented to dwell in;

Truly the Lord will lodge in it to the end.
[18]God's chariot is ten thousand-fold,
Thousands abounding in numbers;
The Lord is among them at Sinai in the holy place.
[19]You ascended on high, You led captivity captive;
You received gifts for mankind,
Truly for the disobedient, so they may dwell there.
The Lord God is blessed;
[20]Blessed is the Lord from day to day;
The God of our salvation will bring prosperity upon us.
(Pause)

[21]Our God is the God who saves us,
And the issues of death belong to the Lord's Lord.
[22]But God will crush the heads of His enemies,
The hairy head of those who continue in their transgressions.
[23]The Lord said, "I will return from Bashan;
I will return in the depths of the sea,
[24]So your foot may be dipped in blood,
The tongue of your dogs in the blood of your enemies."
[25]Your processionals were seen, O God,
The processionals of my God and my King in the holy place.
[26]The rulers drew near, singers followed after;
In the midst of them came young maidens playing timbrels.
[27]Bless God in the churches,
The Lord from the fountains of Israel.
[28]There is the young Benjamin in ecstasy;
The rulers of Judea are their leaders,
The rulers of Zebulun and Naphtali.
[29]Give command, O God, to Your power;
Strengthen, O God, what You accomplished in us.
[30]Because of Your temple at Jerusalem,
Kings will bring gifts to You.
[31]Rebuke the wild beasts of the reed,
The herd of bulls among the heifers of the peoples,
Lest they shut out those proven in silver;
Scatter the nations that desire wars.

[32]Ambassadors shall come out of Egypt;
Ethiopia shall draw near to stretch out its hand to God.
[33]Sing to God, you kingdoms of the earth, sing to the Lord.
(Pause)

[34]Sing to God, who rides upon the heaven of heavens towards the east;
Behold, He will speak with His voice, a voice of power.
[35]Give glory to God;
His magnificence is over Israel,
And His power is in the clouds.
[36]God is wondrous in His saints;
The God of Israel shall give power and strength to His people.
Blessed is God.

Psalm 68 (69)

[1]For the End, concerning things that shall be changed; by David.

[2]Save me, O God, for the waters flood my soul.
[3]I am stuck in the mire of the sea, and there is no place to stand;
I came into the depths of the sea, and the storm overwhelmed me.
[4]I grow weary with crying; my throat is hoarse;
My eyes fail me from hoping in my God.
[5]Those who hate me without a cause multiplied even more than the hairs of my head;
My enemies who persecute me unjustly have become strong;
Then I paid for things I did not steal.
[6]O God, You know my foolishness,
And my transgressions are not hidden from You.
[7]O Lord, O Lord of hosts, let not those who wait for You be put to shame because of me;
O God of Israel, let not those who seek You feel ashamed because of me.

[8]For Your sake I bore disgrace;
Humiliation covered my face.
[9]I am become a stranger to my brothers,
An alien to my mother's sons;
[10]For the zeal of Your house consumed me,
And the insults of those who disgraced You fell on me.
[11]I bent down my soul with fasting,
And it became a disgrace for me.
[12]I also made sackcloth my garment,
And I became a byword to them.
[13]Those who sit at the gate were talking against me,
And those who drink wine were singing about me.
[14]But I, O Lord, pray with my prayer to You;
It is the time of Your goodwill, O God, in the abundance of Your mercies;
In the truth of Your salvation, hear me.
[15]Save me from the mire, that I may not be stuck therein;
Deliver me from those who hate me, and from the depths of the waters.
[16]Let not a storm of water drown me;
Neither let the deep swallow me up,
Nor the well enclose its mouth upon me.
[17]Hear me, O Lord, for Your mercy is good;
According to Your abundant compassion, look upon me.
[18]Turn not Your face from Your child,
For I am afflicted; hear me speedily.
[19]Give heed to my soul, and redeem it;
Deliver me because of my enemies.
[20]For You know my disgrace
And my shame and humiliation;
All who afflict me are before You.
[21]My soul expected disgrace and trouble,
And I waited for someone to sympathize with me; but no one was there,
And for comforters, but I found not one.
[22]They gave me gall for my food,
And they gave me vinegar for my drink.

[23]Let their table become a snare before them,
And a recompense and a stumbling block.
[24]Let their eyes be darkened so they may not see,
And bend down their backs continually;
[25]Pour out Your anger upon them,
And let the fury of Your wrath lay hold of them.
[26]Let their dwelling place be laid waste,
And let no one live in their tents.
[27]For they pursued closely the one You slew,
And they added to the pain of my wounds.
[28]Add lawlessness to their lawlessness,
And let them not enter into Your righteousness;
[29]Let them be blotted out from the book of the living,
And not be written with the righteous.
[30]I am poor and suffering,
And the salvation of Your presence, O God, lays hold of me.
[31]I will praise God's name with a song;
I will magnify Him in praise,
[32]And this shall be more pleasing to God
Than a young bull with horns and hooves.
[33]Let the poor behold this, and be glad;
Seek God, and your soul shall live,
[34]For the Lord hears the poor,
And does not despise His prisoners.
[35]Let heaven and earth praise Him,
The seas and everything that moves in them.
[36]For God shall save Zion,
And the cities of Judah shall be built;
And they shall dwell therein, and inherit it;
[37]And the seed of His servants shall possess it,
And those who love His name shall dwell in it.

Psalm 69 (70)

[1]For the End; by David; in remembrance,

[2]that the Lord may save me.

O God, make haste to help me.
[3]May those who seek my soul be dishonored and shamed;
May those who plot evils against me be turned back and disgraced;
[4]May those be turned back immediately
Who shame me, saying, “Well done! Well done!”
[5]May all who seek You greatly rejoice and be glad in You,
And let those who love Your salvation always say,
“Let God be magnified.”
[6]But I am poor and needy;
O God, help me.
You are my helper and deliverer, O Lord; do not delay.

Psalm 70 (71)

[1]By David; of the sons of Jonadab and the first ones taken captive.

O God, in You I hope; may I never be put to shame.
[2]Deliver me in Your righteousness, and set me free;
Incline Your ear to me and save me.
[3]Be to me a God for protection
And a strong place for salvation,
For You are my foundation and my refuge.
[4]O my God, deliver me from the hand of the sinner,
From the hand of those who transgress the law and act unjustly;
[5]For You are my patience, O Lord;
The Lord is my hope from my youth.
[6]By You I have been supported from birth;
From my mother’s womb You have been my protector;
My song shall be always of You.
[7]I am become as a wonder to many,
And You are my strong helper.
[8]Let my mouth be filled with Your praise,
That I may sing of Your glory

And of Your magnificence all the day long.
9Do not abandon me in the time of old age;
When my strength fails, do not forsake me.
10For my enemies speak against me,
And those who watch for my soul plot together,
11Saying, “God forsook him;
Pursue and lay hold of him,
For there is no deliverer.”
12O God, do not stand far off from me;
O my God, give heed to help me.
13Let those who falsely accuse my soul be shamed and forsaken;
Let those who seek evils for me be covered with shame and reproach.
14But I will hope continually,
And I will add to all Your praise.
15My mouth shall proclaim Your righteousness,
Your salvation all the day,
For I am not acquainted with learning.
16I shall enter into the power of the Lord;
O Lord, I shall remember Your righteousness, Yours alone.
17You taught me, O God, from my youth,
And from then until now I will proclaim Your wonders.
18And even to old age and to my last breath,
O God, do not abandon me,
Until I proclaim Your arm to every coming generation,
Yes, Your mighty deeds and Your righteousness.
19O God, I proclaim the magnificent things You did,
Even to the highest heaven;
O God, who is like You?
20How great and evil are the afflictions You showed me,
And You returned, and made me live;
And You raised me up again from the depths of the earth.
21You multiplied Your greatness,
And You returned and comforted me;
You brought me up again from the depths of the earth.
22Truly, I will give thanks to You with the instrument of a psalm, O God;

I will sing to You with the lyre, O Holy One of Israel.
[23]My lips will greatly rejoice when I sing to You;
So will my soul, which You redeemed.
[24]My tongue shall meditate on Your righteousness all the day long,
When those who seek evils for me are dishonored and shamed.

Psalm 71 (72)

[1]For Solomon.

O God, give Your judgments to the King,
And Your righteousness to the King's Son,
[2]That He may judge Your people in righteousness
And Your poor with judgment.
[3]Let the mountains raise up peace for Your people
And the hills in righteousness.
[4]He shall judge the poor of the people,
And shall serve the sons of the poor;
He shall humble the false accuser,
[5]And He shall continue as long as the sun
And before the moon from generation to generation;
[6]And He shall come down like rain on the fleece,
Like raindrops falling on the earth.
[7]In His days, righteousness and abundance of peace shall flourish,
Until the moon is removed.
[8]And He shall rule from sea to sea,
And from the river to the ends of the inhabited earth.
[9]The Ethiopians shall bow down before Him,
And His enemies shall lick the dust.
[10]The kings of Tarshish and their islands will come bearing gifts;
The kings of Arabia and Saba will bring presents.
[11]All the kings of the earth shall worship Him;

All the Gentiles shall serve Him.
12For He rescued the poor from the hand of a strong man,
And the needy, for whom there was no helper.
13He shall spare the poor and needy,
And He shall save the souls of the needy;
14He shall redeem their souls from usury and injustice,
And precious shall be their name in His sight.
15He shall live, and there shall be given Him from the gold of Arabia;
They shall pray continually because of Him,
All the day long shall they bless Him.
16He shall be a support on the earth upon the summits of the mountains;
His fruit shall be exalted more than Lebanon,
And they shall flourish from the city like the grass of the earth.
17Let His name be blessed unto the ages;
His name shall remain before the sun,
And all the tribes of the earth shall be blessed in Him;
All the Gentiles shall bless Him.
18Blessed is the Lord God,
The God of Israel, who alone does wondrous things.
19And blessed is the name of His glory forever and unto ages of ages,
And all the earth shall be filled with His glory. Amen! Amen!
20The hymns of David the son of Jesse are ended.

Psalm 72 (73)

1*A psalm for Asaph.*

How good God is to Israel,
To the upright in heart.
2But as for me, my feet were almost shaken;
My steps had nearly slipped.
3For I was jealous of the lawless
When I beheld the peace of sinners.

[4]For there is no upward gaze at their death
Nor steadfastness in their chastening.
[5]They are not in difficulties as other men,
And they shall not be chastened with other men.
[6]For this reason arrogance mastered them;
They clothed themselves with their wrongdoing and ungodliness;
[7]Their wrongdoing shall go forth as from fatness;
They passed through to their heart's intent.
[8]They thought and spoke in evil;
They spoke in wrongdoing to the height.
[9]They set their mouth against heaven,
And their tongue passed through the earth.
[10]For this reason my people shall return here;
Days of fullness shall be found in them.
[11]They said, "How does God know?
Is there knowledge in the Most High?"
[12]Behold, these are sinners, and they prosper;
They possess wealth in this age.
[13]And I said, "Surely in vain have I kept my heart righteous,
And washed my hands with the innocent."
[14]For all day long I was scourged,
And my reproof persisted through the night.
[15]If I should speak, I would describe it thus:
Behold, I am breaking covenant with the generation of your children.
[16]And I sought to understand this;
It was difficult in my sight,
[17]Until I came into God's holy place
And understood their end.
[18]Surely, for their deceits You appointed deceits for them;
You cast them down in their exaltation.
[19]Oh, how they came into desolation suddenly!
They ceased to be; they perished in their lawlessness.
[20]Like a dream to one who is awakened,
So, O Lord, You shall despise their image in Your city.
[21]For my heart was kindled,

And my reins were changed,
22 And I was despised, and did not know;
I became like a beast before You.
23 And I am continually with You;
You hold fast my right hand;
24 With Your counsel You guide me,
And with glory You take hold of me.
25 For what is there in heaven for me but You,
And what do I desire on earth besides You?
26 My heart and my flesh fail,
O God of my heart; and God is my portion forever.
27 For behold, those who keep themselves far away from You shall perish;
You destroy away from You all who act unfaithfully.
28 But as for me, it is good to cling to God,
To put my hope in the Lord,
That I may proclaim all Your praises
In the gates of the daughter of Zion.

Psalm 73 (74)

[1]Of understanding; for Asaph.

O God, why have You rejected us to the end?
Why has Your anger raged against the sheep of Your pasture?
[2]Remember Your congregation You acquired from the beginning,
That You redeemed the rod of Your inheritance,
This Mount Zion, where You encamped.
[3]Lift up Your hands against their arrogance to the end,
Against everything the enemy prostituted in Your holy places.
[4]Those who hate You boasted in the midst of Your feast;
They set up their signs, yes signs, and they did not know.
[5]As into an entrance hall,
[6]As in a thicket of trees, they cut down its doors with axes;
With battle axes and hammers, they broke it down.
[7]They burned down Your sanctuary;
They defiled the tabernacle of Your name to the ground.
[8]Their kindred said in their heart together,
“Come, let us abolish all the feasts of God from the earth.”
[9]We do not see our signs;
There is no longer any prophet, and He will no longer know us.
[10]How long, O God, will the enemy reproach?
Will the adversary provoke Your name to the end?
[11]Why do You turn away Your hand,
Your right hand from the midst of Your breast to the end?
[12]But God is our King before the ages;
He worked salvation in the midst of the earth.
[13]You strengthened the sea by Your power;
You crushed the heads of dragons upon the water.
[14]You shattered the heads of the dragon;
You gave him as food for the Ethiopian peoples.
[15]You broke apart fountains and torrents;

You dried up the rivers of Etham.
16The day is Yours, and the night is Yours;
You created the light and the sun.
17You made all the boundaries of the earth;
Summer and winter, You formed these things.
18Remember this: the enemy insulted the Lord,
And a foolish people provoked Your name.
19May You not deliver to wild beasts the soul who gives thanks to You;
May You not forget the souls of Your poor to the end.
20Look upon Your covenant,
For the dark places of the earth are filled with the houses of lawlessness.
21Let not the humbled and the disgraced be turned away;
The poor and needy shall praise Your name.
22Arise, O God, judge Your cause;
Remember the insults against You by the foolish man all the day long.
23Do not forget the voice of Your suppliants;
The arrogance of those who hate You rises against You continually.

Psalm 74 (75)

1*For the End; do not corrupt; a psalm of an ode for Asaph.*

2We shall give thanks to You, O God;
We shall give thanks, and call upon Your name.
3I shall describe all Your wonders.
"When I seize the opportunity,
I shall judge these rightly.
4The earth is dissolved and all its inhabitants;
I made firm its pillars."
(Pause)

5I said to those who transgress the law, "Do not transgress the law,"

And to those who sin I said, “Do not exalt yourselves;
6Do not boast in yourselves;
Do not accuse God of wrongdoing.”
7For judgment comes neither from the sunrise nor the sunset
Nor from mountains of the deserts,
8For God is judge;
This one He brings down low, and that one He raises up.
9For the cup in the Lord’s hand
Is full of unmixed wine, a drink poured out;
And He tipped it from side to side,
But its dregs were not emptied out;
All sinners of the earth shall drink them.
10But I shall greatly rejoice forever;
I shall sing to the God of Jacob.
11All the horns of sinners I shall crush,
But the horns of the righteous man shall be exalted.

Psalm 75 (76)

1*For the End; in hymns; a psalm for Asaph, an ode to the Assyrian.*

2In Judah God is known;
His name is great in Israel.
3His place was made in peace
And His dwelling in Zion.
4There He broke the power of the bows,
Weapon and sword and battle.
(Pause)

5You give light wondrously
From the everlasting mountains.
6All the foolish in heart were troubled;
All the men of wealth slept their sleep
And found nothing in their hands.
7At Your rebuke, O God of Jacob,
Those who mounted horses fell asleep.
8You are fearsome, and who shall stand against You?

From that time on is Your wrath.
9You caused judgment to be heard from heaven;
The earth was afraid, and kept quiet
10When God arose for judgment,
To save all the gentle on the earth.
(Pause)

11For a man shall give thanks to You from his heart,
And he shall celebrate a feast to You with his whole heart.
12Pray and return to the Lord Your God;
All around Him shall bring gifts
13To the fearsome One, and to Him who takes away the spirits of rulers,
To the fearsome One among the kings of the earth.

Psalm 76 (77)

1*For the End, concerning Idithun; a psalm for Asaph.*

2With my voice I cried to the Lord,
With my voice to God, and He gave heed to me.
3In the day of my affliction I sought out God
With my hands before Him by night,
And I was not deceived;
My soul refused to be comforted.
4I remembered God and was glad;
I complained, and my spirit became discouraged.
(Pause)

5I stayed awake through all the watches of the night;
I was troubled and did not speak.
6I thought of the days of old,
And I remembered the eternal years; and I meditated.
7By night I communed with my heart,
And my spirit searched.
8Will the Lord cast me off unto the ages?
And will He be favorable no more?

9 Or will He cut off His mercy completely,
From generation to generation?
10 Or will God forget to be merciful?
Or will He in His wrath withhold His mercies?
(Pause)

11 I said, “Now I am beginning to see;
This change is by the right hand of the Most High.”
12 I remembered the Lord’s works,
For I will remember Your wonders of old,
13 And I will meditate on all Your works;
And I will consider Your ways.
14 O God, Your way is in the holy place;
Who is so great a God as our God?
15 You are the God who does wonders;
You made known Your power among the peoples;
16 You redeemed Your people with Your arm,
The sons of Jacob and Joseph.
(Pause)

17 The waters saw You, O God;
The waters saw You and were afraid,
And the depths were troubled,
A multitude like the sound of waters.
18 The clouds uttered their voice,
For Your arrows passed through them;
19 The voice of Your thunder was in the wheel;
Your lightning gave light to the world;
It was shaken, and the earth was made to tremble.
20 Your way is in the sea,
And Your paths are in many waters;
And Your footsteps shall not be known.
21 You led Your people as sheep
By the hand of Moses and Aaron.

Psalm 77 (78)

[1]Concerning understanding; for Asaph.

Give heed, O my people, to my law;
Incline your ear to the words of my mouth;
[2]I shall open my mouth in parables;
I shall speak of hidden things from of old.
[3]What things we heard, these we also knew,
And our fathers described them to us.
[4]It was not hidden from their children in a different generation,
Who declare the praises of the Lord
And His mighty deeds
And His wondrous things He did.
[5]He raised up a testimony in Jacob
And appointed a law in Israel,
Whatever He commanded our fathers
To make these things known to their children, [6]That a different generation may know,
Children yet to be born;
And they will arise, and declare these things to their children,
[7]So they may put their hope in God,
And not forget the works of God,
And seek out His commandments,
[8]So they may not become like their fathers,
A generation rebellious and embittered,
A generation that did not keep its heart right,
And its spirit was not faithful with God.
[9]The sons of Ephraim who bend and shoot their bows
Turned back in the day of battle.
[10]They did not keep God’s covenant,
And they did not desire to walk in His law;
[11]And they forgot His good deeds
And His wonders He showed them
[12]In the sight of their fathers,
The marvelous things He did
In the land of Egypt, in the field of Zoan.
[13]He parted the sea and led them through;
The waters stood like a dam,

14 And He led them with a cloud by day,
And all night by the light of a fire.
15 He split the rock in the desert
And gave them water to drink as in a great deep;
16 And He brought out water from the rock,
And He brought it down like the waters of rivers.
17 And they still continued to sin against Him;
They rebelled against the Most High in a place without water,
18 And they tested God in their hearts
By asking food for their souls;
19 And they slandered God and said,
"Why is God unable to prepare a table in the desert?
20 Since He struck the rock, and waters flowed,
And brooks flooded,
Is He also unable to give us bread
Or to prepare a table for His people?"
21 Therefore, the Lord heard and was enraged,
And fire was kindled in Jacob,
And wrath arose against Israel,
22 Because they did not believe in God,
Nor put their hope in His salvation.
23 And He commanded the clouds above
And opened the doors of heaven;
24 And He rained manna for them to eat
And gave them the bread of heaven;
25 Man ate the bread of angels;
He sent them food in abundance.
26 He took away the south wind from heaven,
And with His power He brought in the southwest wind;
27 He rained flesh on them like dust
And winged birds like the sand of the sea,
28 And they fell in the midst of their camp,
All around their tents;
29 And they ate and were well filled,
And He brought them their own desire;
30 They were not deprived of their desire.
While their food was still in their mouth,

[31]The wrath of God rose up against them,
And killed their wealthy ones
And shackled Israel's chosen ones.
[32]In all these things they still sinned
And did not believe in His wonders;
[33]And their days ended in folly
And their years with haste.
[34]When He killed them, they sought Him out,
And turned back, and rose up early before God;
[35]They remembered God was their helper,
And the Most High God their redeemer.
[36]But they deceived Him with their mouth
And lied to Him with their tongue,
[37]For their heart was not right with Him,
Neither were they faithful to His covenant.
[38]But He is merciful
And will atone for their sins, and not destroy them;
And He will multiply them, and turn away His anger;
And He will not kindle all His wrath.
[39]For He remembered they are flesh,
A spirit that is passing and not returning.
[40]How many times did they rebel against Him in the desert,
And provoke Him to wrath in the desert?
[41]And they turned away and tempted God,
And provoked the Holy One of Israel.
[42]They did not remember His hand
And the day He redeemed them from the hand of those afflicting them, [43]How He wrought His signs in Egypt,
And His wonders in the plains of Zoan,
[44]And how He turned their rivers and rainfalls into blood,
So they could not drink;
[45]He sent them the dog-fly, and it devoured them,
And the frog, and it destroyed them.
[46]He gave their fruit to the mildew
And their labors to the locust;
[47]He killed their vineyard with hail

And their mulberry trees with frost;
[48]And He delivered their cattle to the hail
And their property to the fire;
[49]He sent forth the wrath of His anger to them,
Anger and wrath and affliction,
Sent forth through evil angels;
[50]He made a path for His wrath;
He did not spare their souls from death,
And their cattle He enclosed in death;
[51]And He struck every firstborn in Egypt,
The firstfruit of their labor in the tents of Ham.
[52]And He brought His people out like sheep,
And He led them like a flock in the desert;
[53]And He guided them in hope, and they were not afraid;
And the sea covered up their enemies.
[54]He brought them into the mountain of His holiness,
This mountain His right hand acquired;
[55]And He cast out the nations from before their face,
And distributed them a measure of land as an inheritance;
And He settled the tribes of Israel in their tents.
[56]They tested and rebelled against the Most High God,
And did not keep His testimonies;
[57]And they turned away and broke His covenant, just as their fathers did,
And they changed into a crooked bow;
[58]And they provoked Him to anger with their high places,
And moved Him to jealousy with their carved images.
[59]God heard and despised them,
And He utterly disdained Israel;
[60]And He rejected the tabernacle at Shiloh,
His dwelling place, where He settled among men.
[61]He gave their strength into captivity
And their beauty into the hands of the enemy;
[62]And He gave His people over to the sword
And despised His inheritance.
[63]Fire consumed their young men,
And their virgins were not lamented;

64Their priests fell by the sword,
And their widows were not lamented.
65Then the Lord awoke as from sleep,
Like a strong man drunk from wine;
66And He struck His enemies from behind;
He gave them eternal reproach.
67And He rejected the dwelling of Joseph
And did not choose the tribe of Ephraim;
68He chose the tribe of Judah,
This Mount Zion that He loves;
69And He built His sanctuary as the place of unicorns;
He founded it forever on the earth.
70He chose David for His servant
And took him from the sheepfolds;
71He took him from behind sheep that gave birth
To shepherd Jacob His people
And Israel His inheritance;
72And he shepherded them in the integrity of his heart
And guided them with the skillfulness of his hands.

Psalm 78 (79)

1*A psalm for Asaph.*

O God, the nations entered Your inheritance;
They defiled Your holy temple;
They left Jerusalem in ruins.
2They left the dead bodies of Your servants
As food for the birds of heaven,
The flesh of Your saints for the wild animals of the earth;
3Their blood flowed like water around Jerusalem,
And there was no one to bury them.
4We were made a disgrace to our neighbors,
A scorn and a mockery to those around us.
5How long, O Lord? Will You be angry to the end?
Will Your jealousy burn like fire?
6Pour out Your wrath on the nations that do not know You,

And on the kingdoms that did not call upon Your name;
7For they devoured Jacob
And made his dwelling place desolate.
8Do not remember our transgressions of old;
Let Your mercies quickly overtake us,
For we have become very poor.
9Help us, O God our savior;
Because of the glory of Your name, O Lord, save us,
And be merciful to our sins because of Your name;
10Let the nations never say, “Where is their God?”
And let it be known among the nations before our eyes:
There is vengeance for the shed blood of Your servants.
11Let the groaning of those in prison enter before You;
According to the greatness of Your arm,
Preserve the sons of those who were killed.
12Repay our neighbors sevenfold into their bosom
Their reproach by which they reviled You, O Lord.
13For we are Your people and the sheep of Your pasture;
We shall give thanks to You freely and openly forever;
From generation to generation we will proclaim Your praise.

Psalm 79 (80)

1*For the End, concerning things that shall be changed; a testimony for Asaph, a psalm concerning the Assyrian.*

2Give heed, O You who shepherd Israel;
Reveal Yourself, O You who lead Joseph like a flock,
Who sit upon the cherubim.
3Raise up Your power
Before Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh,
And come for our salvation.
4O God, convert us,
And reveal Your face, and we shall be saved.
5O Lord God of hosts,
How long will You be angry with the prayer of Your servant?
6Will You feed us the bread of tears,

And will You give us as drink tears in measure?
7You made us an offense to our neighbors,
And our enemies sneered at us.
8O Lord God, convert us,
And reveal Your face, and we shall be saved.
(Pause)

9You removed a vineyard from Egypt;
You cast out the nations and planted it;
10You prepared the way before it,
And You planted its roots; and the earth was filled.
11Its shade covered the mountains,
And its vines the cedars of God;
12Its branches reached to the sea
And its shoots as far as the river.
13Why did You pull down its hedge,
And all who pass on the road gather its grapes?
14A wild swine from the forest laid it waste,
A solitary wild beast devoured it.
15O God of hosts, convert us now;
Look down from heaven and behold,
And visit this vineyard
16Which Your right hand planted, and perfect it.
And visit the son of man, whom You strengthened for Yourself.
17It was set on fire and uprooted,
But they shall perish at the rebuke of Your face.
18Let Your hand be upon the man of Your right hand,
And upon the son of man, whom You strengthened for Yourself;
19Then we will not turn away from You;
You will give us life, and we will call upon Your name.
20O Lord God of hosts, convert us,
and reveal Your face, and we shall be saved.

Psalm 80 (81)

[1]For the End; concerning the winepresses; a psalm for Asaph.

[2]Rejoice in God our helper;
Rejoice greatly in the living God.
[3]Take up a psalm and sound a timbrel,
a pleasant psaltery with a harp;
[4]Sound a trumpet in the new moon
On this honorable day of our feast;
[5]For this is an ordinance for Israel
And a judgment by the God of Jacob.
[6]He made it a testimony in Joseph
When he went out from the land of Egypt;
He heard a tongue he knew not;
[7]He removed his back from forced labors;
His hands served in the basket.
[8]You called upon Me in affliction, and I delivered you;
I heard you in the secret place of the storm;
I tested you at the water of Rebellion.
(Pause)

[9]Listen, O My people, for I testify to you;
Listen, O Israel, if you hear Me:
[10]There shall be no new god among you,
Nor shall you worship an alien god;
[11]I am the Lord your God,
Who brought you up from the land of Egypt;
Open wide your mouth, and I will fill it.
[12]But My people did not hear My voice,
And Israel would pay no attention to Me.
[13]And I sent them away because of the desires in their hearts;
They shall walk in their ways of living.
[14]If My people had heard Me,
If Israel had walked in My ways,
[15]I would have humbled their enemies quickly;
And I would have laid My hand on those oppressing them.
[16]The Lord’s enemies lied to Him,
And their time shall be forever.

17 He fed them with the finest of wheat
And satisfied them with honey from the rock.

Psalm 81 (82)

1 A psalm for Asaph.

God stood in the assembly of gods;
He judges in the midst of gods, saying,
2 "How long will you judge unjustly,
And favor the persons of sinners?"
(Pause)

3 Judge an orphan and a poor man;
Justify a humble and poor man;
4 Rescue a poor and needy man;
Deliver them from a sinner's hand.
5 They do not know nor understand;
They carry on in darkness;
All the foundations of the earth shall be shaken.
6 I said, "You are gods,
And you are all sons of the Most High.
7 But you die like men,
And like one of the rulers, you fall."
8 Arise, O God; judge the earth,
For You shall inherit all the Gentiles.

Psalm 82 (83)

1 An ode of a psalm for Asaph.

2 O God, who can be likened to You?
Be not silent nor appeased, O God,
3 For behold, Your enemies made a noise,
And those who hate You raised up their heads.
4 They devised a wicked judgment against Your people,

And they plotted against Your saints.
[5]They said, “Come, and let us destroy them from among the people,
And let the name Israel be remembered no more.”
[6]For they plotted together in unity;
They established a covenant against You:
[7]The tents of the Edomites and the Ishmaelites,
Moab and the Hagarenes,
[8]Gebal and Ammon and Amalek,
And foreigners with the inhabitants of Tyre;
[9]And even Assyria joined with them;
They came to the aid of the sons of Lot.
(Pause)

[10]Deal with them as with Midian and Sisera,
As with Jabin at the Brook Kishon;
[11]They were destroyed at Endor;
They became like dung on the earth.
[12]Make their rulers like Oreb and Zeeb,
And all their rulers like Zebah and Zalmunna, [13]Who said, “Let us inherit the holy place of God for ourselves.”
[14]O my God, turn them like a wheel,
Like straw before the face of the wind,
[15]Like fire that burns through a thicket,
Like a flame that sets mountains on fire;
[16]Thus You shall pursue them with Your storm,
And You shall trouble them in your wrath.
[17]Fill their faces with disgrace,
And they shall seek Your name, O Lord.
[18]Let them be disgraced and troubled unto ages of ages,
And let them be shamed and destroyed;
[19]And let them know Your name is the Lord,
That You alone are Most High over all the earth.

Psalm 83 (84)

[1]For the End, concerning the winepresses; a psalm for the sons of Korah.

[2]How beloved are Your dwellings, O Lord of hosts.
[3]My soul longs and faints for the courts of the Lord;
My heart and my flesh greatly rejoice in the living God.
[4]For even the sparrow found a house for herself,
And the turtledove a nest for herself, where she will lay her young,
Your altars, O Lord of hosts,
My King and my God.
[5]Blessed are those who dwell in Your house;
They shall praise You unto ages of ages.
(Pause)

[6]Blessed is the man whose help is from You, O Lord;
He purposed ascents in his heart
[7]In the valley of weeping, into the place he appointed;
For there the lawgiver shall give blessings.
[8]They shall go from strength to strength;
The God of gods shall be seen in Zion.
[9]O Lord God of hosts, hear my prayer;
Give ear, O God of Jacob.
(Pause)

[10]O God, our protector, behold,
And look upon the face of Your anointed.
[11]For one day in Your courts is better than a thousand;
I chose to be an outcast in the house of my God,
Rather than to dwell in the tents of sinners.
[12]For the Lord God loves mercy and truth;
He will give grace and glory;
The Lord's hand will not remove good things from those who walk in innocence.
[13]O Lord of hosts, blessed is the man who hopes in You.

Psalm 84 (85)

[1]For the End; a psalm for the sons of Korah.

[2]O Lord, You were pleased with Your land;
You turned back the captivity of Jacob;
[3]You forgave the transgressions of Your people;
You covered all their sins.
(Pause)

[4]You ended all Your wrath;
You turned from the wrath of Your anger.
[5]Turn us, O God of our salvation,
And turn away Your anger from us.
[6]Will You be angry with us forever,
Or will You prolong Your anger from generation to generation?
[7]O God, You will turn and give us life,
And Your people will be glad in You.
[8]Show us Your mercy, O Lord,
And grant us Your salvation.
[9]I will hear what the Lord God will speak in me,
For He will speak peace
To His people and to His holy ones,
And to those who turn their heart to Him.
[10]His salvation is very close at hand to those who fear Him,
That glory may dwell in our land.
[11]Mercy and truth met together;
Righteousness and peace kissed each other;
[12]Truth arose from the earth,
And righteousness looked down from heaven.
[13]For the Lord will give goodness,
And our land shall yield its fruit.
[14]Righteousness shall go before Him
And establish His footsteps as our pathway.

Psalm 85 (86)

[1]A prayer by David.

Incline Your ear, O Lord, and hear me,
For I am poor and needy.
[2]Guard my soul, for I am holy;
O my God, save Your servant, who hopes in You.
[3]Have mercy on me, O Lord,
For all the day long I will cry to You.
[4]Gladden the soul of Your servant, O Lord,
For to You, O Lord, I lift up my soul.
[5]For You, O Lord, are kind and good,
And very merciful to all who call upon You.
[6]Give ear, O Lord, to my prayer
And heed the voice of my supplication.
[7]In the day of my affliction I cried to You,
For You heard me.
[8]There is none like You among the gods, O Lord,
And there are no works like Your works.
[9]All the Gentiles You made shall come
And worship before You, O Lord,
And they shall glorify Your name;
[10]For You are great, doing wonders;
You alone are the great God.
[11]Lead me in Your way, O Lord,
And I will walk in Your truth;
Gladden my heart so as to fear Your name.
[12]I will give thanks to You, O Lord my God, with my whole heart,
And I shall glorify Your name forever;
[13]For great is Your mercy to me,
And You rescued my soul from the lowest Hades.
[14]O God, lawless men rose up against me,
And a gathering of strong men sought my soul;
And they did not set You before them.
[15]But You, O Lord, are compassionate and merciful, Longsuffering and very merciful and truthful.
[16]Look upon me and have mercy;
Give Your strength to Your servant,
And save the son of Your handmaid.

17 Work a sign in my midst for good,
And let those who hate me see it and be disgraced;
For You, O Lord, helped me and comforted me.

Psalm 86 (87)

1 A psalm of an ode for the sons of Korah.

His foundations are in the holy mountains;
2 The Lord loves the gates of Zion
More than all the dwellings of Jacob.
3 Glorious things were said concerning you, O city of God.
(Pause)

4 I will make mention of Rahab and Babylon to those who know Me;
And behold, foreigners, and the people of Tyre and Ethiopia,
These were born there.
5 A man will say, “Mother Zion,”
And a man was born in her;
For the Most High Himself founded it.
6 The Lord shall describe it in a written account of the peoples
And of the rulers, of those who were born in her.
(Pause)

7 How glad are all who have their dwelling in you.

Psalm 87 (88)

1 An ode of a psalm for the sons of Korah; for the End, for the Mahalath to respond; understanding for Heman the Israelite.

2 O Lord God of my salvation,
I cry day and night before You.
3 Let my prayer come before You;
Incline Your ear to my supplication, O Lord.
4 For my soul is filled with sorrows,

And my soul draws near to Hades;
5I am counted among those who go down into the pit;
I am like a helpless man, free among the dead,
6Like slain men thrown down and sleeping in a grave,
Whom You remember no more,
But they are removed from Your hand.
7They laid me in the lowest pit,
In dark places and in the shadow of death.
8Your wrath rested upon me,
And You brought all Your billows over me.
(Pause)

9You removed my acquaintances far from me;
They made me an abomination among themselves;
I was betrayed, and did not go forth.
10My eyes weakened from poverty;
O Lord, I cry to You the whole day long;
I spread out my hands to You.
11Will You work wonders for the dead?
Or will physicians raise them up, and acknowledge You?
12Shall anyone in the grave describe Your mercy
And Your truth in destruction?
13Shall Your wonders be known in darkness,
And Your righteousness in a forgotten land?
14But I cry to You, O Lord,
And in the morning my prayer shall come near to You.
15Why, O Lord, do You reject my soul,
And turn away Your face from me?
16I am poor and in troubles from my youth;
But having been exalted, I was humbled and brought into despair.
17Your fierce anger passed over me,
And Your terrors greatly troubled me;
18They compassed me like water all the day long;
They surrounded me at once.
19You removed far from me neighbor and friend,
And my acquaintances because of my misery.

Psalm 88 (89)

[1]Concerning understanding; for Ethan the Israelite.

[2]O Lord, I will sing of Your mercies forever;
I will proclaim Your truth with my mouth from generation to generation;
[3]For You said, “Mercy shall be built up forever;
Your truth shall be prepared in the heavens.
[4]I made a covenant with My chosen ones;
I swore to David My servant,
[5]I shall prepare your seed forever,
And I shall build your throne from generation to generation.”
(Pause)

[6]The heavens shall confess Your wonders, O Lord,
And Your truth in the church of the saints.
[7]For who in the clouds shall be compared to the Lord,
And who among the sons of God shall be compared to the Lord?
[8]God is glorified in the counsel of saints;
He is great and fearful toward all round about Him.
[9]O Lord God of hosts, who is like You?
You are powerful, O Lord, and Your truth is around You.
[10]You are master of the sea’s strength,
And You calm the surging of its waves.
[11]You humbled the arrogant man as though he were wounded,
And with the arm of Your power You scattered Your enemies.
[12]The heavens belong to You, and the earth is Yours;
You founded the world and all its fullness.
[13]You created the north wind and the seas;
Tabor and Hermon shall greatly rejoice in Your name.
[14]Your arm rules with power;
Let Your hand be strengthened; let Your right hand be exalted.

15 The foundation of Your throne is righteousness and judgment;
Mercy and truth shall go before Your face.
16 Blessed are the people who know glad shouting;
O Lord, they shall walk in the light of Your face,
17 And shall greatly rejoice in Your name the whole day long;
And they shall be exalted in Your righteousness.
18 For You are the boast of their power,
And in Your good pleasure our horn shall be exalted.
19 For our defense is from the Lord
And from the Holy One of Israel, our King.
20 Then You spoke to Your holy ones in a vision,
And You said, “I established help for a mighty one;
I raised up a chosen one from My people;
21 I found David My servant;
I anointed him with My holy oil.
22 For My hand shall support him,
And My arm shall strengthen him.
23 The enemy shall have no advantage against him,
And the son of lawlessness shall not continue doing evil to him;
24 I will cut his enemies to pieces before his face,
And I shall put to flight those who hate him.
25 My truth and My mercy are with him,
And in My name shall his horn be exalted;
26 I will put his hand in the sea
And his right hand in the rivers.
27 He shall call upon Me, saying,
‘You are my Father,
My God, and the protector of my salvation’;
28 I shall make him, my firstborn,
Higher than the kings of the earth.
29 I shall keep My mercy for him forever,
And My covenant shall be trustworthy with him.
30 I shall establish his seed unto ages of ages
And his throne as the days of heaven.
31 If his sons forsake My law

And do not walk in My judgments,
[32]If they profane My ordinances
And do not keep My commandments,
[33]I shall visit their transgressions with a rod
And their sins with a whip;
[34]But I will not turn away My mercy from him,
Nor will I act unjustly with My truth,
[35]Nor will I profane My covenant,
And I will not reject the things that proceeded from My lips.
[36]Once for all I swore in My holy place,
That I would not lie to David:
[37]His seed shall remain forever,
And his throne as the sun before Me,
[38]And as the moon that is established forever
And is a faithful witness in heaven."
(Pause)

[39]But You pushed him away and scorned him;
You rejected Your anointed;
[40]You overturned the covenant of Your servant;
You profaned his sanctuary to the ground.
[41]You pulled down all his walls;
You put cowardice in his stronghold;
[42]All who traveled through there robbed him;
He was a disgrace to his neighbors.
[43]You exalted the right hand of his enemies;
You delighted all his adversaries;
[44]You turned away Your help from his sword,
And did not support him in his war.
[45]You deprived him of purification;
You broke his throne to pieces on the ground;
[46]You shortened the days of his time;
You poured down shame upon him.
(Pause)

[47]How long, O Lord: will You turn away to the end?
Will Your wrath always burn like fire?

[48]Let my substance be remembered, as to what sort it is,
For did You create all the sons of men in vain?
[49]What kind of man is there who will live and not see death?
Will he deliver his soul from the hand of Hades?
(Pause)

[50]Where, O Lord, are Your mercies of old,
Which in Your truth You swore to David?
[51]Remember, O Lord, the reproach of Your servants I bore in my bosom,
The reproach of many nations,
[52]Wherewith Your enemies scorned, O Lord,
Wherewith they scorned the change of Your anointed.
[53]Blessed is the Lord forever.
Amen! Amen!

Psalm 89 (90)

[1]A prayer of Moses, a man of God.

O Lord, You became a refuge to us in generation and generation;
[2]Before the mountains were made,
And before the earth and the world were formed,
And from everlasting to everlasting, You are.
[3]Do not let man be turned back to humiliation,
And You said, “Return, you sons of men.”
[4]For a thousand years in Your sight
Are like yesterday, which passed,
And like a watch in the night.
[5]Years shall be objects of contempt to them;
In the morning let man pass by like grass;
[6]In the morning let him blossom, and pass by;
In the evening let him fall off, be dried up and withered.
[7]For we fainted in Your wrath,
And in Your wrath we were troubled.
[8]You set our transgressions before You,

Our time in the light of Your face.
9For all our days failed,
And in Your wrath we fainted;
Our years were spent in thought like a spider.
10As for the days of our years, their span is seventy years,
But if we stay strong, perhaps eighty;
And most of them are labor and pain;
For meekness came upon us, and we shall be chastened.
11Who knows the power of Your wrath,
And who knows Your anger because of Your fear?
12So make known Your right hand to us, that we may number our days,
And our heart may be bound with wisdom.
13Return, O Lord; how long?
And be entreated concerning Your servants.
14We were filled with Your mercy in the morning,
And in all our days we greatly rejoiced and were glad;
15Gladden us in return for the days You humbled us,
For the years we saw evil things.
16And behold Your servants and Your works,
And guide their sons;
17And let the brightness of the Lord our God be upon us,
And prosper for us the works of our hands.

Psalm 90 (91)

1*The praise of an ode by David.*

He who dwells in the help of the Most High
Shall lodge in the shelter of the God of heaven.
2He shall say to the Lord, “You are my protector and my refuge,
My God; I will hope in Him;
3For He shall free me from the snare of the hunters,
And from every troubling word.”
4He shall overshadow you with His shoulders,
And under His wings you shall hope;

His truth shall encircle you with a shield.
5You shall not be frightened by fear at night,
Nor from an arrow that flies by day,
6Nor by a thing moving in darkness,
Nor by mishap and a demon of noonday.
7A thousand shall fall at your side
And ten thousand at your right hand,
Yet it shall not come near you;
8But you shall observe with your eyes,
And you shall see the reward of sinners.
9For You, O Lord, are my hope;
You made the Most High your refuge.
10Evils shall not come to you,
And a scourge shall not draw near your dwelling;
11For He shall command His angels concerning you,
To keep you in all your ways;
12In their hands they shall bear you up,
Lest you strike your foot against a stone;
13You shall tread upon the asp and the basilisk,
And you shall trample the lion and the dragon.
14“For he hoped in Me, and I will deliver him;
I will shelter him, because he knew My name.
15He shall call upon Me, and I will hear him;
I am with him in affliction,
And I will deliver and glorify him.
16With length of days I will satisfy him,
And show him My salvation.”

Psalm 91 (92)

1*A psalm of an ode; for the Sabbath day.*

2It is good to give thanks to the Lord
And to sing to Your name, O Most High, 3To proclaim Your mercy in the morning
And Your truth at night,
4On the harp of ten strings, with an ode on the lyre.

5For You make me glad, O Lord, with Your work,
And I will greatly rejoice in the works of Your hands.
6How magnificent are Your works, O Lord;
Your thoughts are exceedingly deep.
7A man without discernment shall not know these things,
And a senseless man shall not understand them.
8When sinners grow like grass,
And all the workers of lawlessness have arrogant looks,
It is so that they may be destroyed unto ages of ages.
9But You, O Lord, are Most High forever;
10For behold, Your enemies shall perish,
And all who work lawlessness shall be scattered abroad;
11And my horn shall be exalted like the unicorn,
And my old age shall be blessed with rich mercy;
12My eye looked upon my enemies,
And my ear shall hear of evildoers who rise up against me.
13The righteous shall flourish like a palm tree;
He shall be multiplied like the cedar in Lebanon.
14Those planted in the house of the Lord
Shall blossom forth in the courts of our God;
15They shall still be increased in a rich old age,
And shall be prospering
16So as to proclaim, “The Lord my God is upright,
And there is no wrongdoing in Him.”

Psalm 92 (93)

1*For the day before the Sabbath, when the earth was settled; the praise of an ode by David.*

The Lord reigns; He clothed Himself with majesty;
The Lord clothed and girded Himself with power;
And He established the world, which shall not be moved.
2Your throne is prepared from of old;
You are from everlasting.
3The rivers, O Lord, lift up;
The rivers lift up their voices;

4Because of the voices of their many waters,
Marvelous are the billows of the sea;
Wondrous is the Lord on high.
5Your testimonies are very much believed;
Holiness is proper to Your house, O Lord,
Unto length of days.

Psalm 93 (94)

1*A psalm by David; for the fourth day of the week.*

The Lord is the God of vengeance;
The God of vengeance declares Himself boldly.
2Be exalted, O You who judge the earth;
Render the arrogant their reward.
3How long will sinners, O Lord,
How long will sinners boast,
4How long will they utter and speak wrongdoing,
How long will all who work lawlessness speak?
5They humbled Your people, O Lord,
And they maltreated Your inheritance;
6They killed the widow and the resident alien,
And they murdered the orphans,
7And said, “The Lord will not see;
Nor will the God of Jacob understand.”
8Now understand, all you without discernment among the people,
And all you fools, at length be discerning.
9He who planted the ear, shall He not hear?
Or He who formed the eye, shall He not see?
10He who chastises the nations, shall He not reprove them,
He who teaches man knowledge?
11The Lord knows the thoughts of men are vain.
12Blessed is the man whom You instruct, O Lord,
And whom You teach from Your law,
13So You may give him rest from evil days,
Until a pit is dug for the sinner.

14For the Lord will not reject His people,
And He will not forsake His inheritance
15Until righteousness returns to judgment,
And all the upright in heart possess it.
(Pause)

16Who will rise up for me against evildoers,
Or who will side with me against the workers of lawlessness?
17If the Lord had not helped me,
My soul would have almost sojourned in Hades.
18If I said, “My foot slipped,”
Your mercy, O Lord, helped me.
19O Lord, according to the abundance of grief in my heart,
Your encouragements consoled my soul.
20Shall a throne of lawlessness be present with You,
A throne that frames trouble by an ordinance?
21They shall hunt for the soul of a righteous man
And shall condemn innocent blood.
22And the Lord has become a place of refuge for me,
And my God, the helper of my hope;
23And repay their lawlessness to them,
And according to their wickedness,
The Lord our God shall destroy them.

Psalm 94 (95)

1*The praise of an ode by David.*

Come, let us greatly rejoice in the Lord;
Let us shout aloud to God our savior;
2Let us come before His face with thanksgiving,
And let us shout aloud to Him with psalms.
3For the Lord is a great God,
A great King over all the gods;
4For in His hand are the ends of the earth,
And the heights of the mountains are His;
5For the sea is His, and He made it,

And His hands formed the dry land.
6Come, let us worship and fall down before Him,
And let us weep before the Lord who made us;
7For He is our God,
And we are the people of His pasture
And the sheep of His hand.
Today, if you hear His voice,
8"Do not harden your hearts as in the Rebellion,
During the day of testing in the desert,
9Where your fathers tempted Me;
They tested Me, and saw My works.
10For forty years I was treated with contempt by that generation,
And I said, 'They always go astray in their heart,
And they do not know My ways';
11So I swore in My wrath,
'They shall not enter My rest.' "

Psalm 95 (96)

1*When the house was built after the captivity; an ode by David.*

Oh, sing a new song to the Lord,
Sing to the Lord, all the earth;
2Sing to the Lord; bless His name;
Proclaim His salvation from day to day;
3Declare His glory among the Gentiles,
His wonders among all peoples.
4For the Lord is great, and is greatly to be praised;
And He is to be feared above all the gods;
5For all the gods of the nations are demons,
But the Lord made the heavens;
6Thanksgiving and beauty are before Him;
Holiness and majesty are in His holy place.
7Bring to the Lord, O families of the Gentiles,
Bring to the Lord glory and honor;
8Bring to the Lord the glory of His name;

Take up sacrifices and enter into His courts;
9Worship the Lord in His holy court;
Let all the earth be shaken before Him.
10Say among the Gentiles, “The Lord is King,
For He established the world, which shall not be shaken.
He shall judge the peoples with uprightness.”
11Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth greatly rejoice;
Let the sea be shaken and all its fullness.
12Then the fields and everything in them shall rejoice;
Then all the trees of the forest shall greatly rejoice
13Before the face of the Lord; for He is coming,
For He is coming to judge the earth;
He shall judge the world in righteousness,
And the peoples with His truth.

Psalm 96 (97)

1*By David; when His earth is restored.*

The Lord reigns; let the earth greatly rejoice;
Let the many islands be glad.
2Clouds and darkness surround Him;
Righteousness and judgment are the right ordering of His throne.
3Fire shall go out before Him
And burn up His enemies on every side.
4His lightning gave light to the world;
The earth saw and was shaken.
5The mountains melted like wax at the presence of the Lord,
At the presence of the Lord of all the earth.
6The heavens proclaimed His righteousness;
All the peoples saw His glory.
7Let all who worship the carved images be shamed,
All who boast in their idols;
Worship Him, all you His angels.
8Zion heard and was glad,
And the daughters of Judah greatly rejoiced

Because of Your judgments, O Lord;
9For You are the Lord Most High over all the earth,
Exalted exceedingly over all the gods.
10You who love the Lord, hate evil;
The Lord keeps the souls of His saints;
He shall deliver them from the hand of sinners.
11Light dawned for the righteous
And gladness for the upright in heart.
12Be glad in the Lord, O righteous ones,
And give thanks at the remembrance of His holiness.

Psalm 97 (98)

1*A psalm by David.*

Sing a new song to the Lord,
For He did wondrous things;
His right hand and His holy arm
Saved peoples for Him.
2The Lord made known His salvation;
He revealed His righteousness in the sight of the Gentiles.
3He remembered His mercy to Jacob
And His truth to the house of Israel;
All the ends of the earth saw the salvation of our God.
4Shout aloud to God, all the earth;
Sing and greatly rejoice, and sing psalms;
5Sing to the Lord on a lyre,
On a lyre and with the voice of a psalm;
6With trumpets of metal and the sound of a trumpet of horn,
Shout aloud before the Lord our King.
7Let the sea be shaken and its fullness,
The world and those who dwell in it.
8The rivers shall clap their hands together;
The mountains shall greatly rejoice;
9For He comes to judge the earth;
He shall judge the world in righteousness
And the peoples with uprightness.

Psalm 98 (99)

[1]A psalm by David.

The Lord reigns; let the peoples be angry;
The Lord sits upon the cherubim; let the earth be shaken.
[2]The Lord is great in Zion,
And He is exalted above all the peoples;
[3]Let them give thanks to Your great name,
For it is fearful and holy.
[4]The King’s honor loves judgment;
You prepare uprightness;
You work judgment and righteousness in Jacob.
[5]Exalt the Lord our God,
And worship at the footstool of His feet;
For He is holy.
[6]Moses and Aaron are among His priests,
And Samuel is among those who call upon His name;
They called upon the Lord, and He heard them;
[7]He spoke to them in a pillar of cloud;
They kept His testimonies
And the ordinances He gave them.
[8]O Lord our God, You listened to them;
O God, You were very merciful to them,
While avenging all their ways of living.
[9]Exalt the Lord our God
And worship at His holy mountain;
For the Lord our God is holy.

Psalm 99 (100)

[1]A psalm of thanksgiving.

Shout aloud to the Lord, all the earth;
[2]Serve the Lord with gladness;
Come before Him with great joy.

[3]Know this: the Lord, He is God;
He made us, and not we ourselves;
We are His people and the sheep of His pasture.
[4]Enter into His gates with thanksgiving
And into His courts with hymns;
Give thanks to Him; praise His name;
[5]For the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting,
And His truth is from generation to generation.

Psalm 100 (101)

[1]A psalm by David.

O Lord, I will sing to You of mercy and judgment;
[2]I will sing and understand in a blameless way;
When will You come to me?
I walked in the innocence of my heart in the midst of my house.
[3]I have not set any lawless thing before my eyes;
I hated those who commit transgressions;
[4]A crooked heart shall not cleave to me;
As for the evil man who turned away from me,
I did not know him.
[5]He who secretly slanders his neighbor,
This one I chased away;
The one with an arrogant eye and insatiable heart,
With this one I did not eat.
[6]My eyes were on the faithful of the earth, so they might dwell with me;
He who walks in a blameless way, this one ministered to me.
[7]He who acts arrogantly did not dwell in the midst of my house;
He who speaks unjustly did not prosper before my eyes.
[8]In the morning I slew all the sinners of the earth,
So as to destroy from the city of the Lord all the workers of lawlessness.

Psalm 101 (102)

[1]A prayer by a poor man, when he was depressed and poured out his supplication before the Lord.

[2]Hear my prayer, O Lord,
And let my cry come to You.
[3]Do not turn Your face from me;
In the day when I am afflicted, incline Your ear to me;
In the day when I call upon You, hear me quickly.
[4]For my days vanished like smoke,
And my bones burned up like firewood.
[5]I was cut down like grass, and my heart became withered,
For I forgot to eat my bread.
[6]Because of the sound of my groaning,
My bones cleaved to my flesh.
[7]I have become like a pelican in a desert;
I have become like an owl in a ruined house;
[8]I kept watch, and have become
Like a sparrow alone on a housetop.
[9]My enemies reproached me all day long,
And those who praised me swore against me.
[10]For I ate ashes like bread,
And mixed my drink with weeping
[11]Because of the wrath of Your countenance and Your anger;
For You lifted me up and broke me down.
[12]My days were far spent like a shadow,
And I am withered like grass.
[13]But You, O Lord, remain forever,
And Your remembrance is from generation to generation.
[14]When You rise up, You shall have compassion on Zion,
For it is time to have compassion on her, because the time is come;
[15]For Your servants took pleasure in her stones,
And they shall have compassion for her dust.
[16]And the Gentiles shall fear the name of the Lord,
And all the kings of the earth Your glory;

17For the Lord shall build Zion,
And He shall be seen in His glory.
18He regarded the prayer of the humble,
And He did not despise their supplication.
19Let this be written for another generation,
And the people who are created shall praise the Lord;
20For He looked down from the height of His holy place;
The Lord looked upon the earth from heaven,
21To hear the groaning of those bound,
To set free the sons of the slain,
22To declare the Lord’s name in Zion,
And His praise in Jerusalem,
23When the peoples and the kingdoms
Are gathered together to serve the Lord.
24He replied to Him in the way of strength,
“Declare to me the fewness of my days;
25Take me not away in the midst of my days;
Your years are throughout all generations.
26In the beginning, O Lord, You founded the earth,
And the heavens are the works of Your hands.
27They shall perish, but You shall remain,
And all things shall grow old like a garment,
And like a cloak You shall change them,
And they shall be changed;
28But You are the same, and Your years shall not fail.
29The children of Your servants shall dwell there,
And their seed shall be led to prosperity forever.”

Psalm 102 (103)

1*By David.*

Bless the Lord, O my soul,
And everything within me, bless His holy name.
2Bless the Lord, O my soul,
And forget not all His rewards:
3Who is merciful to all your transgressions,

Who heals all your diseases,
4Who redeems your life from corruption,
Who crowns you with mercy and compassion,
5Who satisfies your desire with good things;
And your youth is renewed like the eagle's.
6The Lord shows mercies
And judgment to all who are wronged.
7He made known His ways to Moses,
The things He willed to the sons of Israel.
8The Lord is compassionate and merciful,
Slow to anger, and abounding in mercy.
9He will not become angry to the end,
Nor will He be wrathful forever;
10He did not deal with us according to our sins,
Nor reward us according to our transgressions;
11For according to the height of heaven from earth,
So the Lord reigns in mercy over those who fear Him;
12As far as the east is from the west,
So He removes our transgressions from us.
13As a father has compassion on his children,
So the Lord has compassion on those who fear Him,
14For He knows how He formed us;
He remembers we are dust.
15As for man, his days are like grass,
As a flower of the field, so he flourishes;
16For the wind passes through it, and it shall not remain;
And it shall no longer know its place.
17But the mercy of the Lord is from age to age upon those who fear Him,
And His righteousness upon children's children,
18To such as keep His covenant
And remember His commandments, to do them.
19The Lord prepared His throne in heaven,
And His Kingdom rules over all.
20Bless the Lord, all you His angels,
Mighty in strength, who do His word,
So as to hear the voice of His words.

[21]Bless the Lord, all you His hosts,
His ministers who do His will;
[22]Bless the Lord, all His works,
In all places of His dominion;
Bless the Lord, O my soul.

Psalm 103 (104)

[1]By David.

Bless the Lord, O my soul.
O Lord my God, You are magnified exceedingly;
You clothe Yourself with thanksgiving and majesty,
[2]Who cover Yourself with light as with a garment,
Who stretch out the heavens like a curtain;
[3]You are He who covers His upper chambers with waters,
Who makes the clouds His means of approach,
Who walks on the wings of the winds,
[4]Who makes His angels spirits
And His ministers a flame of fire.
[5]He established the earth on its stable foundation;
It shall not be moved unto ages of ages.
[6]The deep like a garment is His covering;
The waters shall stand upon the mountains;
[7]At Your rebuke they shall flee;
At the sound of Your thunder, they shall be afraid.
[8]The mountains rise up, and the plains sink down
To the place You founded for them.
[9]You set a boundary they shall not pass over;
Neither shall they return to cover the earth.
[10]You are He who sends springs into the valley;
The waters shall pass between the mountains;
[11]They shall give drink to all the wild animals of the field;
The wild asses shall quench their thirst;
[12]The birds of heaven shall dwell beside them;
They shall sing from the midst of the rocks.
[13]You are He who waters the mountains from His higher places;

The earth shall be satisfied with the fruit of Your works.
14You are He who causes grass to grow for the cattle,
And the green plant for the service of man,
To bring forth bread from the earth;
15And wine gladdens the heart of man,
To brighten his face with oil;
And bread strengthens man's heart.
16The trees of the plain shall be full of fruit,
The cedars of Lebanon, which You planted;
17There the sparrows shall make their nests;
The house of the heron takes the lead among them.
18The high mountains are for the deer;
The cliff is a refuge for the rabbits.
19He made the moon for seasons;
The sun knows its setting.
20You established darkness, and it was night,
Wherein all the wild animals of the forest will prowl about;
21The young lions roar and snatch their prey,
And seek their food from God.
22The sun arises, and they are gathered together;
And they shall be put to bed in their dens.
23Man shall go out to his work
And to his labor until evening.
24O Lord, Your works shall be magnified greatly;
You made all things in wisdom;
The earth was filled with Your creation.
25There is this great and spacious sea:
The creeping things are there without number;
The living things are there, both small and great;
26There the ships pass through;
There is this dragon You formed to play therein.
27All things wait upon You,
That You may give them food in due season.
28When You give it to them, they shall gather it;
When You open Your hand, all things shall be filled with Your goodness.

[29]But when You turn Your face away, they shall be troubled;
When You take away their breath, they shall die
And return again to their dust.
[30]You shall send forth Your Spirit, and they shall be created,
And You shall renew the face of the earth.
[31]Let the glory of the Lord be forever;
The Lord shall be glad in His works;
[32]He looks upon the earth and makes it tremble;
He touches the mountains, and they smoke.
[33]I will sing to the Lord all my life;
I will sing to my God as long as I exist;
[34]May my words be pleasing to Him,
And I shall be glad in the Lord.
[35]May sinners cease from the earth,
And the lawless, so as to be no more.
Bless the Lord, O my soul.

Psalm 104 (105)

[1]Alleluia.

Give thanks to the Lord and call upon His name;
Report His works among the Gentiles;
[2]Sing to Him, and play a stringed instrument to Him;
Describe all His wonderful works.
[3]Praise His holy name;
Let the heart of those who seek the Lord be glad;
[4]Seek the Lord and be strengthened;
Seek His face continually.
[5]Remember the wonders He performed,
Of His marvels and the judgments of His mouth,
[6]O seed of Abraham, His servants,
O sons of Jacob, His chosen ones.
[7]He is the Lord our God;
His judgments are in all the earth.
[8]Remember His covenant forever,
And His word He commanded for a thousand generations,

9 Which He established with Abraham,
And His oath with Isaac;
10 And He established it as an ordinance with Jacob
And as an everlasting covenant with Israel,
11 Saying, “I shall give you the land of Canaan
As the portion of your inheritance.”
12 When they were few in number,
The smallest and sojourners in the land,
13 And passed through from nation to nation,
From a kingdom to a different people,
14 He allowed no man to wrong them;
And He reproved kings on their behalf:
15 “Do not touch My anointed ones,
And do not act wickedly towards My prophets.”
16 And He called a famine upon the land;
He shattered all their provision of bread;
17 He sent a man before them;
He sold Joseph into slavery.
18 They humbled his feet with fetters;
His soul passed into the iron
19 Until his word came to pass;
The revelation of the Lord tried him in the fire.
20 The king, the ruler of the people, sent and released him,
And he acquitted him.
21 He made him lord of his house
And ruler of all his domain,
22 To instruct his rulers as himself
And to teach his elders wisdom.
23 And Israel came into Egypt,
And Jacob sojourned in the land of Ham;
24 He increased His people greatly,
And made them stronger than their enemies.
25 He changed their heart to hate His people,
To deal craftily with His servants.
26 He sent Moses His servant;
He sent Aaron, whom He chose.
27 He put among them the words of His signs

And of His wonders in the land of Ham.
[28]He sent darkness, and it grew dark;
And they rebelled against His words.
[29]He turned their waters into blood,
And He killed their fish.
[30]Their land produced frogs
In the chambers of their kings.
[31]He spoke and the dog-fly came,
And gnats in all their borders.
[32]He gave them hail for rain;
Fire burned up their land;
[33]And He smote their vineyards and their fig trees,
And He shattered every tree in their domain.
[34]He spoke, and the locust came,
And the caterpillar without number,
[35]And ate up all the grass in their land,
And devoured the fruit of their land.
[36]And He smote all the firstborn in their land,
The firstling of all their labor.
[37]He led them out with silver and gold,
And there was not among their tribes one who was feeble.
[38]Egypt was gladdened by their exodus,
For fear of them fell upon them.
[39]He spread a cloud as a cover for them,
And a fire to give them light at night.
[40]They asked, and the quails came,
And He filled them with the bread of heaven.
[41]He split the rock, and the waters flowed;
The rivers ran in the waterless places.
[42]For He remembered His holy word
Which He gave to His servant Abraham.
[43]He brought out His people with exceeding joy,
And His chosen ones with gladness.
[44]And He gave them the lands of the nations,
And they inherited the labors of the peoples,
[45]So they might keep His ordinances,
And seek out His law.

Psalm 105 (106)

[1]Alleluia.

Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good,
For His mercy endures forever.
[2]Who shall tell the mighty deeds of the Lord,
Who shall make all His praises heard?
[3]Blessed are those who keep His judgment,
And do righteousness at all times.
[4]Remember us, O Lord, because of the goodwill of Your people;
Visit us with Your salvation,
[5]So as to see it in the goodness of Your chosen ones;
So as to be glad with the joy of Your nation,
So as to praise You in the midst of Your inheritance.
[6]We sinned with our fathers;
We committed lawlessness; we acted wrongfully.
[7]Our fathers did not understand Your wonders in Egypt;
They did not remember the multitude of Your mercy,
But rebelled when they went up to the Red Sea.
[8]But He saved them because of His name,
So they might know His power;
[9]And He rebuked the Red Sea, and it was dried up;
And He led them in the sea as though it were a desert.
[10]He saved them from the hands of those who hated them,
And redeemed them from the hand of the enemy;
[11]So the water covered those who afflicted them;
There was not one left among them.
[12]Then they believed His words
And sang His praise.
[13]They were quick to forget His works;
They did not wait for His counsel;
[14]And they desired exceedingly in the desert,
And tempted God in a waterless place.
[15]So He gave them their request
And fully satisfied their souls.

16 They also angered Moses in the camp,
And Aaron the holy one of the Lord;
17 The earth was opened and swallowed Dathan,
And buried the assembly of Abiram;
18 A fire kindled in their assembly;
The flame burned up the sinners.
19 They made a calf in Horeb,
And bowed down and worshiped the graven image;
20 Thus they changed their glory
Into the likeness of a calf that eats grass.
21 They forgot the God who saved them,
Who did great things in Egypt,
22 And marvelous things in the land of Ham,
Fearful things at the Red Sea.
23 And He said He would destroy them
Had not Moses His chosen one
Stood among them in the destruction before Him,
To turn away His wrath so as not to destroy them.
24 Then they despised the desired land;
They did not believe His word,
25 But murmured in their tents;
They did not listen to the Lord's voice.
26 So He raised His hand against them,
To overthrow them in the desert;
27 And to overthrow their seed among the nations,
And to scatter them among the countries.
28 They were consecrated to Baal-Peor,
And ate sacrifices of the dead;
29 So they provoked Him with their ways of living,
And destruction multiplied among them.
30 Then Phinehas stood among them and made atonement,
And the destruction ceased;
31 And it was reckoned as righteousness to him
From generation to generation forever.
32 They also provoked Him to anger at the water of Rebellion,
And Moses was afflicted because of them;
33 For they embittered his spirit,

And he spoke offensively with his lips;
34They did not destroy the nations the Lord said to destroy,
35But mingled with the nations
And learned their works;
36And they served their graven images,
And this became a snare for them;
37They also sacrificed their sons
And their daughters to demons,
38And shed innocent blood,
The blood of their sons and daughters,
Whom they sacrificed to the graven images of Canaan;
So the land was polluted with their blood;
39It was also defiled by their works;
Thus they acted unfaithfully in their ways of living.
40And the Lord was very angry with His people,
And He abhorred His inheritance;
41Then He delivered them into the hands of the nations,
And those who hated them ruled over them.
42Their enemies also afflicted them,
And they were humbled under their hands.
43He delivered them many times,
But they rebelled against Him with their counsel,
And were humbled by their transgressions.
44And He saw them in their afflictions;
He listened to their supplications,
45And He remembered His covenant,
And felt regret according to the multitude of His mercy;
46So He aroused compassion for them
Among all who made them captives.
47Save us, O Lord our God,
And gather us from the nations,
So we may give thanks to Your holy name,
And boast in Your praise.
48Bless the Lord God of Israel from everlasting to everlasting.
And all the people shall say, “Amen! Amen!”

Psalm 106 (107)

[1]Alleluia.

Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good,
For His mercy endures forever.
[2]Let those redeemed by the Lord say so,
Whom He redeemed from the hand of the enemy.
[3]He gathered them from the countries,
From the east and the west and the north and the south.
[4]They were led astray in the desert, in a place without water;
They did not find a road to an inhabited city;
[5]While hungering and thirsting,
Their soul fainted in them;
[6]And they cried out to the Lord in their affliction,
And He delivered them from their distresses;
[7]And He led them in a straight path,
So they might go to a city of habitation.
[8]Let them give thanks to the Lord for His mercies
And His wonders to the sons of men;
[9]For He fed the empty soul
And filled the hungry soul with good things,
[10]Those sitting in the darkness and shadow of death,
Bound in poverty and fetters;
[11]For they rebelled against the teachings of God
And provoked the counsel of the Most High;
[12]Thus their heart was humbled by troubles;
They were weak, and there was no one to help them;
[13]Then they cried out to the Lord in their afflictions,
And He saved them from their distresses;
[14]And He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death,
And broke their chains to pieces.
[15]Let them give thanks to the Lord for His mercies,
His wonders to the sons of men;
[16]For He crushed the gates of bronze
And shattered the bars of iron.

17 He helped them out of their lawless ways,
For they were humbled because of their transgressions.
18 Their soul abhorred all manner of food,
And they drew near the gates of death;
19 Then they cried to the Lord in their afflictions,
And He saved them from their distresses;
20 He sent His Word and healed them,
And delivered them from their corruptions.
21 Let them give thanks to the Lord for His mercies
And His wonders to the sons of men,
22 And let them offer a sacrifice of praise;
And let them proclaim His works with exceeding joy.
23 Those who go down to the sea in ships,
Who do business in many waters,
24 These see the works of the Lord
And His wonders in the deep;
25 He spoke, and a stormy wind arose,
And its waves were lifted up;
26 They mount up to the heavens
And descend into the deep;
Their soul is consumed with evils;
27 They were troubled; they were shaken like one drunk with wine,
And all their wisdom was consumed;
28 Then they cried to the Lord in their affliction,
And He brought them out of their distresses.
29 He also commanded the storm, and it became a breeze,
And its waves were still;
30 Then they were glad, for they were silent,
And He guided them to the haven of their desire.
31 Let them give thanks to the Lord for His mercies
And His wonders to the sons of men;
32 Let them exalt Him in the assembly of the people
And praise Him in the seat of the elders.
33 He turned rivers into a desert
And streams of water into dry ground,
34 A fruitful land into salt water,

Because of the evils of those living there.
35He turned the desert into pools of water,
And a land without water into streams of water;
36Then He caused the hungry to dwell there
And established a city for habitation;
37They sowed fields and planted vineyards,
And produced much fruit;
38So He blessed them, and they were multiplied exceedingly,
And their cattle did not diminish.
39But they were diminished and maltreated
By the affliction of evils and pain.
40Contempt was poured out on princes,
And He made them wander in an impassible place, where there was no road.
41Yet He helped the poor man out of his poverty,
And made his families like a flock.
42The righteous shall see this and be glad,
And all lawlessness shall stop its mouth.
43Who is wise and shall keep these things,
And shall understand the mercies of the Lord?

Psalm 107 (108)

1*The ode of a psalm; by David.*

2My heart is ready, O God, my heart is ready;
I will sing and give praise in my glory.
3Awaken, lute and harp;
I shall awaken early in the morning.
4I will give thanks to You among the peoples, O Lord,
And I will sing to You among the Gentiles;
5For great is Your mercy above the heavens,
And Your truth even to the clouds.
6Be exalted above the heavens, O God,
And Your glory above all the earth.
7That Your beloved ones may be delivered,
Save with Your right hand, and hear me.

[8]God spoke in His place,
"I shall be exalted, and I will divide Shechem,
And measure out the valley of tents;
[9]Gilead is Mine, and Manasseh is Mine;
And Ephraim is the strength of My head;
Judah is My king.
[10]Moab is the cauldron of My hope;
I will stretch out My shoe over Edom;
Foreign tribes were subjected to Me."
[11]Who will bring me into a fortified city?
Who will lead me as far as Edom?
[12]Will not You, O God, who drove us away?
And will You not go out with our armies, O God?
[13]Give us help from affliction,
For the salvation of man is worthless.
[14]In God we shall do a mighty thing,
And He shall despise our enemies.

Psalm 108 (109)

[1]For the End; a psalm by David.

O God, do not pass over my praise in silence,
[2]For the mouth of the sinner and the mouth of the deceitful man opened against me;
They spoke against me with a deceitful tongue;
[3]And they surrounded me with words of hatred,
And warred against me without cause.
[4]Instead of loving me, they falsely accused me,
But I continued to pray;
[5]So they repaid me evil for good,
And hatred for my love.
[6]Set a sinner over him,
And let the devil stand at his right hand.
[7]And when he is judged, may he go forth condemned,
And let his prayer become sin.
[8]Let his days be very few,

And may a different man receive his office;
9Let his children be fatherless
And his wife a widow;
10Let his children wander about and be beggars;
Let them be cast out of their houses.
11Let the creditor search out whatever possessions he has;
Let strangers plunder his labors;
12Let there be no helper for him,
Nor a compassionate one for his fatherless children;
13Let his children be utterly destroyed;
In a single generation, let his name be blotted out.
14May the lawlessness of his fathers be remembered before the Lord,
And may the sin of his mother not be blotted out;
15Let them be continually before the Lord,
And may the remembrance of them be utterly destroyed from the earth,
16Because he did not remember to show mercy,
But persecuted a poor and needy man,
And one pierced to the heart, that he might kill him.
17And he loved cursing, and it came to him,
And he did not desire blessing, so it shall be far from him.
18So he clothed himself with cursing like a garment,
And it entered like water into his bowels
And like oil into his bones;
19Let it be for him like a garment that clothes him,
And like a belt that girds him continually.
20This is the work of those who falsely accuse me before the Lord,
And of those who speak evil things against my soul.
21But You, O Lord, O Lord, deal mercifully with me for Your name’s sake,
For Your mercy is good.
22Save me, for I am poor and needy,
And my heart is troubled within me.
23I was removed like a shadow when it declines;
I was shaken off like the locusts.

[24]My knees were weak from fasting,
And my flesh was changed because of the oil.
[25]And I became an object of reproach to them;
They saw me; they shook their heads.
[26]Help me, O Lord my God;
Save me according to Your mercy;
[27]Then let them know this is Your hand,
And You, O Lord, did this.
[28]They themselves shall curse, but You shall bless;
Let those who rise up against me be put to shame,
But let Your servant be glad.
[29]Let those who falsely accuse me be clothed with shame,
And let them be covered with their dishonor like a double cloak.
[30]I will give thanks to the Lord abundantly with my mouth,
And in the midst of many I will praise Him,
[31]Because He stood at the right hand of a poor man,
To save me from those who persecute my soul.

Psalm 109 (110)

[1]A psalm by David.

The Lord said to my Lord, “Sit at My right hand, Until I make Your enemies the footstool of Your feet.”
[2]The Lord shall send forth the rod of Your power from Zion,
And rule in the midst of Your enemies.
[3]With You is the beginning in the day of Your power,
In the brightness of Your saints;
“I have begotten You from the womb before the morning star.”
[4]The Lord swore and will not repent,
“You are a priest forever according to the order of Melchizedek.”
[5]The Lord at Your right hand crushed kings in the day of His wrath;
[6]He shall judge among the nations; He shall fill them with dead bodies;

He shall crush the heads of many on earth.
[7]He shall drink from the brook on the way;
Therefore, He shall raise His head high.

Psalm 110 (111)

[1]Alleluia.

I will give thanks to You, O Lord, with my whole heart,
In the council of the upright and in the assembly.
[2]Great are the works of the Lord,
Sought out in all things with regard to His will;
[3]Thanksgiving and majesty are His work,
And His righteousness continues unto ages of ages.
[4]He made a remembrance of His wonders;
The Lord is merciful and compassionate;
[5]He gave food to those who fear Him;
He shall remember His covenant forever.
[6]He declared the strength of His works to His people,
So as to give them the inheritance of the nations.
[7]The works of His hands are truth and judgment;
Faithful are all His commandments,
[8]Established unto ages of ages,
Made in truth and uprightness.
[9]He sent redemption to His people;
He commanded His covenant forever;
Holy and fearful is His name.
[10]The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the Lord;
A good understanding is in all who practice it.
His praise continues unto ages of ages.

Psalm 111 (112)

[1]Alleluia.

Blessed is the man who fears the Lord;
He will delight exceedingly in His commandments;
[2]His seed shall be mighty on earth;
The generation of the upright shall be blessed;
[3]Glory and riches shall be in his house,
And his righteousness continues unto ages of ages.
[4]For the upright, light springs up in darkness,
For he is merciful, compassionate, and righteous.
[5]A good man is compassionate and lends;
He will manage his words with judgment,
[6]For he shall be unshaken forever;
A righteous man shall be in everlasting remembrance.
[7]He shall not be afraid because of an evil report;
His heart is prepared to hope in the Lord.
[8]His heart is established; he is not afraid
As he surveys his enemies.
[9]He dispersed; he gave to the poor;
His righteousness continues unto ages of ages;
His horn shall be exalted with glory.
[10]The sinner shall see this, and be angry;
He shall gnash his teeth, and be consumed;
The desire of sinners shall perish.

Psalm 112 (113)

[1]Alleluia.

Praise the Lord, O you servants;
Praise the name of the Lord;
[2]Blessed be the name of the Lord
From this present time and unto the ages;
[3]From the rising of the sun to its setting,
Praise the name of the Lord.
[4]The Lord is high above all the nations;
His glory is above the heavens.
[5]Who is like the Lord our God,
Who dwells in the highest,

6And who looks upon the humble things
In heaven and on earth?
7He raises the poor man from the earth
And lifts up the poor from the dunghills
8So as to seat him with rulers,
With the rulers of His people;
9He settles the barren woman in a home,
To be a joyful mother of children.

Psalm 113 (114, 115)

1*Alleluia.*

In the exodus of Israel from Egypt,
The house of Jacob from a foreign people,
2Judah became His sanctuary,
And Israel His authority.
3The sea saw them and fled,
The Jordan turned back;
4The mountains skipped like rams,
The hills like flocks of lambs.
5What is it to you, O sea, that you fled,
And to you, O Jordan, that you turned back?
6What is it to you, O mountains, that you skipped like rams,
And you, O hills, like flocks of lambs?
7The earth shook because of the Lord's face,
Because of the face of Jacob's God,
8When He turned the rock into pools of waters
And flinty ground into fountains of waters.
9Not to us, O Lord, not to us,
But to Your name give glory,
For Your mercy and Your truth,
10Lest the nations say,
"Where is their God?"
11Our God is in heaven above;
And both in heaven and on earth,
All things whatsoever He wills, He does.

12 The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
The work of men’s hands;
13 They have a mouth, but they shall not speak;
They have eyes, but they shall not see;
14 They have ears, but they shall not hear;
They have noses, but they shall not smell;
15 They have hands, but they shall not feel;
They have feet, but they shall not walk;
They shall make no sound with their throats.
16 May those who make them become like them,
And all who trust in them.
17 The house of Israel hoped in the Lord;
He is their help and their protector.
18 The house of Aaron hoped in the Lord;
He is their help and their protector.
19 Those who feared the Lord hoped in the Lord;
He is their help and their protector.
20 The Lord remembered us and blessed us;
He blessed the house of Israel;
He blessed the house of Aaron;
21 He blessed those who feared the Lord,
The least with the greatest.
22 May the Lord increase you,
Both you and your children;
23 You are blessed by the Lord,
Who made heaven and earth.
24 The heaven of heaven belongs to the Lord,
But He gave the earth to the sons of men.
25 The dead shall not praise You, O Lord,
Neither do all who descend into Hades;
26 But we who live shall bless the Lord,
From this present time and unto the ages.

Psalm 114 (116:1–9)

1 Alleluia.

I have loved, because the Lord
Shall hear the voice of my supplication;
[2]For He inclined His ear to me,
And in my days I shall call upon Him.
[3]The pains of death surrounded me;
The dangers of Hades found me;
I found affliction and grief.
[4]Then I called upon the Lord's name,
"O Lord, save my soul."
[5]The Lord is merciful and righteous,
And our God has mercy.
[6]The Lord is He who watches over children;
I was humbled, and He saved me.
[7]Return, O my soul, to your rest,
Because the Lord showed you kindness;
[8]For He delivered my soul from death,
My eyes from tears,
And my feet from slipping.
[9]I shall be well pleasing before the Lord in the land of the living.

Psalm 115 (116:10–19)

[1]Alleluia.

I believed; therefore, I spoke;
I was greatly humbled.
[2]I said in my ecstasy,
"Every man is a liar."
[3]What shall I give back to the Lord
For all He rendered to me?
[4]I will take up the cup of salvation,
And call upon the name of the Lord.
[5]Precious in the sight of the Lord
Is the death of His holy ones.
[6]O Lord, I am Your servant;
I am Your servant and the son of Your handmaid.

You broke apart my bonds;
7I will offer a sacrifice of praise;
8I shall pay my vows to the Lord
In the presence of all His people,
9In the courts of the Lord's house,
In your midst, O Jerusalem.

Psalm 116 (117)

1*Alleluia.*

Praise the Lord, all you Gentiles;
Praise Him, all you peoples,
2For His mercy rules over us;
And the truth of the Lord endures forever.

Psalm 117 (118)

1*Alleluia.*

Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good;
For His mercy endures forever.
2Let the house of Israel say that He is good,
For His mercy endures forever.
3Let the house of Aaron say that He is good,
For His mercy endures forever.
4Let all who fear the Lord say that He is good,
For His mercy endures forever.
5In affliction I called upon the Lord,
And He heard me in a broad place.
6The Lord is my helper;
I shall not be afraid of what man will do to me.
7The Lord is my helper;
I shall look upon my enemies.
8It is good to trust in the Lord
Rather than to trust in man;

9It is good to hope in the Lord
Rather than to hope in rulers.
10All the nations surrounded me,
But in the name of the Lord I defended myself against them;
11They circled and surrounded me,
But in the name of the Lord I defended myself against them;
12They surrounded me like bees around a honeycomb,
And they were inflamed like fire in a thorn bush;
But in the name of the Lord I defended myself against them.
13I was shoved and disheartened, that I might fall,
But the Lord took hold of me.
14The Lord is my strength and my song,
And He became my salvation.
15The sound of exceeding joy and salvation is in the tents of the righteous;
The right hand of the Lord worked its power;
16The right hand of the Lord exalted me;
The right hand of the Lord worked its power.
17I shall not die, but live,
And tell of the Lord's works.
18The Lord chastened and corrected me,
But He did not give me up to death.
19Open the gates of righteousness to me;
I will enter therein and give thanks to the Lord.
20This is the gate of the Lord;
The righteous shall go in through it.
21I will give thanks to You, for You heard me,
And You became my salvation.
22The stone the builders rejected,
the same became the head of the corner;
23And this came about from the Lord,
And it is wonderful in our eyes.
24This is the day the Lord made;
Let us greatly rejoice, and be glad therein.
25O Lord, save us now;
O Lord, prosper us now.
26Blessed is he who comes in the name of the Lord;

We blessed you from the house of the Lord.
[27]God is the Lord, and He revealed Himself to us;
Appoint a feast for yourselves, decked with branches,
Even to the horns of the altar.
[28]You are my God, and I will give thanks to You;
You are my God, and I shall exalt You;
I will give thanks to You, for You heard me;
And You became my salvation.
[29]Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good;
For His mercy endures forever.

Psalm 118 (119)

[1]Alleluia.

Blessed are the blameless in the way
Who walk in the law of the Lord.
[2]Blessed are those who search out His testimonies;
They shall search for Him with their whole heart.
[3]For those who work lawlessness
Do not walk in His ways.
[4]You commanded us regarding Your commandments,
That we should be very diligent to keep them.
[5]Would that my ways were led,
That I might keep Your ordinances.
[6]Then I would not be ashamed
When I regard all Your commandments.
[7]I will give thanks to You, O Lord, with an upright heart,
When I learn the judgments of Your righteousness.
[8]I shall keep Your ordinances;
Do not utterly forsake me.
[9]How shall a young man keep his way straight?
When he keeps Your words.
[10]I searched for You with my whole heart;
Do not drive me away from Your commandments.
[11]I hid Your teachings in my heart
So as not to sin against You.

[12]Blessed are You, O Lord;
Teach me Your ordinances.
[13]With my lips I declared
All the judgments of Your mouth.
[14]I delight in the way of Your testimonies
As much as in all riches.
[15]I shall meditate on Your commandments,
And I shall understand Your ways.
[16]I shall meditate on Your ordinances;
I shall not forget Your words.
[17]Reward Your servant;
I shall live, and keep Your words.
[18]Unveil my eyes,
And I shall understand the wonders in Your law.
[19]I am a sojourner on the earth;
Do not hide Your commandments from me.
[20]My soul longed to desire
Your judgments in every season.
[21]You rebuke the arrogant;
Those who turn aside from Your commandments are accursed.
[22]Take away reproach and contempt from me,
For I searched Your testimonies.
[23]For rulers sat and spoke against me,
But Your servant meditated on Your ordinances.
[24]For Your testimonies are my meditation,
And Your ordinances are my counsels.
[25]My soul cleaves to the earth;
Give me life according to Your word.
[26]I made known my ways and You heard me;
Teach me Your ordinances.
[27]Cause me to understand the way of Your ordinances,
And I shall meditate on Your wonders.
[28]My soul fainted because of its listlessness;
Establish me in Your words.
[29]Remove the way of unrighteousness from me,
And with Your law have mercy on me.

[30]I chose the way of truth;
I have not forgotten Your judgments.
[31]I cleave to Your testimonies;
O Lord, do not disappoint me.
[32]I ran on the path of Your commandments,
When You enlarged my heart.
[33]Give me as law, O Lord, the way of Your ordinances,
And I shall always search them.
[34]Cause me to understand, and I shall search out Your law;
And I shall keep it with my whole heart.
[35]Guide me in the path of Your commandments,
For I desire it.
[36]Incline my heart to Your testimonies
And not to greediness.
[37]Turn away my eyes that I may not see vanity;
Give me life in Your way.
[38]Establish Your teaching in Your servant
In regard to Your fear.
[39]Take away my blame, which I have suspected,
For Your judgments are good.
[40]Behold, I long for Your commandments;
Give me life in Your righteousness.
[41]And may Your mercy come upon me, O Lord,
Your salvation according to Your teaching.
[42]And I shall answer those who insult me with a word,
For I hope in Your words.
[43]Do not take away the word of truth completely from my mouth,
For I hope in Your judgments.
[44]So I shall keep Your law always,
Forever and unto ages of ages.
[45]And I walk in a broad space,
For I searched Your commandments.
[46]I spoke of Your testimonies
Before kings, and I was not ashamed.
[47]And I meditate on Your commandments,
Which I love exceedingly.

[48]And I raise my hands to Your commandments, which I love,
And I meditate on Your ordinances.
[49]Remember Your word to Your servant,
In which You give me hope.
[50]This comforted me in my humiliation,
For Your teaching gives me life.
[51]The arrogant transgressed exceedingly,
But I did not turn away from Your law.
[52]I remembered Your judgments of old, O Lord,
And I was comforted.
[53]Despondency held me because of sinners
Who abandon Your law.
[54]Your ordinances were sung to me
In the place of my sojourning.
[55]I remembered Your name in the night, O Lord,
And I kept Your law.
[56]This happened to me in the night,
Because I searched Your ordinances.
[57]You are my portion, O Lord;
I said I will keep Your law.
[58]I sought Your presence with my whole heart;
Have mercy on me according to Your teaching.
[59]I considered Your ways,
And I turned my feet toward Your testimonies.
[60]I prepared myself, and I was not troubled,
That I might keep Your commandments.
[61]The ropes of sinners ensnared me,
But I did not forget Your law.
[62]At midnight I arose to give thanks to You
Because of the judgments of Your righteousness.
[63]I am a companion of all who fear You
And keep Your commandments.
[64]O Lord, the earth is full of Your mercy;
Teach me Your ordinances.
[65]O Lord, You dealt with Your servant in goodness,
According to Your word.

[66]Teach me goodness, instruction, and knowledge,
For I believe Your commandments.
[67]Before I was humbled, I transgressed;
Therefore, I kept Your teaching.
[68]You are good, O Lord, and in Your goodness
Teach me Your ordinances.
[69]The unrighteousness of the arrogant multiplied against me,
But I will search out Your commandments with my whole heart.
[70]Their heart was curdled like milk,
But I meditated on Your law.
[71]It is good for me that You humbled me,
That I might learn Your ordinances.
[72]The law of Your mouth is good for me,
Rather than thousands of pieces of gold and silver.
[73]Your hands made and fashioned me;
Instruct me, and I will learn Your commandments.
[74]Those who fear You will see me and be glad,
Because I hope in Your words.
[75]I know, O Lord, Your judgments are righteousness,
And You humbled me with truth.
[76]Let Your mercy be for my comfort,
According to Your teaching to Your servant.
[77]Let Your compassions come to me, and I shall live;
For Your law is my meditation.
[78]Let the arrogant be shamed, for they transgressed unjustly against me;
But I shall meditate on Your commandments.
[79]Let those who fear You turn to me,
And those who know Your testimonies.
[80]Let my heart be blameless in Your ordinances,
That I may not be disappointed.
[81]My soul earnestly longs for Your salvation,
And I hope in Your word.
[82]My eyes strained to look at Your teaching,
Saying, “When will You comfort me?”
[83]I am like a leather bag in a frost;

I did not forget Your ordinances.
[84]How many are the days of Your servant?
When will You execute judgment for me upon those who persecute me?
[85]Transgressors described their meditations to me,
But these are not like Your law, O Lord.
[86]All Your commandments are truth;
They persecuted me unjustly; help me.
[87]They almost ended my life on earth,
But I did not forsake Your commandments.
[88]Give me life according to Your mercy,
And I shall keep the testimonies of Your mouth.
[89]Forever, O Lord,
Your word continues in heaven.
[90]Your truth continues from generation to generation;
You laid the foundation of the earth, and it continues.
[91]By Your arrangement each day continues,
For all things are Your servants.
[92]If Your law were not my meditation,
I would have perished in my humiliation.
[93]I will never forget Your ordinances,
For in them You give me life, O Lord.
[94]I am Yours; save me,
For I search Your ordinances.
[95]Sinners waited for me to kill me;
I understood Your testimonies.
[96]I saw the limit of every accomplishment;
Your commandment is exceedingly broad.
[97]How I love Your law, O Lord;
It is my meditation the whole day long.
[98]You make me wiser than my enemies with Your commandment,
For it is mine forever.
[99]I understand more than all my teachers,
For Your testimonies are my meditation.
[100]I understand more than the elders,
For I search Your commandments.

[101]I withheld my feet from every evil way,
That I might keep Your words.
[102]I did not turn away from Your judgments,
For You taught me Your law.
[103]How sweet to my taste are Your teachings,
More than honey and the honeycomb in my mouth.
[104]I gained understanding because of Your commandments;
Therefore, I hate every unrighteous way.
[105]Your word is a lamp to my feet
And a light to my paths.
[106]I swore and confirmed
That I would keep the judgments of Your righteousness.
[107]I was humbled exceedingly;
O Lord, give me life according to Your word.
[108]Be well-pleased with the freewill offerings of my mouth,
O Lord,
And teach me Your judgments.
[109]My soul is always in Your hands,
And I have not forgotten Your law.
[110]Sinners set snares for me,
But I did not wander from Your commandments.
[111]I inherited Your testimonies forever,
For these are the exceeding joy of my heart.
[112]I inclined my heart to do Your ordinances
Forever for a reward.
[113]Transgressors I hate,
But I love Your law.
[114]You are my helper and my protector;
I hope in Your word.
[115]Turn away from me, you evildoers,
And I shall search out the commandments of my God.
[116]Uphold me according to Your teaching, and give me life;
And may You not disappoint my expectation.
[117]Help me, and I shall be saved;
And I shall meditate always in Your ordinances.
[118]You set at naught all who departed from Your ordinances,
For their thought is unrighteous.

[119]I counted as transgressors all the sinners of the earth;
For this reason I always love Your testimonies.
[120]Nail my flesh with the fear of You,
For I fear You because of Your judgments.
[121]I work judgment and righteousness;
Do not deliver me to those who wrong me.
[122]Take Your servant to that which is good;
Do not let the arrogant falsely accuse me.
[123]My eyes strained to look at Your salvation
And at the teaching of Your righteousness.
[124]Deal with Your servant according to Your mercy
And teach me Your ordinances.
[125]I am Your servant; cause me to understand,
And I shall know Your testimonies.
[126]It is time for the Lord to act;
They broke Your law.
[127]For this reason I love Your commandments
More than gold and topaz.
[128]Therefore I directed myself to all Your commandments;
I hated every unrighteous way.
[129]Wondrous are Your testimonies;
For this reason my soul searches them out.
[130]The revelation of Your words gives light,
And it causes children to understand.
[131]I opened my mouth and drew in my breath,
For I longed for Your commandments.
[132]Look upon me and have mercy on me,
According to the judgment of those who love Your name.
[133]Direct my steps according to Your teaching
And let no lawlessness rule over me.
[134]Ransom me from the slander of men,
And I will keep Your commandments.
[135]Make Your face shine upon Your servant
And teach me Your ordinances.
[136]My eyes poured down streams of tears
Because they did not keep Your law.
[137]Righteous are You, O Lord,

And upright is Your judgment.
[138]You commanded Your testimonies exceedingly
In righteousness and truth.
[139]The zeal of Your house caused me to yearn for home,
For my enemies forgot Your words.
[140]Your teaching is exceedingly purified in fire,
And Your servant loves it.
[141]I am young, and beheld as nothing,
But I have not forgotten Your ordinances.
[142]Your righteousness is righteousness forever,
And Your law is truth.
[143]Affliction and trouble found me,
But Your commandments are my meditation.
[144]Your testimonies are righteousness forever;
Give me understanding, and I shall live.
[145]I cry out with my whole heart; hear me, O Lord;
I shall search Your ordinances.
[146]I cry out to You; save me,
And I shall keep Your testimonies.
[147]I arose at midnight and cried out;
I hoped in Your words.
[148]My eyes awoke before dawn
That I might meditate on Your teachings.
[149]Hear my voice, O Lord, according to Your mercy;
Give me life according to Your judgment.
[150]Those who persecute me in lawlessness drew near;
They are far removed from Your law.
[151]You are near, O Lord;
All Your commandments are truth.
[152]From the beginning I knew Your testimonies,
That You established them forever.
[153]Behold my humiliation and deliver me,
For I have not forgotten Your law.
[154]Plead my cause and redeem me;
Give me life because of Your word.
[155]Salvation is far from sinners,
For they have not searched Your ordinances.

156 Your compassions are many, O Lord;
Give me life according to Your judgment.
157 Many are those who pursue and afflict me,
But I did not turn away from Your testimonies.
158 I saw those acting foolishly, and I yearned for You;
For they did not keep Your teachings.
159 Behold, I love Your commandments;
O Lord, in Your mercy, give me life.
160 The beginning of Your words is truth,
And all the judgments of Your righteousness are forever.
161 Rulers persecuted me without cause,
But my heart feared because of Your words.
162 I shall greatly rejoice in Your teachings,
Like one finding great spoil.
163 I hate and abhor unrighteousness,
But I love Your law.
164 I praise You seven times a day
For the judgments of Your righteousness.
165 Great peace have all who love Your law,
And it is not an offense to them.
166 I long for Your salvation, O Lord,
And I love Your commandments.
167 My soul keeps Your testimonies,
And I love them exceedingly.
168 I keep Your commandments and Your testimonies,
For all my ways are before You, O Lord.
169 Let my supplication draw near before You, O Lord;
Give me understanding according to Your teaching.
170 May my petition come before You;
Deliver me according to Your teaching.
171 My lips shall overflow in song
When You teach me Your ordinances.
172 My tongue shall speak of Your teaching,
For all Your commandments are righteousness.
173 Let Your hand be for saving me,
For I chose Your commandments.
174 I long for Your salvation, O Lord,

And Your law is my meditation.
175My soul shall live and praise You,
And Your judgments shall help me.
176I went astray like a lost sheep;
Seek Your servant, for I have not forgotten Your commandments.

Psalm 119 (120)

1*An ode of ascents.*

To the Lord in my affliction
I cried out, and He heard me.
2O Lord, deliver my soul from unjust lips
And from a deceitful tongue.
3What should be given You, and what added to You,
Against a deceitful tongue?
4The arrows of the Mighty One are sharpened
With hot coals from the desert.
5Woe is me! My sojourning was prolonged;
I dwelt with the tents of Kedar.
6My soul sojourned a long time as a resident alien.
7With those who hate peace, I was peaceful;
When I spoke to them, they made war against me without cause.

Psalm 120 (121)

1*An ode of ascents.*

I lifted my eyes to the mountains;
From where shall my help come?
2My help comes from the Lord,
Who made heaven and earth.
3Let not your foot be moved;
Neither let Him who keeps you slumber.

[4]Behold, He who keeps Israel
Shall neither slumber nor sleep.
[5]The Lord shall keep you;
The Lord is your shelter at your right hand.
[6]The sun shall not burn you by day
Nor the moon by night.
[7]The Lord shall keep you from all evil;
The Lord shall keep your soul.
[8]The Lord shall keep your coming in and your going out
From this present time and unto the ages.

Psalm 121 (122)

[1]An ode of ascents.

I was glad when they said to me,
“Let us go into the house of the Lord.”
[2]Our feet stand in your courts, O Jerusalem.
[3]Jerusalem is built as a city
Whose compactness is complete.
[4]There the tribes went up,
The tribes of the Lord, a testimony to Israel,
To give thanks to the name of the Lord.
[5]For thrones sat there for judgment,
Thrones over the house of David.
[6]Ask now for things regarding the peace of Jerusalem,
And there is prosperity for those who love you;
[7]Let there now be peace in your power
And prosperity in your citadels.
[8]For the sake of my brothers and my neighbors,
I indeed spoke peace concerning you;
[9]For the sake of the house of the Lord our God,
I sought good things for you.

Psalm 122 (123)

[1]An ode of ascents.

I lift my eyes to You,
Who dwell in heaven.
[2]Behold, as the eyes of servants look to the hands of their masters,
As the eyes of the maidservant look to the hands of her mistress,
So our eyes look to the Lord our God
Until He shall have compassion on us.
[3]Have mercy on us, O Lord, have mercy on us,
For we are greatly filled with contempt;
[4]Our soul is greatly filled with it.
We are a disgrace to those who prosper,
And a contempt to the arrogant.

Psalm 123 (124)

[1]An ode of ascents.

“If the Lord had not been with us,”
Let Israel now say,
[2]“If the Lord had not been with us,
When men rose up against us,
[3]Then they would have swallowed us alive,
When their anger raged against us,
[4]Then the water would have drowned us;
Our soul would have passed through a torrent,
[5]Then our soul would have passed through
A water that is overwhelming.”
[6]Blessed is the Lord,
Who did not give us as prey to their teeth.
[7]Our soul was delivered like a sparrow
From the snare of the hunters;
The snare was broken, and we were delivered.
[8]Our help is in the name of the Lord,
Who made heaven and earth.

Psalm 124 (125)

[1]An ode of ascents.

Those who trust in the Lord are like Mount Zion;
He who dwells in Jerusalem shall be unshaken forever.
[2]The mountains surround her,
And the Lord surrounds His people
From this present time and unto the ages.
[3]The Lord will not permit the rod of sinners
To be upon the inheritance of the righteous,
Lest the righteous stretch out
Their hands in lawlessness.
[4]Do good, O Lord, to the good,
And to the upright in heart;
[5]But those who turn aside to crooked ways,
The Lord shall lead away with the workers of lawlessness.
Peace be upon Israel.

Psalm 125 (126)

[1]An ode of ascents.

When the Lord returned the captives of Zion,
We became like those who are comforted.
[2]Then our mouth was filled with joy,
And our tongue with exceeding joy.
Then they shall say among the Gentiles,
“The Lord did great things with them.”
[3]The Lord has done great things with us;
We were glad.
[4]Return, O Lord, our captivity
Like streams in the south.
[5]Those who sow with tears
Shall reap with exceeding joy.
[6]They went forth and wept,

Carrying their seeds with them;
But they shall return with exceeding joy,
Carrying their sheaves.

Psalm 126 (127)

[1]An ode of ascents; for Solomon.

Unless the Lord builds the house,
Those who build it labor in vain;
Unless the Lord guard the city,
Those who guard it stay awake in vain.
[2]It is in vain for you to rise early,
To awaken from your rest,
You who eat the bread of grief,
When He gives His beloved ones sleep.
[3]Behold, children are the Lord's inheritance;
The fruit of the womb His reward.
[4]Like arrows in the hand of a mighty one,
So are the children of those who were outcasts.
[5]Blessed is the man who shall fulfill his desire with them;
They shall not be ashamed, when they speak to their enemies at the gate.

Psalm 127 (128)

[1]An ode of ascents.

Blessed are all who fear the Lord,
Who walk in His ways.
[2]You shall eat the fruits of your labor;
You are blessed, and it shall be well with you.
[3]Your wife shall be like a vine, prospering on the sides of your house;
Your children like newly planted olive trees
Around your table.
[4]Behold, so shall the man be blessed who fears the Lord.

[5]May the Lord bless you from Zion,
And may you see the good things of Jerusalem
All the days of your life;
[6]May you see your children's children.
Peace be upon Israel.

Psalm 128 (129)

[1]An ode of ascents.

"Many times they warred against me from my youth,"
Let Israel now say;
[2]"Many times they warred against me from my youth,
Yet they did not overcome me.
[3]The sinners schemed behind my back;
They prolonged their lawlessness."
[4]The righteous Lord cut in pieces the necks of sinners.
[5]Let all who hate Zion
Be shamed and turned back.
[6]Let them become like grass on the housetops,
Which withers before it is plucked up;
[7]Like grass with which the reaper does not fill his hand,
Nor the gatherer of sheaves, his bosom;
[8]Neither do those who pass by say to them,
"The Lord's blessing be upon you;
In the Lord's name, we bless you."

Psalm 129 (130)

[1]An ode of ascents.

Out of the depths I have cried to You, O Lord;
[2]O Lord, hear my voice;
Let Your ears be attentive
To the voice of my supplication.
[3]If You, O Lord, should mark transgression,

O Lord, who would stand?
4For there is forgiveness with You.
5Because of Your law, O Lord, I waited for You;
My soul waited for Your word.
6My soul hopes in the Lord,
From the morning watch until night;
From the morning watch until night,
Let Israel hope in the Lord.
7For with the Lord there is mercy,
And with Him is abundant redemption;
8And He shall redeem Israel
From all his transgressions.

Psalm 130 (131)

1*An ode of ascents, by David.*

O Lord, My heart is not exalted,
Neither are my eyes raised up;
Neither am I carried along in great things,
Nor in things too marvelous for me.
2If I were not humble-minded,
But exalted my soul,
Like a child weaned from his mother,
So You would reward my soul.
3Let Israel hope in the Lord
From this present time and unto the ages.

Psalm 131 (132)

1*An ode of ascents.*

Remember David, O Lord,
And all his meekness,
2How he swore to the Lord,
How he vowed to the God of Jacob,

[3]“I shall not enter my dwelling,
I shall not recline on my bed,
[4]I shall not close my eyes in sleep
Nor my eyelids for dozing,
Nor give any rest to my temples,
[5]Until I find a place for the Lord,
A tabernacle for the God of Jacob.”
[6]Behold, we heard of it in Ephrathah;
We found it in the plains of the wood;
[7]Let us enter into His tabernacles;
Let us worship at the place where His feet stood.
[8]Arise, O Lord, into Your rest,
You and the ark of Your holiness;
[9]Your priests shall clothe themselves in righteousness;
Your saints shall greatly rejoice.
[10]For Your servant David’s sake,
Do not turn away from the face of Your anointed.
[11]The Lord swore to David this truth, and He shall not reject it,
“I shall set upon your throne one from the fruit of your loins.
[12]If your sons keep My covenant
And these testimonies I shall teach them,
Then their sons shall sit upon your throne forever.”
[13]For the Lord has chosen Zion;
He chose her for His dwelling:
[14]“This is My place of rest unto ages of ages;
Here I shall dwell, for I have chosen her.
[15]Blessing, I shall bless her provision;
I shall satisfy her poor with bread;
[16]And I shall clothe her priests with salvation,
And her saints shall rejoice exceedingly with great joy;
[17]There I shall cause to spring up a horn for David;
There I prepared a lamp for my anointed;
[18]His enemies I shall clothe with shame;
Upon him shall My sanctification flourish.”

Psalm 132 (133)

[1]An ode of ascents; by David.

Behold now, what is so good or so pleasant
As for brothers to dwell together in unity?
[2]It is like fragrant oil running down upon the beard,
The beard of Aaron,
Running down upon the border of his garment;
[3]It is like the dew of Hermon, running down upon the mountains of Zion;
For there the Lord commanded the blessing
And life forever.

Psalm 133 (134)

[1]An ode of ascents.

Behold now, bless the Lord,
All you servants of the Lord,
Who stand in the house of the Lord,
In the courts of the house of our God.
[2]In the nights, lift up your hands to the holy of holies
And bless the Lord.
[3]May the Lord bless you from Zion,
He who made heaven and earth.

Psalm 134 (135)

[1]Alleluia.

Praise the name of the Lord,
O you servants; praise the Lord,
[2]You who stand in the house of the Lord,
In the courts of the house of our God.
[3]Praise the Lord, for the Lord is good;
Sing to His name, for it is good;
[4]For the Lord chose Jacob for Himself,
Israel for His special treasure.

[5]For I know the Lord is great,
And our Lord is above all the gods.
[6]All things whatsoever the Lord willed, He did,
In heaven and on the earth,
In the seas and in all deep places,
[7]Bringing clouds from the furthest part of the earth;
He made lightning for the rain,
Bringing winds from His storehouses.
[8]He struck the firstborn of Egypt,
From man to cattle;
[9]He sent forth signs and wonders in your midst, O Egypt,
Among Pharaoh and all his servants.
[10]He struck many nations
And destroyed mighty kings,
[11]Sihon king of the Amorites,
And Og king of Bashan,
And all the kingdoms of Canaan;
[12]And He gave their land as an inheritance,
An inheritance for Israel His people.
[13]O Lord, Your name abides forever,
O Lord, Your memorial unto generation and generation.
[14]For the Lord will judge His people,
And He shall comfort His servants.
[15]The idols of the nations are silver and gold,
The works of men’s hands;
[16]They have a mouth, but they shall not speak;
They have eyes, but they shall not see;
[17]They have ears, but they shall not hear;
They have noses, but they shall not smell;
They have hands, but they shall not feel;
They have feet, but they shall not walk;
They have no sound in their throat;
For neither is there breath in their mouth.
[18]May those who made them become like them,
And all who trust in them.
[19]O house of Israel, bless the Lord;
O house of Aaron, bless the Lord;

[20]O house of Levi, bless the Lord;
You who fear the Lord, bless the Lord.
[21]Blessed be the Lord out of Zion,
He who dwells in Jerusalem.

Psalm 135 (136)

[1]Alleluia.

Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good,
For His mercy endures forever;
[2]Give thanks to the God of gods,
For His mercy endures forever;
[3]Give thanks to the Lord of lords,
For His mercy endures forever;
[4]To Him who alone does great wonders,
For His mercy endures forever;
[5]To Him who made the heavens with understanding,
For His mercy endures forever;
[6]To Him who made firm the earth on the waters,
For His mercy endures forever;
[7]To Him who alone made the great lights,
For His mercy endures forever,
[8]The sun for authority over the day,
For His mercy endures forever,
[9]The moon and stars for authority over the night,
For His mercy endures forever;
[10]To Him who struck down Egypt with their firstborn,
For His mercy endures forever;
[11]To Him who led Israel out of their midst,
For His mercy endures forever,
[12]With a strong hand and an upraised arm,
For His mercy endures forever;
[13]To Him who divided the Red Sea into parts,
For His mercy endures forever,
[14]And led Israel through the midst of it,
For His mercy endures forever,

[15]And who overthrew Pharaoh and all his host in the Red Sea,
For His mercy endures forever;
[16]To Him who led His people through the wilderness,
For His mercy endures forever;
To Him who drew water from the hard rock,
For His mercy endures forever;
[17]To Him who struck down great kings,
For His mercy endures forever,
[18]And killed mighty kings,
For His mercy endures forever,
[19]Sihon king of the Amorites,
For His mercy endures forever,
[20]And Og king of Bashan,
For His mercy endures forever,
[21]And who gave their land as an inheritance,
For His mercy endures forever,
[22]An inheritance for Israel His servant,
For His mercy endures forever.
[23]For in our humiliation the Lord remembered us,
For His mercy endures forever;
[24]And He redeemed us from our enemies,
For His mercy endures forever;
[25]Who gave food to all flesh,
For His mercy endures forever.
[26]Give thanks to the God of heaven,
For His mercy endures forever;
Give thanks to the Lord of lords,
For His mercy endures forever.

Psalm 136 (137)

[1]By David.

By the rivers of Babylon,
There we sat and wept
When we remembered Zion.

[2]Upon the willows in her midst,
We hung up our musical instruments;
[3]For there our captors asked us for words from our songs,
And those who carried us off said to us,
“Sing us the songs of Zion.”
[4]How shall we sing the Lord’s song
In a foreign land?
[5]If I forget you, O Jerusalem,
May my right hand be forgotten;
[6]May my tongue be glued to my throat
If I do not remember you,
If I do not prefer Jerusalem
In the beginning of my merriment.
[7]O Lord, remember the sons of Edom
On that day in Jerusalem,
When they were saying, “Empty it out,
Empty it out,
Even to its foundation!”
[8]O wretched daughter of Babylon,
Blessed is he who shall deal with you
As you dealt with us;
[9]Blessed is he who shall get the upper hand
And dash your infants against the rock.

Psalm 137 (138)

[1]By David.

I will give thanks to You, O Lord, with all my heart,
For You hear the words of my mouth;
And I shall sing to You in the presence of angels.
[2]I shall bow down and worship toward Your holy temple,
And I will give thanks to Your name
For Your mercy and Your truth;
For You magnified Your teaching above every name.
[3]On the day I shall call out to You, hear me speedily;
You shall treat my soul with great care in Your power.

4O Lord, let all the kings of the earth give thanks to You,
For they heard all the words of Your mouth;
5And let them sing in the ways of the Lord,
For the glory of the Lord is great;
6For the Lord is high, and He watches over the lowly things;
But the high things He knows from afar.
7If I walk in the midst of affliction, You shall make me live;
You stretched out Your hand against the wrath of my enemies,
And Your right hand saved me.
8The Lord shall repay them on my behalf.
O Lord, Your mercy endures forever;
Do not forsake the works of Your hands.

Psalm 138 (139)

1*For the End; a psalm by David.*

O Lord, You test me and know me;
2You know my sitting down and my rising up;
You understand my thoughts from afar;
3You search out my path and my portion,
And You foresee all my ways.
4For there is not a word on my tongue,
5But behold, O Lord, You know it altogether,
The last things and the first things;
You fashioned me, and placed Your hands on me.
6Your knowledge has become too wondrous for me;
It has become too overwhelming; I am unable to grasp it.
7Where could I go from Your Spirit,
Or flee from Your face?
8If I should ascend into heaven, You would be there;
If I should descend into Hades, You would be there;
9If I should take up my wings at dawn
And pitch camp at the furthest part of the sea,
10Even there Your hand would lead me,
And Your right hand would hold me.

[11]And I said, “Perhaps darkness shall cover me,”
But the night shall be light to my delight;
[12]For darkness shall not be dark because of You,
And the night shall be bright as day;
As its darkness, so also shall be its light.
[13]For You possess my heart, O Lord;
You took hold of me from my mother’s womb.
[14]I will give thanks to You,
For I am fearfully and wondrously made;
Marvelous are Your works,
And my soul knows this very well.
[15]My bone you made in secret was not hidden from You.
And my substance was in the lowest parts of the earth;
[16]Your eyes saw me when I was unformed,
And all men shall be written in Your book;
They shall be formed day by day,
When as yet there were none among them.
[17]Your friends, O God, became very honorable to me;
Their principalities became very strong;
[18]I shall count them,
And they shall be multiplied more than the sand;
I awakened, and I am still with You.
[19]If You should slay sinners, O God,
You would turn aside from me, O men of blood.
[20]For You will say regarding their reasoning,
“They shall receive your cities in vain.”
[21]Have I not hated those who hate You, O Lord?
And was I not wasting away because of Your enemies?
[22]I hated them with perfect hatred;
They became my enemies.
[23]Test me, O God, and know my heart;
Examine me, and know my paths,
[24]And see if there is a lawless way in me,
And lead me in the way everlasting.

Psalm 139 (140)

[1]For the End; a psalm by David.

[2]Deliver me, O Lord, from the evil man,
Rescue me from the unjust man,
[3]Who devised wrongdoing in their heart;
They arrayed themselves for war all day long;
[4]They sharpened their tongue like a serpent;
The venom of asps was under their lips.
(Pause)

[5]Keep me, O Lord, from the hand of the sinner;
Deliver me from unjust men
Who plotted to trip up my steps;
[6]The arrogant hid a trap for me,
And they stretched out ropes as snares for my feet;
They set a stumbling block for me near my path.
(Pause)

[7]I said to the Lord, "You are my God;
Give ear, O Lord, to the voice of my supplication.
[8]O Lord, O Lord, the power of my salvation,
You overshadowed my head in the day of war.
[9]Because of my desire, O Lord, do not hand me over to the sinner;
They plotted against me; do not forsake me, lest they be exalted.
(Pause)

[10]"As for the head of those who encircle me,
The toil of their lips shall cover them.
[11]Coals shall fall upon them;
You shall overthrow them with fire;
Do not let them withstand hardships."
[12]A talkative man shall not prosper on earth;
Evils shall hunt the unjust man to destruction.
[13]I know the Lord will maintain the cause of the poor man
And the justice of the needy.
[14]Surely the righteous shall give thanks to Your name,

And the upright shall dwell in Your presence.

Psalm 140 (141)

[1]A psalm by David.

O Lord, I have cried to You; hear me;
Give heed to the voice of my supplication when I cry to You.
[2]Let my prayer be set forth before You as incense,
The lifting up of my hands as the evening sacrifice.
[3]Set a watch, O Lord, before my mouth,
A door of enclosure about my lips.
[4]Incline not my heart to evil words,
To make excuses in sins
With men who work lawlessness;
And I will not join with their choice ones.
[5]The righteous man shall correct me
With mercy, and he shall reprove me;
But let not the oil of the sinner anoint my head,
For my prayer shall be intense in the presence of their pleasures.
[6]Their judges are swallowed up by the rock;
They shall hear my words, for they are pleasant.
[7]As a clod of ground is dashed to pieces on the earth,
So our bones were scattered beside the grave.
[8]For my eyes, O Lord, O Lord, are toward You;
In You I hope; take not my soul away.
[9]Keep me from the snares they set for me,
And from the stumbling blocks of those who work lawlessness.
[10]Sinners shall fall into their own net;
I am alone, until I escape.

Psalm 141 (142)

[1]Understanding; by David, when he was in the cave; a prayer.

[2]I cried to the Lord with my voice,
With my voice I prayed to the Lord.
[3]I shall pour out my supplication before Him;
I shall declare my affliction in His presence.
[4]When my spirit fainted within me,
Then You knew my paths;
For on the way I was going, they hid a trap for me.
[5]I looked on my right, and saw
There was no one who knew me;
Refuge failed me,
And there was no one who cared for my soul.
[6]I cried to You, O Lord;
I said, “You are my hope,
My portion in the land of the living.
[7]Attend to my supplication,
For I was humbled exceedingly;
Deliver me from my persecutors,
For they are stronger than I.
[8]Bring my soul out of prison
To give thanks to Your name, O Lord;
The righteous shall wait for me, until You reward me.”

Psalm 142 (143)

[1]A psalm by David, when his son persecuted him.

O Lord, hear my prayer;
Give ear to my supplication in Your truth;
Answer me in Your righteousness;
[2]Do not enter into judgment with Your servant,
For no one living shall become righteous in Your sight.
[3]For the enemy persecuted my soul;
He humbled my life to the ground;
He caused me to dwell in dark places as one long dead,
[4]And my spirit was in anguish within me;
My heart was troubled within me.
[5]I remembered the days of old,

And I meditated on all Your works;
I meditated on the works of Your hands.
6I spread out my hands to You;
My soul thirsts for You like a waterless land.
(Pause)

7Hear me speedily, O Lord;
My spirit faints within me;
Turn not Your face from me,
Lest I become like those who go down into the pit.
8Cause me to hear Your mercy in the morning,
For I hope in You;
Make me know, O Lord, the way wherein I should walk,
For I lift up my soul to You.
9Deliver me from my enemies, O Lord,
For to You I flee for refuge.
10Teach me to do Your will, for You are my God;
Your good Spirit shall guide me in the land of uprightness.
11For Your name's sake, O Lord, give me life;
In Your righteousness You shall bring my soul out of affliction.
12In Your mercy You shall destroy my enemies;
You shall utterly destroy all who afflict my soul,
For I am Your servant.

Psalm 143 (144)

1*By David; against Goliath.*

Blessed is the Lord my God,
Who trains my hands for battle,
My fingers for war;
2He is my mercy and my refuge,
My helper and my deliverer,
My protector in whom I hope,
Who subjects my people under me.
3O Lord, what is man, that You are made known to him,

Or the son of man, that You consider him?
4Man is become like vanity,
His days like a passing shadow.
5O Lord, bow down Your heavens and descend;
Touch the mountains, and they shall smoke;
6Flash lightning, and You shall scatter them;
Shoot Your arrows, and You shall trouble them.
7Send forth Your hand from on high;
Deliver me and save me from great waters,
From the hand of the sons of foreigners,
8Whose mouth speaks empty things,
And their right hand is the right hand of wrongdoing.
9O God, I shall sing a new song to You;
I shall play to You on a harp of ten strings,
10To Him who gives salvation to kings,
Who redeems David His servant from the evil sword.
11Deliver me and save me from the hand of the sons of foreigners,
Whose mouth speaks empty things,
And their right hand is a right hand of wrongdoing,
12Whose sons are like new plants
Matured in their youth,
Their daughters beautified,
Adorned like a temple;
13Their storehouses are full,
Bursting forth with abundance on all sides;
Their sheep give many births,
Multiplying in their streets;
14Their oxen are fat;
There is no gap in their fence or passage,
Nor outcry in their streets.
15They call the people blessed, whose lot this is;
But rather, blessed is the people
Whose God is the Lord.

Psalm 144 (145)

[1]A praise by David.

I shall exalt You, my God and my King,
And I shall bless Your name forever and unto ages of ages.
[2]Every day I shall bless You
And praise Your name forever and unto ages of ages.
[3]Great is the Lord and exceedingly praiseworthy,
And His greatness has no limit.
[4]Generation and generation shall praise Your works,
And they shall declare Your power.
[5]They shall speak of the magnificence of the glory of Your holiness,
And they shall describe Your wonders.
[6]They shall also speak of the power of Your awesome deeds
And describe Your great majesty.
[7]They shall overflow with the memory of Your rich goodness,
And shall greatly rejoice in Your righteousness.
[8]The Lord is gracious and merciful,
Longsuffering and abundant in mercy.
[9]The Lord is good to all,
And His mercies are upon all His works.
[10]O Lord, let all Your works praise You
And Your holy ones bless You.
[11]They shall tell of Your kingdom's glory,
And they shall speak of Your power,
[12]That all the sons of men may know Your power
And the glory of Your kingdom's magnificence.
[13]Your kingdom is a kingdom of all the ages,
And Your dominion is from generation to generation.
The Lord is faithful in His words
And holy in all His works.
[14]The Lord supports all who stumble
And restores all who are broken down.
[15]All eyes hope in You,
And You give them their food in due season.
[16]You open Your hand

And fill every living thing with Your pleasure.
17The Lord is righteous in all His ways
And holy in all His works.
18The Lord is near to all who call on Him,
To all who call upon Him in truth.
19He shall do the will of those who fear Him,
And He shall hear their supplications and save them.
20The Lord keeps all who love Him,
But all the sinners He shall utterly destroy.
21My mouth shall speak the Lord's praise,
And let all flesh bless His holy name
Forever and unto ages of ages.

Psalm 145 (146)

1*Alleluia; of Aggeus and Zacharias.*

Praise the Lord, O my soul.
2I shall praise the Lord while I live;
I shall sing to my God as long as I exist.
3Do not trust in rulers and in the sons of men,
In whom there is no salvation.
4His breath shall go out of him, and he shall return to his earth;
On that day all his thoughts shall perish.
5Blessed is he whose help is the God of Jacob;
His hope is in the Lord his God,
6Who made heaven and earth,
The sea and everything in them,
Who keeps truth forever,
7Who executes justice for the wronged,
Who provides food for the hungry.
The Lord frees those bound.
8The Lord restores those broken down.
The Lord gives wisdom to the blind.
The Lord loves the righteous.
9The Lord keeps watch over resident aliens.

He shall adopt the orphan and the widow,
But He shall destroy the way of sinners.
10The Lord shall reign forever:
Your God, O Zion, to all generations.

Psalm 146 (147:1–11)

1*Alleluia; of Aggeus and Zacharias.*

Praise the Lord, for a psalm is a good thing;
Let praise be sweet to our God.
2The Lord is building Jerusalem,
And He shall gather together the dispersion of Israel;
3He heals the brokenhearted
And He binds up all their wounds.
4He numbers the multitude of stars
And calls them all by name.
5Great is our Lord, and great is His strength;
His understanding exceeds every measure.
6The Lord raises up the gentle,
But humbles sinners to the ground.
7Begin with thanksgiving to the Lord;
Sing to our God with the harp,
8To Him who covers heaven with clouds,
Who prepares rain for the earth,
Who makes grass grow on the mountains
And the green growth for the service of men,
9To Him who gives the cattle their food
And who gives food to the nestlings of ravens
When they call upon Him.
10He shall not take pleasure in the strength of a horse,
Nor be pleased with the legs of a man;
11The Lord is pleased with those who fear Him,
And with those who hope in His mercy.

Psalm 147 (147:12–20)

[1]Alleluia; of Aggeus and Zacharias.

Praise the Lord, O Jerusalem;
Praise your God, O Zion,
[2]For He strengthens the bars of your gates;
He blesses your children within you;
[3]He who grants your borders peace,
And fills you with the finest of wheat;
[4]He who sends His teaching to earth
Until His word shall run swiftly,
[5]Giving snow like wool,
Sprinkling mist like ashes,
[6]Casting His ice like morsels;
Who shall withstand His winter?
[7]He shall send His word and melt them;
His wind shall blow, and the waters shall flow,
[8]He who declares His word to Jacob,
His ordinances and judgments to Israel.
[9]He did not do so with other nations,
Nor did He show His judgments to them.

Psalm 148

[1]Alleluia; of Aggeus and Zacharias.

Praise the Lord from the heavens;
Praise Him in the highest.
[2]Praise Him, all you His angels;
Praise Him, all you His hosts.
[3]Praise Him, sun and moon;
Praise Him, all you stars and light.
[4]Praise Him, you heavens of heavens,
And you waters above the heavens.
[5]Let them praise the Lord’s name,
For He spoke, and they were made;
He commanded, and they were created.
[6]He established them forever and unto ages of ages;

He set forth His ordinance, and it shall not pass away.
[7]Praise the Lord from the earth,
You dragons and all the deeps,
[8]Fire and hail, snow and ice,
Stormy wind, which perform His word,
[9]Mountains and all the hills,
Fruitful trees and all cedars,
[10]Wild animals and all cattle,
Creeping things and flying birds,
[11]Kings of the earth and all peoples,
Princes and all judges of the earth,
[12]Young men and maidens,
Elders with younger,
[13]Let them praise the Lord's name,
For His name alone is exalted;
His thanksgiving is in earth and heaven.
[14]And He shall exalt the horn of His people,
A hymn for all His saints,
For the children of Israel, a people who draw near to Him.

Psalm 149

[1]Alleluia.

Sing to the Lord a new song,
His praise in the assembly of His holy ones.
[2]Let Israel be glad in Him who made him,
And let the children of Zion greatly rejoice in their King.
[3]Let them praise His name with dance;
With tambourine and harp let them sing to Him;
[4]For the Lord is pleased with His people,
And He shall exalt the gentle with salvation.
[5]The holy ones shall boast in glory,
And they shall greatly rejoice on their beds;
[6]The high praise of God shall be in their mouth
And a two-edged sword in their hand,
[7]To deal retribution to the nations,

Reproving among the peoples,
[8]To shackle their kings with chains
And their nobles with fetters of iron,
[9]To fulfill among them the written judgment:
This glory have all His holy ones.

Psalm 150

[1]Alleluia.

Praise God in His saints;
Praise Him in the firmament of His power;
[2]Praise Him for His mighty acts;
Praise Him according to the abundance of His greatness.
[3]Praise Him with the sound of a trumpet;
Praise Him with the harp and lyre;
[4]Praise Him with timbrel and dance;
Praise Him with strings and flute;
[5]Praise Him with resounding cymbals;
Praise Him with triumphant cymbals;
[6]Let everything that breathes praise the Lord.
Alleluia.

Psalm 151

[1]This is a psalm written with David's own hand, although outside the number, when he fought in single combat with Goliath.

I was small among my brothers
And the youngest in my father's house;
I tended my father's sheep.
[2]My hands built a musical instrument;
My fingers tuned a lyre.
[3]And who shall tell my Lord?
The Lord Himself, He Himself hears.
[4]He sent forth His Angel

And took me from my father’s sheep;
And he anointed me with his anointing oil.
5My brothers were handsome and tall,
But the Lord took no pleasure in them.
6I went out to meet the foreigner,
And he cursed me with his idols;
7But I drew his own sword and beheaded him,
And removed disgrace from the children of Israel.

Annotations for Psalms

1 The Man in Ps 1 is the Lord Jesus Christ (JohnChr, AmbM, Eust, CyrAl, Aug, and Cass). Thus, the Incarnation sets the tone of Psalms, and in the Psalms the Incarnate Lord teaches His Church how to pray. This is why Psalms is the prayer book of the Church.

Ps 1 presents how Jesus lived His life in this world by showing the contrast between His godly life and the life of the ungodly. The Church, then, is to follow His example: His behavior in relation to the ungodly (v. 1); His zeal for the truth (v. 2); and His holy and virtuous life (v. 3).

2 The Lord in Ps 2 is God the Father, and Jesus is called His anointed (v. 2), which means "His Christ." Jesus is also called King (v. 6), which is declared by the Father's eternal decree. Jesus is King without beginning and without end, and He is King over His holy hill of Zion, which is the Church. Jesus is also the Son of God the Father (v. 7), for He was begotten from the Father outside of time and "before all worlds" (Creed). He was also begotten in these last times by the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary, "for us men and for our salvation" (Creed). Then again, He was begotten in the sense of His Resurrection from the dead (Acts 13:32, 33). But Jesus is also the King over the nations (v. 8), which in due time, He will shatter like a potter's vessel (v. 9) when He restores heaven and earth, and reigns eternally with His saints in "the world to come" (Creed). Therefore, the rulers of the nations are called to serve this King, or they will be judged; but blessed are all who trust in Him (v. 12).

🕮 The Church includes Ps 2 in the Nativity (Christmas) Eve and Good Friday services. On Nativity Eve it is used in the refrain (called the prokeimenon or gradual) before the Epistle is read in the Divine Liturgy. On Good Friday, the entire psalm is part of the First Hour prayers.

3 The historical account in Ps 3 is that of King David fleeing from his son, Absalom (2Kg 15–18). But prophetically, Ps 3 is speaking of Jesus as the Son of David according to the flesh (Mt 1:1; Rom 1:3). Thus, Jesus is praying to the Lord, who is God the Father (vv. 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 9). And the many . . . who rise up against me (v. 2) are the fallen angels, of whom Absalom and his army were a type. These angels, which number ten thousands (v. 7), always lie in their denial of man's salvation through Christ (v. 3). But just as Jesus always rejected their lies (vv. 4–9), so He is teaching His Church to do the same.

🕮 Ps 3 is the first of the six psalms in the Orthros (or Matins) service. The other five are 37, 62, 87, 102, and 142.

4 Ps 4 emphasizes the End (vv. 1, 2). Christ "is the end of the law for righteousness to everyone who believes" (Rom 10:4), and He is "the Alpha and the Omega, the Beginning and the End" (Rev 1:8). He exhorts people not to be slow of heart, and not to love vain things, nor to seek after lies (v. 3). Rather, they should realize that the Lord, who is the Father, has made His Holy One, who is Christ, to be wondrous (v. 4) in His death and Resurrection (v. 9).

🕮 The Church in her prayers uses Ps 4 as a prokeimenon at Vespers on Mondays. It is also one of the psalms for Great Compline during Great Lent.

5 Ps 5 is similar to Ps 4, again emphasizing the End (v. 1). Christ is the End concerning the inheritance (v. 1), which is the Church and the world to come (Creed). For Christ and His inheritance are the end to which God's eternal purpose is moving (Eph 3:11). And in His prayer to the Father, whom He calls Lord and King and God (vv. 2, 3, 5, 7, 9, 11, 13), He is teaching the Church how to pray and worship in her morning prayers (v. 4) as she travels through this present lawless world (vv. 5–13).

🕮 Thus, the Church uses Ps 5 as one her fixed psalms in the First Hour, and the clergy often pray vv. 8, 9 upon entering the church just prior to the services.

6 Ps 6 teaches the Church the spirit of humility the faithful should have when they pray, "Lord, have mercy," for this petition is repeated again and again in the services of worship. This spirit of humility is characterized by (1) a request for mercy, rather than a stern reproof and discipline because of our sins (v. 1); (2) a recognition of the weakness and frailty of our mortal nature (vv. 3, 4); (3) a request for deliverance and salvation (vv. 5, 6); (4) a contrite spirit, characterized by tears and the need for help with respect to sinful passions (vv. 7, 8); and (5) a firm stand against the fallen angels and the Lord's needed help in this warfare (vv. 9–11).

🕮 Ps 6 is used in Great Compline, and v. 2 is a frequently repeated refrain in liturgical hymnography throughout the church year.

7 The historical background of Ps 7 is Absalom's rebellion against his father, King David. This history is found in 2Kg 14–18. King David and his army prefigure Christ and the Church, whereas Absalom and his army represent the devil and his angels.

Thus, Ps 7 teaches the Church how to pray in this warfare: (1) The faithful place their hope in God for deliverance from the enemy, that is the devil, called a lion (v. 3; see also 1Pt 5:8). (2) Personal virtue in the Church is essential for successful warfare against this enemy (vv. 4–17). (3) The credit for any victory achieved goes to the Lord (v. 18).

8 Ps 8 speaks of the Incarnate Lord: (1) His name is wondrous . . . in all the earth, and He is exalted far beyond the heavens (v. 2; see also Php 2:9–11). (2) He brings forth praise from His humble people, who are likened to little children (v. 3; see also Mt 18:1–4; 21:15, 16). (3) He is the Creator of the universe (v. 4; see also Heb 1:10–12). (4) He remembered man and his mortal nature, for example, his fall into death and decay in the grave, and thus, became incarnate to redeem him from death and to crown him with glory and honor (vv. 5–9; see also Heb 2:6–10). (5) Because of the things mentioned above, the incarnate Lord's name is wondrous in all the earth.

🕮 Ps 8 is the communion hymn on Lazarus Saturday, the day before Palm Sunday, and it is also sung at Palm Sunday Orthros (Matins).

9 At Ps 9 the numerical divergence begins between the Septuagint (LXX) and the Masoretic Text. In the LXX, Ps 9 and 10 are combined.

Ps 9 is concerning the hidden things of the Son. Now this Son is the Only-begotten Son of the Father, and He is the judge of all mankind. As the Creed says, "He shall come again in glory to judge the living and the dead." And at the End, that is, in the coming judgment, He shall reveal "hidden things." Thus, the theme of judgment runs throughout the psalm (vv. 5, 8, 9, 17, 20, 26, and 39), and things now hidden will be revealed, some of which are prophesied by David in this psalm. For example, all the deeds of the ungodly will be remembered, exposed and judged (vv. 32–35), for everything will be brought into the light. However, the godly now give thanks to the Lord with a repentant and grateful heart (vv. 1, 2), for they know the Lord will reign over His kingdom forever (v. 37). For His "kingdom shall have no end" (Creed).

10 Ps 10 shows what it means for the Church to trust in the Lord Jesus Christ (v. 1), for He is the End. (1) Trusting in the Lord overcomes cowardice (Flee to the mountains like a sparrow, v. 1). (2) Trusting in the Lord overcomes the devil and his angels (vv. 2, 3; see also Eph 6:16). (3) Trusting in the Lord makes the Church a dwelling place of God (v. 4a; see also 1Co 3:16, 17; Eph 2:21, 22). (4) Trusting in the Lord keeps one poor in spirit (v. 4b; see also Mt 5:3). (5) Trusting in the Lord helps one love virtue and hate vice (vv. 5–7; see also Heb 1:9; 1Pt 3:10–12).

11 Ps 11 presents a contrast between the godly who live in light of Christ (the End, v. 1) and the eighth day (v. 1), that is, "the coming of Christ, the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed); and the ungodly, who walk in a circle (v. 9), that is, who live only within the confined vision of their seven days each week. And as the godly journey through this present world, (1) they pray for deliverance from the ungodliness around them (vv. 2, 3); (2) they ask the Lord to destroy the ungodly attitudes and behavior around them (vv. 4, 5); and (3) they groan to the Lord in the midst of their suffering (v. 6a). And because of their prayers and groaning in this way, the Lord, through His Resurrection (I will arise, v. 6), (1) boldly establishes them in salvation (v. 6); (2) purifies them in virtue with His words (v. 7); (3) guards and preserves them from the ungodly generation (v. 8); and (4) through His Ascension (exaltation, v. 9b), highly exalts His godly ones (v. 9b; see also Php 2:9–11; Eph 2:6, 7).

🕮 Ps 11 is a regular prokeimenon in the Sunday Liturgy, and it is also chanted before the Gospel reading in the marriage ceremony, as a prayer for the preservation of the union of husband and wife.

12 Ps 12 teaches the Church how to attain to an exceedingly joyful heart in singing to the Lord (v. 6b), who is the End (v. 1): (1) by godly sorrow and repentance over sins committed, lest the devil and sinful passions (my enemy) be victorious (vv. 3, 5; see also 2Co 7:10); (2) by petitioning the Lord to enlighten the eyes of the heart, lest the sleep in death overtake one (v. 4; see also Eph 1:18; 5:14); and (3) by hoping in the Lord's mercy (v. 6a).

🕮 Ps 12 is an evening prayer, used in Great Compline and in the services of Great Lent.

13 Ps 13 describes both Jews and Gentiles who say in their hearts, "There is no God" (v. 1; see also Rom 3:9–18). For although they may claim to know God, nevertheless, they are actually denying He exists, because of (1) their total involvement in a state of moral depravity (vv. 1, 3); (2) their refusal to seek God (v. 2); (3) their persecution of God's righteous people (vv. 4–6); and (4) their denial of the Incarnate God, the Lord Jesus Christ (v. 7).

14 Ps 14 teaches the Church the transfigured life the faithful are to live (v. 1), as they "look for the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed). They are (1) to be holy inwardly and outwardly (v. 2); and (2) to love their neighbor (vv. 3–5). And those who live this way shall never be shaken (v. 6), either in this world or in the world to come.

🕮 Ps 14:1 is used in Orthros for the Feast of the Transfiguration.

15 Ps 15, similar to Ps 14, teaches the Church the transfigured life in the Person of God Incarnate, who assumed the weakness of mortal flesh (but without sin) for the sake of the inheritance (vv. 5, 6), which is "the world to come" (Creed). And as Man, He interceded to the Father on behalf of the Church, (1) to preserve those who hope in the Father (v. 1, 2); (2) to magnify His will in them amid the fallen world (vv. 3, 4); (3) to enlighten them (v. 7); (4) that they should keep their eyes on the Father (v. 8); (5) that they should hope in the resurrection from the dead, because the soul of Jesus was not left in Hades, nor did His body decay in the grave, and therefore, they should not fear death (vv. 9, 10; see also Acts 2:25–31; 13:35–37); for He was raised from the dead for the sake of their life (v. 11) "in the world to come" (Creed).

🕮 Ps 15:3 is often used in the services of the Church to honor the saints.

16 Ps 16 was prayed by the Lord Jesus to the Father, to teach the Church to pray righteously and not with deceitful lips (v. 1); for the Lord gives ear to those praying in truth (vv. 1, 6). And we (1) see things the way the Lord sees them (v. 2); (2) pass the test in the furnace of obedience to the Lord's words (vv. 3–5); (3) hope in the Lord in the face of adversity (v. 7); (4) experience protection from enemies, such as the devil and his angels (vv. 8–14); and (5) are satisfied by beholding the Lord's face, that is, His glory (v. 15).

🕮 Ps 16 is used in the Third Hour Prayers of the Church.

17 Ps 17 is set in the historical background of David's deliverance from the hand of all his enemies and from the hand of Saul (1Kg 19–31). However, this psalm is forecasting and magnifying the salvation (v. 51) of the Father's King, who is called Christ (His anointed) and David, for He is the Son of David. The seed of the Son of David is the Church.

Man's enemies were death and the decay of the body in the grave, Hades, and the devil. And these held man in great fear and dread and in bondage to sinful passions (vv. 1–6; see also Heb 2:14, 15). But in His Incarnation, Christ descended from heaven (v. 10) and destroyed these enemies (vv. 7–16), and brought everything into the light (v. 29; see also 2Ti 1:10). He ascended on high and called the Gentiles (vv. 17–50).

🕮 Verses 46–50 are sung on appointed Sundays immediately before the reading of the Holy Gospel, announcing the word of Christ, who is victor over death and the One who is our life.

18 Ps 18 reveals God the Word (the End, v. 1) becoming Man in the womb of the most holy Mother of God. For on His Nativity, all creation bore witness to the glory of God revealed in His Incarnation (vv. 1–5). And in His birth from the womb of the Virgin, He was likened to the sun rising from the east, to a bridegroom coming from his chamber, and to a strong man ready to run a race, to bring salvation to the world (vv. 6–15).

🕮 Verses 2, 3 are sung as the Alleluia before the Gospel reading in the Divine Liturgy on Nativity. And v. 6 is sung in the second canon of canticle five during Orthros for the Feast of the Nativity of the Mother of God.

19 Ps 19 is a royal psalm, for it is a prophecy made on behalf of Jesus Christ the King (v. 10), who is the End (v. 1). Also, v. 7 identifies Jesus as God's Christ (His anointed) and as His right hand. For the name "Christ" shows the Father anointed the human nature of Jesus with the Holy Spirit (see Heb 1:9; Lk 1:35; Is 61:1); and the names "right hand" and "King" show Jesus is one in essence with the Father and coequal with Him.

This prophecy is first a prayer to the Father, who is called the Lord and the God of Jacob (v. 2). Numerous petitions are made on Christ's behalf (vv. 2–5), one of which regards His death and Resurrection (vv. 4, 7; see also Heb 5:7). Secondly, the prophecy reveals the response of the Church to His salvation (vv. 6–10), one element of which is great joy (v. 6).

20 Ps 20 is also a royal psalm, because it is a prophecy of the King's triumphal Ascension, in which He is also the End.

The Father is identified as the Lord (vv. 2, 8) and as the Most High (v. 8); and the King is also called the Lord (v. 10), who is exalted (v. 14) in His Ascension, as well as the Father's hand and right hand (v. 9). In being called by these names, Jesus is shown to be one in essence and coequal with the Father.

Jesus asked the Father to raise Him from the dead and to enthrone Him at His right hand for the sake of our salvation (vv. 1–8; see also Heb 5:7–9). And in His death, Resurrection and Ascension, He destroyed all the enemies, namely, the devil and his angels (vv. 9–13). So, in response to all the Lord's mighty deeds, the Church sings and praises Him (v. 14).

🕮 Verses 1–6, 14 are used in the Divine Liturgy on Pentecost Sunday, on which the ascended and exalted Lord sent the Church His Holy Spirit.

21 Ps 21 is a prophecy of the Lord's death and Resurrection, and of His Church. Thus, this psalm may be outlined as follows: (1) the Resurrection (v. 1); (2) the Crucifixion (vv. 2–22); (3) the Church (vv. 23–33).

(1) Christ is the End, and He was resurrected early in the morning (v. 1; see also Mk 16:2; Lk 24:1). (2) The New Testament quotes several verses from this psalm in relation to the Crucifixion: for example, v. 2, quoted in Mt 27:46 and Mk 15:34; v. 9, quoted in Mt 27:43; and v. 19, quoted in Mt 27:35. (3) The New Testament also quotes v. 23 in Heb 2:12, referring to the "one, holy, catholic and apostolic Church" (Creed).

🕮 Ps 21 is used throughout Great and Holy Friday, in Orthros, in the First Hour, and in Great Vespers. It is also used in the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross.

22 Ps 22 is the Church speaking about the Lord Jesus (vv. 1–3) and to the Lord Jesus (vv. 4–6). In speaking about the Lord, the Church (the sheep; see also Jn 10:1–5) identifies Him as my shepherd (v. 1; see also Jn 10:14), thus indicating a close relationship with Him. And in this relationship of Shepherd and sheep, the Church lacks nothing, for example, the green pastures of kingdom life (v. 2; see also Jn 10:10); the still waters of baptism (v. 2; see also Jn 3:5); and the conversion of the soul to the paths of righteousness (v. 3; see also Jn 10:3, 4, 7). And in speaking to the Lord, the Church is grateful to Him (1) for deliverance from the fear of death (v. 4; see also Heb 2:14, 15); (2) for the Eucharist (v. 5; see also Lk 22:14–20); and (3) for a lifetime of mercy (v. 6; see also Lk 1:50, 54).

🕮 Ps 22 is used in the service of preparation for Holy Communion, and as the prokeimenon in Vespers for Tuesdays.

23 Ps 23 is a prophecy of the Resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ (the first day of the week, v. 1; see also Mt 28:1; Mk 16:2; Lk 24:1; Jn 20:1).

His Resurrection proves (1) He is the Creator of the world, which He owns (vv. 1, 2); (2) He is worthy to ascend on high as the Forerunner of the Church (vv. 3–6; see also Heb 6:19, 20; 7:26; 9:24); (3) He is the King of glory, who destroyed death and Hades (vv. 7–10; see also Rev 1:18; 4:8–11).

🕮 Verses 7–10 are proclaimed as the priest knocks on the door of the church on Pascha (Easter) morning, signaling our triumphant entrance into the kingdom of heaven through Christ's glorious Resurrection. This same action takes place at the consecration of a church building throughout the Orthodox Christian world. Also, verse 1 is said at the grave of the newly departed faithful, when earth is scattered in the form of a cross over the resting place.

24 Ps 24 is a priestly intercession by the Lord Jesus Christ on behalf of His Church, which is the Israel of God (v. 22; see also Gal 6:16). He identifies Himself as only-begotten and poor (v. 16), for He was the Virgin Mary's only Child, and He was born into poverty. And although He was hated unjustly (v. 19), nevertheless, He established the New Testament (His covenant, vv. 10, 14). So in His New Testament, He intercedes for the Church in prayer, and by lifting up His soul to the Father (v. 1), He also lifts up the Church to Him in priestly intercession (see also Heb 7:25). And because of His intercession, the Church is taught the ways of the Father (vv. 2–21).

🕮 Ps 24 is read in Great Compline and in the Third Hour Prayers.

25 Ps 25 is a priestly intercession of Jesus Christ to the Father at the heavenly altar (v. 6; see also Heb 7:25) on behalf of His churches (v. 12). And since this Priest is innocent (Heb 7:26), He intercedes on behalf of His churches, so they, too, will be innocent through God's merciful redemption (v. 11), as they worship around His altar (vv. 1–11).

🕮 Verses 6–12 are prayed by an Orthodox priest as part of the vesting service as he washes his hands before serving the Divine Liturgy.

26 Ps 26 is a prophecy concerning baptism, which is a declaration of war (v. 3) against the devil and his angels. This war is declared by the Church in the prayers at the reception of catechumens. In this psalm, these fallen angels are called the wicked (v. 2), my enemies (vv. 2, 6, 11), an army (v. 3), and unjust witnesses (v. 12). And in this war, St. Paul describes them as "principalities," "powers," "the rulers of the darkness of this age," "spiritual hosts of wickedness in the heavenly places" (Eph 6:12).

Therefore, in baptism, the Lord Jesus Christ becomes my light, my savior, and my defender in relation to this war (v. 1). And with the Lord's help, these enemies are overcome in battle (weakened and fell, v. 2). So as a result, the fruit borne in the Church is freedom from the fear of death (my heart shall not be afraid, v. 3; see also Heb 2:14, 15); a strong relationship with the Lord (vv. 4–12); and an earnest expectation for the land of the living (vv. 13, 14), which is "the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed).

🕮 Verse 1 is the prokeimenon before the Epistle reading in the Sacrament of Baptism, before the Isaiah readings at the Ninth Royal Hour and Great Vespers on the Eve of Theophany (Epiphany), and before the Epistle reading in the Great Blessing of the Waters. Verses 1–14 are also read as one of the psalms in the First Royal Hour on the Eve of Theophany.

27 Ps 27 is a prophecy concerning the death and Resurrection of the Lord Jesus Christ and the inheritance He won for Himself (v. 9), which is the Church. Thus, in His death on the cross, Jesus destroyed death and Hades (the pit), for He is God the Word, to whom the Father was not silent (v. 1). And on the cross, the Lord's outstretched hands were lifted up toward the Father's holy temple (v. 2), which is the inheritance. Also, His death destroyed the devil and his angels (vv. 3–5). Therefore, blessed is God the Father (v. 6) for raising Christ (His anointed, v. 8) from the dead (my flesh revived, v. 7), and for protecting the salvation of His people (v. 8), and also for shepherding them in this world and resurrecting them into the world to come (forever, v. 9; see also Creed).

🕮 Verse 9 is sung repeatedly in various services of the Church, and it is also woven into numerous hymns.

28 Ps 28 is a prophecy concerning the baptism of Jesus Christ in the Jordan River, celebrated in the services of Theophany (Epiphany). Both words, epiphany and theophany, mean "manifestation" or "revelation," and theophany has the additional meaning, "revelation of God." The God who is revealed in Christ's Baptism is God the Trinity: Father, Son, and Holy Spirit. Thus this event also reveals that Jesus Christ (the Son) is one of the Trinity.

Ps 28 reveals the Father as the voice speaking from heaven at Jesus' Baptism (vv. 3–5, 7–9; see also Mt 3:17; Mk 1:11; Lk 3:22). It also reveals the Son (His beloved, v. 6) and the Holy Spirit (fiery flames, v. 7; see also canticles four and five of Compline in the Forefeast of Theophany).

Unicorns (v. 6) are often symbols of purity.

🕮 Verse 3 is used as the prokeimenon in the following places in the services of Theophany: before the Isaiah readings in the First, Third and Sixth Royal Hours; before the Gospel reading in the Great Blessing of the Waters; after Ps 37 and within the first canon of canticle four in Orthros; and before the Gospel reading in the Divine Liturgy. And in addition to this, vv. 1–11 are read as one of the psalms in the Third Royal Hour.

29 Ps 29 speaks of the Resurrection of Christ, who is the End (v. 1), and together with Him, the resurrection of the Church. Man's dilemma is the death and decay of his body in the grave (v. 10) and the dwelling of his soul in Hades (v. 4). As a result, these enemies rejoiced over him (v. 2), and his life was filled with weeping (v. 6), trouble (v. 8), lamentation and sackcloth (v. 12), and sadness (v. 13). But through Christ's Resurrection (lifted me up, v. 2), (1) the Church will be healed (v. 3), that is, the body will be raised in beauty and power (v. 8) to immortal life forever (vv. 7, 13) at "the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed); (2) the souls of the righteous in Hades were brought out from there at His Resurrection (v. 4); and (3) the Church is filled with praises (vv. 5, 13), thanksgiving (vv. 5, 13), great joy (v. 6), dancing and gladness (v. 12).

🕮 Ps 29 is viewed by numerous early Church Fathers as fulfilled in Christ's Resurrection.

30 Ps 30 is a revelation (ecstasy, vv. 1, 23) of Christ (the End, v. 1) in relation to the extreme humiliation (v. 8) He suffered before the Father on the cross for mankind. For example, v. 6 is quoted by Him as His last words to the Father on the cross just before He died (Lk 23:46). Verses 2–23 describe this humiliation, and vv. 24, 25 emphasize the fruit His humiliation bears in the Church, e.g., love for the Father. And v. 24 also speaks of those who act with great arrogance, that is, who reject the Lord's extreme humiliation with their extreme arrogance.

🕮 Ps 30 is used as one of the psalms in Great Compline.

31 Ps 31 is a prophecy concerning enlightenment (understanding, vv. 1, 8), which is fulfilled in the Sacrament of Baptism. For this sacrament is known as the Sacrament of Enlightenment, in which sins are forgiven (vv. 1, 5). And on the Day of Pentecost, St. Peter urged those listening to "be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the remission of sins" (Acts 2:38). Thus, the Creed also says, "I acknowledge one baptism for the remission of sins."

Verses 1, 2 emphasize the blessings of baptism; vv. 3–7, the responsibility of the one baptized; and vv. 8–11, Christ's response to the faithfulness of the one baptized. This explains why Ps 31 is read when the newly baptized are brought up out of the water and given their white garments.

32 Ps 32 is a prophecy revealing the Trinity as the Creator of the world. The Lord refers to the Father (vv. 1, 2, 4, 5, 6, 8, 10, 11, 12, 13, 18, 20, and 22). The Word of the Lord is the Son of the Father (vv. 4 and 6), and the Holy Spirit is the breath of His mouth (v. 6). Therefore, the Father created the world through His Son and His Spirit, who are His coequals. And v. 9 reveals that the Father spoke and commanded the words in Gn 1, and the Son and the Holy Spirit fulfilled that which was commanded.

Therefore, the saints (righteous ones) worship the Trinity (vv. 1–3) as the Creator of the world (vv. 4–17), and they hope in the Trinity to raise them from the dead in the world to come (vv. 18–22; see also Creed).

🕮 Verse 1 is a communion refrain, sung on days of commemorating great saints of the Church. Also, verse 6 is sung on Pentecost Sunday in glorification of the Trinity. Then too, verse 22 is a favorite Orthodox prayer asking the Trinity for continued mercy.

33 Ps 33 is a prophecy teaching how Holy Communion (v. 9) is to be received in the Church: (1) with a gentle spirit (v. 3); (2) as a sojourner in the world (v. 5); (3) with a poor, broken, and humble spirit (vv. 7, 19); (4) with the fear of God (vv. 8, 10, 12); (5) with hope in the world to come (vv. 9, 23); (6) with clean lips and a peaceful heart (vv. 13–17; see also 1Pt 3:10–12).

🕮 Ps 33 is both historically and liturgically the favorite psalm of the Church to accompany the receiving of Holy Communion. And v. 9 is seen throughout the Church as describing the act of receiving the body and blood of Christ. Also, in present Orthodox practice, Ps 38 is sung, with 33:9 as the refrain, during the receiving of Communion at the Liturgy of the Presanctified Gifts in Great Lent.

34 Ps 34 is a prophecy regarding the Lord's sufferings and death on the cross in Holy Week. For example, v. 11 refers to the false witnesses at the Lord's trial. He endured these things on behalf of and with His Church in mind (My only-begotten, v. 17; the great church and a mighty people, v. 18). And His people greatly rejoice and magnify Him (v. 27) because of what He did for them.

🕮 Ps 34 is prayed in the Third Royal Hour on Great and Holy Friday.

35 Ps 35 reveals the right and wrong uses of free will and the fruits that result in either case. First, it shows that sin or evil is an action of man's free will (says within himself, v. 2; acts deceitfully, lest He discover, v. 3; is unwilling, v. 4; devises, sets himself, and does not abhor, v. 5). Therefore, sin or evil is not a part of human essence or nature, for God created human nature good in itself. Sinning is altogether the wrong use of free will, and the most dangerous wrong use is arrogance, which often comes against the saints (v. 12). But such a wrong use ultimately brings down the lawless (fall there and unable to stand, v. 13).

Second, this psalm reveals the proper use of free will, which is to seek out and hope (v. 8) for God's mercy (vv. 6, 11), His truth (v. 6), His righteousness (vv. 7, 11), and His judgments (v. 7). Also with free will, the upright in heart (v. 11) may be intoxicated by drinking the abundant water (v. 9) that flows from the fountain and by seeing the light which is in light (v. 10). The fountain is the Father, and the Son is the water, the light, and the life that goes forth from this fountain. Those who willingly drink of this water in baptism, and who see this light, partake of life and light (see also Jn 1:4), and also become intoxicated with the Holy Spirit (the fatness, v. 9; see also Jn 7:37–39; Acts 2:13–17; Eph 5:18).

🕮 Verses 10, 11 are used in the Great Doxology, sung at the close of Sunday Orthros, and v. 10 is used repeatedly in the Forefeast of Theophany, identifying Christ as "the river of delight," who was baptized in the Jordan. Also in the Creed, the Son is called "Light of light," a phrase derived from this psalm.

36 Ps 36 shows why the martyrs were willing to die (v. 32): they were "looking for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed). The world to come is the theme throughout this psalm (vv. 3, 9, 11, 18, 22, 27, 28, 29, 34, 39, 40). Prior to their martyrdom, the martyrs lived a godly life in light of the new world (vv. 1, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 11, 16, 19, 21, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 30, 31, 37). Therefore, they are the best examples to encourage God's people to live the Christian life in the same anticipation of the world to come. But the ungodly shall not inherit that world (vv. 2, 9, 10, 12, 13, 14, 15, 17, 20, 22, 28, 34, 35, 36, 38).

🕮 Verses 30, 31 are used in the Church to commemorate St. John the Baptist and other followers of Christ who endured martyrdom.

37 Ps 37 reveals the great love of Christ for mankind in His sufferings and death on the cross, especially v. 18: For I am ready for wounds, and my pain is continually with me. And although He was "separate from sinners" (Heb 7:26) and "knew no sin" (2Co 5:21), yet out of His great compassion for sinners, He prays this prayer in a relative sense as though He were one of them. Thus, He takes the place of sinners as one of them, and intercedes to the Father for their salvation in the midst of His sufferings and death on the cross.

🕮 Ps 37 is the second of the six psalms (3; 37; 62; 87; 102; 142) in Orthros, and v. 18 is the prokeimenon used before the Isaiah reading in the Third Royal Hour on Great and Holy Friday.

38 Ps 38 reminds the Church of its pilgrim status in the present world (a sojourner and a stranger, v. 13; see also 1Pt 1:1). For God's people are "to look for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed). For Christ is the End (v. 1). Meanwhile, (1) the tongue is to be kept from sinning (vv. 2, 3); (2) the heart is to be on fire with meditation on the things of God (v. 4); (3) man, made by God (v. 10), is to grow in divine knowledge, so as not to lack (v. 5) or be deadened (v. 3) by transgressions (vv. 9, 12). Rather, he is to revive before he departs in death (no longer here, v. 14). A handbreadth (v. 6) is an ancient unit of measure of about 4–1/2 inches, here used to show the brief span of our lives.

39 Ps 39 is a prophecy of the Incarnation (vv. 7–9; see also Heb 10:5–7). In His Incarnation, the Lord assumed a mortal body (v. 7) and a rational soul. But here the body is emphasized, because man's body is mortal and subject to death and decay in the grave (a miserable pit, v. 3). So by His death in the body, Christ destroyed death, and by His Resurrection (brought me up and a rock, v. 3), He overcame the decay that held man's body in the grave. He was able to do all this because of the two wills in His one Person. For He willed (v. 9) by His human will and energy. And the phrase Your will (v. 9) shows that He possessed within Himself the same will and energy as God the Father, because He is "one in essence" with Him (Creed). Therefore, by means of His two wills and energies, He destroyed death and decay, and put a new song in the mouth of the Church (v. 4).

40 Ps 40 is a prophecy of Christ (the End) and of His death and Resurrection, which brings healing to the Church (from sickness to wholeness, v. 4, and heal my soul, v. 5). When the Lord Jesus says, for I have sinned against You (v. 5), He is taking our part, although He Himself is sinless (innocence, v. 13; see also Heb 7:25, 26).

Verse 10 speaks of the betrayal by Judas (see also Jn 13:18); vv. 6, 9 of Christ's sufferings and death; and vv. 2, 3, 11–14 of His Resurrection.

🕮 Ps 40 is used liturgically on Great and Holy Thursday and Great and Holy Friday.

41 Ps 41 speaks of Christ (the End, v. 1) and His Baptism in the Jordan (from the land of the Jordan and Hermon, v. 7). His Baptism is celebrated in the Church as the Feast of Theophany. It is celebrated as a festival with great joy and praise (v. 5). His Baptism in the Jordan is our salvation (vv. 6, 12), which produces (1) a longing and thirst for union and communion with God (vv. 2, 3); (2) tears of joy in the midst of suffering (vv. 4–6, 10–12); and (3) enlightenment (understanding, v. 1) concerning the unsearchable riches of Christ (vv. 8, 9; see also Rom 11:33; Eph 3:8).

🕮 Verse 7 is used on all days during the Forefeast of Theophany, and is prayed at the Third Hour on the feast itself.

42 Ps 42 is a prayer of Christ on behalf of His Church for enlightenment in the midst of the ungodly (an unholy nation, v. 1; my enemy afflicts me, v. 2). For He Himself is light and truth (v. 3), who was sent into the world in His Incarnation (see also Jn 8:12; 14:6). Thus He guides (v. 3) the Church to the heavenly holy of holies (the altar of God, v. 4). So this enlightenment puts joy in one's face (v. 5). In hymns of the Church, Your holy mountain and Your tabernacles (v. 3) are seen as referring to the Mother of God and to the saints.

43 Ps 43 describes (1) the daily praise and thanksgiving (v. 9) the Church offers God in the midst of sufferings and persecution (vv. 2–17); the steadfastness of the Church in the midst of sufferings and even martyrdom itself (vv. 18–26; see also Rom 8:36); and (3) the Church's hope in the Lord to be raised from the dead at the general resurrection (v. 27).

🕮 Ps 43 is prayed at the Orthros of Great and Holy Saturday, and v. 27 is sung as the prokeimenon before the reading of Ezekiel's prophecy regarding the dry bones coming to life.

44 Ps 44 is a prophetic description of the Word Incarnate, the Lord Jesus Christ (the End), and His Church, composed of both Jews and Gentiles. The Beloved One is the Word Himself, and His Incarnation brought about changes (things that shall be changed, v. 1). For He established His Church (the peoples), and even changed His enemies into friends (v. 6). Thus, vv. 2–9 describe Him (see also Heb 1:8, 9); and vv. 10–18 describe His Mother, the Mother of God, who is both His queen (v. 10) and His daughter (vv. 11, 14). These verses also describe the Church begotten from her (daughters, v. 10; the daughters of Tyre, v. 13—the Gentiles; the virgins, v. 15; sons, v. 17). Myrrh and stacte (v. 9) are sweet-smelling fragrances or incense. Cassia was used in ancient medicines, a reference to healing.

🕮 Verses 4, 5 are prayed by a priest as he vests for the Divine Liturgy, and v. 10 is recited in honor of the Mother of God as he prepares the holy gifts. Also, v. 18 is quoted in Lk 1:48 as part of the Magnificat, which is also sung in Orthros. Then too, this psalm is prayed in the First Royal Hour on Nativity Eve, and vv. 4, 5, and 8 are sung on the Sunday of the Samaritan Woman (see also Jn 4).

45 Ps 45 is about hidden things concerning the End, who is Christ. These hidden things are "the treasures of wisdom and knowledge in Christ" (Col 2:3), which are now revealed in His Incarnation and made known among the Gentiles (Col 1:26, 27). Here, before His Incarnation, the earth was troubled with fear (vv. 3, 4, 7), which was the fear of death. But after His Incarnation, the Church no longer fears death (v. 3), because His works (v. 9), that is, His death and Resurrection (early in the morning, v. 6), opened up the torrents of the river of God's grace to the Church (v. 5). Thus, hatred (wars) ceased among the Gentiles to the ends of the earth, and the Church was established among them. For stillness in prayer replaced the tumult of hostility between them (vv. 10–12).

🕮 Ps 45 is prayed during the First Royal Hour on Nativity Eve.

46 Ps 46 is a prophecy of Christ (the End) and His ascension to the Father (v. 6). And the Man who ascended is called God (vv. 2, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10), Lord (vv. 3, 6), Most High (v. 3), and King (vv. 3–5, 7, 8–10); therefore, Jesus Christ is coequal with the Father. Also, the ascended Christ is worshiped by the Church both as God and Man (vv. 2, 7, 8), and with joy (rejoicing, v. 2), with fear (fearsome, v. 3) and with intelligence (understanding, v. 8).

🕮 Ps 46 is used in the services of the Feast of Ascension.

47 Ps 47 is a prophecy of the Church as heaven on earth (see also Heb 12:22, 23). In this respect she is described as a city (vv. 2, 3, 4, 9, 14), as Mount Zion (vv. 2, 3, 12, 13), and as a temple (v. 10). And Jesus Christ is called Lord (vv. 2, 9, 12), King (v. 3), and God (vv. 2, 4, 9, 10, 11, 15).

48 Ps 48 is a prophecy that presents a contrast between the children of the body and the children of the kingdom (prayers at the reception of catechumens). Children of the body live under the reign of death and the fear it instills in them; therefore, in an attempt to overcome this fear, they become occupied with objects of the senses, especially wealth and the power it brings with it (v. 7). But their riches cannot redeem their souls and bodies from the grave and decay, and from death and Hades (vv. 8, 9, 11–15, 18–21). Therefore, all peoples should hear this and give ear (vv. 2–5) to the End (v. 1), who is Christ our God. For He became incarnate to ransom mankind from slavery to sense objects and to the reign and fear of death (v. 16). However, by way of contrast, the children of the kingdom are delivered by Him from this slavery (vv. 6, 10, 16).

🕮 Ps 48 is used on feast days of the great fathers of the Church, for they exemplify what it means to be children of the kingdom.

49 Ps 49 is a prophecy of the awesome Second Coming of the Lord Jesus Christ and the Day of Judgment. It is awesome, as emphasized in the phrases beauty's splendor (v. 2), a fire and a mighty storm (v. 3), and it is awesome because heaven and earth will be present (vv. 1, 4). But most of all it will be awesome because Christ's divinity will be fully shown to the universe (openly, v. 2). In contrast to this, at His First Coming, He did not show Himself "openly" but remained hidden by His humility, as for example, He lived in poverty and lowliness. However, the full splendor of His glory will be seen by all at His "coming to judge the living and the dead" (Creed). For He will come as God in the flesh (vv. 1, 2, 3, 6, 7, 14, 16, 22, 23) and judge all, including the Jews (vv. 7–22).

50 Ps 50 teaches the nature of genuine repentance, which is the reason it is used so often in the services of the Church. Historically, King David committed the sins and transgressions of adultery and murder (vv. 1, 2; see also 2Kg 11; 12). However, he obtained mercy from God because of his repentance. Yet many fall into sins but never come to repentance; therefore, no one can use David's sins as an excuse to sin. For sins and transgressions in themselves do not draw down the mercy of God. Genuine repentance, however, does attract His mercy, for He sees it and responds accordingly (v. 3). So genuine repentance is characterized by such things as confession to God (vv. 4–8); inward purity (vv. 12–16); and inward humility (vv. 17–21).

🕮 Ps 50 is used daily in the services of Orthros, the Third Hour, and Compline, and it is also recited in every Divine Liturgy by the priest as he censes before the Great Entrance.

51 Ps 51 reveals who will be in "the world to come" (Creed), which belongs to Christ (the End, v. 1). It is also called the land of the living (v. 7), that is, the land occupied by the resurrected righteous ones (vv. 8–11). And that world is also said to be forever and unto ages of ages (vv. 10, 11). But the unrighteous, such as Doeg, will not be there (vv. 2–7).

52 Ps 52 revolves around two questions, both of which relate to Christ (the End, v. 1). The first question asks: Do all the workers of lawlessness not know? (v. 5), and the second, Who will bring from Zion the salvation of Israel? (v. 7). The answer to the first question is yes, for they willfully reject Christ as God, and therefore are fools (v. 1). But, in answer to the second question, their rejection cannot prevent Him from granting salvation to the Church ("Israel," v. 7; see also Gal 6:16).

53 Ps 53 is a prophecy concerning the betrayal of Christ. For just as the Ziphites betrayed David (see 1Kg 23:15–21), so also Judas and the Jewish leaders betrayed Christ. These leaders are called strangers and the powerful (v. 5). Nevertheless, Christ's sufferings and sacrifice on the cross were voluntary (v. 8), for no one could take His life from Him without His consent (see also Jn 10:18; 18:6). And He thanked the Father (O Lord, v. 8) for His Resurrection (v. 9), to teach us to do the same.

🕮 Ps 53 is prayed daily at the Sixth Hour, the hour of the Crucifixion, and v. 3 is also used as the prokeimenon for Wednesday Vespers.

54 Ps 54, similar to Ps 53, is a prophecy concerning the betrayal of Christ, who is the End. In the midst of His sufferings and betrayal by Judas (vv. 13–15), He prays on behalf of the Church. For within the Church there is suffering and betrayal, sometimes even to death. For example, when He prayed, And the terror of death fell on me (v. 5), He was not saying this because He Himself feared death. Rather, He intercedes for us, for our fear of death fell on Him, that we might not fear it. Therefore, when death fell on Him on the cross, He, in turn, destroyed it once for all by the power of His divinity.

🕮 Ps 54 is prayed daily at the Sixth Hour and, in part, on Great and Holy Thursday and Friday.

55 Ps 55 describes the war between Christ (the End) and the devil (he, v. 2). Christ fought and won this war as a Man on behalf of the Church, and this victory is inscribed like a pillar in the Church's memory (v. 1). Through this inscription, the Church is able to wage a successful war against this same enemy. (This same phrase, pillar inscription, is used to introduce Ps 55–59, in v. 1 of each.) Now this war is not only against the devil but also against his angels (those who war against me from on high, v. 3; see also Eph 6:12). Verses 4–14 tell the Church how to fight the enemy; for example, the faithful will not fear death when facing the enemy (vv. 4, 5, 12, 14).

56 Ps 56 prophesies the death and Resurrection of Christ (the End, v. 1). He did not corrupt (v. 1), that is, His holy body did not decay in the grave (the cave, v. 1; see also Ps 15:8–11; Acts 2:25–32; 13:34–37). Verses 2–12 give the Church the hope of "the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed).

🕮 Verse 6 is prayed by the priest at the end of the Divine Liturgy when he censes the holy gifts after Communion.

57 Ps 57 concerns Christ (the End). It underscores the reality that Christ's holy body did not corrupt in the grave (v. 1). For with His incorrupt body, He destroyed death, the devil, and sin (vv. 2–10). Realizing these things, the Church is glad and bears fruit for God (vv. 11, 12).

58 Ps 58 is also concerning Christ (the End, v. 1). For the Church remembers that Christ's holy body did not decay in the grave (corrupt not, v. 1), and the Father raised Him from the dead (vv. 2, 3, 10, 11, 14, 17, 18). In contrast to the Lord's sinless life, which is the reason He was raised up by the Father (vv. 4, 5), those who work lawlessness are not shown mercy (vv. 6–9, 12–16).

59 Ps 59 is also concerning Christ (the End, v. 1). For the Church remembers the changes (things yet to be changed, v. 1) brought about by the cross (a sign, v. 6), and the teaching (for teaching, v. 1) it brings to the Church. For the Incarnation brought about the mystery hidden before time, namely, that Christ would burn down (he burned, v. 1) the dividing wall between Jew and Gentile (vv. 1–14), and form them into one body (Eph 3).

🕮 Verse 6 is the inspiration for many Orthodox hymns concerning the cross of Christ.

60 Ps 60 reveals Christ (the End, v. 1) as the King (v. 7) and Great High Priest leading the Church in hymns of praise to the Father, and therefore, to the Trinity (see also Heb 2:12, 13).

🕮 Ps 60:6 is prayed as the evening prokeimenon of Sunday Vespers during Great Lent.

61 Ps 61 is a prayer of Christ (the End, v. 1). He is praying this prayer on behalf of the Church, which is His body (congregation of people, v. 9; see also Eph 1:22, 23). He is encouraging His members to be submissive to God (vv. 2, 6), and the psalm gives numerous good reasons to do so.

62 Ps 62 is a prayer of Christ the King (v. 12), instructing His Church in morning prayers. For this world is like the desert of Judea (v. 1), which is desolate, impassable, and waterless (v. 2). And the soul that remembers God during the night on his bed will also learn to meditate on Him in the morning (v. 7). Such a soul will be filled (v. 6) and cannot be injured by the devil and his angels (they, v. 10).

🕮 Ps 62 is the third of the Six Psalms (3; 37; 62; 87; 102; 142) in Orthros.

63 Ps 63 is a prayer of Christ (the End, v. 1), instructing the members of His Church how to wage a good warfare against the devil and the fear of death (fear of the enemy, v. 2) in times of persecution and martyrdom.

🕮 Verse 11 is used in the Church's commemoration of St. John the Baptist and all martyrs.

64 Ps 64 is a prophecy concerning Christ (the End, v. 1) and concerning His Church in relation to the theme of sojourning in this world (the situation of the sojourners, when they were about to depart, v. 1). See 4Kg 24 for the historical background, when Jerusalem was carried away captive to Babylon. These two cities focus attention on the theme of sojourning, for the Church is, so to speak, sojourning in the city of Babylon. Babylon means confusion, as can be seen from Gn 11, for the Church is sojourning in a confused world. But Jerusalem means peace, for the Church is looking for the resurrection from the dead and the life of the world to come (Creed). For peace will inhabit the new world, and this psalm instructs the Church in how to sojourn in anticipation of this world to come.

🕮 Verse 5 is used often in prayers for the departed and for their rest in the new city of peace. Also, verse 12 is incorporated into a hymn in the service of supplication on the first day of the church year, September 1.

65 Ps 65 prophesies the Resurrection of Christ (the End, a psalm of resurrection, v. 1). All the earth is invited to worship the risen Christ (vv. 1–4). All are invited to come and see the works of God (v. 5), which He wrought in abolishing death and rising again from the dead, as typified by the Exodus in Israel's history (v. 6). And His Resurrection demonstrates that He will rule in His power forever (v. 7) over His Church, consisting of both Jews and Gentiles who believe in Him (vv. 7–20).

🕮 Ps 65 forms a unit with 66 and 67, which are used throughout the services of Pascha and Bright Week.

66 Ps 66 prophesies the Resurrection of Christ (the End, v. 1). Verses 3 and 5 in particular emphasize the incorporation of the Gentiles into the Church through the Resurrection.

🕮 Ps 66 forms a unit with 65 and 67, which are used throughout the services of Pascha and Bright Week.

67 Ps 67 prophesies the Resurrection of Christ (the End, v. 1) and His Ascension into heaven (v. 19; see also Eph 4:8). In hymns of the Church, the mountain of God (v. 16) is seen as referring to the Mother of God. Throughout the psalm, the blessings given the Church by the Resurrection are enumerated. For example, Christ trampled death (v. 21) and crushed the satanic hordes of fallen angels (v. 22).

🕮 Ps 67 forms a unit with 65 and 66, which are used throughout the services of Pascha and Bright Week. And vv. 2–4 are sung all through the paschal season with the refrain, Christ is risen from the dead, trampling down death by death, and upon those in the tombs bestowing life.

68 Ps 68 prophesies the Passion of the Lord Jesus Christ (the End, v. 1) and the changes it would bring about (concerning things that shall be changed, v. 1). The changes His Passion would bring are noted throughout the psalm. Examples are: (1) the Church would become a house of prayer for all peoples (v. 10; see also Jn 2:19; Mt 21:13; Mk 11:17; Lk 19:46); (2) the cross would bear our reproaches against God (v. 10; see also Rom 15:3); (3) the cross would destroy death (gall and vinegar, v. 22; see also Mt 27:34, 48; Mk 15:23, 36; Lk 23:36; Jn 19:28–30); and (4) the Jews would be rejected for their unbelief, and the believing Gentiles brought to salvation (vv. 23, 24; Rom 9:9–11).

🕮 Verses 18, 19 are used in the service of Forgiveness Sunday to usher in the season of Great Lent.

69 Ps 69 is a prayer of the Lord Jesus Christ (the End, v. 1). Prayer is the ascent of the heart and mind to God (in remembrance, v. 1). In this ascent, prayer focuses a person on the Lord and His salvation (that the Lord may save me, v. 1). The early Desert Fathers used v. 2 as a text of ceaseless prayer (O God, make haste to help me, v. 2), thereby living out the exhortation of St. Paul in 1Th 5:17 to "pray without ceasing." Also, this prayer, "O God, make haste to help me," is often seen as the precursor to the Jesus Prayer: "O Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on me a sinner." Verses 3–6 show some results of receiving God's help.

🕮 Ps 69 is read in both Little Compline and Great Compline.

70 Ps 70 teaches the Church about deliverance from captivity (taken captive, v. 1) to the devil and his angels (my enemies, v. 10; see also Eph 6:12). For these enemies ensnared mankind in the fear of death and the lifetime of bondage it engendered (see Heb 2:15). But from birth to death, we are delivered by the Lord Jesus Christ from this fear (from birth, v. 6; to old age and to my last breath, v. 18). For we are delivered and set free in His righteousness (v. 2), on which we meditate . . . all the day long v. 24).

71 Ps 71 is a prophecy concerning Solomon, who is Christ Himself, the King of Peace, for the name "Solomon" means "peace." And the Father (God) gave all judgments to Him (v. 1; see also Jn 5:22), and in the world to come (forever and unto ages of ages), all the earth shall be filled with His glory (v. 19).

72 Ps 72 teaches the upright in heart (v. 1) not to be jealous of people who prosper in this life but who have no vision of "the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed). For their vision of life is limited to this present world, and they have no upward gaze of the judgment hanging over them at their death (v. 4). But the upright have a vision of God in their heart (O God of my heart) and of the world to come (forever, v. 26). Therefore, they cling to God and put their hope in the Lord (v. 28).

73 Ps 73 is a prophecy for understanding (v. 1). An understanding of what? That all human history is incarnational in nature. Therefore, human history may be called "the history of the Incarnation of the Word." For this history, from the beginning (v. 2) to the end (vv. 1, 3, 10, 11, 19), speaks of the Word of God Incarnate and His lordship throughout history. And this Incarnate God is our King before the ages (v. 12) and the Creator of the world (You created, v. 16). He worked salvation in the midst of the earth (v. 12) through the cross, and crushed the heads of dragons (vv. 13, 14) at His Baptism. He also arose from the dead (Arise, O God, v. 22).

🕮 Verse 12 is used at the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, and vv. 13–15 on the Eve of Theophany.

74 Ps 74 is a prophecy concerning the Judgment Seat of Christ (the End, v. 1; see also 2Co 5:10, 11). Therefore, all men are commanded not to corrupt (v. 1), that is, do not transgress the law, nor exalt yourselves in sin (v. 5). For God Incarnate is judge (God is judge, v. 8), and the Lord's cup of judgment is in His hand (vv. 8, 9). Then the horns of corrupt men shall be crushed, but those of the righteous man shall be exalted (v. 11). And this man shall greatly rejoice forever in the world to come (v. 10; see also Creed).

75 Ps 75 is a prophecy contrasting two opposing kingdoms. The Assyrian (v. 1) is the devil, who leads his kingdom: the fallen angels (v. 4; see also Col 2:15) and fallen people (vv. 6–9, 13). The End is God Incarnate (vv. 2, 7, 8, 10, 12, 13), who leads His kingdom: the holy angels (vv. 5, 9) and holy people (vv. 3, 10, 11, 12). The final outcome in this battle is obvious: Who shall stand against You? (v. 8).

76 Ps 76 is Christ (the End, v. 1) teaching the importance of using the memory, especially in the day of affliction (v. 3). For one is to remember God (v. 4), the eternal years (v. 6), and the Lord's works (v. 12). Verses 5–21 describe the numerous benefits of this remembrance.

🕮 Verses 14b, 15a are sung as a refrain in Vespers at Pascha, Pentecost, and Nativity.

77 Ps 77 concerns understanding (v. 1). What needs to be understood is that Christ is speaking to His Church (vv. 2, 14; see also Mt 13:34, 35; 1Co 10:4, 14), called children yet to be born (v. 6), His sanctuary . . . founded forever on the earth (v. 69), and His people . . . His inheritance (v. 71). The content of His instruction is the entire psalm itself, an overview of the history of Israel.

78 Ps 78 is a prophecy concerning the suffering and martyrdom (vv. 1–4) that would face the Church in this present age (to the end, v. 5; from generation to generation, v. 13). It also shows the Church's response to all this (vv. 5–12), because the Church knows herself to be the people of God and the sheep of His pasture, and also has her eyes on the world to come (forever and "from generation to generation," v. 13).

79 Ps 79 is a prophecy of the Incarnation and the changes (things that shall be changed, v. 1) that it would bring about. For Christ (the End, v. 1), who sits upon the cherubim (v. 2), will reveal Himself (vv. 2, 3, 4, 8, 20) in the Incarnation for our salvation (v. 3), and establish His vineyard, the Church (vv. 9–17). This vineyard would consist of those who are changed through conversion to Him (vv. 4, 8, 15, 20) and who are saved from the Assyrian (v. 1), who is a wild swine and a solitary wild beast (v. 14)—that is, the devil.

🕮 Verses 15, 16 (Look down from heaven and behold, and visit this vineyard which your right hand planted, and perfect it) are sung by the bishop in the Hierarchical Divine Liturgy, as he blesses his people.

80 Ps 80 is a psalm regarding Christ (the End) and His Church (the winepresses, v. 1). For His Church is the new wine (the new covenant), formed in the Sacrament of Baptism (Mt 9:16, 17; 1Co 12:13). And Israel's deliverance from Egypt (vv. 1–11) is a type of baptism (1Co 10:1, 2). However, after baptism, the Christian is to be careful to walk in God's ways and heed His voice (vv. 12–17).

81 Ps 81 reveals Christ God as present and judging in the midst of His Church (v. 1). This prophecy calls church members gods, which is the same thing as calling them sons of the Most High (vv. 1, 6). For they were made gods and the sons of God by the new birth in baptism. However, these gods are warned by their God to take care of the poor and needy (vv. 2–7). For Christ rose from the dead (v. 8), and "He shall come again with glory to judge the living and the dead" (Creed).

🕮 Ps 81 is sung on Holy Saturday at the Liturgy of St. Basil, and again at Great Vespers, with v. 8 repeated as a refrain after each verse. Verse 6 is also quoted by Christ in Jn 10:34.

82 Ps 82 prophesies that all who hate Christ (v. 3) will also persecute His saints (vv. 4–9; see also Jn 15:18; 2Ti 3:12). Various nations mentioned (vv. 7–9) represent the kinds of persecutors who seek to destroy the Church. Even avowed enemies find a common ground of unity in order to persecute the Church (v. 6). But the Church is taught how to pray in times of persecution (vv. 10–19), and even some of these enemies are converted to the Lord (v. 17).

83 Ps 83 regards Christ (the End) and His Church (the winepresses, v. 1). For His Church is the new wine (the new covenant), formed in the Sacrament of Baptism. And those who keep their baptism (walk in innocence, v. 12) long to see God and the world to come (vv. 2–9). As the Creed says, "I look for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come." For one day in this new world and its life is better than a lifetime (a thousand) in this present fallen world (the tents of sinners, v. 11).

🕮 Ps 83 is read in the Ninth Hour each day, and also at the Feast of the Transfiguration.

84 Ps 84 is a prophecy of the Incarnation (the End, v. 1). His Incarnation (vv. 10–14) gives His holy ones (v. 9) deliverance from captivity (v. 2), the remission of sins (v. 3), deliverance from God's wrath (vv. 4–6), joyous life (v. 7), mercy (v. 8), and peace (v. 9).

🕮 Ps 84 is read at the Ninth Hour each day.

85 Ps 85 reveals the prayerful spirit of a servant of God (vv. 2, 4, 16), for the Lord will incline His ear and hear him (v. 1). This spirit is characterized by humility (v. 1), hope (v. 2), ceaseless prayer (v. 3), a lifting up of the soul to the Lord (v. 4), the glorification of God (vv. 5–10), godly fear (v. 11), and thanksgiving with one's whole heart (vv. 12–17).

🕮 Ps 85 is read each day at the Ninth Hour.

86 Ps 86 is a prophecy regarding the meaning of the Nativity. This connection is found in the Incarnation of the Most High (v. 5) and the City of God (vv. 2, 3). The city's inhabitants, consisting of both Jews and Gentiles, are those who were born again in her (vv. 4–7).

🕮 Verse 5 is used as the prokeimenon before the Isaiah reading at the Ninth Royal Hour on Nativity Eve. Also, the verses of the entire psalm are used as refrains before the Isaiah 11 reading in Great Vespers.

87 Ps 87 is a prophecy concerning Christ (the End) and His death, burial, and Resurrection (v. 14) on man's behalf. The prophecy focuses especially on His burial, for when He was buried, His body was placed in a grave, and His soul descended into Hades (v. 4). Both the grave and Hades are described as the pit (v. 5), the dead (vv. 5, 11), the grave (vv. 6, 12), the lowest pit, the shadow of death (v. 7), darkness, a forgotten land (v. 13), and despair (v. 16). From all this, Christ, in His great love for man, saves all who respond to Him and understand (v. 1) what He did for them.

🕮 Ps 87 is prayed in the Service of Lamentations in Holy Week. It is also one of the six psalms of Orthros. The other five are 3; 37; 62; 102; 142.

88 Ps 88 concerns understanding the Lord's mercy and truth (vv. 2, 3, 6, 9, 15, 25, 29, 34, 50). This mercy and truth is in the new covenant He made with the Church (vv. 4, 6, 29, 35, 40). In His Incarnation, the Lord is called "the seed of David" (see vv. 4, 21, 50; see also Mt 1:1), the Lord God (vv. 7, 8, 9; see also Jn 20:28), the Firstborn of God the Father (vv. 27, 28; see also Heb 1:6), and the King (v. 19; see also 1Ti 6:15). His throne is established in the Church through the works of His Incarnation—for example, through His Transfiguration on Mt. Tabor (vv. 6–19), through His sufferings and death (vv. 39–46), and through His Resurrection (vv. 47–52).

🕮 Verse 13 is sung both in Great Vespers and in the Divine Liturgy of the Feast of the Transfiguration.

89 Ps 89 is a morning prayer (vv. 5, 6, 14) designed to keep one focused on the Lord rather than on this temporal life and its hopelessness (vv. 5–11). For He exists outside time, and is therefore our only refuge (vv. 1, 2). Every morning is an opportunity to return to Him in repentance (Return, you sons of men, v. 3), and He is very patient, because a thousand years in His sight are like yesterday, which passed, and like a watch in the night (v. 4; see also 2Pt 3:8). He is very patient, because He does not will that anyone should perish (2Pt 3:9). Therefore, when we focus on the Lord every morning, we look for His return at the Second Coming (v. 13), and for His mercy, joy, enlightenment, and prosperity throughout each day (vv. 14–17).

90 Ps 90 describes the intensity of spiritual warfare the Church wages against the devil and his angels, both in life and in death. These enemies are called hunters (v. 3), things moving in darkness, mishaps, demons of noonday (v. 6), sinners (v. 8), evils, scourges (v. 10), asps, lions, and dragons (v. 13). They seek to ensnare us with every troubling word (v. 3). These words are like arrows that try to pierce the soul with unnatural fears (v. 5), especially the fear of death. Their numbers are many (a thousand and ten thousand, v. 7).

Success in this warfare is called salvation (v. 16), which comes through God and our hope in Him (My God and I will hope in Him, v. 2). God is called the Most High (vv. 1, 9), the God of heaven (v. 1), and the Lord (vv. 2, 9). He also commands His angels to help us (vv. 11, 12; see also Heb 1:14). His salvation is described as help (v. 1), shelter (vv. 1, 14), protection, refuge (v. 2), freedom (v. 3), overshadowing (v. 4), the shield of truth (v. 4), deliverance (v. 14), glorification (v. 15), and satisfaction (v. 16).

🕮 Ps 90 is read at the Sixth Hour each day, along with 53 and 54. It is also read in Great Compline and in the funeral service.

91 Ps 91 concerns the Sabbath day (v. 1), which speaks of rest. In this psalm, the rest is that of the soul. The Lord offers us this kind of rest (Mt 11:28–30). What then is our part in achieving such rest? Our part is to give thanks day and night for God's mercy and truth (vv. 2, 3), and to greatly rejoice in God's works in both creation and salvation (vv. 4–6). God the Father wrought these works by His two hands (v. 5), that is, by His Son and His Spirit.

But who does not experience such rest of soul? People without discernment (v. 7), who work lawlessness (vv. 9, 10). What are the fruits of a soul at rest? Divine exaltation and rich mercy, especially in old age (v. 11); victory over enemies and evildoers (the devil and his angels, v. 12); and the flourishing, multiplication, blossoming, increasing, and prospering of the virtues of righteousness in one's life as one grows older (vv. 13–15).

🕮 Verses 2, 3, 5 are sung as the First Antiphon (psalm sung responsively) on a regular Sunday.

92 Ps 92 concerns the day before the Sabbath, when the earth was settled (v. 1). The Sabbath is Saturday, the seventh day of creation. The day before this is Friday, the sixth day of creation. On this sixth day, the Holy Trinity created numerous living creatures, but especially man himself ("when the earth was settled," v. 1; see also Gn 1:25–27). God created man in His image and likeness. But man fell away from God, and Ps 92 is about the renewal of this image and likeness. Thus, this psalm is the praise of an ode concerning this renewal (v. 1).

The Lord reigns . . . from of old; . . . from everlasting (vv. 1, 2). In His Incarnation (clothed and girded Himself, v. 1), He prepared His throne in the hearts of the faithful (v. 2). At Pentecost, He sent the Holy Spirit (the rivers, vv. 3, 4; see also Jn 7:37–39) to renew us with the living waters of baptism. In these living waters the saints lift up their voices in praise of the Holy Trinity. They also believe the Lord's testimonies (the Scriptures) and live in holiness, which things are proper to His house, the Church (v. 5).

🕮 At every Great Vespers service (including the Feast of Theophany), v. 1 is sung. Ps 92 is also read in the Ninth Royal Hour of the Feast of Theophany.

93 Ps 93 is a psalm for the fourth day of the week (v. 1), which is Wednesday, the fourth day of creation in Gn 1:14–19. On this day, God created the sun, the moon, and the stars to give light on the earth and to rule over the day and the night. The sun speaks of Christ; the moon, of the Mother of God; and the stars, of the Church (Php 2:15; Rev 12). The light of the sun, the moon, and the stars speaks of the light given the fallen world by Christ through the Mother of God and the Church. This light enlightens the fallen world concerning the eternal kingdom of God.

However, evil people in the fallen world oppose and persecute Christ, the Mother of God, and the Church (vv. 5–7). Throughout Church history, many martyrs have suffered for the faith. Thus, the question arises: "How long, O Lord, will this continue?" (see vv. 3, 4). The answer is, the God of vengeance (v. 1) will bring persecution to an end when He judges the fallen world in righteousness (vv. 8–23; see also Acts 17:31), at which time He will repay their lawlessness to them (v. 23). Meantime, He is patient with people, giving them the opportunity to turn to Christ and the Church in repentance and faith before the Great Day of Judgment (v. 15).

94 Ps 94 is an invitation to worship (come, vv. 1, 2, 6). This worship is called the praise of an ode (v. 1). An ode emphasizes great joy (v. 1), and praise is offered with thanksgiving (v. 2). The object of our worship is the Lord (vv. 1, 3, 6), God (vv. 1, 3, 7), and the King (v. 3). This Lord, God, and King is God the Father. His hand is the Son, who holds the ends of the earth (v. 4) and the people and sheep of the Father's pasture (that is, the Church, v. 7). The Father created the world by His two hands, that is, by the Son and the Holy Spirit (v. 5). Therefore, Ps 94 is an invitation to worship the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit.

But those who refuse this invitation will never find rest for their souls (v. 11; see also Mt 11:27–30; Heb 3; 4). For those who hear this invitation (hear His voice, v. 7) but refuse it are like Israel during their forty-year wanderings in the desert (vv. 8–10). They hardened their hearts in rebellion by their own free will (v. 8), and we are warned not to harden our hearts (v. 8).

🕮 Ps 94 is sung responsively in the Third Antiphon of the Divine Liturgy.

95 Ps 95 is a prophecy about the building of the house after the captivity (v. 1). The house is the Church, which includes the Gentiles (vv. 3, 5, 7, 10). The Gentiles were the captives of the demons (v. 5). The Lord (vv. 1, 2, 4, 5, 7, 8, 9, 10, 13) is the Lord Jesus Christ, who freed the captives. These former captives now worship Him (v. 9), and He will come again to judge the world and its gods in righteousness and truth (v. 13).

This psalm was composed and sung by King David when he placed the ark of God in the tabernacle he set up (1Ch 16). This ark was a type of the Mother of God with Christ in her womb. For the Lord was conceived in her womb at the Annunciation for our salvation (Lk 1). Thus, v. 2b is sung as a refrain in the First and Third Antiphons of the Divine Liturgy at the Feast of the Annunciation, celebrating the freedom of the captives.

96 Ps 96 is a prophecy concerning the restoration of the earth (v. 1), when the Lord Jesus Christ returns to raise the dead and establish the world to come (Creed). Virtually everything in this psalm points to this restoration, which reveals Christ as the all-powerful Lord and universal Ruler over all things (vv. 1, 5, 8, 9). Creation will be restored, the dead will be raised to see His glory, His enemies will be destroyed, and the righteous will rejoice exceedingly (vv. 1–9). In light of this coming restoration, we should love the Lord, hate evil, be glad, and give thanks (vv. 10–12).

97 Ps 97 prophesies the first and second comings of Christ to save both Jews and Gentiles in His Church (vv. 2, 3). This salvation will cause a new song (vv. 1, 4–6) to be sung to the Father (the Lord, v. 1). It would be accomplished through the First Coming of Christ, who is called the Father's right hand and His holy arm (v. 1). He is also called the Father's salvation and righteousness (v. 2), and His mercy and truth (v. 3). At His Second Coming, He will come to judge the world in righteousness and uprightness (vv. 7–9).

🕮 Verses 2 and 3 are sung at the Feast of Christ's Presentation in the Temple, and other portions of the psalm are sung on Palm Sunday. Both feasts emphasize the two comings of Christ.

98 Ps 98 prophesies the enthronement of the Lord Jesus Christ at the Father's right hand to reign over mankind both as God and Man. Man's anger cannot alter this (v. 1). He also reigns over the angels, the highest order of which is the cherubim (v. 1). However, before His enthronement, He humbled Himself in becoming Man and going to the cross (Php 2:8). Now He is highly exalted (vv. 2, 6, 9; see also Php 2:9, 10). Before His Incarnation, He also reigned over Israel as their God (vv. 6–8). Now He is reigning both as God and Man at the Father's right hand, and the Church worships at His footstool (v. 5), which is the cross.

🕮 Thus, this psalm is sung at the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross, and this feast identifies the cross as His footstool.

99 Ps 99 is a psalm of thanksgiving to the Lord Jesus Christ (vv. 1, 4). We thank Him for the privilege to serve Him with gladness and great joy (v. 2). We thank Him that He is our God, and that He created us and made us the sheep of His pasture (v. 3). We thank Him for His goodness, mercy, and truth (v. 5).

This psalm is popular for devotional reading, but has no special liturgical use apart from its place in the weekly psalm cycle.

100 Ps 100 is simply called a psalm by David. It is a morning prayer, and the key to understanding this psalm is the statement, O Lord, I will sing to You of mercy and judgment (v. 1). We need the Lord's mercy and judgment each morning that we might give Him glory all the day. The Lord's mercy is His helping grace, and His judgment is His discernment, the crown of the virtues. We need both to fight against the devil and his angels. These enemies are identified as those who commit transgressions (v. 3), the evil man (v. 4), slanderers (v. 5), arrogant, insatiable, and unjust (vv. 5, 7), and the sinners of the earth (v. 8). We need the Lord's mercy and judgment to slay them each morning (v. 8). We also need the saints (the faithful of the earth, v. 6) to intercede for us.

🕮 This psalm is read daily in the morning at the First Hour, along with Ps 5 and 89.

101 Ps 101 is about a a poor man, when he was depressed and poured out his supplication before the Lord (v. 1). This Man is Jesus, who became poor for our sakes and interceded with the Father for our salvation (see also 2Co 8:9; Heb 5:7). The Lord to whom He prays is the Father (v. 2), and vv. 3–12 describe Jesus' extreme anguish for us (see also Mt 26:38). He also rose again for our salvation, for He is the Lord over death (when You rise up, v. 14). He is the Creator of the world (vv. 26–28; see also Heb 1:10–12), and He also created the Church (vv. 19, 23, 29), composed of Gentiles as well as Jews (v. 16).

🕮 Verse 14 is quoted in the Divine Liturgy on Pascha morning before the reading of the Holy Gospel.

102 Ps 102 begins and ends with, Bless the Lord (vv. 1, 22). Verses 2–14, 19 give us many reasons why the Lord should be blessed, and vv. 15–21 explain who is to bless Him. Man is to bless Him (vv. 15–18), and His angels as well (vv. 20, 21). Man is to bless Him for His covenant (v. 18), and the angels, for the privilege to be His ministers (v. 21).

🕮 This psalm is the fifth of the six Matins psalms (3; 37; 62; 87; 102; 142). It is often used in the First Antiphon of the Divine Liturgy. Verses 20, 21 are also used on days when angels are honored in the Church.

103 Ps 103 opens and closes with, Bless the Lord, O my soul (vv. 1, 35). Everything in between gives many reasons why the Lord is to be blessed. He is to be blessed because He is the lover of man, of angels, and of creation. His care runs through all creation, which is filled with His goodness (v. 28). But the visible creation fell into death and decay (return again to their dust, v. 29); however, He sent forth His Spirit at Pentecost to renew man and creation (v. 30).

🕮 This psalm is the great psalm of Vespers. Because of v. 30, this psalm is also used on the Day of Pentecost.

104—106 Ps 104, 105, and 106 form a trilogy, each with the heading, Alleluia, which means "praise the Lord." This heading emphasizes praising the Lord and giving Him thanks for His works of mercy (104:1–3; 105:1, 2; 106:1, 2). These works are traced in great detail from Abraham on, and are fulfilled in the coming of Christ to save mankind: He sent His word and healed them, and delivered them from their corruptions (106:20). The Father sent His Word, who crushed the gates of bronze and shattered the bars of iron (106:16). He trampled death by His death and Resurrection, bestowing life on those in the tombs (those sitting in the darkness and shadow of death, bound in poverty and fetters, 106:10; He brought them out of darkness and the shadow of death, and broke their chains to pieces, 106:14).

The response of those who are wise and shall keep these things, and shall understand the mercies of the Lord (106:43) is "Alleluia."

107 Ps 107 is a prophecy concerning the ascension and enthronement of Christ at the Father's right hand (Be exalted above the heavens, O God, v. 6; I shall be exalted, v. 8). From this enthronement He is now singing to the Father in the midst of His Church (vv. 2–4).

🕮 Verse 6 is used on Ascension Day, and is also said by the priest after Holy Communion is served.

108 Ps 108 is for the End (v. 1), who is Christ Himself. It speaks of the unbelieving Judas, who betrayed Him to the unbelieving Jews. Judas the son of perdition is lost (Jn 17:12), fulfilling this Scripture. Verse 8 is quoted in Acts 1:20 as referring to Judas, who loved cursing and rejected blessing (v. 17). He cursed Christ and rejected His blessing. This was the ultimate betrayal, described especially in vv. 6–19. But the Father raised His Son from the dead, and He now leads the Church in praise of the Blessed Trinity (vv. 30, 31).

🕮 Ps 108 is prayed at the Third Royal Hour on Great and Holy Friday.

109 Ps 109 is a prophecy concerning the Melchizedek Priesthood of the Lord Jesus Christ, which explains the true meaning of the Nativity. In Gn 14:18–20, Melchizedek is called the king of Salem and priest of the Most High God (see also Heb 7:1). His priesthood was not based on genealogy (Heb 7:3). It was based on himself alone, for no one preceded him in priesthood, nor succeeded him (Heb 7:8). On this basis he was a type of Christ, whose priesthood is based in His endless life, for He rose again from the dead (Heb 7:16).

The Lord [the Father] said to my Lord [Christ], "Sit at My right hand" (v. 1). For Christ is not only Man, but also the Lord God, coequal and one in nature with the Father. For He is begotten from the Father before all time (before the morning star, v. 3), and is therefore His eternal Son (v. 3; see also Creed). He is the Son of David according to the flesh (Mt 1:1), but He is also the Lord of David according to His divinity (see also Mt 22:41–45).

At the Father's right hand, this Melchizedek Priest rules and reigns over all things, including His enemies (vv. 1, 2, 5–7), and leads His Church in heavenly worship of the Blessed Trinity (v. 3).

🕮 Verse 3 is used throughout the services of the Nativity season.

110 Ps 110 has the heading, Alleluia (v. 1), which emphasizes praise and thanksgiving to the Lord with one's whole heart (vv. 1, 3, 10). The Church (the assembly, v. 1) praises and thanks Him for all His works (vv. 2, 3, 6, 7), especially those related to His eternal covenant (vv. 5, 9). The beginning of wisdom is the fear of the Lord because of all His works. Those who practice this fear have a good understanding (v. 10) and therefore will offer continual praise to God.

🕮 Verse 9 is used as a Communion hymn in the Divine Liturgy on Nativity.

111 Ps 111 is another Alleluia or praise psalm (v. 1) that blesses the Lord Jesus Christ and His Church. He is the Man who is blessed. His seed, the generation of the upright, and his house refer to the Church (vv. 2, 3). He gives the gift of his righteousness to the Church (v. 3) and teaches the Church by example how to live in this righteousness (vv. 1, 4, 9). But the sinner, the devil, is angry with Christ and His Church; therefore, the desire of this sinner and the desire of sinners like him shall perish (v. 10).

🕮 This psalm is the most popular song in the Church for use on days of the commemoration of saints. Verses 6b and 7a make up the Communion Hymn for most saints' days.

112 Ps 112 is an Alleluia psalm that continually praises the risen, ascended, and enthroned Lord (vv. 1–3). Verses 4–9 give a series of reasons He is to be praised and blessed: (1) He is high above all the nations, and His glory is above the heavens (v. 4); (2) All created things in heaven and earth are humble compared to Him (vv. 5, 6); (3) He exalts the poor in spirit (vv. 7, 8); and (4) He is establishing His Church and her children (v. 9).

🕮 Verse 2 is sung at the close of the Divine Liturgy.

113 Ps 113 speaks of Israel's history in their exodus from Egypt across the Red Sea and the Jordan River into the promised land (vv. 1–11). The lifeless idols of the nations in this land could neither will nor do anything to stop Israel (vv. 12–16). By contrast, the believers in Israel were those who feared the Lord and hoped in Him (vv. 17–26). Therefore, the history of believing Israel was the history of their salvation.

More importantly, Israel's exodus from Egypt and crossing the Jordan River speak of Christ's Baptism and our subsequent Christian baptism. For Christian baptism is Christ's Baptism. He was baptized in the Jordan River for our sake. He was also the rock from which we drink the waters of salvation (v. 8; see also 1Co 10:1–11).

🕮 This psalm is used in the celebration of the Feast of Theophany, and at other feasts as well.

114 Ps 114 speaks of the person who loves the Lord because the Lord loves him by hearing his prayers (v. 1; see also 1Jn 4:19). The love of God matures in this believer through (1) answers to prayer (vv. 1, 2); (2) deliverance from the fear of death and the dangers of Hades (vv. 3–5); (3) humility and rest in the Lord (vv. 6, 7); and (4) looking for the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come (vv. 8, 9; see also Creed).

🕮 This psalm is used on Palm Sunday with reference to the resurrection of Lazarus the day before. His resurrection forecasts the resurrection of us all.

115 Ps 115 speaks about "the resurrection of the dead and the life of the world to come" (Creed). St. Paul interprets the psalm in this manner in 2Co 4:13–18. The psalmist recognizes the futility of this life (every man is a liar, v. 2). But by the vision (ecstasy, v. 2) of faith, we wait for the resurrection of the dead and our future life in the kingdom of God. Our faith is the reason the death of His holy ones is precious to God (v. 5). The bonds (v. 6) of death are broken apart by our resurrection, and we will offer a sacrifice of praise (v. 7) in the world to come (O Jerusalem, v. 9). By way of foretaste, we now take up the cup of salvation (v. 4) in the Eucharist, and offer it as a sacrifice of praise (v. 7) to God.

🕮 This psalm is one of several Communion hymns in the Eucharist. Verse 5 is sung at the feasts of the Mother of God and of the saints.

116 Ps 116 is the shortest of all the psalms. It is quoted by St. Paul in Rom 15:11 to show that the Gentiles are included in the promises made to Israel (Rom 15:8). It also reveals that our salvation is based in the Lord's mercy and truth. God's mercy rules over those who walk by faith, and His truth is the substance of faith that endures forever (v. 2) in them.

🕮 This psalm is used liturgically each day at Vespers.

117 Ps 117 sets forth the theme, Give thanks to the Lord, for He is good; for His mercy endures forever (vv. 1–4, 29). Verses 5–28 are rich in teaching and give many reasons we are to give thanks to the Lord Jesus Christ for the salvation He provided us through His sufferings, death, and Resurrection (v. 28). The following verses are some of the reasons for thanksgiving: (1) v. 6 (quoted in Heb 13:6) emphasizes deliverance from the fear of man; (2) vv. 22, 23 (quoted in Mt 21:42; Mk 12:10, 11; Lk 20:17; Acts 4:11), show the Lord becoming the Chief Cornerstone of the Church; (3) v. 24 reveals the exceeding joy of the Resurrection; and (4) vv. 25, 26 (quoted in Mt 21:9; Mk 11:9; Lk 19:38) refer to the original Palm Sunday.

🕮 This psalm is rich in the liturgical usage of the Church. For example, v. 24 is sung on Pascha;

vv. 25, 26a are sung on Palm Sunday; and vv. 26, 27a are sung daily at Orthros.

118 Ps 118 is the longest of all the psalms, and its headings are the letters of the Hebrew alphabet. The key to its understanding is vv. 1 and 2, for they explain who are the blessed people. These people are those who are blameless; who walk in the law of the Lord; who search out His testimonies; and who search for Him with their whole heart. The statements describe a dynamic spiritual life and set the stage for progressing through all the truths revealed in vv. 3–176: that with God's help and by continual repentance, a blameless walk with Him is possible. This blameless walk is the way for one to prepare for the day of his death. Christ Himself lived and died this way; and through Him, we who believe are to live and die in this way also.

🕮 This psalm is prayed in its entirety at the Lamentations of Orthros on Great and Holy Saturday, when the Church assembles around the tomb of Christ. Further, this psalm is the core of the Church's funeral service.

119—133 Ps 119—133 are called odes of ascents. These are also known as "graduals." In her services of worship, the Church ascends by degrees to the heavenly holy of holies, for worship is an ascent of the heart and mind to the Holy Trinity in adoration, praise, and thanksgiving. For example, the word Eucharist means thanksgiving. The climax of the Church's ascent is when the celebrating priest says in the Divine Liturgy, "Let us give thanks unto the Lord," in offering up the body and blood of Christ. Historically in Israel, these songs were sung by the faithful as they walked from great distances up to Jerusalem for the Feasts of Passover, Pentecost, and Tabernacles. From this usage, the principal liturgical use in the Church comes as we progress through Lent toward Pascha. For these are the psalms sung each Wednesday and Friday at the Presanctified Liturgy as we make our pilgrimage to the Resurrection of Christ our Passover.

🕮 In addition, Ps 129 is a daily vesperal hymn. Ps 131, a messianic psalm, is used at Nativity and for the feasts of the Mother of God. Verse 11 of this psalm shows that God the Son became Man in her womb.

134; 135 Ps 134 and 135 go together both in content and in use. In the Church, they are called the Polyeleos, or "Many Mercies." Ps 134 is similar in content to Ps 113, rehearsing the salvific history of Israel. Ps 135 is a responsive psalm, with the choir and the people singing antiphonally or alternately; it is an Old Testament "Great Litany."

🕮 These two psalms form the core of Orthros for the great feast days of the Church.

136 Ps 136 was sung in exile in the Old Testament, while Israel was in captivity in Babylon. In the Church, it is prayed by the Christian community as being in exile in this world.

🕮 In this context of exile, it is used in the Orthros service beginning just before Great Lent on the Sunday of the Prodigal Son (the exile returning home), and throughout the Lenten Season in the Matins services.

137 Ps 137 shows worship to be heaven on earth, for the Church sings to the Lord in the presence of angels (v. 1). Heaven and earth are united in Christ; therefore, the Church is heaven on earth. The Church consists of believing Gentiles as well as believing Jews (v. 4), singing and giving thanks with all their heart (v. 1).

🕮 This psalm is used on feast days honoring the angels.

138 Ps 138 is for the End (v. 1), who is Christ. He is God in the flesh, and as Man He descended into Hades (v. 8), trampling death by His death on our behalf. He also arose from the dead (v. 18) that we might be led in the way everlasting (v. 24). Therefore, we do not fear death, for His Holy Spirit is present with us (v. 7), and we are not separated from Him even in death.

138 Verses 13–16 reveal the sanctity of life of an unborn child and explain why, both in ancient Israel and in the Church, aborting a babe in the womb is seen as the sin of murder.

139 Ps 139 is for the End (v. 1), who is Christ. He prayed this prayer during His sufferings and death on behalf of the Church. In so doing, He delivered and rescued us from the evil man and the unjust man (v. 2). This man is the devil, and the unjust men (v. 5) are his angels. We are in a continual war with these fallen angels (v. 8), but our victory of thanksgiving is through the Lord Jesus Christ (v. 14).

🕮 This psalm is the last of the Passion psalms used in the Church. It is sung at the Sixth Royal Hour on Great and Holy Friday.

140; 141 Ps 140 and 141 are the psalms of the evening incense. These two psalms are both sung at Vespers. Ps 141:2 was sung in Israel, and now in the Church, during the offering of incense to God. As Rev 5:8 teaches, incense is the visible sign of the prayers of all God's people. The prophet Malachi foretold its continued use in every place, including in the offering of worship by the Gentiles (Mal 1:11). Incense was brought to Christ as a gift at His birth, and it has been used in the worship of the Church from her very beginning.

142 Ps 142 teaches God's righteousness (vv. 1, 11) in contrast to man's futile efforts to attain righteousness based on the Law (v. 2). For the enemy (v. 3), who is the devil, overcomes my feeble efforts at righteousness (vv. 3–5). But with the gift of God's righteousness through faith, the Holy Spirit guides me in the land of uprightness (v. 10). King David knew God's righteousness through faith, and so do all who walk by faith in our Lord Jesus Christ.

🕮 This psalm is the last of the Six Psalms of Orthros. The other five are 3; 37; 62; 87; 102. Verse 10b is used in the Church at the Feast of Pentecost.

143 Ps 143 describes our war against Goliath the giant (v. 1). Goliath was arrogant and vainglorious against the Lord and Israel; David slew him and cut off his head. This is a picture of our war against the powerful sinful passions, especially arrogance and vainglory, the most destructive of sins. This psalm sets forth arrogance and vainglory in their true light, for the arrogant and vainglorious man is become like vanity, his days like a passing shadow (v. 4), and he speaks empty things (v. 8). But the truly joyous and blessed people are those who bless the Lord with a humble spirit (vv. 1, 15). And the Father sent forth His Hand [the Son] from on high to deliver us from the great waters of arrogance and vainglory that destroy the soul (v. 7).

144 Ps 144 describes the Church's blessing and exaltation of the Lord Jesus Christ (vv. 1–3). The Church (generation and generation, v. 4; and His kingdom of all the ages, v. 13) blesses and exalts the Son of God for all His works in the Incarnation and the power of his deeds (vv. 4, 5, 6, 9, 11, 13, 17). We fear and love Him for all His works on our behalf (vv. 19, 20). We bless His name every day and will bless and exalt Him into the world to come (vv. 1, 2, 13, 21).

145 Ps 145 praises the Lord, the Creator, for His eternal reign in the Church (vv. 1, 2, 6, 10). For He is our helper, our hope, our freedom, our restorer, our wisdom, and our keeper (vv. 5, 7–9). No earthly rulers can provide these things, for death overtakes them (vv. 3, 4).

🕮 In many Orthodox churches, this is the ordinary Second Antiphon (psalm sung responsively) in the Divine Liturgy.

146 Ps 146 describes a psalm as a good thing and as something sweet to God the Father (v. 1). This is true because He is building Jerusalem (v. 2), which is the Church. He is doing this through His Son, whom He sent to renew His people and His creatures (vv. 2–11). For example, through the sacraments of the Church, He heals the brokenhearted, and He binds up all their wounds (v. 3). He is pleased with those who fear Him, and with those who hope in His mercy (v. 11).

147 Ps 147 exhorts the Church (O Jerusalem and O Zion, v. 1) to praise God the Father for sending His Son to earth (vv. 4, 7). His wind is the Holy Spirit, and from Him the waters shall flow (v. 7). Thus, the Church glorifies the Blessed Trinity in her worship.

148—150 Ps 148—150 are called "the Praises," and they form the conclusion to the Psalter. These three psalms exhort all creation to praise the Blessed and Holy Trinity. The climax of the Psalter is reached in Ps 150, where humanity and creation, everywhere and in all circumstances, are called upon to make this doxology to the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, our one God.

🕮 These psalms are sung every morning in the Church as the Praises of Orthros.

151 Ps 151 is outside the number of the Psalter, but written with David's own hand (v. 1). It concerns the slaying of the giant Goliath. Historically, David slew him as recorded in 1Kg 17. He slew him through humility (I was small, v. 1) and through the Lord (v. 3).

From a spiritual standpoint, Goliath stands for the sinful passions of arrogance and vainglory (see also Ps 143). Thus, with the Lord's help, we slay these giants with humility.

The Book of Job

Author

An unknown and gifted ancient who had inspiration and knowledge that only God could reveal to him. The authorship is attributed to an Israelite because of the repeated use of God's covenant name: YHWH. As transliterated from the Hebrew, it is commonly rendered, "Yahweh."

Date

There is some evidence that the life of Job was much earlier than the actual writing of the book. He is thought to have lived during the time of the patriarchs—Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob—approximately 1600 BC.

Major Theme

The justice of God in light of human suffering. The major theme of the Book of Job is the profound theological problem of how the suffering of a just man relates to God in the midst of his testing. The theme of theodicy is explored throughout the book, with Job's friends attempting to provide the explanation for his suffering. The character of Job is a type of Christ who suffers unjustly and is rewarded for his godliness.

Background

Although this book is considered a Wisdom book, it is written as a poetic dialogue in a prose-narrative literary style. It is the longest ancient Hebrew poem that has ever been known to be composed. There was much difficulty throughout history with the various translations of this book because of the unusual language and style.

The Septuagint (Greek) translation is four hundred lines shorter than the accepted Hebrew text, perhaps because sections were omitted that were not understood. The ancient Syriac (Peshitta), Aramaic (Targum), and Latin (Vulgate) had similar translation difficulties.

In the Church, Job's words have been given a unique place at the end of the Divine Liturgy: "Blessed be the name of the Lord" (1:21).

Outline

I. Prologue (1:1–2:18)

A. Job's blessings (1:1–5)

A. Job's lament (3:1–26)
B. First cycle of speeches (4:1–14:22)
C. Second cycle of speeches (15:1–21:34)
D. Third cycle of speeches (22:1–26:14)
E. Job's closing discourse (27:1–23)
III. Interlude on Wisdom (28:1–28)
IV. Monologues (29:1–42:6)
A. Job's cry for vindication (29:1–31:40)
B. Elihu's speeches (32:1–37:24)
C. Discourses between God and Job (38:1–42:6)
V. Epilogue (42:7–22)
A. God's verdict (42:7–9)
B. Job's restoration (42:10–22)

Job 1

Faithful Job and His Children

[1]There was a man in the land of Ausitis whose name was Job. That man was true, blameless, righteous, and God-fearing, and he abstained from every evil thing. [2]Now he had seven sons and three daughters, [3]and his cattle consisted of seven thousand sheep, three thousand camels, five hundred yoke of oxen, and five hundred female donkeys in the pastures. Moreover he possessed a very large number of house servants. His works were also great on the earth, and that man was the most noble of all the men of the East.

[4]His sons would visit one another and prepare a banquet every day, and invite their three sisters to eat and drink with them. [5]When the days of their drinking were ended, Job sent and purified them; and he rose early in the morning and offered sacrifices for them according to their number, as well as one calf for the sins of their souls. For Job said, “Lest my sons consider evil things in their mind against God.” Therefore Job did this continually.

Satan Is Permitted to Test Job

[6]Then as it so happened one day that behold, the angels of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and the devil also came with them. [7]The Lord said to the devil, “Where did you come from?” So the devil answered the Lord and said, “I came here after going about the earth and walking around under heaven.” [8]Then the Lord said to him, “Have you yet considered my servant Job, since there is none like him on the earth: a blameless, true, and God-fearing man, and one who abstains from every evil thing?” [9]So the devil answered and said before the Lord, “Does Job worship the Lord for no reason? [10]Have You not made a hedge around him, around his household, and around all that he has on every side? You have blessed the work of his hands, and his cattle have increased in the land. [11]But stretch out Your hand and touch all he has, and see if he will bless You to Your face.” [12]Then the Lord said to the devil, “Behold, whatever he has I give into your hand; but do not touch him.” Thus the devil went out from the Lord.

Job Loses His Children and Property

[13]Now there was a day when Job’s sons and daughters were drinking wine in the house of their elder brother, 14and behold, a messenger came to Job and said, “The yokes of oxen were plowing, and the female donkeys were feeding beside them. 15Then raiders came and took them captive and killed the servants with the sword; and I alone have escaped to tell you!” 16While he was still speaking, another messenger came and said to Job, “Fire fell from heaven and burned up the sheep, and likewise consumed the shepherds; and I alone have escaped to tell you!” 17While he was still speaking, another messenger came and said, “Horsemen formed three bands against us, surrounded the camels, took them captive, and killed the servants with the sword. I alone have escaped to tell you!” 18While he was still speaking, another messenger came and said, “Your sons and daughters were eating and drinking wine with their elder brother, 19and suddenly a great wind came from the desert and struck the four corners of the house; and it fell on your children, and they died; and I alone have escaped to tell you!”

20Then Job arose, tore his robe, and shaved off the hair of his head; and he fell to the ground and worshiped, saying, 21“Naked I came from my mother’s womb, and naked shall I return. The Lord gave, and the Lord has taken away. As it seemed good to the Lord, so also it came to pass. Blessed be the name of the Lord.”

22In all these things that happened, Job did not sin against the Lord or charge God with folly.

Job 2

Job Loses His Health

1Then again as it so happened another day, the angels of God came to present themselves before the Lord, and the devil also came among them to present himself before the Lord. 2The Lord said to the devil, “Where did you come from?” Then the devil said before the Lord, “I came here from walking around under heaven and going about all the earth.” 3Then the Lord said to the devil, “Have you considered my servant Job, since there is none like him on the earth: an innocent, true, blameless, and God-fearing man, and one who abstains from every evil thing? Moreover he still holds fast to his integrity, though you told me to destroy his possessions without cause.”

4Then the devil answered the Lord and said, “Skin for skin. Whatever a man has he will pay in full for his life. 5Yet truly, stretch out Your hand and touch his bones and his flesh, and see if he will bless You to Your face." [6]So the Lord said to the devil, "Behold, I give him over to you; only spare his life." [7]Thus the devil went out from the Lord and struck Job with malignant sores from head to foot. [8]So he took a potsherd to scrape away the discharge and sat on a dunghill outside the city.

[9]When a period of time passed, his wife said to him, "How long will you hold out, saying, [10]'Behold, I will wait a little longer, looking for the hope of my salvation'? [11]Listen, your memory is wiped out from the earth: your sons and daughters, the pangs and pains of my womb, which I suffered in vain and with hardships. [12]You yourself are sitting down, spending the nights in the open air among the rottenness of worms; [13]and I go about as a wanderer and a handmaid from place to place and from house to house, waiting for the setting of the sun, so as to rest from my labors and pains that now beset me. [14]But say a word against the Lord and die!" [15]Then Job looked at her and said, "You have spoken as one of the foolish women speaks. If we accepted good things from the Lord's hand, shall we not endure evil things?" In all these things that happened to him, Job did not sin with his lips against God.

Job's Friends Visit Him

[16]Now when Job's three friends heard of all the evil things that had come upon him, each one came to him from his own place—Eliphaz the Temanite king, Bildad the Shuhite ruler, and Zophar the Naamathite king. For they came to him with one accord: to visit and comfort him. [17]Now when they saw him from a distance, they did not recognize him; and they cried with a loud voice and wept. Each one tore his robe and sprinkled dust on his head. [18]So they sat down with him on the ground seven days and seven nights, and no one spoke to him, for they saw that his affliction was terrible and very great.

Job 3

Job Curses His Day of Birth

[1]After this, Job opened his mouth [2]and cursed his day, saying:

[3]"May the day perish on which I was born,
And the night in which they said, 'Behold, a male child.'
[4]May that day be darkness,

And may the Lord not regard it from above;
Nor may the light come upon it.
5 May darkness and the shadow of death seize it;
May a cloud settle on it.
6 May that day and night be cursed;
May darkness carry it away;
May it not come into the days of the year;
May it not be numbered with the days of the month.
7 But may that night be sorrow,
And may no gladness come upon it, nor joy.
8 But may he who curses that day curse it,
Even he who is about to subdue the great sea-monster.
9 May the stars of that night be darkened,
And may it remain dark.
May it not come into the light,
And may it not see the morning star arise;
10 Because it did not shut up the doors of my mother's womb,
For it would have removed sorrow from my eyes.
11 Why did I not die in the womb?
Why did I not perish immediately when I came from the womb?
12 Why did the knees receive me,
And why did I nurse the breasts?
13 For now I would have been lying down and quiet;
I would have slept and been at rest
14 With kings and counselors of the earth
Who were insolent with their swords,
15 Or with rulers who had abundant gold
And filled their houses with silver;
16 Or I would have been like an untimely birth
Proceeding from his mother's womb,
Or like infants who never saw the light.
17 There the ungodly have burnt out the fury of wrath;
There the weary in body are at rest.
18 There men of ancient times have ceased together
To hear the voice of those who collect taxes.
19 The small and great are there,

And the servant who feared his master.
20 Why is light given to those in bitterness,
And life to souls in pain,
21 Who long for death, but do not obtain it,
Digging for it like treasures,
22 And would be very joyful if they could obtain it?
23 Death is a rest to such a man,
For God is against him.
24 For groaning comes before my food;
And I weep and am oppressed with terror.
25 For the terror I was concerned about came to me,
And what I feared happened to me;
26 Neither was I at peace or quiet, nor at rest,
For wrath came upon me."

Job 4

Eliphaz Accuses Job

1 Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2 "Have you been often spoken to in distress?
But now who shall endure the force of your words?
3 For though you instructed many,
And strengthened the hands of the weak one,
4 And raised up the sick with your words,
And imparted courage to feeble knees,
5 Yet now pain has come upon you and touched you;
And you are anxious.
6 Is not your fear, your hope,
And the integrity of your way of life changed into folly?
7 Can you remember anyone pure who has perished,
Or true people who were altogether uprooted?
8 According to what I have seen,
those who plow harmful things and those who sow them
Will reap pain for themselves.
9 They will perish by the command of the Lord,

And they will be destroyed by the breath of His wrath.
10The strength of the lion, the voice of the lioness,
And the exulting cry of dragons are extinguished.
11The old lion has perished for lack of prey,
And the cubs of the lioness have left one another.

12"But if there had been any truth in your words,
None of these evils would have befallen you.
Shall not my ear receive extraordinary things from him?
13But just as when terror falls upon men
With dread at a noise in the night,
14Shivering and trembling befell me
And caused my bones to shake.
15Then a spirit came before my face,
And my hair and flesh shook with fear.
16I arose, but could not recognize it.
I looked, and there was no form before my eyes,
But rather a gentle breeze, and a voice, saying,

17'What? Shall a mortal man be pure in the Lord's sight,
Or blameless before Him in his works?
18If He puts no trust in His servants,
And if He observes a perverse way in His angels,
19How much more those who dwell in houses of clay,
Of whom we also are formed of the same clay?
Does not He smite them like a moth?
20They no longer exist from morning till evening;
They have perished, for they cannot help themselves.
21For He blows upon them, and they are withered.
They have perished for lack of wisdom.'

Job 5

Blessed Is He Whom God Has Reproved

1"But call out, if there is anyone who will obey you,
Or if you shall see any of the holy angels.

[2]For wrath destroys a foolish man,
And envy slays one who is deceived.
[3]I have seen foolish people taking root,
But suddenly their mode of life consumed them.
[4]May their children be far from salvation,
May they be derided at the gates of worse people,
And may there be no one to deliver them.
[5]For the righteous will eat what they have gathered,
But they themselves will not be delivered from calamities.
Their strength will be exhausted.
[6]For trouble does not come from the earth,
Nor does suffering spring from the mountains;
[7]Yet man is born for trouble
As the young bird is born to fly to high places.
[8]But surely as for me, I will beseech the Lord,
And call upon the Lord and Master of all,
[9]Who does great, incomprehensible,
And marvelous things without number.
[10]He causes rain on the earth
And sends water on all the places under the heaven.
[11]He sets the lowly on high
And raises up the lost.
[12]He frustrates the counsels of the crafty
So their hands cannot carry out their plans.
[13]He catches the wise in their craftiness
And subverts the counsel of the cunning.
[14]Let them encounter darkness in the daytime,
And may they grope at noontime as though it were night.
[15]May they perish in war,
But may the weak escape from the hand of the mighty.
[16]May the weak have hope,
And may the mouth of the unrighteous be stopped.

[17]"But blessed is the man whom God corrects;
Therefore, do not reject the chastening of the Almighty.
[18]For He causes a man to be in pain,
But He restores him again.

He smites, but His hands heal.
19 Six times He shall deliver you out of troubles,
And in seven no harm shall touch you.
20 In famine He shall deliver you from death,
And in war He shall free you from the power of the sword.
21 He shall hide you from the scourge of the tongue,
And you shall not be afraid of evils when they come.
22 You shall laugh at the unrighteous and the lawless,
And you shall not be afraid of the wild animals of the earth.
23 For the wild animals of the field shall be at peace with you.
24 Then you shall know your house will be at peace with you;
And in your dwelling place there shall be nothing amiss.
25 You shall also know your seed shall be many,
And your children shall be like the grass of the earth.
26 You shall come to the grave as grain reaped in its season,
Or as a heap of threshed wheat harvested at the proper time.
27 Behold, we have searched this out;
This is what we have heard.
Know for yourself if you have done anything wrong."

Job 6

Mercy Has Rejected Me

1 But Job answered and said:

2 "I wish there were someone who would weigh the wrath upon me,
And at the same time lift up my griefs on a scale.
3 For indeed they would be heavier than the sand of the seashore;
But as it seems, my words are worthless.
4 For the arrows of the Lord are in my body,
Whose anger drinks my blood;
For when I begin to speak, they pierce me.
5 What then? Will the wild donkey bray for no reason
If he is not seeking food?

Or will the ox moo at the manger when it has fodder?
6Will bread be eaten without salt?
Or is there any taste in empty words?
7My soul cannot stop groaning,
For I see my food to be like the smell of a lion.

8"Would that my request would come about,
And the Lord would grant my hope.
9Let the Lord begin and wound me,
But let Him not utterly destroy me.
10May the grave be my city upon the walls which I have leaped.
I will not turn away from it,
For I have not lied about the holy words of my God.
11What strength do I have, that I should continue?
For how long would my soul endure?
12Is my strength the strength of stones?
Or is my flesh made of bronze?
13Or have I not trusted in Him?
But help is far from me.

14"Mercy has rejected me;
And the visitation of the Lord has disregarded me.
15My relatives pay no attention to me.
They pass me by like a wave,
Or as though I were a failing brook.
16Those who once reverenced me
Now look upon me like snow or frozen ice.
17For when it melts at the approach of the heat,
It is no longer recognized for what it was.
18Thus I have been forsaken by all,
But I am also lost and homeless.
19Look at the ways of Temanites,
You who mark the paths of Sabeans.
20Those who put their trust in cities and wealth
Will be debtors to shame.
21But you have also come to me without mercy,
That seeing my wound you were afraid.

22 What? Have I ever made any demand of you?
Or do I need your strength
23 To deliver me from enemies,
Or to rescue me from the hand of the mighty?

24 "Teach me, and I will keep quiet.
Tell me wherein I have erred.
25 But as it seems, the words of a true man are worthless,
For I do not ask strength of you.
26 Neither will your rebuke cause me to cease my words,
Nor will I endure the sound of your word.
27 Nevertheless you attack the orphan,
And you jump on your friend.
28 Now therefore, after I looked on your faces, I will not lie.
29 Sit down now, and may there be no wrongdoing;
And come together again with a righteous man.
30 There is no wrongdoing on my tongue,
Or does not my throat cultivate understanding?

Job 7

My Life Is Vain

1 "Is not the life of a man on earth an ordeal?
Is not his life also like the life of a hired man working by the day,
2 Or like a servant who fears his master,
Or like one who grasps for a shadow,
Or like a hired man who eagerly looks for his wages?
3 So I have been enduring months of futility,
And agonizing nights have been appointed for me.
4 When I lie down, I say, 'When will it be day?'
When I arise, I say, 'When will it be evening?'
I am full of pains from evening to morning.
5 My body is covered with loathsome worms,
And I am wasting away
As I scrape off clods of dust from my eruption.

6 “My life is lighter than speech
And perishes with an empty hope.
7 Remember then, my life is a breath,
And my eye will no longer return to see good.
8 The eye of him who sees me will not see me again;
Your eyes are on me, I am no more.
9 I am like the cloud that cleared away from the sky,
For if a man goes down to Hades, he shall not come up again.
10 He shall not return to his own house,
Nor shall his place know him anymore.

11 “Now then, neither will I restrain my mouth.
I will speak by necessity,
Because I will disclose the bitterness of my soul
When I am oppressed.
12 Am I a sea, or a serpent,
That You set a guard over me?
13 I said, ‘My bed will comfort me,
And on my couch I will counsel privately with myself.’
14 You scare me with dreams and terrify me with visions.
15 You will separate life from my spirit,
Yet keep my bones from death.
16 For I will not live forever, that I should patiently endure.
Let me alone, for my life is vain.

17 “What is man, that You should exalt him,
Or that You should set Your heart on him,
18 Or that You should visit him every morning
And judge him till the time of rest?
19 How long will You neither let me alone,
Nor let me go until I swallow my saliva in grief?
20 If I have sinned, what can I do to You,
O You who understand the heart of men?
Why have You set me as Your accuser?
Why am I a burden to You?
21 Why then have You not forgotten my lawlessness
And purged my sin?
But now I will depart into the earth,

And in the morning I will no longer be here.” Life after Death

Job 8

Bildad: The Ungodly Will Perish

1 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 “How long will you speak these things,
And the breath of your mouth be filled with words?
3 Will the Lord do wrong when He judges,
Or will He who made all things trouble righteousness?
4 If your sons sinned against Him,
He sent them away because of their lawlessness.
5 But come early in the morning
And make your supplication to the Lord Almighty.
6 If you are pure and true, He will hear your supplication
And restore to you the dwelling of the righteous.
7 Though your beginning shall be small,
Your latter end will be abundantly great.
8 For inquire about the former generation
And search among the race of our fathers;
9 For we are of yesterday and know nothing,
Because our life on earth is a shadow.
10 Will they not teach you and proclaim to you,
And bring forth words from their heart?

11 “Can the papyrus bloom without water,
Or can the reeds flourish without moisture?
12 While it is still on the root and not yet harvested,
Does not any vegetation wither before it receives moisture?
13 So shall be the end of all who forget the Lord,
For the hope of the ungodly shall perish.
14 For his house shall be without inhabitants,
And his tent shall turn out to be a spider’s web.
15 If he props up his house, it will not stand,
And when he takes hold of it, it will not endure.

16For it is moist under the sun,
And his branch shall come forth out of his rottenness.
17He shall lie down upon a pile of rocks
And shall live in the midst of flints.
18If he is swallowed up, his place shall deny him.
You have not seen such things,

19"That such is the destruction of the ungodly,
And out of the earth another will grow up again.
20For the Lord will not cast off the innocent,
Nor will He accept any gift of an ungodly man.
21He will fill the mouth of the true with laughter
And their lips with thanksgiving.
22But their enemies will be clothed with shame,
And the dwelling of an ungodly man will be no more."

Job 9

Job Has No Mediator

1Then Job answered and said:

2"I know that is true,
But how can a mortal man be righteous before the Lord?
3If he should wish to enter into judgment with Him,
The Lord would not listen to him,
For he could not answer to one out of a thousand of His charges.
4He is wise in mind and mighty and great.
Who has hardened himself against Him and endured?
5He who makes the mountains old, and men do not know it;
He who overturns them in His wrath;
6He who shakes the earth under heaven from its foundations,
And its pillars tremble;
7He who commands the sun, and it does not rise;
He who seals off the stars;
8He who alone stretches out heaven;

He who walks on the sea as on firm ground;
9 He who makes Pleiades, Hesperus, and Arcturus,
And the chambers of the south;
10 He who does great and unsearchable things,
Glorious and marvelous things without number.
11 If He goes beyond me, I do not see Him;
If He passes by me, I do not perceive Him;
12 If He takes away, who can turn Him back?
Who can say to Him, 'What have You done?'
13 For if He turns away His wrath,
The great sea creatures under heaven lie prostrate beneath Him.

14 "Would then that He would hear me, or judge my words.
15 For though I be righteous, He will not listen to me.
I will entreat His judgment.
16 If I should call, and He hears me,
I would not believe He is listening to me.
17 Let Him not destroy me with darkness,
But He has caused my great destruction to no purpose.
18 For He will not allow me to draw breath,
But has filled me with bitterness.
19 For if He is strong in power,
Who then can resist His judgment?
20 For though I were righteous, my mouth will be impious;
And though I were blameless, I will be perverse.

21 "If I am ungodly, I do not know it in my soul,
But my life is taken away.
22 Therefore I said, 'Wrath destroys the great and the mighty.'
23 The wrongdoers die violently,
But the righteous are laughed to scorn.
24 For they are delivered into the hands of the ungodly man.
He covers the faces of the judges of the earth.
If it is not He, who else could it be?

25 "Now my life passes swifter than a runner;
My days have fled away, and they do not see it.

26 Do the ships leave a mark of their path?
Or does a flying eagle leave a trace of its soaring as it seeks its prey?
27 If I say, ‘I will forget to speak,’
I will bow down my face and groan.
28 I shake with fear in all my limbs;
I know You will not leave me as innocent.
29 But since I am ungodly, why have I not died?
30 If I should wash myself with snow
And cleanse myself with pure hands,
31 You have fully immersed me in filth,
And my garment detests me.

32 “For You are not a man, as I am,
With whom I could contend,
That we should go to judgment together.
33 Would that we had a mediator who would cross-examine
And hear the case between us.
34 Let Him remove the rod from me,
And do not let the fear of Him distress me.
35 Then I will not be afraid, but will speak,
For I am not conscious of any guilt.

Job 10

Lord, Why Have You Judged Me?

1 “Since I am weary and groaning in my soul,
I will let loose my words to Him.
Because I am distressed,
I will speak in the bitterness of my soul.
2 I will say to the Lord, ‘Do not teach me to be ungodly.
Why have You thus judged me?
3 Is it good before You if I do wrong,
And that You renounce the work of Your hands,
And give heed to the counsel of the ungodly?
4 Do You see as the mortal sees?

Do You see as man sees?
5Is Your life human life?
Are Your years like the years of a man,
6That You examined my lawlessness
And searched out my sins?
7You know I have not acted impiously,
But who is he who can deliver from Your hands?

8‘Your hands fashioned and made me;
Then You changed Your mind and struck me.
9Remember that You fashioned me as clay,
But You are turning me back to earth again.
10Did You not squeeze me out like milk
And curdle me like cheese?
11You clothed me with skin and flesh,
And knit me together with bones and sinews.
12You granted me life and mercy,
And Your visitation has guarded my spirit.

13‘Since You have these things in Yourself,
I know You are able to do all things;
For nothing is impossible for You.
14For if I sin, You watch me;
And because of my lawlessness
You will not consider me innocent.
15For if I am ungodly, woe to me,
And if I am righteous, I cannot lift up my head;
For I am full of dishonor.
16I am trapped like a lion for slaughter;
For again You have changed, and You are destroying me.
17You renewed my affliction upon me,
And dealt with me in great wrath;
For You brought severe ordeals upon me.

18‘Why then did You bring me out of the womb?
Why did I not die, and no eye see me?
19Why have I become as though I had not been?
For why was I not carried from the womb to the grave?

20 Is not the time of my life short?
Allow me to rest a little
21 Before I go to the place from which I shall not return,
To an obscure and dark land,
22 To a land of eternal darkness, where there is no light,
Neither can any one see the life of mortals.' "

Job 11

Job Rebuked by Zophar

1 Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2 "He who speaks much should also listen in turn,
Or does the fluent speaker think himself to be righteous?
Blessed is the short-lived offspring of a woman.
3 Do not be wordy in your speech,
For there is no one to reply to you.
4 Do not say, 'I am pure in my works
And blameless before Him.'
5 But how does the Lord speak to you?
He will open His lips against you.
6 Then He will declare to you the power of wisdom,
For it shall be double in your case.
At that time you will know a worthy recompense
Has come to you from the Lord because of your sins.
7 Will you find the traces of the Lord?
Have you reached the outer extremities
Of what the Almighty has made?
8 Heaven is high, and what will you do?
And what do you know,
For there are even deeper things in Hades?
9 Do you know those dimensions
That are longer than the earth and broader than the sea?
10 If He should overthrow everything,
Who then will say to Him, 'What have You done?'
11 For He knows the works of the lawless;

And when He sees wrongs, He shall not overlook them.
12But man vainly swims in words,
And a mortal born of a woman is equal to a donkey in the desert.
13If you have made your heart pure
And stretch out your hands toward Him,
14If something lawless is done by your hands,
Put it far away from you;
And do not let any wrongdoing lodge in your dwelling.
15For in this way, your face will shine forth like pure water,
For you will cleanse away the filth. You will not fear.
16Then you will forget this hardship
Like a wave that has passed away;
And you will not be terrified.
17Your prayer will be like the morning star.
At midday, life will rise to you.
18You will be confident because you have hope;
And peace shall bring light to you out of anxiety and care.
19You will also be at rest,
And there will be no one to fight against you.
Many will change their mind about you and supplicate you.
20But salvation will forsake them, for their hope will be lost,
And the eyes of the ungodly will melt away."

Job 12

Job Chides His Critics

1Then Job answered and said:

2"Moreover you are men.
Surely wisdom will die with you?
3But I also have a heart as well as you.

4"A righteous and blameless man
Has become an object of mockery.
5For it had been ordained that he should fall

Under the power of others at the appointed time,
And his houses should be plundered by the lawless.
6Let not, however, any one be persuaded
That, if he is evil, he will be held innocent.
Let not those who provoke the Lord
Be persuaded there will be no trial for them.

7"But now ask the four-footed animals if they may speak to you,
And the birds of the air if they may report it to you.
8Tell the earth if it may interpret it to you,
And the fish of the sea will explain to you.
9Who among all these does not know
The hand of the Lord created them,
10That in His hand is the life of every living thing,
And the breath of every man?
11For indeed, the ear discerns words,
And the palate tastes wheat.
12In length of time is wisdom,
And in long life, knowledge.

13"With Him are wisdom and power;
With Him are counsel and understanding.
14If He tears down a house, who will build it up again?
If He closes a door against men, who will open it?
15If He withholds the water, He will dry up the earth;
If He lets it loose, He will destroy and ruin it.
16With Him are might and strength.
He has knowledge and understanding.
17He leads counselors away captive
And makes fools of judges.
18He sets kings upon thrones
And binds their waist with a belt.
19He sends priests away into captivity
And overthrows the mighty of the earth.
20He changes the lips of the faithful
And knows the understanding of elders.
21He pours dishonor on rulers

And heals the humble.
22 He uncovers deep things out of darkness
And has brought into light the shadow of death.
23 He leads the nations astray and destroys them.
He overthrows the nations and leads them away.
24 He changes the hearts of rulers
And leads them astray in a way they have not known.
25 May they grope in darkness,
And may they go astray like a drunken man.

Job 13

1 "Behold, my eye has seen all these things,
And my ear has heard them.
2 What you know, I also know;
I am not of lesser understanding than you.
3 Nevertheless I will speak to the Lord
And will reason before Him if He wills.
4 For you are all dishonest physicians and healers of diseases.
5 But would that you were silent,
For it would lead you to wisdom.
6 Hear the conviction of my mouth
And heed the judgment of my lips.
7 Do you not speak before the Lord
And utter deceit before Him?
8 Will you draw back?
But you yourselves be judges.
9 Would it be well for you if He searched you out?
For if you make every effort to join yourselves to Him,
10 He will surely rebuke you if you also secretly show favoritism.
11 Will not His terror make you dizzy
And His fear fall upon you?
12 In the end, your insolence will go away like ashes
And your body like clay.

13 “Be silent, that I may speak
And put my anger to rest,
14 So I may take my flesh in my teeth
And put my life in my hand.
15 Though the Mighty One should lay His hand upon me,
And already He has begun,
I will speak and reason before Him.
16 This will turn for me into salvation,
For there shall be no deceit before Him.
17 Listen, listen to my words,
For I will report them in your hearing.
18 Behold, I am near my judgment:
I know I shall appear righteous.
19 Who is he who will judge me,
That I should now be silent and be wanting?

Job’s Prayer to God

20 “Grant me two things,
Then I will not hide my face from You:
21 Withdraw Your hand far from me,
And let not the fear of You terrify me.
22 Then You will call, and I will obey You;
Or You will speak, then I will give You an answer.
23 How many are my sins and transgressions?
Teach me what they are.
24 Why do You hide Yourself from me
And regard me as Your enemy?
25 Will You take heed of me as a leaf shaken by the wind?
Or will You set Yourself against me as grass blown by the wind?
26 For You wrote evil things against me
And compassed me with the sins of my youth.
27 You have put my foot in the stocks,
Have watched all my works,
And have penetrated into the roots of my feet,
28 Which have become old like a wineskin
Or like a moth-eaten garment.

Job 14

1 “For mortal man born of woman
Is short-lived and full of wrath.
2 He falls like a flower that blooms,
And like a shadow, he does not continue.
3 Have You not taken account of him
And brought him to judgment before You?
4 For who shall be pure from uncleanness? No one.
5 Even if his life is but one day upon the earth,
His months are numbered by You.
You appointed a time for him, and he cannot exceed it.
6 Depart from him that he may rest,
And let him be pleased with his life as a hired laborer.

I Will Wait until I Arise!

7 “For there is hope for a tree, even if it is cut down,
That it will sprout again, and its tender shoots will not fail.
8 For though its root may grow old in the earth
And its stump may die in the rocky ground,
9 Yet at the scent of water it will bud
And bring forth a crop like one newly planted.
10 But a man who dies is utterly gone,
And when a mortal has fallen, he is no more.
11 For in time the sea is drawn down,
And a river stops flowing,
And the river bed dries up.
12 So too, when man falls asleep in death, he will not rise,
For the dead will not awake until heaven is dissolved.

13 “For would that You had kept me in the grave,
That You had hidden me until Your wrath ceases,
And that You would appoint me a set time
In which You would remember me.
14 For will man live again

After he completes his course of life and dies?
I will wait until I arise.
15Then You will call, and I will answer You,
But do not cast away the works of Your hands.
16For You have numbered my practices,
And not one of my sins will escape You.
17You sealed up my lawlessness in a bag
And marked if I transgressed unwillingly.

18"Truly a mountain falls and crumbles in pieces;
And a rock wears out in its place.
19Waters wear away stones,
And overflowing torrents wash away the soil of the earth;
And You destroy the duration of man.
20You push him to his end, and he is gone.
You set your face against him and send him away.
21If his children multiply themselves, he does not know it,
And if they be few, he does not perceive it.
22But the muscles of his body feel pain,
And his soul grieves.

Job 15

Eliphaz Renders Job Guilty

1Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2"Will a wise man give as an answer a breath of understanding,
And does he satisfy the pain in his belly,
3Arguing with sayings which are not necessary
And with words wherein is no profit?
4Have you not moreover cast off fear
And accomplished such words before the Lord?
5You are guilty because of the words of your mouth,
Nor have you discerned the words of the mighty.
6May your mouth convict you, and not I;

For your lips will testify against you.

7“What? Are you the first man who was born?
Or were you made before the beaches?
8Have you heard the doctrine of the Lord,
And has wisdom come only to you?
9What do you know that we do not?
What do you understand that we do not also?
10Both the aged and the very old are among us,
Much older than your father.
11You have been punished for only a few of your sins;
You have spoken haughtily and exceedingly.
12Why has your heart dared,
Or what are your eyes set on,
13That you have vented your anger before the Lord
And brought forth such words from your mouth?

14“For who is the mortal that shall be blameless,
Or who is born of a woman that shall be righteous,
15Since He does not trust His saints
And heaven is not pure in His sight?
16Alas then, detestable and unclean is a man
Who drinks wrongdoings like water!

17“But I will tell you, listen to me;
I will tell you what I have now seen,
18What wise men say.
They did not hide anything received from their fathers.
19To them alone the earth was given,
And no stranger came among them.
20All the life of an ungodly man is spent in anxiety,
And the years granted an oppressor are numbered.
21Fear is in his ears,
And when he at last seems to be at peace,
His destruction comes.
22Let him not believe he will return from darkness,
For he has already been given over to the power of the sword.
23He has been appointed to be food for vultures,

And he knows in himself that he lives in a dead body;
And a dark day will carry him away like a whirlwind.
[24]Trouble and anguish will come upon him,
And like a general he will fall in the first rank.
[25]For he lifted his hands against the Lord
And acted defiantly against the Almighty Lord.
[26]He ran in His sight with insolence,
With the thickness of his wide shield.

[27]"For he covered his face with his fat
And put a collar upon his thighs.
[28]May he lodge in deserted cities
And enter uninhabited houses;
And what they prepared, others will carry away.
[29]Let him not grow rich, nor let his possessions remain;
Let him not cast a shadow upon the earth,
[30]Neither let him escape the darkness.
Let the wind wither his blossom, and let his flower fall off.
[31]Let him not believe he will endure,
For futility will be his reward.
[32]His harvest will perish before its gathering,
And his branch will not flourish.
[33]May he be gathered prematurely like unripe grapes,
And may he fall off like the blossom of an olive tree.
[34]For death is the witness of the ungodly man,
And fire will burn the houses of those who take bribes.
[35]So he will conceive sorrows, his end will be vain,
And his belly shall bear deceit."

Job 16

Job's Friends Are Bad Comforters

[1]Then Job answered and said:

[2]"I have heard many such things;
You are all bad comforters.

3What order is there in words of wind?
Or what troubles you, that you answer thus?
4I also could speak as you do,
If indeed your soul were in my soul's place.
Then I would attack you with words
And shake my head at you.
5But would there were strength in my mouth:
Then I would not spare the movement of my lips.

The Lord Has Rejected Me

6"If I should speak, I would feel the pain of my wound,
But if I also should be silent, how would I be less wounded?
7But now He has made me weary and a worn-out fool,
And you have laid hold of me.
8My falsehood has become a testimony.
It rises up and argues against me to my face.
9He vented His wrath and struck me down;
He gnashed at me with His teeth;
The arrows of the raiders fell on me.
10He attacked me with the sharp darts of His eyes;
He struck me on the cheek;
With one accord they ran me down.
11For the Lord delivered me into the hands of an unjust man
And cast me upon the ungodly.
12When I was at peace, He rejected me.
He took me by the hair of my head and pulled it out.
He set me up as a mark.
13They surrounded me with spears aimed at my mind.
Without sparing me, they poured out my gall on the ground.
14Running at me with all their strength,
They knocked me down, head over heels.
15I sewed sackcloth on my skin,
And my strength is spent on the ground.
16My belly is on fire because of weeping,
And shade is on my eyelids.
17Yet there was no wrongdoing in my hands,
And my prayer is pure.

18 O earth, do not cover the blood of my flesh,
Nor may my cry have a place.
19 Now behold, my witness is in the heavens,
And the One who knows me thoroughly is on high.
20 May my supplication come before the Lord,
And may my eyes pour out tears in His presence.
21 May there be rebuttal for a man before the Lord,
As a son of man with his neighbor.
22 For my years are numbered,
And I shall go the way of no return.

Job 17

1 "I am perishing, carried away by the wind;
And I ask for a burial-place, but cannot obtain it.
2 I am tired of entreating, yet what have I done?
3 Strangers have stolen my possessions.
Who is he? Let him join hands with me.
4 For You hid their heart from discernment;
Therefore, You will not exalt them.
5 He will declare evils as their portion,
But my eyes melt away because of my children.

Where Is My Hope?

6 "But You made me a byword among the people,
And I have become an object of laughter to them.
7 For my eyes are petrified because of Your wrath,
And I am greatly besieged by everyone.
8 Amazement seizes true men because of this,
And the righteous man rises against the lawless man.
9 May the faithful man hold to his way,
And may those who have clean hands take courage.

10 "Nevertheless, all of you stick together,
And indeed come, for I did not find you to be true.
11 My days have passed in groaning

And my heartstrings are broken.
12Light turned night into day.
It is near at the appearance of darkness.
13If I tarry, Hades is my home,
And my bed is spread in darkness.
14I called upon death to be my father
And decay to be my mother and my sister.
15Where then is my hope,
Or where shall I see my good things?
16Will they go down with me to Hades,
Or shall we go down together in the tomb?”

Job 18

Bildad Speaks of the Ungodly

1Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2“How long will you keep talking?
Pay close attention so we may also speak.
3Why have we been silent before you
Like four-footed animals?
4Wrath possesses you. Suppose you die;
Would the earth under heaven be uninhabited,
Or the mountains be overturned from their foundations?

5“The light of the ungodly will go out,
And their flame will not go up.
6His light shall be dark in his dwelling,
And his lamp beside him shall be put out.
7May the least of men pounce on his goods,
And let his counsel stumble him.
8For his foot has been caught in a snare,
And he is entangled in a net.
9May snares come upon him.
He shall strengthen those who thirst for his destruction.
10A snare is hidden in the ground for him,

And a capture awaits him on the beaten paths.
[11]May sorrows destroy him on every side;
And may many enemies come about him
And plague him with severe hunger,
[12]For a destruction out of the ordinary is prepared for him.
[13]May the toes of his feet be devoured,
For death will consume his beauty.
[14]May health be banished from his dwelling,
And may distress seize him because of a royal decree.
[15]It shall dwell in his tent at night,
And his goodly appearance shall be sown with brimstone.
[16]His roots shall be dried out from below,
And his crop shall be trampled from above.
[17]His memory shall perish from the earth,
And his name shall be remembered no more.
[18]May he be driven from light into darkness.
[19]He shall not be known among his people,
Nor his house preserved on the earth;
But others shall live among his possessions.
[20]The last groaned for him, and wonder seized the first.
[21]These are the dwellings of wrongdoers,
And this is the place of those who do not know the Lord."

Job 19

How Long Will You Weary Me?

[1]Then Job answered and said:

[2]"How long will you weary my soul
And take me down with words?
[3]Only know how the Lord has dealt with me thus.
You speak against me, and while shaming me,
You press hard on me.
[4]Yes indeed, I have truly erred; my error lodges with me.
When I speak words which I should not have spoken,
My words go astray and are unseasonable.

[5]Alas! You exalt yourselves against me
And attack me with disgrace.
[6]Know therefore that the Lord has troubled me
And raised His stronghold against me.
[7]Behold, I laugh at disgrace and I will not speak.
Nor will I cry out, for judgment is nowhere to be found.
[8]I am walled in round about and cannot cross over,
For He has set darkness before my face.
[9]He stripped me of my glory
And took the crown from my head.
[10]He has torn me apart on every side, and I am gone.
He has uprooted my hope like a tree.
[11]He handled me vehemently in wrath
And has counted me like an enemy.
[12]His raiders came against me with one accord.
They encircled my paths and lay in wait.

[13]"My brothers stood far from me
And recognized strangers rather than me.
So my friends became unmerciful.
[14]My relatives acted as though they did not know me,
And my close friends have forgotten me.
[15]As for my neighbors and the maidservants of my house,
I was a stranger before them.
[16]I called my servant, but he gave no answer,
Though I begged him with my mouth.
[17]I also entreated my wife,
And summoned the children of my concubines and flattered them.
[18]But they rejected me forever.
When I arise, they speak against me.
[19]Those who know me detest me,
And those whom I truly love turned against me.
[20]The muscles of my body have decayed under my skin,
And my bones are held in my teeth.

The Lord Is Everlasting

21“Have mercy on me, have mercy on me, O friends,
For the hand of the Lord has touched me.
22Why do you persecute me as the Lord does,
And are not satisfied because of my flesh?

23“For who may commit my words to writing,
To put them in a book forever,
24With an iron pen and lead,
Or to engrave them in rocks?
25For I know He is everlasting,
He who is about to set me free on the earth
26And to raise up my skin that endures these things;
For these have been accomplished for me by the Lord;
27Which I myself am conscious of,
And my eyes have beheld, and not those of another.
All has been accomplished for me in my bosom.
28If you shall say, ‘What shall we say before him?
Then we will find in him the root of the matter.’
29Indeed, be afraid to cover up your evil,
For wrath will come upon lawless men;
Then they will know where their substance is.”

Job 20

Zophar: The Ungodly Will Perish

1Then Zophar the Naamathite answered and said:

2“I did not suppose you would answer in that way;
Nor do you understand more than I.
3I will heed the discipline of my humiliation,
And the spirit of my understanding causes me to answer.

4“Have you not heard these things of old—
From the time man was put on the earth?
5For the gladness of the ungodly is a disastrous fall,
And the joy of transgressors is destruction.

6 Though his gifts ascend to heaven
And his sacrifice touches the clouds,
7 Just when he already seems to be established,
Then he shall utterly perish;
And those who knew him will say, ‘Where is he?’
8 Like a dream he flew away and cannot be found;
And he fled like a vision of the night.
9 The eye observed him, but will see him no more;
Nor will his place any longer behold him.
10 May his children perish,
And may his vile hands kindle the fire of sorrows.
11 His bones were full of his youthful vigor,
Which will lie down with him in the dust.
12 Though evil is sweet in his mouth,
And he will hide it under his tongue,
13 Though he will not spare it and will not forsake it,
But will hold it fast in the midst of his throat,
14 Yet he shall be unable to help himself,
For the gall of an asp is in his belly.
15 His wealth gathered unjustly shall be vomited up,
And a messenger will drag him out of his house.
16 May he nurse on the anger of serpents;
And may a snake’s tongue kill him.
17 May he not see the milk of the pastures,
Nor his supplies of honey and butter.
18 In vain he has labored unprofitably for wealth,
Of which he will not taste;
For it is like tough meat that he cannot chew.
19 For he crushed the houses of many weak people.
He plundered their dwelling and caused it to cease.

20 “There is no salvation in his possessions,
For he will not be saved by what he desired.
21 Nothing is left for him to eat;
Therefore, his good things will not flourish.
22 But when he at last seems to be satisfied, he will be distressed,

For every trouble will come upon him.
23 If he were to satisfy his stomach in some way,
Let God send the fury of wrath upon him,
And may He bathe him in sorrows.
24 He will not be saved from the power of the sword;
May a bronze bow wound him.
25 May an arrow pass through his body,
And may lightning strike his dwelling.
May terrors come upon him.
26 May total darkness await him.
A fire that will not go out will consume him.
May a stranger ruin his house.
27 May heaven uncover his lawlessness,
And may the earth rise up against him.
28 May destruction bring his house to an end,
And may a day of wrath come upon him.
29 This is the portion of an ungodly man from the Lord,
And the heritage appointed to him from the One who watches him."

Job 21

Job Pronounces Judgment on the Ungodly

1 Then Job answered and said:

2 "Listen carefully to my words,
That I may not have this consolation from you.
3 Bear with me and I will speak;
Then you will stop laughing at me.

4 "What? Is there any one who does not blame me?
Or why should I not be furious?
5 Look at me and be astonished,
And put your hand over your mouth.
6 For even when I remember, I am alarmed,
And pains take hold of my flesh.

7 Why do the ungodly live and become old, even in wealth?
8 Their offspring is according to their desire,
And their children are before their eyes.
9 Their houses flourish, and they have no cause for fear;
Neither is there any affliction from the Lord upon them.
10 Their ox does not miscarry,
For it is preserved safe during pregnancy
And does not suffer a mishap.
11 They remain as an unfailing herd,
And their children dance,
12 Taking up the psaltery and harp;
And they celebrate at the sound of song.
13 They spend their life in their good things
And fall asleep in the rest of the grave.
14 Yet such a man says to the Lord,
‘Depart from me. I do not wish to know Your ways.
15 What is a sufficient reason for us to serve Him?
What benefit is it for us to meet Him?’
16 For their good things are in their power,
For He does not take notice of the works of the ungodly.

17 “Nevertheless, the lamp of the ungodly will be put out.
Destruction shall come upon them,
And the sorrows of wrath will seize them.
18 They are like chaff before the wind,
And they are like dust a storm carries away.
19 May his possessions fail to supply his children.
God will recompense him, and he will not know it.
20 May his eyes see his own slaughter,
And may he not be saved by the Lord.
21 For is his will not in his house with himself?
But the number of his months has been apportioned.

22 “Is it not the Lord who teaches understanding and knowledge?
Does not He judge murders?
23 One shall die in the strength of his simplicity,

And wholly at ease and prosperous.
24His innards are full of stiff fat,
And the marrow of his bones is dissipated.
25Another dies under bitterness of soul,
Not eating any good thing.
26They lie down together in the earth,
And decay covers them.
27Thus I know you press me recklessly.
28You will say, ‘Where is the house of the ruler?
Where is the shelter of the dwelling place of the ungodly?’
29Ask those who travel the road,
And do not overlook their signs.
30For the evil man makes light of the day of destruction,
But they shall be led away in the day of His wrath.
31Who will tell him his way to his face?
Who will recompense him for what he has done?
32Yet he is brought to the grave,
And a vigil is kept over the coffin.
33The pebbles of the valley have been sweet to him.
Every man shall depart after him,
As countless have departed before him.
34How then can you comfort me with empty words,
Since I have no rest from you?”

Job 22

Eliphaz Accuses Job of Vice

1Then Eliphaz the Temanite answered and said:

2“Is it not the Lord who teaches understanding and knowledge?
3For what concern is it to the Lord
If you were blameless in your works?
Or what profit is it to Him to make plain your ways?
4Will He argue with you while you plead your case?
Will He enter into judgment with you?

[5]Is not your vice plentiful,
And are not your sins innumerable?
[6]For you have taken pledges from your brethren for no reason
And taken away the clothing of the naked.
[7]Neither have you given the thirsty water to drink,
But have even withheld a morsel from the hungry.
[8]You have also admired the personality of some
And have transplanted those already settled on earth.
[9]You have sent widows away empty
And have mistreated orphans.
[10]Therefore snares are all around you,
And a serious war has troubled you.
[11]The light has turned to darkness for you,
And water has covered you as you fell asleep.

[12]"Does not He who dwells on high take notice of all?
Does He not humble those who move about with insolence?
[13]But you say, 'What does the Mighty One know?
Will He judge down into the darkness?
[14]A cloud is His hiding place, so He cannot see
As He travels through the circle of heaven.'
[15]Will you keep to the old path
Which wrongdoers have trod,
[16]Who were seized before their time
And whose foundations were swept away by a flood;
[17]Who said, 'What will the Lord do to us?'
Or, 'What will the Almighty bring upon us?'
[18]Yet He filled their houses with good things;
But the counsel of the ungodly is far from Him.

[19]"The righteous have seen it and laughed,
And the innocent mocked them.
[20]Surely their substance has perished,
And fire will consume what is left.

Eliphaz Exhorts Job to Be Strong

[21]"Be strong, therefore. If you endure,

Then your fruit shall be in good things.
22 Receive utterance from His mouth
And lay up His words in your heart.
23 If you return and humble yourself before the Lord,
You have caused wrongdoing to be far from your dwelling.
24 Then you will lay up treasure for yourself
Like a mound on a rock,
And you shall be like the gold of Ophir
On a rock in the brooks.
25 So the Almighty will be your helper from enemies,
And He will restore you as pure as silver purged by fire.
26 For then you will speak freely before the Lord,
Looking up cheerfully to heaven.
27 When you pray to Him, He will hear you,
And He will allow you to pay your vows.
28 He will restore righteousness to your dwelling,
And there shall be light on your paths.
29 You will say, 'He behaved arrogantly, but he humbled himself,
And He will save him who bows down with his eyes.'
30 He will deliver the innocent,
And you will save yourself in the purity of your hands."

Job 23

Job Will Pursue the Lord

1 Then Job answered and said:

2 "Indeed, I know pleading is out of my reach,
For His hand is heavy upon my groaning.
3 Who then would know, that I might find Him,
And might bring this matter to an end?
4 I would state my case before Him
And fill my mouth with arguments.
5 Would that I knew the words He would answer me
And could understand what He would tell me.

6 Though He would come on me in His great strength,
He would not use the occasion to threaten me.
7 For truth and rebuke are from Him,
And He would bring my judgment to an end.

8 "Though I should proceed to this important end
Until I no longer exist,
Still what would I know about the last things?
9 When He worked on the left hand,
I could not understand it.
His right hand will encompass me,
But I will not see it.
10 For He knows my way already,
And He has weighed me as gold.
11 I will go forth in His commandments;
For I have kept His ways and will not turn aside.
12 I will not disregard His commandments;
But I have hidden His words in my bosom.

13 "If He too has thus judged,
Who is he that has opposed Him?
Whatever He has willed, that He has done.
14 Therefore I pursue Him zealously,
And when I was instructed, I thought of Him.
15 Therefore let me be serious before His face.
I will consider and be afraid of Him.
16 For the Lord softened my heart,
And the Almighty has alarmed me.
17 For I did not know darkness would come upon me,
But thick darkness covered my face.

Job 24

The Way of the Wicked

1 "Why have the times escaped the Lord's notice?

2 “Why have the ungodly stepped over the boundary,
Snatching away the flock with the shepherd?
3 They have led away the donkey of the orphans
And have taken the widow’s ox as a pledge.
4 They have turned aside the weak from the right way;
The gentle of the land have hidden themselves together.
5 They departed like donkeys in the field.
Contrary to me, they went forth to their own pursuits.
Their bread was sweet to their little ones.
6 For they harvested a field that was not their own before the time,
And the weak worked the vineyard of the ungodly
Without pay or food.
7 They caused many naked to sleep without clothing,
And they took away the covering of their life.
8 They are wet with the showers of the mountains
And have huddled around the rock for want of shelter.
9 They have snatched the orphan from the breast
And have humiliated the banished.
10 They have unjustly caused them to sleep without clothing,
And they have taken away the morsel from the hungry.
11 They have wrongfully laid snares in narrow places
And have not known the way of righteousness.
12 They have cast the weak out of the city and their own houses,
And the soul of the infants sighed greatly.
Why then has He not visited them?

13 “They are ones on the earth who do not know the Lord,
And they do not understand the way of righteousness,
Nor do they walk in His paths.
14 But He knows their works and delivered them into darkness;
And one shall be like a thief in the night.
15 For the eye of the adulterer watches for the darkness,
Saying, ‘No eye will perceive me’;
And he puts a covering on his face.

16 In the dark he breaks into houses;
In the daytime they seal themselves up;
They do not know the light.
17 For in due time, the shadow of death will be the same to them,
Because they shall know the troubles of the shadow of death.

18 "He is swift on the face of the waters;
May his portion be cursed on earth.
19 May their plants wither on earth,
For they have taken away from the orphans
Even the smallest portions.
20 Then his sin is recalled to memory,
And he vanishes like a mist of dew;
But what he has done, may it be recompensed to him,
And may every wrongdoer be crushed like rotten wood.
21 For he has not treated the barren woman well,
And showed no mercy to the feeble woman.

22 "In his anger, he overturns the weak;
Therefore when he rises up,
No one believes his own life is safe.
23 When he falls sick, let him not hope to recover,
But let him perish by disease.
24 For his exaltation mistreated many,
But he has withered as mallows in the heat,
Or as an ear of corn falling on its own from the stalk.

25 "If it is not so, who says I speak falsely
And will make my speech worth nothing?"

Job 25

Bildad Asks How Man Can Be Righteous

1 Then Bildad the Shuhite answered and said:

2 "What beginning or fear is His—

He who makes all things in the highest heaven?
3For may no one imagine there is a respite for pirates.
Upon whom will there not be an ambush from Him?
4How shall a mortal be righteous before the Lord?
Or how may he who is born of a woman purify himself?
5If He orders the moon, then it does not shine,
And the stars are not pure in His sight.
6But alas! Man is putrid, and the son of man a worm.”

Job 26

God Is All Powerful

1 But Job answered and said:

2“To whom are you attached,
Or whom are you going to help?
Is it not He who has great strength
And whose arm is powerful?
3To whom have you given counsel?
Is it not to Him who has all wisdom?
Or whom will you follow?
Is it not One who has the greatest power?
4To whom have you spoken words?
Whose breath came forth from you?

5“Will giants be born under the water
And those inhabiting them?
6Hades is naked before Him,
And destruction has no covering.
7He stretches out the north wind upon nothing;
He hangs the earth on nothing.
8He binds up the water in His clouds,
Yet the cloud is not broken under it.
9He grasps the face of His throne
And spreads His cloud over it.
10He encompassed the face of the water by an ordinance

Until the end of light and darkness.
11The pillars of heaven were spread all over
And stood amazed at His rebuke.
12He checked the sea with His power,
And by His understanding He wounded the sea-monster.
13For the bars of heaven fear Him,
Because He put to death the rebellious dragon by a command.
14Behold, these are parts of His way,
And we will hearken to the least of His words.
But who knows when He will bring about the strength of His thunder?”

Job 27

Job Will Hold Fast to Righteousness

1Moreover Job continued his speech and said:

2“As the Lord lives who thus judges me,
And the Almighty who embittered my soul,
3Surely as long as my breath is in me
And the divine breath is in my nostrils,
4My lips will not speak lawless things,
Nor shall my soul practice wrongdoings.
5May it not be I who set forth the opinion that you are righteous.
Until the day I die, I will not put away my integrity from me.
6I hold fast to my righteousness and am not letting it go;
For I am not conscious in myself of having done anything wrong.

7“Surely not, but rather may my enemies
Be as the destruction of the ungodly,
And those who rise up against me
As the destruction of the lawless.
8For what hope is there for an ungodly man that he holds to it?
Will he trust in the Lord and be saved?

9 Will the Lord hear his prayer
When distress comes upon him?
10 Has he any confidence before Him,
Or will the Lord hear him when he calls on Him?

11 "But indeed, I will tell you what is the hand of the Lord.
I will not lie concerning what is with the Almighty.
12 Behold therefore, all of you know
You are adding vanity to vanity.

13 "This is the portion from the Lord for the ungodly man,
And the possession of oppressors
Shall come upon them from the Almighty.
14 If their children be many, they will be for slaughter;
And if they reach manhood, they will beg.
15 Those who survive him shall be buried in death,
And no one will have pity on their widows.
16 Though he gathers silver like dust
And shall prepare gold like clay,
17 The righteous will acquire these things,
And the true ones will possess his wealth.
18 His house goes away like a moth
And like a spider's web.
19 The rich man will lie down and not continue;
He opens his eyes, but is no more.
20 Pains happen to him like a flood,
And thick darkness takes him away in the night.
21 A burning wind will take him up, and he will be gone;
And it will scatter him from his place.
22 It will blow against him and not spare;
He will try in vain to flee from its force.
23 It will strike him with its power,
And whistle him from his place.

Job 28

The Richness of the Earth

[1]“Indeed, there is a place for silver, from whence it comes,
And a place for gold, from whence it is refined.
[2]Certainly, iron is taken from the earth,
And copper is hewn out like a stone.
[3]He set an order to darkness
And examines accurately every limit.
A stone is darkness and the shadow of death.
[4]There is a narrow channel of the brook because of dust;
So those who forget the right way
Are weakened because of mortal men.
[5]As for the earth, from it will come bread,
But underneath, it is turned up as by fire;
[6]Its stones are the source of sapphires,
And its dust contains gold.
[7]There is a path no bird knows,
Nor has the eye of a vulture seen it.
[8]The sons of the arrogant have not trodden it,
Nor has the lion passed over it.
[9]He has stretched forth his hand to quarry stones
And has overturned the mountains by the roots.
[10]He has broken asunder the whirlpools of rivers,
And my eye has seen every valued thing.
[11]He has uncovered the depths of the rivers
And has brought his power to light.

Where Is Wisdom Found?

[12]“But where can wisdom be found?
What is the place of understanding?
[13]Mortal man has not known its way,
Nor is it found among men.
[14]The deep said, ‘It is not in me’;
And the sea said, ‘It is not with me.’
[15]One shall not give massive piles of gold instead of it,
Nor can silver be weighed in exchange for it.
[16]It cannot be compared with the gold of Ophir,
With the precious onyx or sapphire.

17 Neither gold nor crystal will equal it,
Nor can it be exchanged for vessels of gold.
18 No mention shall be made of coral and quartz,
But you must hold up wisdom above the most valued things.
19 The topaz of Ethiopia cannot equal it,
Nor can it be compared with pure gold.

20 "From where then is wisdom found,
And what is the place of understanding?
21 It has been hidden from every man
And concealed from the birds of the sky.
22 Destruction and Death said,
'We have heard about its fame.'
23 God has well established its way,
And He knows its place.
24 For He watches over the whole earth under heaven,
Knowing the things in the earth, all He has made—
25 The weight of the winds and the measures of the water.
26 When He made them, He numbered them
And made a way for the claps of thunder.
27 Then He saw wisdom and declared it;
He prepared it and traced it out.
28 He said to man, 'behold, the fear of God is wisdom,
And to abstain from evils is understanding.'"

Job 29

The Glories of the Past

1 Job continued further and said in his speech:

2 "Who may put me in months past,
As in the days when God protected me—
3 As when His lamp shone upon my head,
And by His light I walked in the darkness;
4 As when I steadfastly pursued my ways,
When God's visitation was over my house;

5 As when I lived in abundance,
And my children were around me;
6 As when my roads spread out with butter,
And the mountains flowed with milk for me;

7 “As when I went early in the city,
And took my seat in the open square;
8 The young men saw me and hid,
And all the old men stood up.
9 The great men refrained from talking
And put their finger to their mouth.
10 Those who heard me blessed me,
And their tongue stuck to their throat.
11 The ear heard and blessed me,
And the eye saw me and turned aside.
12 For I saved the poor from the hand of the oppressor
And helped the orphan who had no helper.
13 The blessing of the perishing man came upon me,
And the widow’s mouth blessed me.
14 I put on righteousness
And clothed myself with judgment like a robe.
15 I was the eye of the blind and the foot of the lame.
16 I was the father of the weak,
And I searched out the cause I did not know.
17 I broke the molars of the wrongdoers
And plucked the spoil from the midst of their teeth.

18 “Then I said, ‘My age shall continue as the stem of a palm tree,
And I shall live a long while.’
19 My root was spread out to the waters,
And the dew would settle on my harvest.
20 My glory was fresh within me,
And my bow prospered in its hand.

21 “Men heard and listened to me
And kept silence for my counsel.

22 At my word they did not speak again,
And they were very glad when I spoke to them.
23 They waited for my speech
As the thirsty earth for the rain.
24 If I laughed at them, they did not believe it,
And the light of my countenance did not fail.
25 I chose the way for them and sat as a ruler;
And I dwelt as a king in the army,
As one who comforts mourners.

Job 30

The Present Seems Futile

1 "But now they laugh me to scorn,
Men younger than I, whose fathers I disdained;
Whom I did not deem worthy to be put
With the dogs of my pastures.
2 Indeed, what profit is the strength of their hands to me?
For them the full term of life was lost.
3 In want and famine, they are childless.
Yesterday they fled to a waterless desert in anguish and misery.
4 They are those who surround the noisy salt places,
Who have salty herbs for their food,
And who are also considered worthless
And deficient of every good thing,
And chew on the roots of trees because of their great hunger.
5 Thieves have risen up against me,
6 Whose houses were holes in the rocks,
7 Who cry out among the rustling bushes
And live under the wild shrubs.
8 They are the sons of fools and dishonored men,
Whose name and fame were extinguished from the earth.

9 "But now I am their lyre,
And they have me as their byword.

10 They detest me and keep their distance.
They do not hesitate to spit in my face.
11 For He has opened His quiver and afflicted me.
They have cast off restraint in my presence.
12 They rose up against me by the right hands of their offspring;
And they stretched out their foot
And directed against me their paths of destruction.
13 My paths are ruined, for they stripped off my garment.
14 He shot me down with His arrows
And used me as He wished.
I am overwhelmed with pains.
15 My pains are turned upon me.
My hope is gone like the wind
And my salvation like a cloud.

16 "Even now my soul will be poured forth upon me,
And the days of pains seize me.
17 By night my bones are set on fire,
And my sinews are broken up.
18 With great force He took hold of my garment,
And like the collar of my tunic He surrounded me.
19 You regarded me as clay in the earth,
And my portion is with ashes.

20 "I cry out to You, but You do not answer me.
They stood and observed me.
21 You attacked me without mercy
And scourged me with a strong hand.
22 You appointed pains for me
And cast me away from salvation.
23 For I know death will destroy me,
For the earth is the house for every mortal.

24 "Would that I might lay hands on myself,
Or at least ask another, and he would do it for me.
25 Yet I wept over every man without strength
And groaned when I saw a man in distress.

26 But while I held firmly to good things,
Days of evils happened to me instead.
27 My stomach churns and will not be quiet,
And days of poverty have come upon me.
28 I go groaning without restraint;
I stand up and cry out in the church.
29 I have become a brother of sirens
And a companion of sparrows.
30 My skin has been greatly darkened,
And my bones are burned by the heat.
31 My lyre turned into mourning
And my song into my weeping.

Job 31

Job Sets Forth His Integrity

1 "I have made a covenant with my eyes,
And I will not think upon a virgin.
2 What has God apportioned from above,
And what is the inheritance of the Mighty One from on high?
3 Is not destruction for the wrongdoer,
And alienation for those who do lawlessness?
4 Will He not see my way and count all my steps?

5 "If I have walked with scorners,
Or if my foot has hastened to deceit,
6 May He weigh me therefore with a just scale,
For He knows my integrity.
7 If my foot has turned from the way,
Or if my heart has followed after my eyes,
Or if gifts have touched my hands,
8 Then may I sow and others eat.
Yes, may I be uprooted on the earth.

9 "If my heart has followed after another man's wife,
Or if I have laid wait at her door,

10 Then also may my wife please another,
And may my children be humiliated.
11 For the rage of anger is uncontrollable
In defiling another man’s wife.
12 For it is a fire burning on every side,
And whomever it comes upon, it destroys at the roots.
13 If I have despised the judgment of my servant or handmaid
When they judged me,
14 What then will I do when the Lord brings me to trial and visits me?
How shall I answer Him?
15 Did not He who made me in the womb make them?
So we were fashioned in the same womb.

16 “But the weak did not miss whatever they happened to need,
And I did not cause the eyes of the widow to fail.
17 If I ate my morsel by myself
And did not share it with the orphan
18 (But from my youth I nourished them as a father,
And from my mother’s womb I guided the widow);
19 If I have neglected the naked as he was perishing
And did not clothe him;
20 If the weak did not bless me,
And if their shoulders were not warmed with the fleece of my lambs;
21 If I raised my hand against the orphan,
Trusting that my strength was far superior to his,
22 Then let my shoulder fall from my collarbone;
Let my arm be torn from its socket.
23 For the fear of the Lord seized me,
And I cannot endure His burden.
24 If I have made gold my strength
Or trusted the precious stone,
25 If I have rejoiced because my wealth was great,
And if I, too, laid my hand on countless treasures 26 (Or do I not see the shining sun eclipsed and the moon waning?

For this does not depend upon them);
[27]If my heart has been secretly deceived,
And if I have laid my hand upon my mouth and kissed it,
[28]Then may this also be reckoned to me
As the greatest lawlessness;
For I have lied against the Lord most high.

[29]"If I, too, was glad at the fall of my enemies,
And my heart said, 'Good! Well done!'
[30]Then may my ear hear my curse,
And may I be a byword among my people in my affliction.
[31]If my handmaids have often said,
'Who may give us his meat to be satisfied?'
(But I was very kind.
[32]For the stranger did not spend the night outside;
And my door was opened to everyone who came);
[33]If I sinned involuntarily, then covered my sin,
[34](For I did not stand in awe of great multitude,
So as not to confess before them);
And if I permitted a poor man to go out of my door
With an empty bosom
[35](Who may listen to me?);
And if I had not feared the hand of the Lord,
And as to the document I had against someone,
[36]I would place it as a crown on my shoulders and read it,
[37]And if I did not tear it up and return it,
Having taken nothing from the debtor;

[38]"If at any time the land groaned against me
And its furrows wept together,
[39]If I have eaten its strength alone without paying,
Or if I also grieved the soul of the owner of the land
By casting him out,
[40]Then may the nettle come to me instead of wheat,
And bramble instead of barley."
Thus Job ceased speaking.

Job 32

Elihu Is Angered at Job and His Friends

[1]Job's three friends also ceased answering him, for he was righteous before them. [2]Then Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite, of the family of Ram, of the country of Ausitis, became furious; and he was very angry with Job, because he declared himself to be righteous before the Lord. [3]He was also very angry with Job's three friends, because they found no answer to Job, and yet affirmed he was an ungodly man. [4]Now because they were years older than he, Elihu waited to speak to Job. [5]So when Elihu saw there was no answer in the mouth of these three men, his wrath was aroused. [6]So Elihu the son of Barachel the Buzite answered and said:

"I am young in years, and you are the elder;
Therefore I was silent
And dared not declare my knowledge to you.
[7]I said, 'It is not time that speaks,
Though in many years, men know wisdom.'
[8]But there is a spirit in mortals,
And the breath of the Almighty is that which teaches them.
[9]The long-lived are not always wise,
Nor do the old men always know judgment.

[10]"Therefore I say, 'Listen to me,
I also will declare what I know.'
[11]Pay close attention to my words,
For I will speak in your hearing, while you examine my words,
[12]And until I shall understand you.
So behold, not one of you answered Job in argument;
[13]Lest you say, 'We have found wisdom added to the Lord.'
[14]But you permitted a man to speak such words.

[15]"They were dismayed and answered no more;
They made their words obsolete.
[16]I waited, for they did not speak.

Because they stood still, they did not answer.”
17Then Elihu continued and said:

18‘Again I will speak, for I am full of words;
The spirit within my stomach is killing me.
19Indeed, my stomach is like a wineskin of sweet new wine,
Bound up and ready to burst,
Or like the blowpipe of a coppersmith, ready to bellow.
20I will speak, that I may find relief in opening my lips.
21I will not feel shame before any man,
Neither indeed will I feel shame before any mortal.
22For I do not know how to flatter persons,
Or else the moths would eat me.

Job 33

Elihu Claims He Speaks for God

1“Nevertheless, hear my words, Job,
And pay close attention to what I say.
2For behold, I have opened my mouth
And my tongue has spoken.
3By my words, my heart shall be found pure;
And the understanding of my lips will think pure thoughts.
4The divine Spirit has made me,
And the breath of the Almighty is that which teaches me.
5Give me an answer to these things if you can.
Endure and stand firm against me, and I against you.
6You and I were formed out of the clay;
Thus, we have been formed out of the same substance.
7My fear will not distract you,
Neither shall my hand be heavy on you.

8“However you said in my hearing
(I heard the voice of your words),
9For you say, ‘I am pure, for I have not sinned.
I am blameless, for I have not acted lawlessly.

10 Yet He has found a charge against me;
He has counted me as His enemy.
11 He has put my feet in the stocks,
And He watches all my paths.’

12 “For how can you say,
‘I am righteous, yet He has not listened to me’?
For He that is above mortals is eternal.
13 But you say, ‘Why has He not heard every word of my cause?’
14 For when the Lord speaks once,
Or in another time in a dream,
15 Or in a meditation of the night
(As when dreadful fear falls upon men
While slumbering on their bed),
16 Then He unveils the hearts of men
And frightens them with such fearful visions
17 So as to turn man from his wrongdoing;
Thus He delivers his body from a fall.
18 He keeps back his soul from death
And does not allow him to fall in war.

19 “Again He also chastens him with sickness on his bed,
And the multitude of his bones grow numb.
20 He is not able to receive any food,
Though his soul may long for it,
21 Until his flesh wastes away
And he shows his bones bare.
22 His soul also draws near to death
And his life to Hades.

23 “If there are a thousand death-bringing messengers,
None of them shall wound him.
If he purposes in his heart to turn to the Lord,
And declares to man his fault, and shows his folly,
24 He will support him, that he might not fall into death;
And He will renew his body like fresh plaster upon a wall,
And fill his bones with marrow.

25 He will make his flesh young like a child’s
And restore him among men in full manhood.
26 He shall pray to the Lord, and his prayer shall be accepted.
He shall come to prayer with an innocent face
And with an utterance of thanksgiving,
For He will restore righteousness to men.
27 Even then, a man shall blame himself, saying,
‘I am to blame because of what I did,
Yet He has not examined my guilt
To the extent of my unworthiness.’
28 Save my soul from going down to corruption,
So my life shall see the light.

29 “Behold all these things:
The Mighty One works three ways with a man.
30 But He has delivered my soul from death
That my life may praise Him in the light.

31 “Give ear, Job; listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will speak.
32 If you have anything to say, answer me;
Speak, for I desire you to be declared as righteous.
33 If not, listen to me;
Hold your peace, and I will teach you wisdom.”

Job 34

Elihu Proclaims God’s Justice

1 Elihu continued and said:

2 “Hear me, O wise men who are present,
And pay close attention to what is good.
3 For the ear tests words as the palate tastes food.
4 Let us choose judgment for ourselves;
Let us know among ourselves what is good.
5 For Job has said, ‘I am righteous,

And the Lord has taken away my judgment.'
6But he spoke untruth in my judgment when he said,
'My wound is severe, though I am without wrongdoing.'
7What man is like Job,
Who drinks scorn like water?
8For he says, 'I have not sinned, nor committed ungodliness,
Nor had anything in common with the workers of lawlessness,
So as to walk with ungodly men.'
9For you should not say, 'There shall be no visitation of a man,'
Whereas there is a visitation on him from the Lord.

10"Therefore listen to me, you wise in heart:
May it be far from me to act in an ungodly way before the Lord
And to pervert righteousness before the Almighty.
11Yes, He renders to a man as each one of them does,
And in a man's path He will find him.
12Do you think the Lord will do wrong,
Or will the Almighty who made the earth pervert judgment?
13Who is He who created everything under heaven
And all things therein?
14If He should wish to hold and restrain His breath within Himself, 15All flesh would die together,
And every mortal would return to the ground
From which he was formed.
16Take heed to this, lest He warn you;
Pay close attention to the voice of His words.
17Behold then the one who hates lawless things
And destroys the evil ones.
He is forever righteous.
18He is ungodly who says to a king,
'You act contrary to the law,'
And to rulers, 'O, most ungodly one.'
19Such a man is not ashamed
Before the face of an honorable man,

Nor does he know how to give honor to the great,
So as to show proper respect.
[20]But it will prove to be in vain for them to cry out
And beg the favor of a man;
For they dealt unlawfully when they turned aside the weak.

[21]"For He is the observer of the works of man,
And nothing of what they do escapes Him.
[22]There is no place for the workers of lawlessness to hide themselves.
[23]He need not further consider a man,
For the Lord gazes upon all men.
[24]He comprehends unsearchable things,
Glorious also and extraordinary things without number.
[25]He discloses their works;
And He will overthrow them in the night,
And they will be brought low.
[26]He extinguishes the ungodly,
For they are visible before Him,
[27]Because they turned aside from the law of God
And would not regard His ordinances,
[28]So as to bring before Him the cry of the needy;
For He will hear the cry of the poor.
[29]He will provide quietness, and who shall condemn Him?
And He will hide His face, and who shall see Him?
Whether it be done against a nation or a man jointly,
[30]To cause a hypocrite to be king,
Because of the discontent of the people.

[31]"For there is one that says to the Mighty One,
'I have received blessings; I will not take in pledge;
[32]I will see apart from myself;
Show me if I have done unrighteousness,
And I will do so no more.'
[33]Will He not take vengeance for it from you,
Because you failed to listen to your conscience?
For you will choose, and not I;
Therefore, speak what you know.

Elihu Rebukes Job Sternly

34 “For this reason wise men in heart shall say this,
And a wise man listens to my word.
35 But Job has spoken without understanding,
And his words are without knowledge.
36 But learn, Job, and no longer answer like that of foolish men,
37 That we add not to our sins;
For lawlessness will be counted against us
If we speak many words against the Lord.”

Job 35

1 Elihu continued, saying:

2 “What is this you consider as judgment?
Who are you to say, ‘I am righteous before the Lord’?
3 Or will you say, ‘What did I do, if I have sinned?’

4 “I will answer you and your three friends.
5 Look up to heaven and see,
And observe the cloud as higher than you.
6 If you have sinned, what will you do?
If you have acted very lawlessly, what can you do?
7 Since therefore you are righteous, what will you give Him?
Or what did He receive from your hand?
8 Your ungodliness may affect a man such as you,
Or your righteousness a son of man.

9 “Those who are slandered by a multitude will cry out;
They will cry out for help because of the strength of the many.
10 But no one says, ‘Where is the God who made me,
Who appoints the night watches,
11 Who distinguishes me from the four-footed animals of the earth

And from the birds of heaven?’
12There they will cry out, but no one answers,
Because of the insolence of evil men.
13For the Lord does not desire to look on wrongdoing,
14For He, the Almighty, is the observer
Of those who perform lawless deeds,
But He will save me.
Decide before Him if you can praise Him as it is now possible.
15But now, He is not visiting His wrath,
Nor even taking notice of very much transgression;
16Yet Job opens his mouth in vain;
In ignorance he burdens us with words.”

Job 36

Elihu Upholds God’s Goodness

1Elihu also proceeded and said:

2‘Wait for me yet a little while, that I may teach you,
For there is yet more for me to say.
3I will gather my knowledge from afar
And truly speak of righteousness in my works.
4You were not hearing unjust words without good reason.

5“But know that the Lord who is mighty in strength of heart
Does not cast off an innocent man.
6He will not give life to the ungodly,
But He will give judgment to the poor.
7He will not turn away from the righteous,
But will seat them on the throne with kings;
For He will lift them in triumph, and they will be exalted.
8But if they are bound in fetters,
They shall be held in the cords of poverty.
9He will tell them their works and their transgressions,
For such will act with violence.

10 He also will hear the righteous,
And He said they will turn from wrongdoing.
11 If they give ear and serve Him,
They shall spend their days in good things
And their years in dignity.
12 But He does not save the ungodly,
Because they are not willing to know the Lord,
And because they refused to listen when they were admonished.

13 "For the hypocrites in heart will marshal anger against themselves,
And they will not cry for help, because He has bound them.
14 Therefore, may their soul die in youth,
And their life be wounded by messengers of death,
15 Because they afflicted the weak and helpless;
And He will make manifest the judgment of the gentle.

16 "Besides, He deceived you by the mouth of the enemy.
There is an abyss and a pouring over beneath it,
And your table descended full of fatness.
17 Judgment shall not fail from the righteous,
18 But there shall be anger against the ungodly
Because of the ungodliness of the gifts they received for wrongdoings.
19 Let not your heart willingly turn you aside
From the petition of the weak who are in distress.
20 Do not lure away all the mighty men at night
So the people should go up instead of them.

21 "But guard yourself, lest you do what is wrong,
For you chose this because of poverty.
22 Behold, the Mighty One shall prevail by His strength.
Who is so powerful as He?
23 Who is he who examines His works?
Or who can say, 'He has done unjustly'?

God's Works Are Great

24“Remember, His works are great,
Because of which men began to exist.
25Everyone has seen for himself
How many mortals are wounded.
26“Behold, the Mighty One is great,
And we do not know Him.
The number of His years is also endless.
27For He numbers the drops of rain,
And they shall be poured out in rain to form a cloud.
28The ancient clouds shall drop down
And overshadow innumerable mortals.
He has fixed a time for cattle,
And they know the appointed time for their rest.
Yet your mind is not astonished by these things,
Nor does your heart leap out from your body.
29For one should perceive the outspreadings of a cloud
And the measure of His tabernacle.
30Behold, He stretches His bow against him
And covers the bottom of the sea.
31For by these He will judge the peoples.
He will give food to him who has strength.
32He has hidden light in His hands
And given orders to the cloud by which it is diverted.
33The Lord will proclaim it to His friend,
But there is also a portion for unrighteousness.

Job 37

1“At this also my heart was troubled and flows from its place.
2Listen attentively to the thunder of the Lord’s wrath
And the discourse coming from His mouth.
3His dominion is under the whole heaven
And His light to the ends of the earth.
4Behind Him a voice will cry aloud.
He will thunder with His voice of outrage,
Yet He will not change them when His voice is heard.

5 The Mighty One will thunder marvelously with His voice,
For He does great things we cannot comprehend.
6 For He commands the snow, ‘Fall upon the earth,’
And likewise there is the winter,
The rain and the winter storms of His might.
7 He seals up the hand of every man
That everyone may know his weakness.
8 The wild animals go into their shelters
And are at rest in their lairs.
9 From the secret chambers comes the whirlwind,
And cold from the mountaintop.
10 By the breath of the Mighty One, He will send frost,
And He freezes the waters as He wishes.
11 And when the cloud obscures what He chooses,
His light will disperse the cloud.
12 He will swirl the encircling clouds by His governance
To perform all their works,
Moving them to do whatever He commands.
This has been appointed by Him on the earth,
13 Whether for correction or for His earth,
Or if He shall find him an object for mercy.

14 “Pay close attention to this, O Job.
Stand still and consider the power of the Lord.
15 We know that God has appointed His works,
Having made light out of darkness.
16 He knows the division of the clouds
And the violent falls of evil men.
17 But your robe is warm,
And there is quiet upon the land.
18 Will you establish with Him the foundations
For the ancient heavens?
They are strong like a molten mirror.

19 “What is this to you? Teach me what we will say to Him,
And let us cease speaking many words.
20 Have I a book or scribe by me
That I may stand and put man to silence?

21 But the light is not visible to all.
It shines far off in the ancient heavens,
As that which is from Him in the clouds.
22 From the north come the clouds, shining like gold;
In these great things are the glory and honor of the Almighty.
23 We do not find another like Him in His strength.
Do you not think He who judges righteously listens?
24 Therefore men shall fear Him,
And the wise in heart shall fear Him.”

Job 38

The Lord Speaks to Job

1 After Elihu had ceased from speaking, then the Lord spoke to Job out of the whirlwind and clouds, saying:

2 “Who is this who hides counsel from Me,
And holds words in his heart
And thinks to conceal them from Me?
3 Gird your waist like a man;
I will question you, and you shall answer Me.

The Majestic Creator

4 “Where were you when I laid the foundations of the earth?
Tell Me, if you have understanding.
5 Who determined its measurements? Surely you know.
Or who stretched the line upon it?
6 To what were its foundations fastened,
Or who laid its cornerstone,
7 When the stars were made
And all My angels praised Me in a loud voice?

8 “I shut up the sea with doors
When it burst forth and issued from the womb.
9 I made the clouds its garment and wrapped it in mist.
10 I fixed My limit for it and set bars and doors.

11 I said, ‘This far you may come, but no further,
And here your waves must stop.’

12 “Did I order the morning light in your time,
And did the morning star see its appointed place,
13 To lay hold of the ends of the earth
And to shake the ungodly out of it?
14 Or did you take clay of the ground and form a living creature,
And set it with the power of speech upon the earth?
15 Have you removed light from the ungodly
And crushed the arm of the arrogant?

16 “Have you come upon the fountain of the sea
And walked in the tracks of the deep?
17 Do the gates of death open to you for fear,
And did the doorkeepers of Hades quake when they saw you?
18 Have you been instructed in the breadth of the earth under heaven?
Tell Me now, what is the extent of it?

19 “In what kind of land does the light dwell,
And what kind is the place of darkness?
20 If you would bring Me to their boundaries,
And also if you understand their paths,
21 Then I know you were born at that time,
And the number of your years is great.

22 “Have you come upon the storehouses of snow?
Have you seen the storehouses of hail?
23 Are they stored for you against the time of your enemies,
For the day of wars and battles?
24 From where does the frost proceed?
From where does the south wind scatter over the earth?

25 “Who prepared a course for the violent rain
Or a path for the thunders?
26 Who causes it to rain on a land where there is no man,

Or an uninhabited wilderness, where there is not a man in it,
27To satisfy the untrodden and uninhabited land
And cause it to spring forth a crop of tender grass?
28Who is the rain's father,
And who has begotten the drops of dew?
29From whose womb comes the ice,
And who has given birth to the frost in heaven,
30Which descends like flowing water?
Who made firm the face of the abyss?

31"Do you understand the band of the Pleiades,
And have you opened the fence of Orion?
32Will you open up Mazzaroth in its season,
And the evening star with his rays?
Will you guide them?
33Do you know the movements of heaven
Or the events which take place together under heaven?

34"Will you call a cloud with your voice,
And will it obey you with a violent shower of much rain?
35Can you send out lightnings, and they shall go?
They shall say to you, 'What do you want?'
36Who has given to women wisdom in weaving
Or knowledge of embroidery?
37Who can number the clouds by wisdom,
And who bowed heaven down to earth?
38For it is spread like a cloud of dust,
And I have joined it together as one hewn stone to another.

39"Will you hunt prey for the lions
Or satisfy the lives of the serpents?
40They fear in their dens,
And live in the forests, and lie in wait.
41Who provides food for the raven?
For its young ones wander
And cry to the Lord in search of food.

Job 39

[1]“Do you know the time when the wild rock goats bear young,
And do you mark when the deer gives birth?
[2]Do you number the full months of childbearing,
And have you relieved their pangs?
[3]Have you reared their young without fear,
And have you sent away their pangs?
[4]Their young ones will break forth;
They will be multiplied with offspring;
They depart and do not return.
[5]Who set the wild donkey free?
Who loosed his bonds?
[6]I made the wilderness his dwelling
And the salt lands his house.
[7]He scorns the great multitude of the city;
He does not heed the blame of the tax collector.
[8]He will survey the mountains as his pasture,
And he seeks out every green thing.
[9]Will the wild ox be willing to serve you?
Will he bed by your manger?
[10]Can you bind his yoke with ropes,
Or will he plow furrows for you in the field?
[11]Do you trust him because his strength is great?
Or will you commit your works to him?
[12]Will you trust him to bring home your seed
And gather it to your threshing floor?
[13]The wings of the falcon wave proudly,
But are her wings and pinions like the kindly stork’s?
[14]For the falcon leaves her eggs on the ground
And warms them in the dust.
[15]She has forgotten that a foot will scatter them,
Or that wild animals will trample them.
[16]She hardens herself against her young ones
As though they were not hers.

She labors in vain without concern,
17 Because God deprived her of wisdom
And did not endow her with understanding.
18 When she lifts herself on high,
She scorns the horse and its rider.
19 Have you given the horse strength?
Have you clothed his neck with a mane?
20 Have you put on him a suit of armor
And made his breast glorious with courage?
21 He paws exultingly in the valley
And goes forth with strength into the plain.
22 He mocks at battle when he sees it,
Nor does he turn back from the sword.
23 The bow and the sword resound against him,
And his rage would destroy the earth.
24 He will not believe until the trumpet sounds,
25 For at the blast of the trumpet he says, ‘Good! Well done!’
He smells the battle from afar with its leaping and shouting.
26 Does the hawk remain steady by your understanding,
And spread its rigid wings looking toward the south?
27 Does the eagle mount up at your command,
And the vulture remain sitting over its nest
28 On the crag of a hidden rock?
29 From there it spies out the prey;
Its eyes observe from afar.
30 Its young ones roll themselves in blood;
And where the slain are, immediately they are found.”

Job 40

1 Moreover the Lord God answered Job and said:

2 “Will anyone pervert judgment with the Mighty One?
He who rebukes God will answer for it.”

Job Responds

3 Then Job answered the Lord and said:

4 “Why am I still judged and admonished,
Even if I rebuke the Lord, hear such things, and am nothing?
But what answer will I give to these things?
I will put my hand over my mouth.
5 I have spoken once.
I will not do so a second time.”

The Lord Calls Job to Account

6 The Lord yet answered Job out of the cloud and said:

7 “No rather, gird up your waist like a man,
For I will question you, and you shall answer Me.

8 “Do you not reject My judgment?
Do you think I have dealt with you in any other way
Than might appear to you to be righteous?
9 Have you an arm like the Lord’s?
Or can you thunder with a voice like His?
10 Assume now majesty and power,
And clothe yourself with glory and honor.
11 Send forth messengers with wrath
And humble every insolent man.
12 Extinguish the arrogant man
And consume at once the ungodly.
13 Hide them together in the earth
And fill their faces with disgrace.
14 Then I will also admit
That your own right hand can save you.

15 “But look now at the wild animals with you.
They eat grass like oxen.
16 Behold now, his strength is in his loins,
And his power is in the center of his stomach.
17 He sets up his tail like a cypress;
His nerves are tightly knit.

18 His ribs are like ribs of bronze,
And his backbone like bars of iron.
19 This is the ruler of the Lord’s creation,
Made to be mocked at by His angels.
20 When he goes up to a rough mountain,
He causes joy to the four-footed animals in Tartarus.
21 He lies under trees of every kind,
Alongside the papyrus, and reed, and bulrush.
22 The great trees shade him with their branches;
So do the branches of the willow.
23 If there should be a flood, he will not notice it;
He is confident, though the Jordan beats against his mouth,
24 Though he takes it in his eyes,
Or one pierces his nose with a snare.
25 Will you catch the serpent with a hook
And put a halter about his nose?
26 Or will you fasten a ring in his nose
Or pierce his lip with a hook?
27 Will he speak to you in prayer,
Softly with the voice of a suppliant?
28 Will he make a covenant with you?
Will you take him as a servant forever?
29 Will you play with him as with a bird,
Or will you cage him as a sparrow for a child?
30 Do the nations feed upon him?
Will they apportion him among the nations of the Phoenicians?
31 All the ships come together would not be able
To bear the mere skin of his tail,
Or carry his head with fishing vessels.
32 Once you lay your hand on him,
Remembering the battle waged by his mouth,
Let it not be done again.

Job 41

[1]“Have you not seen him?
Have you not wondered at what has been said of him?
[2]Do you not fear because I am prepared?
Who then is able to stand against Me?
[3]Who will stand against Me and endure,
Since everything under heaven is Mine?

[4]“I will not be silent because of him,
Though because of his power, one shall pity his antagonist.
[5]Who will remove his outer coat?
Who may enter within the fold of his breastplate?
[6]Who will open the doors of his face,
With his terrible teeth all around?
[7]His entrails are as brazen plates,
And the texture of his skin as a symrite stone.
[8]One part clings to another
So no air comes between them.
[9]A man will be joined to his brother.
They stick together and cannot be parted.
[10]His sneezings flash forth light,
And his eyes are like the appearance of the morning star.
[11]Out of his mouth go burning lights;
Sparks of fire shoot out.
[12]Smoke goes out of his nostrils
As from a boiling pot with fire of coals.
[13]His breath kindles coals,
And a flame goes out of his mouth.
[14]Strength dwells in his neck,
And destruction runs before him.
[15]The muscles of his body are joined together.
They are firm on him and cannot be moved.
[16]His heart is as hard as stone,
And it stands like an unyielding anvil.
[17]When he turns, he is a terror
To the four-footed wild animals which leap upon the earth.
[18]Though the sword reaches him, it cannot avail;
Nor does spear or javelin.

19 He regards iron as straw,
And bronze as rotten wood.
20 The arrow cannot wound him;
The sling-stone becomes like grass to him.
21 Hammers are regarded as straw,
And he laughs at the threat of javelins.
22 His bed is like sharp skewers,
And all the gold of the sea under him
Is like a great amount of clay.
23 He makes the deep boil like a brazen pot,
And he regards the sea like a pot of ointment.
24 The lowest part of the deep is as a captive.
He reckons the deep as his walking range.
25 On earth there is nothing like him,
Who was made to be mocked at by My angels.
26 He beholds every high thing;
He is king over all that are in the waters."

Job 42

Job's Confession and Repentance

1 Then Job answered the Lord and said:

2 "I know You can do all things,
And nothing is impossible for You.
3 For who is he who hides counsel from You?
Who keeps back his words
And thinks to hide them from You?
Who will tell me what I knew not,
Things too great and wonderful, which I did not know?
4 But hear me, O Lord, that I also may speak.
I will ask You, and please teach Me.

5 "I have heard of You by the hearing of the ear,
But now my eye sees You.
6 Therefore I depreciate myself, and I waste away.

I regard myself as dust and ashes.”

The Lord Rebukes and Redeems Job’s Friends

[7]So it was, after the Lord had spoken these words to Job, that the Lord said to Eliphaz the Temanite, “You have sinned, you and your two friends, for you have not spoken before Me what is true, as My servant Job has. [8]Now therefore, take for yourselves seven bulls and seven rams, go to my servant Job, and offer up for yourselves a burnt offering; and my servant Job shall pray for you. For I will only accept him, but for his sake, I would have destroyed you; because you have not spoken what is true regarding my servant Job.” [9]So Eliphaz the Temanite and Bildad the Shuhite and Zophar the Naamathite went and did as the Lord commanded them; and He redeemed their sin for Job’s sake.

Job’s Wealth Is Restored

[10]Then the Lord restored Job’s losses when he prayed for his friends, and He forgave their sin. But the Lord gave Job twice as much as he had before. [11]Then all his brothers and all his sisters heard about everything that happened to him, and they came to him. So did all who knew him from the first. They ate food and drank with him and comforted him; and they wondered at all the Lord brought upon him. Each one gave him a lamb and four drachms’ weight of uncoined gold.

[12]Now the Lord blessed the latter days of Job more than his beginning. He had fourteen thousand sheep, six thousand camels, one thousand yoke of oxen, and one thousand donkeys. [13]He also had seven sons and three daughters. [14]And he named the first, Day, the second, Cassia, and the third, Amalthia’s Horn. [15]In all the land, there were found no women so beautiful as the daughters of Job, and their father gave them an inheritance among their brothers. [16]After this affliction, Job lived one hundred and seventy years, and all the years he lived were two hundred forty-eight; and Job saw his children and grandchildren for four generations. [17]So Job died, old and full of days. [18]It is written that he will rise with those whom the Lord resurrects.

[19]This man is described in the Syriac book as living in the land of Ausitis, on the borders of Edom and Arabia. Previously his name was Jobab. [20]He took an Arabian wife and begot a son named Ennon. But he himself was the son of his father Zare, one of the sons of Esau, and of his mother, Bosorra. Thus, he was the fifth son from Abraham.

[21]Now these were the kings who reigned in Edom, over which country he also ruled. First, there was Balak the son of Beor, and the name of his city was Dennaba. But after Balak, there was Jobab, who is called Job. After him, there was Asom, who was ruler out of the country of Teman. After him, there was Adad the son of Barad, who destroyed Midian in the plain of Moab; and the name of his city was Gethaim. [22]Now his friends who came to him were: Eliphaz, of the children of Esau, king of the Temanites; Bildad, ruler of the Shuhites; and Zophar, king of the Minians.

Annotations for Job

1:1 Job was originally called Jobab (42:19). Thanks to the LXX text he is no longer the mystery man "from the land of Uz." He is from the land of Ausitis, which was located on the borders of Edom and Arabia (42:19). He is also a descendant of Abraham through Esau, and his first wife was an Arab (42:20). This makes him a Gentile, and Esau the unbeliever was his forefather. St. John Chrysostom, quoting Ecc 7:21, notes that the text qualifies Job as blameless, that is, "just," but that it did not say, "without sin." Only Christ was without sin (Heb 4:15).

🕮 1:1–12 This passage is read on Holy Monday, the Monday before Pascha (Easter).

1:6 Heaven is inaccessible to the devil; yet he came with them because he is an angel with a nature similar to the angels of God. However, writes St. Gregory, "He was in the Lord's sight, but the Lord was not in his sight. When a blind man stands in the sun, he is bathed with the sun's rays, but he still does not see the light by which he is lit." And St. John Chrysostom teaches that "'he came with them' means nothing else but that [the devil] too is dependent upon God."

1:7 The devil accuses the righteous before God "day and night" (Rev 12:10). With God's permission, he pummels our minds with evil thoughts and weakens our bodies with pain and illness, ever seeking to influence us towards evil. But through hardship, the righteous are clothed in the "whole armor of God" (Eph 6:13). We are called to "glory in tribulations" (Rom 5:3), knowing that we are to walk in obedience to Christ's commands (Mt 5:10).

1:10–12 St. John Chrysostom remarks that Satan's will is his own, but he derives his power from God, who does not allow him to act except with justice. He cannot bring harm to the faithful, and even profits those who wage war against him, "for tribulation makes the strong man stronger." Jesus conversed with evil spirits and even granted their request to be sent into a great herd of swine (Lk 8:32, 33).

1:13 St. Gregory compares the elder brother to the Jews, and the rest of Job's sons and daughters to the Gentiles. The collapse of the house (v. 19) points to the Final Judgment, when we will either be crushed by Christ the Rock or take refuge in Him (see Lk 17:26–30).

🕮 1:13–22 This passage is read on Holy Tuesday, the Tuesday before Pascha (Easter).

1:20 Job did these acts, according to St. Hesychius, less as a sign of mourning than to get rid of what possessions were left with him, thus leaving the enemy no means by which he could further test him. "He wanted to strip down, nude to nude, with his enemy, and he fell to the ground to humble himself before God."

1:22 Job did not charge God with injustice for the evils that had befallen him (see Ps 22:2). "It is not the events, but the perversity of thoughts, that makes us suspect God of meanness" (JohnChr).

🕮 2:1–10 This passage is read on Holy Wednesday, the Wednesday before Pascha (Easter).

2:2 St. Gregory comments that since the devil has already been defeated, the Lord is chiding him for the impotence of his pride. St. Hesychius teaches that the devil cannot even speak without first receiving permission from God.

2:4 The devil was unable to understand how Job could seek salvation over saving his own skin—that is, his life.

2:7 St. Gregory remarks that from the beginning, Satan has been working to destroy the Body of Christ, inflicting wounds on God's people throughout the history of the Jews, and continuing in his fury until he came to the very Head of the Church.

2:8 Job in his misery is an image of Christ on the Cross. He came "in the likeness of sinful flesh, on account of sin: He condemned sin in the flesh" (Rom 8:3). "With a shard, therefore, the pus is scraped, when sin is defeated by the flesh." St. Gregory also notes that the repentant sinner, like Job, looks "unflinchingly upon the stains of sin by which he is covered."

2:9 St. Hesychius teaches that Satan "recruited" Job's wife, as he had done with Eve. St. John Chrysostom asks, "What are you saying, woman? When God needs to be . . . propitiated, you are, rather, preparing to provoke Him! For if it is God who has caused these bad things, He needs to be invoked, not blasphemed." And Jesus said, "He who endures to the end will be saved" (Mt 10:22).

2:15 Job did not sin with his lips: "When holy men undergo persecution . . . they not only never transgress in injurious expressions against God, but they never launch words of reviling against their very adversaries" (GrgGt).

2:16–18 Job's three friends came to comfort him, but the contrary took place, because they imagined they understood the reason he suffered such things.

3:1–3 Job cursed his day of birth, but as a pious man he never said he could not endure his pain.

3:8 The sea-monster is identified as Satan (3:8; 7:12; 9:13; 26:12; 41:1; Ps 74:13, 14; 87:4; 89:10; 104:26; 148:7; Is 27:1; 30:7; 51:9; Ezk 29:3; 32:2; Jon 1:17).

3:20 "The heart of the just knows its own bitterness because it understands how troublesome is its exile here, where it lies wounded and cast out" (GrgGt).

3:21 St. Gregory writes that those who seek to die to themselves are like those who dig for treasures. "The closer they come to their goal, the more eager they become for the work."

4:3–6 In his hypocrisy, Eliphaz begins to mock Job for the very virtues he had been praised for. Christ was mocked and reviled in a similar way (Lk 23:35–37).

4:7 Eliphaz could not understand why God would allow a righteous man to suffer. The Fathers give four reasons why God allows suffering: (1) as a means of punishment, when there is no hope for rehabilitation (see Jer 30:14, 15 and notes); (2) to bring the sinner to repentance (see Jn 5:14); (3) to prevent future sins (see 2Co 12:7); and (4) "that the power of God might be made known" (Jn 9:2, 3).

4:13–21 St. Gregory comments that Job's friends typify teachers of false doctrines, who pretend to hear hidden words from God in order to confuse the weak and to "cast a veil of reverence" over their preaching.

5:1–27 St. Gregory remarks that Eliphaz' words would have been true, had they not been delivered against the patience of so great a man. Like the Hebrews, Eliphaz knew the acts of the Lord, but he did not know His ways (Ps 102:7).

6:2 Christ is the scale. He "came to weigh the merit of our life, and brought down with Him both justice and lovingkindness together" (GrgGt).

6:5–7 God is the Source of both physical and spiritual food. Christ is the bread that satisfies, and His words, being "salted with truth," give eternal life.

6:10 Having placed his hope in the Lord, Job faced the grave with peace of soul. It was Eliphaz who had lied about the holy words of . . . God.

6:11–13 "The strength of the righteous is to subdue the flesh, to love the hardships of this world for the sake of eternal rewards, to count the allurements of prosperity as nothing, and to overcome the dread of adversity in our heart" (GrgGt).

6:18 Job's lament gives voice to Christ in His Passion, summed up when He cried out, "My God, My God, why have You forsaken Me?" (Ps 21:1; Mt 27:46).

7:8 I am no more speaks of death and judgment, for believers know that they "will be lost if they are judged apart from mercy, for even this very life that we seem to live righteously is sin" (GrgGt).

7:11 St. Gregory remarks that we are to approach confession with Job's frame of mind.

7:12 St. Hesychius comments that a guard refers to the enemy, who is allowed to afflict the righteous with hard trials.

7:20, 21 Christ also asked "why?" while hanging on the Cross (Mt 27:46). Job looked to death for relief (v. 21), but Christ's death purged our lawlessness (Jn 1:29), and His Resurrection in the morning (Ps 5:3) brought a new covenant of life and hope.

Life after Death

For the ancient Hebrews, death meant a return to the same earth from which all are taken: "For earth you are, and to the earth you shall return" (Gn 3:19; Job 7:21). Nevertheless, a general idea developed that the souls of the dead do continue, though only in a shadowy, semi-comatose kind of existence in a netherworld called sheol, or Hades (Gn 37:34, 35; Pss 114:3, 138:8; Is 14:9–11), a land of "oblivion" (Ps 87:10–12; Job 14:18–22). In sheol—the depths or abyss of the earth, "the Pit"—even the righteous dead abide, without any power of deliverance (Job 7:6–10; Ps 88:48; Is 38:18; Ezk 26:19–21). Yet there was at least a general hope that one's memory would be kept alive by one's community and descendants (Ps 111:1–6; Pr 10:7; Dt 25:5, 6).

Only gradually did God reveal glimpses of a glorious life after death to His people, a hope that would become available to all through the power of Christ's Resurrection. An early hint of this coming hope was revealed to Job. Amid his terrible suffering, Job asks, "If a man dies, shall he live again?" And through a flash of divine insight, he says: "I will wait until I arise" (Job 14:14). Psalms also begin to reflect upon personal resurrection to everlasting life (Ps 15:8–11; 48:15; 70:20–23; 90:1–16).

The first indications of a corporate resurrection of the people of Israel are given in the 8th century BC through Hosea (Hos 6:1–3; 13:14) and Isaiah (Is 26:19). In the early 6th century BC, Ezekiel receives the dramatic vision of a miraculous reconstitution of "the whole house of Israel" on the plain covered with dry bones (Ezk 37:1–14). The Church reads this passage triumphantly on Great and Holy Saturday. Why? Because it is prophetic of the freeing of all the souls from Hades by Christ on that day (1Pt 3:19; Eph 4:8–10) and the general resurrection of all the dead on the last day.

By the late first century BC, as seen in the Wisdom of Solomon, immortality is directly linked with living in wisdom and righteousness: "Kinship with Wisdom is immortality" (WSol 8:17); "The righteous shall live forever" (WSol 5:15; see also 1:13–15; 2:22, 23; 6:17–21). Various passages from this book (WSol 3:1–9; 4:7–15; 5:15–6:3) are read at Vespers in commemoration of some of the more prominent saints.

At the time of Christ, the Sadducees rejected belief in an afterlife (see Mt 22:23), while the Pharisees did believe in resurrection and immortality (Acts 23:6–8). It was the Pharisees' view which came to dominate in later Judaism. Lazarus' sister Martha knew about a general "resurrection at the last day" (Jn 11:24), but Jesus declares to her that resurrection and eternal life come only through Him (Jn 11:25; see 3:14–16; 4:14; 6:40, 47–58; 14:1–6).

Christ promises that believers will be with Him after their death (Lk 23:42, 43; see 2Co 5:8; Php 1:21–23). The souls of believers are further enlightened in Christ, as they experience a foretaste of the eternal heavenly kingdom. Yet all the departed still await the general resurrection, the day when their souls will be reunited with their bodies, which are transformed into a glorified state (1Co 15:50–54) like Christ's own body (Php 3:20, 21; 1Jn 3:2).

8:1–4 How long? The unjust cannot bear the edifying words of the righteous, but speak even well-known truths boldly and with big words so they will appear learned.

8:11–13 Bildad's images, which rightly describe all who forget the Lord, are wasted on Job. In speaking of those who have forgotten God, St. Gregory writes that while they accept God's gifts and blessings, "they do not seek His glory, but their own applause."

9:2 Job's question is answered in Christ, the only truly righteous One.

9:5 St. Ambrose sees in the mountains a type of the Old Testament and the Prophets. "The Jew grew old; grace was renewed." Christ "overturned" the understanding of the Law (2Co 5:17) and established the comprehension that is of the Spirit.

9:8 St. Gregory the Great sees in heaven a type of the preaching of the apostles and evangelists. St. Cyril notes that this is the same Lord who, as Man, walked on the sea as on firm ground (Jn 6:19).

9:9–13 St. Hesychius sees v. 9 as denoting all of God's great works, and compares v. 10 to Jn 21:25. God goes beyond us (v. 11) when He defers judgment, and passes by when He visits us.

9:15 "All human righteousness is proved unrighteous if it is judged in strict rules"; therefore we must be strenuous in prayer, so that our righteous deeds may be seasoned by humility (GrgGt).

10:1–3 Here we see Job growing weaker, calling on God's help lest he give heed to the enemy. Job, like Christ, "learned obedience through the things which He suffered" (Heb 5:8).

10:8–12 St. Ambrose writes that Job, knowing no one is immune from falling, rejects what comes from unholiness and confesses what comes from weakness. To act in an unholy way is not part of the human condition; rather, it comes from the "poison of unbelief." Man's pardon lies in God's mercy and not in man's power.

10:9–12 From his conception, man is shaped by God. St. Cyril writes, "None of the members of the body as formed from the beginning is polluted. Let the mouths of all heretics be stopped who slander their bodies, or rather, Him who formed them" (see 1Co 6:19).

10:20 The righteous ask that their trials might be over, says St. Hesychius, so that many around them might not stumble as a result of seeing so much suffering and sorrow.

10:20–22 St. Hesychius writes that this land refers to hell: "Man should fear going into these places." St. Gregory remarks, "But what advantage is it for us to foreknow these things, if it is not our lot to escape them?" Indeed, Job knew he would be redeemed (19:25). Therefore, as the Lord says, "Walk while you have the light, lest darkness overtake you" (Jn 12:35).

11:1–20 Unlike Job, Zophar had all the answers and no questions. Zophar is incorrect in asserting that if a man does all the "right" things, God will bless him; when in fact, man's will cannot force God to act. The intellectual demands of men like these are satisfied with their manmade theories and doctrines. They are more anxious to appease an inaccessible God than to trust in a God who loves them.

12:5, 6 The appointed time also speaks of the Day of Judgment, when the innocent One will judge those who provoked Him.

12:15 St. Gregory the Great interprets water to mean the grace of the Holy Spirit. "If the grace of the Holy Spirit is withdrawn from the hearer's mind, the sense is immediately dried up."

12:22 The shadow of death is the Law, which makes all sinners liable to punishment by death; but Christ brought light to the shadows (GrgGt).

13:1 God reveals His mysteries to the ones He has found to be holy (Hesych).

13:17–28 Job's is the voice of mankind, "eagerly desiring to advance from fear to love. . . . He seeks the very presence of his Creator, familiarly, in the flesh," that he might both hear and be heard (GrgGt).

14:5 God sets bounds to our spiritual attainments. We learn humility by the things we are unable to master, that we may not be exalted by those things we have the power to do (GrgGt).

14:7–11 Christ was cut down in His death, but would sprout again in His Resurrection (see Ps 1:3) and send out tender shoots—"the faithful being multiplied by His Resurrection grew out far and wide" (GrgGt).

14:14 Will man live again: "Our Lord, when He was near His passion, took up the voice of those who were weak in Himself, saying, 'O My Father, if it is possible, let this cup pass from Me' (Mt 26:39); and that He might remove their fear, He took it in Himself" (GrgGt).

14:17 As a mortal man, Job has transgressed unwillingly, that is, "sin not leading to death" (1Jn 5:16, 17). But "one day it may also come forth out of the bag of secrecy into the publicity of the Judgment" (GrgGt).

15:1–6 "Blessed Job bears a type of the Holy Church universal, and his friends bear the likeness of heretics" (GrgGt).

15:20 "With their feeble insight, [Job's friends] did not perceive that the Lord had given him over to be tempted so that, like an athlete of Christ, he might be fashioned by the temptations and attain to the crown of a greater glory" (AmbM).

16:8 St. Hesychius compares this verse to Christ's betrayal at Judas's hands (Jn 13:21; Mt 26:25).

16:17 Compare this verse to 1Pt 2:22 and Lk 23:24.

16:18 The earth did not cover Christ's blood shed on the Cross; rather His blood has covered the earth, for the Church has preached the gospel of salvation in all parts of the world (GrgGt).

17:4 A stunning example of God's enemies lacking discernment shows up in St. Paul's commentary in 1Co 2:7, 8 on those who crucified Christ.

18:1–21 St. Gregory sees Bildad's words as being unwittingly directed against the devil.

19:5 Job's friends, seeing his affliction and knowing his righteousness, should have bewailed their own miserable condition. "With what vengeance did they deserve to be smitten, who had not served like him?" (GrgGt).

19:7–19 The Fathers note clear parallels between this passage and Christ's Passion (see Mt 27:40; Jn 18:23; Mt 27:26, 27, 29; Is 53:2, 3).

19:23–27 "No one since the days of Christ speaks so openly concerning the Resurrection as he did before Christ" (Jerome).

20:1–3 Zophar's so-called superior understanding blinded him to the truth.

20:12–14 St. Gregory comments that the hypocrite hides his evil intentions behind soft words inspired by demons, but the faithful hide the "honey and milk" of heaven under their tongue (SS 4:11).

21:7–14 Some, seeing the righteous suffer and the sinner prosper, assume that God's judgment is not just. But although the ungodly may prosper on this earth, they cannot escape judgment when they die. Christ will say to all who reject Him, "depart from Me" (Mt 25:41; Lk 12:47, 48).

21:16 "Let us pray together to undergo toil here, so that we may deserve to gain the consolation of eternal rest in the kingdom of heaven. For prosperity and abundance constitute a powerful inducement to do wrong; they exalt a man to pride and induce him to forget his Creator" (AmbM).

21:23–26 Riches should not lift up the soul, nor should poverty disturb it.

21:29 Those who do not pass through the present life as if it were a road to that which is to come are unable to comprehend those who do.

22:1–30 Eliphaz went from a dead heart to idle words, and from idle words to the sin of lying, and from lying to insults and abuse. These are the descents of increasing sin (GrgGt).

22:2 When prideful people know they are going to lose the argument, they often repeat what is already known, "lest, by holding their tongue, they should appear to be defeated" (GrgGt).

22:23 Eliphaz failed to realize that it was because of Job's righteous deeds that he was afflicted in the first place (1:12).

23:1–3 In the midst of affliction, the righteous know God by faith, but long all the more to see His form. Christ will take the form of fallen men and fulfill Job's desires (GrgGt).

23:12 Similarly, the Virgin Mary has hidden many things in her heart (Lk 2:19).

24:1 We are wrapped up within the divisions of time, since we are created beings. But God, Creator of all things, encompasses our times by His eternity (GrgGt).

24:2–6 The ungodly here denote false teachers, who lead others away from the right way of salvation (GrgGt).

24:8 "The showers of the mountains are the words of the learned" (GrgGt). The rock is Christ and His Church, to whom the afflicted ones flee.

24:14–16 "Everyone who avoids the light loves darkness, seeking to be hidden, though he cannot be hidden from God" (AmbM).

25:4 "Every just man is just by illumination from God, not by comparison with God" (GrgGt).

26:1, 2 Is it possible for a man to help God? St. Gregory gives a qualified "yes." Relating this passage to 1Co 3:7, he writes, "For to 'plant' and to 'water' is to 'help,' both of which would be only a void ministration if God does not give the increase in the heart."

26:14 "If we can hardly endure the wonders of His humility, with what nerve do we encounter the loud and dreadful advent of His Majesty?" (GrgGt; see Ps 49:3).

27:3 "He signifies here the nostrils of his inner man, with which he gathered the odor of eternal life, and drew in the grace of the heavenly ointment by a twofold sense, as it were" (AmbM).

27:6 How can Job say that he has not done anything wrong, considering that he accuses himself of having sinned (7:20; 9:20)? Because even righteous men find it difficult to avoid involuntary sin (see 14:17–22 and note; Rom 7:13–25 and notes). "For what man's heart, bound up with this corruptible flesh, does not slip in ill-bent thought? . . . But when there is a resisting of the thought, the soul is freed from being confounded. And so the mind of the righteous, even though it is free from bad practice, yet sometimes falls to the ground in bad thinking" (GrgGt).

27:12 Compare with Jam 4:17.

28:1–3 God's order is plainly seen in things like silver and gold, but "the design of God Himself is invisible" (JohnChr).

29:1–6 St. Gregory interprets this passage in the light of Christ and His Church. The lamp denotes Holy Scripture (2Pt 1:19; Ps 118:105); my house is "the dwelling place of the mind"; and butter (v. 6) is the "holy preachers, filled to the full with the fatness of good works."

29:14, 15 I put on righteousness: Compare to Gal 3:27. The preaching of the Church enlightens the blind man, who does not know where to go, and supports the lame man, who "does not have the power to go to the place he sees."

29:16 St. Cyril notes that it is not only the natural father who is called father (see 1Co 4:15), "for Paul was father of the Corinthians, not by having begotten them after the flesh, but by having taught and begotten them again after the Spirit."

29:17 "Oh what a spoil did the Church take from the mouth of the devil, when, by converting, she carried off Saul himself, the spoiler!" (GrgGt; see Acts 9:1–12).

29:19 An image pointing to the waters of baptism and the coming of the Holy Spirit, who would settle on the apostles at Pentecost.

29:20–25 An image pointing to the growth of the Church.

30:1–12 St. Gregory sees these younger men, along with the fathers who taught them, as heretics. But they also can be seen more universally to illustrate those who teach, and those who follow, false doctrines. They are in want and famine (v. 3) because they are lost and spiritually malnourished. Salty herbs, says St Gregory, means they "observe the least precepts and disregard the greater ones." They no longer understand the truth, but are content to chew its roots. The thieves are those who would steal the faithful away from the Church. Indeed, the true Church is taunted by her critics, while the name of the Lord Jesus Christ is used as a byword (v. 9) by these sons of fools (v. 8), who misuse and exploit it as they pursue every "wind of doctrine" (Eph 4:14).

30:13–31 This passage carries several voices: (1) that of Blessed Job; (2) that of Christ in His Passion; (3) that of the Church in the midst of persecution; and (4) that of the faithful in the midst of their struggle.

30:25 "Who then are the 'merciful' (Mt 5:7)? Those who give money or feed the poor? No. But who are they? Those who have become poor for the sake of Him who became poor for our sakes (see 2Co 8:9)" (SymNew). These have nothing material to give, yet they constantly weep with compassion over the man in distress.

31:1, 2 St. Gregory writes that Eve sinned and "came to death" because she allowed desire to enter her soul through the "windows" of her eyes. He warns the faithful to be careful that we not even look on what is forbidden. "If I defile my mind in thought, I can never be the inheritance of Him who is the Author of purity" (see Mt 5:27, 28; 1Pt 1:13).

31:3–6 "The righteous man is scourged and corrected by the rod of discipline, because he is being prepared for the Father's estate of inheritance. But the unjust man is let go in his own pleasures because temporal good things are supplied to him to the same degree that eternal ones are denied him. . . . So let the righteous weigh well the evils that await the wicked, and never envy their passing happiness" (GrgGt).

31:6 He knows: "It is not that the Creator of the periods of time learned anything from time, but His 'knowing' is His affording the knowledge to us by the example of each particular case as it emerges" (GrgGt).

31:16 "That does not mean, 'yes' for this need, and 'no' for that one; but 'yes' to every need without distinction, even if it is perilous, very costly, or risky" (JohnChr).

31:25 St. Gregory the Great comments that the righteous have not rejoiced in great earthly wealth; rather, it is seen as a burden, because they have to "carry so many things" on their journey to their heavenly inheritance. All things belong to God; therefore we must strive to share all we have with our needy neighbor (Gal 2:10).

32:1–22 Elihu, puffed up with arrogance, represents those who profess truth with the lips, but despise truth in the heart. St. Gregory says arrogance is manifested in four ways: (a) when the proud think they possess any goodness of themselves; (b) when they believe they can earn God's blessings by their own merit; (c) when they boast of possessing something they do not have; and (d) when, despising others, they wish to be the sole possessors of what they have.

33:1–3 Where St. Gregory sees in Elihu few admirable qualities, St. John Chrysostom gives Job's young friend credit for wanting Job "to be declared as righteous" (33:32), while his other friends desired only to condemn him.

33:4 St. Ambrose writes that this verse shows the divine Spirit "to be both divine and Creator." St. Gregory of Nazianzus writes that "this Spirit shares with the Son in working both the Creation and the Resurrection" (also see Ps 103:30).

33:31–33 Elihu has uttered great and powerful words, yet immediately follows up with pride and foolishness. He is like those who "preach Christ even from envy and strife . . . not sincerely, supposing to add affliction" to the suffering of another (Php 1:14–17).

34:1–3 Elihu, sad to say, did not preach in order to make men wise, but to display his own superior wisdom.

34:5–8 Job did not say this. Elihu added to and twisted Job's words to strengthen his own argument.

34:37 Elihu accused Job of having deserved his scourges, and of having sinned after the scourges. But the Lord judged otherwise, asserting that he was scourged without reason (2:3), and blessing him doubly afterwards (GrgGt).

35:13 "Not only does the Lord not countenance wrongs, but He does not even wish to look on them" (JohnChr; see Hab 1:13).

36:22 Even while offending Him with his arrogance, Elihu prophesies Christ, the Mighty One.

37:5 The Mighty One (v. 5) will indeed thunder out of a whirlwind (38:1), and Elihu and Job's friends will be silenced.

37:6, 7 God uses the random winter storms and the rain and snow to show man his weakness in the face of God's overwhelming power. Indeed, Christ taught this lesson to His disciples when he calmed the storm (Mt 8:23–27). "He has created man to be weak, and yet man thinks himself to be strong; and thereby he becomes even more feeble" (JohnChr).

37:9, 10 "What scientific laws, pray, can you lay down concerning thunder and lightning, O you who thunder from the earth, and cannot shine with even little sparks of truth?" (GrgNa).

38:1 Out of the whirlwind: It was as if God wanted to place heaven itself above Job, as if He had brought His throne near to him (JohnChr). Had Job been about to die, the Lord would have praised him for his faithfulness. But since he is about to be doubly restored, the Lord reproved him, "lest his victory itself should lay him low with the sword of pride" (GrgGt).

🕮 38:1–25 This passage (with 42:1–5) is read on Holy Thursday, the Thursday before Pascha (Easter).

38:3 This verse was intended to restore and encourage a discouraged Job (JohnChr).

38:7 Before the stars were made, the angels praised the Lord. "All the unspeakable harmony of the highest heavens, both in the service of God and in the mutual concord of the celestial powers, can therefore only be preserved by the direction of the Spirit" (BasilG).

38:8 "As if it were being born, the sea is first poured out, then takes its form, and is 'gathered together into one place'" (JohnChr; see Gn 1:9).

38:14 The power of speech was given to man alone.

38:15–19 Christ descended to the very gates of hell and death and opened them, so that by dying, He might overcome their strength and bring light to the darkness.

38:32–34 The "father" (v. 28) brought forth the Morning Star (i.e., Mazzaroth), which is Christ (Rev 22:16), "when the fullness of the time had come" (Gal 4:4). The Lord lifted up His voice (v. 34) when the apostles, having been immersed in the rain of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost, preached the gospel to the world (see 1Kg 8:10, 11; Ps 93:3).

38:36 St. Ambrose quotes this verse in speaking of Christ the High Priest's woven bridal garment, "adorned with precious stones" (see Ex 35:27 and note).

38:38–41 The dust represents sinners, who were hardened into stone when Christ built His Church. The lion denotes the apostles, who "waited" until Pentecost, and the raven denotes the Gentiles (GrgGt).

39:1–4 St. Gregory the Great and St. Ambrose see in the begetting of young by the wild goats and the deer a type of the "labors of fathers who beget spiritual children" (see Gal 4:19, 20).

39:5–12 St. Gregory sees in the wild donkey a type of the saints who seek the kingdom of heaven, far removed from earthly cares, and who pay no heed to the blame (v. 7) of the evil one. He sees in the wild ox a type of the proud nations which were tamed by the gospel. The manger is understood to be Holy Scripture, and the ropes are the precepts of discipline in the Church. The seed is the word of preaching (Mt 13:3), and the threshing floor is the Church itself (Mt 3:12).

39:18–25 The horse and rider are like the body and soul of the righteous, who fight the adversary fearlessly, waiting for the sound of the trumpet and to hear the words "Well done!"

40:1–5 St. Gregory remarks that God is saying to Job, "You were considering your own loftiness, but you were ignorant of that of others. Having heard of the virtues of others, answer Me, if you can, concerning your own."

40:6–14 God chastens the righteous "in order to raise them to a higher state of purity, and delivers them over to various trials that He may purge away all their unclean thoughts . . . and may thus transmit them like pure gold to the judgment to come" (JohnCas).

40:8 The Lord at last tells Job why he has suffered. "This is the balm for Job's wounds. This is the crown of the contest. This is the reward for his patience" (GrgNa). St. John Chrysostom writes that all that has gone before is now justified. Indeed, Job's remaining righteous in the midst of affliction perfectly demonstrates Christ, who suffered without sinning in His humanity that He might be made known in His divinity.

40:15 The wild animals described to Job are seen by some Church Fathers as a type of Satan, the ancient enemy. Having been shown the "lofty aspirations and works of the saints," Job is now being shown the wiles and snares of the adversary who afflicted him.

40:19–22 Satan was created first among all the angels and was exalted as ruler of creation (see Ezk 28:12, 13; Is 14:12).

40:23 Here one is reminded of Pharaoh, who did not notice the waters of the Red Sea rushing over him until it was too late (Ex 14:23–28). The Jordan, says St. Gregory, signifies those who have been sealed with the sacrament of baptism.

40:24–26 Christ brought the strategies of the devil to naught by overcoming them, thus taking away his power. The devil "seized the bait that was His Body," and the "sharp sting of His Godhead pierced him through" (GrgGt).

40:27, 28 The enemy, says St. Gregory, is against God in His holiness, "but does not disagree with His judgment," for he always seeks to tempt righteous men. "Yet the Lord permits this, either mercifully or righteously." This, then, is a kind of covenant between God and Satan wherein the wishes of both parties are fulfilled. "Each attains what it desires and terminates its quarrels by the desired result."

40:29 To the Lord, writes St. Gregory, the devil is as irrational as an unclean animal, as malicious as a snake, and as harmless as a caged bird. The Lord played with him when, in Christ's Passion, "He showed Him the bait, but concealed the snare."

41:1–3 Even the very powers that oppose God by their evil doings are subservient to Him.

41:4–15 The enemy had power over the "deep" (v. 24), which is the earth, until Christ, his antagonist, pierced his impenetrable armor. St. Gregory the Great writes that the doors of his face (v. 6) are "wicked teachers" who lead their students straight to hell, and his stony skin illustrates hardened sinners mutually shielding each other so that no breath of life can reach them. Lights come from his mouth (v. 11) "because they inflame the minds of the hearers to love unbelief, and from seeming to shine by wisdom, they surely burn with wickedness." The smoke is "darkening doubt," and coals are earthly desires, kindled to flame by pride, envy, lust, and avarice.

41:24–26 God allows the enemy to live for two reasons: that he might disgrace himself the more in being conquered by the weaker; and that mankind might be crowned with victory in overcoming him (CyrJer).

📖 42:1–5 This passage (with 38:1–25) is read in the church at Vespers on Holy Thursday.

42:4 Hear me, O Lord: Speaking to God is not so much what we say with our mouths, but rather "to long for Him with eager desires" (GrgGt).

42:5 Now my eye sees You: The gift of spiritual knowledge—that is, when we begin to perceive the hidden things of God—is conferred on us through repentance and the fear of God, which gives birth to a deeper faith. "This is called 'the faith of divine vision.' Until then, hearing, but now divine vision. But vision is more certain than hearing" (IsaacS).

42:6 Job was still in physical torment, yet having seen God, he was undone, and asks for nothing more. "Because Job has condemned himself, God has justified him" (JohnChr; see 40:8).

42:7 Note that Elihu is not mentioned. There are many like Elihu in the Church who refuse to proclaim properly the truths they believe, and whose swollen pride makes them unacceptable to God. "Sacrifice does not restore him, because he already believes what he should believe, but heavenly justice drives him away on account of his flood of words" (GrgGt).

42:7–9 Job images Christ as suffering servant, High Priest, and Intercessor on behalf of all. St. Gregory writes that he also images the Church. Job's intercession is echoed by Abraham and Moses (see Gn 18:22–33; Ex 32:32) and fulfilled by Christ (Lk 23:34). As we worship during Divine Liturgy, we offer up ourselves and, because Christ offered Himself first for our sake, we receive acceptance and forgiveness through Him.

42:11 Job's righteousness and God's faithfulness were indeed demonstrated to all through his suffering, according to the Lord's word (40:8). St. Gregory the Great comments that Job's double blessings point to the general resurrection, when the Church will receive "that which is hers twofold: having received the Gentiles in full number, all Judea shall then also be found to agree to run to her faith" (see Rom 11:25, 26; Is 61:7; Rev 6:11) "on the preaching of Elijah" (see Mt 17:11). They ate food and drank with Him images the eucharistic supper. As uncoined gold is shaped into a coin, so the faithful, having been made in God's image, are being shaped into His likeness through participation in Him. The lamb points to the once-for-all sacrifice of Christ offered up during Divine Liturgy.

📖 42:12–17 This passage is read on Holy Friday, the Friday before Pascha (Easter).

42:13–15 St. Gregory comments that Job had the same number of children as before (1:2), "in order that those who had been destroyed might be shown to be alive." The daughters' names designate the redeemed human race, which shines forth like the day, spreads a sweet spiritual fragrance like cassia, and overflows with abundance like a horn of plenty.

42:18 He will rise: Job is, after all, a book about resurrection from the dead—the continual hope of the Old Testament prophets. Job's physical healing was only a foretaste of what he will experience in God's kingdom. The final verses serve to establish Job in history, as an historical person. St. John Chrysostom remarks that the exiled Jews in Egypt included this section because they knew they would soon return to Jerusalem, "and desiring this, they could find in the history of Job a significant brazier with which to rekindle their piety."

The Proverbs of Solomon

Author

Solomon was the principal contributor to this collection.

Date

970–931 BC

Major Theme

"The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom" (9:10). Proverbs is thought to be the foundation for the Beatitudes (Mt 5). In the first nine chapters, the wisdom of God is personified as a companion of God from the beginning and is revealed in the Second Person of the Trinity, Jesus Christ. The personification of wisdom in 8:22–35 is applied to the Theotokos, the Mother of God, in the Church's Divine Liturgy.

Background

Hebrew proverbs are often written as individual couplets with two lines of equal length. Two common types are (1) the synonymous proverb, which expresses the same basic thought in both lines; and (2) the antithetical proverb, which offers a contrast, such as between wise and foolish or virtuous and evil. The main writings of Solomon reflect the antithetical proverb.

In the "words of the wise" (22:20–24:39), there is a prevalence of two- or three-verse units. The style changes in the end, with the acrostic poem where wisdom is personified as a woman, honoring the wife of noble character.

To Know Wisdom

1 The Proverbs of Solomon, the son of David,
Who reigned in Israel,
2 To know wisdom and instruction,
And to understand words of discernment;
3 To receive both subtlety of words,
And to understand true righteousness and upright judgment;
4 So as to give astuteness to the simple,
And both perception and understanding to a young man;
5 For a wise man who hears these things will be wiser,
And the man of understanding will gain direction.

Wisdom Begets the Fear of God

6 He will understand both a parable and a hidden saying,
Both wise words and riddles.
7 The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom,
And there is good understanding in all who practice it;
8 And godliness toward God is the beginning of perception,
But the ungodly despise wisdom and instruction.
9 Hear, my son, the instruction of your father,
And do not reject the laws of your mother.
10 For you will receive a crown of grace on your head
And a gold chain around your neck.
11 My son, do not let the ungodly lead you astray,
And do not consent if they invite you, saying,
12 “Come with us; take part in bloodshed,
And let us hide a righteous man in the earth unjustly;
13 And let us swallow him, just as Hades does the living,
And let us take away his remembrance from the earth;
14 Let us seize his valuable property,
And let us fill our houses with spoils;
15 Cast your lot with us

And let us acquire a common bag;
Let there be one purse for us.”
16Do not walk in the way with them,
But turn away your foot from their paths.
17For their feet run to evil,
And they make haste to shed blood.
18For nets are not spread before birds for no reason,
For those who participate in murder store up evils for themselves;
And evil is the destruction of lawless men.
19These are the ways of all who accomplish lawless things,
For they take away their own soul in ungodliness.

Wisdom Speaks Out

20Wisdom sings in the streets;
She moves boldly in the squares.
21She preaches on high city walls
And sits at the gates of lords.
At the gates of a city she boldly says,
22“So long a time as the simple hold fast to righteousness,
They shall not be ashamed;
23But those without discernment, since they are desirous of arrogance,
And are become ungodly, they hate perception,
And are become subject to reproofs.
24Behold, I shall bring forth upon you the utterance of my breath,
And I shall teach you my word.
25Since I called, but you did not obey,
And spoke at length, but you paid no attention,
26But made my counsels invalid,
And were not persuaded by my reproofs;
27Consequently, I will laugh at your annihilation,
And will exult when ruin comes to you,
28And when confusion reaches you unawares,
And overthrow comes like a whirlwind,
29And when tribulation and anguish come to you,

And when destruction comes to you.
30For it shall be, when you shall call upon me,
I will not listen to you;
31Evil men will seek me, but not find me,
For they hate wisdom, and choose not the fear of the Lord.
32Neither do they wish to follow my counsels,
But despise my reproofs.
33Therefore, they shall eat the fruits of their own way
And be filled with their own ungodliness.
34For since they wrong the simple, they shall be killed,
And a close examination shall destroy the ungodly.
35But he who obeys me shall dwell in hope,
And shall be at rest without fear from every evil."

Proverbs 2

It Is Wise to Obey

1My son, if you receive the words of my commandment
And hide them within yourself,
2Your ear will be obedient to wisdom,
And you will incline your heart to understanding;
You will entrust it to your son as an admonition.
3For if he calls upon wisdom,
And you utter your voice for understanding;
If you seek perception with a strong voice,
4If you seek her as silver
And search for her as treasure,
5Then you will understand the fear of the Lord
And find the knowledge of God.
6For the Lord gives wisdom,
And from His face come knowledge and understanding;
7And He stores up salvation for the upright;
He will protect their journey,
8That He might guard the ways of His ordinances;
And He will carefully guard the way of those who reverence Him.

9Then you will understand righteousness and judgment,
And accomplish successfully every good path for yourself.

Holy Thinking

10For if wisdom comes into your mind,
And the perception in your soul seems to be good,
11Then good counsel will guard you,
And holy thinking will keep you;
12That it might rescue you from an evil way
And from a man who speaks nothing trustworthy.
13Woe to those who forsake the paths of uprightness
So they may walk in the ways of darkness,
14Who delight in evils
And rejoice in evil perversion,
15Whose ways are crooked
And their paths devious,
16So they may cause you to be far from the straight way
And a stranger to righteous judgment.
17My son, do not lay hold of evil counsel,
Nor forsake the teaching of your youth
And forget the divine covenant;
18For it establishes its house with death,
And its paths beside Hades with the dead;
19All who journey there do not return,
Nor do they lay hold of straight paths;
For they do not comprehend the years of life.
20For if they walked in good paths,
They would find the smooth paths of righteousness.
21The inhabitants of the land will be good,
And the simple will be left in it;
22For the upright will dwell in the land,
And the holy will be left in it.
23The ways of the ungodly shall perish from the land,
And the lawless shall be banished from it.

The Laws of Wisdom

[1]My son, do not forget my laws,
But let your heart keep my words;
[2]For length of days, and years of life and peace
They will add to you.
[3]Do not let almsgiving and faithfulness forsake you,
But hang them upon your neck;
[4]And you will find grace
And provide good things before the Lord and men.
[5]Trust in God with all your heart,
And do not exalt your own wisdom.
[6]In all your ways know wisdom,
That she may cut a straight path for you;
And your foot will not stumble.
[7]Do not rely on your own discernment,
But fear God, and turn away from every evil.
[8]Then there shall be healing for your body
And care for your bones.
[9]Honor the Lord from your righteous labors,
And offer Him the firstfruits from the fruits of your righteousness,
[10]That your storehouses may be filled with abundance of grain,
And your winepresses may gush with wine.

The Instruction of Wisdom

[11]My son, do not despise the instruction of the Lord,
Neither grow weary under His reproof.
[12]For whom the Lord loves He instructs,
And chastises every son He receives.
[13]Blessed is a man who finds wisdom,
And a mortal who sees discernment;
[14]For the profits gained from wisdom are better Than the treasures of gold and silver.
[15]And wisdom is more valuable than precious stones,
And nothing evil will withstand her;

16 She is well known to all who come near her,
And no honor is worthy of her.
17 For length of days and years of life are in her right hand,
And in her left hand are riches and glory;
18 Righteousness proceeds from her mouth,
And she carries law and mercy upon her tongue.
19 Her ways are good ways,
And all her paths are in peace.
20 She is a tree of life for all who cleave to her,
And she is security for those who lean upon her as upon the Lord.
21 God by wisdom founded the earth
And prepared the heavens with discernment.
22 With perception the depths were broken up,
And the clouds flowed with dew.

The Cure for Carelessness

23 My son, do not be careless,
But keep my counsel and thinking,
24 That your soul may live,
And grace may be around your neck.
25 And there will be healing for your flesh
And care for your bones,
26 That you may walk confidently in peace in all your ways,
And your foot may not stumble.
27 For if you sit down, you will be without fear,
And if you lie down, your sleep will be pleasant.
28 And do not be afraid of intimidation when it comes upon you,
Nor of the attack of the ungodly when it comes at you;
29 For the Lord will be over all your ways,
And He will plant your feet firmly, that you may not be shaken.
30 Do not withhold doing good to the needy,
When you may give a helping hand;
31 Do not say, when you are able to do good,
“Come back tomorrow, and I will give you something”;

For you do not know what the next day will bring forth.
32Do not devise evil things against your friend
Who dwells beside you and trusts in you.
33Do not be ready to quarrel with a man in vain,
Lest he do you some harm.
34Do not incur the reproach of evil men,
Neither seek their ways;
35For every lawless man is unclean before the Lord,
And he does not sit among the righteous.
36The curse of God is in the houses of the ungodly,
But He blesses the dwellings of the righteous.
37The Lord opposes the arrogant,
But He gives grace to the humble.
38The wise shall inherit glory,
But the ungodly exalt dishonor.

Proverbs 4

Obedient Thinking

1Hear, my children, the instruction of your father,
And pay attention, that you might know his thinking;
2For I offer a good gift to you;
Do not forsake my law.
3For I was a son, and I was obedient to my father,
And beloved in the presence of my mother,
4Who taught me, saying,
“Let our word become firmly planted in your heart;
5Guard our commandments; do not forget them;
Neither disregard the word of my mouth,
6Nor forsake it, and it shall cleave to you;
Love it, and it will keep you.
7Secure it, and it shall exalt you;
Honor it, that it may embrace you,
8And give your head a crown of graces,
And cover you with a crown of delight.”

The Paths of Wisdom

[9]Hear me, my son, and receive my words,
And the years of your life shall be increased,
That many ways of life may be yours;
[10]For I teach you the ways of wisdom
And set you on upright paths.
[11]For if you walk, your steps shall not be confined;
And if you run, you will not grow weary.
[12]Lay hold of my instruction; do not let go,
But guard it for yourself as your life.
[13]Do not go in the ways of the ungodly,
Neither be zealous for the ways of the lawless;
[14]In whatever place they encamp, do not go there,
But turn aside from them and pass by.
[15]For they cannot sleep unless they do evil;
Their sleep is taken away, and they do not rest;
[16]For they feed on the bread of ungodliness,
And they are drunk with the wine of lawlessness.
[17]But the ways of the righteous shine like a light;
They go before and give light until full daylight.
[18]But the ways of the ungodly are dark;
They do not know how they stumble.

The Wise Heart

[19]My son, give heed to my word
And incline your ear to my words,
[20]That your fountains may not fail you;
Guard them in your heart;
[21]For they are life to those who find them
And healing for all their flesh.
[22]Keep your heart with all watchfulness,
For from these words are the issues of life.
[23]Put away from yourself a crooked mouth
And remove unrighteous lips far from you.
[24]Let your eyes look straight forward,
And let your eyelids assent to righteous things.

25 Make straight paths for your feet
And direct your ways aright.
26 Do not turn aside to the right or to the left,
But turn your foot from an evil way;
27 For God knows the ways on the right hand,
But those on the left are perverse;
28 And He shall make your paths straight
And guide your steps in peace.

Proverbs 5

Fornication or Marriage

1 My son, hold fast to wisdom
And incline your ear to my words,
2 That you may guard good thinking;
And I command you with the perception of my lips.
3 Do not join yourself to a base woman,
For honey drips from the lips of a prostitute,
Or for a season she is pleasing to your taste;
4 Afterward, however, you will find her more bitter than gall
And sharper than a two-edged sword.
5 For feet lacking discernment lead those using her down into Hades with death;
Her footsteps are not planted,
6 For she does not travel the ways of life;
And her paths are slippery and not easy to discern.

The Perils of Sex outside of Marriage

7 Now therefore, my son, hear me,
And do not make my words invalid;
8 Make your way distant from her
And do not come near the doors of her house,
9 That you may not give away your life to others
And your existence to the merciless;
10 That strangers may not be filled with your strength,

And your labors go into the houses of strangers,
11And you should feel regret at the last,
When the flesh of your body is consumed;
12And you will say, “How I hated instruction
And turned my heart away from reproofs;
13I did not hear the voice of my instructor and teacher,
Nor did I incline my ear;
14Little by little I was in every evil
In the midst of the church and congregation.”

The Sanctity of Marriage

15Drink waters from your vessels
And from the fountains of your spring.
16Do not let the waters from your fountain be spilled by you,
But let your waters pass through your wide places;
17Let them be only for you,
And let no stranger partake with you;
18Let the fountain of your water be for you alone,
And rejoice together with the wife of your youth.
19Let your loving deer and graceful colt keep company with you,
And let her alone go before you and be with you at all times;
For in living with her love, you will be great.

Another Warning

20Do not be intimate with a strange woman,
Neither cling to the embrace of a woman not your own;
21For the ways of man are before the eyes of God,
And He keeps close watch on all his paths.
22Lawless women ensnare a man,
But each man is bound by the chains of his own sins.
23Such a man dies with the uninstructed
And is cast forth from the abundance of his own substance;
And he is destroyed by lack of discernment.

Proverbs 6

A Careless Tongue

[1]My son, if you assume the debt of your friend,
You will deliver your hand to an enemy;
[2]For a man's own lips become a strong snare to him,
And he is conquered by the utterances of his own mouth.
[3]My son, do what I command you, and you will save yourself;
For you came into the hands of evil things through your friend;
[4]Do not be faint,
But provoke even your friend, for whom you assumed a debt;
[5]Do not give sleep to your eyes
Nor slumber to your eyelids
[6]That you may be saved, as a gazelle from the snares,
And as a bird from a trap.

Laziness: A Dead-End Road

[7]Compare yourself with the ant, O sluggard,
And be zealous when you see his ways,
And become wiser than he.
[8]For although he has no tilled land,
Neither anyone to compel him,
Nor any master to rule him,
[9]Yet he prepares all his food in the summer
And makes his provisions abundant in the winter.
[10]Or go to the honeybee,
And learn how she is a worker
And how solemnly she does her work,
[11]Whose labors kings and common people use for health;
And she is desirable to all and glorious;
[12]And although she is weak in bodily strength,
She leads the way in honoring wisdom.
[13]How long, O sluggard, will you be idle,
And when will you arise from sleep?
[14]You sleep a little; you sit down a little; you doze a short while;

And you fold your hands on your chest a little;
15Then poverty comes to you as an evil traveler
And neediness as a swift runner.
16But if you are diligent, your harvest shall come to you as a fountain,
And neediness as an evil runner shall desert you.

A Lawless Spirit

17A man who is without discernment and is lawless does not walk in good ways.
But he winks with an eye; he makes a sign with his foot,
And teaches with the wave of his hand.
18And with a perverse heart, he constantly schemes evil things;
Such a man causes trouble in a city.
19Therefore his destruction comes suddenly,
A deep and incurable wound.
20For he rejoices in everything the Lord hates,
And he shall be broken because of his soul's uncleanness:
21A haughty eye, an unrighteous tongue,
Hands that shed righteous blood,
22A heart that devises evil thoughts,
And feet that hasten to do evil;
23As a false witness he kindles injustice
And causes quarrels between brethren.
24My son, guard the laws of your father,
And do not depart from the rules of your mother.
25But fasten them to your soul continually
And wear them as a collar upon your neck.

Playing with Fire

26When you walk about, bring along this commandment
And let it be with you;
27And as you sleep, let it guard you,
That when you arise, it may speak to you.
28For a commandment of law is a lamp and a light,

And the way of life is reproof and instruction,
29That you may keep yourself from a married woman
And from the slanderous tongue of a strange woman.
30Do not let the desire of beauty conquer you;
Neither be caught by her eyes,
Nor captivated by her eyelids;
31For the value of a prostitute is only one loaf,
And such a woman hunts for the precious souls of men.
32Shall anyone bind fire to his bosom
And his garments not burn?
33Or will anyone walk about on coals of fire
And not burn his feet?
34Likewise is the one who goes in to a married woman;
He shall not be guiltless, nor any who touch her.
35It is not surprising if anyone who steals is caught,
For he steals that he may fill his hungry soul;
36But if he is caught, he will repay sevenfold,
And by giving all his goods, he shall deliver himself.
37But the adulterer through his lack of discernment
Obtains the destruction of his soul;
38He bears both pain and dishonor,
And his disgrace will not be wiped away forever.
39For the anger of her husband is full of jealousy;
He will not spare in the day of judgment;
40He will not take any ransom in exchange for his hatred,
Nor will he be reconciled by many gifts.

Proverbs 7

A Son with Discernment

1My son, guard my words,
And hide my commandments within yourself;
2My son, honor the Lord, and you shall be strong,
And fear none other but Him.
3Guard my commandments
And you will live, and my words as the pupils of your eyes;

4 And put them around your fingers,
And write them upon the breadth of your heart.
5 Say that wisdom is your sister,
And gain discernment as a friend for yourself,
6 So they may keep you from a strange and evil woman,
If she comes at you with flattering words.

A Son without Discernment

7 For she looks from a window of her house into the streets
Upon whom she might see among the undiscerning children,
8 A young man lacking discernment
Passing by near the corner on the pathways of her house;
9 And she speaks in the darkness at evening,
When there is silence on a dark night;
10 And the woman meets him, having the appearance of a prostitute;
She makes the heart of young men throb.
11 She is excited and debauched,
And her feet do not rest at home.
12 For at times she is outside roaming about,
And another time she is in the streets near every corner laying a trap.
13 Then laying hold of him, she kisses him,
And with a shameless face she says to him,
14 "I have a peace offering;
Today I pay my vows;
15 For this reason I came out to meet you;
Longing for your face, I found you;
16 I spread my bed with sheets
And covered it with tapestry from Egypt.
17 I sprinkled my bed with saffron
And my house with cinnamon;
18 Come, and let us enjoy love until morning;
Come, and let us embrace in love;
19 For my husband is not at home,
But is gone on a long journey

20 Taking a bag of money in his hand;
He will return to his house after many days.”
21 So she leads him astray with much conversation,
And with snares from her lips she compels him.
22 And being cajoled, he follows her
As an ox is led for slaughter
23 And as a dog to bonds,
Or as a deer struck with an arrow in the liver;
24 And he hastens even as a bird into a snare,
Not knowing he runs for his life.
25 Now therefore, my son, hear me,
And hold fast to the words of my mouth;
26 Do not let your heart turn aside to her ways,
For she wounded and cast down many,
And those whom she slew are innumerable;
27 Her house is the road to Hades,
Leading down to the chambers of death.

Divine Wisdom for Mankind

1 You shall proclaim wisdom
That discernment may obey you;
2 For she is on the lofty summit
And stands in the midst of the paths.
3 For she sits beside the gates of princes
And sings at the entrances,
4 “You, O men, I exhort,
And I utter my voice to the sons of men;
5 Understand astuteness, O simple ones,
And put it in your heart, O uninstructed ones.
6 Obey me, for I speak sacred things,
And from my lips I will bring forth things that are true.
7 For my mouth shall speak the truth,
But false lips are an abomination before me.

8 All the words of my mouth are with righteousness;
There is nothing in them crooked or twisted.
9 All things are evident to those who understand
And true to those who find knowledge.
10 Lay hold of instruction and not silver,
And knowledge rather than tested gold,
And choose perception rather than pure gold.
11 For wisdom is better than precious stones,
And every costly thing is not worthy of her.
12 I, wisdom, dwell with counsel,
And I call upon knowledge and understanding.
13 The fear of the Lord hates unrighteousness,
And both rudeness and arrogance, and the ways of wicked men;
And I hate the perverted ways of evil men.
14 Counsel and safety are mine;
Discernment is mine, and strength is mine;
15 By me, kings reign,
And princes write of righteousness;
16 By me, noblemen become great,
And by me, monarchs have power in the land.
17 I love those who love me,
And those who seek me shall find me.
18 Riches and glory belong to me,
And abundant possessions, and righteousness;
19 It is better to enjoy my fruits than gold and precious stones,
And my fruits are better than choice silver.
20 I walk in the ways of righteousness,
And I am conversant with the paths of judgment;
21 That I may distribute substance to those who love me,
And may fill their treasuries with good things.

Divine Wisdom and the Father

22 "If I declare to you the things that happen daily,
I will also remember to recount the things of old.
23 The Lord created me in the beginning of His ways for His works;

He established me in the beginning before time,
24 Before He made the earth, and before He made the abysses,
Before the going forth of the fountains of waters,
25 Before the mountains were created;
And He begot me before all hills.
26 The Lord made the fields and the uninhabited places
And the inhabited heights under heaven.
27 When He prepared heaven, I was present with Him,
And when He set apart His throne upon the winds.
28 When He made strong the things above the clouds,
And made sure the fountains under heaven,
29 And made strong the foundations of the earth,
I was working beside Him;
30 I was He in whom He rejoiced;
Daily and continually I was gladdened by His face.
31 When He completed the world, He rejoiced,
And He rejoiced in the sons of men.
32 Now therefore, my son, hear me:
Blessed is the man who shall hearken to me
And the man who shall guard my ways;
33 Who watches daily at my doors,
Who keeps watch at the doors of my entryways;
34 For my issues are the issues of life,
And grace is prepared from the Lord.
35 But those who sin against me act ungodly toward their own souls,
And those who hate me love death.”

Proverbs 9

Wisdom’s Invitation

1 Wisdom built her house,
And she supported it with seven pillars.
2 She offered her sacrifices;
She mixed her wine in a bowl
And prepared her table.

3 She sent her servants,
Inviting people to the bowl with a lofty proclamation, saying,
4 "He who is without discernment,
Let him turn aside to me";
And to those in need of discernment, she says,
5 "Come, eat my bread
And drink the wine I mixed for you;
6 Forsake lack of discernment, and you shall live;
Seek discernment so you may live,
And keep straight your understanding with knowledge."

Wisdom: Let Us Attend!

7 He who chastises evil men shall receive dishonor to himself,
And he who reproves the ungodly man shall be blamed himself.
8 Do not reprove evil men, so they may not hate you;
Reprove a wise man, and he will love you.
9 Give the opportunity to a wise man, and he will be wiser;
Instruct a righteous man, and he shall continue to receive it.
10 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom,
And the counsel of saints is understanding;
For to know the law is characteristic of a good mind.
11 For in this manner you will live a long time,
And the years of your life shall be increased.
12 My son, if you become wise in yourself,
you shall also be wise toward your neighbor;
But if you prove to be evil, you alone will go through troubles.
13 He who supports himself with lies will shepherd winds
And chase flying birds;
14 For he abandoned the ways of his own vineyard
And strayed from paths of his own farming;
15 And he will pass through a waterless desert,
A land assigned to drought,
And he gathers barrenness with his hands.
16 A woman in need of a morsel is without discernment and overbold;

She has no sense of shame.
17She sits upon the doors of her own house,
Upon a seat openly in the streets,
18Calling to those who pass by
And who go straight along their paths,
19“He who is very lacking in discernment, let him turn aside to me;
And he who is in need of discernment, I exhort, saying,
20‘Grasp with pleasure the secret bread
And the sweet water of theft.’ ”
21But he does not know that the inhabitants of the earth perish beside her,
And he happens upon a snare of Hades.
22But hurry off, do not continue in that place,
Neither set your eye toward her;
23For so you shall pass through strange water
And cross beyond a strange river;
24And keep away from strange water,
And do not drink from a strange fountain;
25That you may live a long time
And add years of life to yourself.

Proverbs 10

The Wisdom of Solomon

1A wise son makes his father glad,
But a son without discernment is a grief to his mother.
2Treasures do not benefit lawless men,
But righteousness delivers from death.
3The Lord will not let the soul of the righteous man starve,
But He overthrows the life of the ungodly.
4Poverty humbles a man,
But the hands of courageous men enrich others.
5A son who is instructed will be wise,
And he will use a man without discernment as a servant.
6A son with understanding is kept safe from the heat,

But a lawless son is blasted by the wind at harvest time.
7 The blessing of the Lord is upon the head of a righteous man,
But untimely grief will cover the mouth of the ungodly.
8 The remembrance of the righteous is with eulogies,
But the name of an ungodly man is extinguished.
9 The wise man in heart will receive the commandments,
But the man unguarded in speech will be overthrown in his perverseness.
10 He who walks in sincerity walks confidently,
But he who perverts his ways will be known.
11 He who winks his eyes deceitfully gathers grief for men,
But he who reproves boldly is a peacemaker.
12 A fountain of life is in the hand of a righteous man,
But the mouth of an ungodly man will hide destruction.
13 Hatred stirs up strife,
But love covers all who are not lovers of strife.
14 He who brings forth wisdom from his lips
Beats a heartless man with a rod.
15 The wise will hide perception,
But the mouth of a rash man approaches destruction.
16 The acquisition of riches is a fortified city,
But poverty is the destruction of the ungodly.
17 The works of the righteous produce life,
But the fruits of the ungodly produce sins.
18 Instruction guards righteous ways of life,
But instruction incapable of criticism goes astray.
19 Righteous lips cover hatred,
But those who bring forth abuse are very lacking in discernment.
20 You will not escape sin by a multitude of words,
But you of discreet lips will be forbearing.
21 The tongue of a righteous man is silver tried in the fire,
But the heart of an ungodly man shall fail.
22 The lips of righteous men understand lofty things,
But men without discernment die in want.
23 The blessing of the Lord is upon the head of a righteous man;

It enriches him, and grief of heart will not be added to it.
24 A man without discernment does evil things with laughter,
But wisdom gives birth to discernment in a man.
25 The ungodly man is carried about in destruction,
But the desire of the righteous man is acceptable.
26 The ungodly man is destroyed by the passing storm,
But the righteous man turns aside and shall be saved forever.
27 As an unripe grape is harmful to the teeth and smoke to the eyes,
So is a lawless woman to the men who use her.
28 The fear of the Lord increases days,
But the years of the ungodly will be shortened.
29 Gladness continues for the righteous,
But the hope of the ungodly perishes.
30 The fear of the Lord is the stronghold of a holy man,
But destruction is for those who work evil.
31 A righteous man will never fail,
But the ungodly shall not inhabit the earth.
32 The mouth of a righteous man distills wisdom,
But the tongue of an unrighteous man utterly destroys.
33 The lips of righteous men distill grace,
But the mouth of the ungodly is perverse.

Proverbs 11

The Fruits of Righteousness

1 Deceitful scales are an abomination before the Lord,
But a righteous weight is acceptable to Him.
2 Wherever arrogance enters, there also is dishonor,
But the mouth of the humble meditates on wisdom.
3 When a righteous man dies, he leaves regret,
But the destruction of the ungodly is immediate and brings joy.
4 Righteousness cuts straight and blameless paths,
But ungodliness embraces wrongdoing.

5 The righteousness of upright men delivers them,
But lawless men are taken to their destruction.
6 When a righteous man dies, his hope does not perish,
But the boast of the ungodly perishes.
7 A righteous man escapes from a snare,
But the ungodly man is handed over in his place.
8 There is a snare for citizens in the mouth of the ungodly,
But the perception of the righteous is prosperous.
9 A city stays upright in the good things of the righteous,
But it is razed to the ground by the mouths of the ungodly.
10 A man in need of discernment treats citizens with contempt,
But a man of discernment keeps quiet.
11 A double-tongued man reveals deliberations heard in council,
But a man faithful in spirit conceals matters.
12 Those for whom there is no leadership fall like leaves,
But there is salvation in much counsel.
13 A wicked man does evil whenever he meets a righteous man,
And he hates the sound of stability.
14 A thankful woman raises up glory to her husband,
But a throne of dishonor is a woman who hates righteousness.
15 Lazy men are in need of wealth,
But courageous men support themselves with wealth.
16 A merciful man does good to his soul,
But an unmerciful man utterly destroys his body.
17 An ungodly man does unrighteous works,
But the seed of the righteous is a reward of truth.
18 A righteous son is begotten unto life,
But the persecution of an ungodly man is unto death.
19 Perverse ways are an abomination to the Lord,
But all who are blameless in their ways are acceptable to Him.
20 He who joins hands with the unrighteous will not go unpunished,
But he who sows righteousness will receive a faithful reward.
21 Like a ring in the nose of a wild swine,

So is beauty to an evil-minded woman.
22 Every desire of the righteous is good,
But the hope of the ungodly is destruction.
23 There are those who sow their own things and produce more things,
And there are those who gather but have less.
24 Every sincere soul is blessed,
But an angry man is not graceful.
25 May the one who hoards grain leave it to the nations,
But may blessing be upon the head of the one who shares it.
26 He who plans good things seeks good grace,
But he who seeks evil, it will capture him.
27 He who trusts in riches, this man will fall,
But he who helps the righteous, this man will rise.
28 He who does not deal graciously with his own house will inherit the wind,
And a man without discernment will be servant to one with discernment.
29 A tree of life springs up from the fruit of righteousness,
But the souls of the lawless will be taken away before their time.
30 If the righteous man is scarcely saved,
Then where shall an ungodly man and a sinner appear?

Proverbs 12

The Riches of Righteousness

1 He who loves instruction loves perception,
But he who hates correction is without discernment.
2 He who finds grace from the Lord becomes better,
But a lawless man will be passed over in silence.
3 A man will not prosper by lawlessness,
But the roots of righteous men will not be pulled out.
4 A courageous wife is a crown to her husband,
But as a worm in a tree, so an evildoing wife destroys her husband.

5 The thoughts of the righteous are judgments,
But the ungodly devise deceits.
6 The words of the ungodly are deceitful,
But the mouth of the upright shall deliver them.
7 If he does not turn, an ungodly man is destroyed,
But the houses of the righteous remain.
8 The mouth of a man of understanding is praised by a man,
But the slothful of heart are treated with contempt.
9 It is better for a man in dishonor to serve himself
Than for him to surround himself with honor while in need of bread.
10 A righteous man has compassion on the lives of his cattle,
But the affections of the ungodly are without mercy.
11 He who works his own land will be satisfied with bread,
But those who pursue vain things are in need of discernment.
12 He who is gladdened by wines in passing his time
Shall leave dishonor in his own strongholds.
13 The desires of the ungodly are evil,
But the roots of the godly are in strongholds.
14 By the sin of his lips a sinner falls into snares,
But a righteous man escapes from them.
15 He whose looks are gentle will show mercy,
But he who contends in the gates will afflict souls.
16 By the fruits of his mouth, the soul of a man will be filled with good things,
And the recompense of his lips will be given to him.
17 The ways of undiscerning men are right in their own eyes,
But a wise man hearkens to counsels.
18 A man without discernment immediately proclaims his wrath,
But an astute man hides his own dishonor.
19 A righteous man declares his honesty openly,
But the witness of the unrighteous is deceitful.
20 There are those who wound with a sword as they speak,
But the tongues of the wise heal.
21 Truthful lips establish a testimony,
But a hasty witness has an unrighteous tongue.

22 There is deceit in the heart of a man who devises evil things,
But those who counsel peace shall be glad.
23 Nothing unrighteous will ever be pleasing to the righteous,
But the ungodly will be filled with evil things.
24 Lying lips are an abomination to the Lord,
But he who shows faithfulness is acceptable to Him.
25 A man of understanding is a throne of perception,
But the heart of the undiscerning will meet with curses.
26 The hand of the chosen shall prevail easily,
But the deceitful shall be for captivity.
27 A fearful word troubles the heart of a righteous man,
But a good message makes him glad.
28 A righteous arbiter shall be his own friend,
But the decisions of the ungodly are unreasonable.
29 Evil things shall pursue sinners,
And the way of the ungodly will lead them astray.
30 A deceitful man will not gain his prey,
But a pure man is a precious possession.
31 In the ways of righteousness there is life,
But the ways of remembering wrongs are unto death.

The Godly and the Ungodly

1 An astute son is obedient to his father,
But a disobedient son is for destruction.
2 A good man eats from the fruits of righteousness,
But the souls of the lawless will destroy themselves before their time.
3 He who guards his mouth keeps his own soul,
But he who is hasty with his lips will dismay himself.
4 Every idle man has desire,
But the hands of the courageous are diligent.
5 A righteous man hates an unrighteous word,
But an ungodly man is ashamed and will not have confidence.

6 Righteousness guards the simple,
But sin makes the ungodly worthless.
7 There are those with nothing who make themselves rich,
And there are those, though very rich, who humble themselves.
8 The ransom of a man's soul is his own wealth,
But the poor man does not withstand a threat.
9 Light is with the righteous continually,
But the light of the ungodly is extinguished.
10 Deceitful souls are led astray in sins,
But the righteous have compassion and are merciful.
11 An evil man does evil things with arrogance,
But those who know themselves are wise.
12 Property hastily gained with lawlessness becomes diminished,
But he who gathers for himself with godliness will be increased;
A righteous man has compassion and lends.
13 A man who begins to give aid heartily is better
Than he who only promises and leads another to hope;
A good desire is a tree of life.
14 He who despises a matter will be despised by it,
But he who fears the commandment, this man is in good health.
15 To a deceitful son there shall be nothing good,
But for a wise servant, his deeds shall be prosperous,
And his way shall be led aright.
16 The law of the wise is a fountain of life,
But the man without understanding will die by a snare.
17 A good understanding gives grace,
And to know the law is to be of a good mind,
But the ways of scorners are destructive.
18 Every astute man acts with knowledge,
But the man without discernment spreads out his own evil.
19 A rash king falls into evil things,
But a faithful messenger rescues him.

20 Instruction removes poverty and dishonor,
And he who gives heed to rebukes will be glorified.
21 The desires of the godly gladden the soul,
But the works of the ungodly are far from knowledge.
22 He who walks with the wise shall be wise,
But he who walks with those without discernment will be known.
23 Evil things shall pursue sinners,
But good things will overtake the righteous.
24 A good man will inherit sons of sons,
But the wealth of the ungodly will be stored up for the righteous.
25 The righteous shall live in wealth many years,
But the unrighteous will be destroyed suddenly.
26 He who spares the rod hates his son,
But he who loves him instructs him with care.
27 A righteous man eats and satisfies his soul,
But the souls of the ungodly are in want.

Proverbs 14

Righteousness at Home

1 Wise women build houses,
But those without discernment destroy them with their hands.
2 He who walks uprightly fears the Lord,
But he who is crooked in his ways will be dishonored.
3 From the mouth of a man without discernment comes a rod of arrogance,
But the lips of wise men guard themselves.
4 Where there are no oxen, the stalls are clean,
But where there are abundant crops, the strength of an ox is evident.
5 A faithful witness does not lie,
But an unrighteous witness kindles lies.
6 You will seek wisdom in the company of evil men, and you will not find it;

But perception is easily found with the discerning.
7 All things are contrary to a man without discernment,
But the weapons of perception are wise lips.
8 The wisdom of astute men will know their ways,
But the folly of men without discernment is in their deceit.
9 The houses of the lawless are due for purification,
But the houses of the righteous are acceptable.
10 If the heart of a man is controlled by feelings, his soul is sorrowful,
But when he rejoices, it is not mingled with arrogance.
11 The houses of the ungodly will be destroyed,
But the tents of the upright shall stand.
12 There is a road that seems to be right with men,
But the ends of it reach into the depths of Hades.
13 Sorrow does not mingle with gladness,
But in the end, this joy turns to sorrow.
14 A bold-hearted man will be filled with his own ways,
But a good man with all his thoughts.
15 A simple man believes in every word,
But an astute man comes to repentance.
16 A wise man fears and turns away from evil,
But a man without discernment persuades himself to mingle with a lawless man.
17 A quick-tempered man acts with recklessness,
But a man with discernment bears many things.
18 Men without discernment will share in evil,
But the astute will take hold of perception.
19 Evil men will slip and fall in the presence of good men,
And the ungodly shall serve at the gate of the righteous.
20 Friends will hate poor friends,
But the friends of the rich are many.
21 He who dishonors the poor sins,
But he who has mercy on the poor is very blessed.
22 Deceivers devise evil things,
But good men devise mercy and truth.
23 Devisers of evil things do not understand mercy and faithfulness,

But mercies and faithfulness are with devisers of good things.
24To everyone who is careful there is an abundance,
But he who is pleasure-taking and slothful shall be in want.
25The crown of the wise is astuteness,
But the pastime of the undiscerning is evil.
26A faithful witness will rescue a soul from evil men,
But a deceitful man kindles lies.
27In the fear of the Lord there is hope of strength,
And to His children there remains support.
28The command of the Lord is a fountain of life,
For it causes one to turn from the snare of death.
29The glory of a king is in a large nation,
But the destruction of a ruler is in a lack of people.
30A longsuffering man is strong in discernment,
But the fainthearted man is strongly without discernment.
31A man with a gentle spirit is a healer of the heart,
But a sensual heart is the moth of the bones.
32He who oppresses the poor provokes his Maker,
But he who honors Him has mercy upon a poor man.
33In his evil an ungodly man will be rejected,
But a righteous man has confidence in his own holiness.
34There is wisdom in the good heart of a man,
But wisdom is unknown in the heart of those without discernment.
35Righteousness exalts a nation,
But sins diminish tribes.
36A wise servant is acceptable to a king,
And by his own versatility he removes dishonor.

Righteous Responses

1Wrath destroys even men of discernment;
But a humble answer turns away anger,
And a grievous word stirs up wrath.
2The tongue of the wise understands good things,

But the mouth of those without discernment proclaims evil things.
3 The eyes of the Lord are in every place;
They keep watch over both the evil and the good.
4 The healing of the tongue is a tree of life,
And the one who guards it will be filled with the Spirit.
5 A son without discernment treats the instruction of his father with contempt,
But the one who guards his commandments is more astute.
6 In abundant righteousness there is much strength,
But the ungodly shall utterly perish from the earth.
7 In the houses of the righteous there is much strength,
But the fruits of the ungodly shall perish.
8 The lips of the wise are bound by perception,
But the hearts of those without discernment are not safe.
9 The sacrifices of the ungodly are an abomination to the Lord,
But the prayers of the upright are acceptable with Him.
10 The ways of the ungodly are an abomination to the Lord,
But He loves those who pursue righteousness.
11 The instruction of the simple is known by those who pass by,
But those who hate reproofs will die shamefully.
12 Hades and destruction are manifest before the Lord;
How can the hearts of men not be also?
13 An uninstructed man will not love those who reprove him,
And he will not keep company with the wise.
14 When one's heart is glad, his face is cheerful,
But when it is in grief, his face is sad.
15 The upright heart seeks perception,
But the mouth of the uninstructed will know evil things.
16 The eyes of evil men are waiting for evil things all the time,
But good men are at rest continually.
17 Better is a small portion with the fear of the Lord
Than great treasures with lack of fear.
18 Better is a dinner of herbs with friendship and grace
Than a fatted calf with hostility.

19 An angry man stirs up contention,
But a longsuffering man even calms the rising quarrel.
20 A longsuffering man will extinguish condemnations,
But the ungodly man stirs up more.
21 The ways of idle men are strewn with thorny plants,
But the thorny plants of the courageous are worn smooth.
22 A wise son gladdens a father,
But a son without discernment treats his mother with contempt.
23 The paths of one without understanding are in need of discernment,
But a man with discernment walks uprightly.
24 Those not honoring councils defer their deliberations,
But counsel remains in the hearts of those who resolve to do it.
25 The evil man will not obey counsel,
Nor will he speak anything appropriate, even something for the common good.
26 The thoughts of a wise man are his ways of life,
That he might turn aside and be saved from Hades.
27 The Lord will destroy the houses of the arrogant,
But He will strengthen the boundary of a widow.
28 The thinking of the unrighteous man is an abomination to the Lord,
But the words of the holy are sacred.
29 He who receives bribes utterly destroys himself,
But he who hates the receiving of bribes saves himself.
30 Sins are cleansed by almsgiving and faithfulness,
And by the fear of the Lord everyone turns aside from evil.
31 The hearts of the righteous care about faithfulness,
But the mouth of the ungodly answers evil things.
32 The ways of righteous men are acceptable before the Lord,
And through them even enemies become friends.
33 God is far from the ungodly,
But He hears the prayers of the righteous.
34 Better is a small yield with the righteous
Than abundant fruits with the unrighteous.

35 Let the heart of a man think righteous things
That he may make his steps straight under God.
36 The eye that beholds good things gladdens the heart,
But a good report enriches the bones.
37 He who rejects instruction hates himself,
But he who gives heed to reproofs loves his soul.
38 The fear of God is instruction and wisdom,
And the beginning of glory will respond to it.

Proverbs 16

Humility, Discernment, and Righteousness

1 All the works of the humble are evident before the Lord,
But the ungodly will be destroyed in the evil day.
2 Every high-hearted man is unclean before the Lord,
And he who joins hands with the unrighteous will not go unpunished.
3 The beginning of a good way is to do righteous things,
And this is more acceptable to God than to offer sacrifices.
4 He who seeks the Lord will find knowledge with righteousness,
And those who seek Him rightly will find peace.
5 All the works of the Lord are with righteousness,
But the ungodly man is kept for an evil day.
6 There is an oracle on the lips of a king,
And his mouth does not err in judgment.
7 The weight of a scale is righteousness before the Lord,
For His works are righteous standards.
8 He who does evil things is an abomination to a king,
For the throne of a ruler is prepared with righteousness.
9 Righteous lips are acceptable to a king,
And he loves upright words.
10 The wrath of a king is a messenger of death,
But a wise man will appease him.
11 The son of a king is in the light of life,
And those acceptable to him are as a cloud of the latter rain.

12 The abodes of wisdom are more to be chosen than gold,
And the abodes of discernment are more to be chosen than silver.
13 The paths of life turn away from evil,
And the ways of righteousness are length of life;
14 He who receives instruction shall be in good things,
And he who heeds rebukes shall become wise;
15 He who guards his own ways shall keep his own soul,
And he who loves his life shall use his mouth sparingly.
16 Arrogance goes before destruction
And folly before a fall.
17 A gentle mind with humility is better
Than he who divides spoils with the arrogant.
18 A man wise in his deeds is a discoverer of good things,
But he who trusts in God is the most blessed.
19 Men call the wise and understanding worthless,
But those pleasing in speech will increase in understanding.
20 Understanding is a fountain of life to those who possess it,
But the instruction of those without discernment is evil.
21 The heart of a wise man shall understand the things from his own mouth,
And he shall carry knowledge upon his lips.
22 Good words are a honeycomb,
And their sweetness is a healing of the soul.
23 There are ways that seem right to a man;
However, their ends look to the depths of Hades.
24 A man labors diligently for himself
And expels destruction from himself;
However, a perverse man carries destruction on his lips.
25 A man without discernment digs up evil things for himself
And stores up fire on his own lips.
26 A perverse man spreads evil things,
And a torch of deceit kindles evils and separates friends.
27 A lawless man makes a trial of friends
And leads them in ways not good.
28 A man sets his eyes to calculate perverse things
And determines every evil thing with his lips;

This man is a furnace of wickedness.
29 Old age is a crown of dignity,
But it is found in the ways of righteousness.
30 A patient man is better than a strong man,
And he who controls his temper is better than he who captures a city.
31 All evil things come into the bosoms of the unrighteous,
But all righteous things come from the Lord.

Proverbs 17

Family and Friends

1 Better is a morsel with enjoyment in peace
Than a house full of many good things and unrighteous sacrifices with quarreling.
2 A servant with discernment shall rule over masters without discernment,
And will divide portions among brethren.
3 As silver and gold are tested in a furnace,
So are chosen hearts before the Lord.
4 An evil man heeds the tongue of the lawless,
But a righteous man pays no attention to false lips.
5 He who laughs at the poor provokes the One who made him,
And he who rejoices in destruction will not be unpunished;
But he who has compassion will be shown mercy.
6 The crown of old men is children of children,
And the boasting of children is their fathers.
7 The entire world of goods belongs to the faithful,
But to the faithless, not even a penny.
8 Faithful lips will not adapt to a man without discernment,
Nor lying lips to a righteous man.
9 Instruction awards benefits to those using it,
And wherever it turns, it prospers them.
10 He who hides wrongdoings seeks love,
But he who hates to cover them will separate friends and close relatives.

[11]A threat breaks the heart of a man with discernment,
But a man without discernment, though flogged, has no perception.
[12]Every evil man stirs up controversy,
But the Lord will send him a merciless messenger.
[13]Care will befall a thoughtful man,
But men without discernment devise evil things.
[14]He who repays evil for good,
Evil will not be removed from his house.
[15]The foundation of righteousness gives authority to words,
But discord and quarreling precede poverty.
[16]He who judges the unrighteous as righteous, and the righteous as unrighteous,
He is unclean and abominable before God.
[17]Why do goods belong to a man without discernment?
For a heartless man is unable to gain wisdom.
[18]He who makes his own house lofty seeks destruction,
And the one who turns away from learning will fall into evils.
[19]Let a friend be with you on every occasion,
And let brethren be useful in necessities,
For they are begotten for this reason.
[20]A man without discernment applauds and rejoices over himself,
As also the one who gives himself as surety for his friend.
[21]He who loves sin rejoices in quarrels,
And the hard-hearted man does not assemble with good men.
[22]A changeable man will fall into evils with his tongue,
And a heart without discernment is grief to the one possessing it.
[23]A father does not delight in an uninstructed son;
But a son with discernment gladdens his mother.
[24]A cheerful heart makes a man healthy,
But the bones of a sorrowful man dry him up.
[25]The ways of a man who receives gifts unrighteously do not prosper,
And the ungodly man shuns the ways of righteousness.
[26]The face of a wise man shows understanding,

But the eyes of the man without discernment are upon the ends of the earth.
[27]A son without discernment is wrath to a father
And grief to her who bore him.
[28]It is not good to punish a righteous man,
Nor is it holy to plot against righteous princes.
[29]He who refrains from uttering a harsh word is intelligent,
And a longsuffering man has discernment.
[30]Wisdom shall be imputed to a man without understanding who asks for wisdom,
And anyone who holds his peace will seem to have discernment.

Proverbs 18

Words and Works

[1]A man seeks a pretext when he wishes to separate from his friends,
But he shall be reproached at every opportunity.
[2]A man lacking understanding has no need of wisdom,
For he is rather led by lack of discernment.
[3]When an ungodly man comes into the depth of evil things, he acts contemptuously,
But dishonor and reproach come upon him.
[4]A word in the heart of a man is deep water,
And a river and a fountain of life spring up from it.
[5]It is not good to admire the person of the ungodly,
Nor is it holy to pervert righteousness in judgment.
[6]The lips of a man without discernment lead him into evil things,
And his rash mouth calls upon death.
[7]The mouth of a man without discernment is destruction to him,
And his lips are the snare of his soul.
[8]Fear destroys slothful men,
And the souls of cowardly men shall hunger.

9 He who does not heal himself by his works,
He is the brother of him who maltreats himself.
10 The name of the Lord is of great strength,
And when the righteous run to it, they are exalted.
11 The substance of a rich man is a strong city,
And its glory casts a great shadow.
12 Before its destruction, the heart of a man exalts itself,
And before its glory, it humbles itself.
13 He who replies to a word before he hears it
Lacks discernment, and this is a reproach to him.
14 A servant with discernment calms the anger of a man,
But who can support a discouraged man?
15 A heart of discernment gains perception,
And the ears of the wise seek understanding.
16 The gift of a man enlarges him
And seats him beside princes.
17 When a prosecutor speaks first, he seems righteous,
But when the defendant examines his case, he is reproved.
18 An allotment of land ends controversies,
And it determines the boundary between princes.
19 A brother aided by his brother is like a strong and fortified city,
And he is strong like a well-founded palace.
20 From the fruits of his mouth a man fills his stomach,
And from the fruits of his lips he will fill himself to the full.
21 Life and death are in the hand of a tongue,
And those who rule over it will eat the fruits thereof.
22 He who finds a good wife finds benefits
And receives cheerfulness from God.
23 He who casts out a good wife casts out good things,
And he who keeps adulteresses is without discernment and is ungodly.

Proverbs 19

Mercy and Malice

[1]A man’s lack of discernment maltreats his ways,
And in his heart he blames God.
[2]Wealth adds many friends,
But the poor man is even forsaken by an existing friend.
[3]A false witness shall not be unpunished,
And he who accuses unrighteously shall not escape.
[4]Many men serve in the presence of kings,
But every evil man becomes a reproach to another man.
[5]Every man who hates his poor brother,
He shall be far from friendship.
[6]Good understanding will draw near those who know it,
And a man with discernment will find it.
[7]He who does many evil things perfects wickedness,
And he who provokes with words,
He shall not be saved.
[8]He who gains discernment loves himself,
And he who guards discernment will find good things.
[9]A false witness shall not be unpunished,
And he who kindles evil will perish by it.
[10]Luxury is not profitable for a man without discernment,
And it is not good if a servant begins to rule with arrogance.
[11]A merciful man is longsuffering,
And his boast goes against the lawless.
[12]The anger of a king is like the roar of a lion,
But as dew upon the grass, thus is his grace.
[13]A son without discernment is a disgrace to his father,
And vows paid from the wage of a prostitute are not pure.
[14]Fathers divide the house and property to their children,
But a wife is suited to her husband by God.
[15]Cowardice possesses a weak man,
And the soul of the idle man will be hungry.
[16]He who guards the commandment keeps his soul,
But he who despises his ways shall perish.
[17]The one who has mercy on the poor lends to God,
And He will repay him according to his gift.
[18]Instruct your son, for thus he shall be hopeful,
But do not lift up your soul in arrogance.

19 A malicious man shall be punished severely,
And if he commits injury, he will also add this to his soul.
20 Hear, my son, the instruction of your father,
That you may become wise in your last days.
21 There are many thoughts in the heart of a man,
But the counsel of the Lord abides forever.
22 Mercy is fruit to a man,
And a poor righteous man is better than a rich liar.
23 The fear of the Lord is unto life for a man,
And he shall lodge without fear in places where knowledge is not examined.
24 A man who hides his hands in his bosom unrighteously,
He will not even bring them up to his mouth.
25 When a pestilent man is punished, a man without discernment becomes more astute,
But if you reprove a discerning man, he will understand perception.
26 He who dishonors his father and pushes away his mother,
He will be shamed and reproached.
27 A son who forsakes guarding his father's instruction,
He will think about evil sayings.
28 He who becomes surety for an undiscerning child despises the ordinance,
And the mouth of the ungodly swallows judgments.
29 Lashes are prepared for the intemperate
And punishments for the shoulders of those without discernment.

Proverbs 20

Double Standards or Single-Mindedness

1 Wine is an intemperate thing, and strong drink is full of violence;
And all who commingle with it will not be wise.
2 The threat of a king does not differ from the anger of a lion,
And he who provokes him sins against his own soul.

3 It is glory for a man to turn away from reproaches,
But every man without discernment is entangled with such things.
4 A lazy man who is reproached feels no shame;
Likewise also is he who borrows bread in harvest.
5 Counsel is deep water in the heart of a man,
And a man with discernment will draw it out.
6 Man is important, and a man who shows mercy is noble,
But it is difficult to find a faithful man.
7 He who lives blamelessly in righteousness,
He will leave blessed children behind him.
8 When a righteous king sits upon the throne,
No evil thing can oppose his presence.
9 Who will boast about having a pure heart?
Or who will declare boldly being clean from sins?
10 The lamp of him who reviles his father or mother shall be put out,
And the pupils of his eyes shall see darkness.
11 A portion gained hastily in the beginning
Will not be blessed at the end.
12 Do not say, “I will avenge myself on the enemy,”
But wait on the Lord, that you may be helped.
13 A weight, great and small, and a double standard,
Both are also unclean before the Lord.
14 And the one who uses these things in his pursuits will be entangled;
But a young man with holiness, his road is straight.
15 The ear hears and the eye sees;
Both are also works of the Lord.
16 Do not love to speak ill,
That you may not be taken away;
17 Open your eyes,
And you will be filled with bread.
18 A double standard is an abomination to the Lord,
And a deceitful scale is not good before Him.
19 Steps are made straight for a man by the Lord,
But how can a mortal man understand His ways?

20 It is a snare for a man to quickly sanctify something of his own things as holy,
Then after making this vow, to come to a change of heart.
21 A wise king is a winnower of the ungodly,
And he casts them upon the wheel of torture.
22 The breath of man is the light of the Lord,
Who searches the inner man.
23 Mercy and truth are a guard for the king,
And they will encircle his throne with righteousness.
24 Wisdom is an ornament to young men,
And the glory of old men is their gray hair.
25 Bruises and fractures happen to evil men,
And plagues shall come into their inner man.

Proverbs 21

Godliness: Willing to Do God's Will

1 As a flow of water, so is the heart of the king in the hand of God;
Wherever He wills to incline it, there he turns it.
2 Every man appears righteous to himself,
But the Lord makes hearts right.
3 To do righteous things and to speak the truth
Are more pleasing before God than the blood of sacrifices.
4 A high-minded man is bold-hearted in his arrogance,
And the lamp of the ungodly is sin.
5 He who produces treasures with a lying tongue
Pursues worthless things upon the snares of death.
6 Destruction shall entertain the ungodly,
For they are not willing to do righteous things.
7 To the crooked, God sends crooked ways,
For His works are pure and upright.
8 It is better to dwell in a corner in the open air
Than with wrongdoing in plastered rooms and in a shared house.
9 The soul of the ungodly will not be shown mercy by anyone among men.

10 When the intemperate man is punished, the simple man becomes more astute,
And a wise man of understanding shall receive knowledge.
11 A righteous man understands the hearts of the ungodly,
And he despises the ungodly in their evils.
12 He who closes his ears that he might not listen to the weak,
He will also call upon someone, and there will be no one listening.
13 A secret gift calms anger,
But he who refrains from giving gifts stirs up strong anger.
14 It is the joy of the righteous to do judgment,
But a holy man is unclean before evildoers.
15 A man who wanders from the way of righteousness
Shall rest in an assembly of giants.
16 A man in need loves merriment,
Loving wine and oil as wealth.
17 A lawless man is the outcast of a righteous man.
18 It is better to live in a desert
Than with a contentious, talkative, and quick-tempered woman.
19 A treasury of desire will rest upon the mouth of a wise man,
But men without discernment shall swallow it.
20 The way of righteousness and mercy shall find life and glory.
21 A wise man assaults fortified cities
And pulls down the stronghold the ungodly trust.
22 He who guards his mouth and tongue
Keeps his soul from tribulation.
23 A troublemaker is called rash, arrogant, and boastful,
And he who bears malice is called lawless.
24 Desires kill a slothful man,
For his hands choose not to do anything.
25 The ungodly man desires evil all day long,
But the righteous man shows mercy and compassion unsparingly.
26 The sacrifices of the ungodly are an abomination to the Lord,

For they offer them lawlessly.
27A false witness shall perish,
But an obedient man will speak guardedly.
28An ungodly man resists shamelessly to the face,
But the upright man himself understands his ways.
29There is no wisdom, there is no courage,
There is no counsel for the ungodly.
30The horse is prepared for the day of war,
But help is from the Lord.

Proverbs 22

Rich Man, Poor Man

1A good name is to be chosen more than much wealth,
And good grace more than silver and gold.
2The rich man and the poor man meet with one another,
But the Lord made both.
3An astute man, seeing an evil man severely punished, is himself instructed,
But those passing by without discernment suffer loss.
4The fear of the Lord and riches and glory and life
Are the offspring of wisdom.
5Thorns and snares are in the ways of the crooked,
But he who guards his own soul will keep away from them.
6The rich will rule over the poor,
And servants will lend to their own masters.
7He who sows worthless things will reap evil things,
And bring to an end the plague of his works.
8God blesses a cheerful man and a giver,
And he will bring to an end the vanity of his works.
9He who shows mercy to a poor man shall himself be supported,
For he gave his own bread to the poor man.
10He who gives gifts to a poor man gains victory and honor for himself;

However, he who buys him takes away his soul.
11 Cast out a pestilent man from the assembly,
And contention will go out with him;
For whenever he sits in the assembly, he dishonors everyone.
12 The Lord loves holy hearts,
And all the blameless are acceptable to Him;
13 A king governs lips.
14 And the eyes of the Lord maintain perception,
But the lawless man despises His words.
15 A slothful man makes excuses and says,
“There is a lion in the way, and murderers in the streets.”
16 The mouth of a lawless man is a deep pit,
And the man hated by the Lord shall fall into it.
17 Evil ways are before a man,
And he does not love to turn away from them,
But it is necessary to turn away from a crooked and evil way.
18 Folly fastens itself to the heart of a child,
For the rod and instruction are far from him.
19 He who oppresses a poor man increases his possessions,
Yet he gives them to a rich man to lessen them.
20 Incline your ear to the words of the wise and hear my word,
And establish your heart, that you may know they are good.
21 And if you apply them to your heart,
They will gladden you and at the same time be upon your lips;
22 That your hope might be in the Lord,
And His way might be known to you.
23 And register them upon the breadth of your heart for yourself threefold,
For counsel and knowledge.
24 Therefore, I teach you a true word and good knowledge to be obeyed,
That you might answer words of truth to those who question you.
25 Do not rob the poor, for he is needy,
And do not dishonor the helpless at the gates;
26 For the Lord will judge his cause,

And you will deliver your soul from violence.
27 Do not be a companion to an angry man
And do not associate with a quick-tempered friend,
28 Lest you learn his ways
And receive a snare for your soul.
29 Do not give yourself as surety because you respect a person,
For if you do not have the wherewithal to make compensation,
They will take your bed out from under you.
30 Do not remove the eternal landmarks your fathers established.
31 An observant man and one astute in his business
Should be present with kings,
And he should not be present with slothful men.

Proverbs 23

Understanding and Priorities

1 If you sit down to dine at a table of princes,
Understand carefully the things put before you;
2 And apply your hand,
Knowing you should prepare certain things;
3 And if you are insatiable, do not desire its delicacies,
For these things belong to a false life.
4 If you are poor, do not measure yourself with a rich man,
But keep away from this in your thinking;
5 If you fix your eye on him, he will disappear,
For wings like an eagle's are prepared for him,
And he returns to the house of his master.
6 Do not dine with an envious man,
Neither desire his foods;
7 For as someone who may swallow a hair,
So he eats and drinks.
8 Neither invite him in, nor eat your morsel with him;
For he will vomit it forth and maltreat your good words.

9 Speak nothing into the ears of a man without discernment,
Lest he treat your wise words with contempt.
10 Do not remove the eternal landmarks,
And do not enter the possession of orphans.
11 For the Lord who redeems them is mighty,
And He will judge their cause with you.
12 Give your heart to instruction,
And prepare your ears for words of perception.
13 Do not withhold instruction from a child,
For if you should strike him with a rod, he would not die;
14 For you shall strike him with a rod
And deliver his soul from death.
15 My son, if your heart becomes wise,
You will also gladden my heart;
16 And your lips shall spend time with the words on my lips,
If they be upright.
17 Do not let your heart envy sinners,
But be in fear of the Lord the whole day long.
18 For if you keep these words, you shall have offspring,
And your hope will not depart from you.

A Father's Counsel on Wine and Women

19 Hear, my son, and become wise,
And direct aright the thoughts of your heart.
20 Do not be a wine-bibber,
Neither provide contributions of meats or goods at drinking parties.
21 For every drunkard and fornicator shall become impoverished,
And every sluggard shall clothe himself with tattered and ragged garments.
22 Hear, my son, your father who begot you,
And do not despise your mother because she has grown old.
23 A righteous father rears his child well,
And his soul rejoices in a wise son.
24 Let your father and mother be glad in you,
And let her who bore you rejoice.

25My son, give me your heart,
And let your eyes observe my ways;
26For a house of prostitution is a pierced vessel
And a strange and empty well;
27For he shall perish suddenly,
And every lawless man shall be destroyed.
28Who has woe? Who has tumult? Who has condemnation?
Who has unpleasantness and gossip?
Who has afflictions with no purpose?
Whose eyes are pale?
29Is it not those who linger long with wines?
Is it not those who hunt for the whereabouts of drinking parties?
30Do not be drunk with wine, but keep company with righteous men,
And keep company in public walks;
31For if you set your eyes to the bowls and cups,
Afterward you will walk about more naked than ground meat.
32And at last, he stretches himself out as one bitten by a serpent,
And the venom spreads through him as one bitten by a horned serpent.
33When your eyes behold a strange woman,
Then your mouth will speak twisted things;
34And you will lie down as in the heart of the sea
And as a pilot in a great storm;
35And you will say, “They beat me, but I did not suffer,
And they mocked me, but I knew it not;
36When will it be morning,
That I may go seek those with whom I may company?”

Proverbs 24

Issues of Life and Death

1My son, do not envy evil men,
Neither desire to be with them;

2For their heart ponders a lie,
And their lips speak of sufferings.
3A house is built with wisdom,
And it is built up with understanding.
4Storehouses are filled with perception
From all honorable and good riches.
5It is better to be a wise man of strength
And a man having discernment, than to be a man who has a large estate.
6War comes with the skill of a commander,
But help comes with the heart of a counselor.
7Wisdom and good thinking are in the gates of the wise;
The wise do not turn away from the mouth of the Lord,
But they deliberate with councils;
8Death happens to the uninstructed,
And a man without discernment shall die in his sins;
9And uncleanness will pollute a pestilent man
In an evil day and a day of tribulation, until he dies.
10Rescue those being led into death,
And saw off the bonds of those being cast out; do not spare them help;
11If you say, “I do not know this man,”
Know that the Lord knows the hearts of all;
12And He who formed every breath knows all things,
Who will render to each man according to his works.
13My son, eat honey, for the honeycomb is good,
That your throat may be sweetened.
14Thus you shall discern wisdom for your soul,
For if you find it, there will be a good end to your life;
And hope will not abandon you.
15Do not bring an ungodly man to the dwelling of the righteous,
Neither be deceived by the full satisfaction of the stomach.
16For a righteous man will fall seven times and rise again,
But the ungodly shall weaken in evils.
17If your enemy falls, do not rejoice over him,
And do not exalt yourself at his stumbling;

18 Because the Lord will see this, and it will not please Him,
And He will turn His anger from him.
19 Do not rejoice in evildoers,
Nor envy sinners;
20 For there is no future for evil men,
And the lamp of the ungodly shall be put out.
21 Fear God, my son, and the king,
And disobey neither of them;
22 For suddenly they will take retribution on the ungodly,
And who will know the punishments of both?
23 A son who guards the word will be free from destruction,
For he receives it fully.
24 Let no lie be spoken from your tongue to the king,
And let no lie come from his tongue.
25 The tongue of the king is a sword and not of flesh,
And whoever it delivers, it will annihilate;
26 For if his anger is sharpened,
It destroys men with its sinews.
27 And it devours the bones of men,
And it burns like a flame,
So as to be inedible for the nestlings of eagles.
28 Now I say the following to you, the wise, to observe,
"It is not good to be partial in judgment."
29 He who says about an ungodly man, "He is righteous,"
Shall be accursed to people and despicable to nations;
30 But those who reprove him shall appear more excellent,
And a good blessing shall come upon them;
And they will kiss the lips that answer good words.
31 Prepare your works for your going forth,
And prepare yourself for the field;
32 And walk behind me,
And you shall build up your house.
33 Do not be a false witness against your countryman,
Neither open wide your lips;
34 Do not say, "I will treat him as he treated me,
And I shall avenge myself on him wherein he wronged me."
35 A man without discernment is like a field,

And a man in need of discernment is like a vineyard;
36 If you leave it alone, it will remain dry and barren,
Altogether covered with grass and forsaken,
And its stone walls will be razed to the ground.
37 Afterward, I repented;
I observed that I might choose instruction.
38 I doze a little, and I sleep a little,
And I fold my arms across my chest a little.
39 If you do this, your poverty shall go before you,
And want, like a strong runner.

Proverbs 25

1 These are the miscellaneous instructions of Solomon which the friends of Hezekiah, the King of Judah, wrote out.

2 The Glory of God hides a word,
And the glory of the king honors deeds.
3 Heaven is high, and earth is deep,
But the heart of the king is incapable of disproof.
4 Beat drossy silver,
And it will be made entirely clean.
5 Slay the ungodly from before the king,
And his throne shall be established in righteousness.
6 Do not brag on yourself in the presence of the king,
Neither stand in the places of princes;
7 For it is better that it be said to you, “Come up to me,”
Than for you to be humbled in the presence of a prince.
8 Speak the things your eyes see.
9 Do not enter into a quarrel quickly,
That you may not be sorry in the end.
10 When your friend reproaches you,
Retreat and do not despise him,
11 Lest your friend continue to reproach you,
And your quarrel and enmity shall not depart,
But be equal to death for you.

12 Grace and friendship free a man;
Keep these for yourself, that you may not be reproached,
But guard your ways peaceably.
13 As a golden apple in a small necklace of sardius stone,
Thus it is to speak a wise word.
14 As a very expensive sardius stone set in a golden earring,
So is a wise word to an obedient ear.
15 As the falling of snow in harvest is beneficial against the heat,
So is a faithful messenger to those who send him;
For he benefits the souls of those who use him.
16 As winds, clouds, and rains are evident,
So are those who boast in a false gift.
17 There is prosperity for kings in patience,
And a mild tongue breaks bones.
18 When you find honey, eat what is sufficient,
Lest being filled, you should vomit it up.
19 Seldom visit your own friend's house,
Lest he become fed up with your company and hate you.
20 As a club, a sword, and a pointed arrow,
So also is the man who testifies as a false witness against his friend.
21 The tooth of an evil man and the foot of a lawless man
Shall perish in an evil day.
22 As vinegar is bad for a festering wound,
So calamity befalling the body grieves the heart.
23 As a moth in a garment and a worm in wood,
So the grief of a man damages the heart.
24 If your enemy is hungry, feed him,
And if he is thirsty, give him drink.
25 For by doing this, you shall heap coals of fire on his head,
And the Lord will reward you with good things.
26 The north wind stirs up clouds,
And a shameless face provokes the tongue.
27 It is better to dwell in a corner on a housetop
Than in a house shared with an abusive woman.
28 As cold water is agreeable to a thirsty soul,

So is good news from a far-off land.
29 As if someone would stop a spring and corrupt an outlet of water,
So it is unseemly for a righteous man to fall before the ungodly.
30 It is not good to eat too much honey,
But it is necessary to honor words held in honor.
31 As an unfortified city whose walls are broken down,
So is a man who does something without counsel.

Proverbs 26

The Undiscerning Man

1 As dew in harvest and as rain in summer,
So honor is not for a man without discernment.
2 As birds and sparrows fly,
So a curse will not come upon anyone without a cause.
3 As a whip for a horse and a prod for a donkey,
So is a rod for a lawless nation.
4 Do not answer an undiscerning man in relation to his lack of discernment,
Lest you become like him.
5 But answer an undiscerning man contrary to his lack of discernment,
So he may not appear wise to himself.
6 He shall drink reproach at his own feet
Who sends a word through an undiscerning messenger.
7 Remove the motion of the legs
And a proverb from the mouth of men without discernment.
8 He who binds a stone in a sling
Is like one who gives glory to a man without discernment.
9 Thorny plants grow in the hand of a drunkard
And slavery in the hand of men without discernment.
10 All flesh of men without discernment grievously suffers many things,
For their illusion is brought to nothing.

11 As when a dog returns to his own vomit and becomes despicable,
So is a man without discernment who returns to his own evil by his own sin.
12 There is shame that brings on sin,
And there is shame that is glory and grace.
13 I saw a man who seemed to himself to be wise,
But a man without discernment has more hope than he.

The Slothful Man

14 A slothful man who is sent on his way says,
“There is a lion in the way.”
15 As a door turns upon its hinge,
So does a slothful man upon his bed.
16 When a slothful man hides his hand in his bosom,
He shall be unable to bring it to his mouth.
17 A slothful man appears wiser to himself
Than he who satisfactorily brings back a message.

The Scheming Man

18 As he who lays hold of a dog’s tail,
So is he who is the mouthpiece of another’s cause.
19 As those who need correction speak to others,
He who first replies to the word shall be tripped up,
20 So are all who set a trap for their own friends;
But when they are discovered, they say, “I did it in jest.”
21 A fire rages among many trees,
But where there is no disagreement, contention is at rest.
22 As a fireplace is for coals and wood for a fire,
So a contentious man kindles violence.
23 The words of a talebearer are mild
And they strike into the innermost affections.
24 Money given with deceit is like a sharp piece of broken pottery;
So smooth lips hide a heart that causes pain.
25 A weeping enemy promises everything with his lips,

But in his heart he devises deceits.
26 If your enemy entreats you with a loud voice,
Do not consent, for there are seven vices in his soul.
27 He who hides enmity contrives deceit,
But being well known in the assemblies, he exposes his own sins.
28 He who digs a pit for his neighbor shall fall into it,
And he who rolls a stone rolls it upon himself.
29 A lying tongue hates the truth,
And an unguarded mouth causes confusion.

Proverbs 27

Wisdom for Today

1 Do not boast about tomorrow,
For you do not know what the next day will bring forth.
2 Let your neighbor praise you, and not your own mouth;
A stranger, and not your own lips.
3 A stone is heavy, and sand is cumbersome;
But the wrath of a man without discernment is heavier than both.
4 Wrath is merciless and anger passionate,
But jealousy supports nothing.
5 Open reproofs are better than hidden love.
6 The wounds of a friend are more trustworthy
Than the voluntary kisses of an enemy.
7 A satiated soul mocks honeycombs,
But to a hungry soul, even bitter things appear sweet.
8 As when a bird flies down from its own nest,
So is a man enslaved whenever he becomes a fugitive from his own place.
9 The heart delights in perfumes, wines, and incenses,
But the soul is broken by mishaps.
10 Do not abandon your friend or the friend of your father,
And when you have misfortune, do not go to your brother's house;

A friend nearby is better than a brother far away.
11My son, become wise, that my heart may be glad,
And turn away from your reproachful words.
12An astute man hides when evils are at hand,
But when men without discernment are at hand, they will pay the penalty.
13If a haughty man passes by, take away his garment,
For he lays waste the goods of another.
14Whoever blesses a friend early in the morning with a loud voice,
He will not seem different from one who curses him.
15Continual dripping on a rainy day drives a man from his house;
In like manner, a contentious woman also drives a man from his own house.
16The north wind is a harsh wind,
And a prosperous man is called harsh.
17Iron sharpens iron,
And a man sharpens the countenance of his friend.
18Whoever plants a fig tree will eat its fruit,
And whoever guards his own master will be honored.
19As faces are not like other faces,
So neither are the hearts of men.
20Hades and destruction are not satiated;
In like manner the eyes of men are also insatiable.
21He whose eye is fixed is an abomination to the Lord,
And the uninstructed are intemperate with the tongue.
22Proving by fire is a way of testing for silver and gold,
But a man is tested by the mouth of those who praise him.
23A lawless heart seeks evil things,
But an upright heart seeks knowledge.
24If you should whip a man without discernment in the midst of the council and dishonor him,
You would not remove his lack of discernment.
25Know thoroughly the souls of your sheep,
And you will set your heart on your flocks,
26Since strength and might are not in man forever,

Neither are they transmitted from generation to generation.
27Take care of the green plants in the field, and cut the herbs short,
And gather the grass of the mountains.
28That you may have the wool of sheep for clothing,
Honor the field, so there may be lambs for you.
29My son, you have strong sayings from me for your life
And for the life of your servants.

Proverbs 28

The Lawful and the Lawless

1An ungodly man flees when no one is pursuing,
But a righteous man is confident as a lion.
2Condemnations arise because of the sins of the ungodly,
But an astute man quenches them.
3A bold man harasses the poor with ungodliness.
As a driving and unprofitable rain,
4So those who forsake the law praise ungodliness,
But those who love the law surround themselves with a wall.
5Evil men do not understand judgment,
But those who seek the Lord shall understand it in everything.
6A poor man walking in the truth is better than a rich liar.
7A wise son keeps the law,
But he who cherishes luxury dishonors his father.
8He who increases his wealth with usury and unjust gains
Gathers it for him who shows mercy to the poor.
9He who turns away his ear so as not to hear the law,
He also makes his prayer repulsive.
10He who leads upright men astray in an evil way,
He shall fall into destruction;
11And lawless men shall pass by good things,
But they shall not enter into them.
12A rich man is wise in his own eyes,
But a poor man shall disapprove of his thoughts.

13 Great glory arises because of the help of the righteous,
But in places of the ungodly, men are conquered.
14 He who hides his own ungodliness shall not prosper,
But he who leads his own rebuttal shall be loved.
15 Blessed is the man who shall be discreet in all things because of godly fear,
But the man who hardens his heart shall fall into evils.
16 A hungry lion and a thirsty wolf
Is he who, being poor, tyrannizes over poor people.
17 A king in need of revenues is a great oppressor,
But he who hates unrighteousness shall live a long time.
18 He who becomes surety for a man charged with murder
Shall be a fugitive and unsafe.
19 Instruct your son, and he shall love you;
And he shall give honor to your soul,
Lest he follow a lawless people.
20 He who walks righteously shall be helped,
But he who walks in crooked ways shall be entangled therein.
21 He who works his own land shall be satisfied with bread,
But he who pursues leisure shall be filled with poverty.
22 A trustworthy man shall be blessed in many things,
But an evil man shall not go unpunished.
23 He who does not respect righteous people is not good;
Such a man will sell another for a morsel of bread.
24 An envious man hastens to be rich,
But does not know that a merciful man shall have the mastery over him.
25 He who reproves a man’s ways
Shall have more grace than he who flatters him.
26 He who casts off his father or mother and thinks he does not sin,
He is the accomplice of an ungodly man.
27 A greedy man judges rashly,
But he who trusts in the Lord shall be careful.
28 He who trusts in an arrogant heart, such a man is without discernment,
But he who walks in wisdom, such a man shall be saved.

29 He who gives to the poor shall not be in want,
But he who turns away his eye from them shall be in much distress.
30 The righteous lament in the places of the ungodly,
But in their destruction the righteous shall be increased.

Proverbs 29

The Wise and the Unwise

1 A reproving man is better than an obstinate man,
For when the latter is suddenly consumed, there shall be no remedy.
2 When the righteous are praised, the people shall rejoice,
But when the ungodly rule, men lament.
3 When a man loves wisdom, his father rejoices,
But he who keeps prostitutes shall destroy his wealth.
4 A righteous king will establish a country,
But a lawless man razes it to the ground.
5 He who prepares a net for the presence of his own friend
Casts it around his own feet.
6 It is a great snare to a man when he sins,
But a righteous man shall be in joy and gladness.
7 A righteous man understands how to judge on behalf of the poor,
But the ungodly man will not consider such knowledge;
For he has no understanding heart for a poor man.
8 Pestilent men burn down a city,
But wise men turn away wrath.
9 A wise man judges people fairly,
But when a worthless man is angry, he laughs at them, and does not fear.
10 Bloodthirsty men will hate a holy man,
But the upright will seek his soul.
11 A man without discernment brings forth his whole mind,
But a wise man distributes his in part.
12 When a king obeys an unrighteous word,

All those under him are lawless.
13When a creditor and a debtor meet with one another,
The Lord watches both of them.
14When a king judges the poor truly,
His throne shall be established as a testimony.
15Blows and reproofs give wisdom,
But a child who goes astray shames his parents.
16When the ungodly are many, there are many sins,
But when they fall, the righteous are fearful.
17Instruct your son, and he shall give you rest,
And he will delight your soul.
18There shall be no interpreter of the law for a lawless nation,
But he who guards the law is very blessed.
19A stubborn servant will not be instructed by words,
For even if he understands them, he will not obey.
20If you see a man hasty in words,
Know a man without discernment has more hope than he.
21He who lives luxuriously from childhood shall be a servant,
And in the end, he shall cause himself pain.
22An angry man digs up strife,
But a furious man digs up sins.
23Arrogance humbles a man,
But the Lord supports the humble-minded with glory.
24He who takes part with a thief hates his own soul,
And if, when an oath is set forth, those who hear it do not report it, 25They are tripped up, because they fear and stand in awe of men;
But he who trusts in the Lord will rejoice.
26Ungodliness causes a man to stumble,
But he who trusts in the Master shall be saved.
27Many serve in the presence of leaders,
But righteousness comes to a man from the Lord.
28An abomination to the righteous is an unrighteous man,
And the upright way is an abomination to the lawless.

Proverbs 30

A Father's Wisdom

[1]My son, fear my words,
And when you receive them, repent;
The man says these things to those who believe in God, then I cease speaking;
[2]For I am the most lacking of all men in discernment,
And the discernment of men is not in me;
[3]God gives me wisdom,
And I know holy things.
[4]Who ascends into heaven and descends?
Who gathers the winds in His bosom?
Who wraps up the water in a garment?
Who rules over all the ends of the earth?
What is His name, and what is the name of His children,
That you might acknowledge it?
[5]All the words of God are tried in fire,
And He defends those who fear Him.
[6]Do not add to His words,
That He might not reprove you, and you become a liar.
[7]Two things I ask from You:
Do not take away grace from me before I die;
[8]Make a vain word and a lie be far from me;
But give me neither riches nor poverty,
And appoint what is necessary and sufficient for me;
[9]Lest being full, I become a liar and say, "Who sees me?"
Or being poor, I steal, and swear by the name of God.
[10]Do not deliver a servant into the hands of his master,
Lest he curse you, and you be destroyed.
[11]An evil offspring curses his father
And does not bless his mother.
[12]An evil offspring judges himself righteous,
But is not washed from his uncleanness.
[13]An evil offspring has haughty eyes
And exalts himself with his eyelids;
[14]An evil offspring has teeth like swords
And molars like knives, so as to destroy

15 And to devour the poor from the earth,
And their needy from among men.

Lessons from the Animals

16 The leech had three dearly loved daughters,
And these three did not satisfy her,
And the fourth did not satisfy her, for her to say, “It is enough.”
17 Hades and the love of a woman
And Tartarus and the earth not satisfied with water,
And water and fire will not say, “It is enough.”
18 The eye that mocks his father and dishonors the old age of his mother,
Let the ravens of the valleys pick it out,
And the young eagles devour it.
19 Now there are three things I cannot understand,
And a fourth I do not know:
20 The track of a flying eagle,
And the ways of a serpent upon a rock,
21 And the paths of a ship passing through the sea,
And the ways of a man in his youth.
22 Such is the way of an adulterous woman,
Who, when she commits adultery, washes herself and says she did nothing wrong.
23 The earth is shaken by three things,
And is unable to bear a fourth:
24 If a servant reigns,
Or a man without discernment is satiated with food,
25 Or if a maidservant casts out her own mistress,
Or a hateful woman marries a good man.
26 Now there are four very small things upon earth,
But these are wiser than the wise:
27 The ants, which are not strong,
Yet they prepare provisions in the summer;
28 The rabbits, which are not a strong tribe,
Yet they make their own homes in the rocks;
29 The locust, which is without a king,

Yet he marches out as one commanded in an orderly manner.
30 And the spotted lizard, which supports himself with his hands and is easily caught,
Yet he dwells in the fortresses of kings.
31 There are three things which walk easily,
And a fourth that strides well:
32 The cub of a lion, stronger than other animals
And does not turn away, neither fears any animal;
33 A cock, walking about boldly among the hens;
A he-goat, leading a flock;
And a king, speaking publicly to the people.
34 If you abandon yourself to merriment
And stretch forth your hand with contention, you will be dishonored.
35 Churn milk, and it will become butter;
And if you squeeze someone's nose, blood will come out;
And if you draw out words, condemnations and contentions will emerge.

Proverbs 31

1 My words were spoken by God,
The oracular response of a king, whom his mother instructed.

A Mother's Wisdom

2 "What, my child, will you keep? What? The words of God."
My firstborn son, I say to you, "What, the child of my womb?
What, the child of my vows?"
3 Do not give your wealth to women,
Nor your heart or life to remorse.
4 Do all things with counsel;
Drink wine with counsel;
Princes are prone to anger, but let them not drink wine,
5 Lest while they drink, they forget wisdom,
And be unable to judge the weak uprightly.
6 Give strong drink to those in sorrow,

And wine to drink for those in pain,
7So they may forget their poverty
And no longer remember their grief.
8Open your mouth for the word of God,
And judge all men fairly;
9Open your mouth and judge righteously,
And plead the cause of the poor and helpless.

A Virtuous Wife

10Who will find a courageous wife?
For such a one is more valuable than precious stones.
11The heart of her husband trusts in her;
She will not be at a loss for fine spoils,
For she provides good things for her husband all her life.
12She weaves wool and linen cloth
And is productive with her hands.
13She is like a ship trading afar off,
So she procures her livelihood.
14She also rises before dawn
And gives food to her household,
And appoints tasks for her maidservants.
15Seeing a farm, she buys it,
And from the fruits of her hands she plants her plot of land.
16Strongly girding her loins,
She strengthens her arms for work.
17She experiences work as a good thing,
And her lamp is not quenched all night.
18She extends her arms to do profitable things,
And she applies her hands to the spindle.
19She opens her hands to the poor
And reaches out with her fruit to the needy.
20Her husband is not anxious about those at home
When he spends a long time elsewhere,
For all her household are clothed.
21She makes a double upper garment for her husband
And garments of fine linen and purple for herself.
22Her husband is respected at the gates

And when he sits in council with the elders who inhabit the land.
[23]She makes and sells fine linens
And girdles to the Canaanites.
[24]She opens her mouth carefully and lawfully
And controls her tongue.
[25]She clothes herself with strength and dignity
And rejoices in the last days.
[26]She runs her household carefully,
And she does not eat the bread of idleness.
[27]She opens her mouth wisely and lawfully,
And her charity raises her children, and they become rich,
And her husband praises her,
[28]"Many daughters acquire riches; many do mighty things,
But you excel and surpass all."
[29]Desires to please are deceitful, and the beauty of a wife is vain;
For a wise wife is blessed,
And let her in fear praise the Lord.
[30]Give to her from the fruits of her hands,
And let her husband praise her at the gates.

Annotations for Proverbs

1:1–2a The Book of Proverbs was written that one might know Christ, the Wisdom of God. As St. Paul pointed out, Christ is "the power of God and the wisdom of God" (1Co 1:24). St. Hippolytus also said, "These are the proverbs of Solomon, that is to say, the peacemaker, who, in truth, is Christ the Savior."

It was also written that one might partake of the virtues Wisdom begets in those who obey Him. Thus, although the human author of this book is King Solomon, the Author behind the author is Wisdom Himself, the Son and Word of God.

Wisdom instructs those who know Him. The word instruction incorporates several aspects: teaching, correction, discipline, reproof, learning, education, and training. Wisdom and His instruction in the virtues are emphasized throughout the Book of Proverbs. The purpose of correcting and disciplining oneself is to remove the deceptions of sin, so the God-given virtues in one's nature can manifest themselves (MaxCon, JohnDm).

🕮 1:1–20 This passage is read at Monday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

1:6 Proverbs is characterized by parables, hidden sayings, wise words and riddles. And as Wisdom gives one discernment regarding these, he is able to understand Wisdom's instruction. Parables are illustrations used to teach the virtues. Christ, the Wisdom of God, also used parables extensively when He taught as recorded in the Four Gospels. Hidden sayings and riddles can only be understood by illumination. Wisdom illuminates those who know and are taught by Him. Wise words are like a door that leads into the inner sanctuary of Wisdom. If Wisdom opens this door to the earnest seeker after the virtues, this seeker will find Wisdom and partake of His virtues (see also Mt 7:7, 8.).

1:7, 8 Wisdom begets the fear of God in "the simple" (v. 4). The simple are beginners on the spiritual path. This fear is the beginning of wisdom, godliness toward God, and the beginning of perception. As these beginners practice this fear, they grow in good understanding of Wisdom and His virtues. The ungodly are those who despise Wisdom and His instruction. They may claim to believe in God, but they do not know Wisdom nor live a virtuous life. Consequently, they do not truly believe in God.

1:9 My son is a form of address used throughout Proverbs. Wisdom is like a father and a mother to His children, for He has deep love and affection for them. He instructs them out of such parental tenderness.

1:11–19 When Wisdom became a righteous Man in His Incarnation, He allowed His enemies to crucify Him (unjustly, v. 12), and to bury Him in a tomb (hide Him in the earth, v. 12). Their objective was to take away his remembrance from the earth (v. 13); however, He is now remembered all over the world. But His enemies are forgotten. Judas Iscariot cast his lot with the enemies of Wisdom and acquired a common bag and purse with them (v. 15). For he sold Him for thirty pieces of silver. Consequently, they took away their own soul in ungodliness (v. 19).

1:20, 21 Wisdom is present everywhere and is in all things. He moves about boldly in the public streets and squares, seeking to draw all to Himself, and through Him to God the Father. When He became incarnate, He also exhibited this courage in public places. And He imparts this same courage, one of the four general virtues, to those who believe in Him and walk in the fear of God.

🕮 1:20–35 This passage is read at Tuesday Vespers during the first week of Great Lent.

1:22 The simple are beginners in the life of virtue. Because of their faith, Wisdom gives them the gift of righteousness—one of the general virtues of Wisdom. As long as they hold fast to this righteousness, they shall not be ashamed.

1:23 Perception is one of the general virtues of Wisdom, and the crown of the virtues. But those without discernment . . . become ungodly because of their arrogance, the worst of vices. Wisdom reproves them in hopes they will return to Him through repentance.

1:24–35 Wisdom sends forth His Holy Spirit (my breath) to teach the wise His word (v. 24). Those who pay no attention to this teaching shall eat the fruits of their own way (v. 33). But those who obey Wisdom shall dwell in hope, and shall be at rest without fear from every evil (v. 35).

2:1, 2 A loving son receives the words of Wisdom and hides them in his heart. Such a son becomes an obedient listener to Wisdom and inclines his heart to understanding.

📖 2:1–23 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

2:3–6 Christ, the Wisdom of the Father, places the crown of the virtues (understanding and perception) on a son who seeks Him as intensely as people seek monetary gain (silver and treasure). Such a son will understand godly fear and come to know God the Trinity.

2:7–23 There are two roads on which mankind is traveling: the evil road of the vices and the good road of the virtues. Each of these two is addressed many times in this passage (vv. 7–17). The evil road leads to death and Hades, from which there is no return (vv. 18, 19). The good road leads to the world to come (the land, vv. 21–23).

3:1–38 This chapter may be divided into three sections, each section beginning with the address, My son. And each deals with three vices or sinful passions and their cure: forgetfulness (v. 1), rebelliousness (v. 11), and carelessness (v. 23).

📖 3:1–20 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

3:1, 2 Forgetfulness is the forgetting of Wisdom's laws concerning virtue, and the beginning of its cure is obedience from the heart to Wisdom. Such obedience is the road to life and peace.

3:4–10 Faithfulness in almsgiving (v. 3) is a manifestation of obedience to Wisdom from the heart, and helps one not to forget His laws. For one who forgets the laws of Wisdom exalts his own wisdom (v. 5), stumbles on the straight path (v. 6), relies on his own discernment (v. 7), and turns to evil passions (v. 7). But almsgiving is part of the golden chain around one's neck (v. 3; see also 1:10). For one attached to his material possessions will soon forget and forsake Wisdom and His laws (v. 3).

3:11–22 Rebellion is an offspring of forgetfulness and is characterized by a heart that despises and faints under Wisdom's instruction—one aspect of which is reproof (v. 11). For Wisdom instructs and chastises His children, because He loves them (v. 12; see also Heb 12:5, 6); otherwise, they would forget God and fall into rebellion against Him. But Wisdom's education leads to discernment (v. 13) and righteousness (v. 18).

Those who know Christ will find Him to be the true riches (vv. 14, 15, 17), and no honor given Him is worthy of Him (v. 16). To travel His good road brings one peace (v. 19), life (v. 20), and security (v. 20). Then too, they come to know Him as the Lord (v. 20) and the Creator of the world, for God the Father founded the world through Him (vv. 21, 22).

📖 3:11–18 This passage is read on September 13 at Vespers for the Feast of the Exaltation of the Holy Cross.

📖 3:21–36 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the first week of Great Lent.

3:23–38 One who forgets Wisdom becomes careless (v. 23). Such carelessness is characterized by fearfulness (v. 27), intimidation (v. 28), unfaithfulness in almsgiving (vv. 30, 31), betrayal (v. 32), quarrelsomeness (v. 33), lawlessness (vv. 34, 35), the curse of God (v. 36), arrogance (v. 37), and dishonor (v. 38). And the cure for carelessness (v. 25) is the grace of the virtues: discernment, righteousness, courage, and self-control (grace around your neck, v. 24).

📖 3:37—4:21 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

4:1–28 This chapter may be divided into three sections, in which Christ, the Wisdom of the Father, addresses His children. Verses 1–8 emphasize obedient thinking. Verses 9–18 speak of the paths of Wisdom. Verses 19–28 show the various senses of body and soul involved in the paths of Wisdom.

4:1–8 Obedient thinking, firmly planted in the heart, guards and does not forget, disregard, or forsake the commandments of Wisdom (vv. 5, 6). Such thinking also loves, secures, and honors His commandments (vv. 6, 7). When this is the case, Wisdom, in turn, cleaves to (v. 6), keeps (v. 6), exalts (v. 7), and embraces (v. 7) His children. In so doing, He puts a crown of graces and delight on their heads (v. 8).

4:9–18 The paths of Wisdom are life (vv. 9, 12), uprightness (v. 10), conducive to freedom (v. 11), energetic (v. 11), are light and give light (v. 17); and they reject the paths of the ungodly and lawless (vv. 13–16), for their paths are dark and full of stumbling (v. 18).

4:19–28 The paths of Wisdom involve the senses, both of body and soul: the ear (v. 19), the heart and its fountains (vv. 20, 22), the mouth and lips (v. 23), the eyes and eyelids (v. 24), the feet (vv. 25, 26), and the hands (v. 27). Such involvement brings healing and wholeness (v. 21).

Concerning 4:24, St. Hippolytus writes, "He looks straight forward who has thoughts free of passion, and he has true judgments, who is not in a state of excitement about external appearances. When he says, 'Let your eyes look straight forward,' he means the vision of the soul."

5:1–6 Wisdom is twofold. It is Christ Himself, and secondly, it is His words or teachings (v. 1). His children who incline their ear to Him and His teachings will guard good thinking, which is called perception (v. 2). Perception is the crown of the virtues. And the good thinking in this case revolves around Wisdom's command concerning fornication vs. marriage. Moreover, His teaching regarding this matter is called a command, because it is not subject to change. His command is to stay away from sex outside marriage, for this path will lead to Hades and death (vv. 3–6).

🕮 5:1–15 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

5:7–14 Prostitution here refers to engaging in sex outside marriage, which may or may not involve the payment of money. The sons of Wisdom need to obey Him and His teachings, and stay away from sex outside marriage (vv. 7, 8). For the perils are many.

In fornication, a man becomes one flesh with numerous women, which in the end brings regret and a totally dissipated life (vv. 9–11; see also St. Paul's teaching in 1Co 6:15–20). Such a son will regret hating the instruction and reproofs of Wisdom (vv. 12, 13). Furthermore, little by little, this lifestyle leads to other sins, which are evident not only to God but to the church (v. 14).

5:15–19 Marriage is sacred, here called waters which are pure, for it was ordained by Wisdom (v. 15; see also Gn 2:23, 24). But adultery spills these waters and damages the marriage bond (v. 16). However, faithfulness in marriage is called wide places, because it is filled with blessings from Wisdom (vv. 16–18). For within it, both husband and wife rejoice together (v. 18), and the wife's love and companionship make her husband great (v. 19).

🕮 5:15–23 This passage, including 6:1–3, is read during Wednesday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

5:20–23 In conclusion, the eyes of God keep close watch on a man (vv. 20, 21). For a man who embraces a woman not his wife may do so in the dark, but what he does is fully exposed before God. And although a lawless woman may ensnare a man, the man also is responsible for chaining himself with his own sins (v. 22). For he refuses Wisdom's crown of discernment, and is finally destroyed with the rest of the undiscerning (v. 23; see also Heb 13:4).

6:1–40 This chapter warns against four vices or sinful passions: a careless tongue (vv. 1–6), laziness (vv. 7–16), a lawless spirit (vv. 17–25), and unlawful sexual intercourse (vv. 26–40).

🕮 6:3–24 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

6:1–6 Assuming debt for a friend in this instance refers to a son of Wisdom pledging with his lips to join with a friend in his evil undertakings (v. 1). As St. Paul said, "Evil company corrupts good habits" (1Co 15:33). With such a pledge, a man's tongue becomes his worst enemy (v. 2). Wisdom speaks to His son, commanding him to save himself (v. 3), for this son cannot save his friend before he saves himself. And he certainly cannot save him while participating with him in his sins (v. 3).

So Wisdom commands His son to cease being a coward (Do not be faint, v. 4), to reject his careless pledge to his friend, and to provoke his friend to change as well. Furthermore, this son is to awake from his spiritual slumber and move forward quickly with this matter, that he may save himself, like a gazelle from the snares and a bird from a trap (vv. 5, 6; see also Eph 5:14, 15).

6:7–16 Laziness, both of body and soul, leads to poverty (vv. 13–15). But Wisdom commands His son to be diligent (v. 16). To achieve this, he must mark the behavior of two created things: the ant and the honeybee. Outwardly they appear insignificant (v. 8) and weak (v. 12), but one who discovers their habits will also find the Word and Wisdom of God, who is Christ Himself. And when he imitates their way of life through the grace of Christ (vv. 7, 9, 10, 11), his laziness will be cured.

6:17–25 A lawless spirit is a person who rejoices in everything the Lord hates (v. 20). His soul is incurable as long as he continues on this path (v. 19). His vices or sinful passions are characterized by a haughty eye (arrogance), an unrighteous tongue, hands that shed innocent blood, and feet that run to evil (vv. 21, 22)—a troublemaker in the community (vv. 17, 18, 23).

But a child of Wisdom can avoid a lawless spirit by guarding the laws and commandments of Wisdom, and by fastening them to his soul like a collar around the neck (vv. 24, 25). This collar is the golden chain (1:10) of the general virtues, associated with the crown of discernment. This crown and chain are the virtues of discernment (and its synonyms), righteousness, courage, and self-control, which together beget all the other virtues of Wisdom.

📖 6:24–40 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the second week of Great Lent.

6:26–40 Unlawful sexual intercourse is sex outside the bonds of marriage. And when a man walks about (v. 26) and is tempted, the commandments of Wisdom fastened to his soul will keep him from this vice or sinful passion. These commandments will also guard him while he sleeps (vv. 27–29). But a man who lets down his guard and succumbs to this passion will ultimately destroy himself (vv. 30–40).

6:32, 33 "Desire is a fire, and the flesh is like a garment. The latter is an easy prey, and the former is a tyrant. And when anything harmful is not only taken within, but also held fast, it will not go forth again until it has made an exit for itself. Figuratively speaking, he keeps a fire in his breast who permits an impure thought to dwell in his heart. And he walks upon coals who, by sinning in act, destroys his own soul" (Hippol).

7:1–27 This chapter contrasts two sons: one with the crown of discernment (vv. 1–6), and the other without it (vv. 7–24). A summary regarding both concludes this chapter (vv. 25–27).

7:1–6 Christ, the Wisdom of the Father, begets discernment, the crown of the virtues, in His children. This passage explains how a son of Wisdom may gain the crown of discernment as a friend (v. 5), that Wisdom's commandments may keep him from unlawful sexual intercourse. Thus, he makes discernment his friend when he guards His commandments (vv. 1, 3), hides them in himself (v. 1), honors them (v. 2), and fears them (v. 2). This means a son should value Wisdom's commandments as he would the pupils of his eyes (v. 3) and the fingers on his hands (v. 4). He writes these commands across his spiritual heart (v. 4) and confesses that they are like a sister to him (v. 5). For just as a brother treats his sister with purity, the commandments of Wisdom will keep His son from an adulteress (v. 6).

7:7–24 An adulteress easily captures the son without the crown of discernment (v. 10) and leads him to destruction. He is likened to an ox led for slaughter (v. 22), a dog tied up (v. 23), a deer pierced with an arrow (v. 23), or a bird that is trapped (v. 24).

7:25–27 The summation regarding the two sons is as follows. The wise son wearing the crown of discernment holds fast to Wisdom's teachings (v. 25), and thus prevents his heart from turning aside to the ways of the adulteress (v. 26). But those without discernment are walking on the road to Hades and the chambers of death, and they are innumerable (vv. 26, 27).

"You have seen her mischief. Do not wait to admit the rising of lust; for her death is everlasting. And for the rest, by her words and arguments, she wounds, and by her sins she kills those who yield to her. For many are the forms of wickedness that lead the foolish down to Hades" (Hippol).

8:1 Wisdom is Christ Himself, and we are to proclaim Him to mankind. Discernment is the crown of the virtues, and it obeys the one who possesses it. This means the individual person is superior to the discernment he possesses, and he uses it in the proclamation of Christ.

8:1–35 This chapter has been called, "The Divine Wisdom Manifest in Creation Offers Himself to Mankind." It may be outlined as follows: Introduction (8:1); Wisdom's relationship to mankind (8:2–21); Wisdom's relationship to the Father (8:22–30); and Conclusion (8:31–35).

📖 8:1–21 This passage is read at Monday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

8:2, 3 Wisdom is omnipresent and fills all things.

8:4–6 Wisdom speaks to every human being (O men and the sons of men, v. 4). Before they know Him, they are simple and uninstructed (v. 5). If they obey Wisdom out of love for Him, He will give them astuteness (vv. 5, 6). Astuteness is the crown of the virtues (14:25).

8:7, 8 Wisdom is the truth of the Father and only speaks the truth (vv. 6b, 7). Since He is the truth, He only speaks what is righteous; there is nothing unrighteous in His words. His righteousness is one of the general virtues that begets all the other virtues. In Jn 14:6, He said, "I am the truth."

8:9 All things are the "sacred things" of v. 6. These things are evident to those who have the crown of understanding through knowing Wisdom and obeying Him.

8:10–21 Silver, gold, and precious stones are not worthy to compare with the value of pursuing Wisdom and His virtues. These virtues are such things as counsel, knowledge, understanding, discernment, and righteousness. They are likened to fruits (v. 19) that are produced by Wisdom within those who love

Him (v. 17).

8:22 Wisdom knows all things.

📖 8:22–30 This passage is read on March 25, the Feast of the Annunciation of the Theotokos.

8:23 The Lord is the Father, and created in this statement means the Father established Wisdom over His works; for the Father made all things through Wisdom (AthanG). "Created" as used here does not mean the Father made Wisdom Himself, for the next clause shows the Father established Wisdom over His works in the beginning before time. Therefore, "created" is used in this verse as a synonym of established, for Wisdom, who is the Word and Son of the Father, is not a creature. He is "begotten from the Father before all time" (Creed; see also v. 25).

The beginning of His ways means two things. It means the Father made all things through Wisdom, and it also refers to the Incarnation, when the Wisdom and Word of the Father became flesh (see also Jn 1:14). The phrase for His works refers both to the works of creation and to those accomplished by Christ for our salvation, which are outlined in the Creed. "In the beginning before time" is the same as "In the beginning was the Word" in Jn 1:1. For the Father "established" Wisdom "before time." Therefore Christ, the Wisdom and Power of God, is not a creature (1Co 1:24).

8:24, 25 The word before occurs five times in these verses, and it emphasizes that Wisdom Himself exists outside creation. The words begot me show the relation of Wisdom to the Father. Wisdom is the Son of the Father, begotten from Him before and outside all time and ages (see also Creed).

8:26–28 Wisdom, the Son of the Father, was present (v. 27) with the Father when He made the world; therefore, the Son exists with the Father outside creation. The Father is not a creature; therefore, neither is His Son.

8:29, 30 The Son also created the world, for He was working beside the Father. The Father is the Creator, and the Son is the Creator. How so? Because the working is one working. They are two distinct Persons, but the work of creation is one work. Although He is not mentioned here by name, the Holy Spirit was also present and working, for He, too, is the Creator (see Gn 1:2). Three distinct Persons created the world with one working. This one working is emphasized in the statement: "The Father made the world through the Son in the Spirit." Therefore the Holy Trinity, our one God, made the world with one working, and They rejoice in one another (v. 30).

8:31 When the Father completed creation, He rejoiced in it. He also rejoices in the sons of men. Those who respond to the Father's joy, in turn, rejoice in Him.

8:32, 33 The conclusion to 8:1–31 is this: Heed the Wisdom of the Father, and the man who does so is blessed. Such a man will keep his eyes on Him at all times.

📖 8:32–35 This passage is read at Tuesday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

8:34 The true issues of life center in Christ, the Wisdom of the Father. Those who center their life in these issues will experience the grace of the Father, the Lord.

8:35 People who sin against Wisdom act contrary to their own God-given nature (souls). For human nature is good in itself, but those who behave contrary to their nature act ungodly toward their own souls. Those who do so love death.

9:1 Wisdom is Christ, and He built His house. This house is first the Virgin Mary, the Mother of God, for He was conceived in her womb. Secondly, His house is the Church (Heb 3:1–6). This house is built on Christ, on the Mother of God, and on the apostles and prophets. Christ Himself is the Chief Cornerstone (Eph 2:19–22).

The seven pillars of the Church is the Holy Spirit, who is called "the seven Spirits of God" (Rev 3:1). These seven spirits are the graces of the Holy Spirit that rested on Christ, summarized in Is 11:2, 3: wisdom, understanding, counsel, might, knowledge, godliness, and the fear of God. These are the "seven pillars" by which the Church is supported through Christ.

📖 9:1–11 This passage is read at the feasts of the Mother of God, for the consecration of a church, and at the Feast of Mid-Pentecost.

9:2 Christ shed His precious blood (sacrifices) and offers it in the wine of the Eucharist at the Holy Altar (table).

9:3 Christ sends His servants to invite people to Christ and His Eucharist.

9:4 Christ, the Wisdom of the Father, gives those who turn aside to Him the crown of the virtues, which is discernment.

9:5, 6 Wisdom invites mankind to eat my bread, which is His body, and drink the wine, which is His blood in the Holy Eucharist. Those who accept His invitation and forsake their vices or sinful passions (lack of discernment) will find life in His Eucharist (see also Jn 6). Those who seek Wisdom's discernment (the crown of the virtues) will keep straight their understanding with knowledge.

9:7–24 Wisdom's discernment, seen in the counsel of saints (v. 10), manifests itself in holy behavior, seen in a wise and righteous man (vv. 8, 9).

📖 9:12–18 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

9:25 Holy behavior is conducive to long life.

9:1–25 This chapter may be outlined as follows: Introduction (v. 1); Wisdom's invitation to mankind (vv. 2–6); Wisdom's discernment in those who accept His invitation (vv. 7–24); and conclusion (v. 25).

10:1 A wise son knows Wisdom and His virtues. But a son without discernment is a grief, for he lives in vice.

📖 10:1–22 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

10:2 Lawless rich men do not benefit from their wealth, for their vices lead them to death and Hades. But righteousness, one of the general virtues of Wisdom, delivers one from such an end.

10:3 Wisdom, who is the Lord, will not let the soul of the righteous man starve, for He will enrich it with the fruits of righteousness. But He overthrows the life of the ungodly, because He allows them to eat the fruits of their own vices.

10:4 The Lord allows a man's vices to humble his soul. Perhaps he will turn from them. But courage is one of the general virtues begotten by Wisdom. Courageous people enrich others in virtue.

10:6 Understanding is the crown of the virtues, and when the heat of temptations and trials comes at this son, he is kept safe. But a son without the fruits of the virtues (harvest time) is dried up by the wind of his vices (lawless).

10:9 A wise man is a virtuous man, and he is virtuous because he receives the commandments of Wisdom. Self-control is one of the general virtues. A wise man is able to control his tongue through Wisdom (see also Jam 3). But an unwise man cannot control his tongue (unguarded in speech), which overthrows him in his perverseness.

10:13 The general virtues of Wisdom produce love, but their absence causes men to become hateful and lovers of strife.

10:15 Perception is one of the general virtues. With perception coupled with self-control, a man is able to keep his mouth under check. But the mouth of a rash man is unchecked, and therefore, approaches destruction.

10:20 Discreet lips reveal the presence of self-control and the general virtues. Forbearance is a fruit of these virtues.

10:24 Evil things with laughter are the fruits of men without discernment. But Wisdom, who is Christ, gives birth to discernment in a man.

10:29 A virtuous man lives in the gladness of hope, but the hope of a man of vice perishes.

10:30 A holy man is one who knows Wisdom and His virtues. To such a man, the fear of the Lord is a stronghold.

📖 10:32—11:10 This passage is read at Friday Vespers in the third week of Great Lent.

11:2 Humble people meditate on Wisdom and His teachings concerning virtue. But arrogant people pay no attention to Wisdom, and this leads them to dishonor before Him.

11:4 Righteousness, one of the general virtues, cuts a straight path through this fallen world. Those who travel this path are blameless, but ungodliness is characterized by a crooked path.

11:6 A righteous life produces hope in a man, for his hope is in the world to come. But the ungodly boast only in this life, which is perishing.

11:8 The ungodly do not exercise self-control over their mouth, for they know nothing of the general virtues of Wisdom. But those who know and love Wisdom partake of His general virtues, two of which are perception and righteousness. Such people benefit others.

11:10 A man with discernment, the crown of the virtues, has his mouth under control, for he knows how to be quiet. Self-control is a "fruit of the Spirit" (Gal 5:19–23). But the mouth of a man in need of discernment is out of control and treats others with contempt.

11:15 Lazy people do not pursue Wisdom and His spiritual riches. But courage is one of the general virtues, and courageous people support themselves with these virtues.

11:17 Righteousness is one of the general virtues of Wisdom. These virtues beget all the other virtues, called seed. Wisdom endowed human nature with this seed, which grows, develops, and bears good fruit in those who obey Him.

11:22 Both good and evil desires are motivated by hope for fulfillment. The righteous hope for fulfillment in the kingdom of God; therefore, every desire is energized by this hope. But the desire of the ungodly is energized by hoping in this fallen world. Since this world is perishing, its hopes perish with it.

11:24 Every sincere soul is blessed because sincerity is a fruit of self-control, one of the general virtues of Wisdom. But an angry soul is out of control, and therefore is not graceful.

11:29 "The fruit of righteousness and the tree of life is Christ. He alone, as man, fulfilled all righteousness. . . . But the souls of the unrighteous meet an untimely expulsion from the presence of God" (Hippol).

11:30 The apostle Peter quotes this verse in 1Pt 4:18. The righteous man suffers according to the will of God, but this verse encourages him constantly to commit his soul to God and His faithfulness. For the persecutor will receive his recompense in due time.

12:1 Wisdom's instruction incorporates several aspects, one of which is correction. Perception is the crown of the virtues, and a perceptive man loves to be corrected. But a man without discernment hates correction.

12:2 No one can live a virtuous life without the grace of God. As Wisdom said, "Without Me you can do nothing" (Jn 15:5). Thus he who finds the Lord's grace and lives by it becomes better, that is, bears the fruits of virtue. But His grace passes by the lawless man in silence.

12:4 A courageous wife is one who possesses the general virtues; therefore, she is a crown to her husband. But a wife without these virtues is like a worm in a tree, for her evildoing gradually destroys him.

12:5 Upright judgment is the crown of the virtues, and, together with righteousness, is one of the general virtues. But the judgments of the ungodly are deceitful.

12:8 Understanding is the crown of the virtues, and coupled with righteousness, courage, and self-control, it helps one to use his mouth in a praiseworthy manner. But a slothful man does not know these virtues. His mouth is undisciplined; thus he brings contempt upon himself.

📖 12:8–22 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.

12:10 Compassion is a fruit of righteousness. Thus in man's dominion over every living thing (Gn 1:28), he is to express this dominion in compassion. But the ungodly evidence no such affections, for they know nothing of mercy, even toward animals.

12:13 The desires of the ungodly are not rooted in the general virtues of Wisdom; therefore, their desires pursue the sinful passions. But the roots of the godly are in the strongholds of these virtues.

12:15 Gentleness is a fruit of the general virtues, and it manifests itself even in one's eyes. But contention is a fruit of vice, which causes others to suffer.

12:18 Astuteness is the crown of the virtues (see also 14:25), and with it, together with righteousness, courage, and self-control, a man keeps his anger under control. But a man without this crown (without discernment) and these other virtues proclaims his wrath through his mouth.

12:19 Honesty is a fruit of righteousness and the other general virtues. But an unrighteous man lives in deceit.

12:20 The tongues of the wise heal others, because they possess the general virtues of Wisdom. But the tongues of the unwise are like swords that wound as they speak.

12:22 Peace is a fruit of the general virtues, for people who possess them are peacemakers. But a man with a deceitful heart knows nothing of this.

📖 12:24–31 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.

12:25 Understanding and perception are two aspects of the crown of the virtues. But undiscerning people bring curses on themselves.

12:31 The fruit of righteousness is life-giving to others, for a righteous man does not remember wrongs done to him. But the ways of remembering wrongs are death-giving to others, for these ways destroy personal relationships.

13:1 Astuteness is the crown of the wise (see also 14:25). Obedience is a fruit of this wisdom, but disobedience evidences a lack of such wisdom. Obedience is the right use of the will, according to God and human nature. But disobedience is a use of the will contrary to God and nature. For human nature is good in itself (Gn 1:31), and obedience to God is in harmony with it.

13:2 Man's soul is good by nature, and the fruits of righteousness manifest themselves naturally from the soul. But lawlessness is willful and prevents these natural fruits from showing themselves. Unless this man corrects himself, he will destroy his own good nature.

13:3 He who guards or disciplines his own mouth allows the natural virtues of the soul to manifest themselves. But lack of this discipline dismays the soul, because these virtues are frustrated.

13:4 Courage is one of the general virtues of Wisdom. Courage keeps a man from being idle in his desire for the natural virtues to show themselves.

13:8 The wealth of the soul is the virtues with which Wisdom endows it. As these virtues manifest themselves through Wisdom, they ransom the soul. But this poor man is one who by his vices prevents his virtues from showing themselves. Thus, he cannot withstand the threat of these vices.

13:10 The deceptions of sin lead the soul astray in vice. But the righteous correct and discipline themselves, and their souls manifest the natural fruits of righteousness, such as compassion and mercy.

13:11 An evil man is not evil by nature. For if he were, he could not correct and discipline himself. He does evil things by the wrong use of his free will, which is often energized by arrogance, one of the worst of the vices. Those who know themselves know they are good by nature, and they will use this God-given wisdom to remove the deceptions of sin.

13:15 A deceitful son is one who lives in the deceptions of sinful vice. The good in his nature cannot manifest itself in goodness (nothing good). But a son is also a servant, and if he is wise, he will remove these deceptions and obey Wisdom, and live according to nature. In this way Wisdom will prosper his deeds.

13:16 The law of the wise is to live in harmony with Wisdom and human nature. But a man without understanding will die in this condition through the snares and deceptions of vice, unless he corrects and disciplines himself.

13:17 A good understanding is the crown of the virtues, and it manifests itself in gracious behavior toward others. Such understanding evidences a good mind and a knowledge of Wisdom's law. But scorners of Wisdom behave in destructive ways toward others.

13:18 Astuteness is the crown of the wise (see also 14:25), and an astute man acts with knowledge. But a man without this crown (without discernment) spreads his evil because he is deceived by sin.

13:20 Instruction by Wisdom removes the poverty and dishonor of a man caused by the deceptions of his own sin. For by this instruction, a man learns to correct and discipline himself with regard to these deceptions. And he who heeds Wisdom's rebukes will be glorified by Him.

🕮 13:22—14:6 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.

13:23 A sinner is sinful not by nature, but by the wrong use of his will. Evil things will overtake this wrong use. But good things overtake the righteous, because they obey Wisdom, and with His help live according to their good nature.

13:26 The rod is the gentle rod of rebuke, and the father who does not use it hates his own son. But he who loves his son educates him carefully in his natural and God-given virtues.

14:1 Wise women build up their families when they possess the general virtues of Wisdom: discernment, righteousness, courage, and self-control. But those without discernment destroy them.

14:3 A man without discernment is one who does not possess the general virtues of Wisdom. Such a man is energized by arrogance; thus he beats people with the harsh rod of his mouth. But the lips of wise men are self-controlled, because they possess the general virtues of Wisdom.

14:6 Evil men are evil not by nature but by choice. They have chosen not to know Wisdom and His instruction. Therefore, wisdom cannot be found among them. But perception and discernment are two aspects of the crown of the wise, for they choose to know Wisdom and His instruction.

14:7 Everything pertaining to Wisdom and His instruction is contrary to a man without discernment. But perception, the crown of the virtues, is a good weapon on the lips of the wise.
14:8 Astute men are wise men who know their ways because they are not deceived by vice. But unwise men are those without the crown of discernment who therefore live in the folly of their own deceptions.
14:12 People deceived by the vices believe they are on the right road of life. But in truth their road leads to the depths of Hades.
14:14 A bold-hearted man in this case is bold in his vices (filled with his own ways). A good man is good both in nature and in choice, and his thinking is sound.
14:15 A simple man is easily deceived (believes in every word), but an astute man has the discernment to remove the deceptions of sin through repentance.
📖 14:15–26 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the fourth week of Great Lent.
14:17 A quick-tempered man behaves in a reckless manner because he is taken with anger. But a man with discernment, the crown of the virtues, is patient and thus can handle what comes his way.
14:18 Men without discernment share in evil because they choose to do so. But astute men take hold of perception, the crown of the wise, and thus choose the good.
14:22 Deceivers are self-deceived by their vices, and thus devise evil things by choice. But good men are good both by nature and choice, and thus bring forth mercy and truth.
14:25 The crown of the wise is astuteness, one of the general virtues of Wisdom. In their astuteness, by the grace of Wisdom, the wise choose goodness. But the undiscerning know neither Wisdom nor His virtues; thus they spend their time choosing vices.
14:28 The Lord's commandments are a fountain of life, because He is the life of those who obey Him. Those who know this life are able to remove from themselves the deceptions of sin (the snare of death).
📖 14:28—15:4 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.
14:30 Longsuffering is a fruit of discernment and the general virtues, but cowards (the fainthearted) are devoid of these virtues.
14:31 A gentle spirit is a fruit of the general virtues, and such a man heals his own heart. But a sensual heart is the moth of the bones, because this heart is overcome with the cares of the fallen world.
14:34 A good heart is good both by nature and choice. Such a man knows Wisdom and His virtues. But He and His virtues are unknown in the heart of those without discernment.
15:1 Even men of discernment lose their discernment if they respond in kind to the anger of others. For this response clouds their ability to understand a matter. But a humble answer manifests a calm spirit and allows truth to penetrate the situation.
15:3 The eyes of the Lord are in every place, because He fills all things. He observes both the evil and the good. The evil are good by nature but evil by choice, and He sees these choices. The good are good by nature and by choice, and He also sees this.
15:4 The Spirit of Wisdom is the Holy Spirit. He is everywhere present and fills all things. Those who partake of His fullness use their tongues to heal others, and are a tree of life to them.
15:8 Perception is the crown of the wise, and it helps them to control the use of their lips. But the hearts of those without discernment are not safe to others, because their mouths are out of control.
📖 15:8–21 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.
15:13 An uninstructed man does not know Wisdom and His instruction; thus, he will not love those who reprove him. Nor will he keep company with wise people, because he chooses to live in the deceptions of his own sins.
15:15 An upright heart is one that knows Wisdom and His virtues. Thus, he chooses to seek these virtues, such as perception, one of the general virtues. But the uninstructed are those who live in the deceptions of their own vices (know evil things).
15:19 In itself, anger is a blameless passion, useful in turning one away from vice. But if this passion is out of control, it turns one to contention. Longsuffering, however, is a fruit of the general virtues, and uses anger to turn away from this vice. Longsuffering calms rising quarrels.
15:21 Idle men are cowards, because they have no courage to deal with their problems (thorny plants). But courage is one of the general virtues, and courageous men confront their thorny issues and smooth them out.

📖 15:22–25 This passage, coupled with 16:1–9, is read during Wednesday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.

15:25 Evil men are good by nature but evil by choice. They refuse to obey counsel, because it contradicts their choices. They especially refuse to obey any counsel for the common good of others.

15:30 Almsgiving and faithfulness are fruits of the general virtues of Wisdom. These fruits cleanse the sins of love of money and unbelief. These fruits are also evidence of fear of the Lord, by which people turn aside from choosing vice (evil).

15:33 God is far from the ungodly, not in place but in will. The will of God and the will of the ungodly are far apart. But He hears the prayers of the righteous because their will and His will are in harmony.

15:37 He who rejects Wisdom's instruction refuses to correct the sins that deceive him. Such a man hates his good soul and the virtues Wisdom implanted within it. But he who gives heed to Wisdom's reproofs loves his soul, because he removes the deceptions of sin that prevent his soul from growing in the God-implanted virtues.

15:38 A man who fears God receives Wisdom's correction and instruction in the virtues. Such a man begins and continues to understand the glory of God.

16:1 Salvation begins and ends with humility (JohnChr). Humility is a fruit of the general virtues of Wisdom, and it manifests itself in works. The Lord sees these works and is pleased. But people are ungodly because they lack humility; thus their works are unacceptable to the Lord. The evil day indicates the destructive road they are traveling in life.

📖 16:1–9 This passage, coupled with 15:22–25, is read during Wednesday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.

16:3 Righteousness is one of the general virtues of Wisdom. These virtues launch one on the good road to travel throughout life. This road is characterized by the good fruits of righteousness, one of which is humility (the beginning of a good way). Sacrifices are acceptable, but the virtues of Wisdom are more acceptable to God.

16:4 The Lord is the Author of the virtues (knowledge with righteousness). Man cannot have the Lord without the virtues, nor can he have the virtues without the Lord. Therefore, when man seeks the Lord and finds Him, he will also find the virtues of which He is the Author. Those who seek the Lord with this in mind (rightly) will also find the peace He authors.

16:7 Righteousness is one of the general virtues Wisdom begets in those who know and love Him. This virtue is the standard (weight of a scale) by which the Lord does His works. Thus, His righteousness is also the standard by which man does works acceptable to Him.

16:12 Man lives in one or the other of two abodes. These abodes are mutually exclusive. Thus man has a choice. He may choose Wisdom, who is Christ, or he may choose gold. He may love Christ, or he may love money, but he cannot love and live in both abodes simultaneously.

📖 16:13—17:8 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.

16:14 Wisdom's instruction incorporates several aspects: teaching, correction, discipline, reproof, learning, education, and training. Thus, he who receives this instruction shall be in good things. And He rebukes those who love Him, for this is part of His instruction. These rebukes help us to remove the deceptions of sin, for these deceptions stand in the way of one's growth and development in the virtues of Wisdom.

16:17 Gentleness and humility are fruits of the general virtues of Wisdom. Wise people place more value on these fruits than on anything associated with the arrogant (spoils). For such spoils go before destruction (v. 16).

16:20 Understanding is the crown of Wisdom's virtues, and it is a fountain of life to those who possess it. But without discernment one is led away from this fountain of life to evil or false fountains of instruction.

16:21 The spiritual heart of a wise man is the abode of understanding. It has the eyes to see and the ears to hear Wisdom and His instruction (see also Eph 1:18). Such a man carries knowledge upon his lips.

16:29 Certain people can grow old with great dignity. Who are these? Those who have followed the general virtues of Wisdom, one of which is righteousness.

16:30 Self-control is one of the general virtues, and these produce all the rest, two of which are patience and control of the temper. These virtues are far superior to the military strength necessary to capture a city.

16:31 The unrighteous are those who do not know and love Wisdom and His virtues. Thus they live in vice (all evil things). But all the virtues (all righteous things) have their source in the Lord. "Nothing is purer than virtue; nothing more unclean than vice; for the one is brighter than the sun, the other more stinking than mire" (JohnChr).

17:1 A morsel is a small amount, and it indicates the need to avoid extremes (a house full of many good things). Possessions are good in themselves, but too much of a good thing can weigh one down. These excesses lead to quarreling, which robs enjoyment in peace and even engenders unacceptable worship (unrighteous sacrifices).

17:3 The Lord chooses those He foreknows (see also Rom 8:29). He saw the chosen before He created them. He saw their spiritual hearts and the furnace of testing they would endure in their faith. For as silver and gold are refined and purified in a furnace, so are the hearts of the elect.

17:4 An evil man is righteous by nature but evil by choice. For he heeds the tongue of the lawless. But a righteous man is righteous by God, nature, and choice. Thus he pays no attention to false lips, for he chooses to live according to God and nature.

17:9 Wisdom's instruction consists of teaching, correction, discipline, reproof, learning, education, and training. Thus, it awards benefits to those using it and prospers them.

17:14 Vice (evil) cannot be removed from anyone or from his house as long as he repays evil for good. To choose to live contrary to God and nature is to repay evil for good, for He is good, and human nature is good. Such an individual cannot be removed from his vices unless he comes to repentance.

17:16 People who live contrary to God and nature conjure up false judgment. They become so deceived they judge unrighteousness as righteousness, and righteousness as unrighteousness. Such judgment is the ultimate of uncleanness and of becoming abominable before God.

17:19 True friends and brethren are begotten by Wisdom, who is Christ. One who has such true friends and brethren is rich indeed, for they help him on every occasion and in necessities.

📖 17:19—18:5 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the fifth week of Great Lent.

17:22 A changeable man in this case is a heart without discernment, for he does not experience the stability of Wisdom's general virtues. Thus, he easily falls into evils with his tongue and into grief.

17:29 He who refrains from uttering a harsh word is intelligent, because this restraint shows he possesses the general virtues of Wisdom and thus has his tongue under control. He also has longsuffering, a fruit of discernment, one of the general virtues.

17:30 A man without understanding who asks Wisdom for wisdom will receive it, for understanding is the crown of the wise. It enables one to hold his peace rather than lose his temper. And one who holds his peace will seem to have discernment, the crown of the wise.

18:1 A pretext is an excuse a man rationalizes when he wishes to separate from his friends. After this pretext is accomplished, and when his friends discover it, probably after the fact, they no longer trust him. But they reproach what he did at every opportunity.

18:4 A word is Wisdom's instruction in the virtues, and when it is in the heart of a man, it is deep water. Wisdom's virtues in a man are like a river and a fountain, for life springs up from them.

18:7 A man's mouth ruins him because he is without discernment and the general virtues. Such a mouth snares his soul. His soul is good by nature, but the soul of this man is incapable of manifesting its natural virtues, for his vices block them out.

18:8 Unnatural fear, such as the fear of death, destroys slothful men, because they are too lazy to seek Wisdom and His virtues. These men are cowardly, although their souls hunger. Their souls, good by nature, are starving to be fed with Wisdom and His virtues.

18:10 The righteous are trained by Wisdom to run to the name of the Lord, for example, by praying, "Lord, have mercy." The righteous focus on His name and find great strength there.

18:14 Discouragement, or depression, is more difficult to cure than anger, for discouragement is hopelessness. At least an angry person still has fight left in him, although his anger is misdirected. And a servant with discernment is able to calm this anger. But who can support a discouraged man? The answer comes in 18:15.

18:15 Discernment, perception, and understanding are three aspects of the crown of the wise. This wise person seeks to understand from Wisdom how to cure the hopelessness of the man in 18:14, provided he is willing to be cured.

18:19 A brother aided by his brother fights for the truth. The two together are like a strong and fortified city and a well-founded palace. The Church is this city and palace. And the Fathers of the Fifth Ecumenical Council, quoting this verse, said, "There is no other way in which the truth can be made manifest when there are discussions concerning the faith, since each one needs the help of his neighbor."

18:21 The use of one's tongue is capable of imparting spiritual life to people, but it is also capable of killing them spiritually. But those who rule over it by the general virtues of Wisdom will enjoy the fruits of its wise use.

19:1 Man is good by nature, but he maltreats himself and his goodness when he does not seek Wisdom and His general virtues (lack of discernment). But in his heart, he has the audacity to blame God for what he does to himself. This blame is caused by the deceptions of his own sins. He needs to accept responsibility and remove these deceptions through repentance. Then his good nature will manifest itself through Wisdom.

19:6 Understanding and discernment are two aspects of the crown of the wise. Through Wisdom, a man will discover them increasingly.

19:8 There is a proper love of oneself. It is to love one's good nature and the virtues implanted in it by Wisdom. He who loves himself in this way will also love the Wisdom who created him. From Wisdom, he will increasingly gain more discernment about himself and find good things implanted there.

19:15 Man is not cowardly by nature, for Wisdom implanted courage in human nature. But when a man chooses to be idle, he is too lazy to seek Wisdom and His virtues. Thus, his soul starves because the natural virtues are unable to grow and develop in him through Wisdom.

📖 19:16–25 This passage is read during Monday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

19:17 Mercy on the poor is almsgiving, which is lending to God. And He will repay him according to his gift means we cannot out-give God.

19:21 The heart of man is deep, and it entertains many thoughts. But these thoughts are useless and harmful unless they are grounded in the counsel of the Lord. This counsel is the truth of Wisdom and His virtues. One grounded in this counsel will abide forever.

19:23 There are two kinds of fear in this verse. One is the fear of the Lord, which nourishes spiritual life in a man. The other is fear in places where knowledge is not examined. What place is this where Wisdom's knowledge is not examined? In this fallen world where many refuse to examine such knowledge. Failure to examine Wisdom's knowledge nourishes unnatural fear in man and brings on the darkness of spiritual ignorance.

19:25 A pestilent man is a troublemaker and scoffer who refuses to be corrected by Wisdom. But when he is punished by his own disobedience, a man without discernment may see this, and be motivated to seek Wisdom and His astuteness. On the other hand, a discerning man is one who accepts reproof from Wisdom. Thus, he gains more understanding and perception.

19:29 Lashes and punishments are prepared to teach those without restraint and those without discernment their need for Wisdom and His virtues. For as Heb 12:6, 7 says, "'For whom the LORD loves He chastens, / And scourges every son whom He receives.' If you endure chastening, God deals with you as with sons; for what son is there whom a father does not chasten?"

20:1 Wine and strong drink are not evil in themselves. Wine is intemperate in those who drink too much of it. The same is true of strong drink when people commingle with it. Too much of either militates against Wisdom and His virtues. Lack of self-control and violence to oneself, and perhaps to others, are the results.

20:5 Counsel is the virtues of Wisdom implanted as deep water in the heart of a man. And discernment, the crown of the wise, is able to draw out these virtues.

20:9 Two questions are asked in this verse. In the first question, a man denies any possibility of having a pure heart, and uses this as an excuse not to pursue one. In the second question, a man denies any possibility of being cleansed from the sins he committed, and thus uses this as an excuse to sin more. "To fall is not so grievous as to lie where we have fallen; nor to be wounded so dreadful as after wounds to refuse healing" (JohnChr).

20:15 The Lord made the ear and the eye. This refers to the soul as well as the body. For the eyes and ears of the spiritual heart see and hear from Wisdom, if they are healthy.

20:17 Those who open their spiritual eyes to see Wisdom will be filled with His bread of virtues, for Christ is the Bread of life (Jn 6).

20:20 A vow made to God is voluntary and not a requirement. But if a man vows too quickly to set apart (sanctify) to God something he owns, but afterwards changes his heart, this becomes a snare to his relationship with God. For example, this would be true of monetary commitments made to the Lord's work.

20:22 The light of the Lord is man's true breath. As healthy breathing of air in the lungs is good for a man, more so is the healthy breathing of the Lord's light in his soul. For this light searches the inner man, which is the soul of man. As a man breathes the fresh air of God's light in his soul, he is purified and cleansed from his sins.

20:25 When a man refuses to breathe the fresh air of the Lord's light (v. 22) in his soul (inner man), he does evil things. These things bruise and fracture his soul, and cause him choke to death spiritually for lack of air.

21:1 A flow of water indicates the movement of the will in the heart. This movement is a free movement of the king toward God. God's will inclines the king's will in the proper direction. Thus, the two wills move in the same direction, with the king's will in willing submission to the will of God.

21:3 Righteousness is one of the general virtues of Wisdom implanted in those who know and love Him. To do righteous things shows the free movement of the will in one who lives according to Wisdom and His virtues. To speak the truth also shows the free movement of the will in one who declares the knowledge Wisdom imparts to him.

📖 21:3–20 This passage is read during Tuesday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

21:6 The ungodly are those who move their free will in the wrong direction. This movement is away from Wisdom and His virtues. Therefore they are not willing to do righteous things.

21:10 The intemperate man is one example of a man who moves his free will in the wrong direction, the lack of self-control. The punishment he receives is his own fault. The simple man is one who is beginning to move his will toward Wisdom and His virtues. Astuteness is the crown of the wise (see also 14:25), one of the general virtues. Understanding is another aspect of this crown. Therefore, when the simple man truly observes the punishment the intemperate brings on himself, he becomes wiser.

21:14 Upright judgment is one aspect of the crown of Wisdom's virtues. This judgment, coupled with righteousness, produces joy. Such people are holy. Evildoers are those who willfully pursue vice or sinful passions. Since they rationalize righteousness to be unrighteousness, they see a holy man as unclean.

21:21 A wise man is one who knows and loves Wisdom and His virtues. He assaults the fortified cities of his own sinful passions and pulls down the stronghold, likely the opinions of the ungodly.

📖 21:22–30 This passage is read during Wednesday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

21:24 Desires are blameless passions that need to be kept under control. But a slothful man refuses to control his desires. He chooses not to do anything about his spiritual laziness; therefore, his desires control him.

21:26 "The alms that please the eyes of our Redeemer are not those gathered in unlawful ways and from lawlessness. . . . We are plainly warned by Holy Scripture not to get anything by sinning under the pretext of almsgiving" (GrgGt).

21:29 The ungodly choose to live contrary to Wisdom and His virtues of courage and counsel. Their negative choice shuts them out from these virtues.

22:1 A good name to be chosen more than much wealth is the name Christian (see Acts 11:26). For Wisdom is Christ, and those who follow Him are known by this name. And His good grace is worth more than silver and gold, for by His grace Christians live according to His virtues implanted within them.

22:4 The fear of the Lord is the offspring of Wisdom, who is Christ. He is the begetter of all the virtues, described as riches and glory and life (see Jn 10:10).

22:5 The crooked are those who choose to live contrary to God and human nature, for in itself the soul is straight, not crooked. Thorns and snares are sinful passions. But he who guards his own soul will keep away from them. He is able to do this through Wisdom and His virtues.

22:8 A cheerful man is one free from the love of money and the vainglory it produces. He is very generous in almsgiving, and blessed by God. The vanity of his works refers to those done for one's own glory. But since the cheerful man is blessed by God, his almsgiving is free from vanity and done for God's glory.

22:12 Holy hearts belong to those who live according to Wisdom and His virtues. The Lord's love manifests itself in blameless hearts, and He sees these spiritual hearts which are acceptable to Him.

22:16 A lawless man is one who willfully rejects Wisdom and His virtues. His mouth becomes a deep pit of lawlessness. The Lord's hate for this man and his ways is hate in the sense of rejection. It is not the passion of hatred, for He is dispassionate.

22:20 When the spiritual heart inclines its ears to hear Wisdom (my word) and the words of His wise people, it becomes established. This inclination is the free movement of the will toward Wisdom, and the intent to obey Him.

22:27 St. Paul said in agreement with this verse, "Do not be deceived: 'Evil company corrupts good habits'" (1Co 15:33).

22:30 The eternal landmarks refers to the Orthodox faith handed down in the Church. These landmarks must not be removed. "I cannot sufficiently wonder at the madness of certain men, at the impiety of their blinded understanding, at their lust of error, such that, not content with the rule of faith delivered once for all, and received from the times of old, they are every day seeking one novelty after another, and are constantly longing to add, change, and take away, in religion" (VincLer).

23:1–4 Understanding is one of the general virtues of Wisdom. He who has this virtue understands true life. A false life (v. 3) is the love of riches and gourmet dining. Poor people should never measure themselves by rich people. A false life is one of deception.

23:12 The source of instruction is Wisdom, who is Christ our Teacher. If one gives his spiritual heart and ears to Him, he will be instructed by Him with words of perception, the crown of the virtues.

🕮 23:15—24:5 This passage is read during Thursday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

23:16–19 Wisdom addresses His son (v. 19), and encourages him to spend time with His words (v. 16). The Book of Proverbs is an example of His words of Holy Scripture. These words are like a door that leads into the inner sanctuary of Wisdom (see also Mt 7:7, 8). If he does this, his thoughts will be directed aright (v. 19). He will also learn to fear the Lord the whole day long (v. 17), and other virtues of Wisdom, such as hope (v. 18), will be like offspring in him.

23:21 This verse seems to summarize vv. 20–36. Drunkenness, fornication, and spiritual slothfulness are an unholy combination. These things leave one with tattered and ragged garments and "more naked than ground meat" (v. 31).

24:3–5 Understanding, perception, and discernment are three aspects of the same thing, known as the crown of the virtues. A house is a man, and Wisdom is the builder of the house, that is, He builds a man into a wise man of strength. Such a man considers Wisdom and His virtues to be superior to a man who has a large estate.

24:7 Wisdom is the Lord. Councils are the gates of the wise. Within these gates the wise deliberate together concerning the true interpretations of Scripture (the mouth of the Lord). These interpretations are the good thinking that results from their deliberations. The Seven Ecumenical Councils of the Church are examples of these councils.

24:10–12 Evangelism rescues those being led into death, and saws off their bonds, and does not spare them help. The evangelist has no need to know a man before he evangelizes him. For the Lord knows the hearts of all, since He formed every breath and knows all things. At His Second Coming, He will render to each man according to his works.

24:13 Honey is the teaching of Wisdom, and when it is eaten, it sweetens the soul. "He uses 'honey' figuratively, meaning divine doctrine, which restores the spiritual knowledge of the soul" (Hippol).

24:16, 37 Righteousness is one of the general virtues of Wisdom, who makes righteous a man who believes in Him. This man is not yet perfect, but will always repent and choose instruction (v. 37) when he falls into sin. But the ungodly shall weaken in evils, because he chooses to be weak and evil, and has no interest in repentance or instruction.

24:17 The enemy is some sinful passion one has overcome, but he should not rejoice in this victory, nor be puffed up (exalt yourself). Rather, he should rejoice in Wisdom, who helped him gain the victory. "We can do nothing against our faults without the help of God. . . . And we ought not be puffed up by victories over them . . . lest He see your arrogant heart . . . and you begin to be forsaken by Him, and troubled once more by that passion, which by God's grace you had previously overcome" (JohnCas).

24:31, 32, 35, 36 A man without the discernment of Wisdom is like a dried-up and barren field and vineyard. The evangelist first prepares his own soul with the virtues (works). Then he walks behind Wisdom in the fields to water the dry and barren vineyards.

25:4 Silver shines unless it is covered with dross, the waste material that comes off in something. Human nature is good in itself, and would shine if it were not covered with the deceptions ("dross") of the sinful passions. These deceptions are removed by spiritual athleticism (beat drossy silver), such as prayer and fasting. When these are removed, the natural sheen of the virtues shines from one's nature (made entirely clean).

25:5 The King's throne is a spiritual heart established in the virtues of Wisdom (established in righteousness). When the sinful passions (the ungodly) are slain, this throne is established in the heart.

25:6, 7 When we conquer a sinful passion, we are told not to brag on ourselves in the presence of the King. For it was by His helping grace that we gained the victory. Rather, we boast in Him alone. Otherwise, He will humble us by allowing the passion to return and overcome us.

25:8 The eyes are those of the spiritual heart. When we see the spiritual riches of Christ, then we may speak of them (see also Eph 1:18).

25:18 This saying is for those who try to be too spiritual too fast. Divine teaching (honey) should be swallowed a little at a time, and not treated like a gourmet table on which to gluttonize. For it will turn sour in the spiritual stomach, and be vomited up, and no longer be sweet to the taste.

25:24, 25 The Lord rewards those who love their enemies (see also Mt 5:43–45; Rom 12:19, 20).

25:31 A man who is his own spiritual director (a man who does something without counsel) is like an unfortified city whose walls are broken down.

26:1–13 These verses describe the condition of a man without discernment. Such a man is spiritually bankrupt. But discernment is the crown of Wisdom's virtues, and the man who possesses it is spiritually rich.

26:14–17 These verses describe the condition of a slothful man. His condition is akin to that of the man without discernment, for he, too, is spiritually bankrupt. But he is so deceived, he actually believes he is wise.

26:18–29 These verses describe the condition of a divisive man. He has seven vices in his soul (v. 26). St. John Cassian in his treatise on the vices speaks of eight of them: gluttony, unchastity, avarice, anger, dejection, listlessness, self-esteem, and arrogance. The man without discernment, the slothful man, and the divisive man exhibit such vices.

27:1 The Lord alone has foreknowledge. Neither men nor angels have foreknowledge. Men and angels, including the devil and his angels, can only guess about the future. Men and angels know the future only if the Lord reveals it to them. Therefore, no one should boast about tomorrow, for no one knows what the next day will bring forth (see also Jam 4:13–16). Furthermore, one may be dead tomorrow. "Hold fast then to virtue. For even so, if you depart young, you will depart in safety; if you come to old age, you will reach it safely" (JohnChr).

27:2 It is acceptable for neighbors and strangers to praise a person, provided he does not seek praise from them. If he seeks and obtains it, he will praise himself with his own lips. This kind of praise is self-exaltation, a destructive passion.

27:3 A man without discernment is a man without Wisdom and His virtues. This is serious enough (heavy). But add wrath to his foolishness, and his treatment of others becomes unbearable, like the weight of a heavy stone and cumbersome sand.

27:6 Judas Iscariot betrayed the Lord Jesus with a voluntary kiss, and He said of him: "It would have been good for that man if he had never been born" (Mk 14:21).

27:17 Iron is a dull metal, but it glistens when sharpened. Man's nature is like iron that becomes dull through the deceptions of sin. It is good underneath, but in need of sharpening that it may glisten and show its true nature. Similarly, true friends sharpen one another so the God-given virtues may develop and shine on the countenance.

27:20, 21 A fixed eye indicates an unbendable will, which refuses to be instructed in the virtues of Wisdom. It never stops sinning, for example, in its intemperate use of its tongue. The sinful appetite (insatiable) of such a will is comparable to the appetite of Hades and destruction.

27:22 A man praised by others faces a dangerous crossroad, where few survive spiritually. One road leads to self-exaltation and thence to destruction. The other leads into a furnace of fire in which the silver and gold of one's nature is purified by Wisdom and His virtues.

27:23 A lawless heart is one which voluntarily turns away from Wisdom and His virtues; thus it seeks the vices (evil things). But an upright heart voluntarily seeks Wisdom and His general virtues and their fruits.

27:25 See Jn 10:27, 28.

28:1 An ungodly man is one who lives contrary to God and his God-given nature. He lives in the unnatural fears of his own imaginations (when no one is pursuing). Thus, he lives in unreality and cowardice. But a righteous man lives in the reality of Wisdom and His virtues, in which he is confident as a lion.

28:2 It is sometimes said, and rightly so, "Condemn no man, and you will be saved." An astute man knows Wisdom and His virtues; thus in himself he condemns no one. His demeanor also helps quench condemnations when they arise.

28:5 Evil men are those who voluntarily live in vice, for they do not have upright judgment, one of Wisdom's general virtues. But those who seek the Lord and possess His virtues understand upright judgment in everything.

28:9 Wisdom, who is Christ, is the Lawgiver, and His law teaches virtue. Therefore, he who turns away his ear so as not to hear the law makes his prayer repulsive to the Lawgiver.

28:13 The righteous are those made righteous by Wisdom. When they help one another conquer their sinful passions, great glory arises, that is, God is glorified. But in places where ungodly people influence others, men are conquered by the vices.

28:14 An unwise man hides his own ungodliness; thus he cannot prosper spiritually. But a wise man takes the initiative to remove his deceptions of sin through repentance (leads his own rebuttal). Such a man prospers in the love of God.

28:20 God's grace makes a man righteous and helps him walk righteously. But a transgressor walks in crooked ways, which entangle him. "Crooked ways" are the sinful passions.

28:28 A man without discernment is a man without Wisdom and His virtues. This man trusts in an arrogant heart. How foolish and lost this man is! But he who walks in Wisdom and His virtues, such a man shall be saved.

28:30 The places of the ungodly refers to this fallen world. The righteous live in the world, but they lament its condition. For "blessed are those who mourn" (Mt 5:4). When the righteous convert the ungodly, sinful passions are destroyed (in their destruction). Thus, righteous people increase.

29:1 A reproving man is one who first reproves himself. Afterwards he is able to help others discipline themselves in spirituality. An obstinate man is one who rejects Wisdom and His virtues, and pursues vice. But when his vices suddenly consume him, he cannot be cured (no remedy).

29:6 The vices, or sinful passions, are a great snare to a man. But a righteous man is one who loves Wisdom and His virtues; thus he lives in joy and gladness.

29:10 Bloodthirsty men are first of all the demons, and secondly, those influenced by them. They hate a holy man and are out for his blood. But the upright seek him out to learn how to increase in holiness.

29:19 Wisdom's instruction incorporates several aspects: teaching, correction, discipline, reproof, learning, education, and training. A stubborn servant is one who intends not to obey instruction, even though he may understand something of what is taught.

29:23 The Lord allows a man's arrogance to humble him, so, if possible, he might learn humility. But the Lord only supports the humble-minded with the glory of His virtues.

29:25, 26 The fear and awe of men trip up growth in the virtues. Such fear and awe constitute ungodliness that causes a man to stumble. But he who trusts in the Master fears Him, and rejoices in salvation.

29:27 Righteousness is the Lord's righteousness. Man is not its source. For example, leaders cannot impart righteousness to those who serve them. But the Lord easily and freely imparts righteousness to those who serve Him.

30:1 Those who believe in God will fear His words, and this fear will lead them to repentance.

30:2, 3 One cannot know God through worldly wisdom, which God considers foolishness (see also 1Co 1:20, 21).

30:4 This verse asks six questions. The answer to the first five is "Christ." The answer to the sixth is "Christian" (the name of His children).

30:5, 6 See Rev 22:18, 19.

30:7, 8 One of the two things asked relates to the means of living a virtuous life, namely, the grace of God. For apart from His grace no one can live a virtuous life. O Lord, do not take away grace from me before I die. The second request is for the necessities of life (v. 8).

30:11–15 Evil offspring are the sinful passions, and the devil is their father (Jn 8:43, 44). But this also applies to evil offspring in a family.

30:16–35 Numerous animals are mentioned: the leech, the raven, the eagle, the serpent, the ant, the rabbit, the locust, the lizard, the lion's cub, the cock, and the he-goat. These animals and the other situations described emphasize the opposition of Wisdom and His virtues to the sinful passions. For example, the sinful passions are like the leech (v. 16), for these, so to speak, drain the blood out of one's spiritual life. But the wise are like the rabbit (v. 28), for their home is Wisdom, who is Christ (the rocks).

31:1, 2 God is the Author of the Book of Proverbs, and His words are to be kept by His children.

31:10–30 A courageous wife is one who knows Wisdom and His virtues. Her value is priceless to her husband. She is an icon of the Church, the Bride of Christ. For she is to her husband what the Church is to Christ.

🕮 31:10–30 This passage is read during Friday Vespers in the sixth week of Great Lent.

The Book of Ecclesiastes

Author

The “Teacher” or “Preacher” has traditionally been identified as Solomon, because only he was the son of David, king of Israel in Jerusalem (1:1, 12), who achieved great fame for his wisdom, wealth, and achievements (12:9–12; 3Kg 10:23, 24).

Date

According to Jewish tradition, Solomon wrote the Song of Songs in his youth, Proverbs in his middle years, and Ecclesiastes in his old age. Following this line of reasoning, he would have written this book about 935 BC.

Major Theme

Without God, all of life is vanity.

Background

Early Judaism accepted the book as holy and read it on the third day of the Feast of Tabernacles. The early Church identified Solomon as the author, and some included the book in the list of books to be read in the churches (see St. Athanasius, Festal Letter 39; St. Augustine, Christian Doctrine Bk. 2:8).

Outline

I. Everything Human Is Vain, for It Is without Profit (1:1–18)
II. There Is No Profit under the Sun (2:1–12:8)
III. Conclusion: Fear God and Keep His Commandments (12:9–14)

Ecclesiastes 1

[1]The words of the Preacher, the son of David, king of Israel in Jerusalem.

The Vanity of Life

[2]"Vanity of vanities," says the Preacher;
"Vanity of vanities, all is vanity!"
[3]What advantage does a man have in all his labor
In which he toils under the sun?
[4]A generation comes and a generation goes,
But the earth stands forever.
[5]The sun rises and the sun sets
And returns to its place.
[6]The wind rises and goes toward the south
And swirls towards the north.
The wind whirls in a circular motion
And returns full circle.
[7]All the rivers flow to the sea,
Yet the sea shall not be filled.
To the place where the rivers flow,
There they return again.
[8]All words are wearisome,
And a man will not be able to say them.
Neither will the eye be satisfied with seeing,
Nor will the ear be filled with hearing.
[9]What has been is what will be,
And what has been done is what will be done.
There is nothing new under the sun.
[10]Who will speak and say,
"See, this is new"?
For it has already been in the ages
That have passed before us.
[11]There is no remembrance of former things,
And indeed, there shall be no remembrance of later things
By the things that will come after that.

Futility of Man's Wisdom

12 I, the Preacher, was king over Israel in Jerusalem. 13 I gave my heart to seek out and to prepare myself in wisdom concerning all the things done under heaven; for God has given painful distraction to the sons of men to be occupied therewith. 14 I beheld all the works done under the sun, and behold, all is vanity and is the choice of one's spirit.

15 That which has become crooked cannot be made straight,
And what is lacking cannot be counted.

16 I spoke in my heart, saying, "Behold, I have become great, and have acquired wisdom beyond all before me in Jerusalem; and my heart has experienced much wisdom and knowledge." 17 I gave my heart to know wisdom and knowledge, to learn proverbs and understanding. And this, too, was waywardness of spirit.

18 For in the abundance of wisdom
There is abundance of knowledge,
And he who increases knowledge will increase suffering.

Ecclesiastes 2

The Vanity of Merriment

1 I said in my heart, "Come now, I will test you with merriment and see if this is good; and behold, this, too, is vanity." 2 I said concerning laughter, "This is madness," and concerning merriment, "What does this accomplish?" 3 I searched in my heart that I might excite my flesh as with wine. And my heart guided me with wisdom to grasp what is foolishness, until I might see what is good for the sons of men, that which they should do under the sun all the days of their life. 4 I made my works great; I built myself houses and planted vineyards for myself. 5 I made myself gardens and parks and planted all kinds of fruit trees in them. 6 I made pools of water for myself from which to water growing trees. 7 I acquired male and female servants, and servants were born in my house; and I had abundant possessions of herds and flocks, more than all before me in Jerusalem.

8 I also gathered silver and gold for myself and the abundant treasures of kings and countries. I provided male and female singers for myself, the delights of the sons of men, and male and female cupbearers. [9]So I became great and advanced beyond all before me in Jerusalem; my wisdom established me.

[10]Whatever my eyes desired,
I did not keep from them.
I did not withhold my heart from any merriment.
For my heart was made glad in all my labor,
And this was my portion from all my labor.
[11]Then I looked on all the works my hands had done
And on the labor in which I had toiled,
And indeed all is vanity
And is the choice of one's spirit.
There was no profit under the sun.

Wisdom Excels Foolishness

[12]Then I turned myself to consider
Wisdom, madness, and foolishness,
For who is the man who will follow after counsel,
Whatever it is, to do it?
[13]Then I saw that wisdom excels foolishness
As light excels darkness.
[14]The wise man's eyes are in his head,
But the senseless man walks in darkness;
And I indeed know
That one event happens to all of them.
[15]So I said in my heart,
"As it happens to the senseless man,
So it also happens to me.
Why then have I gained abundant wisdom?"
Then I said in my heart,
"This indeed is also vanity,
Because the senseless man speaks of his abundance."
[16]For there is no remembrance forever
Of the wise man or of the senseless man,
Since now as in the days to come,

All things are forgotten.
And how will the wise man
As well as the senseless man face death?

17 Thus I have hated life, because the work done under the sun was evil before me; for all is vanity and is the choice of one's spirit.
18 Then I hated all my labor in which I toiled under the sun, for I must leave it to the man who comes after me. 19 For who knows whether he shall be a wise man or a senseless man? Yet he will have authority over all my labor in which I toiled and wherein I grew wise under the sun. Indeed, this also is vanity. 20 So I turned my heart and despaired of all the labor wherein I toiled under the sun. 21 For there is a man whose labor is with wisdom, knowledge, and courage, yet this man shall give his portion to one who has not labored therein. This also is vanity and a great evil. 22 For what does a man have for all his labor and his purpose of heart wherein he labors under the sun? 23 For all his days are sorrowful, and the distraction of life is his, for even in the night his heart takes no rest. This also is vanity.
24 There is nothing better for a man than that he should eat and drink and that his soul should enjoy good in his labor. This also I saw was from the hand of God. 25 For who will eat or who will drink without Him? 26 And He gives wisdom, knowledge, and gladness to a man who is good in His sight.
But to him who commits sin He gives the job of gathering and collecting, that he may give to the man who is good in God's sight. This is also vanity and is the choice of one's spirit.

Ecclesiastes 3

A Time for Everything

1 To everything there is a season, and a time for every matter under heaven:

2 A time to give birth
And a time to die;
A time to plant
And a time to pluck what is planted.
3 A time to kill
And a time to heal;
A time to pull down

And a time to build up.
4A time to weep
And a time to laugh;
A time to mourn
And a time to dance.
5A time to throw stones
And a time to gather stones;
A time to embrace
And a time to refrain from embracing.
6A time to seek
And a time to lose;
A time to keep
And a time to throw away.
7A time to tear
And a time to sew;
A time to keep silent
And a time to speak.
8A time to love
And a time to hate;
A time of war
And a time of peace.

The Gifts of God

9What profit has the worker from all his labors? 10I have seen altogether the tasks which God has given to the sons of men to be engaged in. 11He made everything beautiful in its time, and He indeed put eternity in their hearts in such a way that man may not find out the work God made from the beginning to the end. 12I know there is nothing better for them than to rejoice and do good in their lives. 13Indeed, every man should eat and drink and experience the good in all his labor—this is God's gift to him.

14I know that whatever things God does,
They shall be forever.
Nothing can be added to or taken away from these things,
For God did them that men would fear before Him.
15What is has already been,
And what is to be has already been;
And God will require an account of what is past.

God Judges All

16 Moreover I saw under the sun the place of judgment.
The ungodly man was there.
I also saw the place of the righteous man.
The ungodly man was not there.
17 I said in my heart,
"God will judge both the righteous man and the ungodly man,
For there is a time for every action and every work."

18 I said in my heart, "Concerning the speech of the sons of men, God will judge them so as to show them that indeed, they are themselves like animals." 19 For what happens to the sons of men also happens to animals: one thing befalls them; as is the death of the one, so also is the death of the other, and there is one breath to all. So what advantage does a man have over an animal? For all things are vanity. 20 All go to one place: all are from the dust, and all return to the dust. 21 Who knows the spirit of the sons of men, whether it goes upward, and the spirit of the animal, whether it goes downward to the earth? 22 So I saw that there was no good except that a man should rejoice in his works; for that is his portion. For who shall bring him to see what happens after him?

Ecclesiastes 4

Those Oppressed

1 Then I returned and saw all the oppressions done under the sun.

Behold, the weeping of the oppressed!
But they have no comforter.
On the side of the oppressors was power,
But they have no comforter.
2 So I praised those who were already dead
More than the living,
As many as are alive until now.
3 Better than both these is he who has not yet been born,
Who has not seen all the evil work done under the sun.

4 Again I saw all the labor and all the courage of the worker, that this is the zeal of a man because of his companion. This is also vanity and is the choice of one's spirit.

5 The senseless man folds his hands
And consumes his own flesh.
6 Better is a handful of rest
Than two handfuls of labor,
And it is the choice of one's spirit.
7 Then I returned and saw vanity under the sun:
8 There is one, and there is not a second one,
And he has neither son nor brother.
And there is no end to all his labor,
Neither is his eye satisfied with wealth.
But he never asks,
"For whom do I labor and deprive myself of goodness?"
This also is vanity and a painful distraction.

The Treasure of Friendship

9 Two are better than one
Because they have a good reward for their labor.
10 For if they fall, one will lift up his companion.
But woe to him who is alone when he falls,
For there is not a second one to help him up!
11 If two lie down together, both stay warm,
But how can one stay warm alone?
12 If one is added strength, two will stand before him,
And a threefold cord is not quickly broken.

An Unlikely King

13 Better is a poor and wise youth
Than an old and senseless king
Who will no longer take advice.
14 For this youth shall come from the house of prisoners to reign,
Even though in his kingdom he was born poor.

15 I saw all the living who walk under the sun,
And they were with the youth
Who will be established in the king's place.
16 There was no end of all the people
Over whom he was made king;
Yet those who come afterward will not rejoice in him.
Surely this also is vanity and is the choice of one's spirit.

Draw Near to God

17 Walk carefully when you go to the house of God. And draw near to hear, rather than to offer the sacrifice of senseless men; for they do not know that they do evil.

Ecclesiastes 5

1 Do not be hasty with your mouth,
And do not let not your heart be quick
To utter a word before God;
For God is in heaven, and you are on earth;
Therefore, let your words be few.
2 For a dream comes in a multitude of distractions,
And the voice of a senseless man is with a multitude of words.
3 When you make a vow to God, do not delay to pay it,
For His will is not in senseless men.
So pay whatever you vowed.
4 Better not to vow than to vow and not pay.

5 Do not let your mouth cause your flesh to sin, and do not say in the presence of God, "It was a mistake." Why should God be angry at your voice, and destroy the work of your hands? 6 For in a multitude of dreams there are vanities and many words, but you should fear God.

The Vanity of Riches

7 If you see the oppression of the poor and the violation of judgment and righteousness in the land, do not marvel at the matter; for there is a high official to watch over a high official, and higher ones over them! [8]Moreover, the abundance of the earth is for all: even a king depends on work in the field.

[9]He who loves silver will not be satisfied with silver;
Nor he who loves the harvest, with its abundance.
This also is vanity.
[10]In the abundance of good things
They who eat them also increase,
But what virtue does the owner have from them,
Except to see them with his eyes?
[11]The sleep of a servant is sweet,
Whether he eats little or much;
But the abundance of the rich will not permit him to sleep.
[12]There was a sickness I saw under the sun:
Wealth kept for its owner to his hurt.
[13]That wealth shall perish in painful distraction,
And he begets a son;
But there is nothing in his hand.
[14]As he came from his mother's womb,
Naked shall he return, to go as he came;
And he shall take nothing from his labor
That it may go with him in his hand.
[15]This also is a painful sickness,
For as he came, so shall he go;
And what is his gain, for which he labored for the wind?
[16]All his days are in darkness and sorrow
And in much anger, sickness, and gall.

[17]Behold, I have seen good: It is a fine thing for a man to experience goodness in all his labor in which he toils all the days of his life that God has given him; for it is his portion. [18]As for every man to whom God has given wealth, possessions, and authority—to eat from it, to receive his portion, and to rejoice in his labor—this is the gift of God. [19]For he will not remember the many days of his life, because God distracted him in the merriment of his heart.

Ecclesiastes 6

[1]There is an evil I have seen under the sun, and it is abundant among men: [2]A man to whom God shall give wealth, possessions, and glory, so he lacks nothing for his life from all the things he shall desire; yet God does not give him power to eat of it, but a stranger consumes it. This is vanity and a grievous sickness.

[3]If a man begets a hundred children, and he shall live many years—however many the days of his years shall be—yet his soul is not to be filled with goodness, and he also has no burial. I say that a miscarried child is better than he, [4]for it came in futility and departs in darkness; and its name shall be covered with darkness. [5]Though it has not seen the sun or known anything, it has more rest than that man. [6]Even if he lived a thousand years twice, but has not seen goodness, do not all go to one place?

[7]All the labor of man is for his mouth,
And yet his soul is not satisfied.
[8]For what advantage does the skilled man
Have over the unskilled man,
Since even this poor man knows how to keep himself alive?
[9]Better is the sight of the eyes
Than the wandering of the soul.
This also is vanity and is the choice of one's spirit.
[10]If anything has come to be,
Its name has already been used;
And it is known what man is,
That he is unable to dispute with him
Who is stronger than he.
[11]Since there are many words that multiply vanity,
What advantage does man have?

[12]For who knows what is good for man in his life? For all his days in life, which pass like a shadow, are spent in vanity. Who can tell a man what will happen under the sun after he is gone?

Ecclesiastes 7

The Value of Wisdom

[1]A good name is better than good olive oil,

And the day of one’s death
Than the day of one’s birth.
2It is better to go to the house of mourning
Than to go to the house of drinking,
For this is the end of every man;
And the living will take it to heart.
3Sorrow is better than laughter,
For by a sad countenance the heart is made better.
4The heart of the wise is in the house of mourning,
But the heart of senseless men is in the house of merriment.
5It is better to hear the rebuke of a wise man
Than for a man to hear the song of senseless men.
6For like the crackling of thorns under a pot,
So is the laughter of senseless men.
This also is vanity.
7Oppression makes a learned man dizzy
And destroys his vigorous heart.
8The end of matters is better than their beginning,
And a patient man is better than one haughty in spirit.
9Do not be hasty in your spirit to be angry,
For anger rests in the bosom of senseless men.
10Do not say, “Why were the former days better than these?”
For you do not inquire wisely concerning this.
11Wisdom is good with an inheritance,
And profitable to those who see the sun.
12For wisdom in its shadow is as the shadow of silver,
But the abundance of the knowledge of wisdom
Will give life to him who has it.
13Behold the works of God,
For who can put in order him
Whom God made crooked?
14In the day of what is good, live in that goodness,
But in the day of trouble, consider also
That God made one harmonious with the other,
That a man may not find out anything
That will come after him.
15I saw everything in my days of vanity:

There is a righteous man
Who perishes in his righteousness,
And there is an ungodly man
Who remains alive in his vice.
16Do not be overly righteous,
Nor be overly wise,
Lest you be confounded.
17Do not be very ungodly,
Nor be hardened,
Lest you die before your time.
18It is good that you lay hold of this
And do not let your hand let go of it:
For the one who fears God, all things will turn out well.
19Wisdom will help the wise
More than ten rulers in the city.
20For there is not a righteous man on earth
Who does good and does not sin.
21Also do not take to heart all the words people say,
Lest you hear your servant cursing you.
22For very often he will act in an evil manner against you,
And many times he will afflict your heart,
Just as you have cursed others.
23I proved all this by wisdom.
I said, “I will be wise,”
24But it was far from me.
As for what is far off and exceedingly deep,
Who will find it out?
25I and my heart went about to know,
And to search and seek out wisdom
And the account of things,
And to know the foolishness, hardness, and madness
Of the ungodly man.
26I find more bitter than death
The woman who is a snare and her heart a net;
And her hands are her chains.
A man who is good in the sight of God will escape from her,
But the sinner will be caught by her.
27“Behold, I found this,” says the Preacher,

“Adding one thing to the other to find out the reason, 28Which my soul still seeks, but cannot find:
I found one man among a thousand,
But a woman among all these, I have not found.
29Except behold, I found this,
That God makes man upright,
But they have sought out many schemes.”

Ecclesiastes 8

1Who knows the wise?
And who knows the interpretation of a thing?
A man’s wisdom makes his face shine,
And a man shameless in face will be hated.

Obey Those Who Rule

2Keep the king’s commandment and spare no effort for the sake of your oath to God. 3You will go out from his presence, but do not stand with an evil thing, for the king will do whatever he pleases.

4Insofar as a king has authority, he speaks,
And who will say to him,
“Why will you do this?”
5He who keeps his commandment will not know an evil thing,
And a wise man’s heart knows the time of judgment.
6For to every matter there is a time and a judgment,
Because the knowledge of a man lies heavily upon him.
7For there is no one who knows what is going to be;
For who will tell him how it shall be?
8No one has the authority over his spirit to withhold his spirit,
And no one has authority in the day of his death.
There is no discharge in that war,
And ungodliness will not save those given to it.

9I saw all this and gave my heart to every work done under the sun wherein one man has authority over another man to injure him.

Death Visits All

10 Then I saw the ungodly buried in their tombs and brought from their holy place and praised in the city for what they had done. But this also is vanity.
11 For no controversy comes quickly against those who do evil; therefore, the heart of the sons of men is fully determined within them to do evil.
12 Whoever sins does evil from that time on and for a long time afterwards; nevertheless, I know that it shall be well for those who fear God so long as they have fear before Him. 13 But it shall not be well with the ungodly man; he will not prolong his days, which are as a shadow, because he does not have fear before God.

14 There is a vanity that is done on earth: there are the righteous as when the work of the ungodly overtakes them, and there are the ungodly as when the work of the righteous overtakes them. I said that this also is vanity. 15 So I praised merriment, because a man has nothing better to do under the sun than to eat, drink, and be merry; for this will be present with him in his labor all the days of his life that God gives him under the sun.

16 For this reason I committed my heart to know wisdom and to see the distractions done on earth; nevertheless, he receives no sleep, day or night.
17 Then I saw all the works of God, that a man cannot discover how He does His work under the sun. No matter how much a man labors to discover it, yet he will not find it out. And no matter how much a wise man may speak of knowing it, he will not be able to find it out.

Ecclesiastes 9

1 For I gave my heart to all this, and my heart saw all this, that the righteous and the wise and their works are in the hand of God. Whether it be love or hatred, man does not know it, although all things are before him.

2 Vanity is in all things:
One event happens to the righteous man and the ungodly
man,
To the good man and the evil man,
To the pure man and the impure man,
To the man who sacrifices and the man who does not sacrifice.
As is the good man, so is the man who sins;

As is he who takes an oath, so is he who fears an oath.

3There is this evil in everything done under the sun, that one event happens to all. And truly the heart of the sons of men is full of evil; madness is in their heart while they live, and afterwards they go to the dead. 4For who has fellowship with all the living? There is hope, for a living dog is better than a dead lion.

5For the living know they will die,
But the dead know nothing;
And they have no more reward,
For the memory of them is forgotten.
6Also their love, hatred, and envy have now perished;
And they have no portion forever
In all that is done under the sun.
7Go, eat your bread with merriment
And drink your wine with a happy heart;
For now God is well pleased with your works.
8Let your garments be always white,
And let your head lack no oil.

9Experience life with the wife whom you love all the days of your vain life which He gave you under the sun all your days of vanity; for that is your portion in life and in the labor you performed under the sun. 10Whatever your hand finds to do, do it with all your might; for there is no work or reasoning or knowledge or wisdom in Hades where you are going. 11I returned and saw under the sun that:

The race is not to the swift,
Nor the battle to the strong,
Nor bread to the wise,
Nor wealth to men of understanding,
Nor favor to men of knowledge;
For time and chance will happen to them all.
12For man also does not know his time:
Like fish taken in a cruel net,
Like birds caught in a snare,
So the sons of men are snared in an evil time

When it falls suddenly upon them.

Wisdom Is Better Than Strength

13 I saw this wisdom under the sun, and it is great to me. 14 There was a little city with a few men in it; and a great king came against it and surrounded it and built great barricades around it. 15 Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and by his wisdom he rescued the city; yet no one remembered that poor man. 16 Then I said:

"Wisdom is better than strength,
But the poor man's wisdom is despised,
And his words are not heard.
17 The words of the wise are heard in quietness
More than the shouting of those who rule in foolishness.
18 Wisdom is better than weapons of war,
But one sinner destroys much goodness."

Ecclesiastes 10

1 Dead flies will corrupt the preparation of seasoned olive oil,
And a little wisdom is more valuable
Than the glory of great foolishness.
2 A wise man's heart is at his right hand,
But the heart of a senseless man is at his left.
3 When a senseless man also walks along the way,
His heart will fail him,
And everything he considers is foolishness.
4 If the spirit of the ruler rises against you,
Do not leave your place;
For soothing puts an end to great sins.
5 There is an evil I saw under the sun
When an offense proceeds from a ruler.
6 The senseless man devotes himself to great heights,
And rich men shall sit in a lowly place.
7 I saw servants on horses
And princes walking on the ground like servants.

[8]He who digs a pit will fall into it,
And he who pulls down a wall will be bitten by a serpent.
[9]He who removes stones will be worn out by them,
And he who cuts down trees will be endangered by them.
[10]If the ax head falls off, then his countenance is troubled,
And he will put forth more strength;
And in that case skill is of no advantage to the man.
[11]If the serpent bites when it is not charmed,
Then there is no advantage to the charmer.
[12]The words of a wise mouth are gracious,
But the lips of a fool shall swallow him up.
[13]The words of his mouth begin with foolishness,
And the end of his talk is evil madness.
[14]A senseless man multiplies words.
No man knows what is to be;
And who will tell him what will be after him?
[15]The labor of fools wears them out,
For they do not even know how to go to the city!
[16]Woe to you, O city whose king is young
And whose princes feast in the morning!
[17]Blessed are you, O land,
When your king is the son of nobles
And your princes feast at the proper time in strength.
They will not be dishonored.
[18]Because of laziness the roofing will be brought low,
And through idleness of hands the house will leak.
[19]They make bread for laughter,
And wine delights the living;
But all will listen to money.
[20]Do not curse the king, even in your conscience;
Do not curse the rich, even in your bedroom;
For a bird of the air will carry your voice,
And a bird in flight will tell the matter.

Ecclesiastes 11

Cast Your Bread upon the Water

[1]Cast your bread upon the face of the water,

For you will find it after many days.
[2]Give a portion to seven and also to eight,
For you do not know what evil there will be on the earth.
[3]If the clouds are full of rain, they pour it out upon the earth,
And if a tree falls to the south or to the north,
In the place where the tree falls, there it shall lie.
[4]He who observes the wind will not sow,
And he who sees the clouds will not reap.
[5]As you do not know the way of the wind,
Or how the bones grow in the womb of her
Who is with child,
So you do not know the works of God,
Even all things whatever He will do.
[6]In the morning sow your seed,
And in the evening do not withhold your hand;
For you do not know which will prosper,
Either this or that,
Or whether both alike will be good.
[7]The light is sweet,
And it is good for the eyes
To behold the sun.
[8]For if a man lives many years
And rejoices in them all,
Yet let him remember the days of darkness,
For they shall be many.
All that comes is vanity.

Follow God in Your Youth

[9]Be glad, O young man, in your youth,
And let your heart cheer you in the days of your youth.
Walk in the ways of your heart
And in the sight of your eyes;
But know for all this
That God will bring you into judgment.
[10]Therefore remove anger from your heart

And pass by evil with your flesh,
For youth and lack of understanding are vanity.

Ecclesiastes 12

[1]Remember your Creator in the days of your youth,
Before the difficult days come
And the years arrive when you say,
“I have no will to face them”:
[2]While the sun and the light,
The moon and the stars
Are not darkened,
And the clouds do not return after the rain;
[3]In the day when the keepers of the house tremble,
And the men of strength are led astray;
When the women who grind the grain become idle
Because they are few;
When the women who look out the windows
Will remain in darkness;
[4]When the doors are shut in the marketplace,
And the sound of grinding is low;
When one rises up at the sound of a sparrow,
And all the daughters of song are brought low.
[5]Also they will look from the height,
And there are terrors in the way;
When the almond tree blossoms,
The grasshopper grows fat,
And the caper plant is scattered.
For man goes to his eternal home,
And the mourners go about the marketplace.
[6]Remember your Creator until the silver cord is removed,
And the golden flower is pressed together,
And the pitcher is shattered at the fountain,
And the wheel runs together at the well;
[7]Then the dust returns to the earth as it was,
And the spirit returns to God who gave it.
[8]“Vanity of vanities,” says the Preacher,

“All is vanity.”

9 Because the Preacher was wise more than others, he taught the people knowledge; and the ear will search out his well-ordered proverbs. 10 The Preacher sought diligently to find desirable words, and what was written is upright; they are words of truth.

11 The words of the wise are like pointed sticks, like nails firmly fastened;
they are given from the collections and abound from them by one Shepherd.
12 Moreover, my son, guard yourself, for there is no end to the making of many books, and much study is weariness of the flesh.

13 Hear the conclusion of the whole matter:

Fear God
And keep His commandments,
For this is the whole man.
14 For God will bring every work into judgment,
Including everything that has been overlooked,
Whether it be good or evil.

Annotations for Ecclesiastes

1:1 Words can be best understood as “collected sayings” (see 12:9–11). The word ecclesiastes comes from the Greek root word ecclesia, meaning “assembly,” which is also used to refer to the gathering of Christians in the New Testament. Thus, ecclesia is translated “church” in the English language, and is used to refer to both the gathering and the building where the people gather.

1:2 All, that is, everything in life that is apart from the purpose for which God created us, is vanity (see Rom 8:20).

1:3–7 We labor that we may profit, but labor loses its meaning (see Mt 16:26) when it has no eternal purpose. From generation to generation, we inherit death (Job 14:10). But Christ, the Sun of Righteousness (Mal 4:2), gives meaning to our labor and raises us up from death to life.

1:8–11 Even the human quest for knowledge and wisdom proves fruitless, because man cannot remember what he learned. Nothing new (v. 9) contrasts with the OT prophets who proclaim a new covenant (Jer 38:31; Is 65:27) created in Christ.

1:12, 13 The Preacher is about to explain why he has come to this conclusion.

1:14 The choice of one’s spirit means that we freely choose vanity or evil deeds as opposed to doing God’s will. This tells us that man is not sinful by nature, but rather sinful by choice. This same phrase is also used in 2:11, 17, 26; 4:4, 6, 16; 6:9.

1:15 Despite his pessimism, the Preacher knows that God is indeed at work in the world, and only He can make the crooked . . . straight (Is 40:4).

1:17, 18 True wisdom is Christ, whose mysteries are far beyond our understanding.

2:1–3 The Preacher spoke in his heart because the heart is the center of our true self. It is the center of good or vanity, affection and coldness, mercy and hardness, wisdom and folly, reason and confusion.

2:13 Man can choose wisdom or foolishness, light or darkness, good or evil.

2:16 No matter whether we walk in the light of wisdom or in the darkness of folly, everyone suffers and dies without remembrance. It is for this reason that Christ has come to trample down death by dying that we might live eternally in Him. Thus, we are bold to sing, “Memory eternal!”

2:24–26 Earthly food and drink still ends in death, but the eternal food of the Eucharist (Jn 6:55) imparts good—that is, wisdom, knowledge, and gladness (v. 26)—to those who labor for God.

3:1–11 The eternal Word—the beginning and the end (v. 11; Rev 22:13)—came into time and redeemed all things. He turned our weeping into joy, our mourning into dancing, our hatred into love, and our time into eternity.

3:14–17 That men would fear before Him expresses the Preacher’s understanding of why the world is the way it is. God uses the world to turn us to Himself, for at the end of the age, the time will come for judgment (see 5:7; 7:15; 8:11, 12; 11:9; 12:14).

3:22 This is a reminder that we are to rejoice in the simple satisfaction of accomplishing the works God has given us to do.

4:1–3 Job expressed a similar sentiment of being oppressed when he wished that he had never been born to see such sorrow (Job 3:10–16). But Christ has sent a comforter, the Holy Spirit (Jn 14:16), to wipe away all tears. Verse 2 speaks of the communion of the saints.

4:8 Our Lord spoke of this kind of person in the parable of the rich fool (Lk 12:16–21).

4:10 What a marvelous picture of encouragement in the Church!

4:12 The threefold cord may be linked to the virtues of faith, hope, and love (1Co 13:13).

4:13–17 In a striking reverse parallel, Christ stands in contrast to the old and senseless earthly king while also fulfilling him, for He was born poor and was raised up from the house of prisoners to be made king. Yet those who come afterward do indeed rejoice in him, bringing right sacrifices of praise into His house.

5:14–16 A description of life for a man who has no hope, whose labor is only to satisfy his hunger, who labored for the wind. But in the light of Christ we have hope, joy, health, and peace of mind.

6:1–12 Life is no more than a shadow (v. 12). No matter what we achieve on this earth, we cannot take it with us when we die. At the same time, the Christian may rejoice, for true Wisdom is Christ. The soul that labors for the food of immortality is covered not in darkness but in light, and lives not a thousand years twice (v. 6), but forever (Jn 6:55–58).

7:1 Good olive oil symbolizes here the acquisition of earthly wealth, but in the new covenant, it symbolizes the acquisition of the Holy Spirit.

7:5–10 In Christ, the song of senseless men has been turned into the worship of the faithful, and the latter days, not the former days, are better (v. 10). So much for "the good old days"!

7:16 The overly righteous are like the Pharisee who "went up to the temple to pray" (Lk 18:10), and the overly wise may be likened to the wise of this world (1Co 1:18). St. Paul writes, "Therefore let him who thinks he stands take heed lest he fall" (1Co 10:12).

7:18 See Rom 8:28.

7:20 In the Orthodox funeral service we say, "For there has never been a man who has lived and has not sinned."

7:26–29 We are all vulnerable and easily led astray by anyone with evil intentions, be it a man or a woman. But on a deeper level, the woman who is a snare speaks to the fallen Eve, and through her to all humanity, for she is our mother. There is indeed only one man that God made upright, and that one Man is Christ our God, who broke the curse of death and freed us from our sins.

8:1–5 Christ's "face shone like the sun" on Mount Tabor (Mt 17:2). The faithful also shine with His ineffable light, as Christ Himself said, "You are the light of the world" (Mt 5:14). Therefore, let us work to acquire the wisdom that is Christ our king, that we might shine as lights "in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation" (Php 2:15).

8:8 Only Christ has authority in the day of death; and it is His power that releases and delivers us from that war.

8:11, 12 Intentional sins are not a one-time event; the consequences continue for a long time.

8:15 This trilogy of words, eat, drink, and be merry, is also used by Jesus in the parable of the rich fool (Lk 12:19).

9:1 There are two ways to go through life. Those righteous and wise are in the hand of God; unregenerate man is on his own.

9:4 The living dog is an image of the Gentile believers (Mt 15:26, 27), and the dead lion images the nation of Israel.

9:7, 8 Here is an OT image of the Eucharist, baptism, and chrismation.

9:11 The victory in both race and battle belongs to the faithful.

9:14 The little city is the world, and the great king is the devil who besieged it.

10:1 When we say, "There's a fly in the ointment," the saying comes from this verse (oil can be translated "ointment"). This image illustrates how sin affects creation.

10:4 Do not leave your place: The wise man must not stray from his determination to glorify God.

10:15–17 The city can be seen as an image of the Kingdom of heaven, ruled by Christ the king and His princes (v. 16), the faithful. Christ calls the scribes and Pharisees fools (v. 15) for being too blind to see the truth (Mt 23:17, 19).

11:1–10 This chapter teaches we are not to hold onto that which we have been given, but give it away.

12:1 The days of your youth reminds us to follow the Lord from the earliest years of our lives.

12:5 The caper plant grows on rocky cliffs, stone walls, and in cracks and crevices of rocks in the Middle East.

12:8 Though the Preacher ends on a negative note, with all is vanity, the positive message of this book is contained in 12:6: "Remember your Creator." Or as Proverbs teaches us, "The fear of God is the beginning of wisdom" (Pr 1:7).

The Song of Songs

Author

Traditionally, Solomon, who is referred to seven times (1:1, 5; 3:7, 9, 11; 8:11, 12).

Date

About 965–960 BC, according to early Jewish tradition.

Major Theme

The love between husband and wife. The Song of Songs is a hymn used by the Jewish people for centuries to celebrate human love at wedding feasts. The theme is symbolic of God's love for His faithful people and their reciprocal love. Christians have tended to emphasize the allegorical interpretation of Christ's love for His Bride, the Church.

Background

Typical of ancient Middle Eastern love poetry, the Song of Songs shares the extensive use of sensuous imagery drawn from nature. The closest parallels appear to be found in Proverbs (5:15–20; 6:24–29; 7:6–23). The description of love in 8:6, 7 seems to confirm that the Song belongs to biblical wisdom literature and that it is wisdom's description of an amorous relationship.

Outline

I. Title: Solomon's Song of Songs (1:1)
II. The First Meeting: Love's Desire (1:2–2:7)
III. The Second Meeting: Aspiring Courtship (2:8–3:5)

V. The Fourth Meeting: The Bride's Search for Her Lover (5:2–6:3)
VI. The Fifth Meeting: Union of Spouses (6:4–8:4)
VII. Strength of Devoted Love (8:5–7)
VIII. The Conclusion (8:8–14)

Song of Songs 1

The Bride

[1]The Song of Songs, which is Solomon’s.

[2]Let him kiss me with the kisses of his mouth,
For your love is better than wine,
[3]And the smell of your ointments is better than all spices.
Your name is ointment poured forth;
Therefore, the young maidens love you.
[4]They draw you.

Companions

We will run after you
For the smell of your ointments.

The Bride

The king brought me into his chamber.

Companions

Let us be extremely joyful and glad in you.
We will love your breasts more than wine;
Uprightness loves you.

The Bride

[5]I am black and beautiful,
O daughters of Jerusalem,
As the tents of Kedar,
As the curtains of Solomon.
[6]Do not look at me because I am black,
For the sun gave me a tan.
The sons of my mother fought with me
And made me keeper in the vineyards.

But I have not kept my own vineyard.
7Tell me, you whom my soul loves,
Where you shepherd your flock,
Where you rest them at noonday;
Lest I become as one
Who encompasses herself
With the herds of your companions.

The Groom

8If you do not know yourself,
Fairest among women,
Go forth on the heels of the flocks,
And tend your young goats by the shepherds' tents.
9I have likened you, my beloved,
To my horses in the chariots of Pharaoh.
10Your cheeks are as beautiful as turtledoves,
Your neck as a small necklace.

Companions

11We will make for you figures of gold
With studs of silver.

The Bride

12While the king was at the table,
My spikenard gave forth its smell.
13My beloved is to me a bundle of myrrh;
He shall take rest in between my breasts.
14To me, my beloved is a cluster of grapes from Cyprus
In the vineyards of En Gedi.

The Groom

15Behold, you are beautiful, my beloved;
Behold, you are beautiful;
Your eyes are doves.

The Bride

16 Behold, you are beautiful, my beloved,
And indeed lovely;
Our bed is shaded.
17 The beams of our houses are cedars;
Our ceilings are cypress wood.

Song of Songs 2

1 I am a flower of the plain,
A lily of the valleys.

The Groom

2 As a lily among thorns,
So is my beloved among the daughters.

The Bride

3 As the apple among the trees of the woods,
So is my beloved among the sons.
I desired to be in his shadow and to sit down;
And his fruit was sweet in my mouth.
4 Bring me into the house of wine;
Set love before me.
5 Strengthen me with cakes of raisins;
Refresh me with apples,
For I am wounded with love.
6 His left hand shall be under my head,
And his right hand shall embrace me.
7 I implore you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
By the hosts and powers of the field,
That you rouse not nor wake my love
Until he wishes.
8 The voice of my beloved!
Behold, he comes leaping on the mountains
And skipping over the hills.

[9]My beloved is as a gazelle or a young stag
On the mountains of Bethel.
Behold, he stands behind our wall,
Looking through the windows
And peering through the lattices.
[10]My beloved answers and says to me,
“Rise up and come, my companion, my fair one, my dove.
[11]For behold, the winter is past,
And the rain is gone;
It has departed.
[12]The flowers are seen in the land;
The time of pruning has arrived;
The voice of the dove is heard in our land.
[13]The fig tree has put forth its young figs,
And the vines are in bloom and give forth their fragrance.
Arise and come, my companion, my fair one, my dove,
[14]And come, my dove, to the shelter of the rock,
And take hold of the wall.
Show me your face,
And cause me to hear your voice;
For your voice is sweet,
And your face is beautiful.”

Companions

[15]Catch us the foxes,
The little ones that spoil the vineyard,
For our vines are in bloom.

The Bride

[16]My beloved is mine, and I am his,
He who shepherds his flock among the lilies.
[17]Until the day dawns and the shadows depart,
My beloved, turn back, and be as likened to
A gazelle or a young stag
On the mountains of the ravines.

Song of Songs 3

1 In the night on my bed
I sought him whom my soul loves;

I sought him, but did not find him.
I called him, but he did not hear me.
2 I will rise now and go about the city,
In the marketplaces and the streets.
I will seek him whom my soul loves.
I sought him, but did not find him.
3 The watchmen who do their rounds in the city
Found me, and I said to them,
“Have you seen him whom my soul loves?”
4 Scarcely had I departed from them
When I found him whom my soul loves.
I held him and would not let him go
Until I brought him into my mother’s house,
Into the chamber of her who conceived me.
5 I implore you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
By the hosts and powers of the field,
That you rouse not nor wake my love
Until he wishes.

Companions

6 Who is this who comes up from the desert
Like pillars of smoke,
Offering incense, myrrh, and frankincense,
With all the fragrant powders of the perfumer?
7 Behold the bed of Solomon;
Sixty mighty men round about it
From the mighty ones of Israel,
8 All holding a sword
And trained in war.
Every man has his sword upon his thigh
Because of fear in the night.

9 King Solomon made a palanquin for himself
From the trees of Lebanon.
10 He made its pillars of silver
And its back of gold,
Its covering crimson,
Its interior a mosaic of love,
Because of the daughters of Jerusalem.
11 Go forth and look at King Solomon,
At the crown with which his mother crowned him
In the day of his wedding,
And in the day of the gladness of his heart.

Song of Songs 4

The Groom

1 Behold, you are beautiful, my companion,

Behold, you are beautiful.
Your eyes are like doves behind your veil;
Your hair is as flocks of goats
Coming down from Gilead.
2 Your teeth are as flocks of shorn sheep
That went up from the washing,
All of them bearing twins,
And none among them is barren.
3 Your lips are like a thread of scarlet,
And your manner of speech is pleasant.
As the rind of a pomegranate
Are your cheeks behind your veil.
4 Your neck is like the tower of David,
The one built on courses of stone.
A thousand shields hang upon it,
All the arrows of the mighty men.
5 Your two breasts are like two fawns,
Twins of a gazelle, that feed among the lilies.
6 Until the day dawns and the shadows depart,
I will go my way to the mountain of myrrh

And to the hill of frankincense.
7 You are altogether beautiful,
And there is no blemish in you.
8 Come from Lebanon, my bride, come from Lebanon.
Beginning with faithfulness, you shall come and pass through
From the top of Senir and Hermon,
From the dens of lions
And the mountains of leopards.
9 My sister, my bride, you ravished my heart;
You have ravished my heart with one look from your eyes,
With one jewel of your necklace.
10 My sister, my bride,
How beautiful are your breasts.
How much more beautiful are your breasts than wine,
And the fragrance of your garments than all the spices.
11 Your lips, my bride, drip as the honeycomb;
Honey and milk are under your tongue;
And the fragrance of your garments
Is as the scent of Lebanon.
12 My sister, my bride, is an enclosed garden;
An enclosed garden, a sealed fountain.
13 Your plants are a garden of pomegranates
With the fragrance of a fruit harvest
And aromatic plants:
14 Spikenard and saffron,
Calamus and cinnamon;
With every tree of Lebanon,
Myrrh, aloes, with all the finest spices;
15 A fountain of gardens,
A well of living and rushing water from Lebanon.

The Bride

16 Awake, O north wind,
And come, O south wind;
Blow through my garden
And let my spices flow out.
Let my beloved come to his garden

And eat of its fruits.

Song of Songs 5

The Groom

[1] I came into my garden, O my sister, my bride;

I harvested my myrrh with my spices;
I ate my bread with my honey
And drank my wine with my milk.
O friends, eat and drink,
And O brothers, drink abundantly.

The Bride

[2]I sleep, but my heart keeps watch;
The voice of my beloved—he knocks at the door!
“Open to me, my sister, my companion,
My dove, my perfect one;
For my head is wet with dew,
And my locks of hair with the drops of the night.”
[3]I have taken off my tunic; how can I put it back on?
I have washed my feet; how can I dirty them?
[4]My beloved put his hand by the opening of the door,
And my heart was stirred by him.
[5]I arose to open to my beloved;
My hands dripped with myrrh,
My fingers with choice myrrh,
Upon the handles of the door.
[6]I opened it for my beloved,
But my beloved had passed by.
My soul went after him because of his word,
And I sought him, but did not find him;
I called him, but he did not answer me.
[7]The watchmen who encircled the city found me.
They struck and wounded me;
The guards of the walls removed my veil.

[8]I implore you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
By the hosts and powers of the field,
If you find my beloved, what should you tell him?
That I am wounded with love.

Companions

[9]What is your beloved more than another beloved,
My beautiful one among women?
What is your beloved more than another beloved,
That you implore us?

The Bride

[10]My beloved is a shining and fiery light,
Chosen from countless thousands.
[11]His head is like refined gold;
His locks of hair are shiny and black,
Like a raven's feathers.
[12]His eyes are like those of doves
Sitting by pools of water,
Having eyes bathed in milk and fitly set.
[13]His cheeks are like bowls of spices
Pouring forth perfumes.
His lips are lilies dripping choice myrrh.
[14]His hands are like elaborate gold
Set with precious stones.
His stomach is like an ivory tablet
Inlaid with sapphire stones.
[15]His legs are like pillars of marble
Established on golden feet.
His appearance is like Lebanon,
Choice as the cedar trees.
[16]His mouth is most sweet and altogether desirable.
This is my beloved, my companion,
O daughters of Jerusalem!

Song of Songs 6

Companions

[1]Where has your beloved gone,
You beautiful one among women?

Where has your beloved turned his attention?
For we will seek him with you.

The Bride

[2]My beloved has gone down to his garden,
To the beds of spice,
To shepherd his sheep in the gardens
And to gather lilies.
[3]I am my beloved's, and my beloved is mine,
He who shepherds his sheep among the lilies.

The Groom

[4]You are beautiful, my companion,
You are my good pleasure;
You are as beautiful as Jerusalem;
You are as awesome as an army set in array.
[5]Turn away your eyes from before me,
For they have ravished me.
Your hair is like flocks of goats
Coming down from Gilead.
[6]Your teeth are as flocks of sheep
That are sheared,
Which came up from the washing.
All of them bear twins,
And none among them is barren.
[7]Your lips are like scarlet thread,
And your manner of speech is lovely.
Your cheeks outside your veil
Are like the rind of a pomegranate.
[8]There are sixty queens
And eighty concubines,
And maidens without number.

9My dove, my perfect one is the only one;
And she is the only one of her mother,
The choice of the one who bore her.
The daughters saw her
And considered her blessed.
The queens and the concubines will also praise her.
10Who is she who looks forth as the early morning,
Beautiful as the moon,
Choice as the sun,
Awesome as armies set in array?

Bride

11I went down to the orchard of nut trees
To see the fruits of the valley,
To see if the vineyard had blossomed
And if the pomegranates had put forth blossoms.
There I will give my breasts to you:
12My soul did not know it.
It made me as the chariots of Amminadab.

Song of Songs 7

Companions

1Return, return, O Shulamite;
Return, return, and we will look at you.

The Groom

What will you see in the Shulamite,
She who comes as the troops of armies?
2Why are your feet beautiful in your sandals,
O daughter of Nadab?
The curves of your thighs are like small necklaces,
The work of a skilled craftsman.
3Your navel is like an elaborate bowl,
Not lacking mixed wine.

Your stomach is like a heap of wheat
Set about with lilies.
4Your two breasts are like two fawns,
The twins of a gazelle.
5Your neck is like a tower of ivory,
And your eyes are like pools in Heshbon
By the gates of a daughter of many.
Your nose is like the tower of Lebanon
Pointing towards Damascus.
6Your head crowns you like Carmel,
And the locks of your hair are like a purple garment.
The king is held captive by your curls.
7How beautiful and how sweet you are, O love,
With your delights!
8This greatness of yours is like the palm tree,
And your breasts like a cluster of grapes.
9I said, “I will climb up the palm tree,
And grasp hold of its high branches.”
Indeed your breasts shall be like clusters of the vine,
And the fragrance of your nose like apples,
10And your mouth like a good wine
That goes down smoothly for my beloved,
Fit for my lips and teeth.

The Bride

11I am my beloved’s
And his desire is towards me.
12Come, my beloved, let us go forth into the field;
Let us lodge in the villages;
13Let us rise early in the morning in the vineyards;
Let us see if the vine has flowered,
If the blossoms have appeared,
If the pomegranates have blossomed.
There I will give you my breasts.
14The mandrakes have put forth an aroma,
And fruits of all kinds, new and old,
Are at our doors.

O my beloved, I have kept them for you.

Song of Songs 8

[1]Who would have granted you, my brother,

To nurse at my mother’s breasts?
I would have found you outside;
I would have kissed you,
And no one would despise me.
[2]Then I would take you along
And lead you to my mother’s house,
Into the chamber of her who conceived me;
I would give you spiced wine to drink,
The juice of my pomegranates.
[3]His left hand would be under my head,
And his right hand would embrace me.
[4]I implore you, O daughters of Jerusalem,
By the hosts and powers of the field,
Do not rouse nor wake my love
Until he wishes.

Companions

[5]Who is she who comes up, is made white,
And leans on her beloved?

The Groom

Under an apple tree I raised you up.
There your mother travailed in labor for you;
There she who travailed in labor for you
Gave you birth.
[6]Set me as a seal upon your heart,
As a seal upon your arm;
For love is as strong as death,
Jealousy as cruel as Hades.
Her sparks are sparks of fire,

Even the flames thereof.
[7]Much water will not be able to quench love,
Nor will rivers drown it.
If a man should give all his possessions for love,
Men would utterly despise them.

Companions

[8]Our sister is small and has no breasts;
What will we do for our sister
In the day when she is spoken for?
[9]If she is a wall, let us build silver battlements upon her;
And if she is a door, let us carve cedar panels for her.

The Bride

[10]I am a wall, and my breasts are as towers;
I was in his eyes as one who found peace.
[11]Solomon had a vineyard in Baal Hamon;
He entrusted his vineyard to keepers.
A man was to bring a thousand silver coins for its fruit.
[12]My vineyard before me is mine;
O Solomon, you shall have a thousand,
And those who keep its fruit, two hundred.

The Groom

[13]You who dwell in the gardens,
The companions give heed to your voice;
Cause me to hear.

The Bride

[14]Escape, my beloved, and be like the gazelle
Or the fawn of a deer
On the mountains of spices.

Annotations for Song of Songs

1:1 The Song of Songs: The title in the superlative indicates this song, in the biblical idiom, is the greatest of all songs, just as the Holy of Holies (Heb 9:3, RSV) means the holiest of all places. The author is Solomon, whose name means "Peace." This is significant because the greatest song belongs to One who Himself is the "Prince of Peace" (Is 9:6, NKJV). Thus, Solomon is a type of the King of Peace, Christ, throughout this allegory. Christ Himself is portrayed by the Bridegroom (Is 62:5), and the song is that of the marriage of the Lamb (Rev 19:7–9).

1:2 Let him kiss me speaks not of the kiss of reverence, but of that of intimacy. The Holy Church, long awaiting the Lord's coming, proclaims here her desire for intimacy with God. "The more abundantly she is filled up with His beauty, the more vehemently her longings abound" (GrgNy). The Lord sent angels, patriarchs, and prophets to Israel, all of whom brought spiritual gifts, but far better than the gifts or their bearers is the Giver Himself. The Bride seeks these heralds no longer, but the presence of her true Love Himself, the Son of God in His Incarnation.

1:3 The Holy Spirit is Himself the ointment of the Lord. In the Nicene Creed, Christ "became incarnate of the Holy Spirit and the Virgin Mary" (whose name means "myrrh"). The smells of His ointments are the gifts of the Spirit. Likewise, the saints in their virtues have this fragrance of Christ, according to St. Paul (2Co 2:15–17). The young maidens are Christ's chosen ones, born again through holy baptism.

1:4 The Church here is in the plural we because she is made up of a multitude of faithful souls. This is a clear statement of the principle of synergy: we will run after Christ, something which He Himself helps us to do, for apart from Him we can do nothing (Jn 15:5). However, we run wholeheartedly (1Co 9:24). The Church is the house of a king, a vast palace, but those who enter into her mysteries are those who have been brought into the inner chamber (2Co 12:4).

1:5 The Fathers interpret the blackness of the Church as resulting either from sin or from persecution. "When we were sinners and dark, God made us full of light and lovely by shining on us with His grace" (GrgNy). Kedar means dark or black. Bedouin tents, the tents of Kedar, are made from the hides of black goats. Kedar was the second son of Ishmael (Gn 25:13), and in other references Kedar is a place of trouble (Ps 119:5). The curtains of Solomon, the curtains of the temple, were lavish in their opulence and beauty.

1:6 The Church suffered terrible persecution from the sons of my mother, the inhabitants of Jerusalem who despised Christ. There was one vineyard immediately after the Resurrection: Jerusalem, the city of peace. But after the martyrdom of St. Stephen, the Church scattered throughout the world, planting new vineyards everywhere she went.

1:7 The Bride awaits the Bridegroom, seeking intimate communion with Him. The One whom my soul loves is the true Spouse of the human soul, Jesus Christ, the shepherd.

1:8 The Church has become the crown jewel of creation, the fairest maiden, just as the soul through holy baptism is made most lovely among the souls of men. The young goats are carnal stirrings and nascent passions. We tend them, but do not feed them!

1:10 The Bridegroom is flattering His Bride. The cheeks are the virtue of modesty. The turtledoves symbolize fidelity, for they mate once for life and live in high and lofty places. Turtledoves were the prescribed offering for the poor (Lv 5:7; 12:8). St. Joseph, with the Christ Child and His mother, brought two turtledoves to the temple at the time of purification after His birth (Lk 2:22–24).

1:12 This prophetic verse was fulfilled by Mary of Bethany's anointing of the Lord with spikenard for His burial while He was at the table (Mt 26:6, 7; Mk 14:3; Lk 7:37, 38; Jn 12:3).

1:13 This passage was fulfilled by Nicodemus and Joseph of Arimathea (Jn 19:39–41) when the Lord was anointed again after his death, covered with myrrh and bundled in linen. He will take rest in the Church.

1:14 En Gedi was an oasis on the west coast of the Dead Sea. It is a symbol for baptism. David encamped here when he fled from Saul (1Kg 24:1).

1:15 Doves are birds of peace, not birds of prey. Peace makes one's eyes beautiful to behold.

1:16 The shaded bed is the Church, the place man continues to meet in intimate "communion with the Divine" (GrgNy).

1:17 Both cedars and cypress wood are well known for their distinct odor, their incorruptible nature, and their ability to repel pests and vermin.

2:1 The Bridegroom has become a flower, that is a mortal, a reference to the Incarnation. The Son of God becomes man not in exalted splendor, as a lily of the mountaintops, but in humility, a lily of the valleys, the lowest places.

2:2 The Bride, the Church, is a lily among thorns, the afflictions of this life. "In the midst of a wicked people, there is a good people that receives the mercy of God" (Aug).

2:3 The Bride now speaks, exalting the Bridegroom. Of all the trees of the woods, the apple tree gives nourishment with sweet fruit. In Scripture, the apple is a symbol of favor (Dt 32:10; Ps 16:8; Zec 2:12). Christ the beloved far surpasses in glory the sons, the righteous, for they become by grace what He is by nature. His commandments are sweet to those who thirst for the living Word (Ps 118:103).

2:4 The house of wine is the Church filled with the Holy Spirit (Eph 5:18–21). The Bride desires God's love, to be overshadowed by the Presence of the Lord—not unlike the tabernacle in the Old Testament (Ex 40:35) and the Theotokos, the living tabernacle of the New Testament (Lk 1:35).

2:5 Cakes of raisins were given to the people of Israel after King David completed the burnt offerings and peace offerings to God before the ark of the covenant (2Kg 6:16–19; 1Ch 16:1–3, NKJV). They, together with the apples, symbolize the sweetness of God's grace bestowed on believers.

2:6 This is the embrace of the tender and attentive lover. The right hand of God indicates His royal favor (Ps 15:11; 16:7; Heb 8:1).

2:7 The Bridegroom addresses the faithful as daughters of Jerusalem. The powers that assist us are the angelic hosts and even the saints. The field, according to the Lord, is the world (Mt 13:38) we live in. St. Paul takes the metaphor one step further, calling us "God's field" (1Co 3:9).

2:8 The soul responds to the voice of the Lord. The image of the coming of the incarnate Word of God, leaping down from heaven, skipping over the hills, is from another of Solomon's works, foretelling the Incarnation (WSol 18:15, 16). Melito of Sardis calls the Incarnation "the transition of the Lord—His assumption of our flesh, through which by His birth, His death, His resurrection, His ascent into heaven, He made transitions, so to say."

2:9 The gazelle or young stag, smaller than other deer, shows that among humans the Lord appeared as a humble man, servant of all. Bethel means the "house of God," which is the Church.

2:11 St. Paul writes similarly to the Christians in Rome (Rom 13:12).

2:12 The flowers tell us spring (a symbol of resurrection) is here. The Lord has commanded a time of pruning that we might bear more spiritual fruit (Jn 15:2).

2:13 The fig tree is a figure of Israel, God's people before the Incarnation (Hos 9:10; Mt 21:19–21; Mk 11:13, 20, 21; Lk 13:6, 7). But the figs are young and immature, like those believers who have not grown in their faith (1Co 3:1). The true vine is Christ (Jn 15:1–5), and the vines are the Church, the New Israel. We are the fragrance of Christ to God the Father (2Co 2:15).

2:14 And come: The Lord commands the sleeper to arise and join Him (Eph 5:14). The dove is a symbol of fidelity and chastity. The rock is Christ (1Co 10:4). It is the voice of Christ that is heard in the Church.

2:16 The Bridegroom belongs to the Bride and no other. The Bride belongs to the Bridegroom and no other. St. Paul writes of this mystery (Eph 5:32), comparing the relationship between Christ and the Church with marriage.

2:17 This is the dawning of the eternal day, and the shadows of ignorance and error depart in the radiance of Christ's glory (Rom 13:12).

3:2 There are those who seek God in the wrong places. The marketplaces and streets are symbols of the world, but God is found in His Church.

3:3 The watchmen are the prophets, apostles, and evangelists who proclaim the Word of God and bear witness to the Incarnate Christ. The Church holds their writings, the Holy Scriptures, in the highest honor.

3:4 The Bride will not rest until her mother's house, Israel from whom the Church was born, recognizes Christ as their God and Savior. Mary Magdalene fulfilled this prophecy. After searching for the resurrected Christ, she was found by angels. Hearing He had risen, she departed from them and found him.

3:6, 7 The daughters of Jerusalem, the predecessors of the Gentile Church, marvel at the coming of the king from the desert. This is the wedding procession of Solomon and his bride. The Church will meet her King at His return. The bed is the "palanquin" (v. 9), a portable couch enclosed in a framework of poles and canvas, carried on the shoulders of mighty men, symbolic of the dwelling place of the King who rests in His saints forever. "Frankincense is allotted to God, while myrrh is . . . for the dead. . . . The Bride . . . is likened to the vapor of incense, namely, because she worships" (Theod).

3:8 These warriors hold a sword, which speaks of the living and written Word of God (Eph 6:17, 18).

3:9, 10 This palanquin is made of the same precious materials used in the construction of the temple (see note at 3:6, 7). Solomon is a type of Christ the King.

3:11 Solomon is a type of Christ. The crown with which His mother, the Theotokos and Ever-Virgin Mary, crowned him is His immaculate flesh, which He assumed from her and brought to the right hand of the Father (Heb 2:9; 8:1). In the Orthodox wedding, crowns are placed on the heads of both bride and groom.

4:1 The veil speaks of the hidden mysteries of God in the Church. According to Scripture, Mount Gilead had exceptionally good pasture (Nm 32:1), again looking ahead to the Church.

4:2 The bride's teeth, made clean by washing (baptism and repentance), are the gateway to receiving nourishment, the meat or "solid food" of the Word (1Co 3:2). The bride is fruitful, bearing twins.

4:3 In the Church, our lips proclaim the Gospel of Christ in a manner of speech which is pleasant. St. Paul calls this "speaking the truth in love" (Eph 4:15).

4:4 The tower of David would be the impregnable fortress in David's Jerusalem. The Church is the New Jerusalem, and this fortress is the immovable confession of Christ, the Gospel, against which even hell itself has no power (Mt 16:16–18). A thousand shields refers to small bucklers, a piece of defensive armor, speaking of God's protection of those in warfare.

4:5 The breasts symbolize both the beauty of Solomon's bride and the beauty of Christ's Church.

4:6 The dawning of the eternal day of the Lord will mean that the shadows of sin and death will depart from us forever (see Rev 21:3–5). The mountain of myrrh is likely a reference to the fragrance of God's eternal Kingdom and the presence there of holy incense (Rev 8:3, 4).

4:7 The Bridegroom calls his chosen Bride beautiful and also extols her virtues, saying that she is without blemish, as emphasized by St. Paul (Eph 5:26, 27).

4:8 The bride from Lebanon reminds us the Church is not only for Jews. Senir and Hermon are the ridges of Judea and Cilicia, known to be the dwelling places of wild beasts and predators, including lions and leopards—which, according to St. Gregory the Dialogist, are symbols of demons. Thus, we serve Christ in a fallen world.

4:9 As Solomon was taken with his bride, so Christ is ravished or wounded in His heart by His love for the Church. His calling His Bride sister means Christ is our brother (Heb 2:11), reminding us that He assumed our humanity in His Incarnation.

4:10 The garments of the Church, and therefore of the saints, are her righteous deeds (Rev 19:8, 14), better than all spices, for they fill the world with the fragrance of Christ Himself (2Co 2:14, 15).

4:11 Milk signifies teachings acceptable for children and immature Christians (Heb 5:12). Honey signifies wisdom (Pr 24:13), food for the mature believer.

4:12–15 In this passage, the bride is called a garden, which speaks of (1) the beauty of the plants and the fountain and (2) the fragrance of the fruit. The living and rushing water (v. 15) is a phrase used by Jesus (Jn 7:38), speaking of the work of the Holy Spirit in believers. St. Gregory of Nyssa, in urging Christians to seek out godly leaders, quotes 4:12: "But, employing the lamp of the Spirit for the search, you should, as far as is possible, seek for 'a garden enclosed, a fountain sealed.'"

4:16 The wind being called upon to blow upon the garden can be likened to the Holy Spirit, the strong wind that blew on the Apostles beginning in the upper room (Acts 2:2).

5:1 Milk and honey together signified the overabundance of delights in the Promised Land (Ex 3:8, 17; 13:5; 33:3; Lv 20:24; Jos 5:6; Jer 11:5, 39:22; Ezk 20:6, 15), but bread and wine comprise the image of the marriage supper of the Lamb (Rev 19:9), the Holy Eucharist. In the Church, friends and brothers are invited to eat and drink.

5:2 The Bridegroom knocks at the door of the heart when He says, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock. If anyone hears My voice and opens the door, I will come in to him and dine with him, and he with Me" (Rev 3:20). Although omnipotent, like a gentle and unyielding lover the Lord enters only when invited. "If they open to Him, He enters in, but if they delay and will not, He departs from them" (AthanG).

5:3 The Lord washed the feet of His disciples (Jn 13:5) after they returned from preaching, showing that even the greatest saints cannot keep completely free of sin without His help (Jn 15:5).

5:5 The Bride arose to open the door for her beloved. This is a powerful image of the Church working together with God to do His will. St. Paul is bold to say, "We are God's fellow workers" (see text and notes, 1Co 3:9).

5:6 I . . . did not find him is a solemn reminder that our Bridegroom cannot be found unless He chooses to reveal Himself (see Mt 16:15–17).

5:7 The apostles and preachers of the faith are the guards of the walls, the keepers of the New Jerusalem. They guard the Church by the true teaching of the doctrine of Christ and protect the city from charlatans, Christ-peddlers, heretics, and schismatics. The veil remains on those who know only the Mosaic Law (2Co 3:14–18).

5:10–16 In the richness of poetic language, the bride extols the beauty and grace of her beloved. Applying these words to Christ, the Bridegroom of the Church, we see that He is: (1) a shining . . . light (v. 10), "the light of the world" (Jn 8:12); (2) chosen from countless thousands (v. 10): "Therefore, peoples shall give thanks to you / Forever and unto ages of ages" (Ps 44:18); (3) like refined gold (v. 11), "on His head a golden crown" (Rev 14:14); (4) seen with eyes . . . like . . . doves (v. 12): "The eyes of the Lord are in every place" (Pr 15:3); (5) revealed with glorious cheeks and lips (v. 13): "His voice as the sound of many waters" (Rev 1:15); (6) beautiful in hands and stomach (v. 14): "Then Jesus put out His hand and touched him" (Mt 8:3); (7) strong of legs and feet (v. 15): "His feet were like fine brass" (Rev 1:15); (8) altogether desirable (v. 16), "more beautiful than the sons of men" (Ps 44:3).

6:1 The daughters of Jerusalem, the companions, now inquire where they can find such a Bridegroom. Those who are wise still seek him.

6:2 His garden is the Church.

6:5 The Bridegroom warns His Bride against trying to somehow see His Divine Essence, for no one shall see Him and live (Ex 33:20). The angels, even the mighty seraphim, veil their faces before His glory (Is 6:2).

6:8, 9 There is little patristic commentary on this passage. The queens appear to represent the souls of those who reign with Christ through their watchfulness and their evangelical way of life. The concubines may give praise to the bride (v. 9) but expend their energy on worldly attachments. Both the queens and concubines approach the King's throne, but only the queens rule with Him. Seeing the Church as mother (v. 9), St. Cyprian of Carthage writes, if one "resists and withstands the Church, can he still be confident that he is in the Church?" Despite the multiplication of religious sects, each offering its own brand of revelation, salvation, or enlightenment, there is but one Bride of Christ.

6:10 The Bride, the Church, is beautiful as the moon because she is illumined by the Sun of Righteousness (Mal 3:20) and reflects the light of His glory.

6:11 Here, the Bride goes down to the orchard when she inspects the fruits that grow there, an act of self-examination. The Church is called to examine her spiritual progress, watching for those who still need assistance in bringing forth virtue (see 2Co 13:5). On the subject of married love, King Solomon wrote concerning one's wife, "Rejoice together with the wife of your youth" (Pr 5:18). The wife gives her body to her husband, and he gives himself to her (1Co 7:4). This is a powerful picture of our intimacy with God at the Holy Eucharist, for marriage is an icon of the Church (Eph 5:25–28).

7:1 Shulamite means "peace," the feminine form of Solomon. The Church, replete with Gentiles of every nation, beckons with fervor the Shulamite, who represents the Jewish people, and calls her to return to the knowledge of her Redeemer (see Rom 11:28, 29).

7:2–10 Just as the Bride praised the beauty of the Bridegroom (5:10–16), so here the Bridegroom extols the beauty of the Bride. The beauty of her feet (v. 2) calls to mind the beauty of the feet of those who preach the gospel of peace (Is 52:7; Rom 10:15). The nose (v. 5) is the organ of scent, the most discriminating of the senses and the one most closely linked to memory. This discernment forms a part of the living memory of the Church. The king is taken with the head and the hair of his bride (v. 6), and also with her stature and her breasts (v. 8). St. Paul teaches that "Christ also loved the church and gave Himself for her" (Eph 5:25). At the marriage of Cana, Jesus saved the good wine (v. 10) until last (Jn 2:10). All of these things are symbolic of the love between husband and wife or between Christ and the Church.

7:11 This is a paraphrase/repeat of 2:16 and 6:3. The Bride again declares her full devotion to the Bridegroom and no other.

7:12–14 The Bride beckons the Bridegroom that they may go forth together into the field. Jesus taught, "The field is the world" (Mt 13:38). This, together with words like villages (v. 12), rise early (v. 13), the vine has flowered (v. 13), aroma (v. 14) and fruits . . . new and old (v. 14), suggests a prophetic description of evangelism by the apostles and the Church.

8:1 Some Orthodox commentators see the Bride calling the Bridegroom a brother who could nurse at my mother's breasts as a veiled reference to the Incarnation of the Son of God. For the Lord addressed His followers, saying, "Here are My mother and My brothers" (Mk 3:34). St. Athanasius, in his Paschal Letter of 329, writes concerning 8:1, "The God of all, the Maker of times and seasons, who knows our affairs better than we do . . . so also does He send [Christ] not unseasonably, but seasonably." St. Paul teaches that Christ came in "the fullness of the time" (Gal 4:4).

8:2 My mother's house is symbolic of the "house of the Lord" (Ps 22:6). God's house has "many mansions" or dwellings (Jn 14:2), and these chambers are the intended home of all humanity. In the spiced wine we see in mystery the mixed wine consecrated in the Eucharist.

8:3 See note at 2:6.

8:4 See note at 2:7.

8:5 Jesus told His disciples, "the fields . . . are already white for harvest" (Jn 4:35), a picture of the Gentile Church. St. Ambrose supports this understanding, seeing she who comes up as "the Church; for Solomon chose her, whose hidden love he had discerned." Further, he sees the mother as "Mary, whose soul God pierces and divides" (see Lk 2:35).

8:6 "Christ is the seal . . . in the heart that we may always love Him, and a seal on the arm, that we may always do His work. Therefore let His image shine forth in our profession of faith, let it shine forth in our love, let it shine forth in our works and deeds so that, if it is possible, all His beauty may be represented in us. . . . Christ is our love . . . since [love] has offered itself to death for transgressions" (AmbM).

8:7 Storms, water, and surging rivers cannot quench "the love of God which is in Christ Jesus our Lord" (Rom 8:38, 39).

8:8 The companions are concerned for their little sister, who has no breasts—she is immature. Yet one day she will be spoken for in marriage. This is perhaps a picture of the fledgling Gentile Church, initially small in number but with potential for growth. Interestingly, throughout the twenty-five years of the Acts of the Apostles (AD 33–58), many Gentiles came to the Church, but nowhere do they yet preach or teach.

8:9, 10 The wall is the bride, the Church, and Ambrose also sees it as the believer's soul. In either case, the goal is to build upon what is there. The Lord calls Himself a door (Jn 10:9), for we cannot enter the Kingdom of heaven but through Him (Jn 14:6). Neither can we know Him fully apart from the Church; hence the Bride is herself likened to a door. Cedar panels are both aromatic and pleasing to the sight.

8:11, 12 The location of Baal Hamon is unknown, a hidden mystery. The Lord's vineyard is likewise a mystery to the world, though present everywhere. The keepers are the Holy Apostles and those who follow them. My vineyard reminds us that the Church belongs first to Christ, though both leaders (Solomon) and faithful together keep its fruit.

8:13, 14 The conversation between Bridegroom and Bride is coming to a close. The Bridegroom speaks across time and space to those who dwell in the gardens of the Church to give heed to her voice. Many see escape, my beloved as a prophetic encouragement of the Ascension, after which Christ will come again to receive us to Himself (Jn 14:3).

The Wisdom of Solomon

Author

An unknown Jewish believer of the larger Greek community of Alexandria, Egypt.

Date

30–10 BC.

Major Theme

The greatness of Wisdom. The Wisdom of Solomon was written to offer edification to a Jewish community during times of political, military, and religious upheaval. Its aim was to encourage the Jews to be faithful to their covenant with God. The work was also intended to attract pagans and apostate Jews back to Judaism.

Background

The content of this rich theological work has prepared for and deeply influenced the Church's teachings on the Incarnation of Christ, as well as its understanding of God, salvation, and the nature of the Church itself. The Wisdom of Solomon is frequently found in the Old Testament readings of the Church lectionary, especially during Holy Week. This inspired writing was used in the early Church to further instruct those most recently baptized. Chronologically, it was the last book written in the Old Testament Canon, and it serves as a bridge to the New Testament in terms of theology and preparation for the Advent of Christ.

Outline

I. Wisdom Bestows Eternal Life (1:1–6:21)

II. The Nature and Power of Wisdom and King Solomon's Pursuit of Her (6:22–10:21)

III. Wisdom Guides God's Chosen People during the Exodus (11:1–19:22)

Wisdom of Solomon 1

Seek the Lord

1 Love righteousness, you who judge on the earth.

Think about the Lord in goodness
And seek Him with sincerity of heart;
2 Because He is found by those who do not tempt Him,
And He is manifest to those who do not disbelieve Him.
3 For dishonest reasoning separates people from God,
And when His power examines someone,
It convicts the undiscerning;
4 For wisdom will not enter the soul that plots evil,
Nor will it dwell in a body involved in sin.
5 For a holy spirit of discipline flees from deceit
And sends away undiscerning reasoning;
It will put wrongdoing to shame when it comes near.

God Examines Our Actions

6 For wisdom is a spirit that loves mankind,
But she will punish a blasphemer because of his words;
For God is the witness of his thoughts,
The true examiner of his heart, and the hearer of his tongue;
7 Because the Spirit of the Lord fills the world,
And He who holds all things together knows what is said.
8 Therefore no one who speaks unrighteous things
Will escape notice,
Nor will justice, when it cross-examines, pass him by.
9 For there shall be a close examination
Into the deliberations of an ungodly man,
And a report of his words will come to the Lord
As proof of his lawlessness;
10 For the zealous ear hears all things,
And the noise of murmuring is not hidden.
11 Therefore keep yourself from useless murmuring

And refrain your tongue from evil speech;
For no secret word will go unpunished,
And a lying mouth will destroy one's soul.

God Made Life, Not Death

12 Do not be zealous for death by the deceit of your life,
Nor bring destruction upon yourself by the works of your hands.
13 For God did not make death,
Neither does He have pleasure over the destruction of the living.
14 For He created all things that they might exist,
And the generations of the world so they might be preserved;
For there was no poison of death in them,
Nor was the reign of Hades on the earth.
15 For righteousness does not die.
16 But the ungodly summoned death by their words and works;
Although they thought death would be a friend, they were dissolved.
For they made a covenant with death,
Since they were deserving to share it in common.

Wisdom of Solomon 2

An Ungodly View of Life

1 For they said among themselves, as they reasoned incorrectly:

"Our life is short and painful,
And there is no cure for the death of a man;
For no one has been known to return from Hades;
2 Because we were born by chance,
And after this we shall be as though we never existed;
For the breath in our nostrils is smoke,
And our speech is the spark kindled by the beating of our heart.

3When the spark is extinguished, our body will turn to ashes,
And our breath will disperse like empty air.
4Then our name will be forgotten in due time,
And no one will remember our works;
So our life will pass away like the trace of a cloud
And be scattered like fog,
Driven away by the rays of the sun
And oppressed by its heat.
5For our appointed time is the passing of a shadow,
And there is no return from our death;
Because it is sealed up, no one can turn back.
6Come, therefore, and let us enjoy the good things that exist,
And make the most of creation as quickly as possible,
As we did in our youth.
7Let us be filled with expensive wine and perfumes,
And let no flower of springtime pass us by.
8Let us crown ourselves with rosebuds
Before they wither away.
9Let none of us fail to share in our arrogance.
Let us leave signs of our gladness everywhere,
Because this is our portion, and this is our lot.
10Let us oppress the righteous poor man;
Let us not spare a widow,
Nor respect the aged gray hair of an old man.
11Let our might be our law of righteousness,
For what is weak is shown to be useless.

Hatred of the Righteous

12“Let us lie in ambush for the righteous man,
Because he is useless to us and opposes our deeds;
He denounces us for our sins against the law
And accuses us of sins against our upbringing.
13He claims to have knowledge of God,
And he calls himself a child of the Lord.
14He has become for us as a refutation of our purposes;
Even seeing him is a burden to us,
15Because his life is unlike that of others;

For his paths go in a different direction.
16 We are considered by him as a hybrid,
And he avoids our ways as something immoral.
He considers the last things of the righteous as blessed
And pretends that God is his Father.
17 Let us see if his words are true,
And let us put these last things to the test at the end of his life.
18 For if the righteous man is a son of God, He will help him,
And deliver him from the hand of those who oppose him.
19 Let us test him with insult and torture
That we may know his gentleness
And test his patient endurance.
20 Let us condemn him to a shameful death,
For there shall be a visitation because of his words."
21 So they reasoned these things
And were led astray,
For their malice blinded them.
22 But they did not know the mysteries of God,
Nor hope for the wages of holiness,
Nor judge the reward of blameless souls.
23 For God created man for immortality
And made him an image of His own eternity.
24 But death entered the world by the envy of the devil,
And those of his portion tempt it.

Wisdom of Solomon 3

The Hope of the Righteous

1 But the souls of the righteous are in the hand of God,

And no torture will ever touch them.
2 In the eyes of the undiscerning they seemed to have died,
And their departure was considered to be misfortune,
3 And their passage from us to be their destruction;
But they are at peace.

4For though in man’s view they were punished,
Their hope is full of immortality.
5Though chastened in a few things,
Great kindness will be shown them,
For God tested them and found them worthy of Himself.
6He tested them like gold in a furnace
And accepted them as a whole burnt offering.
7In the time of their visitation they will shine forth,
And they will run about like sparks through straw.
8They will judge nations and rule over peoples,
And the Lord shall reign over them unto the ages.
9Those who trust in Him will understand truth,
And the faithful shall continue with Him in love,
Because grace and mercy are upon His elect.

The Plight of the Ungodly

10But the ungodly shall experience
The punishment they themselves plotted,
They who rejected the righteous man
And rebelled against the Lord.
11For whoever despises wisdom and instruction is miserable,
And their hope is vain, their labors are useless,
And their works are worthless.
12Their wives are foolish,
And their children are evil, their existence accursed.

The Blessing of Virtue

13Blessed is the undefiled barren woman
Who has not known sexual promiscuity;
She shall have fruit in the visitation of souls.
14Blessed also is the eunuch who has done no lawless deed,
Nor thought evil things against the Lord;
For a chosen grace of faith will be given to him,
And a delightful portion in the temple of the Lord.
15For the fruit of good labors is of good report,
And the root of discernment is infallible.

Children of the Ungodly

16 But the children of adulterers shall not reach maturity,
And the seed of a lawless bed shall perish.
17 For even if they live a long time
They shall be considered as nothing,
And in the end their old age will be accounted a dishonor.
18 But if they should die young, they would have no hope
Nor consolation in the day of decision.
19 For the end of an unrighteous generation is grievous.

Wisdom of Solomon 4

When Virtue Is Present

1 Childlessness with virtue is better than this,

For immortality is in its memory
Because it is known both by God and by man.
2 When virtue is present, people imitate it,
And when it goes away, they long for it.
Throughout one's lifetime,
Virtue leads the struggle for undefiled prizes,
Wearing a crown and conquering.
3 But the prolific multitude of the ungodly are useful to no one,
And none of their illegitimate seedlings will grow a deep root
Or establish a sure footing.
4 For although they may flourish in their branches for a time,
Yet without a sure footing they will be shaken by the wind
And uprooted by the force of the winds.
5 Their twigs shall be broken off before they reach maturity,
And their fruit will be useless,
Not ripe for eating or good for anything.
6 For children born from lawless unions
Are witnesses of evil against their parents
In their close examination.
7 But though a righteous man may die before his time,

He shall be at rest.
8For old age is not honored for its length of existence,
Nor measured by its number of years;
9But discernment is gray hair for mankind,
And a spotless life is the maturity of old age.

The Righteous Enoch

10There was once a man pleasing to God and loved by Him,
And while living among sinners he was taken up.
11He was caught up lest evil change his understanding
Or deceit deceive his soul.
12For envy arising from lack of judgment obscures what is good,
And a whirling of desire undermines an innocent heart.
13He was made perfect,
For in a short time he fulfilled long years,
14For his soul was pleasing to the Lord;
Therefore, He took him early from the midst of evil.
Yet peoples saw this but did not understand,
Nor take such a thing to heart,
15That the Lord's grace and mercy are with His elect
And that He watches over His holy ones.

A Study in Contrasts

16But a righteous man who is dead
Shall condemn the ungodly who are living,
And a youth who is quickly perfected
Shall condemn the ripe old age of a wrongdoer.
17For they will see the end of the wise man,
But will not understand what the Lord purposed for him
Or why He kept him safe.
18They will see and despise him,
But the Lord will laugh them to scorn.
19After this they shall be dead without honor
And an insult among the dead continually,
Because He will dash them headlong and speechless to the ground

And shake them from the foundations.
They shall be left dry and barren to the very end;
They shall be in pain,
And their memory shall perish.
20They will come with dread
In the day of reckoning for their sins,
And their lawless deeds will convict them to their face.

Wisdom of Solomon 5

1Then the righteous man will stand with confidence

In the presence of those who afflict him;
And those who reject his labors,
2When they see him, will be shaken with dreadful fear;
And they shall be amazed at his unexpected salvation.
3They will speak among themselves with regret,
And in anguish of spirit they will groan and say,
4"This is the man whom we fools once held in derision
And made a byword of disgrace.
We considered his life to be madness
And his death as without honor.
5How has he been numbered among the sons of God?
And how is his portion among the saints?
6Therefore we went astray from the way of truth,
For the light of righteousness did not shine on us,
And the sun did not rise upon us.
7We were satisfied with the paths of lawlessness,
And we traveled through impassable deserts;
But the way of the Lord we have not known.
8What has arrogance profited us?
And how has our wealth with its false pretension helped us?
9"All those things have passed by like a shadow
And like news that escapes notice;
10Like a ship that passes through the waves of water,
Which after passing through, no trace can be found,

Nor the pathway of its keel in the waves;
11Or like a bird, when it flies through the air,
No proof of its journey is found;
And the light air, whipped by the beating of its pinions
And divided by the force of its rushing motion,
Is traveled through by the movement of its wings,
But after this no sign of its approach is found therein;
12Or like an arrow, when it is shot at an object,
The divided air immediately comes together,
So that no one knows its pathway.
13Thus we also, after we are born, come to an end,
Yet have no sign of virtue to show,
But have been entirely consumed in our vice.”
14Because the hope of the ungodly man
Is like dust carried by the wind
And like a light frost driven away by a storm,
It is dispersed like smoke before the wind,
And it passes like the remembrance of a guest
Who stays only one day.
15But the righteous live forever,
And their reward is with the Lord;
And their care is by the Most High.
16Therefore they shall receive a kingly dwelling of dignity
And a crown of beauty from the hand of the Lord,
Because He will shelter them with His right hand
And protect them with His arm.
17He will take His zeal as His full armor
And will turn His creation into weapons against His enemies.
18He will wear righteousness as a breastplate
And put on impartial judgment as a helmet.
19He will take holiness as an unconquerable shield
20And sharpen His relentless wrath for a sword;
And creation will fight with Him against the senseless.
21Well-aimed flashes of lightning will strike
And leap to their object as from a well-drawn bow of clouds;
22And hailstones full of anger will be hurled
As from an engine of war.
The water of the sea will be vexed with them,

And the rivers will wash over them severely.
23 A powerful wind will oppose them,
And like a storm it will winnow them away.
Lawlessness will lay waste all the earth,
And wrongdoing will overturn the thrones of rulers.

Wisdom of Solomon 6

To Kings and Rulers

1 Listen therefore, O kings, and understand;

Learn, O judges of the ends of the earth.
2 Give ear, you that rule over multitudes,
And take pride in yourself over a multitude of nations.
3 For power was given to you from the Lord,
And your lordship from the Most High,
Who will make a careful search of your works
And examine closely your plans.
4 Because as servants of His kingdom,
You did not judge rightly;
Neither did you keep His law,
Nor did you walk according to the plan of God;
5 He shall come upon you terribly and quickly,
Because severe judgment falls on those who govern.
6 For the least is pardoned in mercy,
But the powerful shall be strongly examined.
7 For the Master of all will not shrink back
From anyone's presence,
Nor respect greatness;
Because He Himself made both small and great,
And cares for all alike.
8 But a strict inquiry is imminent for the mighty.
9 Therefore to you, O tyrants, my words are directed,
That you may learn wisdom and not fall away.
10 For they will be made holy who keep holy things piously,
And those who are taught holy things will find a defense.

11 Therefore long for my words;
Yearn for them, and you will be instructed.

Wisdom's Radiance

12 Wisdom is radiant and unfading
And is easily perceived by those who love her;
For she is found by those who seek her.
13 She comes upon those who long to know her beforehand.
14 He who rises early in the morning to seek her
Will not grow weary,
For he will find her sitting at his gates.
15 For to think deeply about her
Is the perfection of discernment,
And he who keeps watch for her
Will soon be free from worry;
16 Because she goes about seeking those worthy of her,
And she appears to them favorably in their paths
And meets them in every thought.
17 For the beginning of wisdom
Is a very genuine desire for instruction,
And careful attention to instruction is the love of her.
18 Now this love is the keeping of her laws,
And giving heed to her laws is the assurance of incorruption;
19 And incorruption brings one near to God.
20 So desire for wisdom leads to a kingdom.
21 Therefore if you take pleasure in thrones and scepters, O tyrants,
Honor wisdom, that you may reign forever.
22 I will tell you what wisdom is and how she came to be,
And I will hide no mysteries from you;
But I will search her out from the beginning of creation
And make her knowledge clear.
I will not pass by the truth,
23 Nor indeed travel with envy, which causes one to waste away,
Because envy will have no share in wisdom.
24 But a multitude of wise men is the salvation of the world,

And a prudent king is the stability of his people.
25 Therefore be instructed by my words, and you will profit.

Wisdom of Solomon 7

The King Is a Mere Man

1 Now I also am a mortal, the same as all men,

And earthborn, a descendant of the first-formed man;
For in the womb of a mother I was engraved as flesh.
2 In a period of ten months, I was constructed with blood
From the seed of a man and the pleasure of marriage.
3 When I was born, I breathed the common air,
Then fell upon the earth the same as all;
And as my first sound, I cried like everyone else.
4 I was nursed with care in swaddling cloths.
5 Thus no king had a different beginning of existence,
6 For there is one entrance into life for all,
And a common departure.

Solomon's Love of Wisdom

7 Therefore I prayed, and discernment was given to me;
I appealed to God, and the spirit of wisdom came to me.
8 I preferred her to scepter and thrones,
And regarded wealth as nothing in comparison to her.
9 Nor did I liken her to any priceless stone,
Because all gold is only a little sand in her sight.
And silver will be counted as clay before her.
10 I loved her more than health and beauty,
And I chose her instead of light,
Because her light is sleepless.
11 All good things came to me together with her,
And in her hands countless wealth.
12 I was gladdened by all of them
Because wisdom rules them;
But I did not know she was their mother.

13So I learned both honestly and ungrudgingly,
And I do not hide her wealth,
14For it is an unfailing treasure for men
Who, when they get it, obtain friendship with God,
For they demonstrate her gifts that come from instruction.
15May God grant me to speak according to His purpose
And to think worthily of what I was given,
For He is also the guide of wisdom and the corrector of the wise.
16For both we and our words are in His hand,
And so are all insights and knowledge of handicrafts.
17For He gives me knowledge of the things that exist:
To know the truthful structure of the world,
The operative power of its elementary principles,
18The beginning, end, and middle of the times,
The changes of the solstices and the transitions of the seasons,
19The cycles of the year and the arranging of the stars,
20The natures of animals and the tempers of beasts,
The force of winds and the reasoning of mankind,
The distinction of plants and the strength of roots,
21And to know whatever is hidden and whatever is visible.
For wisdom, the artisan of all things, taught me.
22So in herself, wisdom is a spirit that is rational,
Holy, only-begotten, manifold, subtle, easily moved, clear,
Undefiled, manifest, invulnerable, loving what is good, keen,
23Unhindered, beneficent, man-loving, steadfast, unfailing,
Free from worry, all-powerful, all-surveying,
And penetrating all spirits that are rational, pure, and most subtle.
24For wisdom moves from one place to another
More easily than motion itself,
And because of her purity, she penetrates all things.
25So she is the exhalation of the power of God
And the emanation of the pure glory of the Almighty;
Therefore nothing defiled enters her.
26For she is the radiance of eternal light,

A spotless mirror of the operative power of God
And the image of His goodness.
27Though she is one, she can do all things;
So while remaining in herself, she renews all things;
And in every generation, she passes into holy souls
And makes them friends of God and prophets.
28Thus God loves nothing as much
As the one who lives with wisdom.
29For wisdom is more beautiful than the sun
And more than every constellation of stars.
Compared with light she is found to be superior,
30For night succeeds the light,
But evil cannot overcome wisdom.

Wisdom of Solomon 8

At Home with Wisdom

1Wisdom stretches out from one end of the earth to the other,

And she governs all things well.
2I loved her and sought her from my youth,
And desired to take her as a bride for myself;
And I became a lover of her beauty.
3She glorifies her noble birth by living with God,
And the Master of all loves her.
4For she is the initiate of the knowledge of God
And one who chooses His works.
5Now if riches are a possession to be desired in life,
What is richer than wisdom, who works all things?
6And if discernment shows itself in action,
Who more than wisdom is its craftsman?
7If anyone loves righteousness,
The products of righteousness are the virtues.
For wisdom teaches self-control, discernment, righteousness and courage, Concerning which things there is nothing more valuable in the life of man.

8 But also, if anyone longs for great experience,
She knows the things of old and portrays the things to come;
She understands subtlety of words and the solution of riddles;
She has foreknowledge of signs and wonders
And the outcomes of times and seasons.
9 Therefore I decided to take her to live with me,
Knowing she would give me good counsel
And encouragement in cares and sorrows.
10 Because of her I will have glory among the multitudes
And honor in the presence of the elders, though I am young.
11 I will be found keen in judgment
And be admired in the sight of rulers.
12 When I am silent, they will wait for me,
And when I speak, they will give heed to me;
And when I speak longer,
They will put their hand over their mouth.
13 I will have immortality because of her
And will leave an eternal remembrance
For those who exist after me.
14 I shall govern peoples,
And nations will be subject to me.
15 Dread tyrants shall be afraid of me when they hear of me;
Among the people I will show myself
To be good and courageous in war.
16 When I enter my house, I shall find rest with her,
For association with her has no bitterness,
Neither does living with her have any sorrow,
But only gladness and joy.
17 When I considered these things within myself
And thought about them in my heart,
That in kinship with wisdom there is immortality,
18 And in friendship with her there is good pleasure,
And in the labors of her hands there is unfailing wealth,
And in the shared training of her company there is discernment,
And in the fellowship of her words there is good repute—
Thus I searched about that I might take her for myself.

19 As a child I was good by nature and received a good soul;
20 And much more, since I was good,
I entered an undefiled body.
21 Yet I knew otherwise that I would not be self-controlled
Unless God gave me wisdom,
And that it was a mark of discernment
To know whose gift she was—
So I entreated the Lord and besought Him,
And with all my heart, I said:

Wisdom of Solomon 9

Solomon's Prayer for Wisdom

1 "O God of our fathers and the Lord of mercy,

Who made all things by Your word
2 And in Your wisdom built a man,
That by You He might be the master of what is created,
3 And manage the world in holiness and righteousness,
And pass judgment with uprightness of soul:
4 Give me the wisdom that sits by Your throne,
And do not reject me from among Your servants;
5 Because I am Your servant and the son of Your maidservant,
A weak man and lasting but a short time,
And inferior in the understanding of judgment and laws.
6 For though one is perfect among the sons of men,
Yet if Your wisdom is absent from him,
He will be regarded as nothing.
7 You chose me to be the king of Your people
And to be the judge over Your sons and daughters.
8 You gave command to build a temple on Your holy mountain
And an altar in the city of Your habitation,
A copy of Your holy tabernacle
Which You prepared from the beginning.
9 With You is wisdom, who knows Your works

And was present when You made the world,
And who understands what is pleasing in Your sight
And what is upright within Your commandments.
10Send her forth from Your holy heavens,
And send her from Your glorious throne,
That she might be present with me and labor
And that I might know what is well-pleasing to You.
11For she knows and understands all things,
And she will guide me wisely in my actions
And guard me with her glory.
12Then my works shall be acceptable,
And I will judge Your people righteously
And shall be worthy of my father's throne.
13For what man will know the counsel of God?
Or who will think about what the Lord wills?
14For the reasoning of mortals is cowardly,
And our intents are unsafe;
15For a corruptible body weighs down the soul,
And this earthly tent burdens a heart full of thoughts.
16We can barely form a conjecture of the things upon the earth,
And the things at hand we find with toil;
But who has searched out the things in the heavens?
17Who has known Your counsel,
Unless You have given him wisdom
And sent him Your Holy Spirit from on high?
18And thus the paths of those on earth were made straight,
And mankind was taught what pleases You;
So they were saved by wisdom."

Wisdom of Solomon 10

Wisdom in History: Adam

1Wisdom took care of the first-formed father of the world

When he alone was created;
And she delivered him from his transgression

[2]And gave him strength to rule all things.

Cain

[3]But when an unrighteous man departed from her in his wrath,
He perished in anger for murdering his brother.

Noah

[4]When the earth was flooded because of him,
Again wisdom saved it
And piloted the righteous man by a cheap piece of wood.

Abraham

[5]Also when the nations in evil concord were confused,
Wisdom knew the righteous man
And preserved him blameless before God,
And kept him strong in the time of his affection for his child.

Lot

[6]Wisdom rescued a righteous man
When the ungodly were perishing,
For he escaped the fire that descended on the five cities,
[7]Concerning which a testimony still remains:
A barren land continually blackened with smoke,
Trees bearing fruit which does not ripen in season,
And a pillar of salt standing as a monument
To an unbelieving soul.
[8]For since they passed by wisdom,
They not only were injured by not knowing good things,
But also left behind for the living a memorial of their folly,
So they could not forget their fall.
[9]Wisdom rescued from troubles those who served her.

Jacob

10 She guided a righteous man on straight paths
When he fled from his brother's wrath.
She showed him the kingdom of God
And gave him knowledge of holy things.
She prospered him in hardships
And increased the fruit of his labors.
11 When they dishonored him in their covetousness,
She stood by him and made him rich.
12 She protected him from his enemies,
Kept him safe from those who plotted against him,
And arbitrated a strong contest for him,
So he might know that godliness is more powerful than anything.

Joseph

13 When a righteous man was sold,
Wisdom did not abandon him,
But delivered him from sin.
14 She went down with him into a pit,
And she did not leave him in chains
Until she brought him the scepter of a kingdom
And authority over those who tyrannized him.
She showed those who blamed him to be lying
And gave him everlasting glory.

Moses

15 She delivered a holy people and a blameless seed
From a nation of oppressors.
16 She entered the soul of a servant of the Lord
And opposed fearful kings with signs and wonders.
17 She gave to holy men the reward of their labors.
She guided them in a marvelous way
And became for them a shelter by day
And a flame of stars by night.
18 She carried them across the Red Sea
And led them through deep water;

[19]But she drowned their enemies
And cast them up from the depth of the abyss.
[20]Therefore the righteous stripped the ungodly,
And they sang, O Lord, to Your holy name
And praised with one accord Your defending hand;
[21]Because wisdom opened the mouth of the dumb
And made the tongues of infants speak clearly.

Wisdom of Solomon 11

Wisdom in the Wilderness

[1]Wisdom prospered their works by the hand of a holy prophet.

[2]They traveled through an uninhabited desert
And pitched their tents in impassable places.
[3]They held their ground in wars
And defended themselves against their enemies.
[4]They thirsted and called upon You,
And water was given them from a flinty rock,
And a quenching of thirst from a hard stone;
[5]For through the things by which their enemies were punished,
They themselves when in need
Had kindness shown to them.
[6]In place of a spring of an ever-flowing river,
Troubled and defiled with blood,
[7]In rebuke of the decree to slay the infants—
You gave them abundant water unexpectedly,
[8]Showing through their thirst at that time
How You punished their enemies.
[9]For when they were tested,
Though they were disciplined in mercy,
They learned how the ungodly were tormented
When judged in wrath.
[10]For You tested them, admonishing them like a father,
But You examined the ungodly

Like a severe king passing sentence.
[11]Whether present or absent,
They were likewise consumed,
[12]For twofold grief possessed them
And a groaning over the memory of all that happened.
[13]For when they heard that through their own punishments
The holy people had kindness shown to them,
They understood it was the Lord's doing.
[14]For they marveled at the outcome of the man
They had cast out mockingly and exposed long before,
For they did not thirst for godliness as do the righteous.
[15]In return for the wrongdoing of their senseless reasoning,
In which they were led astray
And worshiped irrational serpents and worthless animals,
You sent upon them a multitude of animals in vengeance,
[16]So they might learn that one is punished
By the things by which he sins.
[17]For Your all-powerful hand,
Which created the world out of unformed matter,
Did not lack the resource to send upon them
A multitude of bears or bold lions,
[18]Or newly created unknown beasts full of anger,
Either snorting a breath of fire
Or scattering like chaff a thick cloud of smoke,
Or flashing terrible sparks from their eyes.
[19]Not only could their damage utterly destroy men,
But their mere outward appearance could terrify and kill them.
[20]Even without these, men could fall in a single breath
When they are pursued by justice
And scattered like chaff by the breath of Your power;
But You have ordered all things by measure, number, and weight.

The God Who Loves Mankind

[21]For great power is always present with You,
And who can oppose the might of Your arm?

22 Because the entire world before You
Is like a small additional weight on scales,
And like a drop of dew early in the morning
That falls on the ground.
23 But You are merciful to all, for You can do all things;
And You overlook the sins of men to bring them to repentance.
24 For You love all the things that exist,
And You detest nothing of the things You made;
For You would not even make anything You hated.
25 How could anything continue to exist unless You willed it?
Or how could anything be preserved
Unless it was called into existence by You?
26 You spare all things, because they are Yours,
O Master who love human beings.

Wisdom of Solomon 12

1 For Your immortal Spirit is in all things.
2 For this reason You correct little by little those who fall away,
And You remind and warn them of the sins they commit
So they may be freed from evil and believe in You, O Lord.

The Canaanites' Vice

3 For You hated the inhabitants of Your holy land long ago,
4 Because they practiced very hateful works of sorcery and unholy rites.
5 These unmerciful murderers of children
Who ate sacrificial meals of human flesh and blood,
These initiates in the midst of an orgy,
6 These parents and murderers of helpless children—
You willed to destroy by the hands of our fathers,
7 That the land most precious of all to You Might be a worthy colony of the servants of God.
8 But even these You spared, since they were men,

And sent wasps as forerunners of Your army
That You might destroy them little by little.
9You were not powerless to give the ungodly
To the righteous in regular battle,
Or to destroy them by terrible wild beasts
Or by one severe word;
10But judging them little by little
You gave them a chance for repentance,
For You were not unaware that their generation was evil,
Their vice implanted,
And their reasoning would not change forever.
11For they were an accursed seed from the beginning,
Nor did You give them amnesty for their sins
Because You feared anyone.

God Our King

12For who will say, “What have You done?”
Or who will oppose Your judgment?
Who will bring a charge against You
For destroying the nations You made?
Or who will stand before You
To plead as an advocate for unrighteous men?
13For neither is there any god except You,
Whose care is for all things,
So You may show that You do not judge unjustly;
14Nor can any king or tyrant meet You face to face Concerning those You punish.
15You are righteous and order all things uprightly,
And You consider it alien to Your power
To pass sentence on him who should not be punished.
16For Your strength is the origin of righteousness,
And it causes You who are the Lord of all to spare all.
17For to him who disbelieves the perfection of Your power,
You show forth Your strength
And rebuke the insolence among those who know it.
18But You who gain the mastery by Your strength
Judge with gentleness,

For You govern us with great forbearance;
And power is present with You to use when You will it.

God Chastens His Children

19 Through such works You taught Your people
That the righteous man should love mankind;
And You made Your children hopeful
By offering them repentance over their sins.
20 For if You punished the enemies of Your children
And those liable to death with so much attention and deliberation,
And granted them time and opportunity to depart from their evil,
21 With how much strictness did You judge Your children,
To whose fathers You gave oaths and covenants of good promises?
22 So then You chastened us,
But our enemies with ten thousand whips,
That we may care about Your goodness when we judge
But expect Your mercy when we are judged.

The Egyptians Were Judged

23 Therefore those who lived unjustly in their foolishness of life
You tormented by means of their own abominations.
24 For they went far astray on the paths of error,
Taking up gods which were despised even among their enemies,
Being deceived after the manner of foolish children.
25 Therefore to those thoughtless children
You sent Your judgment to mock them;
26 But those who were not warned by this light gesture of censure
Will be put to the test by the deserved judgment of God.
27 For when they suffered, they were indignant
At those they imagined to be gods,

Realizing they were being punished because of them.
They also came to recognize the true God
Whom they refused to know long ago;
Therefore, the utmost of condemnation came upon them.

Wisdom of Solomon 13

The Futility of False Gods

[1]For all men while ignorant of God were useless in their condition.

So from the good things that are seen
They were unable to know Him who exists,
Nor did they know the Craftsman by paying attention to His works.
[2]But they supposed that the gods who rule the world
Were either fire or wind or swift air,
Or the circle of the stars or violent water or the luminaries of heaven.
[3]If while delighting in their beauty men assumed them to be gods,
Let them know how much better than these things is their Lord,
For the Creator of beauty created them;
[4]And if they were amazed at their power and working,
Let them understand from them
How much more powerful than these is He who made them.
[5]For from the greatness and beauty of created things
The Creator is seen by analogy.
[6]Nevertheless there is little reason for complaint against them,
For perhaps they go astray while seeking God and wish to find Him.
[7]For as they live among His works, they examine them closely
And are persuaded by what they see,
Because the things they see are beautiful.
[8]However, they are not to be excused;

9For if they were able to know so much
With their ability to investigate the world,
How is it possible they did not quickly find
The Lord of all these things?
10But they are miserable, and so are their hopes in dead things,
Those who call “gods” the works of men’s hands,
Gold, silver, and the practice of craftsmanship,
And the likeness of animals,
Or a worthless stone of an ancient hand.
11But also, if some carpenter saws down an easily moved tree
And skillfully scrapes away all its bark,
He then builds a useful vessel beautifully made by his skill
For the service of the living,
12And uses up the cast-off pieces of his trade
To prepare his food and be filled.
13But a cast-off piece from among them, useful for nothing,
That grew up with the tree, crooked and full of knots,
He takes and carves with care in his leisure
And forms it with intelligent skill,
And models it in the likeness of a man.
14Or he likens it to some worthless animal
And smears it with bright red paint,
Making its surface red,
Covering every blemish in it with paint.
15Then he makes a room fitting for it
And puts it on a wall and fastens it with iron nails
That it may not fall.
16He takes care of it, knowing that it cannot help itself;
For it is an image that has need of help.
17When he prays about his possessions,
His marriage and his children,
He is not ashamed to speak to a lifeless thing,
And he appeals to a weak thing concerning his health.
18Concerning life he prays to something dead;
Concerning aid he supplicates something ignorant;
And concerning a journey, something that cannot take a step;
19Concerning means of livelihood,

Profit and success with his hands;
He requests bodily strength
From something powerless with its hands.

Wisdom of Solomon 14

The Use of Wood

[1]Again, someone getting ready for a voyage

And about to sail through wild waves
Cries out loud to a piece of wood
More fragile than the ship that carries him.
[2]For it was desire for gain that contrived that boat,
And wisdom was the craftsman who built it;
[3]But Your providence, O Father, governs its course,
Because You have given it a path in the sea
And a safe track in the waves,
[4]Showing that You can save from every danger,
And that even without skill one may embark upon the sea.
[5]For You do not will that the works of Your wisdom be useless;
Therefore, men trust their lives even to the smallest piece of wood,
And passing through the waves on a ship
They are brought safely through.
[6]For even in the beginning, when arrogant giants perished,
The hope of the world took refuge in a boat,
And piloted by Your hand it left to the world the seed of a family.
[7]For the wood was blessed through which righteousness comes.
[8]But what was made by human hands itself is accursed,
And so is he who made it—
He because he made it,
And the perishable thing because it was called a god.
[9]For equally hateful to God are the ungodly man and his ungodliness.

[10]For what was done will be punished along with him who did it.
[11]Therefore there shall also be a visitation upon the idols of the nations,
Because, though the wood was part of God’s creation,
It was made into an abomination
And became a stumbling-block for the souls of men
And a trap for the feet of fools.
[12]For the invention of idols was the beginning of fornication,
And the conception of them the corruption of life,
[13]For neither were they from the beginning
Nor shall they be forever.
[14]For by the vainglory of mankind they entered the world,
And therefore their speedy end has been planned.
[15]For a father consumed with untimely grief
When his child was soon taken from him
Made an image of the once-dead human being
And honored him now as a god,
And handed down to those under him secret mysteries and initiations.
[16]Then the ungodly custom, strengthened by time, was kept as a law,
And at the command of tyrants carved images were worshiped.
[17]When men could not honor a tyrant before his face
Because he lived far away,
They imagined his face from a distance
And made a visible image of the honored king,
That by their zeal they might flatter the one absent as though present.
[18]Then the ambition of the craftsman encouraged
Even those who did not know the king to increase their worship.
[19]For wishing perhaps to please the one who ruled over him,
He skillfully forced the likeness into a more beautiful form,
[20]And the multitude, attracted by the popularity of his work,
Now considered him as an object of worship
Whom a short time before they honored as a man.

21 But this became a trap for their life,
Because men, in bondage either to calamity or to kingly power,
Conferred on stones and wood a name not shared with another.

Idolatry Brings Evil

22 Furthermore, it was not enough for them
To be deceived about the knowledge of God,
But they live in a great conflict of ignorance,
And they call such evils peace.
23 For they either hold child-murdering rites of initiation,
Or celebrate secret mysteries,
Or engage in the frantic revelry of special customs.
24 Moreover, they keep neither life nor marriages pure,
But one either kills another in ambush,
Or one causes another grief when he corrupts his marriage.
25 Everything is mixed together:
Blood and murder, theft and treachery,
Depravity, unfaithfulness, tumult, perjury,
26 Confusion over what is good, ingratitude, corruption of family,
Breakup of marriages, disorder, adultery, and debauchery.
27 For the worship of idols not to be named
Is the beginning, cause, and end of every evil.
28 For either they are driven to a frenzy in their celebrations,
Or prophesy lies,
Or live unrighteously, or readily swear falsely;
29 For since they trust in lifeless idols,
They swear with wrong motives and expect to suffer no harm.
30 But justice will catch up with them on two counts:
Because they thought wrongly about God in their devotion to idols,
And by treating holiness with contempt
They swore unjustly in deceit.
31 For it is not the power of making oaths,

But the punishment of those who sin
That always prosecutes the transgression of the unrighteous.

Wisdom of Solomon 15

Our Merciful God

[1]But You, our God, are kind, true, patient,

And govern all things in mercy.
[2]For even if we sin, we belong to You and know Your might;
But we will not sin,
Because we know that we are counted as belonging to You.
[3]For to know You is complete righteousness,
And to know Your might is the root of immortality.
[4]For neither have the evil practices of human art deceived us,
Nor a form stained with diverse colors,
The barren labor of painting,
[5]Whose appearance creates a desire in fools
That longs for the lifeless form of a dead image.
[6]Lovers of evil things and fit for such objects of hope
Are those who either make or desire or worship them.

Idols of Clay

[7]For even when a potter compresses soft earth,
He laboriously forms each vessel for our service;
But he models from the same clay
Both vessels that serve clean uses and likewise those to the contrary.
But what will be the function of one or the other
Is the decision of the craftsman.
[8]So, working evil, he forms a worthless god from the same clay,
He who a little while before was made from the earth
And in a short while returns to the earth from which he was taken,
When the soul that was loaned to him

Is demanded in return at death.
9But he is not concerned that he is about to be sick
Or that his life will be ending shortly;
So he competes with goldsmiths and melters of silver
And imitates bronze-workers;
And he considers it a glory that he forms false gods.
10His heart is ashes, and his hope as cheap as dirt;
And his life is more dishonored than his clay,
11Because he disregards the One who formed him,
And who inspired him with an operative soul,
And breathed into him a life-giving spirit.
12But he considered our life to be a plaything
And life a festival held for profit;
For he says, “One must make a living however one can,
Even by evil means.”
13For this man, more than all others, knows that he sins
When he fabricates from earthly matter
Easily broken vessels and carved images.

The Egyptian Enemies

14Yet more foolish and infantile are the enemies
Who oppressed Your people,
15Because they thought that all the idols of the nations were gods,
Though these have neither the use of their eyes for vision,
Nor noses for inhaling air,
Nor ears to hear with,
Nor fingers on their hands for touching;
And their feet are useless for walking.
16For a man made them,
And he whose spirit is borrowed formed them;
For no man can form a god like himself.
17A man who works a dead thing with lawless hands is mortal,
For he is better than his objects of worship,
Because he is alive, but they never are.
18The enemies of Your people worship the most hateful animals,

For they are worse than all others in stupidity.
19Not even as animals are they so beautiful in appearance
That one would desire them,
But they escaped both the praise of God and His blessing.

Wisdom of Solomon 16

1Therefore they were worthily punished through creatures like these,
And were tormented through a multitude of wild animals.
2Instead of such punishment You showed kindness to Your people
And prepared quails as food with a delicious taste to satisfy their hunger, 3That those men, when they desired food,
Might turn away their necessary hunger
Because of the ugly look of the creatures sent upon them,
While Your people, being in need for a brief period,
Might partake of food with a delicious taste.
4For it was necessary for those enemies
That unavoidable need come upon them and tyrannize them,
While to Your people it was only shown
How their enemies were being tormented.
5For even when the terrible rage of wild animals
Came upon Your people,
And they were being destroyed by the bites of twisting serpents,
Your wrath did not continue to the end.
6They were troubled for a short while as a warning,
And received a pledge of salvation
In remembrance of Your law's command.
7For the one who turned to it was saved, not by what he saw,
But by You, the Savior of all.
8So in this You persuaded our enemies
That You are the One who saves from every evil.
9For the bites of locusts and flies killed them,

And no healing was found for their life,
Because they deserved to be punished by such things.
10But the teeth of poisonous serpents
Did not overcome Your children,
For Your mercy came to their aid and healed them.
11For they were goaded to remind them of Your oracles
And were quickly saved,
Lest they should fall into deep forgetfulness
And be continually unmindful of Your kindness.
12For neither herb nor medicinal plaster healed them,
But it was Your word, O Lord, which heals all men.
13For You have authority over life and death,
And bring men down to the gates of Hades
And lead them back again.
14A man in his malice kills another,
But he cannot bring back a departed spirit
Nor return a soul that is taken.

God Judges Egypt

15To escape from Your hand is impossible,
16For the ungodly who refuse to know You
Were flogged by the strength of Your arm.
They were pursued by rains, hail, and thunderstorms
And consumed by fire.
17For the fire, very contrary to expectation,
Was more effective in the water, which extinguishes everything;
For the world is a defender of the righteous.
18For at one time the flame was subdued
That it might not burn up the creatures sent against the ungodly,
But seeing this they might know
That they were struck by the judgment of God;
19And at another time even under water
The flame burned more intensely than fire
To destroy the harvest of the unrighteous land.

Bread from Heaven for Israel

[20]Instead of these things You fed Your people the food of angels,
And without their labor You provided them
With ready-made bread from heaven,
Fitting for every pleasure and suitable to every taste.
[21]For Your provision manifested sweetness toward Your people,
And the bread served the need of those who took it
And changed to what one wished.
[22]Snow and ice endured fire without melting
So they might know that fire destroyed the harvest of their enemies,
The fire that burned in the hail
And flashed like lightning in the rain—
[23]Again that fire which forgot its own natural power
That the righteous might be fed.
[24]For the creation serves You who made it
And increases its intensity to punish the unrighteous,
But in kindness relaxes itself on behalf of those who trust in You.
[25]Therefore also at that time,
It explored as though in a mine Your all-nourishing bounty
And served the will of those who supplicated You, [26]That Your children whom You loved, O Lord, might learn
That it is not the production of crops that feeds man,
But Your word that maintains those who believe in You.
[27]For what was not destroyed by fire
Was melted when simply warmed by a small ray of the sun, [28]To make it known that one must get up before sunrise
To give You thanks,
And to intercede before You at the dawning of the light.
[29]For the hope of an unthankful man will melt like the wintry frost
And flow away like useless water.

Wisdom of Solomon 17

The Sins of Egypt

[1]Great are Your judgments and hard to explain;

Therefore, ignorant souls have gone astray.
[2]For when lawless men thought they exercised power
Over Your holy nation,
They themselves were prisoners of darkness and long night,
Shut in under their roofs, exiles from eternal providence.
[3]For when they thought they escaped notice
With their secret sins behind a curtain of forgetfulness,
They were scattered and in a terrible state of shock
And thrown into confusion by apparitions.
[4]For not even the inmost part of the house that held them
Protected them from fear,
But troubling noises sounded all around them,
And gloomy apparitions with downcast faces appeared to them.
[5]No force of fire had the strength to give them light,
Nor did the very bright lights of the stars
Tarry to illuminate that hateful night.
[6]Now a self-acting fire full of fear alone shone through to them,
But they were greatly terrified when that apparition was not perceived;
So they considered the things they were seeing to be worse.
[7]The delusions of their magic were ineffective,
And so was the arrogant certainty of their pretense to have insight.
[8]For those who promised to drive away
The fears and troubles of a sick soul
Were themselves sick with an absurd timidity.
[9]For even if nothing dreadful frightened them,
Yet, scared by the passing of beasts and hissing of serpents,
They perished full of fear,
Even refusing to look at the air, which could not be avoided.

10For evil is a cowardly thing,
And condemned by its own witness;
And tormented by conscience,
It always welcomes things full of trouble.
11For fear is nothing but the betrayal
Of the assistance that comes from reasoning;
12And the expectation from within considers itself to be weaker
Than ignorance of the cause which supplies the torment.
13But they slept the same sleep throughout the night,
Which was actually powerless,
And which assaulted them from the inmost parts of a powerless Hades.
14They were driven by the monsters of apparitions
And were paralyzed by the betrayal of their soul;
For sudden and unexpected fear was poured out on them.
15So then whoever was there fell down
And thus was kept shut up in a prison not made of iron.
16For whether someone was a farmer or a shepherd
Or a worker who labored in the wilderness,
He was overtaken by force and endured inescapable punishment;
For all were bound with one chain of darkness.
17Whether there came a whistling wind,
Or the musical sound of birds in wide-spreading branches,
Or the motion of violently rushing water,
Or the hard crash of rocks thrown down,
18Or the unseen running of leaping animals,
Or the roar of fierce wild animals,
Or an echo reflected from the hollow of mountains,
It paralyzed them with terror.
19For the whole world was illumined with bright light
And embraced unhindered works,
20While over those men alone heavy night was spread,
An image of darkness that was about to receive them;
But they were heavier than darkness to themselves.

Wisdom of Solomon 18

Light Shines on Israel

[1]But for Your holy ones there was a very great light.

Their enemies heard their voice but did not see their form;
And they considered them blessed because they had also not suffered,
[2]For Your holy ones did not harm those
Who previously wronged them.
So they were thankful and begged for grace
For being at variance with them.
[3]Therefore You provided a flaming pillar of fire
As a guide for their unknown journey,
And a harmless sun for their glorious exile.
[4]For their enemies deserved to be deprived of light
And imprisoned in darkness,
Those who imprisoned Your children,
Through whom the incorruptible light of the law
Was to be given to the world.

Death Visits Egypt

[5]When they resolved to kill the babes of Your holy ones
And one child was exposed and rescued,
You took away as a rebuke a multitude of their children;
And You destroyed them together in the violent water.
[6]That night was made known beforehand to our fathers
So they might rejoice with sure knowledge in the oaths they trusted.
[7]The salvation of the righteous and the destruction of enemies
Were expected by Your people,
[8]For You punished our enemies with the same means
By which You called and glorified us.
[9]For in secret the holy children of good people offered sacrifices,
And in harmony with the divine law made a covenant,

That the saints would share alike in good things and in dangers;
And already they were singing the praises of their fathers.
10But the discordant cry of their enemies resounded,
And their pitiful outcry and mourning for their children spread abroad.
11The servant was punished with the same penalty as the master,
And the common man suffered the same thing as the king.
12They all together by the one name of death
Had innumerable dead persons,
For there were not enough living even to bury them;
Because in one critical moment their valued children were destroyed.
13For they disbelieved everything because of their sorceries,
But at the destruction of their firstborn,
They acknowledged the people to be God's son.
14For while gentle silence embraced everything
And night at its own speed was half over,
15Your all-powerful Word leaped from heaven, from the royal throne,
Into the midst of a doomed land,
A relentless warrior carrying the sharp sword
Of Your irrevocable command,
16And He stood and filled all things with death
And touched heaven while standing on earth.
17Then immediately apparitions in terrifying dreams troubled them,
And unexpected fears set upon them,
18And they threw themselves to the ground half-dead,
One apparition here and another there,
To make known to them the reason they were dying.
19For the dreams which disturbed them revealed this beforehand,
So they might not die without understanding
Why it was they suffered.

Aaron Prays for Israel

20 The experience of death also touched the righteous,
And a plague came upon the multitude in the desert;
But the wrath did not last long.
21 For a blameless man hastened and acted as their champion.
He carried the instrument of his ministry:
Prayer and the atonement of incense,
And withstood the anger and put an end to the calamity,
Showing that he was Your servant.
22 He conquered the wrath not by strength of body,
And not by the power of weapons,
But by a word he subdued the punisher,
Because he remembered the oaths and covenants of the fathers.
23 For when the dead had already fallen on one another in heaps,
He stood in the midst and drove back the wrath
And cut off its path to the living.
24 For the whole world was on his long robe,
And the glories of the fathers were a carved work
Arranged in four rows of stones;
And Your majesty was on the diadem on his head.
25 To these the destroyer yielded
And these he feared;
For the trial of his wrath alone was enough.

Wisdom of Solomon 19

The Foolishness of Egypt

1 But unmerciful anger came upon the ungodly to the end,

For God knew of them and their future beforehand,
2 That they would allow Your people to depart
And eagerly send them forth,
But then change their minds and pursue them.
3 For while they were yet mourning
And lamenting at the graves of their dead,
They made another foolish decision

And pursued as fugitives
Those whom they had begged and had sent away.
[4]For a deserved destiny drew them to this end
And made them forget what had happened,
So they might fill up the punishment
Which was lacking in their torments,
[5]And that Your people might attempt an incredible journey,
But that they themselves might come upon a strange death.

Creation Serves Its God

[6]For the whole creation in its kind was fashioned again from above
To serve Your commands,
That Your servants might be kept unharmed.
[7]The cloud was seen overshadowing the camp
And the emerging of dry land out of the water previously present,
An unhindered way out of the Red Sea
And a grassy plain out of the violence of rough water,
[8]Through which those sheltered by Your hand
Passed with the whole nation
After observing marvelous wonders.
[9]For they grazed like horses
And leaped about like lambs,
Praising You, O Lord, who saved them.
[10]For they still remembered their sojourn in a foreign land,
How instead of the birth of animals the land brought forth small flies,
And instead of things living in water
The river vomited forth a multitude of frogs.
[11]Afterwards they also saw a new kind of birds,
When led by their passion they requested meats for self-indulgence;
[12]For their relief, quails came up from the sea.

The Punishment of Egypt

13 The punishments did not come upon the sinners
Without previous signs in the violence of thunder,
And they suffered justly because of their own evils;
For they practiced a very bitter hatred of strangers.
14 Others did not welcome those unknown to them when they arrived,
But these enslaved foreign benefactors.
15 And not only this, but there shall be a certain visitation
Because they received foreigners hatefully;
16 For after receiving them with festivals,
They mistreated with terrible sufferings
Those who had already shared the same rights.
17 They were also stricken with blindness
Like those at the doors of the righteous man,
When, clothed in darkness, each sought the way through his own doors.

God Dwells with His People

18 For the elements combined among themselves in different ways,
Which can be accurately conjectured from the sight of what took place,
As on a harp the sounds of the rhythm differ in expression
While always remaining the same in sound.
19 For land animals were changed into water creatures,
And creatures that swim crossed over to the land.
20 In water, fire prevailed with its own power,
And water forgot its quenching properties.
21 Flames, on the contrary, did not consume
The flesh of perishable animals that walked among them,
Nor was the species of immortal food capable of being melted
Like easily melted ice.
22 For in everything, O Lord, You have exalted and glorified Your people,
And have not neglected to be present with them in every time and place.

Annotations for Wisdom of Solomon

1:1, 2 Jesus promised, "Seek, and you will find" (Mt 7:7), just as is promised here.
1:4 According to St. Paul, Christ is "the wisdom of God" (1Co 1:24).
1:5 A spirit of discipline brings with it honesty, discernment, and righteousness.
1:7 This passage brings to mind the prayer, "O Heavenly King," in which we confess, "the Spirit of Truth . . . is everywhere present and fills all things."
1:13, 14 God intends for man to have eternal life. Evil and death are not of God's making (see Jam 1:12–18).
2:1–11 This worldview of the ungodly has not changed markedly in the roughly 3000 years that have passed since these lines were penned. Compare Lk 12:16–21.
2:12–22 Many church fathers see this passage on disdain for the righteous man as being fulfilled in the life of Christ.
2:18 Compare Mt 27:43.
3:1—5:23 The question, "Why do the just suffer?" is answered in this section.
3:9 Truth, love, grace and mercy are fulfilled in Christ and in His faithful in the Church.
3:1–9 The Church sees the lives of the martyrs reflected in these verses. See also Dt 33:3; Job 12:10; Ps 117:15.
3:10–12 Tragically, the ungodly do not jeopardize only their own salvation, but their wives and children are affected as well. See also 3:16–19; 4:6.
3:13 A touching promise for the single woman and for married couples that cannot have children.
4:1 Virtue, more than anything else, attracts the gift of immortality. The Church sees in this verse a commentary on the splendor of virginity and the worthiness of the monastic calling. The seven great virtues are humility, liberality, chastity, mildness, temperance, happiness, and diligence. See also Acts 24:16.
4:2 See 1Co 11:1; Heb 6:12.
4:6 See note at 3:10–12.
4:10–15 Though he is not named in this passage, this is a specific reference to Enoch, who was taken up to be with the Lord and made perfect (Gn 5:18–24).
4:17 A repeated theme in this book is that the ungodly do not understand the ways of the wise (see 1Co 2:14).
4:20 The day of reckoning is the final judgment, when the unjust will see their lawless deeds.
5:5, 6 The way of truth refers to the path of wisdom exemplified in the lives of the sons of God, the saints. Like Judas, the ungodly have a sense of regret but not repentance as they face judgment, a theme that continues through 5:14.
5:17–20 The full armor of God represents His holy attributes realized in Christ and in those who are baptized into Christ (Gal 3:27). St. Paul lists similar spiritual armor in Eph 6:11–17.
6:1–10 A word of exhortation to kings, judges, and rulers: their source of power is from the Lord (v. 3). St. Paul agrees in Rom 13:1–6.
6:10 Holy things here are God's commandments and wise instruction, which are taught to the faithful. In the Divine Liturgy, "holy things" refers to the Body and Blood of Christ received in Holy Communion.
6:12 Wisdom will be easily perceived and found when she is the sole desire of the heart (see also Jam 1:5).
6:15 Everything necessary for our salvation is contained in the perfection of discernment which is embodied in Christ (see 7:22–24).
6:16 God knows our every thought and meets us when our every thought is fixed on Him (see also Pr 8:20; WSir 15:1).
6:17–20 Desire for wisdom leads from instruction to love to virtue to God's everlasting kingdom.
6:24 The prudent king is fulfilled in Christ. In this light, the wise men can be seen to foreshadow His Church, which brings salvation to the world.

7:1 The first-formed man is Adam.

7:2 Ten months: The months of the Jewish year were four weeks long. Human gestation is forty weeks.

7:4, 5 Solomon is a type of Christ, who was also born a king (see Is 9:6; Mt 2:2) yet wrapped in swaddling cloths (see Lk 2:7, 12).

7:6, 7 Here is the story of salvation. Man realizes that his life has no real purpose and will end in death. He prays and is enlightened with discernment: only God can save him. He calls on God, who sends wisdom—that is, Christ—and His Spirit.

7:7–14 This passage is fulfilled in Christ and His Church, to which nothing earthly can stand in comparison (v. 8). She is the unfailing treasure for men (v. 14; see Lk 12:32–34).

7:22–30 The Fathers agree that this passage illustrates the divine attributes of Christ, who is "the image [v. 26] of the invisible God" (Col 1:15). One may also recognize here many of the qualities the Church sees in the Virgin Mary, who bore God the Son in her womb. From these verses we are reminded that through deification or becoming like God, humanity is given the capacity to share in the uncreated energies of God—His power, purity, light, and goodness.

7:27 Through the wisdom of our Lord Jesus Christ, we can be made friends of God (see Jn 15:15).

8:1, 2 The multitude said of Christ, "He has done all things well" (Mk 7:37). As Solomon loved and sought wisdom, so Christ loves and seeks His bride, the Church (see Mt 25:1–13; Eph 5:22–32).

8:4 The mysteries of the knowledge of God are later revealed to the Apostle John (Jn 15:15), who is also called the Theologian, the Knower of God.

8:7 Jesus said, "Seek first the kingdom of God and His righteousness" (Mt 6:33). The virtues here are similar to those in Gal 5:22, 23.

8:8 Wisdom brings to the believer great experience and adventure. There is a personal joy and excitement that comes from an understanding of the things of God.

8:10, 11 He who is Wisdom, Christ our God, found honor in the presence of the elders in the temple at the young age of twelve (Lk 2:42–47).

8:14 A description of the King of kings.

8:19, 20 Orthodox theology teaches that the body is the outer covering or "tent" of the soul (2Pt 1:13), and that together they comprise the human person. The soul is inherently good and comes into being at the time of conception (see Zec 12:1).

8:21 Wisdom is a gift from God; yet we are called to search for her diligently.

9:1, 2 Word and wisdom are synonymous; both are a reference to Christ. This entire chapter anticipates the Incarnation of the Son of God.

9:5 Like Solomon, Christ is God's servant and the son of His maidservant. Unlike Solomon, Christ is perfect man and is eternal.

9:6 In his prayer, Solomon foresees one who is perfect among the sons of men.

9:8 As High Priest, our Lord Jesus Christ serves at heaven's altar in the true tabernacle after which the earthly tabernacle and temple were patterned (see Heb 8:1, 2).

9:15 Through His death and Resurrection, Christ made the corruptible body to be immortal (see 1Co 15:47–49).

9:17, 18 The presence of the Holy Trinity is unveiled here. Your counsel refers to God the Father, who gives His Son, wisdom, and sends His Holy Spirit to reveal the knowledge of salvation to mankind.

10:1 That Wisdom delivered Adam—and Eve—from their transgression is beautifully captured in numerous Orthodox icons of the Resurrection of Christ.

10:7 St. Jude chooses a similar word picture in describing apostates: "late autumn trees without fruit" (Jude 12). The pillar of salt is a reference to Lot's unbelieving wife (Gn 19:26).

10:10 Our lives are a combination of hardships and the successes of increased . . . fruit from our labors. Wisdom helps us through both. St. Paul encouraged Timothy to "endure hardship as a good soldier of Jesus Christ" (2Ti 2:3).

10:13, 14 When Joseph was betrayed by his brothers and in a pit in Egypt, wisdom did not abandon him (Gn 39–45). To His righteous followers, Jesus promises, "I will never leave you nor forsake you" (Heb 13:5).

10:17, 20 Solomon has in mind the Song of Moses (v. 20), which is also sung in heaven and begins, "Great and marvelous are Your works, Lord God Almighty!" (Rev 15:3, 4).

10:1–21 This historical overview from Adam to Moses shows the active role that the Word of God (Wisdom) takes in salvation history. St. Peter records a similar history (2Pt 2:4–9). Verse 21 prophesies Christ's miracles (Is 35:5, 6; Mt 11:5).

11:4–8 In the first of seven antitheses, or comparisons (see 16:1–21; 17:1–18:4; 18:5–19; 19:1–9), God is seen both to punish His enemies and to show kindness to His people by the same means—in this case, with sweet and defiled water (see also 11:13). The rock is a symbol of Christ (Lk 20:17; 1Co 10:4) and the water is symbolic of eternal life (see Jn 4:14).

11:9—12:2 According to the Fathers, God could destroy the world in a single breath (v. 20). But in His mercy and love, and recognizing the good inherent in man at creation, God will correct those who have fallen away little by little (12:2), desiring their repentance (v. 23).

11:22 See Is 40:15.

11:24 With His creation complete, "God saw everything He had made, and indeed, it was very good" (Gn 1:31).

11:25 In Christ "all things consist" (lit. "hold together"; Col 1:17).

12:2 God gives us every opportunity to believe in Him.

12:3–11 The inhabitants of the holy land were the Canaanites, who were very unholy. Here again, as in 12:2, the Lord could have destroyed them by one severe word (v. 9), but instead He judged them little by little, giving them a chance for repentance (v. 10). Jesus taught the Most High God "is kind to the unthankful and evil" (Lk 6:35).

12:12–18 The Almighty God is utterly sovereign and merciful. He will not judge unjustly (v. 13; Gn 18:25). He rules over us with great forbearance (v. 18).

12:19 For God's children, the sacrament of confession, or repentance, makes us hopeful.

12:22 Note how God's chastening fits the sin.

12:23–27 Another description of the judgment of God (v. 26) on the Egyptians. The Apostle Mark brought the gospel to Egypt, and the fruit of his labor remains to this day.

13:1–19 All men are encouraged to look beyond the beauty of creation to its source and inspiration, Almighty God, and to know Him who exists (v. 1).

13:3 See Ps 8:5, 6.

13:5 St. Paul uses this same reasoning in Rom 1:20.

13:6 On Mars Hill, St. Paul preached to those who while seeking God had gone astray (see Acts 17:26, 27). We find Him in His Holy Church, in the Scriptures, and in our prayers to Him.

13:8, 9 As in 13:5, St. Paul teaches why they are not to be excused in Rom 1:20, 21.

13:11–16 Solomon explains the length to which a carpenter goes to make a false image (v. 16).

14:1–5 Wisdom mercifully provides safe passage for man.

14:6, 7 These verses refer to the time of Noah (Gn 6) and also foreshadow Christ and the saving wood of the Cross.

14:8–21 Man's creation of godless idols (v. 12) separates him from that loving union with God for which he was created. Idolatry is a trap for the feet of fools (v. 11).

14:22–29 Every form of depravity (v. 25) flourishes in a society where idols are worshipped as deities. A sense of moral order in such a culture is impossible (see Rom 1:26–30).

14:26 See Acts 15:20.

15:3 To know God is immortality—eternal life (see Jn 17:3).

15:4–19 Idols are evil images that entice the worshipper away from the True God and towards nothingness. Holy images or icons, such as the cross and images of Christ and His living saints, help keep us from idols.

15:7 St. Paul also teaches that the potter makes vessels for honor and dishonor from the same clay (Rom 9:21). We choose to live either in light or in darkness.

15:10 See Is 44:20.

15:11 God, who formed us and breathed life into us, has a rightful claim on our soul!
15:13 There is hope for a practicing idolater because he knows that he sins.
15:15 Compare with Dt 4:28.
16:1–21 God again uses similar means both to save His people and to judge His enemies (see also 11:4–8; 17:1–18:4; 18:5–19; 19:1–9). The food of angels (vv. 20), or manna, was both food for Israel and a symbol of the Eucharist (Jn 6:31, 32).
16:2 God sending His people quails as food is described in lively detail in Nm 11.
16:5 Related passages are Nm 21:6; Dt 32:24; 1Co 10:9.
16:6–12 The holy fathers see in the bronze serpent (Nm 21:9) a symbol of the healing power of the Cross. See also Jn 3:14.
16:10 See Dt 32:33.
16:13 Christ the Savior descended into Hades and exercised His authority over life and death to release those in prison (see Eph 4:9, 10).
16:15–18 This event is recorded in Ex 9:22–26.
16:20 In Jn 6:31–34, Jesus makes it very clear that He Himself is the true bread from heaven. Unfortunately, many modern Christians fail to commune regularly with Christ in the Eucharist. Jesus warns, "Unless you eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, you have no life in you" (Jn 6:53).
16:24–29 God works through His creation to teach man that it is not creation but the word of His Wisdom that preserves them (v. 26). Just as God used fiery hail to destroy, so He uses the rays of the sun to defrost the crops. So then, man should arise at sunrise to thank God, for God's blessing will leave the one who is unthankful just as quickly as the rising sun melts frost (see 2Ti 3:2).
17:1—18:4 As seen earlier (see text and notes at 11:4–8; 16:1–21; 18:5–19; 19:1–9), God uses similar means both to judge His enemies and to bless His people. Here God is seen to send darkness (v. 2) to terrify the Egyptians and light (18:1) to guide the Israelites. This is the same darkness of Hades (v. 13) into which Christ descended (1Pt 3:19).
17:3 See Ex 10:22, 23.
17:7 See 2Ti 3:8, 9.
17:9, 10 See Jer 26:22, 23.
17:11 See Rom 2:15.
18:1–4 Great light (see Is 42:6) points to Christ, who is the fulfillment of the law (v. 4) and the light of the world (Jn 8:12).
18:3 See Ex 13:21.
18:5–19 The sixth means is presented by which God both blesses His people and punishes His enemies (see 11:4–8; 16:1–21; 17:1–18:4; 19:1–9). Here we see God punishing the Egyptians' murder of the Israelite children by slaying their firstborn (Ex 1:9–16), while protecting and glorifying the Jews (v. 8). The one child (v. 5) is Moses, who prefigures Christ.
18:6 That night (see Ex 12:42, 43) marks the first Passover Feast.
18:8 Here again is the case of God's punishing the Egyptian enemies being coupled with His blessing of His people (see 18:5–19 note).
18:12 This event is recorded in Nm 33:4.
18:15 The Red Sea crossing was such a miraculous event in the history of Israel that Solomon describes it with these words: Your all-powerful Word leaped from heaven. The Son of God is a warrior, saving His people (see Ex 15:3; Rev 19:13).
18:20–25 Once again salvation in Christ is foreshadowed when the high priestly prayers of the blameless man, Aaron, are said to cut off (v. 23) death. Aaron's vestments, his long robe (v. 24), like the vestments of Orthodox bishops and priests, symbolize Christ in His intercession for the world (v. 24).
19:1–9 Here, in a seventh and final antithesis (see 11:4–8; 16:1–21; 17:1–18:4; 18:5–19), God effectively works through His creation, using the Red Sea both to save His people and to destroy His enemies (vv. 6, 7). This event is seen in the Church to foreshadow Christ's Baptism in the Jordan, when He drove out the powers of darkness and sanctified all creation. Verse 9, Praising

You, O Lord, is a reference to the Song of Moses (Ex 15:1–18).

19:22 The conclusion of the Wisdom of Solomon is a doxology. God, through His Wisdom, has providentially exalted and glorified His chosen people, Israel, granting them salvation. With the coming of Christ, Israel becomes the Church of the Gentiles, the new "Israel of God" (see Gal 6:16; 1Pt 2:9), and Christ, the Wisdom of God, becomes her Head. (See also 12:20; 18:8; Lv 26:44; Ps 125:3.)

The Wisdom of Sirach

Author

Jesus ben Sirach. He was a Jewish scribe who was apparently an instructor at a Jewish academy, probably in Jerusalem, where he taught religion and ethics.

Date

About 180 BC

Major Theme

All true wisdom comes from the Lord. The book is in the tradition of Proverbs: "The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom." Wisdom is God's gift to men. Though profound, the teaching is not complicated, and it touches the heart.

Background

Jesus ben Sirach wrote his lectures down in a manuscript. That manuscript, written in Hebrew, got very little circulation until his grandson translated it into Greek. Then, about three centuries later, a translation was made into Syriac from the Hebrew text. Ben Sirach is well-acquainted with the Law and the Prophets. According to 1:11–20, wisdom comes from a blessed, joyful reverence for and knowledge of God.

Outline

I. Prologue
II. Fearing God and Keeping His Commandments (1:1–42:14)
III. God's Wisdom Revealed in Creation (42:15–43:33)
IV. Walking in Wisdom (44:1–50:29)
V. A Prayer of Thanksgiving (51:1–30)

The Prologue†

Of the many great things given to us through the law and the prophets and through others who followed them, we should praise Israel for instruction and wisdom. Not only should those who read gain understanding, but also those who love learning should be able to help outsiders understand both through speaking and writing.

Thus my grandfather Jesus especially devoted himself to reading the law and the prophets and other books of the fathers. So he acquired sufficient skill in these, and himself was led to write something fitting for instruction and wisdom, that lovers of learning might become involved in these things as well, and especially, in addition to this, might live a life according to the law.

Therefore you are encouraged to read with good will and attention and to do your reading with allowances made in cases where, although we worked hard in translating, we may seem to render a phrase inadequately. For what was said in Hebrew in itself does not have equal force when it is translated into another language. Not only this, but also the law itself and the prophets and the rest of the books differ not a little as originally spoken.

For when I arrived in Egypt in the thirty-eighth year of the reign of King Euergetes, and spent some time there, I found a book filled with instruction. Thus I made it a necessity for myself to apply some diligence and loving labor to the translation of this book. So I employed my skill day and night to complete and publish it for lovers of learning who live in a foreign land, and have prepared themselves beforehand to live according to the law.

Wisdom Is from the Lord

[1]All wisdom comes from the Lord
And is with Him forever.

[2]Who can count the sand of the seas,
The drops of rain, and the days of eternity?
[3]Who can search out the height of heaven,
The breadth of the earth, the abyss, and wisdom?

4 Wisdom was created before all things,
And the insight of prudence was from eternity.
5 To whom has the root of wisdom been revealed?
And who has come to know her great deeds?
6 There is one who is wise and is feared exceedingly,
He who sits upon His throne.
7 The Lord Himself created wisdom.
He saw and numbered her
And poured her out on all His works,
8 In the midst of all flesh according to His gift;
And He provided her for those who love Him.

The Fear of the Lord

9 The fear of the Lord is glory and boasting,
And gladness and a crown of rejoicing.
10 The fear of the Lord will cheer the heart
And will give gladness, joy, and long life.
11 For those who fear the Lord, it shall be well to the utmost,
And on the day of his death, he will be blessed.
12 The beginning of wisdom is to fear the Lord,
And she was joined with the faithful in the womb.
13 She constructed a foundation of life among men
And will be trusted among their seed.
14 The gratification of wisdom is to fear the Lord,
And she intoxicates them with her fruits.
15 She will fill every house of theirs with objects of desire
And their storehouses with her harvest.
16 The fear of the Lord is the crown of wisdom,
Making peace and soundness of health to flourish.
17 The Lord saw and numbered her,
And poured out the power of comprehension;
And He exalted the glory of those who hold fast to her.
18 The root of wisdom is to fear the Lord,
And her branches are length of days.

Warnings to the Wise

19 Unjust anger cannot be justified,
For anger's decisive influence causes his fall.
20 A patient man will hold fast until the proper time,
Then afterwards gladness shall burst forth for him.
21 He shall conceal his words until the proper time,
And the lips of many will tell of his understanding.
22 In the treasures of wisdom are the parables of knowledge,
But godliness is an abomination to a sinner.
23 If you desire wisdom, keep the commandments,
And the Lord will supply it to you.
24 For the fear of the Lord is wisdom and instruction,
And His good pleasure is faith and gentleness.
25 Do not disobey the fear of the Lord,
And do not come to Him with a divided heart.
26 Do not be a hypocrite in the sight of men,
And be careful with your lips.
27 Do not exalt yourself, lest you fall
And bring dishonor to your soul.
The Lord shall reveal your secrets,
And in the midst of the assembly He will strike you down,
Because you did not come in the fear of the Lord
And your heart was full of deceit.

Wisdom of Sirach 2

God's Faithfulness and Mercy

1 My son, if you draw near to serve the Lord,

Prepare your soul for temptation.
2 Set your heart right and be steadfast,
And do not strive anxiously in distress.
3 Cleave to Him and do not fall away,
That you may be honored at the end of your life.
4 Accept whatever is brought upon you,
And in exchange for your humiliation, be patient;
5 Because gold is tested in fire

And acceptable men in the furnace of abasement.
6Believe in Him, and He will help you;
Make your ways straight and hope in Him.
7You who fear the Lord, wait for His mercy,
And do not turn aside, lest you fall.
8You who fear the Lord, believe in Him,
And your reward will not fail.
9You who fear the Lord, hope for good things
And for everlasting gladness and mercy.
10Consider the ancient generations and see:
Who believed in the Lord and was put to shame?
Or who stood fast in His fear and was forsaken?
Or who called upon Him and was overlooked?
11Because the Lord is compassionate and merciful,
He forgives sins and saves in time of affliction.
12Woe to cowardly hearts and weakened hands,
And to a sinner who walks on two paths!
13Woe to a fainting heart, because it does not believe!
Therefore it will not be sheltered.
14Woe to you who have lost your patient endurance!
What will you do when the Lord visits you?
15Those who fear the Lord will not disobey His words,
And those who love Him will keep His ways.
16Those who fear the Lord will seek His approval,
And those who love Him will be filled with the law.
17Those who fear the Lord will prepare their hearts
And will humble their souls before Him.
18We will fall into the hands of the Lord
And not into the hands of men;
For as His majesty is, so is His mercy.

Wisdom of Sirach 3

Honoring Parents

1Give heed to me, O children, for I am your father,

And do what I tell you, that you may be saved.
2For the Lord honored the father over the children
And strengthened the judgment of the mother over her sons.
3He who honors his father atones for his sins;
4And he who honors his mother
Is like one who stores up treasure.
5He who honors his father
Will be gladdened by his own children,
And when he prays, he will be heard.
6He who honors his father will have a long life,
And he who obeys the Lord will give rest to his mother;
7And he will serve his parents as his masters.
8Honor your father and mother in word and deed,
That a blessing may come upon you from him.
9For the blessing of a father establishes the houses of the children,
But the curse of a mother uproots their foundations.
10Do not glory in the dishonor of your father,
For your father's dishonor is no glory to you.
11For the glory of a man is from the honor of his father,
And it is a disgrace for children to dishonor their mother.
12My son, help your father in his old age,
And do not grieve him in his life;
13And if his understanding fails, be considerate,
And do not dishonor him in your prime.
14For kindness to a father will not be forgotten,
And it will be credited to you instead of your sins.
15It will be remembered in the day of your affliction;
Thus your sins will melt away like frost in warm weather.
16He who forsakes his father is like a blasphemer,
And he who provokes his mother to wrath is cursed by God.

Wisdom at Work

17My son, accomplish your works with gentleness,
And you will be loved by people the Lord accepts.
18The greater you are, the more humble you must be,

And you will find grace before the Lord;
19Because great is the power of the Lord,
And He is honored by the humble.
20Do not seek things too difficult for you,
Nor examine what is beyond your strength.
21Think about what is commanded you,
For you do not need what the Lord keeps hidden.
22Do not meddle in what is none of your business,
For things beyond human insight have been shown to you.
23Speculation has led many astray,
And evil suppositions have caused their minds to slip and fall.

Keep a Soft Heart

24A hard heart will suffer ruin in the end,
And he who loves danger will perish in it.
25A hard heart will be weighed down with pains,
And the sinner will add sin to sin.
26There is no healing to aid an arrogant man,
For a plant of evil has taken root in him.
27The heart of an intelligent man will ponder a parable,
And the ear of a pupil is a wise man's desire.
28Water will quench a blazing fire,
And almsgiving will atone for sins.
29He who repays kindnesses is mindful of the hereafter,
And at the time of his fall he will find support.

Wisdom of Sirach 4

Care of the Poor and Needy

1My son, do not deprive the poor of his living,

And do not keep eyes in need waiting.
2Do not grieve a soul who is hungry,
Nor provoke to anger a man in despair.

3 Do not trouble a heart that was made resentful,
And do not put off the gift of a man in need.
4 Do not reject a suppliant who is afflicted,
Nor turn your face away from a poor man.
5 Do not turn your eye away from a needy man,
And do not give a man occasion to curse you;
6 For if he curses you in the bitterness of his soul,
His Maker will hear his prayer.
7 Make yourself beloved in the assembly
And bow your head to a great man.
8 Incline your ear to a poor man
And answer him peaceably and with gentleness.
9 Deliver a person who has been wronged
From the hand of the wrongdoer,
And do not be fainthearted when you judge his case.
10 Be like a father to orphans
And like a husband to their mother;
And you will be like a son of the Most High,
And He will love you more than your mother.

Pursuit of Wisdom

11 Wisdom exalts her children
And lays hold of those who seek her.
12 Whoever loves her loves life,
And those who come to her early in the morning
Will be filled with gladness.
13 He who holds fast to her will inherit glory,
And the Lord blesses every place she enters.
14 Those who serve her will minister to the Holy One,
And the Lord loves those who love her.
15 He who obeys her will judge the nations;
And he that gives heed to her will live with confidence.
16 If he trusts in her, he will inherit her,
And his posterity will be in possession of her.
17 At first she will walk with him on disturbing paths
And bring fear and dread upon him;
And she will torment him with her discipline

Until she can trust his soul
And test him with her ordinances.
18Then she will come straight back to him,
And will gladden him, and reveal her secrets to him.
19If he wanders away, she will forsake him
And hand him over to his ruin.

Shame and Sin

20Watch for a proper opportunity and keep yourself from evil;
And do not bring shame upon your soul.
21For there is a shame that brings sin,
And there is a shame which is glory and grace.
22Do not show partiality to someone to your own harm,
And do not let your respect for another cause you to fall.
23Do not withhold a word in time of need;
24For wisdom is made known by a word,
And instruction by a word of the tongue.
25Do not speak against the truth,
And do not be put to shame by your ignorance.
26Do not be ashamed to confess your sins,
And do not exercise force against the current of a river.
27Do not subject yourself to a foolish man,
And do not show partiality to a ruler.
28Fight to the death for the truth,
And the Lord God will fight for you.
29Do not be rash with your tongue
And sluggish and neglectful in your works.
30Do not be like a lion in your home
And act in pretense with your servants.
31Do not let your hand be extended to receive
And shut when you should repay.

Wisdom of Sirach 5

God Is the Lord

[1]Do not set your heart on your possessions,

And do not say, “I am independent.”
[2]Do not follow yourself and your strength
So as to walk in the desires of your heart;
[3]And do not say, “Who will be lord over me?”
For the Lord will surely punish you.
[4]Do not say, “I sinned, so what happened to me?”
For the Lord is patient.
[5]Do not be so confident of atonement
That you add sin to sin;
[6]And do not say, “His compassion is great;
He will atone for the multitude of my sins,”
For both mercy and wrath come from Him;
And His anger rests on sinners.
[7]Do not delay to turn to the Lord,
And do not put it off from day to day;
For suddenly the wrath of the Lord will come forth,
And in the day of vengeance, you will perish.
[8]Do not set your heart on dishonest wealth,
For it will profit you nothing in the day of distress.

Control of the Tongue

[9]Do not winnow with every wind
And do not follow every road;
For a double-tongued sinner is of such a kind.
[10]Be established in your understanding
And let your word be consistent.
[11]Be quick to listen
And give your answer with patience.
[12]If you have understanding, answer your neighbor,
But if not, let your hand be over your mouth.
[13]There is glory and dishonor in speech,
And a man’s tongue may cause him to fall.
[14]Do not be called a slanderer,
And do not lie in ambush with your tongue;
For shame awaits a thief,

And a grievous condemnation will come upon
A double-tongued man.
15In a great or in a small matter, do not go wrong.

Wisdom of Sirach 6

1Do not be an enemy instead of a friend;

For a bad name brings shame and disgrace,
And a double-tongued sinner is of such a kind.
2Do not exalt yourself with your own counsel,
Lest your soul be torn in pieces as by a bull.
3You will devour your leaves and lose your fruit,
And be left like a withered tree.
4An evil soul will destroy him who possesses it
And make him an object of malignant joy to his enemies.

Friendships

5Pleasant speech will multiply his friends,
And a gracious tongue will multiply many kind greetings.
6Let those who live at peace with you be many,
But let your counselors be one in a thousand.
7If you gain a friend, gain him in testing,
And do not be in a hurry to trust him.
8For there is a friend who is such to his own advantage,
But he will not remain beside you in the day of your affliction.
9There is also a friend who changes into an enemy
And will reveal a quarrel to your disgrace.
10Again, there is a friend who is a companion at table,
But will not stand by you in your day of trouble.
11Further, when you prosper, he will be like you
And speak boldly to your servants;
12But if you are brought low, he will be against you,
And will hide himself from your presence.
13Stay away from your enemies

And hold onto your friends.
14A faithful friend is a strong shelter,
And he who finds one finds a treasure.
15There is nothing that can take the place of a faithful friend,
And there is no way to measure his worth.
16A faithful friend is a medicine of life,
And those who fear the Lord will find him.
17He who fears the Lord guides his friendship rightly,
Because as he is, so also is his neighbor.

Instruction Brings Wisdom

18My son, from your youth up, choose instruction,
And you will find wisdom also into old age.
19Come to her as one who plows and sows,
And wait expectantly for her good fruits;
For in her work you will labor a little while,
Then you will quickly eat of her fruit.
20She is very harsh on the undisciplined
And on the one who lacks the heart to continue with her.
21She will be like a heavy stone of trial upon him,
And he will not delay to throw her off.
22For wisdom is like her name and is not manifest to many.
23Listen, my son, and accept my judgment,
And do not reject my advice.
24Put your feet into her fetters and your neck into her collar.
25Put your shoulder under her and carry her,
And do not be angry with her bonds.
26Come to her with all your soul,
And keep her ways with all your strength.
27Search for her and seek her out,
And she will become known to you;
And when you become self-controlled, do not let her go.
28For in the end you will find her rest,
And she will turn to you in gladness.
29Then her fetters will be as a strong protection for you,
And her collar a glorious robe.

30For there is a golden adornment upon her,
And her bonds are a blue thread.
31You will wear her as a glorious robe
And put her on yourself as a crown of exceeding joy.
32If you are willing, my son, you will be taught,
And if you apply yourself, you will be prudent.
33If you love to listen, you will wait with anticipation,
And if you incline your ear, you will be wise.
34Stand in an assembly of elders,
And who is wise? Attach yourself to him.
35Desire to listen to every divine narrative,
And do not let proverbs of understanding escape you.
36If you see a man who has understanding,
Rise early in the morning
And let your foot wear out the threshold of his door.
37Set your mind on the ordinances of the Lord
And practice His commandments.
He will strengthen your heart continually,
And the desire for wisdom will be given to you.

Wisdom of Sirach 7

Put away Evil Acts

1Do no evil things,
And evil will never overtake you.

2Stay away from wrongdoing,
And it will turn away from you.
3My son, do not sow on the furrows of wrongdoing,
And you will not reap the same things sevenfold.
4Do not seek authority from a lord
Nor the seat of honor from a king.
5Do not declare yourself righteous before a lord,
Nor play the wise man before a king.
6Do not try to be a judge
If you will not be strong enough to remove wrongdoing,

Lest you respect the presence of the powerful
And compromise your integrity.
7 Do not sin against the population of a city,
Nor disgrace yourself before the people.
8 Do not repeat your sin,
For you will not be unpunished even for one.
9 Do not say, “He will look upon the multitude of my gifts,
And when I bring an offering to God Most High, He will accept it.”
10 Do not be fainthearted in your prayer
And do not neglect to do alms.
11 Do not laugh at a man who is in bitterness of soul,
For there is One who humbles and exalts.
12 Do not devise a lie against your brother,
Nor do the same against a friend.
13 Do not desire to tell any lie,
For the habit of lying never does any good.
14 Do not talk idly in the assembly of the elders,
And do not repeat yourself in prayer.

Farm and Family

15 Do not hate hard work, especially farming,
Which was created by the Most High.
16 Do not number yourself among an assembly of sinners;
Remember that wrath will not tarry long.
17 Humble yourself greatly,
For the punishment of the ungodly is fire and worms.
18 Do not exchange a friend for money,
Nor a genuine brother for the gold of Ophir.
19 Do not ignore a wise and good wife,
For her grace is worth more than gold.
20 Do not mistreat a servant who does his work in truth
Nor a hired worker who devotes himself to you.
21 Let your soul love an intelligent servant;
Do not deprive him of his freedom.
22 Do you have cattle? Take care of them;
And if they are profitable to you, keep them.

[23]Do you have children? Correct them,
And make them obey from their youth.
[24]Do you have daughters? Watch carefully over their chastity,
And do not be too easy on them.
[25]Give a daughter in marriage
And you will have completed a great work;
But give her to a man of understanding.
[26]Do you have a wife after your own heart? Do not reject her,
But do not trust yourself to a wife whom you disregard.
[27]Honor your father with all your heart,
And do not forget the birth pangs of your mother.
[28]Remember that you were begotten through them,
And what can you give back to them
To the degree they gave to you?

The Priests and the Poor

[29]Fear the Lord with all your soul
And honor His priests.
[30]Love Him who made you
And do not forsake His ministers.
[31]Fear the Lord and honor His priests,
And give them their portion as commanded:
The firstfruits, the trespass offering,
The gift of the shoulder offering,
The sacrifice of sanctification,
And the firstfruits of the holy things.
[32]Stretch forth your hand to the poor,
That your blessing may be complete.
[33]Let the kindness of giving be shown
In the presence of all the living,
And do not withhold kindness from the dead.
[34]Do not withdraw yourself from those who weep,
And mourn with those who mourn.
[35]Do not hesitate to visit a sick man,
For by such visits you will be loved.
[36]With all your words, remember the time you will die,
And you will never sin.

Wisdom of Sirach 8

Kings and Commoners

1 Do not contend sharply with a powerful man,
Lest you fall into his hands.
2 Do not quarrel with a rich man,
Lest he resist your force,
For gold has destroyed many
And perverted the hearts of kings.
3 Do not contend sharply with a talkative man,
And do not heap wood on his fire.
4 Do not jest with an uncultivated man,
Lest your forefathers be insulted.
5 Do not insult a man who turns away from sin;
Remember that we are all valuable.
6 Do not dishonor a man in his old age,
For some of us are growing old as well.
7 Do not rejoice over any dead person;
Remember that we all must die.
8 Do not disregard a saying of the wise,
But be conversant with their proverbs;
Because from them you will gain instruction
And how to serve noble people.
9 Do not miss a saying of the old,
For they themselves learned from their fathers;
Because from them you will gain understanding
And be able to give an answer in time of need.
10 Do not kindle the coals of a sinner,
For you may be burned by his flame.
11 Do not let the presence of an insolent man
Arouse you from your seat,
Lest he lie in wait as an ambush against your words.
12 Do not lend to a man stronger than you;
But if you do, consider it lost.
13 Do not give surety beyond your ability to pay;

But if you do give surety, be as careful as one who has to pay.
14Do not go to law against a judge,
For they will decide for him because of his reputation.
15Do not travel on a journey with a reckless man,
Lest he weigh you down;
For he will do his will,
And you will perish with him in his folly.
16Do not cause a fight with an angry man,
And do not go into a lonely place with him,
Because murder is as nothing in his eyes,
And where there is no help, he will strike you down.
17Do not consult with a fool,
For he will not keep a matter confidential.
18Do nothing confidential in the presence of a stranger,
For you do not know what he will give birth to.
19Do not open your heart to everyone,
Lest unkindness be shown to you.

Wisdom of Sirach 9

Behavior with Women

1Do not be jealous of the wife of your bosom

And so teach her an evil lesson about yourself.
2Do not give your soul to a woman
To let her trample on your strength.
3Do not meet with a woman who is a courtesan,
Lest you fall into her snares.
4Do not associate with a dancing-girl,
Lest you be caught in her schemes.
5Do not gaze at a virgin,
Lest you stumble and pay damages for her.
6Do not give your soul to prostitutes,
Lest you destroy your inheritance.
7Do not look around in the streets of a city,
And do not wander about in its deserted sections.

[8]Turn your eye away from a woman with a shapely figure,
And do not gaze at beauty belonging to another.
Many have been led astray by the beauty of a woman,
And erotic love is like a burning fire.
[9]Never dine with another man's wife,
And do not share in parties with her over wine,
Lest your soul turn aside to her,
And you slip and with your spirit fall into destruction.

Friends and Neighbors

[10]Do not forsake an old friend,
For a new one is not equal with him.
A new friend is like new wine;
Drink it with pleasure only after it ages.
[11]Do not envy the honor given a sinner,
For you do not know what his end will be.
[12]Do not delight in the pleasure of the ungodly;
Remember, they will not be declared righteous even in Hades.
[13]Keep far away from a man who has the power to kill,
And you will not be anxious about the fear of death.
But if you come near him, do not offend him,
Lest he take away your life.
Know that you are stepping in the midst of snares
And walking about the battlements of a city.
[14]Evaluate your neighbors as best you can
And consult with those who are wise.
[15]Let your reasoning be with those who are wise,
And let all your talk be about the law of the Most High.
[16]Let righteous men be your dinner companions,
And let your boasting be in the fear of the Lord.

Wise Leaders

[17]A work will be praised for the skill of its craftsmen,
And a wise leader of people for the skill of his words.
[18]A talkative man is regarded with fear in his city,

And a man who is reckless in his speech will be hated.

Wisdom of Sirach 10

[1]A wise leader will educate his people,
And the rule of an intelligent man will be well ordered.
[2]As goes the leader of a people, so also are his officials,
And all the inhabitants of a city will reflect its ruler.
[3]An undisciplined king will ruin his people,
But a city will be made habitable through the wisdom of its rulers.
[4]The authority of the earth is in the hand of the Lord,
And He will raise up the right man for an appointed time.
[5]The success of a man is in the hand of the Lord,
And He confers His honor upon the person of the scribe.
[6]Do not cherish anger against your neighbor for any injury,
And do nothing by acts of insolence.

Beware of Arrogance

[7]Arrogance is hateful before God and man,
And wrongdoing is offensive to both.
[8]Dominion is transferred from nation to nation
Because of wrongdoing, insolence, and wealth.
[9]How can he who is earth and ashes be arrogant?
Because even while living, his insides are decaying.
[10]A physician scoffs at a long illness,
And a king today will also die tomorrow.
[11]When a man dies, he will inherit
Reptiles, wild animals, and worms.
[12]The beginning of a man’s arrogance is to depart from the Lord,
For his heart withdraws from the One who created him.
[13]For the beginning of arrogance is sin,
And he who takes hold of it will pour out an abomination.
Therefore the Lord will bring them extraordinary distress
And completely destroy them.

14 The Lord pulls down the thrones of rulers
And seats the gentle in their place.
15 The Lord plucks out the roots of nations
And plants the humble in their place.
16 The Lord overthrows the lands of the nations
And destroys them to the foundations of the earth.
17 He removes some of them and destroys them,
And puts an end to their memory on the earth.
18 Arrogance was not created by mankind,
Nor fierce anger by the offspring of women.

Honor and Dishonor

19 What kind of seed is honored?
The seed of man.
What kind of seed is honored?
Those who fear the Lord.
What kind of seed is dishonored?
The seed of man.
What kind of seed is dishonored?
Those who transgress the commandments.
20 Among brothers their leader is honored,
And those who fear the Lord are honored in His eyes.
21 The fear of the Lord goes before the obtaining of authority,
But roughness and pride is the losing thereof.
22 The rich and the honored and the poor alike—
Their boasting is the fear of the Lord.
23 It is not right to dishonor an intelligent poor man,
Nor is it proper to honor a sinful man.
24 The nobleman, the judge, and the ruler will be honored,
But none of them is greater than the one who fears the Lord.
25 Free men will render service to a wise servant,
And an understanding man will not grumble.
26 Do not put your wisdom on display when you do your work,
Nor magnify yourself in the time of your trouble.
27 Better is he who works and has plenty
Than he who magnifies himself but has no bread.

28My son, honor your soul with gentleness
And give it honor according to its worth.
29Who will declare righteous the man who sins against his soul,
And who will honor the man who dishonors his life?
30A poor man is honored for his knowledge,
While a rich man is honored for his wealth.
31If a man is honored in poverty,
How much more in wealth,
And if a man is dishonored in wealth,
How much more in poverty?

Wisdom of Sirach 11

1The wisdom of a humble man will exalt his head,
And he will take his seat among the great.

Outward Appearances

2Do not praise a man for his good looks,
And do not detest one because of his appearance.
3The bee is small among winged creatures,
But her fruit is first among sweet things.
4Do not boast about your fine clothes,
Nor magnify yourself in the day you are honored;
Because the works of the Lord are wondrous,
And His works are hidden from men.
5Many tyrants have sat on the ground,
But one never thought of has worn a crown.
6Many rulers have suffered exceeding disgrace,
And honored men have been betrayed into the hands of others.

Slow Down!

7Do not find fault before you examine a situation.
First, understand it, and then make your judgment.

8 Do not answer before you have listened,
And do not interrupt someone while he is talking.
9 Do not argue about a matter that does not concern you,
And do not sit together with sinners when they judge a case.
10 My son, do not let your business involve too many things.
If you multiply them, you will not remain unpunished,
And if you pursue them, you will not overtake them;
And you will not escape by running away.
11 There is a man who works and works
And keeps on working, but is in much more poverty.
12 There is another who is sluggish and in need of help;
And he lacks strength and abounds in poverty.
But the eyes of the Lord look upon him for his good
And restores his well-being from his humble state.
13 He raises up his head,
And many are amazed at this.

Handling Riches

14 Good and bad, life and death, poverty and wealth—
These are from the Lord.
15 The gift of the Lord remains with the godly,
And His approval brings prosperity forever.
16 There is a man who grows rich
Because of his attention and restraint;
And this is the portion of his reward:
17 When he says, “I have found rest,
And now I will partake of my good things.”
Yet he does not know how much time will pass until he will die
And leave them behind to others.
18 Stand by your covenant and attend to it,
And grow old in your work.
19 Do not be amazed at the works of a sinner,
But trust in the Lord and remain at your work;
Because it is easy in the sight of the Lord
To make a poor man rich quickly and unexpectedly.
20 The blessing of the Lord is in the reward of a godly man,

And in an instant He makes his blessings flourish.
21Do not say, “What do I need,
And what good things will be mine in the future?”
22Do not say, “I am independent.
From now on, what will harm me?”
23In the day of good things,
There is forgetfulness of bad things,
And in the day of bad things,
There is no remembrance of good things.
24For it is easy in the judgment of the Lord
To reward a man on the day of his death according to his ways.
25The ill-treatment of an hour makes one forget luxury,
And at the end of a man’s life,
There shall be a revelation of his works.
26Consider no man happy before his death,
And a man will be known in his children.

Beware of Evildoers

27Do not bring every man into your home,
For the plots of the deceitful are many.
28The heart of an arrogant man is like a decoy partridge in a cage,
And like a spy he watches for your fall.
29For he lies in wait and turns good into evil,
And he will attach blame to the good one chooses.
30From a spark of fire a charcoal fire is kindled,
And a sinful man lies in wait for bloodshed.
31Beware of an evildoer and his schemes,
Lest he bring lasting blame upon you.
32Receive a stranger into your home
And he will upset you with troubles,
And alienate your family from you.

Wisdom of Sirach 12

Showing Kindness

[1]If you show kindness, know to whom you show it,
And you shall be thanked for your good deeds.
[2]Do good to a godly man, and you will be repaid—
If not by him, then certainly by the Most High.
[3]There shall be no good things for him who continues in evil things,
Or for him who does not give alms cheerfully.
[4]Give to a godly man, but do not help the sinner.
[5]Do good to a humble man, but do not give to an ungodly man.
Hold back his bread and do not give it to him,
Lest by it he lord it over you.
For you will receive twice as much evil coming back
For all the good you did for him.
[6]For the Most High also hates sinners
And will render punishment on the ungodly.

Never Trust an Enemy

[7]Give to the good man, but do not help the sinner.
[8]A friend will not be revealed when you are prosperous,
Nor will an enemy hide himself when you are in adversity.
[9]When a man prospers, his enemies are grieved,
But when he is in adversity, even a friend will separate himself.
[10]Never trust your enemy,
For as copper becomes rusty, so is his evil.
[11]Even if he acts humble and goes about with a humble posture,
Watch yourself, and be on your guard.
Then you shall be to him like him who wipes off a mirror,
And you will know that it is not corroded continually.
[12]Do not let him stand by your side,
Lest he overthrow you and take your place.
Do not seat him on your right,
Lest he seek your seat of honor.

Then at last you will know the truth of my words,
And because of my words you will be pierced with sorrow.
13 Who will pity a snake charmer when he is bitten,
Or those who go near wild animals?
14 So no one will pity one who approaches a sinful man
And gets involved in his sins.
15 He will stay with you for a while,
But if you turn aside from him, he will not put up with you.
16 An enemy speaks sweetly with his lips,
But in his heart he will plan to throw you into a pit.
An enemy will shed tears, but if he finds an opportunity,
He will not be satisfied apart from shedding your blood.
17 If evil comes upon you,
You will find your enemy there ahead of you,
And as he pretends to help you,
He will pull your feet from under you.
18 He will shake his head and applaud with his hands;
And he will whisper many things and alter his expression.

Wisdom of Sirach 13

Choosing Colleagues

1 Whoever touches pitch will be stained,

And whoever associates with an arrogant man will become like him.
2 Do not lift a weight too heavy for you,
Nor associate with a man stronger and richer than you.
What does a clay pot have in common with a copper kettle?
For the clay pot will strike against the kettle and will itself be broken.
3 A rich man does wrong and even proves himself to be the one wronged.
A poor man is wronged, and he must apologize.
4 If you can be useful to him, a rich man will make use of you;
But if you are in need, he will abandon you.

[5]If you own anything, he will live with you,
And he will exhaust you, but will not feel sorry for you.
[6]When he needs you, he will deceive you and smile at you;
And he will give you hope and say good things to you.
He will even say, “What do you need?”
[7]He will shame you with his foods
Until he exhausts you two or three times.
Then at last he will mock you.
If he should see you after this, he will forsake you
And shake his head over you.
[8]Take heed, lest you be led astray
And be humiliated in your folly.
[9]When a ruler invites you, be slow to accept,
And he will invite you more often.
[10]Do not press upon him, lest you be rejected,
But do not withdraw at a distance, lest you be forgotten.
[11]Do not intend to speak to him as an equal,
And do not trust his abundance of words;
For he will test you with a lot of talk,
And while he is smiling, he will scrutinize you.
[12]He who does not guard your words is unmerciful,
And he will not hesitate to harm or imprison you.
[13]Keep your words to yourself, and be very careful,
For you are walking near your own fall.

Like Attracts Like

[14]Every living creature loves its like,
And every man his neighbor.
[15]All flesh gathers together by species,
And every man clings to one like himself.
[16]What wolf will associate with a lamb?
No more will the sinner with a godly man.
[17]What peace is there between a hyena and a dog?
And what peace does a rich man have with a poor man?
[18]The prey of lions are wild asses in the wilderness.
Similarly, the pastures of the rich are the poor.

Rich and Poor

19 Lowness of stature is an abomination to the arrogant;
Thus a poor man is an abomination to a rich man.
20 When a rich man is shaken, he is strengthened by friends;
But when a humble man falls, he is pushed away by friends.
21 When a rich man falls, there are many to help him;
And when he speaks abominable words, they justify him.
If a humble man falls, they criticize him further;
And when he speaks with intelligence, no place is given to him.
22 When a rich man speaks, everyone is silent,
And they exalt his word to the clouds.
A poor man speaks, and they say, “Who is this man?”
And if he stumbles, they push him down even further.
23 Wealth in which there is no sin is good,
But poverty is evil in the mouth of an ungodly man.
24 The heart of a man changes the expression on his face,
Either for good or for evil.
25 The mark of a heart filled with goodness is a cheerful face,
But the invention of proverbs requires laborious reasoning.

Wisdom of Sirach 14

1 Blessed is a man who does not slip and fall because of his mouth,
And is not stung with pain caused by his sin.
2 Blessed is he whose soul does not condemn him,
And who has not fallen away from his hope.
3 Wealth is not fitting for a small-minded man,
And to what end is wealth for an envious man?
4 For he who gathers for himself, gathers for others,
And others will live in luxury with his goods.
5 If a man does evil to himself, for whom shall he do good?
And he will not rejoice in his wealth.

Warnings of Vices

6When a man envies himself, there is no one worse off,
And this is the reward for his vice.
7Even if he does good, he does it unintentionally,
And in the end he reveals his vice.
8He who envies with his eye is evil;
He turns away his face and despises souls.
9The eye of a greedy man is not satisfied with his share,
And useless wrongdoing dries up the soul.
10The evil eye of a man is envious over his bread;
Thus it is lacking at his table.
11My son, whatever you have, treat yourself well,
And offer sacrifices worthily to the Lord.
12Remember that death does not delay,
And the covenant of Hades has not been shown to you.
13Before you die, do good to a friend,
And reach out and give to him based on your ability.
14Do not let a day go by without doing something good,
And do not let any of your desire for doing good escape you.
15Will you not leave all your hard work to another,
And all your hard work to be divided by lot?
16Give and receive and deprive yourself,
Because in Hades there is nowhere to seek luxury.
17All flesh becomes old like a garment,
For the covenant from of old is, “You shall die by death.”
18Like flourishing leaves on a thick tree,
Which sheds some leaves and puts forth others,
So also is the generation of flesh and blood:
One dies and another is born.
19Every work of man decays and fails,
And he who made it will depart with it.

The Blessings of Wisdom

20Blessed is the man who practices wisdom
And discourses with insight.
21Whoever ponders the ways of wisdom in his heart
Will also reflect on her secrets.

22 Pursue wisdom like a tracker
And lie in wait on her paths.
23 He who looks intently through her windows
Will also listen at her doors.
24 He who lodges near her house
Will also fasten his tent peg to her walls.
25 He will establish his home according to her will,
And so lodge in a good dwelling place.
26 He will put his children in her shelter
And lodge under her branches.
27 He will be sheltered by her from the burning heat
And will dwell in her glory.

Wisdom of Sirach 15

1 He who fears the Lord will do this,
And he who holds fast to the law will obtain wisdom.
2 She will come to meet him like a mother
And accept him like the wife of one's youth.
3 She will feed him the bread of understanding
And give him the water of wisdom to drink.
4 He will be supported by her and not fall;
And he will hold on to her and not be put to shame.
5 She will exalt him alongside his neighbors,
And in the midst of the assembly she will open his mouth.
6 He will find gladness and a crown of rejoicing
And will inherit an everlasting name.
7 But foolish men will not find her,
And sinful men will not see her.
8 She is far from the arrogant,
And lying men will not keep her in mind.
9 Praise is not proper in the mouth of a sinner,
Because it was not sent from the Lord.
10 For praise should be spoken in wisdom;
Then the Lord will prosper it.

Our Sin Is Our Fault

11 Do not say, “I fell away because of the Lord,”
For He will not do what He hates.
12 Do not say, “It was He who led me astray,”
For He has no need of a sinful man.
13 The Lord hates all abominations,
And they are not loved by those who fear Him.
14 He Himself created man in the beginning
And left him in the counsel of his will.
15 If you will, you will keep the commandments
And faithfully do His good pleasure.
16 He has set before you fire and water;
If you will, stretch forth your hand.
17 Life and death are before mankind,
And whichever he chooses, it will be given to him.
18 For great is the wisdom of the Lord;
He is mighty in power and sees all things.
19 His eyes are upon those who fear Him,
And He Himself knows every deed of man.
20 He has commanded no one to be ungodly,
And He has given no one license to sin.

Wisdom of Sirach 16

Ungodly Children

1 Do not desire a multitude of useless children,

Nor rejoice in ungodly sons.
2 If they multiply, do not rejoice over them
If the fear of the Lord is not in them.
3 Do not trust in their life
Nor pay attention to their multitude;
For one godly child is better than a thousand.
And it is better to die childless than to have ungodly children.
4 For from one child with wisdom a city will be filled with people,

But a tribe of lawless men will make it desolate.
5My eyes have seen many such things,
And my ear has heard worse things than this.

Rebuke and Mercy

6In the congregation of sinners, a fire will be kindled,
And in a disobedient nation, wrath is kindled.
7There was no atonement for the ancient giants
Who turned away from God because of their strength.
8He did not spare the cities where Lot sojourned,
Whom He detested because of their arrogance.
9He had no mercy on a nation destined for destruction
Who were taken away because of their sins.
10The same thing happened to the six hundred thousand foot-soldiers
Who gathered together in their hardness of heart.
11Even if there was only one stiff-necked man,
It would be a marvel if he were to remain unpunished.
For mercy and wrath belong to the Lord,
And He is mighty to forgive;
And He pours out wrath.
12As great as His mercy, so also great is His rebuke,
And He will judge a man according to his works.
13A sinner will not escape with his spoils,
And the patience of a godly man will not fare badly.
14He will make a place for every act of mercy.
Each will find this out according to his works.

None Remain Anonymous

15Do not say, “I will be hidden from the Lord,
And who will remember me from on high?
I will not be known among so many people,
For what is my soul in comparison to the immeasurable creation?
16Behold, heaven and the highest heaven,

The abyss and the earth will be shaken at His visitation.
17 At the same time, the mountains and the foundations of the earth
Will shake with trembling when He looks upon them.
18 No heart will able to think about these things,
And who will ponder His ways?
19 There will be a sudden blast of wind which no man will see,
For most of His works will be done in secret.
20 Who will proclaim His works of righteousness,
Or who will endure them?
For His covenant is far off.”
21 This is what a man thinks
Who is diminished in heart and without discernment,
Who is deceived and thinks foolishly.
22 Listen to me, my son, and gain knowledge,
And pay close attention to my words in your heart.
23 I will reveal instruction with balance,
And I will proclaim knowledge with exactness.

The Majesty of Creation

24 By the judgment of the Lord, His works exist from the beginning,
And from their creation, He determined their boundaries.
25 He ordered His works forever,
And their principles according to their generations.
They neither hunger nor grow weary,
And they do not cease from their works.
26 Each does not afflict the one close to him,
And they will never disobey His word.
27 After this the Lord looked upon the earth
And filled it with His good things.
28 He covered its surface with the life of every living creature,
And to it they will return again.

Wisdom of Sirach 17

Creation of Man

[1]The Lord created man from the earth

And returned him to it again.
[2]He gave them a certain number of days and an appointed time,
And He gave them authority over it.
[3]He clothed them in strength like His own
And made them in His image.
[4]He put the fear of man upon all flesh
And gave him dominion over wild animals and birds.
[5]He gave mankind the ability to deliberate,
And a tongue, eyes and ears, and a heart to think with.
[6]He filled them with the skill of comprehension
And showed them good and evil.
[7]He set His eye upon their hearts
To show them the majesty of His works.
[8]They will praise His holy name
So as to fully describe the majesty of His works.

The Covenant with Israel

[9]He added knowledge to them
And gave them the law of life as a heritage.
[10]He established an eternal covenant with them,
And He showed His judgments to them.
[11]Their eyes saw His glorious majesty,
And their ears heard His glorious voice.
[12]He said to them, “Beware of all unrighteousness,”
And He commanded each of them concerning his neighbor.
[13]Their ways are before Him continually;
They will not be hidden from His eyes.
[14]He appointed a ruler for every nation,
But Israel is the Lord’s portion.
[15]All His works are as the sun before Him,
And His eyes are continually on their ways.
[16]Their wrongdoings are not hidden from Him,

And all their sins are before the Lord.
17A man’s almsgiving is like a seal with Him,
And He will treasure the kindness of a man like the pupil of His eye.
18After this He will arise and repay them,
And He will reward them with retribution on their head.
19But He provides a return to those who repent,
And He comforts those who lack endurance.

Return to the Lord

20Turn to the Lord and forsake your sins,
And pray in His presence and reduce your offense.
21Return to the Most High and turn away from wrongdoing,
And hate an abomination exceedingly.
22Who will praise the Most High in Hades,
As do the living and those who give thanks?
23Thanksgiving ceases from a dead man since he is no longer alive;
Only the living and the healthy will praise the Lord.
24How great the mercy of the Lord is,
And His atonement for those who turn to Him.
25For all things are not possible for man,
Because a son of man is not immortal.
26What shines brighter than the sun? Yet this light fails,
And so will flesh and blood when it lays evil to heart.
27He examines the host of the highest heaven,
But all men are earth and ashes.

Wisdom of Sirach 18

A Song of God’s Mercy

1He who lives forever created everything;

2The Lord alone will be declared righteous.
3He permitted no one to proclaim His works,

For who can trace out His mighty works?
4Who will measure His majestic power with a number,
And who will add to this measure
While describing His mercies?
5There is no one who can add or subtract,
And there is no one who can search out the wonders of the Lord.
6When a man completes his search, then he starts over;
And when he stops, he will still be perplexed.
7What is man and what use is he;
What is his good and what is his evil?
8The number of a man's days is considered great
If he is one hundred years old.
9But like a drop of water from the sea and a grain of sand,
So are a few years within a day of eternity.
10Therefore the Lord is patient with them
And pours out His mercy upon them.
11He sees and knows their end, that it is evil;
Therefore He makes full atonement for them.
12The mercy of a man is upon his neighbor,
But the mercy of the Lord is upon all flesh,
Rebuking, training, and teaching them
Like a shepherd who returns his flock to the fold.
13He has mercy on those who receive His discipline
And who are eager for His judgments.

Take Care to Be Wise

14My son, do not bring disgrace on the good you have done,
Nor cause grief by your words when you make a gift.
15Does not dew give relief from the burning heat?
In the same way, a word is better than a gift.
16Indeed, is not a word better than a fitting gift?
And both are found in a gracious man.
17A fool will insult and disgrace someone,
And the gift of an envious man makes his eyes waste away.
18Before you speak, learn,
And before you get sick, take care of your health.

19 Before you make a judgment, examine yourself closely,
And in the hour of visitation you will find atonement.
20 Before you become sick, humble yourself;
And at the time of sinning, prove your conversion.
21 Let nothing hinder you from paying a vow promptly,
And do not wait until death to become righteous.
22 Before you make a vow, prepare yourself;
And do not become like a man who tempts the Lord.
23 Remember His anger on the day of your death,
At the time of vengeance, when He turns His face away.
24 Remember the time of hunger in the time of plenty,
And poverty and need in the days of wealth.
25 From morning until evening, time changes;
And all things are soon in the presence of the Lord.
26 A wise man will have the fear of God in everything he does;
And in these days of sin, he will guard against wrongdoing.
27 Every intelligent man knows wisdom
And praises the one who finds her.
28 The wise in words—they also make others wise,
And they pour forth accurate proverbs.

Self-Control

29 Do not walk after your own desires,
But restrain your appetites.
30 If you fill your soul with the desire for pleasure,
It will make you the laughingstock of your enemies.
31 Do not rejoice in great luxury,
Lest you become needy by its expense.
32 Do not become a beggar by feasting on borrowed money
When you have nothing in your purse.

Wisdom of Sirach 19

The Reckless Soul

[1]A working man who is a drunk will not become wealthy,

And he who despises small things will fail little by little.
[2]Wine and women will draw away intelligent men,
And he who joins himself to prostitutes shall become very reckless.
[3]Decay and worms will inherit him,
And his reckless soul will be carried away.

Don’t Gossip

[4]He who trusts quickly is unwise in heart,
And he who sins will err against his own soul.
[5]He who rejoices in evil shall be condemned,
[6]And he who hates talkativeness will sin less.
[7]Never repeat a word and you will lose nothing at all;
[8]With friend or enemy, do not report it,
And unless it is a sin for you, do not reveal it.
[9]For someone heard you and watched you,
And in time will hate you.
[10]Have you heard a word? Let it die with you.
Take courage; it will not burst you.
[11]But a fool will suffer birth-pangs because of such a word,
Like a woman in labor with a child.
[12]Like an arrow stuck in the flesh of a thigh,
So is a word inside a fool.
[13]Question a friend; perhaps he did not do it.
And if he did something, perhaps he will not repeat it.
[14]Question a neighbor; perhaps he did not say it.
And if he did say it, may he not say it twice.
[15]Question a friend, for often it is slander.
So do not believe every word.
[16]A person slips, but it was not his intention;
For who has not sinned with his tongue?
[17]Question your neighbor before you threaten him,
And give place to the law of the Most High.

The Wise and the Clever

18 All wisdom is the fear of the Lord,
And in all wisdom there is the doing of the Law.
19 Wisdom is not the knowledge of evil,
Nor is there discernment in the counsel of sinners.
20 There is a cleverness that is an abomination,
And there is a fool who is lacking in wisdom.
21 Better is a man who is afraid but lacks understanding,
Than a man who abounds in discernment but transgresses the law.
22 There is a precise cleverness which itself is unjust;
And there is one who is offensive that justice may be revealed.
23 There is an evildoer bowed down in mourning,
But inwardly he is full of deceit.
24 He covers his face and pretends to be deaf,
But when no one notices, he will take advantage of you.
25 If he is prevented from sinning because he lacks strength,
When he later finds an opportunity, he will do evil.
26 A man will be known by his appearance,
And a man of intelligence will be known
By his countenance when you meet him.
27 The clothing of a man and the way he laughs and walks
Give indication of who he is.

Wisdom of Sirach 20

When to Speak

1 There is a rebuke which is not timely,

And there is he who is silent but has discernment.
2 How much better it is to rebuke than to seethe with anger.
3 He who confesses his fault will be kept from loss.
4 Like the desire of a eunuch to violate a maiden,
So is the man who executes justice by violence.
5 There is a man who is silent but is found to be wise,
And there is a man who is hateful because he talks too much.

6 There is a man who is silent because he has no answer,
And there is a man who is silent because he knows when to speak.
7 A wise man will keep silent until it is the right time to speak,
But an arrogant and undiscerning man will speak out of turn.
8 The man who talks too much will be detested,
And the man who stands on his rights will be hated.

Buying and Selling

9 There is prosperity in the midst of adversities,
But there is also a sum realized by a sale for a loss.
10 There is a gift that will not profit you,
And there is a gift where the repayment is double.
11 There is a loss because of glory,
And there is a man who raises his head from a humble state.
12 There is a man who buys much with little,
But pays for it sevenfold.
13 A wise man will make himself beloved through his words,
But the kindnesses of fools will be forgotten.
14 The gift of a senseless man will not benefit you,
For his eyes are many instead of one.
15 He will give little but insult much,
And he will open his mouth like a herald.
Today he will lend but tomorrow he will demand it back;
Such a man is hateful.

A Man without Grace

16 A fool will say, “I have no friend,
And I get no thanks for my good deeds.
17 Those who eat my bread are worthless in their speech.”
How many will laugh scornfully at him, and how often?
18 A slip on the ground is better than a slip of the tongue;
Thus the downfall of evil will come speedily.
19 A man without grace is like a story told at the wrong time;
It will continue on the lips of the ignorant.
20 A parable from the lips of a fool will be rejected,

For he does not tell it at its proper time.

Commentary on Sinners

[21]There is one who is hindered from sinning because of his poverty,
So when he rests, he will not be pierced with sorrow.
[22]There is one who may lose his life through shame,
Or lose it because of his foolish countenance.
[23]There is one who makes a promise to a friend because of shame,
And needlessly gains him as an enemy.
[24]A lie is an evil disgrace in a man;
It will continue on the lips of the ignorant.
[25]A thief is preferable to a continual liar;
Both, however, will inherit destruction.
[26]The character of a liar brings dishonor,
And his shame is continually with him.

Ways of the Wise

[27]A wise man will advance himself with his words,
And a man with discernment will please great men.
[28]A man who works the earth will raise up his harvest,
And he who pleases great men will atone for wrongdoing.
[29]Presents and gifts blind the eyes of the wise,
And like a muzzle on the mouth they turn aside rebukes.
[30]Wisdom hidden and unseen treasure:
What profit is there in either of them?
[31]Better is the man who hides his foolishness
Than a man who hides his wisdom.

Wisdom of Sirach 21

Flee from Sin

[1]My son, have you sinned?
No longer add to them, but pray about your former sins.

2 Flee from sin as you would from the presence of a snake,
For if you approach it, it will bite you;
Its teeth are like lion's teeth, destroying the souls of men.
3 All lawlessness is like a two-edged sword,
For there is no healing from its wound.
4 Panic and violence will lay waste to wealth.
Likewise, the house of an arrogant man will be laid waste.
5 The prayer of a poor man goes from his mouth to God's ears,
And His judgment comes speedily.
6 Whoever hates rebuke walks in the steps of a sinner,
But he who fears the Lord will return to Him with his heart.
7 A man powerful in speech is known from afar,
But an intelligent man knows when he slips.
8 He who builds his house with other people's money
Is like a man who gathers his stones in a storm.
9 The assembly of the lawless is like a bundle of kindling
Whose end is a flame of fire.
10 The way of sinners is paved with stones,
But at its end is the pit of Hades.

Wise or Foolish?

11 He who keeps the law controls his thoughts;
The end result of the fear of the Lord is wisdom.
12 He who is not astute cannot be taught,
But there is an astuteness that increases bitterness.
13 The knowledge of a wise man is like a flood,
And his counsel will flow abundantly as a fountain of life.
14 The inner workings of a fool are like a broken vessel,
For he will not hold onto any knowledge.
15 If a man of understanding hears a wise word,
He will praise it and add to it;
But if a self-indulgent man hears it, it displeases him,
And he turns his back on it.
16 The explanation of a fool is like a burden on a journey,
But grace will be on the lips of an intelligent man.
17 The utterance of a sensible person will be sought in the assembly,

And they will ponder his words in their heart.
18 Like a house that has disappeared,
So is wisdom to a fool,
And the knowledge of a foolish man is words
That will not stand up to examination.
19 To a foolish man, instruction is like chains on the feet
And like handcuffs on the right hand.
20 A fool raises his voice when he laughs,
But an astute man will smile quietly with some hesitation.
21 To a wise man instruction is like a golden ornament
And like a bracelet on the right arm.
22 The foot of a fool quickly enters a house,
But a man with much experience will stand respectfully outside.
23 A man without discernment peers into a house from the door,
But a well-educated man will stand outside.
24 A man shows his lack of education when he listens at the door,
But a prudent man will be grieved by this disgrace.
25 The lips of the unwise will describe things in detail,
But the words of the prudent will balance the scale.
26 The heart of fools is in their mouth,
But the mouth of the wise is in their heart.
27 When an ungodly man curses Satan,
He curses his own soul.
28 The whisperer defiles his own soul
And will be hated in his own neighborhood.

Wisdom of Sirach 22

1 A lazy man may be compared to a filthy stone,
And everyone hisses at his dishonor.
2 A lazy man may be compared to the filth of manure;
Everyone who picks it up will shake it off his hand.

A Father's Disgrace

3 The disgrace of a father is begetting an undisciplined son,
And a foolish daughter is born to his loss.
4 A sensible daughter will bring an inheritance to her husband,
But a shameful one is a grief to her father.
5 An arrogant daughter shames both father and husband,
And she will be dishonored by both.
6 An ill-timed statement is like mournful music,
But the chastising and instruction of wisdom are always timely.

The Fool

7 He who teaches a fool is like one who glues pottery together,
Or like trying to arouse one from a sound sleep.
8 He who tells something to a fool tells it to a drowsy man,
And at the end he will say, "What is it?"
9 If children live honestly, and have wherewithal,
They shall cover the baseness of their parents.
10 But children, being haughty, through disdain and want of nurture
Stain the nobility of their kindred.
11 Weep for a dead man, for he left the light behind;
But weep over a fool, for he left intelligence behind.
Weep gladly for a dead man, because he is at rest;
But the life of the fool is worse than death.
12 Mourning for a dead man lasts seven days,
But mourning for a fool or an ungodly man lasts all his life.
13 Do not hold a conversation with a fool,
And do not visit with a senseless man.
Beware of him, so as to avoid trouble,
And you will not be defiled when he shakes himself off.
Stay away from him, and you will find rest
And not be exhausted by his insanity.
14 What will be heavier than lead?
And what will be his name but "Fool"?
15 Sand, salt, and a piece of iron are easier to bear

Than a senseless man.
16A wooden beam bound together in a building
Will not be broken loose in an earthquake;
So a heart strengthened by reasonable counsel
Will not be afraid in a crisis.
17A heart settled on intelligent thought
Is like a plaster decoration on a smooth wall.
18As fences set on a high place will not stand firm against the wind,
So a cowardly heart in the thought of a fool
Cannot stand firm against any kind of fear.

Building Friendships

19He who pokes his eye will cause tears to fall,
And he who pierces a heart reveals its feeling.
20Throwing a rock at birds scares them away,
And disgracing a friend will break up a friendship.
21If you draw a sword against a friend,
Do not despair, for a restoration of friendship is possible.
22If you open your mouth against a friend,
Do not worry, for reconciliation is possible.
But as for reviling or arrogance or revealing secrets or a treacherous blow—with behavior like this any friend will flee.
23Gain your neighbor’s trust when he is poor,
So you may be fulfilled with him when he prospers.
Stand by him in his time of trouble,
That when he gets his inheritance, you may share it with him.
24As the smoke and vapor of a furnace precede a fire,
So abuses precede bloodshed.
25I will not be ashamed to shelter a friend,
And I will not hide from his face.
26If anything bad happens to me because of him,
Everyone who hears about it will beware of him.
27Who will set a guard over my mouth,
And a prudent seal over my lips,
That I may not fall because of them,

And that my tongue may not destroy me?

Wisdom of Sirach 23

A Prayer for Wisdom

[1]O Lord, Father and Master of my life,

Do not leave me to their counsel,
Nor let me fall because of them.
[2]Who will set whips over my thoughts
And the discipline of wisdom over my heart,
So they may not spare me in my errors,
Nor neglect me in my sins?
[3]Lest my mistakes be multiplied
And my sins abound.
Then I would not fall before my adversaries,
And my enemy would not rejoice over me.
[4]O Lord, Father and the God of my life, do not give me haughty eyes,
[5]But turn me away from evil desire.
[6]Do not let gluttony or lust overcome me,
Nor give me up to a shameless soul.

Warning to Children

[7]My children, hear the teaching of my mouth,
For he who keeps it will not be conquered.
[8]A sinner will be overtaken by his lips,
And a slanderer and arrogant man will be made to stumble by them.
[9]Do not accustom your mouth to vows,
Nor make a habit of using the name of the Holy One.
[10]For as a servant who is continually beaten will not lack bruises,
So also he who makes a vow and continually names the Holy One
Will never be cleansed from sin.

[11]A man who swears many oaths will be filled with lawlessness,
And that plague will not depart from his house.
If he offends, his sin will be on him,
And if he overlooks it, he has sinned doubly.
If he swears in vain, he will not be declared righteous,
For his house will be filled with trouble.
[12]There is a way of speaking comparable to death.
May it not be found in the inheritance of Jacob;
For all these things will be far from the godly,
And they will not be involved in sins.
[13]Do not accustom your mouth to lewd expressions,
For this is sinful speech.
[14]Remember your father and mother
When you sit in council with great men,
Lest you forget yourself in their presence
And by habit act foolishly.
Then you will wish you had never been born,
And you will curse the day of your birth.
[15]A man accustomed to abusive words
Will never discipline himself as long as he lives.

Men of Sin

[16]Two kinds of men multiply sins,
And a third kind will bring down wrath:
[17]A soul heated like a burning fire
Will not be quenched until it is consumed;
A man whose whole body is given to fornication
Will not cease until the fire burns out.
To a man who is a fornicator, all bread is sweet.
He will not grow weary until he dies.
[18]The man who transgresses against his marriage bed
Says to himself, “Who sees me?
Darkness encircles me.
The walls of my house hide me,
And no one sees me.
Why should I be afraid?

The Most High will not remember my sins.”
19His fear is the eyes of men.
Yet he does not know that the eyes of the Lord
Are ten thousand times brighter than the sun
And look upon all the ways of men,
And observe even the secret places.
20Before all things were created,
Everything was known to Him,
And the end of all things is also known to Him.
21This adulterer will be punished in the city streets,
And where he does not suspect it, he will be seized.

Women of Sin

22So also the woman who forsook her husband
And brought in an heir by another man.
23For she first disobeyed the law of the Most High;
And second, she transgressed against her husband;
And third, in her fornication she committed adultery
And bore children by a stranger.
24She will be brought before the assembly,
And there shall be a visitation of her children.
25Her children will not take root,
And her branches will not bear fruit.
26She will leave behind her memory as a curse,
And her disgrace will not be blotted out.
27Those left behind will know
There is nothing better than the fear of the Lord;
And there is nothing sweeter
Than to give heed to the Lord’s commandments.

Wisdom of Sirach 24

In Praise of Wisdom

1Wisdom will praise herself,
And in the midst of her people she will boast.

2 In the assembly of the Most High, she will open her mouth
And boast in the presence of His host.

3 “I came forth from the mouth of the Most High
And covered the earth like a mist.
4 I pitched my tent in the high places
And my throne on the pillar of cloud.
5 I alone encircle the ring of heaven,
And I walk in the depth of the abyss.
6 In the waves of the sea, in all the earth,
And in every people and nation
I have gained a possession.
7 With all these, I have sought a place to rest;
In what inheritance will I lodge?

8 “Then the Creator of all things commanded me,
And He who created me gave me a place to live.
He said, ‘Pitch your tent in Jacob
And receive an inheritance in Israel.’
9 Before the age, He created me from the beginning,
And in the age to come I will not cease.
10 I serve before Him in His holy tabernacle;
Therefore, I am established in Zion.
11 In the beloved city likewise He gives me rest,
And my authority is in Jerusalem.
12 I am firmly rooted among an honored people,
Among the Lord’s portion, His inheritance.

13 “Like a cedar tree I was raised on high in Lebanon,
Like a cypress tree in the mountains of Hermon.
14 I was exalted like a palm tree in En-Gedi
And like rose bushes in Jericho;
I was exalted like a beautiful olive tree in the plain
And grew tall like a plane-tree.
15 I gave forth the fragrance of aromatic spices
Like cinnamon and camel-thorn,
And I spread a fragrance like choice myrrh,
And like galbanum, onyx, and oil of myrrh,

And like the fragrance of frankincense in the tabernacle.
16I spread forth my branches like a terebinth tree,
And my branches were glory and grace.
17I yield grace like a vine,
And my flowers produce the fruit of glory and riches.
18I am the mother of fair love, and fear, and knowledge, and holy hope:
I therefore, being eternal, am given to all my children who are named by Him.

19"Come to me, you who desire me,
And take your fill of my fruits.
20For the remembrance of me is sweeter than honey,
And my inheritance is sweeter than the honeycomb.
21Those who eat me will hunger for more,
And those who drink me will thirst for more.
22He who obeys me will not be put to shame,
And those who work with me will not sin."

23All this is the book of the covenant of the Most High God —
The law Moses commanded us,
The inheritance of the congregations of Jacob.
24Faint not to be strong in the Lord;
That He may confirm you, cleave unto Him:
For the Lord Almighty is God alone,
And beside Him there is no other Savior.
25This law fills men with wisdom,
Like the Pishon and the Tigris at the time of firstfruits;
26And it fills them with understanding,
Like the Euphrates and the Jordan at the time of harvest.
27This law shines forth instruction like light,
Like the Gihon in the days of vintage.
28As the first man did not know wisdom perfectly,
So the last man has not searched out her depths.
29For her thoughts are deeper than the sea
And her counsel than the great abyss.
30I went forth like a canal from a river

And like an aqueduct into a garden.
31I said, “I will water my garden
And drench the garden beds.”
And behold, my canal became a river,
And my river became a sea.
32I will yet make instruction shine like the morning,
And I will make it shine far away.
33I will yet pour forth teaching like prophecy,
And I will leave it behind for future generations.
34As you can see, I have not labored for myself alone,
But for all who seek wisdom.

Wisdom of Sirach 25

Numbered Sayings

1There are three things beautiful to see,
And they are beautiful before the Lord and men:
The harmony of brothers, friendship between neighbors,
And a wife and husband well-adjusted together.
2My soul hates three kinds of men,
And I am very offended with their lifestyle:
A beggar who is arrogant, a rich man who is a liar,
And an old man who is an adulterer and lacks understanding.

Wisdom of the Aged

3If you have gathered nothing in your youth,
How can you find anything in your old age?
4Judgment is like beauty in gray hair,
And in elders, it is to know counsel.
5Wisdom is like the beauty of old men,
And in those who are glorious, it is understanding and counsel.
6The crown of old men is great experience,
For their boast is the fear of the Lord.

Ten Blessings

7 In my heart I have blessed nine suppositions,
And I will mention a tenth:
A father who delights in his children;
A man who lives to see the downfall of his enemies;
8 A husband who is blessed to live with an understanding wife;
A man who does not slip with his tongue;
A man who has not served a man less worthy than himself;
9 A man who is blessed to find discernment;
A man who is blessed to speak to ears that listen;
10 And a man who has found wisdom—how blessed he is!
But there is no one greater than a man who fears the Lord.
11 The fear of the Lord is more important than anything.
To what will it be compared?

An Evil Wife

12 Any wound, but not a wound of the heart!
Any evil, but not an evil wife!
13 Any misery, but not the misery of those who hate me!
Any vengeance, but not the vengeance of enemies!
14 There is no head worse than the head of a snake,
And there is no anger worse than the anger of an enemy.
15 I would rather live with a lion or a snake than with an evil wife.
16 The evil of a wife changes her appearance
And darkens her face like that of a bear.
17 Her husband will go to his neighbors for meals,
And he sighs bitterly and involuntarily.
18 Any evil is small compared to the evil of a wife.
May the portion of a sinner fall upon her!
19 A sandy hill of ascent for the feet of an old man—
Such is an overly talkative wife to a quiet husband.
20 Do not fall for the beauty of a woman,
And do not long for her beauty.
21 There is wrath, insolence, and great shame

When a wife supports her husband.
22 A downcast heart, a sad face, and a wounded heart
Are caused by an evil wife.
Drooping hands and weakened knees
Are caused by a wife who does not make her husband happy.
23 Sin had its beginning from a wife,
And because of her we all die.
24 Do not give water an outlet,
Nor boldness to an evil wife.
25 If she does not follow your good leadership,
Cut her off from yourself.

Wisdom of Sirach 26

A Good Wife

1 Happy is the husband of a good wife;

The number of his days will be doubled.
2 A courageous wife makes her husband glad,
And his years will be full of peace.
3 A good wife is a good portion,
And she will be given in the portion
Of those who fear the Lord.
4 The good heart of a rich or a poor man
Is a cheerful face at all times.

Fallen Womanhood

5 My heart fears because of three things,
And I pray to God concerning a fourth:
The slander of a city, the gathering of a mob,
And a false accusation—all these are worse than death.
6 There is also pain of heart and sorrow
When a wife is jealous over another woman,
And a tongue-lashing makes it known to all.
7 An evil wife is like an ox-yoke that shakes to and fro,
And to take hold of her is like grabbing a scorpion.

[8]A drunken wife is very wrathful,
And she will not conceal her shame.
[9]The fornication of a wife will be known
By her haughty looks and her eyelids.
[10]Keep strong watch over a headstrong daughter,
Lest she find some liberty and make the most of it.
[11]Be on guard against her shameless eye,
And do not be amazed if she trespasses against you.
[12]Her mouth will open like a thirsty traveler's
And drink from any water nearby.
She will sit down before every tent peg
And open her quiver to any arrow.

A Blessed Wife

[13]A wife's grace will delight her husband,
And her skill will put fat on his bones.
[14]A silent wife is a gift from the Lord,
And there is nothing worth as much as a disciplined soul.
[15]A modest wife is blessing upon blessing,
And there is no scale adequate to weigh a self-controlled soul.
[16]Like the sun rising in the Lord's heaven
Is the beauty of a good wife in the ordering of her house.
[17]Like a lamp shining on the holy lampstand
Is the beauty of a countenance in the prime of life.
[18]Beautiful feet with a steady heart
Are like golden pillars on a silver base.

Three Griefs

[19]My heart is grieved by two things,
And because of a third, anger arises within me:
A man of war in want because of poverty;
Men of intelligence who suffer contempt;
And a man who turns back from righteousness to sin.
The Lord will prepare this one for the sword.

The Merchant

20 With difficulty a merchant will deliver himself from wrongdoing,
And a peddler will not be acquitted from sin.

Wisdom of Sirach 27

1 Many have sinned to make a profit,
And he who seeks riches will turn away his eyes.
2 As a stake will be driven tightly between fitted stones,
So sin will be wedged between selling and buying.
3 If a man does not hold steadfastly to the fear of the Lord,
His house will be soon overturned.

Tested by Reason

4 When a sieve is shaken, the refuse remains;
So a man's filth remains in the way he reasons.
5 As a furnace tests a potter's vessels,
So the test of a man is in the way he reasons.
6 As fruit reveals how a tree is cultivated,
So a man's reasoning process reveals his heart.
7 Do not praise a man before he reveals the way he reasons,
For this is the way a man is tested.
8 If you pursue righteousness, you will attain it
And put it on like a glorious robe.
9 As birds flock with their own kind,
So also truth will return to those who practice it.
10 As a lion lies in wait for his prey,
So sin lies in wait for those who do wrong.

Speaking Wisely

11 The talk of a godly man is always wise,
But a fool changes like the moon.
12 Among senseless men, limit your time;

Instead, spend it with men of understanding.
13 The talk of fools is offensive,
And they laugh at the lewdness of sin.
14 Speech filled with swearing will make one's hair stand on end,
And quarreling will make one stop his ears.
15 The quarreling of the arrogant leads to bloodshed,
And their abusive language is hard on the ears.
16 He who reveals secrets destroys his credibility,
And he will not find a friend for life.
17 Love your friend,
And be trustworthy with him;
But if you reveal his secrets, do not pursue him closely.
18 For as surely as a man has destroyed his enemy,
So you have destroyed the friendship of your neighbor.
19 As you might release a bird from your hand,
So you have let your neighbor go;
And you will not catch him.
20 Do not pursue him, for he has withdrawn far away
And has escaped like a deer from a snare.
21 For a wound can be bandaged and an insult forgiven,
But anyone who reveals secrets is without hope.
22 He who winks with his eye plots evil deeds,
And no one can draw him away from them.
23 His speech will be sweet in your presence,
And he will marvel at your words;
But later his speech will distort what you said,
And he will cause trouble with your words.
24 I hate many things, but none in comparison to him;
And the Lord will hate him.

Consequences of Sin

25 He who throws a stone into the air
Throws it on his head,
And a treacherous blow will distribute wounds.
26 He who digs a pit will fall into it,
And he who sets a snare will be caught in it.

27 He who does evil things will have it roll back on him,
And he will not know what hit him.
28 Mockery and abuse come back on an arrogant man,
And vengeance lies in wait for him like a lion.
29 Those who rejoice at the fall of the godly
Will be caught in a trap,
And pain will consume them before their death.
30 Anger and wrath, these are also abominations,
And a sinful man shall possess both.

Wisdom of Sirach 28

1 He who seeks revenge will find it from the Lord,
And He will surely punish his sins.

Showing Mercy

2 Forgive a wrong done you by your neighbor;
Then your sins will be pardoned when you pray.
3 Can a man preserve wrath against his neighbor
And still seek healing from the Lord?
4 Can he show no mercy toward a man like himself
And still beg God for mercy for himself?
5 If he being flesh keeps his anger continually,
Who will atone for his sins?
6 Remember the end of your life
And cease from enmity;
Remember destruction and death
And stand fast in the commandments.
7 Remember the commandments
And do not vent your wrath against your neighbor;
Remember the covenant of the Most High
And overlook faults.

Cease Quarreling and Evil Talk

8 Refrain from quarreling and you will decrease your sins,

For a man who is hot-tempered will kindle quarreling.
9 A sinful man will trouble his friends,
And among those who live in peace he will inject unfriendliness.
10 The heat of a fire will be kindled according to the amount of wood;
So also the heat of a fire will be kindled according to the obstinacy of quarreling.
According to the strength of a man, so his anger shall be;
And according to his wealth, he will increase his wrath.
11 A hasty quarrel kindles a fire,
And a vigorous quarrel sheds blood.
12 If you blow on a spark, it will kindle a fire,
But if you spit on it, it will be quenched;
Yet both come out of your mouth.
13 Curse a slanderous and deceitful man,
For he has destroyed many who were at peace.
14 Slander has unsettled many
And scattered them from nation to nation;
And it has destroyed strong cities
And overturned the houses of great men.
15 Slander has driven away courageous women
And robbed them of their labors.
16 He who devotes himself to slander will not find rest,
Nor shall he dwell in quietness.
17 The blow from a whip causes a wound,
But a blow from the tongue breaks bones.
18 Many have fallen by the edge of the sword,
But not so many as those who have fallen because of the tongue.
19 Blessed is the man who is sheltered from it,
Who has not passed through the anger of the tongue;
Who does not drag its yoke
And is not bound by its chains.
20 For its yoke is a yoke of iron,
And its chains are chains of bronze.
21 Its death is an evil death,
And Hades is preferable to it.

22 An evil tongue will not prevail over the godly,
And they will not be burned in its flame.
23 Those who forsake the Lord will fall into it,
And among them it will be kindled;
And it will not be quenched.
It will set upon them like a lion,
And like a leopard it will mangle them.
24 See that you fence in your possessions with thorns;
Lock up your silver and gold.
25 Make balances and scales for your words
And bar and bolt the door of your mouth.
26 Beware lest you make a slip with your tongue,
Lest you fall victim before him who lies in wait.

Loans and Gifts

1 He who shows mercy will lend to his neighbor,

And he who makes him strong with a helping hand
Keeps the commandments.
2 Lend to your neighbor in the time of his need,
And when you borrow, repay your neighbor on time.
3 Keep your word and be trustworthy with him,
And on every occasion you will find what you need.
4 Many men, supposing a loan is like a windfall,
Cause trouble to those who help them.
5 He will kiss the lender's hand until he receives the loan,
And to get his neighbor's money he will lower his voice;
But at the time of repayment, he will put it off,
And repay only with words of indifference,
And blame the times.
6 If the lender is firm with him, he will barely get back half the loan,
And will consider it as a windfall.
If the borrower does not repay anything,

He has robbed him of his money,
And needlessly made him an enemy.
The lender will then repay him with curses and insults,
And dishonor instead of glory.
7Many men, not because they are evil,
Have refused to lend;
They have become afraid of being needlessly robbed.
8However, be patient with a man of humble circumstances,
And do not keep him waiting for your alms.
9Because of the commandment, help a poor man,
And in his need, do not turn him away empty.
10Lose your money for the sake of a brother and friend;
Do not let it rust under a stone and be lost.
11Lay up your treasure according to the commandments of the Most High,
For this will profit you more than gold.
12Store alms in your storerooms,
And they will deliver you from all affliction.
13More than a mighty shield and better than a strong spear
Almsgiving will fight for you against your enemy.
14A good man will go surety for his neighbor,
But a man who has lost his sense of shame will forsake him.
15Do not forget the kindness his surety has done for you,
For he has given his life for you.
16A sinner will overthrow the good things of his surety,
And the ungrateful man will forsake his deliverer on purpose.
17Suretyship has destroyed many prosperous men
And tossed them about like waves of the sea.
18Suretyship has driven influential men from their homes,
And they have wandered among foreign nations.
19The sinner who chances upon suretyship
And the man who pursues profit-taking will fall into judgment.
20Help your neighbor according to your ability,
But watch out for yourself lest you fall.
21The principle of life is water, bread, and clothing,
And a house that offers privacy.

22 The life of a poor man under a shelter of logs
Is better than great food in another man's house.
23 Be content with little or much,
And you will not hear your guest insulted.
24 Going from house to house is a bad way to live,
And where you are visiting, you dare not open your mouth.
25 You will entertain guests and give drink to the ungrateful,
And besides this you will hear bitter words:
26 "Come here, stranger; set the table,
And if you have any food at hand, feed me."
27 "Get out, stranger, somebody more important is here;
My brother has come as my guest;
I need my house."
28 These things are hard for a sensible man to take:
The rebuke of a household and the abuse of a creditor.

Wisdom of Sirach 30

Raising Children

1 The man who loves his son will chastise him often,

So he may rejoice in him in his later years.
2 He who disciplines his son will profit by him
And boast of him among acquaintances.
3 The man who teaches his son will make his enemy jealous
And will rejoice exceedingly over him among friends.
4 When his father dies, it is as though he is not dead,
For he left behind one like himself.
5 While he lived, he saw and rejoiced in him,
And when he died, he was not grieved.
6 Before his enemies, he left behind an avenger,
And to his friends one who repays favors.
7 He who spoils his son will bandage his wounds,
And at every cry his heart will ache.
8 A horse not broken turns out to be stubborn,
And a son allowed to run wild turns out to be headstrong.

9 Pamper a child, and he will frighten you;
Play with him, and he will grieve you.
10 Do not laugh with him, lest you suffer with him
And gnash your teeth over him at last.
11 Do not give him authority while he is young.
12 Bruise his ribs when he is young,
Lest he become stubborn and disobey you.
13 Discipline your son and work with him,
So he will not embarrass you with his behavior.

Good Health

14 A poor man with good health is better off
Than a rich man afflicted in his body.
15 Health and vigor are better than all gold,
And a strong body than immense wealth.
16 There are no riches greater than health of body,
And there is no gladness above joy of heart.
17 Death is better than a wretched life,
And eternal rest is better than chronic sickness.
18 Good things set out before a closed mouth
Are like offerings of food put on a grave.
19 What use is an offering of fruit to an idol?
For it can neither eat nor smell.
So is a man afflicted by the Lord:
20 He sees with his eyes and groans,
Like a eunuch embracing a virgin.

Gladness of Heart

21 Do not give yourself over to sorrow,
And do not distress yourself deliberately.
22 Gladness of the heart is the life of man,
And rejoicing by a man lengthens his life.
23 Love your soul and comfort your heart,
And put sorrow far away from you;
For sorrow has destroyed many,
And there is no profit in it.

24 Envy and anger will shorten your days,
And worry will bring premature old age.
25 A man with a good and cheerful heart
Will pay attention to the food he eats.

Wisdom of Sirach 31

Be Wise with Wealth

1 Losing sleep over wealth wastes away the body,

And anxiety about wealth removes sleep.
2 Sleepless anxiety will drive away slumber,
And severe illness makes an end to sleep.
3 A rich man labors to gather money,
And when he rests he fills himself with his luxuries.
4 A poor man labors to make a meager living,
And when he rests he becomes needy.
5 He who loves gold will not be called righteous,
And he who pursues profit will be led astray by it.
6 Many are driven to calamity for the sake of gold,
And their destruction has met them face to face.
7 It is a stumbling block for those possessed by it,
And every senseless man will be trapped by it.
8 Blessed is a rich man who is found blameless
And does not chase after gold.
9 Who is he? And we shall call him blessed,
For he has worked wonders among his people.
10 Who has been tested by it and found perfect?
He has ground for boasting.
Who was able to transgress but did not transgress?
Who was able to commit evil but did not do it?
11 His good things will be strengthened,
And the assembly will talk of his almsgiving.

Food and Drink

12 Are you seated at table with a great man?
Do not gluttonize, and do not say,
“How much food there is upon your table!”
13 Remember that a greedy eye is a vice.
What has been created worse than the eye?
Therefore it sheds tears on every face.
14 Do not stretch out your hand for everything you see,
And do not crowd another at the dish.
15 Understand the things of your neighbor by your own,
And in every matter be considerate.
16 Eat what is set before you like a human being,
And do not devour your food, lest you be despised.
17 Be the first to stop eating for the sake of discipline,
And do not be greedy, so as not to cause offense.
18 And if you are seated in a large group of people,
Do not reach out your hand before they do.
19 How small an amount is sufficient for a man with discipline!
And he does not gasp for breath on his bed.
20 Healthy sleep depends on moderate eating,
And he rises early and in good spirits;
But the distress of sleeplessness, nausea, and indigestion
Are with the glutton.
21 If you are stuffed with food,
Get up in the middle of the meal and stop eating.
22 Listen to me, my child, and do not disregard me,
And you will find my words to be important.
In all your works be prepared,
And no sickness will overtake you.
23 Lips will bless a man generous with his food,
And their witness to his goodness is trustworthy.
24 A city will grumble against the man stingy with his food,
And their witness to his stinginess is accurate.
25 Do not get your courage from wine,
For wine has destroyed many men.
26 As a furnace tests steel in the tempering process,
So wine tests hearts in the quarrels of the arrogant.

27 Wine is like life to men,
If you drink it in moderation.
What is life without wine?
For it was created to give gladness to men.
28 Wine drunk at the proper time and with temperance
Is joyfulness of heart and gladness of soul.
29 Drinking too much wine is bitterness of soul,
With irritation and occasion for stumbling and falling.
30 Drunkenness increases the anger of a senseless man to his own hurt,
Reducing his strength and adding to his wounds.
31 Do not rebuke your neighbor at a wine party,
And do not despise him when he is enjoying himself.
Do not speak a word of insult against him,
And do not afflict him by making demands of him.

Hosting a Banquet

1 Did they appoint you as leader of the banquet?

Do not exalt yourself.
Among them be as one of them.
Take care of them and only then be seated.
2 Then having fulfilled all your duties, take your place,
That you may make merry for their sake,
And receive a crown because of your orderly behavior.
3 Speak, O elder, for this is fitting for you to do so with accurate knowledge;
But do not interrupt the music.
4 Where there is entertainment, do not pour out talk,
And do not display your cleverness at the wrong time.
5 A concert of music at a banquet of wine
Is like a seal of ruby in a gold ornament.
6 A seal of emerald in a gold setting
Is the melody of music with delicious wine.

7 Speak, young man, if there is need of you,
But no more than twice, and only if you are asked repeatedly.
8 Be brief; say much in a few words.
Act like a man who knows, yet holds his tongue.
9 Among the great do not act as their equal,
And when another is speaking, do little talking.
10 Lightning flashes before thunder,
And favor goes before a modest man.
11 Rise to leave in good time, and do not lag behind.
Run home and do not be remiss.
12 Amuse yourself there, and do what you intend,
But do not sin by speaking arrogantly;
13 And for these things, bless Him who created you
And satisfies you with His good things.

Wise and Sinful Men

14 The man who fears the Lord will receive instruction,
And those who rise early will find His approval.
15 He who seeks the Law will be filled with it,
But the hypocrite will be made to stumble by it.
16 Those who fear the Lord will discover judgment,
And like the light they will kindle righteous deeds.
17 A sinful man will turn aside correction
And find a rationalization according to his will.
18 A man of counsel will not neglect thought,
But a strange and arrogant man does not tremble in fear.
19 Do nothing without counsel,
And when you have acted, do not regret it.
20 Do not walk a path filled with obstacles,
And do not trip over stony ground.
21 Do not put your trust in an unexplored way,
22 And keep watch because of your children.
23 In every work entrust your soul to the Lord,
For this is the keeping of the commandments.
24 He who believes in the Law heeds the commandments,
And he who trusts in the Lord will not suffer loss.

Wisdom of Sirach 33

1 Evil will not befall the man who fears the Lord,
But in trial He will deliver him again and again.
2 A wise man will not hate the law,
But he who pretends to keep it is like a ship in a storm.
3 A man of understanding will trust in the law,
And to him the law is trustworthy because it is a divine revelation.
4 Prepare what to say and thus you will be heard.
Draw on your training and make your reply.
5 The heart of a fool resembles a wagon wheel,
And his reasoning is like a turning axle.
6 A lusty stallion is like a mocking friend;
He impregnates everyone who sits under him.

Reflecting on Creation

7 Why is one day better than another,
When all the light of a day in the year is from the sun?
8 They were separated by the knowledge of the Lord,
And He changed the seasons and feasts.
9 Some days He exalted and sanctified,
And some days He made ordinary.
10 All men are from the ground,
For Adam was created from the earth.
11 In the fullness of knowledge the Lord separated them
And changed their paths.
12 Some days He blessed and exalted,
And some days He sanctified and drew near to Himself.
Some days He has cursed and humbled
And removed from their place.
13 All His ways are according to His good pleasure.
Like clay in a potter's hand,
Thus men are in the hand of Him who made them,
To render to them according to His judgment.

Opposites

[14]Good is the opposite of evil, and life is the opposite of death.
In the same way, a sinner is the opposite of a godly man.
[15]Look, therefore, upon all the works of the Most High:
They also come in pairs, one the opposite of the other.
[16]I kept the last watch like one gleaning after the harvest.
[17]By the blessing of the Lord I arrived in time,
And like a grape-picker I filled my winepress.
[18]Observe well that I did not labor for myself alone,
But for all who seek instruction.

Careful Leadership

[19]Hear me, you leaders of the people,
And you rulers of the assembly, listen to me.
[20]Do not give authority over yourself while you are still living
To your son or your wife, nor to your brother or a friend;
And do not give your property to another,
Lest you change your mind and need to beg for it.
[21]While you are still alive and there is breath in you,
Do not change places with anyone.
[22]For it is better that your children should ask from you
Than that you should look to the hands of your sons.
[23]Be outstanding in all your works;
Do not put a blemish on your reputation.
[24]On the day when the days of your life are fulfilled,
At the time of your death, distribute the inheritance.

Relating to Servants

[25]Fodder, the rod, and a burden are for a donkey,
And bread, instruction, and work are for a servant.
[26]Make a servant work, and you will find rest;
Leave his hands idle and he will seek freedom.
[27]Yoke and strap will bend the neck,

And racks and tortures are for an evil servant.
28 Put him to work that he may not be idle,
For idleness teaches much evil.
29 Set him to the work appropriate for him;
And if he is not obedient, put heavy chains on his feet.
30 And do not act superior toward any flesh,
And do nothing without judgment.
31 If you own a servant, let him be as yourself,
For with your blood you bought him.
32 If you own a servant, treat him as a brother.
For you will need him as your own soul.
33 If you treat him badly and he runs away,
Which way will you go look for him?

Wisdom of Sirach 34

Discerning Dreams

1 Vain hopes and lying belong to a man without understanding,

And dreams give wing to senseless men.
2 Like him who grasps after shadows and chases the wind,
So is he who pays attention to dreams.
3 The vision of dreams is this against that,
The likeness of a face opposite a face.
4 What will be cleansed from an unclean thing?
And what will be true from a false thing?
5 Divinations, omens, and dreams are worthless;
And like a woman in the pains of childbirth,
The heart becomes visible.
6 Unless visions are sent from the Most High in a visitation,
Do not give your heart to them.
7 For dreams have deceived many,
And those who hope in them have fallen away.
8 Without such lying, the law will be fulfilled,
And wisdom is perfection in the mouth of the faithful.

Benefits of Travel

9 A man who has traveled about knows many things,
And a man with much experience will speak with understanding.
10 A man who has not been tested knows little,
But he who has traveled about increases his astuteness.
11 I have seen many things in my travels,
And my understanding is more than I can express in words.
12 I have frequently been in danger of death,
But I have been saved because of these experiences.

The Blessings of God

13 The spirit of those who fear the Lord will live,
For their hope is in Him who saves them.
14 He who fears the Lord will fear nothing,
And he will not be cowardly, for the Lord is his hope.
15 Blessed is the soul of a man who fears the Lord.
To whom does he look? And who is his support?
16 The eyes of the Lord are upon those who love Him.
He is a powerful protection and a strong support:
A shelter from the burning heat,
A shelter from the noonday sun,
A guard from stumbling,
And help from a fall.
17 He raises up the soul
And gives light to the eyes.
He gives healing, life, and blessing.

Unacceptable Offerings

18 If a man sacrifices by means of wrongdoing,
The offering is a mockery,
And the gifts of the lawless are not accepted.
19 The Most High is not pleased with the offerings of the ungodly,
And a man does not atone for his sins with a multitude of sacrifices.

[20]He who offers a sacrifice from the property of the poor
Is like one who kills a son in the sight of his father.
[21]The bread of the needy is the life of the poor.
He who deprives them of it is a man of bloodshed.
[22]Whoever takes away his neighbor's livelihood murders him,
And whoever deprives a hired worker of his wages sheds his blood.
[23]If one builds up while another tears down,
What do they profit other than toil?
[24]If one prays while another curses,
Whose voice will the Lord hear?
[25]If a man washes himself after touching a corpse,
Then touches it again,
What does he profit by his washing?
[26]So it is with a man who fasts over his sins
And goes and does the same sins all over again.
Who will hear his prayer?
What does his humbling profit him?

Wisdom of Sirach 35

Acceptable Offerings

[1]The man who keeps the law will abound in offerings;

He who heeds the commandments sacrifices a peace offering.
[2]He who returns a kindness offers fine wheat flour,
And he who does alms sacrifices a praise offering.
[3]To forsake evil is pleasing to the Lord,
And to forsake wrongdoing is atonement.
[4]Do not appear before the Lord empty-handed,
For all these offerings are made because of the commandment.
[5]A righteous offering anoints the altar,
And its fragrance rises before the Most High.

6 The sacrifice of a righteous man is acceptable,
And its remembrance shall not be forgotten.
7 Glorify the Lord with your generosity,
And do not reduce the firstfruits of your hands.
8 In every gift let your face be cheerful,
And sanctify your tithe with gladness.
9 Give to the Most High as He has given to you,
And give to Him with generosity, according to your windfall.
10 For the Lord is He who repays,
And He will repay you sevenfold.

God's Justice and Mercy

11 Do not bribe Him, for He will not accept it;
And do not offer an unrighteous sacrifice.
12 For the Lord is the judge,
And there is no partiality with Him.
13 He will not show partiality to a poor man,
But He will hear the petition of him who is wronged.
14 He will not overlook the supplication of an orphan,
Nor a widow when she pours out her story.
15 Do not the tears of a widow run down her cheeks
As she cries out against him who caused them?
16 He whose service is pleasing to the Lord
Will be accepted by Him,
And his prayer will reach to the clouds.
17 The prayer of a humble man passes through the clouds,
And he will not be comforted until it reaches the Lord;
18 And he will not withdraw it until the Most High visits him,
Provides justice for the righteous,
And executes judgment.
19 So the Lord will not delay,
Neither will He be slow to help them,
20 Until He crushes the loins of the unmerciful
And repays vengeance upon the nations,
21 Until He destroys the multitude of the insolent
And crushes the scepter of the unrighteous,

22 Until He renders to a man according to his practices
And the works of men according to their devices,
23 Until He judges the cause of His people
And brings them joy with His mercy.
24 Mercy is beautiful in the time of His affliction,
Like rain in the time of drought.

Wisdom of Sirach 36

A Prayer for Israel

1 Have mercy on us, O Lord, the God of all, and look upon us,

And put Your fear on all the nations.
2 Raise Your hand against foreign nations
And let them see Your power.
3 As in us You have been sanctified before them,
So in them may You be made great before us.
4 Let them know You as we also have known You,
For there is no God but You, O Lord.
5 Renew Your signs and work fresh wonders;
Glorify Your hand and Your right arm.
6 Stir up Your anger and pour out Your wrath;
Drive away the adversary and destroy the enemy.
7 Hasten the time and remember Your oath,
And let people declare Your mighty works.
8 Let him who survives be devoured in Your fiery wrath,
And may those who harm Your people meet destruction.
9 Crush the heads of the rulers of the enemies
Who say, “There is no one but us.”
10 Gather together all the tribes of Jacob,
And grant them their inheritance as from the beginning.
11 Have mercy upon Your people called by Your Name, O Lord—
Upon Israel, whom You have likened to Your firstborn son.
12 Have pity on the city of Your sanctuary,
Jerusalem, the place of Your rest.

13 Fill Zion with the celebration of Your divine virtue
And Your people with Your glory.
14 Give testimony to what You created in the beginning
And raise up the prophecies spoken in Your name.
15 Reward those who wait for You
And let Your prophets be found trustworthy.
16 Hear, O Lord, the prayer of Your suppliants,
According to the blessing of Aaron over Your people;
17 And all on earth will know
That You are the Lord, the God of the ages.

Using Discernment

18 The stomach eats any kind of food,
But some food is better than others.
19 As the palate tastes the flavor of game,
So an understanding heart detects lying words.
20 A crooked heart will cause grief,
But a man with great experience will pay him back.
21 A woman will accept any son,
But one daughter is better than another.
22 A beautiful woman gladdens a man's face
And surpasses his every desire.
23 If there is mercy and gentleness on her tongue,
Her husband is not like other men.
24 He who gains a wife gets his best possession,
A helper like himself and a pillar of support.
25 Where there is no wall, the property will be plundered,
And where a man has no wife, he will wander around and groan.
26 Who will trust a well-equipped thief
Who skips from city to city?
27 Who will trust a man who has no home
And lodges wherever night overtakes him?

Wisdom of Sirach 37

Choosing Companions

[1]Every friend will say, “I too am your friend,”

But sometimes a friend is a friend in name only.
[2]Is it not a grief to the death
When a companion and friend turns to hatred?
[3]O evil reasoning! Why were you involved
To cover the land with deceit?
[4]A companion delights in the gladness of a friend,
But in time of affliction, he will be against him.
[5]A companion labors to help a friend for his stomach’s sake,
And in a time of battle he will take up the shield.
[6]Do not forget a friend in your soul,
And do not be unmindful of him with your wealth.

Choosing Counselors

[7]Every counselor extols his own counsel,
And some offer advice in their own interest.
[8]Protect yourself from a counselor
And know beforehand what is his interest;
For he will take thought for himself
Lest he cast his vote against you
[9]And say to you, “Your path is good.”
Then he will stand aside to see what will happen to you.
[10]Do not consult with a man who looks at you suspiciously,
And hide your counsel from those who envy you.
[11]Also, do not consult with a woman about her rival,
Nor with a coward about battle,
Nor with a merchant about exchange,
Nor with a buyer about selling,
Nor with a slanderer about gratitude,
Nor with an unmerciful man about generosity,
Nor with an idler about any work,
Nor with a seasonal hired hand about completing his work,
Nor with a lazy servant about a big job.
Pay no attention to these in any counsel.
[12]Instead, persevere with a godly man

Who you know keeps the commandments,
Whose soul accords with your soul
And will share in your suffering if you fall.
13Stand firm on the counsel of your heart,
For no one is more faithful to you than it.
14For a man's soul sometimes tells him more
Than seven watchmen sitting high on a watchtower.
15And in all matters, pray to the Most High
That He may direct your way in truth.

Wisdom, False and True

16A word is the beginning of every work,
And counsel comes before every action.
17Four types of things appear
As a clue to a change of heart:
18Good and evil, life and death;
And it is the tongue that continually rules them.
19There is an astute man who is a teacher of many,
But is useless to his own soul.
20A man who devises words craftily will be hated.
This man will go hungry,
21For grace was not given to him from the Lord,
Because he is destitute of all wisdom.
22There is a man wise in his own soul,
And the fruits of his understanding are trustworthy when he speaks.
23A wise man will instruct his own people,
And the fruits of his understanding are trustworthy.
24A wise man shall be filled with blessing,
And all who see him will consider him blessed.
25The life of a man is numbered by days,
But the days of Israel are without number.
26The wise man will inherit trust among his people,
And his name will live forever.

Gluttony

[27]My son, while you are still living, test your soul,
And see what is bad for it, and do not give in to that.
[28]For not everything is profitable for everyone,
And not every soul enjoys everything.
[29]Do not be gluttonous for every dainty food,
And do not give yourself over to food.
[30]For overeating will bring sickness,
And gluttony will lead to nausea.
[31]Many have died because of gluttony,
But the careful man will prolong his life.

Wisdom of Sirach 38

Honoring the Physician

[1]Honor the physician with the honor due him,

And also according to your need of him,
For the Lord created him.
[2]Healing comes from the Most High,
And he will receive a gift from the king.
[3]The physician's skill will lift up his head,
And he shall be admired in the presence of the great.
[4]The Lord created medicines from the earth,
And a sensible man will not loathe them.
[5]Is not water made sweet by wood
That its strength might be known?
[6]And He gave skill to men
That He might be glorified in His wonders.
[7]By them He heals and takes away pain,
A druggist making a compound of them.
[8]God's works are never finished,
And from Him health is upon the face of the earth.
[9]My son, do not be negligent when you are sick,
But pray to the Lord and He will heal you.
[10]Depart from transgression and direct your hands aright,
And cleanse your heart from every sin.

[11]Offer a sweet-smelling sacrifice
And a memorial of the finest wheat flour;
And pour oil on your offering, as if you are soon to die.
[12]And keep in touch with your physician,
For the Lord created him;
And do not let him leave you,
For you need him.
[13]There is a time when success is also in their hands,
[14]For they will pray to the Lord
To give them success in bringing relief and healing,
For the sake of preserving your life.
[15]He who sins before the One who made him,
May he fall into the hands of a physician.

Mourning the Departed

[16]My son, let your tears fall for the dead,
And as one suffering grievously, begin the lament.
With the honor due him, wrap his body
And take care of his burial.
[17]Weep bitterly and lament fervently;
Do your mourning according to what he deserves
For a day or two to avoid slander;
Then be comforted for your grief.
[18]For grief is a cause of death,
And a grief-stricken heart will sap your strength.
[19]Grief also abides in misery,
And the life of a poor man weighs down his heart.
[20]Do not give your heart to grief;
Drive it away, remembering the end of life.
[21]Do not forget, for there is no coming back;
And you cannot help the dead man by grieving,
But will only injure yourself.
[22]Remember my end, since yours is also like it:
“Mine yesterday, yours today.”
[23]When the dead man is at rest, let his remembrance cease,
And be comforted for him in the exodus of his spirit.

Gratitude for Laborers

24 The wisdom of a scribe depends on his opportunity for quiet,
For when he has little business, he will be made wise.
25 How will he who handles the plow be made wise?
For he boasts in the shaft of the goad,
And he drives oxen and is occupied with their labors,
And his talk is about young bulls.
26 His heart is set on plowing furrows,
And he keeps watch to feed his heifers.
27 The same is true for every craftsman and architect
Who works by night as well as by day—
Those who engrave the signets of seals—
He is diligent to make great variety;
His heart set on creating a lifelike image
And keeping watch to perfect his work.
28 So too is the blacksmith sitting near the anvil,
Examining closely his iron works,
The breath of the fire melting his flesh
As he struggles with the heat of the furnace.
He inclines his ear to the sound of the hammer,
And his eyes are focused on the likeness of the object.
He sets his heart on the completion of his works
And keeps watch to perfect its detail.
29 The potter as well, sitting by his work
And turning the potter's wheel with his feet,
He is always careful about the quality of his work
And also the quantity of his output.
30 With his arm he molds the clay,
And with his feet he curves it.
His heart is set on finishing the glazing,
And he is careful to clean the furnace.
31 All these trust in their hands,
And each is skilled in his work.
32 Without them a city will not be livable,
Nor will anyone sojourn or live there.
33 Yet they will not be sought out for the council of the people,

And they will not gain prominence in the assembly.
They do not sit in the judge's seat,
Nor will they understand the sentence of judgment.
34They cannot give instruction in discipline or judgment,
Nor will they be found using parables;
But they will keep the fabric of the world stable,
And their prayer is in the practice of their craft.

Students of God's Word

1How different is the man who devotes himself

To the study of the law of the Most High.
He will seek out the wisdom of all the ancients
And be occupied with their prophecies.
2He will preserve the discourse of notable men
And penetrate the subtleties of parables.
3He will seek out the hidden meanings of proverbs
And be engaged in the riddles of parables.
4He will serve in the midst of great men
And will appear before rulers.
He will travel through the land of foreign nations
And test the good and evil among men.
5He will give his heart to rising early
Before the Lord who created him,
And will make supplication to the Most High;
And he will open his mouth in prayer
And make supplication for his sins.
6If the great Lord wills,
He will be filled with the Spirit of understanding.
He will pour forth words of His wisdom,
And in prayer he will give thanks to the Lord.
7He will direct his counsel and knowledge aright,
And he will reflect on His hidden things.
8He will reveal instruction in his teaching

And boast in the law of the Lord's covenant.
9Many will praise his understanding,
And it will never be blotted out.
His memory will not disappear,
And his name will live through all generations.
10Nations will proclaim his wisdom,
And the assembly will proclaim his praise.
11If he lives long, he will leave a name greater than a thousand,
And if he goes to his rest, his work is completed.

Praise for God's Works

12I have yet more to tell, and I will describe it in detail;
For I am filled like a full moon.
13So hear me, O holy sons,
And bud forth like a rose
Springing up by a running stream.
14Like frankincense, emit a sweet fragrance,
And blossom forth like a lily.
Send forth a fragrance
And sing a hymn of praise.
Bless the Lord in all His works;
15Ascribe majesty to His name
And give thanks to Him in praise,
With songs on your lips and with lyres;
And thus you shall say in thanksgiving:
16"All things are the works of the Lord,
For they are exceedingly good.
And every command shall be in His appointed time."
No one cay say, "What is this? Why is that?"
For every question will be answered in His appointed time.
17By His word the waters stood as a heap
And the reservoirs of the waters by the word of His mouth.
18By His command all His good pleasure is done,
And no one will diminish His salvation.
19The works of all flesh are before Him,
And nothing can be hidden from His eyes.

20 From age to age He looks upon them,
And nothing is marvelous to Him.
21 No one can say, “What is this? Why is that?”
For all things were created for their uses.
22 His blessing covers the dry land like a river
And drenches it like a flood.
23 As He turns fresh waters into salt,
So the heathen will inherit His wrath.
24 As His ways are straight to the holy,
So they are an occasion of stumbling to the lawless.
25 As from the beginning good things were created for the good,
So evil things for sinners.
26 The basic needs of a man’s life
Are water, fire, iron, salt, and wheat flour,
And milk, honey, the blood of the grape, olive oil, and clothing.
27 As all these things are good for the godly,
So they turn into evil for sinners.
28 There are spirits created for vengeance,
And in His anger they strengthen their scourges.
In the time of consummation they will pour out their might
And appease the wrath of Him who made them.
29 Fire, hail, famine, and death:
All these things are created for vengeance.
30 The teeth of wild animals, scorpions and snakes,
And the avenging sword that drives the ungodly to destruction—
31 They shall be glad at His commandment
And be prepared for His service on earth;
And when their times come, they will not transgress His word.
32 Therefore from the beginning I was determined and resolved,
And left this in writing:
33 All the works of the Lord are good,
And He will supply every need in its hour.

34 No one can say, “This is worse than that,”
For all things will be well pleasing in their time.
35 So now sing praise with all your heart and voice,
And bless the name of the Lord.

Life’s Afflictions

1 Hard work was created for every man

And a heavy yoke for the sons of Adam,
From the day they come forth from their mother’s womb until the day they return to the mother of all.
2 The conception of things to come and the day of death
Trouble their thoughts and cause fear of heart—
3 From the one sitting on a glorious throne
To the one humbled in earth and ashes,
4 From the one wearing purple and a crown
To the one clothed in burlap,
There is anger, envy, trouble, and unrest,
And fear of death and fury and strife.
5 When it is time for rest on his bed,
His night of sleep alters his knowledge.
6 He gets little or no rest, and afterward in his sleep,
As though on a day of watch,
He is troubled by the vision of his heart,
Like one who escapes from the face of battle.
7 In the exact time of need he awakes
And is amazed there was nothing to fear.
8 With all flesh, from man to animal,
And upon sinners seven times more, there will be:
9 Death and bloodshed; strife and the sword;
Distresses and famine; and ruin and affliction.
10 All these things were created for the lawless,
And because of them the flood came.
11 Whatever comes from the earth returns to the earth,

And whatever comes from the waters returns to the sea.

The Wise and Unwise

12 Every bribe and wrongdoing will be blotted out,
But faithfulness shall stand forever.
13 The wealth of the unrighteous will dry up like a river
And sound forth and cease like great thunder in the rain.
14 A generous man will rejoice,
But transgressors will come to ruin.
15 The offspring of the ungodly shall not grow branches,
For they are unclean roots on a hard rock.
16 Weeds growing by any water or riverbank
Will be plucked out before any grass.
17 Grace is like a paradise in blessing,
And almsgiving endures forever.
18 The life of the self-reliant and the worker will be sweet,
But he who finds a treasure is better off than both.
19 Having children and building a city establish a name,
But a blameless wife is accounted better than both.
20 Wine and music gladden the heart,
But love of wisdom is better than both.
21 The flute and harp give sweet melody,
But a pleasant tongue is better than both.
22 The eye will desire grace and beauty,
But the green shoots of grain are better than both.
23 A friend and companion meet at an appointed time,
But a wife meeting with her husband is better than both.
24 Brothers and help are for a time of affliction,
But almsgiving rescues better than both.
25 Gold and silver will make the foot secure,
But counsel is esteemed more valuable than both.
26 Wealth and strength will lift up the heart,
But the fear of the Lord is better than both.
There is no loss in the fear of the Lord,
And with it there is no need to seek for help.
27 The fear of the Lord is like a paradise of blessing
And covers a man better than any glory.

[28]My child, do not live the life of a beggar,
For it is better to die than to beg.
[29]When a man looks at another's table,
He is living an irrational life.
For he will pollute his soul with another's food.
But a rational and educated man will guard himself against that.
[30]Begging will be sweet in the mouth of a shameless man,
But in his belly a fire will be kindled.

Dealing with Death

1 O death, how bitter is the memory of you

To a man at peace with his possessions,
To a man without distractions and prosperous in everything,
And still strong enough to enjoy his food.
2 O death, your judgment is good
To the man in need and failing in strength
In his extreme old age, distracted by everything,
And stubborn and short on patience.
3 Do not fear the judgment of death;
Remember those before you and after you.
4 This is the judgment from the Lord to all flesh,
And how can you reject the good pleasure of the Most High?
Whether you lived ten or a hundred or a thousand years,
There is in Hades no inquiry into your life.
5 The children of sinners are loathsome children,
And they frequent the dwellings of the ungodly.
6 The inheritance of the children of sinners will perish,
And with their seed the disgrace will continue.
7 The children will blame their godless father,
For because of him they will be denounced.
8 Woe to you, the ungodly men
Who forsook the law of God Most High.
9 And when you are born, you will be born to a curse,
And when you die, your portion will be a curse.
10 Whatever is from the earth shall return to the earth,
So the ungodly go from a curse to destruction.
11 The mourning of men is about their bodies,
But the evil name of sinners will be blotted out.
12 Have regard for your name,
For it will remain with you longer
Than a thousand great chests of gold.

13 The days of a good life are numbered,
But a good name will remain forever.
14 Observe instruction and live in peace, my children,
But hidden wisdom and invisible treasure—
What benefit are these?
15 A man who hides his foolishness
Is better than a man who hides his wisdom.

Shame, Proper and Improper

16 Therefore, be ashamed on the basis of my word,
For it is not good to protect every kind of shame,
And not everything is highly esteemed by all with confidence.
17 Be ashamed of fornication before father or mother;
Of a lie before your leader or ruler;
18 Of an offense before a judge or ruler;
Of lawlessness before the assembly of the people;
19 Of wrongdoing before your partner or friend;
Of theft in the place where you dwell.
20 Be ashamed before the truth of God and His covenant,
And of bad manners at the table;
21 Of contemptuous behavior in receiving and giving;
Of silence before those who greet you;
22 Of looking at a prostitute;
Of rejecting the appeal of a kinsman;
23 Of carrying off someone’s portion or gift,
And of staring at another man’s wife;
24 Of meddling with his maidservant—
And do not come near her bed.
25 Be ashamed of insulting words before friends,
And do not be insulting after making a gift;
26 Of repeating and telling what you hear
And revealing secrets.
27 So be truly modest
And find favor before every man.

Wisdom of Sirach 42

[1]Do not be ashamed of the following things,
And do not let partiality lead you to sin:
[2]Of the Law and covenant of the Most High,
And of a judgment to acquit an ungodly man;
[3]Of keeping accounts with a partner or a traveling companion,
And of dividing an inheritance among friends;
[4]Of accurate scales and balances,
And the acquisition of much or little;
[5]Of profit from business with merchants,
And of much discipline of children,
And of making the sides of an evil servant bleed.
[6]Where there is an evil wife, a seal is good;
And where there are many hands, lock things up.
[7]Whatever you deliver, do it by number or weight;
And put in writing everything you give or receive.
[8]Do not be ashamed of the instructing of the unwise and foolish,
Or of the extremely old man who passes judgment on the young;
Then you will be truly instructed
And approved before all men.

Fathers and Daughters

[9]A daughter keeps her father secretly wakeful,
For worry over her takes away his sleep;
Lest in her youth she passes the time to marry,
And lest in her marriage she be hated;
[10]In her virginity lest she be defiled
Or become pregnant in her father’s house;
Having a husband, lest she be unfaithful,
Or though married, lest she be childless.
[11]Keep a strict watch over a headstrong daughter,
Lest she make you a laughingstock to your enemies,

A source of gossip in the city
And notorious among the people,
And a disgrace to you before the great multitude.
12 Do not look upon anyone for beauty
And do not sit in the midst of women.
13 For a moth comes out of garments,
And the evil of a woman comes from a woman.
14 The evil of a man is better
Than a woman who does what is good,
Yet brings shame and disgrace.

God's Glorious Works

15 I shall now remember the works of the Lord,
And by the words of the Lord
I shall describe His works that I see.
16 The sun gives light and looks down on everything,
And its work is full of the Lord's glory.
17 The Lord did not enable His saints
To describe all His wonders,
Which the Lord Almighty established
That the universe might be established in His glory.
18 He traced out the abyss and the human heart
And understands their craftiness;
For the Most High possesses all knowledge
And sees into the signs of an age.
19 He proclaims what has been and what shall be
And reveals the footstep of hidden things.
20 No thought escapes Him;
Not even one word is hidden from Him.
21 He has adorned the mighty works of His wisdom,
For He is from everlasting to everlasting;
Nothing can be added or taken away,
And He needs no one to be His counselor.
22 How precious are all His works,
And how sparkling to behold.
23 All these things live and endure forever, for every need,
And all are obedient.

24 All things are in pairs, one opposite the other,
And He made nothing incomplete.
25 One thing strengthens the good of another,
And who can have enough of beholding His glory?

Wisdom of Sirach 43

Sun, Moon, and Stars

1 The exultation of the heavenly heights

Is the firmament of purity,
The form of heaven with the vision of glory.
2 The sun, when it appears, making proclamation as it goes forth,
Is a wonderful instrument, a work of the Most High.
3 At noon it dries up the land,
And who can endure its burning heat?
4 A man kindling a furnace works in burning heat,
But the sun burns the mountains three times as much,
Breathing out fiery steams,
And sending forth shining beams, it dims the eyes.
5 Great is the Lord who made it,
And by His command it hastens its journey.
6 He also made the moon to serve in its season
As a declaration of times and an everlasting sign.
7 From the moon comes the sign of a feast,
A light that wanes as it completes its course.
8 The month is named according to the moon,
Being increased wondrously in its phases,
A vessel encamped on high,
Shining in the firmament of heaven.
9 The glory of the stars is the beauty of heaven,
A world shining in the high places of the Lord.
10 By the words of the Holy One they stand according to His judgment
And do not grow weary in their watches.

The Majestic Creation

[11]Behold the rainbow and bless Him who made it,
Exceedingly beautiful in its brightness.
[12]It circles heaven with its glorious arc,
And the hands of the Most High laid out its course.
[13]By His command He makes the snow to fall,
And speeds the lightning by His judgment.
[14]Therefore the storehouses are opened
And the clouds fly forth like birds.
[15]By His majesty He condenses the clouds,
And the hailstones break into pieces.
[16]At His appearing the mountains are shaken,
And by His will the south wind blows.
[17]The voice of His thunder makes the earth tremble,
And so do the hurricane from the north and the whirlwind as well.
[18]He sprinkles the snow like birds flying down,
And its descent is like grasshoppers alighting.
The eye marvels at the beauty of its whiteness,
And the heart is astonished at its raining down.
[19]He pours the hoarfrost like salt upon the earth,
And when it freezes, it becomes like pointed thorns.
[20]A cold north wind blows
And ice freezes on the water,
And forms on every pool of water,
And clothes the water like armor.
[21]He consumes the mountains and burns up the desert,
And withers the green herbage like fire.
[22]A mist quickly heals it all,
And falling dew brings refreshment from the heat.
[23]By His reasoning He quieted the great deep
And planted islands in it.
[24]Those who sail the sea recount its dangers,
And we are amazed at the reports coming to our ears.
[25]For therein are the incredible and wondrous works,
